☞ The Horse Rail Road Co. inaugerated "Thanksgiving day," by putting upon their road the large, beautiful, and convenient eight wheel Car "Excursionist." This car came from the factory of Mr. Oliver Smith, in South Salem; is built of tubular and galvanized iron from original designs, and is patented by one of the Stockholders of the Company. It will seat 75 persons comfortably, is drawn by four horses, and has an open, pleasant appearance affording the passengers an unobstructed view of whatever is passing. The large number who patronized it on th at day, gives assurance that the efforts of the Company to accommodate the public are appreciated.—Observer.

THE WEATHER.—During the month of July a greater quantity of rain fell in Boston than in any month whatever within the last forty years, the amount being 12 38 inches. The next largest quantity fell in August 1826—12.10 inches. We find the above figures in the Boston Traveller. This unusual phenomenon will be appreciated when it is remembered that the average fall of rain in a year is about 4[illegible] inches.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—"Boots & Shoes," B. Colman; "To Let—a Grocery;" List of Letters,"—Daniel Woodbury.

SUN UMBRELLAS.—Bargains at PEABODY'S

BARGAINS.—Our Lady Readers who are looking for bargains should read JOHN P. PEABODY'S advertisement. He is selling many kinds of goods at much less than the regular market prices. You will always find the latest styles and lowest prices at his counters.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 31st, schs Thatcher Taylor, Loring, New York; Aug 1, Aid, Bunker; Nellie Potter, Sheppard, and R G Porter, Smith, Philadelphia; Ellen Perkins, Eldridge, New York; Majestic, Wentworth, Bangor; sloop Comet, Floyd, Boston.

Ar 5th, schs Pearl, Robinson, Rockland; 7th Catharine, Norton, and Cocheco, Pendleton, Bangor.

Sterlings Ambrosia—Sticks Pomades—Cologues—Perfumes—Scaps, &c., at J. P. PEABODY'S.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not kdow." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that "Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fevers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and Dropsical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS.—Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits. Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Marriages.

In Danvers, Aug 5th, by Rev J W Putnam, Mr Moses Welch to Miss Ann Murphy, both of Danvers, August 7, by the Rev Robert F Chase, Capt Nehemiah P Fuller, jr, and Miss Maria L Fuller, daughter of Mr Joseph J Fuller, all of D.

In Salem, Aug 6th, Mr Matthew Fearling to Miss Abbie Schoff; 2d, Mr Timothy O'Leary to Mrs Catharine Manning.

7th, by Rev Dr Worcester, Mr Geo F Buxton to Miss Eliza R Buxton.

Deaths.

In South Danvers, Aug 5, Mr John Daley, 31 years.

August 4, Charlotte Augusta, daughter of John O and Catherine M Keefe of Danvers Centre, 4 years 11 months 4 days.

In Salem, August 3, Mr Francis Skerry, 66; Mr Daniel O'Neil, 38; 5th, Alex, son of David and Jenette McCallum, 2 yrs 3 mos; James, son of James and Joanna O'Connor, 7 mos; 6th, Luis Foster, only child of Augusta E B and Sarah F Govea, 14 mos 11 ds; Mary D E, daughter of John and Catherine Rock, 6 days; 8th, Mrs Lucy Ropes, wife of Mr Samuel Church, 60 years 1 month 22 days; 9th, Mr Thomas T Welch, 60 years; Mrs Catherine, wife of Mr Thomas Sherlock, 34; 10th, Alice Pierce, daughter of Stephen B Jr and Mary E Ives, 8 mos; Mr Edward H Sanger, 49; Mrs Nancy D, wife of Mr Ebenezer Stone, 75 yrs.

In Hamilton, Aug 5, Mrs Sally R, widow of the late Ezekiel Allen, 79 yrs 5 mos.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers. See advertisement.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS.....PIANO FORTES,
at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES,
at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES,
on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the receipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience—and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing
JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
Music Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

TO LET.

A PARTIALLY stocked and well located
GROCERY STORE.

A shoemaker, or a person of any other sedentary pursuit, wishing to spend a portion of his time in trading, will find this a capital chance to work into a good paying business. No capital will be required, but the applicant must bring recommendations for honesty and enterprise. Inquire at this office.
South Danvers, Aug 12. 3t

BOOTS & SHOES,
At No. 10 Front St., Salem.

NOTICE! Having made arrangements with some of the best manufacturers of Boots and Shoes, I shall be able to sell a good article at lower prices, (for the same,) than others will in this city.

Just received—Men's, Boys', Ladies', Misses', Balmorals, Congress, Army, Brogans, Slippers, etc., etc.

FULL FALL PANTS.—Just rec'd, a lot of full Fall Pants, for old Folks, (some large sizes;)

SUMMER CLOTHING—selling low;

FURNISHING GOODS—selling at less prices than can be purchased in this or any other city;

WOOL KNIT SHIRTS—for laboring men, best article;

Fish Lines and Reels, 8 cents; Kerosene Lamps, worth $1 25, for only 63 cents; Balance Crockery:—Patent Shoe Brushes; House Coverings; Hats; Caps; Window Curtains; Blind Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Looking Glasses, all sizes; Clocks; Writing Desks; Work Boxes, etc;

Just received, some new patterns, Painted Floor Cloths; Straw Carpeting, selling at less than it can be imported for. aug 12—3w

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Aug 11, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Harriet B Austin	Matthew F Leslie
Mrs Rebecca Buxton	Ann M Mitchell
Fanny S Burke	Mrs L E Mills
James Crowley	William Marshall jr,
J E Chute 2	Mary Ann Meade
Mrs Elizabeth Dalton	Marv E Sullivan
Mrs Harriet Kendall	Mrs L S Thompson
John Linnehan	Mrs Laurinda Very
Mrs Linnehan

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent each.
DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WANTED!

$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.
South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESSY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

AERATED BREAD.

THE subscriber will daily leave the above new article of bread with the principal grocers in this town, of whom it may be purchased at 5 cents a loaf. It is claimed that this bread—unrivalled in point of sweetness and wholesomeness—is more nutritious than that made in the usual way, that it will keep much longer, and is moister and more palatable, having the taste of new bread, even when it is several days old. F. H. KIRK.
So. Danvers, Aug 5, 1863.

BROKEN BARK.

DAMAGED Bark, suitable for kindling, for sale by GAYLE & CO., Phillips Wharf.

COLOR STAMPING.

RED, Blue, Green, or Black, and in the most desirable style. Paper and Envelopes to match. See our samples.
aug 12 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,

OF all sizes and styles, at prices ranging from 42 cts. to $11—at
aug 12 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ROMOLA,

A Novel by George Eliot, author of 'Adam Bede,' with illustrations—rec'd by
aug 12 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

John P. Peabody.

BARGAINS.

Nice Crochet Nets—heavy	25c
Nice Cord Nets—double	25c
Fine Crochet Nets—pretty	25c
Fifty Cent Wrought Collars	29c
Forty Cent Wrought Collars	25c
Very nice Linen Collars	8c
Nice Linen Bosoms	25c
Nice Linen Bosoms	18c
Nice Linen Handkerchiefs—fine	15c
Good Linen Hdkfs.	12½c
Lace Sleeves—new styles	19c
Ladies' Fancy Linen Hdkfs.	25c
Hand-made Bonnet Ruches	15c
Hand-made Bonnet Ruches	25c
Very fine Ruches—the best	35c
Nice Black Lace Veils	42c
Good Black Lace Veils—new styles	50c
Extra Bargains in Black Veils	88c
Nice French Lace Veil	$1 25
Brown, blue, green and drab Veils 85 and	$1 00
Double Collarette Ruffle	12½c
Fancy Dress Ruche, hand-made	15c
Fancy Dress Ruffles—new	25c
Linen Setts, Collar and Sleeves	17c

Our whole Stock is marked at prices that cannot fail to suit any one in search of bargains.

HOSIERY
—AND—
GLOVES.
Cotton Hosiery for Ladies, Misses, and Children, in every variety, in open and plain,
At PEABODY'S.

EMBROIDERIES.

Collars—Sleeves—Bands—Flouncings—Edgings—Insertings—Laces—Cambric Edgings and Insertings, in great variety
At PEABODY'S.

LACE GOODS.

Lace Veils—Guipure Edgings—Silk Laces—Bobbinet Laces—Saxony—Smyrna—Thread and Cotton Laces, all widths and prices.
At PEABODY'S.

SKIRTS.

GORE TRAIL and PANNER SKIRTS, in all sizes and prices, from 35 cts. to $3 00.
We warrant every Skirt we sell.
J. P. PEABODY.

TRIMMINGS.

Buttons—Bindings—Braids—Cords—Quilled Ribbons—Velvet Buttons—Leather Buttons—Hooks and Eyes—Whale Bones—Embroidered Silks and Braids, etc.
J. P. PEABODY.

OUR PRICE LIST OF
FANCY GOODS.

Rose Soap—two cakes for	5c
Pumice Soap—the best per cake	5c
Honey Soap—large size per cake	5c
Brown Windsor per package	25c
White Castile Soap—nice, per cake	10c
Castile Soap—imported	8c
Almond Soap—highly scented	10c
Amber Soap—round cakes	4c
Barber's Soap—for shaving	6c
Tooth Brushes—8, 10, 12½, and	25c
Hair Brushes 25, 38, 50, 75, and	$1 25
Clark's Indellible Pencils	17c
Ladies' Rubber Pages	12½c
Leather Wallets 25, 50, 62, $1 and	$1 25
Puff Boxes, Powders, Brushes, &c.

STOCK TO BE REDUCED.

ONE PRICE ONLY!

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,
JOHN P. PEABODY.
August 5, 1863.

James F. Almy.

SPECIAL.

We are offering a Special Bargain in 4-4 Printed French Brilliants, at 22 cents.

We are selling these goods instead of Printed Muslins, as they are much stronger and perfectly fast colors.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central st.
Aug 5, 1863.

NEW STOCK
— OF —
DRY GOODS
— AT —
No. 238 Essex street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

THE Subscriber opened on MONDAY, May 18th,

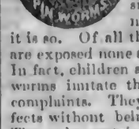
A Fresh Stock of Dry Goods,

Consisting of nearly all the new styles of Dress Goods, Ladies' Cloths, Cloths for Men's & Boys' Wear; Shawls, Domestic and Housekeeping Goods; Sun Umbrellas; Parasols; Hoop Skirts; Hosiery; Gloves; &c., &c., &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for Cash, at Low Prices.

GEORGE P. DANIELS.
Salem, May 20.

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend Inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

SELLING OFF! SELLING OFF!

THE undersigned intending to close up his present business at the earliest opportunity, now offers his ENTIRE STOCK OF Fine and Plated Jewelry, Solid Silver Ware,
Solid Silver Ware, &c.
AT LARGELY REDUCED PRICES,
Regardless of Cost,
FOR THIRTY DAYS ONLY.

After which, all goods remaining on hand will be sold at Public Auction.

Also, for sale, all the movable fittings of said Store, including 5 solid German Silver frame Counter Show Cases; One Tilton & McFarland Fire and Burglar Proof Safe; Chairs, Desks, Stools, &c., &c.

JOSEPH J. RIDER,
2 West Block—188 Essex st.
Salem, June 17, 1863. 1m

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.

RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,
THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
CALL AND EXAMINE.
For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

TO GET READING CHEAP!

SUBSCRIBE to G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S Circulating Library. You can read all new Books and old ones besides. It costs only four dollars a year. Two volumes allowed out at once.
aug 12 G M WHIPPLE and A A SMITH.

A. J. Archer & Co

REDUCED PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Offer their stock of
Summer Dress Goods.
Summer Shawls,
and Capes,
at REDUCED PRICES—to close.
Salem, july 15—tf

SUMMER SHAWLS!

We open this morning beautiful new
SUMMER SHAWLS.
— Also —
A variety of THIN DRESS GOODS;
8 4 Black Hernani and Crape Maretz;
Black Grenadine. For sale by
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Salem, june 3—tf.

Potter, Batchelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin,	Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain,	Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.
OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BATCHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 19—tf

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,
SALEM.

WE are selling out all our Black Silks;
We are selling out all our Cambric Prints;
We are selling out all our French Prints;
We are selling out all our nice Taffetas;
We are selling out all our Organdie Muslins;
We are selling out all our Lawns;
We are selling out all our Cotton Hosiery;
We are selling out all our Linen Hdkfs;
We are selling out all our Domestic Goods;
We are selling thin Dress Goods for 1s worth 25 cents;
We are selling Bleached Cottons for 12½ cts;
We are selling light Spring Prints for 1s;
We have the Quaker Skirt for ladies;
We have the Belle Point Skirt for ladies;
We have the Trail Skirt for ladies;
We have the very best Silk for Visites;
We have a full assortment of B P R Silks, which we are selling out very low.

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.
April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. FLETCHER her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of
Millinery Goods,
which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE, ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE
AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult
JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT.
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

SPRING BEDS! SPRING BEDS!

ALL those that are inclined to rest their weary limbs on the most luxurious
SPRING BED
that was ever invented, are invited to call at
No. 52 Main St., South Danvers,
and there see the very best SPRING BED BOTTOM that has been offered to the public.

Not having been able at first to meet the demands, I now have the facilities to supply all orders.

Having bought the right to make and vend for the county of Essex, the subscriber would be happy to supply all those who may favor him with a call.

Rights for sale for any town or city in the county except Haverhill and Lawrence.

THOS. TRASK.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863.

George S. Walker.

SOMETHING NEW.

THE WINDSOR TIE. Every new style of Tie brought out abroad and at home, will uniformly be found in my assortment.
GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

LINEN COLLARS.

THE best qualities, in the latest styles, at the lowest prices, at
GEO. S. WALKER'S, 228 Essex st.

SILK SCARFS.

A FINE assortment of Real Roman Scarfs.—Also, a good imitation, for sale at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
aug 5 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

FIRST CLASS GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES
"POPULAR PRICES."

MESSRS. BROWNING & LONG, finding that "Low Prices" are appreciated, continue offering Great Inducements.

Constantly on hand the Largest Assortment of Ladies' Furnishing Goods in the city.

MARK THE PRICES!

Good Thread Nets,	25c;
White and Unbleached Hose,	18c;
Ladies' Colored Cotton Hose,	10c;
Nice Open-work Hose,	28c;
White Misses' and Unbleached Hose,	16c;
Children's Colored Hose,	16c;
Gent's good half-Hose,	16c;
Misses' Fancy Cotton Hose,	16c;
Nice Lisle Gloves,	15c;
Ladies' Mohair Mitts,	40c;
Ladies' All-Linen Hdkfs,	13c;
All-Linen Hem-Stitched Hdkfs,	30c;
Embroidered Collars,	15c;
Nice Crape Collars,	25c;
Gent's Woven Bosoms,	8c;
Head Nets,	25c,
Fine Combs,	2c;
Children's Mitts,	15c;
Nice Embroidered Gloves,	15c;

and many others in like comparison.

THE VERY LATEST STYLES
— OF —
NEW GOODS.

We have many Goods on hand which were bought at very low prices, and can therefore offer many Bargains.

BROWNING & LONG
Essex St., 177 Essex St.,
Salem, July 22, 1863.

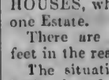
Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.



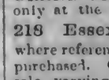
THE Subscriber offers for sale on favorable terms,—or would exchange for a Farm,—his Estate on Wallis Street, near the Monumental Cemetary, consisting of THREE DWELLING HOUSES, which will be sold separately or as one Estate.

There are 75 feet of land in front, and 72 feet in the rear of the house.

The situation is pleasant, in a good neighborhood, and the houses are supplied with all the conveniences for immediate occupation. In ordinary times these tenements would rent for from 330 to 350 dollars.

The Subscriber, having made up his mind to dispose of the property, will sell it low, and it is well worth the attention of purchasers.
Apply to JOHN M'NEAL.
South Danvers, Dec. 10th, 1862. tf.

THE PIANO FORTES



THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,
218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call.
Mch 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

Choice Spring Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, April 22, 1863. tf

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of Massachusetts:

THE undersigned hereby ask that they may be incorporated as the SOUTH DANVERS AND LYNN RAILROAD COMPANY, with a capital of one hundred thousand dollars, with power to construct a Horse Railroad from some convenient point in the town of South Danvers to some convenient point in the city of Lynn, and with power to connect with the roads of the Lynn and Boston Railroad Company, and the Salem and South Danvers Railroad Company, and to use such portions of the road of the latter company as public convenience may require; and as in duty bound will ever pray.

WM. H. LITTLE,
HENRY POOR,
LEWIS ALLEN,
STEPHEN BLANEY,
C. W. OSBORNE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

SECRETARY'S DEPARTMENT,
Boston, July 18, 1863.
I approve the publication of the above petition in the Lynn Reporter and the South Danvers Wizard. OLIVER WARNER, July 29 Secretary.

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7 and 11 A M, and 1¼ and 5 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8 45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.
Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Conch Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.
Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 3 GAYLE & CO., Phillips Wharf.

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front street, Salem. ap30-tf

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

Silver Ware, Jewelry and Fine Plated Ware at Auction.

The rich and valuable stock of Silver Ware, Jewelry, Plated Ware and Fancy Goods, in Store 188 Essex street, occupied by JOSEPH J. RIDER, will be closed out at auction.—The sale to commence on MONDAY, Aug. 3, at 2 o'clock, P. M., and to continue day and evening until all is sold.

THE stock consists of Silver Plated Tea Sets, Ice Pitchers, Egg Boilers, Castors, Forks, &c. Silver Cake, Pie, Pudding, Fish and Butter Knives; Table and Tea Spoons; Pickle Knives and Forks, Cups; Goblets; Napkin Rings; Child's Sets; Salts, &c. Fine Gold, Mosaic, Cameo, Lava and Onyx Sets of Pins and Ear rings; Gold and Silver Pencils; Bracelets; Studs; Sleeve Buttons; Gent's Pins; Diamond, Garnet, Emerald, Ruby and Pearl Finger Rings; Chased and Plain Gold do: Silver, Shell and Pearl Card Cases; Fine Cutlery; Rogers' Scissors and Pocket Knives; Gold, Silver and Steel Spectacles and Eye Glasses, together with an assortment of Fancy Goods.

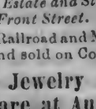
The above stock is new, having all been purchased within 3 or 4 years, and every article will be warranted as represented, or the money refunded.

The stock must be closed out, as the proprietor intends making an entire change in his business, and every article will be sold. jy 29.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,
33 MAIN STREET.
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.
Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM



Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 · · MAIN ST. · · 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers,
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery, Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE.

A SURE RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERER.

This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 17th century, by DR. WM. GRACE, surgeon in King James's army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day, and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Burns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scalds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Flesh Wounds.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Corns.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Felons.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Frozen Limbs.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Wens.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Callouses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Salt Rheum.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chilblains.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Breast.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sore Lips.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Erysipelas Sores.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Abscesses.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ulcers.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands.
Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the face, and beautifies the skin. There is no preparation before the public that can equal this Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify. Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this Salve their best friend.

It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

MANUFACTURED BY WILLIAM GRACE,
AMESBURY, MASS.

Price 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 per box. A great saving is made by taking the large size.
Each box has the above cut and the fac-simile of the proprietor's signature attached to it, which is duly copyrighted.
Geo. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 and 12 Marshall street, Weeks & Potter, 170 Washington street, and M. Burr & Co., 26 Tremont street, Boston, Wholesale Agents.
For sale by D. P. Grosvenor, T. A Sweetser and George E. Meacom, Druggists, Main street, South Danvers, and at country stores everywhere.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.
LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND COVERS

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.

They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world in an infallible, simple, easy, and rapid progress of Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are without a fault, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.

The sealing is on an entirely original plan. This principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried those articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar.

PRICE LIST.

Pints, per doz,	$2 25;	3 pints, per doz,	$3 50;
Quarts, "	3 00;	Half gallon, "	4 00;

Liberal discount to the trade.
Salem Aug 5 S C & E A SIMONDS'.

Miscellaneous.

WHAT IS HEAT LIGHTNING.—The flashes of lightning often observed on a Summer evening, unaccompanied by thunder, and popularly known as "heat lightning," are merely the light from discharges of electricity from an ordinary thunder-cloud beneath the horizon of the observer, reflected from the clouds, or perhaps from the air itself, as in the case of twilight. Mr. Brooks, one of the directors of the telegraph line between Pittsburg and Philadelphia, informs us that on one occasion to satisfy himself on this point he asked for information from a distant operator during the appearance of flashes of this kind in the distant horizon, and learned that they proceeded from a thunder storm then raging two hundred and fifty miles eastward of his place of observation.—Professor Henry.

☞ The Pasha of Egypt when asked why he had his great canal so winding, though in a level country, replied to his questioner, a French engineer—"Have you ever seen rivers in France?" "Yes, sir, many," was the reply. "Are they straight or crooked in their course?" "They are generally crooked, sir."—"Who made the rivers?" inquired the Pasha. "They were made by Allah," said the astonished engineer. "Then, sir," concluded the Pasha, triumphantly, "do you expect me to know and do better than Allah?" The poor engineer had no reply to make to this strange argument, so he took his leave and went his way.

☞ The first shipment from Cairo to New Orleans since the suspension of the river navigation, took place last Friday, when two boats started off, towing down 28,000 bushels of coal.

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; is end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect remedy, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.

George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
aug 6—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Premature Decay, etc., etc., by one who has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned Doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island; by enclosing an addressed envelope. Address
CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

—ALSO—

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHESTWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chatwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

H. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR ONE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 31 Bond St., New York.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 206 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods,
Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. O. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Ausroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

JOHN MOULTON,
LIVERY STABLE,
Central Street, South Danvers.
Mr. M. will endeavor to keep up the good reputation of his stable, by still keeping good Horses and Carriages. jan 7, 1863.

Advertisements.

LINSEED OIL, &C.
PURE Linseed Oil and Varnishes, of all kinds, at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

WHITE LEAD IN PAILS.
1000 POUNDS New York White Lead in pails of 25 lbs. each, just received at S C & E A SIMONDS',

VARNISHES.
COACH Varnish; Furniture and Damar Varnish, of the best quality, at je 17 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

FRUIT BASKETS.
WHITE China and White Granite Fruit Baskets—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

EMANCIPATION HYMN.
QUARTETTE and Chorus—composed and dedicated by permission to the Salem Union League, Manuel Fenollosa—for sale by
jy 15 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

FRENCH CHINA.
A FULL assortment of French China Tea Ware, Vases, Match Boxes, etc., just received from New York, and for sale by
jy 29 S C & E A SIMONDS, 32 Front st.

WIRE COVERS.
WIRE Dish Covers in sets of five, at
S C & E A SIMONDS, 32 Front st.

MAPS.
NEW Map of Massachusetts, counties, townships, etc., 75.
New Pocket Map of New England, New York and Canada, 75c.
Large scale Map of Boston and country adjacent, giving all the rail and county roads—just the thing for travellers, $3 00.
State Map of Massachusetts—the best Map of the State ever published—large size $3 00.
Eastman's White Mountain Maps, 25c.
aug 5 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

COLOR AND PLAIN STAMPING
FOR Stationery, most desirable and fashionable styles—one or more initials to order. Samples at
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

W. E. P. SMYTH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Proctor in Admiralty, and Commissioner of Deeds for the several States.
Frazier's Building, over the Post Office,
LYNN, MASS.

Having peculiar means for prosecuting, with accuracy and dispatch, all claims against Government, especially those for Bounty, Back Pay and Pensions, I have made this a specialty. Several months' residence in Washington enabled me to become thoroughly conversant with the routine of business in all the Departments, through which claims, of whatever nature, are passed, and also familiar with the practice in the U. S. Court of Claims; in addition to which I have a partner there resident, and a former partner in the Treasury Department, which advantages give me unexcelled facilities for the successful prosecution of business in any way connected with Government.

Important to Soldiers, Marines and their Heirs.

Persons enlisted in the U. S. Service, Land or Naval, since March 1, 1861, if disabled in the service, are entitled to Pension; Relatives of Persons deceased in the service a entitled to Bounty and Pension; in the following

1st. The 4th. The Mot er.
2d. The 5th The Brothers and Sisters collectively.
3d. The F

LETTERS OF ISTRATION need not be taken ou, in ordinary c to enable heirs of persons deceased in the serv e to obtain Pensions and Bounty.

When a discharge is granted for disability, in no case should the Oath of Identity on the back of the Discharge be filled up. The safest course is, to carry all papers at once to an Attorney, without tampering with them. All those who have claims, should present them without delay, as soon, the pressure will be so great upon the Auditor's Office, by reason of numerous applications, that applicants will be subjected to vexatious delay in getting their claims audited.

NO CHARGE MADE UNTIL CLAIMS ARE PAID.

Claims left at the Post Office, South Danvers, will be promptly forwarded.

Lynn, Aug 27, 1862—1v

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7—3m CLARK & GIDDINGS.

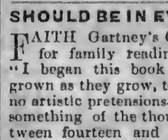
MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

R. C. MANNING & CO,
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

E. N. PRICE,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
HARNESSES,
SADDLES, BRIDLES,
AND WHIPS.
—ALSO—
Trunks, Valises and Traveling Bags.
All orders for Manufacturing and Repairing executed with promptness, and in the best manner.
237 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.
mch13-tf

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in


Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

GLASS WARE.
CUT and Pressed Glass Goblets; Tumblers; Dishes, etc. just opened at
S C & E A SIMONDS' 32 Front st.

TABLE MATS.
SHAKER Table Mats—for sale by
may 27 S C & E A SIMONDS.

CHINA WARE;
GOLD Band China Tea Ware; White and Lustre China do—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOUSEHOLD
FAITH Gartney's Girlhood. Just the Book for family reading. The authoress says: "I began this book for young girls. It has grown as they grow, to womanhood. It makes no artistic pretensions. It is a simple record of something of the thought and life that lies between fourteen and twenty; I dedicate it to those young girls who dream and wish and strive and err, and find perhaps little help to interpret their own spirits to themselves—may there be something that shall lift them, though ever so little, up!"
One vol, 12mo, fine paper and clear print, at
jy 29 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

JUST PUBLISHED,
LIGHT, by Helen Modet; Little Ones in the Fold, by Rev. Edward Payson Hammond; The Senses—illustrated;
Lessons from Insect Life, with Illustrations;
The Atlantic Monthly; Harper's Magazine;
Eclectic Magazine; Godey's do;
Frank Leslie's Gazette; Peterson's do;
for August. Subscriptions received for all Periodicals, and numbers promptly delivered, and single numbers for sale by
jy 29 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

WHITE LEAD AND LINSEED OIL,
OF the best quality—for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

LAVA WARE.
LAVA Tea Sets, Vases, &c. Also, Parian Ware—at
jy 29 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS.
A FULL assortment constantly on hand.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S,
WAR Pictures from the South, by B Estvan, Colonel of Cavalry in the Confederate Army;
Cattle and their Diseases, by Rbt Jennings, V. S.;
The Tiger Slayer, a Tale of the Indian Desert, by Gustave Aimard.
jy 22 Sign of the Five Golden Books.

SUMMER EXCURSIONS.
EASTMAN'S White Mountain Guide;
Map of Massachusetts with Railroads and Town ships;
Map of New England, New York and Canada, with Railroads and Townships;
Appleton's Companion Hand-Book of travel;
Books from the Circulating Library at half-price. For sale by

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.
Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.
TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	6 cts.
Hair Cutting,	12 cts.
Champooing,	15 cts.
Champooing and Hair Cutting,	25 cts.

No more new Quarterly Customers taken.
In consequence of the scarcity of Change, 18 checks will be sold for one dollar.
South Danvers, Dec 17, 1862.

THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

CORNS.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.
CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.
FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block]
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to rosloring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

JOHN FARRELL,
DRAPER AND TAILOR,
HAVING removed to his old place of business, 138 MAIN ST., South Danvers, (over Batchelder's Grocery Store), is prepared to Cut, Make, Repair, or furnish Garments, for Men and Youths at short notice.
South Danvers, April 1. tf

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem,
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

FRANKLIN COAL.
JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

SOUTH DANVERS
POST OFFICE.
GENERAL MAIL ARRANGEMENT.
MAILS CLOSE
At 10 3-4 A. M., and 4 3-4 P. M.
MAILS DUE
At 9 1-2 A. M., and 3 P. M.
Post Office open (Sundays excepted) from 7 o'clock, A. M., till 8 P. M. Saturdays open till 8 1-2 P. M.
F. POOLE, P. M.
South Danvers, Oct. 1, 1862.

Eastern Railroad.
ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):
For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8½, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2½, 5½, 7½, p. m.
Beverly, 6½ am., 1, 3½, 5½, 6.55, 7½ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 6 55 p m.
Amesbury, 8½ a m., 1, 5½ p m.
Portsmouth, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Portland, 8½ a m., 3½ p m.
AND FOR SALEM, FROM
Portland, 8½ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7½ †11½ a m., †5½ p m.
Amesbury, 7 35, 9 40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m., 6½ p m.
Ipswich, 7 25, 8.25, 10.25 a m., 12 25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4 55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8 50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7 05 pm.
Lynn, 8 05, *9 05 11.05 a m., 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, *4 35, 5.35, *6.20, 5½, *7 35, *8.05 p m
Boston, 7½, *8½, 10½ a m., 12½, 2½, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9½.
*Via Saugus Branch.
†On arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10½ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.
Marblehead for Salem, 6½, 7½, 8½, 9½ a m., 12½, 1½, 5½, 6½, 7½ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7½, 8½, 9.25, 11½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.
Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6½, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5½ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.
Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11½ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7½ a m., 12½, 3½, 6½ p m.
J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.
ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:
Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9.40 a m. and 5.55 p m.
Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.
*Freight Train with passenger car attached.
F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.
THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or ITS ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.
TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here, and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.
DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.
DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.
General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 28 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 22, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?
THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on
Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,
And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:
Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$300,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assets—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.
WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej 6tf-1

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3,50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

JUVENILE BOOKS,
A VERY large assortment for sale by

PUTNAM & MUNROE'S
SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON
RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at	10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " " at	5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at	3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at	5 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.
Order Box W. M. Jacobs' store, Main street.
EXPRESS OFFICE, in Boston, 5 Congress Square; 3 Washington St; Freight Office, 24 Blackstone St.
Also an Order Box at 86 Pearl street.
Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.
ARMY EXPRESS.
Packages received and sent forward daily for Baltimore, Fortress Monroe, Annapolis, Washington, Alexandria, and any other point where the different regiments are stationed:
South Danvers, july 8—tf

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central Street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,
HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of
COFFINS AND CASKETS,
as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
—TO—
LYNN & BOSTON
—BY—
OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.
W. F. BURNHAM'S
Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily.
Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M
Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.
Horse Cars leaving Scollay's Building, Court Street, at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.
Sunday Arrangements.
Leave S. Danvers at 7.50 a.m., and 4.50 p.m.
Leave Lynn at 9.40 a.m., and 6.40 p.m.
Cars leave Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston, to meet the Omnibuses in Lynn for South Danvers, at 8 15 A. M., and 5 15 P. M.
Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - - 30 cents.
Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.
Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.
EXPRESS BUSINESS
Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.
Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.
South Danvers, 1863.

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem
EXPRESS.
Leave South Danvers, - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m
Orders left at Teel & Monton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM
EXPRESS.
Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.
OFFICES:
In Danvers—At E B Waitt's, and the Post Office.
Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible points in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. O. MARSHALL.
dec1-8-tf

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.
THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.
Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.
Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

Important to the Afflicted.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming case of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venerea and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abcesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business of society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.
Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capottes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. 3 for $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION
TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a very few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1863. NO. 33.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Original Poetry.

THE SENTINEL.

'Twas night; two hostile armies lay in slumber's soft embrace
While slowly paced upon his beat a sentinel in his place;
With head bowed low he mused on scenes the morrow's sun might see,
And thought the field, now green and fair, a battle ground would be;

And groans from many a manly breast would fill each heart with pain,
While vanquished armies broke and fled before the leaden rain;
But men must brave the cannon's mouth, and nobly do and dare,
If every heart-string in the land should break and perish there.

The hours wore on, the morning broke, the sun rose bright and fair,
And, sailing through his blue expanse, smiled on those armies there;
Smiled just as bright as if no blood the fair earth were to stain,
As if no war were in the land and all were peace again.

And many eyes that morning looked upon his glory bright,
Who, e'er another sun should set, would close in death's dark night;
And brave young hearts beat high with hope and victory was their thought,
Though well they knew the awful price at which it must be bought.

The long roll of the stirring drum rang through the camps around,
And gathered thousands, standing there, marched forward at the sound;
Marched forward to a field of death, and scenes of bitter woe,
Marched forward face to face with men who were their country's foe.

The awful shower of shot and shell swept through the heated air,
And thousands of their bravest men lay dead and dying there;
A thousand homes that day bereft of all they held so dear,
Ten thousand hearts in all the land, stood still with nameless fear.

The night closed in, the fight was done, 'twas victory dearly bought,
As they can tell, who on that field the dead and dying sought;
But the sentinel of yester-night, who dreamed of the awful strife,
What has become of that brave young heart? does his eye yet sparkle with life?

Ah, no! for out on the army's track he lieth, unheeded and cold,
And his story, like many another one, is all like a tale that is told;
And away up among Vermont's green hills a father and mother wait,
And in vain his sister watches for him down by the garden gate.

Long, long years will the flowers bloom, and their eyes with watching grow dim,
Others will hear of their boys that are gone, but no word will come from him;
But after a time a messenger will come, though it be ever so late,
Telling the anxious watchers there, of the son and brother's fate.

And this will be all; no token of love from the gay and handsome boy—
His father and mother's stay and staff, and his sister's pride and joy;
O, a thousand such homes in all our land are shadowed thus to-day—
May God speed the time when the clouds and mist shall forever be rolled away.

Tunbridge, Vt., July, 1863. H. S. J.

A MEMORY.

She was a gentle, quiet girl,
With darkly waving hair,
Just parted in her simple way
On a forehead low and fair;
No flush of brilliant loveliness
Was sparkling on her face,
But something tranquil and subdued,
And touching in its grace.

She seldom smiled, but then she brought
No cloud, on others glee;
And ever on her pale young brow
A shadow seemed to be;
And her voice was very sad
In its soft and earnest tone,
With a low and winning eloquence
And a sweetness all its own.

Some hidden sorrows on the past
A sadness seem to throw;
She never spoke of early ties,
Or of pleasures long ago;
But in the daily common cares
She calmly met her share,
As one who had no shrinking from
The trials life must bear.

No jest was on the placid lip
Where kindest accents hung,
And never now the careless laugh
From her still spirit rung;
But with a light and silent step
She moved among the throng,
Proclaiming in her noiseless way
The cheerful dance and song.

She had a pleasure in the sight
Of others happy mirth,
Such as an angel might have felt
While looking on the earth;
For she was like an angel here,
So lovely and so pure,
And she has passed where spirits are,
To dwell with us no more.

We miss the kindness of her voice,
And the beauty of her brow,
And the sweetest words we ever heard
Are silent to us now.
She never spoke of the quiet grief,
Whose blight so early fell—
She had been gayer once, they said,
But loved too long and well. W.

Selected.

ALLAN, THE OUTLAW.

A Legend of Prudhoe Castle.

Sir Robert Humfraville, nicknamed Robin Mond-Market, had a son named Odenel, a youth of fine figure, tall, handsome, and of most pleasant countenance, except when worked by some inward passion, when a scowl sat on his brow terrible to behold in one so young. He was brave, but treacherous; and his character as a libertine was so well established, that the good mothers on so-called banks of the Tyne kept their daughters out of sight whenever it was known that Odenel Humfraville was riding abroad with his gay companions.

His mother, the Lady Isabel, had a waiting maid in her service, named Annie Bickerstaff. Her age at this time might have been about nineteen. Of humble, but honest parentage, her manners were of a superior cast. To gentleness and sweetness of character she united great beauty and modesty. It was a delight to behold her tender figure, beautifully proportioned, her gracefully shaped head, and auburn tresses descending to her neck, her fine hazel eyes, and to witness litheness of her movements, as on a morning, when she tripped into the castle garden-to cull a nose-gay for her lady, and stooped over the flower-beds, regarding with tenderness, and something like sorrow, the beautiful victims to her taper fingers.

And those of the household whose duty led them to pass the chamber of the Lady Isabel of an evening could testify to the clear, silver voice of Annie Bickerstaff, as she accompanied herself sweetly upon a lute, to please her mistress, who had taught her to handle the instrument.

In short, all along the Tyne side the humble waiting maid was known as 'Bonnie Annie.' Many a young and rich Northumbrian farmer would have shared his fortune with bonnie Annie; but, feeling their own inferiority in breeding, there were few who had the courage to make love to her; and when one braver than another ventured to make known his sentiments, she would dismiss him with words which, if they dashed his hopes, increased his respect for her.

Annie, however, was neither prudish nor proud; she never assumed a position to which she was not entitled. She loved her humble countrymen, like a true daughter of the land, and her kind heart won her friends every where. When a tenant of the castle was in trouble, when a widow had lost a cow, her sole support, or when a servant was at fault, it was Annie who interceded in their favor with the Lady Isabel, who had the management of the castle during the absence of her lord at the wars. Annie, who had rejected more than one eligible suitor, had, nevertheless, a heart to love; nay, she did love one who was worthy of her love, and by whom she was warmly loved in return.

There was one man who in vain endeavored to ensnare the heart of Annie Bickerstaff, but not from honorable motives; and that was Odenel Humfraville. He waylaid her in her walks; he sought to detain her on every occasion, and to lead her into conversation, but, beyond the respect which she owed to the son of her mistress, her replies to the solicitations of the libertine gave him no encouragement; and when he spoke of love, she hastened, with a courtesy, from his presence. Once, when he would detain her at a bushy angle of the garden, and displaying a jewel, would have snatched a favor from her lips, she cast him aside with a scorn she could not disguise, and hastily entered the castle.

The self-love of Humfraville was deeply wounded. What inward curses he uttered himself only knew, but he vowed to be revenged; while the insult, as he considered it, he had received from the pretty waiting maid served but to whet his appetite to have her in his possession. He resolved to confer with Meg Harraden, cook-wench to the servitors of Prudhoe, a woman of course nature, and one who had often made herself serviceable to him in his vile intrigues.

As he was proceeding from the garden to the outbuilding where Meg superintended the roasting and boiling for a large establishment of servants, a little, sharp, red-haired boy entered the garden by a side door, and gazed timidly around him, as if he had lost his way. Soon as he saw Odenel approaching him with rapid strides, he would have fled as one attempting a petty larceny; but there was something in the aspect of the agitated young man which riveted him to the spot. The latter was unaware of the lad's presence until he came up to him. Pausing and composing his features, he looked down, with something like a smile, on the trembling urchin who stood before him.

'What brings you here, my wee man? To steal apples, eh?'

'Na, na, I never steal,' replied the boy in broad Northumbrian, who had now recovered himself.

'What brings you into the garden, then?' repeated Odenel.

'Weel, just to look at the flowers,' returned the boy, doubtfully.

'Come, come, was that all?' demanded the young man, somewhat sharply, who suspected his object was otherwise than to look at the flowers.

'Weel—' stammered the boy.

'Well?'

'Weel, I wus wishin' to see Bonnie Annie, and thought I could see her awa.'

'And what would you with Bonnie Annie?—what have you to say to her?' asked Odenel, in a mild and winning way, thinking there was some secret to be got from the lad.

'I canna tell you, indeed; I must speak to hersel'.'

'Now tell me!'

'Na, I winna!' and this was spoken very decidedly.

Odenel, amused at the boy's obstinacy, and yet hoping to gain his purpose, drew from his pocket a bright gold piece, and, holding it up to the lad, said:

'This shall be yours if you'll tell me what you have to say to Bonnie Annie.'

'I winna hae your siller, an I winna tell you!' said the brave boy.

A sudden idea occurred to Odenel, in presence of the obstinate visitor.

'Would you like to see Bonnie Annie, then, if I can send her to you?'

'Ay, would I?' cried the boy, with hope sparkling in his elfin eyes.

'Sit you down in this seat, then, and wait until she arrives. And here,' he continued, plucking some apples from a neighboring trees "here are some rosy-cheeked apples for you to munch. You know Bonnie Annie?'

'Na, I dinna ken her; but I ken she is bonnie. I shall ken her by her een and hair.'

'Rest there, then, and do not stir, in case the great lady of the castle sees you.'

The boy promised obedience.

Odenel hastened to have a conference with Meg Harraden, and certain plans were quickly formed. Meg entering heartily into the young man's scheme the more when she had touched the piece of gold which the red-haired lad had refused.

The boy had waited over half an hour when a female entered the garden and approached him. She was tall, gaunt, course and forbidding, but dressed in robes of the richest kind, with rings on her fingers, and various ornaments about her dress. The boy was frightened rather, when asked in a husky voice, in his own patois:

'And sae, my wee callant, ye want to speak wi' me?'

'Nu, nu,' said the scared boy; 'I would see Bonnie Annie.'

'Am I na bonnie, then?' inquired the course kitchen wench. 'Look you at my braw claes!'

'Braw claes,' said the sharp boy, 'dinna gie fair een and bonnie looks; but if ye be indeed Bonnie Annie, you should knaw the token I bring for aue ye sud well ken.'

Meg was at a loss what to answer.—Pluckly recovering her self-possession, however, she replied:

'There may be mair than aue token atween us. May he its the locket wi' my hair in it; maybe its the red stane set in it. This time—maybe its the ring this time.'

This was an arrow shot at a venture. The boy was taken off his guard by her assurance, and there was something in his look at the moment—a wavering between doubt and certainty—that made Meg boldly add:

'This time its the goud ring.'

'Is that it?' said the boy embassador, bringing forth, after much fumbling about his dress, a small ring in which was set a sapphire.

'Now tell me what was writ within?' demanded the sharp boy.

But here his sharpness suddenly deserted him. He could not read and had forgotten the love-motto.

'Ye ken it yoursel'?' said Meg, fastening her cat-like eyes on the ambassador.

'That I do,' answered the latter.

'Weel, then,' 'Fast and True,' said Meg, with assurance. She had heard of such posies, and spoke at random.

The boy had been told to be fast in his journey, and true to the one who sent him. Coupling the two words, and confounding posie-words with words of command, he yielded, though not quite assured. He thought to himself, however:

'It thou be Bonnie Annie, I have seen many a bonnier.'

'And noo, what hae ye to tell me?—Be quick, my lady will be missing me, and whiles she is cankered when I'm lang frae her side.'

This was said imperatively.

'I must na speak alood.'

'Whisper it then.'

And Meg bowed down her ear, and the message was delivered.

The boy rose to depart, when she addressed him in terms of affability, commended his great fidelity and loading him with rosy-cheeked apples, sent him on his way rejoicing in his orchard treasure, but doubting rather whether he had played well his part as an embassador.

'Ho, ho!' exclaimed Odenel, adding to the exclamation a whistle, when Meg had told him the message whispered into her ear by the boy. 'Whew-whew!—And so our modest Bonnie Annie has her leman and trysting tree! In the Hazel Glen, do you say?'

'Just sne, Maister Odenel.'

'And the hour?'

'The hoar o' gloamin'.'

'And who to meet?'

'That I did na speir; I fergat that.'

'Stupid wench! but I shall discover our wooer. Here, Robin!' calling to a huge groom, loitering in the court-yard.

Robin approached.

'Have three horses, ready saddled, to depart at sunset.'

'It shall be doon as ye command, Maister Odenel; but please you, Meg Harraden winna gie me anything to eat!'

Meg's indignation was fully roused, and she felt as if she could speak with freedom under the powerful protection of the young master of Prudhoe.

'Oot, loon!' said she—'out, loon! you victual at sax in the morn, and at nine in the morn, and at twal o' the day, and at four hoors, and at each victual a stoup o' the best the castle can afford, besides whangs o' bread and cheese between whiles. Ye harry the amry wi' your greedy maw. Oot, loon!'

Odenel went away laughing, allowing Meg and Robin to settle their quarrel as best they might.

It was in the afternoon of a fine day in September that Bonnie Annie left Prudhoe Castle to visit her parents, who resided on a small farm which lay beyond the Hazel Glen in Ettringham, on the banks of the Tyne. She was more disposed on the present occasion to undertake the short journey because Meg Harraden, who was on the alert in the interests of Odenel, had found means to waylay her, telling her that one of the shepherds of Prudhoe, in passing by Ettringham, had heard casully that her mother was sick.

'And on your way, Annie, you may meet ane—ye ken who!'

The latter remark called up a blush into Annie's cheek; for fear, however, that Meg might have discovered a dangerous secret. Bonnie Annie loved Allan of Alnwick, the best bowman in Northumberland. He was now known as Allan the Outlaw, having alike offended the Percies and the Humfravilles; accused of setting at nought certain forest laws, and of aiding and abetting certain Scottish outlaws. He had promised to be in the neighborhood of Prudhoe about this time, and day after day she had been expeting the token which would bring her to his side under the old trysting-tree. But she had waited thus long in vain, and anxiety on account of her parent, and fear lest Allan might have fallen into the hands of his foes, made her short journey a thoughtful one.

On his side, Allan of Alnwick waited in a remote part of the glen, near a bridle-way, but well concealed by boughs and bushes. He could see without being himself seen. He was quite uneasy in his mind, for when his red-haired messenger returned, he felt convinced that the boy had made a great mistake, and that Meg Harraden—he knew her well—was in possession of his secret. It was with no small anxiety, then, that he watched and listened. His only weapon of defence was his good yew-bow and a few arrows. The former he bent, examined the string, and saw that his arrows were pointed and notched.

The sun was just setting when Bonnie Annie entered the Hazel Glen. She knew her way well, and would have found it in the darkest hour of the night. As she hurried along, rapt in anxiety and misgivings, she was suddenly startled by two horsemen, who issued from a thicket and blocked the bridle-path. One, whom she immediately recognized, was Odenel Humfraville, the other was his man Robin, who led a saddle-horse.

'Good e'n, Annie!' said Odenel, addressing the frightened girl. 'Whither away, sweet mistress? But I need not put the question. Just the hour to meet a leman who dare not show his face in open day.'

'Allow me to pass, sir,' returned Annie, with as much dignity and bravery as she could command. 'It ill becomes a gentleman to stop a poor unprotected damsel on her way to visit a sick parent.'

'Ill shorten your way, sweetheart, and save your pretty kirtle from the brambles. Here, Robin, dismount, and assist this pretty lady into the empty saddle.'

Robin dismounted to obey his master's orders.

'You dare, base menial, to touch me!' exclaimed Annie, her eyes flashing with indignation.

'Ha, ha, ha!' laughed Robin; 'she speaks like a yarl's daughter, and ca's me a menial. Come, Bonnie Annie, and take kindly to the palfrey, for a lang gate ye'll ha'e to ride the dicht!'

'Off, villain—off! or dearly shall you and your cowardly master rue this adventure. O, that Allan of Alnwick were here!' she continued—betraying unwittingly, the dearest secret of her bosom—'and you would not dare to treat me thus!'

'Dare! I would dare devil and all for one kiss of Bonnie Annie, and that to-night shall be mine,' spake Odenel, laughing. 'But quick, Robin—quick, man! This said Allan may mar our sport yet!'

Robin seized the unfortunate girl by the waist, and, notwithstanding her struggles and screams, mingled in agony of the moment with cries of 'Allan! Allan!' succeeded in lifting her into the saddle.

'And now, my little lady—my pretty sweetheart—one favor before we set out. No!' he exclaimed, as when drawing up to the terrified and screaming girl, who held forth her hands to resist his attempts to salute her lips—'Then we must silence that sweet warbling tongue!'

Drawing from his vest a fine silken bandage, he gave directions to Robin to fasten it across her mouth, while himself steadied her in the saddle.

'And now, sweetheart, hold well by the bridle, for sorry should I be to have that fair neck of thine broken. Ride on, Robin; I come last, and sweetheart shall ride between. Oh, to my hunting lodge!'

There was one nearer to hand for the rescue of Bonnie Annie than she wot of. Alnwick heard the screams of the maiden; he heard his own name called upon by her, in her distress. The eve was still sufficient light to discern objects. Twang went a bow-string drawn by a skilful hand, and the man Robin dropped from his saddle.

Odenel dismounted, and withdrew the arrow from the breast of his servant, and, examining it, exclaimed:

'Hell and Satan! this shaft comes from the bow of Allan the Outlaw! I know it by its plumage.'

Scarcely had he made this discovery before he was confronted by the owner of the arrow. Manwhile, Annie had swooned, and would have fallen heavily to the ground, had not the fall been adroitly broken by the red-haired lad, who presented himself as suddenly on the scene as his master.

The two young men stood confronting each other for some time in silence. They were of equal height, and matched in strength.

'Outlawed dog! you brave me!' growled the discomfitted Odenel.

'Not for the first time,' replied Allan. 'I believe I have given you a scratch or two in my time.'

'And now I shall return the compliment on your braggart head.'

Allan leaped nimbly aside from a sword-blow which would have cleft him to the chin—the red-haired lad at the same time putting into his hand the sword of the fallen Robin.

'They fought in the dying twilight. One or both must be slain.

'Guard you, base libertine!'

'Guard you, base-born varlet!'

They crossed swords; the sparks of steel flew thick, and they fought with skill, but both were heated and desparate. At one moment Allan was sore pressed, and, in backing, he stumbled over the senseless and prostrate form of Annie.

'God in Heaven!' exclaimed the red-haired lad, interposing his master's bow against a stroke from Odenel which must have slain both lovers.

As it was, the bow was cut in two, and the point of the blade slightly grazed the fair arm of Bonnie Annie.

Allan was on his feet in an instant, and in another his sword had entered the heart of Odenel.

Soon as Annie recovered, and was refreshed by water from a rill that murmured near the scene of the combat, Allan, whom she joyfully recognized, mounted Odenel's horse, and, placing his beloved before him, rode off in the direction of Ettringham. Annie reposed that night under the roof of her parents. Next day, with Allan, she was in safety among the Cheviot Hills, and the bride of Allan of Alnwick; and they have descendants in the country thereabout to the present day.

CHARACTER OF CHARLES II.—Charles was probably ignorant of what restitution meant, as it is certain he never restored anything he once got; and he thought nobody entitled to reward for merely doing his duty—for losing house and lands for his father, or a leg or arm for himself. So there soon began the murmurings of discontent. But if he gave them no money, he managed to give them gratification in other ways; he hanged, drew, and quartered as many of the rebels as could be caught; he shook hands with the cavaliers, and made love to their wives and daughters. He would offend none of the contending parties if he could help it, and offended them all by his selfishness and insincerity. Another struggle for the crown, another Cromwell, another ten years lurking in foreign towns and starving on foreign charity, he would by no means undergo. So he took matters as they came, enjoyed the present time as much as he could, encouraged the most open vice and immorality by precept and example, the crown he had recovered as contemptible as the poverty he had escaped, accepted bribes from the French King to betray the glory of his country, sold the conquests of Cromwell for a little ready money, was insulted by the pettiest sovereigns without chastisement, saw the Dutch fleet sweep the Channel and burn the navy of England in the Medway, was the falsest, meanest, merriest of mankind; lived a reprobate and an infidel, and died a Roman Catholic, as the only religion fit for a gentleman, leaving the degraded throne and outraged nation to his brother, James II., in 1685.

☞ The inhabitants of The Southern States are, of all Americans, those who are most interested in the maintenance of the Union; they would assuredly suffer most by being left to themselves; and yet they are the only citizens, who threaten to break the tie of the confederation. If they discover a law of the Union which is not unequivocally favorable to their interests, they protest against it as an abuse of power.—De Tocqueville.

☞ Let a magician ask any woman whether she will permit him to improve her child, to raise it even from deformity to perfect beauty, if that must be done at the cost of its identity, and there is no living mother but would reject his proposal with horror.—Dr. Quincy.

☞ Great thoughts belong only and truly, to him whose mind can hold them. No matter who first puts them in words, if they come to a soul, and fill it, they belong to it, whether they floated on the voice of others or on the wings of silence, and the night.—G. Mitchell.

☞ It is in knowledge as in swimming; he who sports, and flounders on the surface, makes more noise, and attracts more notice than the industrious pearl-diver, who plunges in search of his treasure at the bottom.—Irving.

DISCIPLINE OF CHILDREN.

Correction in itself is not cruel; children, being not reasonable, can be governed only by fear. To impress this fear, is therefore one of the first duties of those who have the care of children. It is the duty of a parent; and has never been thought inconsistent with parental tenderness. It is the duty of a master, who is in his highest exaltation when he is in loco parentis. Yet as good things become evil by excess, correction, by being immoderate, may become cruel. But when is correction immoderate? When it is more frequent or more severe than is required ad momendum et docendum, for reformation and instruction. No severity is cruel which obstinacy makes necessary; for the greatest cruelty would be, to desist, and leave the scholar too careless for instruction and too much hardened for reproof. Locke in his treatise of Education, mentions a mother, with applause, who whipped an infant eight times before she had subdued it; for had she stopped at the seventh act of correction, her daughter, says he, would have been ruined.

The degrees of obstancy in young minds are very different; as different must be the degrees of persevering severity. A stubborn scholar must be corrected till he is subdued. The discipline of a school is military. There must be either unbounded license or absolute authority. The master who punishes, not only consults the future happiness of him who is the immediate subject of correction, but he propagates obedience through the whole school; and establishes regularity by exemplary justice. The victorious obstancy of a single boy would make his future endeavors of reformation or instruction totally ineffectual. Obstinacy therefore, must never be victorious.—Yet, it is well known that there sometimes occurs a sullen and hardy resolution that laughs at all common punishments, and bids defiance at all common degress of pain. Correction must be proportioned to occasions. The flexible will be reformed by gentle discipline, and the refractory must be subdued by harsher methods. The degrees of scholastic as of military punishment, no stated rules can ascertain. It must be enforced till it overpowers temptation; till stubbornness becomes flexible and perverseness regular.—Dr. Johnson.

ORIGIN OF PARLIAMENT.—The King wanted money for a tournament, or an expedition into foreign parts. The townsmen filled his purse, and he gave them a free market, or constituted them into a guild or corporation. Then they grew numerous and strong, and kept a body of armed citizens to resist the exactions of the barons, or even the aridity of the King. They became a power in the State, and in a certain quarrel between the crown and the barons, when both parties were anxious to purchase the support of the shopkeepers and townsfolk, it was thought a wise device to unite them to send up a couple of their own number from several of their largest communities, to consult for the common weal with the priests and nobles—especially as there was a motion entertained for the raising of a good sum of money. So, our Commons House of Parliament took its rise in the forty-ninth year of Henry III., and has gone on, sometimes well, sometimes ill, ever since—but always upon the great principle that the holder of the purse was the ruler of the nation.—History of England.

☞ Down on the Amazon, are spiders with bodies two inches and legs seven inches long, that catch and suck birds; butterflies that are mistaken for humming-birds; green snakes just like a creeping plant, and a lovely coral snake with bands of black and vermilion separated by clear white rings; monkeys with white hair all over them; monkeys only seven inches long; and owl-faced apes, sleeping all day and lively all night.

☞ A fireman of San Francisco has procured for an aged and valuable dog a fine set of mineral teeth. The dog has been for years first to raise an alarm of fire, and was always foremost to ring the bell. He injured his teeth by using them as "spanners" in screwing on leading hose.

☞ The greatest object in the universe, says a certain philosopher, is a good man struggling with adversity; yet a greater one still the good man who comes to relieve it.—Goldsmith.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1863.

THE REBEL STATES.

What shall be done with them? It is now given us to see sufficiently far through the mist of rebellion to render this an interesting as it is an important inquiry. How, when this rebellion is subdued at a cost so enormous, shall we reconstruct the system so as to preclude a repetition of the nation's direful experience? This is a grave, a momentous inquiry, which should be considered in the solicitude of an anxious country-loving heart, but with the fearlessness of a determined country-serving mind. Putting aside all prejudice, all preference, all party as relating to matters local, individual and minor, let the question he mooted and decided upon the high and holy principle of duty to the country in whose perpetuity are involved the sacred rights of the living and of the generations to come.

Some with whom this question arises, incline to go back, and feel their way up to an answer through Babylon, Egypt, and the dimness of of other by-gones. We do not purpose to do so. We cannot conceive what Babylon has to do with America emerging from this war; and we feel quite confident that, if we go stumbling and cutting our hands among the tomb stones of the hoary past, we shall be presently in no condition to grasp the question. We accept the existing state of things, and can discover no permanent deliverance from the national difficulty but by looking steadily in the face the present, and reading it in the light of the immediate past. And surely we need not look long; for ere we write it, the present has spoken, and the light of the past has flashed conviction.

We make the startling declaration—startling to be sure to those only, who are among the tomb stones—that there are but two things to be considered in determining what shall be done with the Rebel States!

First of all we have to accept the fact that the leaders of the rebellion are animated by an uncontrollable chagrin and hate. The haughtiness of Southern Chivalry has proved, as against the strong, sober spirit of the North, an unavailing element of nationality. The pride of that chivalry is wounded to the bitterness of gall, and its hate intensified into the malignancy of revenge. Endowed with conceit beyond measure, generals, colonels, captains by rank, in the mortification of failure, they lack even the quality of soldiers—the grace to acknowledge defeat. Insanely believing themselves the superiors of the race, they are blind to what constitutes superiority—are insensible even to the practical demonstration of superiority, which exposes the vanity of their own pretensions. Bridging a government over the crater of a volcano, and blown to the clouds by the next eruption, they still think themselves born rulers, and scorn the insinuation at their madness. To invest such men with the political power, which a restoration of the Rebel States to their original status in the Union supposes, would be the height of national folly and the depth of national crime. It would be the nation's suicide. It would be little else than laying down our arms, and baring our defenceless breasts to the daggers and revolvers of infuriated enemies. For in these men there is no loyalty, no love, no law, nor can be. They are the sworn adversaries of their country, and have proved the sincerity of their oaths by a magnitude of wickedness, which staggers all Christendom with amazement! Ere their tragedy commenced, their conduct in civil life had blanched us with shame for our country, and their machinations had well vandalized the fabric of American Freedom. Restore them, will you now—elevate them rather to their former places, with reddened hands, inflamed passions, perjured souls and revenging hearts, and tamely say, Peace! for there is oblivion of transgressions? Never! By the precious blood we have spilt, by the desolated hearths of unnumbered homes, by the sainted heroes whose ascended spirits contemplate the loved land they bled to save, never! The Almighty never aided man to destroy such conceit, humble such pride and frustrate such iniquity, only that such conceit, such pride and such conceit might be extinguished. It is plain that the rebellion leaders ought no more to sit in Congress, Cabinet or Council anywhere. To admit them to a voice in the conduct of the Government would be to nourish into new life and strength the very system, which has made them the bane of their country and the enemies of mankind.

This is the second thing. Slavery must end with the war. It is convicted of the felony of this rebellion, and the penalty is—death! There must be no commutation of the punishment. It would be the mercy of blood—of nameless woe entailed upon posterity. How shall the Felon be executed? Already he is arrested, imprisoned, chained. How shall we construct the gallows, and make sure work of the hanging? Simply consider the Rebel States, as States no longer, but as United States territory, and then carry out the Chicago Platform—no more slave States. And States they are not. The act of secession was the act of dissolution—not of the Union—but of the sovereignties of the States seceding. By the formal renunciation of allegiance to the United States, and by taking up arms to absolve their allegiance, the people of those States were remitted to the condition of aliens, having no rights under the Constitution but such as the Government may now choose to allow them. It was a relinquishment of citizenship, which Congress may restore by "a uniform rule of naturalization," to be applied to the particular case. But the action of the revolters did not affect the territory they inhabit. That belongs to the United States. That, by the act of secession, did not change ownership more than it would have changed, had the seceders, instead of taking up arms, taken themselves to the Fejee Islands. In effect they did emigrate to another part of the world, and have been paying homage to a foreign power. The territory they quit remained in statu quo—the inalienable possession of the Republic. As the rebellion subsides these emigrants are returning to the soil they left, as immigrants, and it is for Congress to determine in what way and how soon they shall be invested with territorial citizenship. And after Congress has determined this, and these aliens are naturalized, Congress is to determine on what conditions they may form States to be admitted into the Union. The prime condition will be that the States formed have a republican form of government excluding slavery. But there are two other conditions that ought to be prescribed of hardly less importance. The first is that the new States should have boundaries different from the Rebel States; and the second is that no new State should take the name of a Rebel State. There must be no Carolina, no Georgia, no Florida, no Alabama, no Mississippi, no Louisiana, no Texas, no Arkansas, and no Virginia. The old associations, the old line ways, which would naturally revive from, and be perpetuated by, the ancient boundaries and the ancient names, must be destroyed by obliterating the boundaries and expunging the names. Thus will clean work be made. Thus will Slavery be ended and Liberty be completed. Thus will the United States be UNITED, and take rank, in literal truth, as the Land of the Free, and the Glory of the World!

LOCAL EXPRESSING.—We have to go back comparatively but a few years, not more than twelve or fourteen, in recalling the time when there was no "express" running between Salem and the towns north, including Danvers, Wenham, Topsfield, Middleton, Essex, etc. Now expresses run daily from all these towns through Danvers and South Danvers to Salem and return. In addition to these, two run from Danvers to Lynn every other day. They carry mostly shoes and leather, and have become institutions which the community could by no means dispense with. Mears, Lummus, Trask, Semons, Sheldon, Tufts, James have become household or shophold words, particularly with shoe manufacturers. But the "Danvers, South Danvers and Salem Express" is the institution, which everybody seems to know and patronize. A good expressman is about the most useful man a community sustains. MARSHALL & Co., or "Marshall," as they call horse, wagon, harness, load and driver, was never known, it is said, to forget anything, miscarry anything, delay delivering anything, damage anything, or be unable to carry anything since he began "expressing it." His wagon is like an omnibus, always full, yet never full, and he will carry more items in his head than may be found in the last will and testament of a Gerard. Nobody could dispense with Marshall.

THE ALMSHOUSE AT SOUTH DANVERS.—It was our privilege, on Tuesday last, to visit this establishment in company with Mr. Merrill, for many years the Chairman of the Oversers of the Poor of the town. We look upon this as a model, equal to anything of the kind we have ever seen—and we have seen all the principal places in this and adjoining counties.

The present house is 90 by 40 feet—three stories above the basement. We looked through all the apartments, and found them clean and comfortable throughout, as most well-regulated dwellings are. We noticed no offensive smells of any kind.

The number of inmates is 44—ranging from one to ninety years of age. There has recently died at the house one female, aged one hundred years. On conversing with the inmates we found them cheerful and contented. Foreigners are not kept here now, being transferred at the earliest convenience to the State Almshouse at Tewksbury. Much credit is due to Mr. SCOTT, the present master of the house, for his kind and faithful supervision of its concerns. When Mr. Page left we thought it would not be possible to find his equal—but we are entirely satisfied with the present condition of things at the house. Blessed is he that doeth good to the poor. P.

THE SHOOTING OF GEORGE MILLER. — It seems by the subjoined paragraph that the statement we made last week (copied from an exchange) in regard to the shooting of Corporal George Miller, of this town, was greatly perverted, and in its essential features unfounded:

"A member of the 1st regiment, who was a witness to the whole affair, writes that the shooting was purely accidental. None of the parties were under the influence of liquor, and no citizen was insulted, as stated. As for Mr. Funk, he is one of the few remaining original members of the 1st regiment, and his comrades can bear testimony to his strictly temperate habits and exemplary character, and his suffering at the thought of being the innocent cause of so sad an accident must be acute enough without the addition of this criminal charge. Mr. Miller is also an old member of the 1st, and a true soldier in every sense of the word. At the time of this affair, he was one of the three original members remaining on duty in Co. H. It is to be hoped that his wound will not prove as serious as has been supposed, and that he will live to enjoy the honors which he has helped to gain for the 1st regiment."

NEW ICE CREAM SALOON.—Mr. Wilkinson has fitted up a spacious saloon for ice creams in the rear part of the new horse-car passenger depot. The accommodations are ample and convenient, and the creams (fresh from Copeland's) go ahead of any to be obtained in this vicinity. The ladies are quite delighted with this new feature in our town, and some of them have even organized themselves into a meeting on the spot, and unanimously passed votes of thanks to the proprietor for his enterprise in locating such a delicious institution among us.

☞ Gen. Grant's total loss in his late campaign against Vicksburg, was 1243 killed, 7095 wounded, 537 missing—total, 8875. Not more than one-half of the wounded were permanently disabled. He says the enemy lost at least 10,000 killed and wounded, 37,000 in prisoners, among whom were fifteen general officers, and hundreds and perhaps thousands of stragglers who can never be collected and reorganized.

☞ H. H. Lloyd & Co.'s County Map of the United States, now just out, is an admirable thing for reference. Besides its exhibition of all the counties, distinctly indicated by color, it contains all the Towns, Rivers, Mountains, &c., made famous by the war. It is moreover a cheap map, costing only 60 cents, or $1 25 if "mounted." E. B. Waitt keeps them at his periodical store.

☞ The change of tone on the part of the London Saturday Review, hitherto one of the strongest advocates of the secessionists in England, excites much comment. That journal looks on the recent Federal victories as great, if not decisive, and in a measure gives up the couse of the South as virtually lost.

☞ We are obliged to the friend, who sent to our office an elegant copy of the Massachusetts Digest. It is just what we wanted, and we shall hold the donor in memorium.

☞ A bridge destroyed during the late Federal Cavalry raid into North Carolina carried in its fall between five and six hundred negroes, who were either drowned or burned to death.

WAR CORRESPONDENCE.

CAMP OF 39TH MASS. VOLS.,
RAPPAHANNOCK STATION, VA.,
Tuesday, August 11th, 1863.

FRIEND HOWARD,—The soldier's life is not so gay as it once was. I remember of dating letters at Washington, and before that at Poolesville, when I sat in a chair, with my sheet of paper on a table and discoursed of warlike things in a very knowing and patronizing style. Then, if we had an extra drill per day, or the soft bread was baked a little too brown, or the rice caught on the kettle, we thought that we were a very ill-used regiment, and some even promised themselves that if that was the way men were to be treated in the army, who had left pleasant homes to die for the Union, they wouldn't stand it, but should become exempt as soon as possible. But we rioted in luxuries then, compared to the Grahamite mode of living that we indulge in at present.

We left Washington on the 9th day of July, and landed at Harper's Ferry the evening of the 10th about dark. We then stumbled up the hights, and after numberless mishaps, through mud and mire we lay down in the fog about 1200 feet in the air. It so happened that we were sent there on a Tom-fool's errand, as Lee instead of coming down through the valley, was then at Williamsport, shoving across his trains with great rapidity. We were immediately brigaded with three 9 months regiments from Mass., (8th, 46th and 51st) under Gen. Briggs, formerly Colonel of the Mass. 10th and were ordered to join the army of the Potomac. The style of marching preferred by General Briggs might please a Natick brogan manufacturer or a man owning a couple of easy going saddle horses, but to the poor fellows in the ranks, the exercise was very distasteful.—We marched 18 or 20 miles a day and one day 24, on half rations, and in a broiling sun.—When the sun refused to shine, the rain would pour, so that we were either blistered or parboiled. At last we reached our immediate destination. Our army was found at Funkstown, drawn up in line of battle and the rebel skirmishers were only about a half mile distant, by the edge of a piece of woods towards Hagerstown. We were joined to the 2d Division of the 1st Corps., where we now remain. But the poor secesh managed to stagger across the river unknown to us, and the game was gone. Now, the order comes to pack up, and give chase. We returned to the Hights by the same route that we had just passed from them, and still back to Berlin, where we lay until the pontoon bridge was finished when we stepped proudly upon the sacred soil once more.

We have been on the move ever since until a week ago, when we arrived at this place.—Here is where the Orange and Alexandria R. R. crosses the river. The bridge on this side had been washed away, but it is now repaired. Batteries were planted on the bluff by the side of the R. R., and we were ordered to support them. The enemy's pickets could be plainly seen from our position, and also their earthworks. One dark night, the pontoon bridge was thrown across and at day-break the next morning some 50 or 60 of our cavalry went over. Some anxiety was felt, as it was not certainly known what force might be hid behind the woods; but as the little band advanced the rebs fell back, and then Buford's splendid Division of cavalry crossed, and a running fight ensued which continued—but the Boston Journal has the particulars, and it would be folly for me to make vain repetitions.

Our Corps was the only one that crossed, and our Brigade was stationed on a hill, some half a mile from the river. Here we threw up intrenchments. It will puzzle the owner of that land to find out where the original survey was made. His stone-wall was swung around at a right angle to its former position, and his cows will never find the barn-yard without help.—On Saturday last, we were ordered to recross the river again, and are now laying out a permanent camp, where it is said we shall stay until the conscripts arrive, who are to end this cruel war in the twinkling of an eye. Well, we have had some very hard marches, some very poor fare, some blisters on our feet, and hunger at our stomachs, but have the most of us come out of it all right. We are kept under as strict discipline here as we ever were.—Some of the men of the old regiments laugh at us, as we go through our drills and dress parades, things that they have probably not done for many a month, but though some of us growl at it a little, still the reflecting ones know that these are the things that help make good soldiers. Colonel Davis is in command of the Brigade at present, being senior officer.

I have been dozing this morning, as I sit upon the ground, almost unconsciously listening to the conversation of the men, what a debasing effect, war has, upon their dispositions and moral feelings. Our company is in line, and stepping up, man by man to the commissary for its day's rations. The ration for today is two spoonsful each of sugar and coffee, ten hard tack, and a junk of fresh beef, hot from the butchers. First, there will be a scrabbling to see who will be ahead, and sometimes two men, who at home would be called respectable and high-toned gentlemen will almost come to blows in seeing which shall take his two little button-bags up first. Then, as the beef is delivered, a man will take his ration, perhaps a piece of shin, or a sticking piece, and holding it up will say, "How in thunder is a feller going to eat that stuff," and back he throws it into the box and turns on his heel, a much abused and down trodden human being, because God did not make an ox all sirloin and rump steak. Men seem to lose their manliness and self-respect in a great many things, and I must confess that in some cases it is not unaccountable.

Sergeant Dodge is sick in Hospital with dysentery. Tyler is also there from the effects of a sun-stroke on our last march. All the other boys are well. I hope that Capt. Nelson is gathering in the elected, for they should be drilling, now that we are lying still. I hear that in-growing-toe-nails is raging in town.—How unfortunate, just at this time!

I will write again soon. C. W. H.

SALEM AND SOUTH DANVERS RAILROAD.—The Cars will hereafter run regularly from the New Depot on Webb Street, passing through Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets, both ways, until further notice.

On Wednesday and Saturday Afternoons, when pleasant, the Car "Excursionist" will make two trips, leaving Webb street at 2. 30 and 6; and leaving South Danvers at 3.10 and 6.40.

☞ No less than twenty-one mis-matched couples were divorced the other day by the Superior Court, in Hartford. This is untying the wedding knot with uncommon liberality.

LIFE IN THE SADDLE.

BLUE RIDGE RANGE OF MOUNTAINS,
SNICKERSVILLE GAP, VA.,
July 25th, 1863.

My last date to you, I think, was at Jones' Cross Roads, Md. Previous to that my journal leaves (sent to you at different times,) gave you the outline of our marches, including our fights at Aldie, Middleburgh, Upperville, and the part we took in the battle of Gettysburg. I think I mentioned that we had about 150 killed, wounded and missing in our regiment alone, at Aldie, giving us much work in the dressing and care of the wounded. Among my portion of the wounded I had occasion to amputate one leg, which I performed by the circular operation. There were two thigh and one leg amputation in the temporary hospital which fell to the lot of other surgeons. On our march back to here, I had the luck to again see the case of my amputation, which I found doing very well, and the man (a reb.,) very grateful to me, he being much pleased with the result, as he thought his stump was so much better than a neighbor to him, who had had a leg amputated. This, of course, was a rose in the thorny path of my duty. While at the Cross Roads, our regiment, for two or three days—much to the wonderment of the officers—was dismounted and used in advance of the infantry as skirmishers, retiring behind them at night for camp. Three men of the regiment were wounded slightly, viz: Skelton, Downy, and Perkins.

Tuesday morning, the 14th of July, an hour before daylight, the bugle sounded "Boots and Saddles," and very soon the Adjutant sent me word we were to break camp and go back to Boonshoro' and there to join the 1st Brigade, 2d Division—we were then in 2d Brigade.—We were soon on the road and reached Boonsboro' about 7 o'clock. Waited here two or three hours and then started on the road for Harper's Ferry, which place we reached about 5 o'clock. This, of all points on the Potomac, I was most desirous of seeing, and it is well worth much effort for the sight. Here the Shenandoah and Potomac Rivers unite their waters above and flow down through a very wild looking and craggy gap on the mountains of the Blue Range, the Loudon Heights on the South and Maryland Heights on the North shelving off down to the river very sharply abrupt indeed, there being but just room enough on both sides to make a road. At this point the railroad crosses the river and runs down into Virginia. We crossed the river on a pontoon of 34 boats and went into camp on the Bolivar Heights, which lie about a mile from the town of Harper's Ferry, West of the Loudon Heights. Next day marched to Shepardstown on the Potomac above. Here we remained with horses in saddle till 3 P. M. of Thursday, 16th, when just as I was about to sit down to enjoy a late dinner which I had bargained for in the town, I was informed by orders that a fight would probably take place on the Winchester road in about an hour. Hungry as I was I hurried off to my regiment, and here again I was sent by the Medical Director back into the town to report at a church there to be used as a hospital. By the time I reached the church the fight was going on very brisk, just about a quarter of a mile out on the Winchester road. The fight commenced about 3½ P. M., and continued well into the evening. We maintained our ground without losing any men by capture, but took some rebels prisoners. There were about sixty wounded, chiefly from the 16th Pennsylvania, 1st Maine, and 4th Pennsylvania, belonging to the 3d Brigade. Our brigade was not engaged. These two brigades were the only forces we had, nearer than Harper's Ferry. We had expected reinforcements, but they had not, and did not come up—therefore it was decided to retreat to Harper's Ferry during that night, especially as the rebels apparently greatly outnumbered us, and the news we had that Lee's whole army was at Winchester, having crossed the river on Monday night. Dr. Phillips, Medical Director, ordered me to see all the wounded who could be transported, loaded into ambulances, and to report with them at Harper's Ferry the next morning, and to follow with them in rear of our brigade. To me, already greatly fatigued with the afternoon's work, and no food since morning, this was no very pleasant prospect. However, after getting some supper at Headquarters, I got the wounded, with the aid of the other surgeons, all loaded, except 12, whom I was obliged to leave from the character of their wounds and want of room. I then joined the brigade where we waited two hours for it to start—then proceeded over the worst and most dangerous road I have seen on any march yet. One ambulance broke down and two artillery caissons were precipitated over a bluff 10 or 12 feet. I was so sleepy I could hardly keep my seat; we reached Harper's Ferry about an hour after daylight. I succeeded in depositing all the wounded in a church, then reported to Dr. Phillips, who relieved me, and I returned to the regiment. We remained here in camp until Sunday obtaining forage and provision.

Sunday, 19th July, P. M., we were again on the road with orders to form a rear guard to the 12th Corps. Our brigade being assigned this duty we were thus separted from the rest of the division, which went off in some other direction. We crossed the Shenandoah at the Ferry, marched around the base of Loudon Heights, then ascended between two ranges of hills upon an elevated valley, which goes by the name of "Short Hills;" here we marched about eight miles, then encamped. The next day we spent saddled up, but did not go far,—through Hillsboro' to Parcelville, the next day back again by another road to Hillsboro', where we encamped about three quarters of a mile from town until Thursday, when we moved to Snickersville, and our regiment kept right up the Pike into the Gap, and here we have remained. It is a place well worth seeing, and will repay as a visit of pleasure in time of peace. It is only about a mile from the base of the hills on one side to the base on the other, and from the top of the hill, one-half a mile to the left of the Pike, is the most magnificant view of Loudon Valley on the West, the river running along about a mile from the base of the mountains, but conclaved from view by trees. From one view from a rock whose sides descend perpendicularly for 30 or 40 feet, the whole Shenandoah is spread out as if directly at your feet, stretching away for miles to the first range of the Alleghanies. From this height it looks like a level partially wooded plain, when really the whole surface is quite uneven and rolling. Up to yesterday morning the rebels were picketing down to the river, with what force is not known. In the afternoon a reconnoissance was ordered and one squadron under Capt. Tewksbury crossed the river and went about five miles to Berryville and learned the rebels had passed through that town an hour before. By invitation of Capt. Crowninshield I accompanied him down to see what was going on. We crossed the river and went with the advance party about a mile on the Pike. The river is the deepest I have yet forded; my horse was obliged to swim some of it. Day before yesterday firing was heard and it is said there was quite a fight at Ashby's Gap. The advance of our army is said to hold Culpepper.

The weather has been exceedingly hot for the past few days, but here in the mountains we have a constant and refreshing breeze. Six P. M., a thunder storm has come up and raining heavily. Eleven P. M., Sunday 26th, we were nearly washed down the side of the mountain last night. It poured in torrents nearly all night. The wind has changed and is now from the Northwest, clear and beautiful. The view from the rock about half a mile from here was splendid. Winchester could be plainly seen directly West.

CAMP NEAR WARRENTON, VA., July 28th, 1863.—Have just caught the opportunity to send forward the foregoing lines. C.

DANVERS EXEMPTS.

The following is a list of persons from Danvers, discharged by the Board of Enrollment of the Fifth District from the draft ordered June 30, 1863:—

John Dailey, father of motherless children, twelve dependent.
Perkins Foster, loss of teeth.
Milton A. Bennett, loss of right thumb.
Charles H. Brown, asthma and chronic diarrhœa.
Elias A. Peabody, disease of heart.
Porter G. Nason, feebleness of constitution.
George Lilley, shortness of left leg.
James Munroe, loss of teeth.
Alonzo A. Tapley, scrofula.
Warren Goodale, lameness.
Irad P. Goodale, rupture.
Stephen Henderson, deafness.
Alonzo Fowler, blindness of right eye and feebleness of constitution.
Lorenzo D. George, loss of fingers.
Charles Kellam, feebleness of constitution.
William H. Bonner, only son of widow, dependent.
Levi J. Owen, bleeding piles.
Augustus Thompson, otorrhœa and deafness.
Thomas F. Ferguson, rheumatism.
Franklin A. Batchelder, loss of teeth.
Franklin W. Putnam, imperfect vision and splay feet.
Warren P. Patch, varicocele.
David A. Fuller, blindness of right eye.
Frederic A. Wentworth, bunion and overriding of toe.
John Swinnerton, feebleness of constitution.
Lewis W. Day, exhaustion from previous service.
Nelson E. Jefferson, feebleness of constitution.
Nathan K. Cross, feebleness of constitution.
Franklin Gray, rupture.
Samuel F. Gray, deafness.
Daniel J. Tapley, heart disease.
Joseph B. Fowle, loss of upper teeth.
William N. Sanborn, feebleness of constitution, and cough.
Benjamin F. Marden, only son of widow dependent.
Jacob B. Marston, loss of sight and constitutional debility.
Ambrose Sopher, chronic rheumatism.
Thomas J. Downs, heart disease.
Thomas Palmer, widowed mother dependent.
Nathan H. Brown, only son of widow dependent.
Ezra W. Eaton, feebleness of constitution.
Ruel B. Pray, vertigo.
Moses N. Hunt, near sightedness.
Israel R. Bradstreet, bronchitis.
John Kirby, varicose veins and feebleness of constitution.
Charles H. Edgecomb, disease of heart.
James H. Page, hæmoptysis.
William E. Putnam, feebleness of constitution.
James M. Rollins, debility from military service.
Patrick O'Neil, feebleness of constitution.
Benjamin F. Porter, near-sightedness and rheumatism.
James R. Hobbs, chronic diarrhœa.

TANNING AND CURRYING.—This prominent business of our town seems quite brisk for this season of the year, judging as we do by outside as well as inside appearances. The tanneries are well sprinkled with men and boys laboring at the vats, at the mills, or making tan while the sun shines; and the currying shops seem like so many hives, teeming with life and industry. We noticed this particularly one day last week while visiting the shop of Messrs. PINDER & BROWN, on Walnut St., where some forty hands are employed. Besides all this bone and muscle a steam engine of some six horse power carries a glassing machine, and one of the new patent leather splitters, which latter seems admirably adapted for its work, having one great advantage over the old patent, so long in use—doing its own sharpening without any trouble or loss of time to the operator.

The new shop now erecting for the firm of HENRY POOR & SONS, on Central St., is nearly completed, and is a fine-looking structure. Including the basement, it is three stories high, and will accommodate some forty or fifty hands. It will have a steam engine, and all the modern improvements in machinery, etc. Such establishments as this—including PINDER & BROWN'S, and BROOKS & MESSER'S on Wallis St., are real and useful ornaments to our town, and help to give it a good name and character.

☞ There are, or were recently, two families living in one house in Lynn, one of which was named Yell and the other Scream. Their next neighbor was named Ball. Mr. Noyes lived in the next street. Notwithstanding this it is said to be a very quiet neighborhood.

REASONS FOR THE DRAFT.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald asserts that the draft is enforced at the present time in consequence of the danger of a war with England.

POLITICAL.

The contest in Ohio is being conducted with great vigor. Meetings are being held in every county and township; and we are told that the town meetings are so large as to resemble county meetings of other days, and the county conventions to come up to the State conventions of former times. Mr. Lincoln's majority there in 1860 was over twenty thousand; but last year the Democrats had over five thousand majority; and now they talk of electing Vallandigham. It is probable that he will be defeated, and Brough chosen by a large majority. With a war Democrat the result might be otherwise.

Vermont is the first State to vote, the election coming September 1st, two weeks before Maine. We believe there is opposition enough to go through the forms there; but as the Republican majority last year was over 26,000, it amounts only to the form. As the congressional elections are to take place now, the vote will be larger than last year; but of the same kind, only a little more so.

In California, which votes October 21st, there is much feeling for the result. Politics there are in a mixed state. Many settlers from the South favor the rebellion. Then there is a democratic party of the Broderick school, and the Republicans, who take the name of Unionists. If the democrats were united they would be largely in the ascendency; but they can not unite. Many of them prefer to act with the Republicans rather than have anything to do with the Southern faction; and there is no counting on the result, unless one is on the spot to know. Last year the Republicans had the legislature, but they chose Cornes, Senator, who till then had been a Douglas democrat; now he is in Washington and predicts the defeat of the democratic party by fifty thousand majority.

The canvass for the election in Maine, which will come off in four weeks, is spirited. Already public meetings are being held, and the people are waking up in earnest. Gen. Butler is among the speakers for the Union ticket. This election will have much influence upon the States to vote in October; and neither party will lose a vote that can be saved to themselves. The Republicans see no difficulty in the election of their candidates, while the Democrats claim that the State is doubtful. Last year the Republican majority was 5500.

The Democrats of Massachusetts have called their convention to nominate candidates for State officers, to meet on the 3d of September, in Worcester. They have added interest to the meeting by arranging for the choice of four delegates to the next national convention.

The Pennsylvania papers are full of electioneering appeals. The candidates being nominated for October, and the State doubtful, each party is active. The administration side have the best of it in holding power, but they were not fully agreed on the nomination of Curtin. Like the Republicans the Democrats are well organized, but they are weakened by the raid of Lee; and many of them are in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war; and in such a time as this any election is doubtful. Events are uncertain; a victory or defeat may change thousands; and the adoption or rejection of plans of action may knock the best prospect into pi.—Newburyport Herald.

EXCURSION.—The Young Men's Catholic Temperance Society, of Salem, held their Annual Pic-nic at Whipple's Grove, Lowell, on Thursday, Aug. 13. Long before the hour of starting a large number of people could be seen wending their way towards the Salem and Lowell Railroad station, anxious to leave their business for a day's recreation in the country. After all the arrangements had been completed, the cars (17 in number) started amidst the hurrahs of the excursionists, and the Salem Brass Band playing some enlivening strains, awakening in the breasts of young and old all the feelings of hilarity which they ever possessed. Reaching the grove at about 10½ o'clock, the party took measures to enjoy themselves as best they could; some dancing and others swinging, while a large number rambled through the grove and finally found their way into the city, which is but a short distance from the grove, and enjoyed themselves visiting the large manufactories. The whole party again assembling, at about 6 o'clock, the train started for home and reached Salem at about 8 o'clock. On the whole, it was one of the largest and most successful gatherings which the Society has ever had, and as nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the party, and the day being the most beautiful which one could wish for, left no reasonable person any room to find fault.—Gaz.

☞ The Annual Exhibition of the ESSEX AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY, will this year be at Andover, September 29th and 30th. The order of arrangements, with a list of premiums and committees have been published. Ten of the Trustees will go out this season by expiration of their terms of office. The oration will be by Hon. Daniel Saunders of Lawrence.

PERSONAL.—The Newburyport Herald says that "Moses H. Hale, Esq., formerly of N., has been appointed Superintendent of the Salem and South Danvers Horse Railroad, and entered upon that duty. He is a gentleman of much energy and business capacity, and admirably fitted for the place. We doubt if they could have found a better man in the country."

☞ We regret to learn that Oliver Ober of Salem, a member of Co. A, (Salem Light Infantry,) 50th Regiment, who was left sick at Mound City, died at that place on the 14th.—He was about 22 years old and leaves a wife and child in this city.—Register.

BARGAINS IN KID GLOVES.—John P. Peabody has determined to close his entire stock of light Kid Gloves, and has marked them down to 75 cents. They are the best goods and are sold in Boston and Salem for $1 25 and $1 50.

BEST KID GLOVES in light colors for 75 cts., to close at Peabody's.

☞ A niece of Kossuth was married in New York the other day. Gen. Fremont and several Hungarian officers assisted at the ceremony.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers. See advertisement.

☞ Gen. Dodge is reported sick at Memphis.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

HEADQUARTERS, BOSTON, JULY 31, 1863.

GENERAL ORDER, No. 18.

1st. The Commander-in-Chief desires to call the attention of the people of the Commonwealth to the fact, that by reason of the great reduction in the numbers of the Volunteer Militia, the State finds itself at this moment without any adequate organized military force available for the protection of the State, or for the maintenance of the public peace. And inasmuch as it is believed that the provisions of the General Statutes, Chapter 13, Section 1, which requires that the volunteer militia shall be first ordered into service in case of war, invasion, &c., and the provision it 1st Section 49th Chapter of the Acts of 1861, which requires that all companies of the volunteer militia shall be liable to be marched without the limits of the Commonwealth on a requisition of the President of the United States upon the Commander-in-Chief, for extended terms of service, have deterred the citizens of the State from enlisting in the volunteer militia, and must continue to operate against the recruitment of that force, the following Act of the General Court of Massachusetts, passed the 29th day of April, A. D., 1863, and being Chapter 243 of the Acts of the current year, and the Order in Council adopted in accordance with the provisions of said Act, are hereby promulgated:—

[CHAP. 243.]

AN ACT in addition to an Act concerning the Militia.

Be it enacted, &c., as follows:—

SECT. 1. The governor, with the advice and consent of the council, is authorized to organize, arm and equip, under such regulations as he may prescribe, so many of the enrolled militia as may be necessary for the common defence.

SECT. 2. The militia so organized shall consist of at least one regiment of cavalry, consist of twelve troops or companies; one regiment of artillery of not more than twelve batteries, and eight regiments of infantry ten companies each, which shall be officered in the manner prescribed by the laws of the United States, and of this State concerning the militia. The governor shall divide the militia into divisions and brigades.

SECT. 3. The governor may appoint one major-general, to command the militia thus organized, who shall hold his office until the next session of the legislature, when a major general shall be chosen in accordance with the provisions of the constitution.

SECT. 4. The general, staff, field and company officers, and the non-commissioned officers of the militia thus organized, shall be chosen appointed and commissioned agreeably to existing laws. But the habitual use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage shall disqualify a person from holding a commission under this act; and no commission shall issue to an officer elected or appointed, unless he is qualified by education and ability to discharge the duties of his office; and the commander-in-chief may appoint a military board to examine into the capacity, qualifications and efficiency of persons claiming or holding a commission in the militia under the rank of a major-general, and if the report of the board is unfavorable to the officer, his commission shall be vacated or withheld, as the case may be.

SECT. 5. Uniforms, arms and equipments shall be provided for the militia thus organized in general conformity with those furnished to similar troops in the service of the United States. And the governor may, in his discretion, arm a portion of the infantry with rifles.

SECT. 6. The pay of the militia so enrolled shall be the same as now provided by law, except that officers and non-commissioned officers serving on foot, and privates, shall be allowed for their personal service when called out for discipline, one dollar each per day, and one ration, valued at thirty cents.

SECT. 7. The commander-in-chief may call out the militia mentioned in this act, for discipline and military instruction, at such times and places as may be expedient and necessary, and may issue all such orders as are necessary to carry this act into effect.

SECT. 8. This act shall take effect upon passage.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, IN COUNCIL,
Boston, July 30, 1863.

Whereas, by 243d Chapter of the Acts of the year 1863, it was among other things enacted by the Legislature of Massachusetts, that "Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council, is authorized to organize, arm and equip, under such regulations as he may prescribe, so many of the enrolled militia as may be necessary for the common defence."

It is therefore Ordered, that agreeably to the said Statute a military force to be called the Independent Division of the Active Militia of Massachusetts be organized, armed and equipped under such regulations as the Governor may prescribe.

2d. The above recited Act provides for the organization of an active militia force, to be uniformed, armed and equipped, by the State and commanded by officers who shall have given proof of their ability by passing such examination as shall be prescribed, and the members of which shall not, by reason of the enlistment therein, be subject to any liability to be ordered without the limits of the Commonwealth, beyond that attaching to every citizen of the State enrolled in its militia, except as it is hereinafter provided.

3d. The Commander-in-Chief, therefore earnestly calls upon the able-bodied citizens of the State enrolled in the militia of the Commonwealth, to form themselves into companies under the above recited Act, in their respective cities and towns.

4th. The companies raised under the above recited Act shall, until further orders, be limited to twelve companies of cavalry, six batteries of artillery, and one hundred and thirty companies of infantry, and shall be organized in one regiment of cavalry, one regiment of artillery, and thirteen regiments of infantry, to constitute a Special Division of Active Militia.

Each Regiment of Cavalry shall consist of—

1 Colonel.	1 Regimental Commissary
1 Lieutenant Colonel.	with rank of First Lieutenant,—an extra Lieutenant.
1 Major for every 4 companies.	1 Surgeon.
2 Assistant Surgeons.	1 Veterinary Surgeon.
1 Regimental Adjutant—with rank of 1st Lieutenant,—an extra Lieutenant.	1 Sergeant Major.
	1 Quartermaster-Sergeant.
	1 Commissary-Sergeant.
	2 Hospital Stewards.
1 Regimental Quartermaster, with rank of First Lieutenant,—an extra Lieutenant.	1 Saddler-Sergeant.
	1 Chief Trumpeter.

And twelve troops of Companies, each to consist of

1 Captain.	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Trumpeters,
1 Second Lieutenant,	2 Farriers or Blacksmiths,
1 First Sergeant,	1 Saddler,
1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,	1 Wagoner,
1 Commissary-Sergeant,	and 60 privates minimum,
5 Sergeants,	and 78 maximum.

Each Regiment of Artillery shall consist of—

1 Colonel,	1 Chaplain,
1 Lieutenant Colonel,	1 Sergeant Major,
1 Major for every four batteries,	1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,
	1 Commissary Sergeant,
1 Adjutant, with rank of First Lieutenant.—not an extra Lieutenant,	1 Hospital Steward,
	2 Principal Musicians.
1 Quartermaster with rank of 1st Lieutenant, not an extra Lieut,

And each Battery shall consist of—

1 Captain,	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Musicians,
1 Second Lieutenant,	2 Artificers,
1 First Sergeant,	1 Wagoner,
1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,	58 Privates, minimum,
4 Sergeants,	122 Privates, maximum.

To the above organization of a Battery, the Commander-in-chief may, in his discretion, allow in addition 1 First and Second Lieutenant, 2 Sergeants, and 4 Corporals.

Each Regiment of Infantry shall consist of—

1 Colonel,	2 Assistant Surgeons,
1 Lieutenant Colonel,	1 Chaplain,
1 Major,	1 Sergeant-Major,
1 Adjutant, with rank of 1st Lieutenant—an extra	1 Regimental Quartermaster-Sergeant,
1 Quartermaster, with rank of 1st Lieut.—an extra	1 Regimental Commissary Sergeant,
1 Surgeon,	1 Hospital Steward,
	2 Principal Musicians,

And Ten Companies, each to consist of—

1 Captain,	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Musicians,
1 Second Lieutenant,	1 Wagoner,
1 First Sergeant,	and 64 privates, minimum,
4 Sergeants,	and 82 privates, maximum.

5. The companies to be raised under the above recited Act will be apportioned among the counties of the State, according to their population, so far as may be; but as the number of companies to be raised may be increased, if the citizens of the State shall respond to this call in a manner to warrant it, those petitions which are first received will be first granted, in the order of their reception.

6. The form of enlistment in the active division of the militia hereby provided for, shall be as follows:

We the undersigned, do hereby severally acknowledge to have voluntarily enlisted in the active militia force of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, organized in pursuance of an Act passed on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1863—and being chapter 243 of the Acts passed by the General Court of said Commonwealth in said year—(in a company of infantry, artillery, cavalry,) raised in the city or town of——, for the period of five years, unless sooner discharged by proper authority; and we declare that we have not enlisted in any other company raised under said Act; and we do hereby severally solemnly swear that we will bear true faith and allegiance to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and will support the Constitution thereof, and that we will observe and obey the orders of the Commander in Chief, and of the officers appointed over us, according to the rules and articles for governing the militia in actual service, and the regulations which may be prescribed in pursuance of said Act. And we do severally solemnly swear, that we will support the Constitution of the United States.

Each member enlisting in a company shall sign his name to a roll under the above form of enlistment, and there shall be at the time of such signing added against his name in separate columns, the date of his enlistment, the city or town in which he resides, his age, occupation, and whether he is married or single; and the above oath shall be administered by a Justice of the Peace or Notary Public, who shall at the bottom of such roll certify that he duly administered said oath to the man or men whose names are contained in said roll.

7. Petitions for permission to organize companies of Infantry, Artillery or Cavalry under the above Act, must state in what city or town it is proposed to raise the same, and be signed by at least fifty members of the enrolled militia of the Commonwealth who proposes to enlist in said company; and the same must be attested by the Mayor or Selectmen of the city or town in which it is proposed to raise said company, and addressed and forwarded to the Adjutant General, to be laid before the Governor.

8. When any such petition shall have been approved and granted, blank enlistment rolls will be issued to some one of the petitioners, by the Adjutant General, and, if the same are not returned within a period of three weeks from the date of their issue, with at least the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company enlisted therein, the authorization for the formation of such company will be withdrawn, unless, from special circumstances, the Commander in Chief shall see fit to extend the period allowed for raising said company.—Upon the withdrawal of the authorization granted to any petitioners to raise such company, by reason of their failure to obtain the prescribed number of men within the time allowed, all enlistments in such company become void, and the men who enlisted therein are free to enlist in any other company.

9. Whenever the enlistment rolls of any company authorized to be raised in pursuance of the above Act shall have been returned to the Adjutant General, and it shall appear that at least the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company have enlisted therein, the said roll being attested by the Mayor or Selectmen of the place where said Company was proposed to be raised, or where a majority of the men enlisted therein reside, the said company shall receive its designating letter or number, and an election of officers shall be ordered in said company.

10. The order for such election of officers shall be directed to one or more of the Selectmen, or Mayor and Aldermen, of the place where a majority of the men enlisted in such company reside, and the person or persons to whom said order is addressed shall cause notifications of said election to be served on the persons enlisted in said company, and shall preside at such election, and keep a record of the proceedings, and return the same to the Adjutant General.

11. The presiding officer at such election shall, with the record of the proceedings thereof, return any certificates or papers presented to him by any of the officers elected, tending to show that the officer presenting the same is duly qualified by education and ability to discharge the duties of the office to which he has been elected, as required by section 4 of the above recited Act. And any officer so elected may at any time forward any such certificates or papers, or furnish any other evidence of his ability or qualifications, to the Adjutant General direct. And the Commander-in-Chief will in all cases, when it may appear necessary, order any such officer so elected to appear before a military board for examination as provided in said section.

12. When the officers of a company shall have been commissioned and its organization completed, the Master of Ordnance shall, on application by the commander thereof and on his furnishing satisfactory evidence that a suitable armory or place of deposit is provided therefor agreeably to Section 88, Chapter 13, General Statutes, issue to such commander the arms and equipments for such company.

13. Uniforms will be served by the Quartermaster General to the companies organized under this Act, as soon as they can be furnished.

14. The commissioned officers of every company shall receipt to the Master of Ordnance for all the arms and equipments issued to such company, and shall be responsible for their safe keeping, and for their return when demanded, and for any damage thereto.

15. In case of the discharge or death of such an officer, he or his legal representative shall be relieved from such responsibility upon filing with the Master of Ordnance a certificate signed by not less than two commissioned officers of such company, that the arms and equipments issued to such company are, at the date of such certificates, undiminished in quantity and value, reasonable use and wear excepted. And such certificate shall specify the different articles, and the number of each, then in the possession of said company, and specify their particular condition.

16. There shall be to each company a clerk, who shall be appointed in the manner prescribed in chapter 13 of the General Statutes, and who shall discharge the duties prescribed in that chapter.

17. When a sufficient number of companies of the respective arms shall have been organized, they will be formed into regiments, and elections of the field officers for such regiments will be ordered. And when a sufficient number of regiments shall have been organized, they will be formed into brigades, and the commanders thereof elected, and the said brigades will be organized as a Special Division, and the commander thereof will be appointed.

The said Special Division is organized to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, to defend the commonwealth, and to aid the civil authorities in preventing or suppressing such invasion or insurrection, but shall not be obliged to remain on service out of this Commonwealth, for any term exceeding thirty days in all, during any one year, unless they shall, (with the consent of the Governor of this Commonwealth) personally volunteer additional service. And on any occasion of public danger, when requested thereto by the President of the United States, or by the Governor of any State thereof, the Governor of this Commonwealth may, in his discretion, detail for duty in any part of the United States, where it may be needed, any portion of the members of said Special Division, personally volunteering for such extraordinary duty, for any term of service, not exceeding three consecutive months.

As individual members of the enrolled militia of Massachusetts, the members of this Division will, however, remain subject by law to all the duties imposed on the enrolled militia generally, and properly enforceable by draft, conscription, or otherwise, under the laws of the United States or of Massachusetts.

18. Whenever any company of the said Special Division shall, upon any occasion upon which it is ordered out for duty, appear with less than the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company, besides its proper number of commissioned and non-commissioned officers, it may forthwith be disbanded.

By command of His Excellency JOHN A. ANDREW, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

WILLIAM SCHOULER,
Adjutant General.

Aug 19

HEIMSTREET'S
INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,

But restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty,

promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 Broadway, N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary article ever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face and hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing beauty, imparting the marble purity of youth, and the distingue appearance so inviting in the city belle of fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness from the skin, leaving the complexion fresh, transparent and smooth. It contains no material injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses and Opera Singers. It is what every lady should have. Sold everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedent in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover-buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Coriander, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, public speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties.

Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find in these Bitters what they have so long looked for.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer.

The following startling and emphatic statements can be seen at our office.

Letter of Rev E. F. Crane, Chaplain of the 107th New York Regiment:

NEAR ACQUIA CREEK, March 4th, 1863.

Owing to the great exposure and terrible decomposition after the battle of Antietam, I was utterly prostrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepared by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise they gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost allowed me to join my regiment. * * * * * I have since seen them used in many cases, and am free to say, for hospital or private purposes I know of nothing like them. Rev. E. F. Crane, Chaplain.

Letter from the Rev. N. E. Gilds, St. Clairsville, Pa.:

Gentlemen:—You were kind enough, on a former occasion to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for $3 50. My wife having derived so much benefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to continue them, and you will please send us six bottles more for the money inclosed.

I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. Gilds, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

Soldiers' Home, Superintendent's Office, Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15th, 1863.

* * * * * * * * *

I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvelous and gratifying.

Such a preparation as this is I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field. G. W. Andrews, Superintendent.

Dr. W. A. Childs, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

Willard's Hotel,
Washington, D. C., May 22d, 1863.

Gentlemen:—We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters; the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.

Respectfully, Sykes, Chadwick & Co,
&c., &c., &c., &c., &c.

Be sure that every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate label, with our private stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Marriages.

In Danvers, Aug 11, Mr John Hopping to Miss Ann Dickson, both of Danvers.

July 16, by Rev Mr Henry, Mr William Peabody of Wenham, to Miss Mary A Danforth of Danvers.

In Salem, Aug 9, by Rev Mr Shahan, Mr Joseph Sullivan to Miss Eliza Welsh.

August 12, by Rev Dr Worcester, Rev Chas M Peirce, pastor elect of the Congregational Church at West Boxford, to Miss Elizabeth M, daughter of Mr Oliver Peabody of Salem.

In Wenham, Aug 9, by Rev Mr Gorham, Mr John F Standley to Miss Lydia Ann Preston, both of Beverly.

Deaths.

In Danvers, Aug 11, Miss Elizabeth L Raymond of Beverly, 80 years.

In Salem, Aug 10, Mr Joseph Sullivan, 32; 11th, Miss Ann Augusta, daughter of Francis L and Mary Ann Perry, 22; 12th, Mrs Eunice, widow of the late Mr John Bryne, 79; 13th, Mrs Florilla, wife of Mr Augustus Fuder, 40; 12th, Mrs Eliza, wife of Mr Patrick Kelley, 21; 15th, Mrs Sarah, widow of the late Capt Samuel Cook, 84 years 3 mos; 16th, John W Osgood, Esq, 75 years 10 mos 7 days.

M. FENOLLOSA,
Teacher of Music,
LETS.....PIANO FORTES,
at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES,
at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES,
on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 Salem, Mass.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
Music Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), Salem, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Sets of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless.

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 H. W. Franklin, General Agent.

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.

LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

Its publication marks an era in the history of Map. It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc, made famous by the War, and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It has County Map, and neatly colored. Price in sheets, 50 cts; mounted $1 25. Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
aug 19 Publisher's Agents.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Aug 18, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Mrs Susan C Blake	Sarah Morrill
Miss B Flynn	D A Pettengill
Mrs Wm Cutler	Mrs Henry F Nash
Edward R Eaton	Maria M Rhodes
Mrs David Glenson	Henry Saltonstall
Catherine Houghton	Alice Upton
Mrs Nettia Hunt	Alfred M Trask
Carrie Johnson	W H Walcott
P H Melvin	Mrs Sally P Wheeler
Thomas McDonnell

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent each.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

BOOTS & SHOES,
At No. 10 Front St., Salem.

NOTICE! Having made arrangements with some of the best manufacturers of Boots and Shoes, I shall be able to sell a good article at lower prices, (for the same,) than others will in this city.

Just received—Men's, Boys', Ladies', Misses', Balmorals, Congress, Army, Brogans, Slippers, etc., etc.

Full Fall Pants.—Just rec'd, a lot of full Fall Pants, for old Folks, (some large sizes;)

Summer Clothing—selling low;

Furnishing Goods—selling at less prices than can be purchased in this or any other city;

Wool Knit Shirts—for laboring men, best article;

Fish Lines and Reels, 8 cents; Kerosene Lamps, worth $1 25, for only 83 cents; Balance Crockery:—Patent Shoe Brushes; Horse Coverings; Hats; Caps; Window Curtains; Blind Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Looking Glasses, all sizes; Clocks; Writing Desks; Work Boxes, etc;

Just received, some new patterns, Painted Floor Cloths; Straw Carpeting, selling at less than it can be imported for. aug 12—3w

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.

Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.

Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WANTED!

$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.

South Danvers, Aug. 6, 1863. tf

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. Hennessey's Patent.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.

John P. Peabody.

75 Cents.

WE HAVE MARKED DOWN our ttock of

LICHT KID GLOVES

in order to close them out.

We shall sell them for 75 Cents per pair for a few days. We warrant them the best goods and the same quality that are sold for $1 25 per pair.

JOHN P. PEABODY.

All our Light Kid Gloves only 75 cts.
Summer Kid Gloves—light colors, 75 cts.
ALL TO BE CLOSED OUT.

HOSIERY
—AND—
GLOVES.
Cotton Hosiery for Ladies, Misses, and Children, in every variety, in open and plain,
At PEABODY'S.

EMBROIDERIES.
Collars—Sleeves—Hands—Flouncings—Edgings—Insertings—Laces—Cambric Edgings and Insertings, in great variety.
At PEABODY'S.

LACE GOODS.
Lace Veils—Guipure Edgings—Silk Laces—Bobbinet Laces—Saxony—Smyrna—Thread and Cotton Laces, all widths and prices.
At PEABODY'S.

SKIRTS.
Gore Trail and Panner Skirts, in all sizes and prices, from 35 cts. to $3 00.
We warrant every Skirt we sell.
J. P. PEABODY.

FOR THE TOILET.
Sterling's Ambrosia—Castorine—Bear's Oil—Stick Pomades—Honey, Bro'n Windsor, Castile, Barbers', Rose and Union Soaps, Puffs, Powders and Boxes.
At PEABODY'S.

TRIMMINGS.
Buttons—Bindings—Braids—Cords—Quilled Ribbons—Velvet Buttons—Leather Buttons—Hooks and Eyes—Whale Bones—Embroidered Silks and Braids, etc.
J. P. PEABODY.

OUR PRICE LIST OF
FANCY GOODS.

Rose Soap—two cakes for	5c
Pumice Soap—the best per cake	5c
Honey Soap—large size per cake	5c
Brown Windsor per package	25c
White Castile Soap—nice, per cake	10c
Castile Soap—imported	8c
Almond Soap—highly scented	10c
Amber Soap—round cakes	4c
Barber's Soap—for shaving	6c
Tooth Brushes—8, 19, 12½, and	25c
Hair Brushes 25, 38, 50, 75, and	$1 25
Clark's Indellible Pencils	17c
Ladies' Rubber Pages	12½c
Leather Wallets 25, 50, 62, $1 and	$1 25
Puff Boxes, Powders, Brushes, &c.

STOCK TO BE REDUCED.

James F. Almy.

NEW DRESS GOODS.

WE have received a Bargain in new Dress Goods, at 20 and 25 cents.

We are offering a fine stock of Cottons, Flannels and other Domestic Goods, at our usually low prices for best grades of Goods.

CLOSING SALE.

All Goods appertaining to our Summer Stock are closing at greatly reduced prices.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central st.
Aug 19, 1863.

A. J. Archer & Co

REDUCED PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Offer their stock of

Summer Dress Goods,
Summer Shawls,
and Capes,

at REDUCED PRICES—to close.

Salem, july 15—tf

SUMMER SHAWLS!

We open this morning beautiful new

SUMMER SHAWLS.

—Also—

A variety of THIN DRESS GOODS; 8 4 Black Hernani and Crape Maretz; Black Grenadine. For sale by

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Salem, june 3—tf.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

Of the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 19—tf

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. B. Crane, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss Crane, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.

April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. Fletcher her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE, ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.

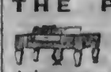
M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURES TO ORDER
WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
At 236 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing Sewing Machines will find it to their advantage to consult

JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT.
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

THE PIANO FORTES



THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,

218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,

where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call.

Mch 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7 and 11 A M, and

George S. Walker.

SOMETHING NEW.

THE WINDSOR TIE. Every new style of Tie brought out abroad and at home, will uniformly be found in my assortment.

GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

LINEN COLLARS.

THE best qualities, in the latest styles, at the lowest prices, at
GEO. S. WALKER'S, 228 Essex st.

SILK SCARFS.

A FINE assortment of Real Roman Scarfs.—Also, a good imitation, for sale at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
aug 5 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

FIRST CLASS GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES

"DESIRABLE."

MESSRS. BROWNING & LONG have just opened a splendid assortment of CAMBRIC EDGINGS and INSERTINGS, in large variety and very Neat patterns, at Low Prices!

Also, a fine assortment of HAIR NETS, New Patterns, and all very stylish, with many other New Goods, purchased Now as they are Low.

Finding that "Low Prices" are appreciated, they continue offering their goods at

"POPULAR PRICES."

Good Thread Nets,	25c;
White and Unbleached Hose,	18c;
Nice Open-work Hose,	25c;
White Misses' and Unbleached Hose,	16c;
Children's Colored Hose,	16c;
Gent's good half-Hose,	15c;
Misses' Fancy Cotton Hose,	10c;
Nice Lisle Gloves,	15c;
Ladies' Mohair Mitts,	40c;
Ladies' All-Linen Hdkfs,	12c;
All-Linen Hem-Stitched Hdkfs,	30c;
Embroidered Collars,	15c;
Nice Crape Collars,	25c;
Gent's Woven Bosoms,	8c;
Bead Nets,	25c,
Children's Mitts,	15c;
Nice Embroidered Gloves,	15c;

and many others in like comparison.

THE VERY LATEST STYLES
— OF —
NEW GOODS.

Constantly receiving the Largest Stock of Ladies' Furnishing Goods in the city, at

BROWNING & LONG'S,
Essex St., 177 Essex St.,
Salem, Aug. 19, 1863.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the Old and Reliable Offices.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

NEW STOCK
— OF —
DRY GOODS
— AT —
No. 238 Essex street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

THE Subscriber opened on MONDAY, May 18th,

A Fresh Stock of Dry Goods,

Consisting of nearly all the new styles of Dress Goods, Ladies' Cloths, Cloths for Men's & Boys' Wear; Shawls, Domestic and Housekeeping Goods; Sun Umbrellas; Parasols; Hoop Skirts; Hosiery; Gloves; &c., &c., &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for Cash, at Low Prices.

GEORGE P. DANIELS.
Salem, May 20.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of CROCKERY and GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.
RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,
THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
CALL AND EXAMINE.
For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

TO LET.

A PARTIALLY stocked and well located
GROCERY STORE.

A shoemaker, or a person of any other sedentary pursuit, wishing to spend a portion of his time in trading, will find this a capital chance to work into a good paying business. No capital will be required, but the applicant must bring recommendations for honesty and enterprise. Inquire at this office.

☞ If you want to Save Money, in purchasing Goods, go to Colman's, No. 10 Front street, Salem. ap30-tf

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,
83 MAIN STREET.
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.
Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861. ty

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126··MAIN ST.··126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers,
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Myong-a, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery, Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.
LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS And COVERS.

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.

They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world to an infallible, simple easy and rapid progress of Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are without a fault, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.

The sealing is on an entirely original plan. This principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried these articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar

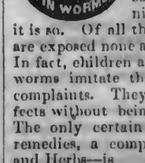
PRICE LIST.

Pints, per doz,	$2 25; 3 pints, per doz, $3 50;
Quarts, "	3 00; Half gallon, " 4 00;

Liberal discount to the trade.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'.
Salem Aug 5 32 Front Street.

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st. South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of Massachusetts:

THE undersigned hereby ask that they may be incorporated as the SOUTH DANVERS AND LYNN RAILROAD COMPANY, with a capital of one hundred thousand dollars, with power to construct a Horse Railroad from some convenient point in the town of South Danvers to some convenient point in the city of Lynn, and with power to connect with the roads of the Lynn and Boston Railroad Company, and the Salem and South Danvers Railroad Company, and to use such portions of the road of the latter company as public convenience may require; and as in duty bound will ever pray.

WM. H. LITTLE,
HENRY POOR,
LEWIS ALLEN,
STEPHEN BLANEY,
C. W. OSBORNE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Secretary's Department,
Boston, July 18, 1863.

Miscellaneous.

One day little Molly, six years l to her uncle, who was visiting father's; "Uncle Harry, do you r prayers to God?"
replied: "certainly; everybody ho is good."
they don't," said Molly, "for good, and she always says hers to
"

"Sam, why don't you talk to masl tell him to lay up treasures in ?" "What for? What de use ng up treasures dere, where he see'em again?"

"How many legs would a dog
f you called his tail one?" "Five rse." "No; only four. It wouldn't his tail one to call it one."

When a young lady takes the helm boat it is generally for a miss-steery urpose. The author of the above is n e st man.

It is little wonder that men so of-ie when they find how many enemies make by telling the truth.

Kissing a pretty girl without her sent is a rash thing, but a slice of k is a rasher.

"Union is not always strength," the sailor said when he saw the pur-mix his rum with water.

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL
UGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, hooping and Common Coughs. Sore Throat, Hoarse, ss, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing rup in the world. For old and young, by day and ght, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and ree-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.
They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, ecaus it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nerous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in tomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheu atism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteia, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insaniy, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is mple; its action in perfect conformity to nature;
s end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect re-ief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and ne of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, ecause with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all icrangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured-They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when ensed by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, o often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials,
Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill
Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.

George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1853—1 y

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the recip-pe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience – and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing
JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your per mission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN.
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Premature Decay, etc., etc., by one who has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned Doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island, by enclosing an addressed envelope. Address
CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,

— ALSO —

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to
B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD.
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Marke
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
Jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods,
Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L. SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feh13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West Inuia Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aueroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

JOHN MOULTON,
LIVERY STABLE,
Central Street, South Danvers.
Mr. M. will endeavor to keep up the good reputation of his stable, by still keeping good Horses and Carriages. jan 7, 1863.

Advertisemets.

LINSEED OIL, &C.
PURE Linseed Oil and Varnishes, of al kinds, at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

WHITE LEAD IN PAILS.
1000 POUNDS New York White Lead in pails of 25 lbs. each, just received at S C & E A SIMONDS',

VARNISHES.
COACH Varnish; Furniture and Damar Varnish, of the best quality, at
je 17 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

FRUIT BASKETS.
WHITE China and White Granite Fruit Baskets—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

EMANCIPATION HYMN.
QUARTETTE and Chorus—composed and dedicated by permission to the Salem Union League, Manuel Fenollosa—for sale by
jy 15 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

FRENCH CHINA.
A FULL assortment of French China Tea Ware, Vases, Match Boxes, etc., just received from New York, and for sale by
jy 29 SC & E A SIMONDS, 32 Front st.

WIRE COVERS.
WIRE Dish Covers in sets of five, at
S C & E A SIMONDS, 32 Front st.

MAPS.
NEW Map of Massachusetts, counties, townships, etc., 75.
New Pocket Map of New England, New York and Canada, 75c.
Large scale Map of Boston and country adjacent, giving all the rail and county rods—just the thing for travellers, $3 00.
State Map of Massachusetts—the best Map of the State ever published—large size $6 00.
Eastman's White Mountain Maps, 25c.
aug 5 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

COLOR AND PLAIN STAMPING
FOR Stationery, most desirable and fashionable styles—one or more initials to order—Samples at
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

W. E. P. SMYTH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Proctor in Admiralty, and Commissioner of Deeds for the several States.
Frazier's Building, over the Post Office,
LYNN, MASS.

Having peculiar means for prosecuting, with accuracy and dispatch, all claims against Government, especially those for Bounty, Back Pay and Pensions, I have made this a specialty. Several months' residence in Washington enabled me to become thoroughly conversant with the routine of business in all the Departments, through which claims, of whatever nature, are passed, and also familiar with the practice in the U. S. Court of Claims; in addition to which I have a partner there resident, and a former partner in the Treasury Department, which advantages give me unexcelled facilities for the successful prosecution of business in any way connected with Government.

Important to Soldiers, Marines and their Heirs.

Persons enlisted in the U. S. Service, Land or Naval, since March 1, 1861, if disabled in the service, are entitled to Pension; Relatives of Persons deceased in the service are entitled to Bounty and Pension; in the following
1st. The 4th. The Mot er.
2d. The 5th The Brothers and Sis-
3d. The F ters collectively.

LETTERS OF ISTRATION need not be taken ou, in ordinary c to enable heirs of persons deceased in the serv e to obtain Pensions and Bounty.

When a discharge is granted for disability, in no case should the Oath of Identity on the back of the Discharge be filled up. The safest course is, to carry all papers at once to an Attorney, without tampering with them. All those who have claims, should present them without delay, as soon, the pressure will be so great upon the Auditer's Office, by reason of numerous applications, that applicants will be subjected to vexatious delay in getting their claims audited.

NO CHARGE MADE UNTIL CLAIMS ARE PAID

Claims left at the Post Office, South Danvers, will be promptly forwarded.
Lynn, Aug 27, 1862—1v

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.
may 7—3m CLARK & GIDDINGS.

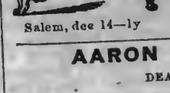
MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

R. C. MANNING & CO.
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING,
oct17

E. N. PRICE,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
HARNESSES,
SADDLES, BRIDLES,
AND WHIPS.
— ALSO —
Trunks, Valises and Traveling Bags.
All orders for Manufacturing and Repairing executed with promptness, and in the best manner.
237 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.
mch13-tf

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in


Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

GLASS WARE.
CUT and Pressed Glass Goblets; Tumblers; Dishes, etc, just opened at
S C & E A SIMONDS' 32 Front st.

TABLE MATS.
SHAKER Table Mats—for sale by
may 27 S C & E A SIMONDS.

CHINA WARE;
GOLD Band China Tea Ware; White and Lustre China do—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOUSEHOLD
FAITH Gartney's Girlhood. Just the Book for family reading. The authoress says: "I began this book for young girls. It has grown as they grow, to womanhood. It makes no artistic pretensions. It is a simple record of something of the thought and life that lies between fourteen and twenty; I dedicate it to those young girls who dream and wish and strive and err, and find perhaps little help to interpret their own spirits to themselves—may there be something that shall lift them, though ever so little, up!"
One vol, 12mo, fine paper and clear print, at
jy 29 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

JUST PUBLISHED,
LIGHT, by Helen Modet; Little Ones in the Fold, by Rev. Edward Payson Hammond; The Senses—illustrated;
Lessons from Insect Life, with illustrations;
The Atlantic Monthly; Harper's Magazine;
Eclectic Magazine; Godey's do;
Frank Leslie's Gazette; Peterson's do;
for August. Subscriptions received for all Periodicals, and numbers promptly delivered, and single numbers for sale by
jy 29 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

WHITE LEAD AND LINSEED OIL,
OF the best quality—for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

LAVA WARE.
LAVA Tea Sets, Vases, &c. Also, Parian Ware—at
jy 29 SC & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS.
A FULL assortment constantly on hand.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S.
WAR Pictures from the South, by B Estvan, Colonel of Cavalry in the Confederate Army;
Cattle and their Diseases, by Rbt Jennings, V. S.;
The Tiger Slayer, a Tale of the Indian Desert, by Gustave Aimard.
jy 22 Sign of the Five Golden Books.

SUMMER EXCURSIONS.
EASTMAN'S White Mountain Guide;
Map of Massachusetts with Railroads and Town ships;
Map of New England, New York and Canada, with Railroads and Townships;
Appleton's Companion Hand-Book of travel;
Books from the Circulating Library at half-price. For sale by
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.
Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.
TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	6 cts.
Hair Cutting,	12 cts.
Champooing,	15 cts.
Champooing and Hair Cutting,	25 cts.

No more new Quarterly Customers taken.
In consequence of the scarcity of Chango, 18 checks will be sold for one dollar.
South Danvers, Dec 17, 1862.

THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

CORNS.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.
CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoysance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, Jr., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Fedoral street.
FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block]
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotypo, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

JOHN FARRELL,
DRAPER AND TAILOR,
HAVING removed to his old place of business, 138 MAIN ST., South Danvers, (over Batchelder's Grocery Store), is prepared to Cut, Make, Repair, or furnish Garments, for Men and Youths at short notice.
South Danvers, April 1. tf

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes, and patent cat 'ier Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when sained. jan 11

FRANKLIN COAL.
JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Dantersport, May 6, 1861. tf

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

Eastern Railroad.
ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):
For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8½, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2½ 5½, 7½, p. m.
Beverly, 8½ am., 1, 3½, 3½, 5½, 6.55, 7½ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8½ a m., 1, 5½ p m.
Portsmouth, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Portland, 8½ a m., 3½ p m.
AND FOR SALEM, FROM
Portland, 8½ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7½, †11½ a m., 5½ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m, 6½ p m.
Ipswich, 7.25, 8.25, 10.25 a m., 12 25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8 50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, Lynn, 8.05, *9 05, 11 05 a m., 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, *4 35, 5.35, *6 20, 5½, *7.35, * 9.05 p m.
Boston, 7½, *8½, 10½ a m., 12½, 2½, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9½.
*Via Saugus Branch.
†Or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10½ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.
Marblehead for Salem, 6½, 7½, 8½, 9½ a m., 12½, 1½, 5½, 6½, 7½ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7½, 8½, 9.25, 11½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.
Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6½, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5½ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.
Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11½ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7½ a m., 12½, 3½, 6½ p m.
J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.
ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:
Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9.40 a m. and 5 55 p m.
Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.
*Freight Train with passenger car attached.
F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.
THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPID LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.
TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprung up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.
DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.
DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.
General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?
THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on
Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,
And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:
Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capi.al—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assetts—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.
WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej h20-1

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

JUVENILE BOOKS,
A VERY large assortment for sale by
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

COLOR STAMPING.
RED, Blue, Green, or Black, and in the most desirable style. Paper and Envelopes to match. See our samples.
aug 12 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,
OF all sizes and styles, at prices ranging from 42 cts. to $11—at
aug 12 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ROMOLA,
A Novel by George Eliot, author of 'Adam Bede,' with illustrations—rec'd by
aug 12 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE
AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

PUTNAM & MUNROE'S
SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON
RAILROAD EXPRESS.
Express leaves South Danvers at 10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " " at 5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at 3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at 5 p. m.
OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.
Order Box W. M. Jacobs' store, Main street.
EXPRESS OFFICE, in Boston, 5 Congress Square; 3 Washington St; Freight Office, 24 Blackstone St.
Also an Order Box at 86 Pearl street.
Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.

ARMY EXPRESS.
Packages received and sent forward daily for Baltimore, Fortress Monroe, Annapolis, Washington, Alexandria, and any other point where the different regiments are stationed:
South Danvers, july 8—tf

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central Street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,
HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of
COFFINS AND CASKETS,
as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
— TO —
LYNN & BOSTON
— BY —
OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.
W. F. BURNHAM'S
Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily.
Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M
Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.
Horse Cars leaving Scollay's Building, Court Street, at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.
Sunday Arrangements.
Leave S. Danvers at 7.50 a.m., and 4.50 p.m.
Leave Lynn at 9.40 a.m., and 6.40 p.m.
Cars leave Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston, to meet the Omnibuses in Lynn for South Danvers, at 8 15 A. M., and 5 15 P. M.
Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - - 30 cents.
Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.
Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS
Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.
Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.
South Danvers, 1863.

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem
EXPRESS.
Leave South Danvers, - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m
Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM
EXPRESS.
Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.
OFFICES:
In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office.
Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible point in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1-8-tf

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.
THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.
Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.
Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE
South Danvers, 1860.

Important to the Afflicted.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venerea and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procre a, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abcesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such person should, before contemplating marrimony, consult a physician of experience, and he at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.
Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capottes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. 3 for $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION
TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements,

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1863. NO. 34.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Selected Poetry.

WOMAN'S LOVE.

A young lady, Miss Ellen M. Cockey, presented a beautiful pair of knit gloves to John Quincy Adams, to which the "old man eloquent" responded in the following truthful and glowing lines:—

Who shall say that public life
Is nothing but discordant strife?
And he whose heart is tuned to love,
Tender and gentle as the dove,
Must whet his talons night and day,
For conflict with the birds of prey!

This world is fashioned, Lady fair!
Of Joy and Sorrow, Ease and Care,
Of sudden changes, small and great;
Of upward and of downward fate;
And whoso bends his mood to trace,
The annals of man's fallen race,
May sigh to find that nature's plan
Is ruthless war from man to man.
But Nature, cruel, to be kind,
Not to War only man consigned,
But gave him Woman on the spot,
To mingle pleasure in his lot,—
That if with man war cannot cease,
With woman reigns eternal peace.

Fair Lady, I have lived on earth
Nigh fourscore Summers from my birth;
And half the sorrows I have felt,
Have by my brother man been dealt;
And all the ills I have endured
By man inflicted, woman cured.
The glove from man to man thou know'st
Of fierce defiance is the boast;
And cast in anger on the floor,
To mortal combat shows the door.
But gloves from woman's gentle hand,
Of cordial Friendship be the wand;
And in return a single glove
Betokens emblematic Love.

Thy gift, fair Ellen, then I take,
And cherish for the giver's sake;
And while they shelter from the storm
My hands, the Heart alike shall warm;
And speed for thee to God above,
The fervid prayer of faithful love.

[From the Amesbury Villager.]

A VISIT TO POWOW HILL.

They talk of homes in the western wilds,
And fancy decks them forth,
With every charm that ever smiled,
To beautify the Earth.

They talk of homes in the sunny South
Where the white magnolia blooms,
Where the orange flower and myrtle bough,
The balmy air perfumes.

They talk of homes "away down East,"
In the land of fir and pines,
Where the broad Atlantic's foaming crest
Along the coast inclines.

Some talk of homes in the frigid North
Where winter reigns at will,
Give me a home in an humble cot,
On the top of Powow Hill!

Where every morning e'er the sun,
Should tinge the eastern sky,
My longing spirit on muses' wings,
O'er hill and dale would fly.

I'd stop beside the babbling brook,
And watch its gentle flow,
Until it reached a broader stream,
Sometimes called the "Po."

And then I'd rise and soar away,
Nor think of coming back,
Until I'd gazed upon the scenes
Around the Merrimac.

When to my humble cot returned,
Freed from the noisy mill,
I'd lift my heart in praise to God,
Who fashioned Powow Hill.

WALTER S. LOVEJOY.

South Danvers, 1863.

EPITAPH OF SIR THOMAS GRAVENER.

BY WYATT.

Under this stone there lieth at rest
A friendly man, a worthy knight;
Whose heart and mind were ever prest
To favor truth, to further right.

The poor's defence, his neighbor's aid,
Most kind always unto his kin;
That stint all strife, that might be stayed;
Whose gentle grace great love did win.

A man that was full earnest set
To serve his prince at all assays;
No sickness could him from it let;
Which was the shortening of his days.

His life was good, he died full well;
The body here, the soul in bliss
With length of words why should I tell,
Or farther show, that well is known:
Since that the tears of more and less,
Right well declare his worthiness.
Vivit post funera virtus.

☞ The number of rebel prisoners now on parole is upwards of 35,000, while the number of paroled Union soldiers is less than 18,000.

☞ A genius in Newport, Vt., has at last discovered perpetual motion—so they say.

Selected.

THE PERILS OF AN EARLDOM.

I arrived in Paris a perfect stranger, and took lodgings at Maurice's famous English hotel. Having been shown to my apartments, I made some change in my toilet, and went out for a short stroll in that great and magnificent city—the heart, as it were, of the world. I had some letters of introduction; but, as I had not yet presented them, I believed myself wholly unknown to a living soul in that metropolis—except, it might be, to the officers who had read my passport at the gates, and the clerk who had seen me register my name; and that either should have fixed that name in their recollection was something that my modesty had not permitted me to take into consideration.

Judge of my surprise, therefore, when I had gone but a few steps from Maurice's, 42 Rue Rivoli, toward the beautiful palace gardens nearly opposite, to hear myself addressed as follows:

'Will Monsieur Henry Neville have the kindness to answer me a few important questions?'

I turned to the speaker, and saw at a glance he was a total stranger to me—that I had never, to my knowledge, looked upon his face before.

He was a middle-aged man, of rather prepossessing appearance, with gray hair, eyebrows and moustache, and was dressed as a plain, substantial citizen.

'I will do myself the pleasure to oblige you,' I replied, in a polite and courteous tone. 'Permit me first to remark, however, that you have a little the advantage of me, in that you already know my name.'

'Monsieur will please know me as Eugene St. Medard.'

'Did we ever meet before?'

'It is Monsieur that has now become the questioner,' rejoined the Frenchman, with a peculiar smile and a kind of formal bow, half dignified, half polite, as if he would have said the questions were only to come from his side.

Somehow I felt a trifle vexed and nettled at the look and tone, and remarked, a little coldly:

'I take it for granted one has the same right to interrogate as the other.'

The features of the stranger grew grave as one who feels a little annoyed, and his reply was impressive, without being exactly stern.

'If Monsieur will be kind enough to waive his right in this instance,' he said, 'it will save us both some time and trouble.

I scarcely knew why—perhaps something in the look, tone and manner—but the idea now suddenly occurred to me that I was speaking to a man in authority; and I said, respectfully:

'Proceed, Monsieur St. Medard.'

'Thank you, Monsieur. You are an Englishman?'

'I am.'

'You are distantly related to the Earl of Malvern?'

'So distantly, that his lordship could never get near enough to know our family,' I replied, pleasantly, not a little surprised that a French stranger should know so much about me, and wondering all the while to what results his questions might be tending.

'You were an only child?'

'Yes.'

'Your parents are dead?'

'Yes.'

'You were left a small inheritance, which you have lately converted into money and brought with you, thinking it not unlikely that you might take a fancy to settle on the continent?'

'All true, Monsieur; but your intimate knowledge of me and my private affairs astonishes me.'

'Let that pass. The family of his lordship, the Earl of Malvern, has been unfortunate—no near of kin remain to him?'

'Two profligate sons of a deceased sister are the nearest, I believe.'

'They are both dead, Monsieur.'

'Dead!' exclaimed I, with a start; for this was news to me.

'One died of heart disease in Germany—the other was stabbed to death in Rome.'

'Are you sure?'

'Certainly, Monsieur.'

'Good heavens! this astonishes me still more! I had not heard of this.'

'I know it.'

'It seems to me you know everything,' said I, with a stare of wonder.

Monsieur St. Medard smiled, and then continued:

'You are now the heir presumtive, Monsieur.'

'If what you tell me is true, I am!' exclaimed I, almost startled at the thought of being so near to an Earldom—for then the lord was old and feeble, and might drop off at any minute.

'Do you know who is next of kin after yourself, Monsieur?' inquired my strange interrogator.

'I think I have heard it is one William Byerly.'

'Right. Do you know him?'

'Something by report.'

'Personally?'

'No.'

'Did report speak favorably of him?'

'I am sorry to say it did not.'

'From what you heard, do you consider him an honest man?'

'I do not.'

'As you alone now stand between him and an earldom, after the death of the present lord, would you consider your life safe in his hands?'

'Before I answer this question, will you permit me to ask some two or three?' said I.

'Proceed, Monsieur.'

'Are you William Byerly?'

'No.'

'Are you related to him?'

'No.'

'Are you a friend of his?'

'No.'

'Do you intend to use my reply in a legal way?'

'No.'

'Is your object in these questions friendly to me?'

'Yes.'

'Then I will venture to say that I should not like, under present circumstances, to trust my life in the hands of William Byerly, provided there was a single chance of his escaping detection in case of wilful murder.'

'Very well. May I now proceed?'

'Yes, Monsieur.'

'You will please answer to each statement of mine as if a question were directly put. On your way to Dover, a fellow traveller made your acquaintance?'

'Yes.'

'You first saw him at Tunbridge?'

'Yes.'

'You noticed him while you were taking some refreshments at a restaurant?'

'Yes.'

'He came up alongside of you, having a carpet-bag in his hand, and made some common place remark about the weather?'

'Yes,' I continued to answer, growing more and more astonished every minute.

What could it all mean? Had every action of my life been noted? And for what purpose?

My strange interrogator proceeded:

'This stranger was dressed in a blue coat, with bright metal buttons, nankeen trowsers, a buff vest, a parti-colored neckerchief, a white hat and black boots?'

'Yes.'

'He had reddish hair, reddish whiskers, a florid complexion, and wore a green patch over his left eye?'

'Yes.'

'After some common-place remarks, he ventured to ask you which way you were traveling?'

'Yes.'

'You replied you were going to Paris?'

'Yes.'

'He was delighted to hear it, because he was going there also, and it was very pleasant, in a foreign country, to have a traveling companion from one's native land?'

'Yes.'

'On the whole, he made so favorable an impression upon your unsuspicious mind, that you were quite pleased to have his company?'

'Yes.'

'On your way to Dover, he gave you some account of his past life—of his trials, struggles, disappointments and successes?'

'Yes.'

'He was an inventor, and a man of genius, who had lived to benefit mankind and himself? England owed much to him, and so did France, and so, in fact, did the whole world?'

'His statements were to that effect.'

'Very well, Monsieur, as I have shown you that I know the nature of your conversation, it is not necessary that I weary you with detail. This man, the inventor, was going to Paris to take out a patent for a new motive power—one that was destined to revolutionize the world. He was very sorry he could not show it to you then; but, until his papers should be filed in the proper department, he would not trust his own father with the secret?'

'All correct, Monsieur.'

'Now, most unfortunately, as it appears, on reaching Dover, where you were to take the regular steam packet for Calais, your new acquaintance, in some way unknown to you, received the startling intelligence that his father was lying at the point of death, which would require him to post to London immediately; and would you, in whom he had every confidence, do him the favor to take charge of a small box, containing some important papers, and, on your arrival in Paris, open it, and deliver them to the proper address?'

'Yes, Monsieur,' said I, becoming most intensely interested.

'Curiosity, Monsieur,' continued the Frenchman, 'is not one of your failings, I am happy to say, or you might not now be living to hear what I have to reveal.'

'Good heaven!' ejaculated I, 'what is coming now?'

'That same box, Monsieur, is an infernal machine, intended to destroy your life the moment you opened it!'

'Gracious God!' I exclaimed, with a thrill of horror, 'can this be possible?'

'I will prove it. Get it, and come with me, before a commissary of police.'

'Pray, Monsieur, who are you?'

'A secret agent of police!'

I hastened to get the box, handling it with great care, and together we proceeded to the nearest commissary, when, with my permission, it was split open, and lo! to my astonished and horrified gaze was revealed a row of small, loaded pistols, so arranged that, had I unlocked and opened the box in an ordinary way, they would have been discharged into my body.

On my subsequently asking for an explanation concerning this mysterious affair—how so much connected with myself and others had become known to the police of a foreign city—the reply was:

'It is not allowed us, Monsieur, to reveal our sources of information. We are happy to have thwarted the plans of a villain, and saved your life.'

I never knew who that villain was, though I always suspected Byerly of having a hand in it. I do not know that my life was ever again attempted; but certain it is that I never again permitted intimacy from an unknown stranger. On my accession to the title and estates, which occurred the following year, I did not forget to reward Eugene St. Medard, secret agent of police, as I thought he deserved to be rewarded for the preservation of my life; and to this day I have not ceased to wonder over the perfection of the French system of police.

With the excepting of substituting fictitious names for real ones, the foregoing may be regarded as the authentic narrative of an English nobleman to an American friend.

JOSH BILLINGS INSURES HIS LIFE.—The Poughkeepsian has the following:

"I kum to the conclusion lately, that life waz so onsartin, that the only wa for me tu stand a fair chance with other folks, waz to git my life insured, and so i kalled on the Agent ov the 'Garden Angel life insurance Co.' and answered the following questions, which waz put tu me over the top ov a pair ov goold specks, by a silk little fat old feller, with a little round gray head, and az pretty a little belly on him, as enny man ever awned:

QUESTIONS.

1st—Are yu mail or femail? if so, state how long yu have been so.

2d—Are yu subjec tu fits, and if so, do yu hav more than one at a time?

3d—What iz yure precise fiteing weigght?

4th—Did you ever have enny ancestors, and if so, how much?

5th—What iz yure legal opinion ov the constitutionality ov the 10 commandments?

6th—Du yu ever hav enny nite mares?

7th—Are you married and single, or are yu a Bachelor?

8th—Do yu beleave in a futer state? if yu du, state it.

9th—What are yure private sentiments about a rush ov rats tu the head; can it be did successfully?

10th—Hav yu ever committed suiside, and if so, how did it seem to affect yu?

After answering the above questions, like a man in the confirmatiff, the silk little fat old feller with goold specks on, eed I was insured for life, and proberly wud remain so for a term ov years. I thanked him, and smiled one ov my most pensive smiles.

THE LATE MOSES A. CARTLAND.

Immediately after the death of Moses A. Cartland, at North Providence, his scholars and fellow citizens assembled for the purpose of presenting some testimonial of regret, for his memory to his friends, and to assure them that though his loss will fall most deeply upon them, yet it is in a great measure sustained by the entire community in which he lived. A committee on resolutions was appointed, who at a subsequent meeting reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it having pleased Almighty God to remove by death, our fellow-townsman and teacher, Moses A. Cartland, we his pupils and friends to-day assembled, unanimously unite in the passage of the following resolutions;

Resolved, That the loss we have sustained, by the death of our old teacher and friend, Moses A. Cartland, is most keenly appreciated by those who knew him most intimately, that by his death we have lost an upright citizen, who spent his best energies for the elevation of his race, a Christian who spoke not so much by words as by example, and the noblest handiwork of God, "an honest man."

Resolved, That although his beloved form shall never more be seen among us as of old, yet his ringing voice will always be fresh in our memory, and his words, whether spoken in approbation, or for our guidance, shall be remembered long after his flesh shall have become as part of the dust in which we buried him.

Resolved, That although no monument, covered with words of praise, is needed upon his grave to perpetuate his memory, still we believe that those with whom he has associated, remembering the words of the old Grecian philosopher, who to cause his memory, to be perpetuated said, "let the little boys play upon the anniversary of my death," will always keep well worn the path that leads to his last resting place; that gentle hands will plant flowers to mingle with the willow to wave over him, and that a thousand strong arms and a thousand eloquent voices will always be ready to defend the memory of him who was so dear to us in his manhood.

Resolved, That in tendering these resolutions of condolence to his family, we assure them that they are not alone in sorrow, and that although we may not wear the habiliments of grief, we feel that not they alone have cause for mourning.

Resolved, That to the children, thus

'Like flowers of the wilderness, left on the stalks
To tell where the garden had been,' left without father or mother, we will always lend a kind word, a cheering smile, and a helping hand, for their sakes not only, but in remembrance of past deeds of gentle kindness, bestowed upon us by one who has gone to his last sleep, near the home of his fathers.

"CAN'T SMOKE MUCH NOW."—"You seem to enjoy smoking, Judge," said Charlie Koon, as we were standing in front of the bar at the Virginia House, after having made a wretched breakfast on an antique steak and cold corn-dodgers.

"I reckon," said the Judge, and giving a long pull he allowed the smoke to steal gradually from his lips and to curl curiously about his strongly marked face—his rosy nose rising like a light house above a fog on the coast. "But," continued the Judge, "I can't smoke as I used to. Now when I smoke, I have to take something to correct my stomach, and I have to be very regular in my habits. I take a small drop of whiskey before breakfast, and a small drop of whiskey when I am smoking after breakfast, then I smoke mostly till dinner-time, and then I take a small drop of whiskey before dinner. After dinner I have to take a small drop of whiskey before I can smoke again. I then smoke more or less till supper time when I take a small drop of whiskey and go to bed. If I ain't regular in my habits, I find I get bilious; but I can't smoke near as much now as I used to."

"No doubt," said Charlie, "the whiskey helps digestion."

"I reckon," said the Judge, and a cloud of smoke veiled his serene brow for a moment from the sight of his admiring young friend.

☞ A bachelor editor, sensitive in relation to his sensitive rights, objects to taking a wife through fear that if he should have a baby, his cotemporaries, who habitually copy without credit, would refuse to give him credit for the baby.

THE GRANDMOTHER.

Grandmother is very old, has many wrinkles, and perfectly white hair; but her eyes gleam like two stars, yes, much more beautiful; they are so mild, it does one good to look at them! And then she knows how to relate the most beautiful stories. And she has a dress embroidered with great, great flowers; it is such a heavy silk stuff that it rattles. Grandmother knows a great deal, because she has lived much longer than father and mother; that is certain! Grandmother has a hymn book with strong silver clasps, and she reads very often in the book. In the midst of it lies a rose, pressed and dry; it is not so beautiful as the rose which stands in the glass, but yet she smiles upon it in the most friendly manner; indeed, it brings the tears to her eyes! Why does grandmother look so at the faded flower in the old book? Do you know? Every time that grandmother's tears fall upon the flower, the colors become fresh again, the rose swells up and fills the whole room with its fragrance, the walls disappear, as if they were only mist, and round about her is the green, glorious wood, where the sun beams through the leaves of the trees; and grandmother is young again; a charming maiden, with full red cheeks, beautiful and innocent—no rose is fresher; but the eyes, the mild, blessed eyes, still belong to grandmother. At her side sits a young man, large and powerful; he reaches her the rose, and she smiles—grandmother does not smile so now! oh, yes, look now!—But he has vanished—many thoughts, many forms sweep past—the beautiful young man is gone, the rose lies in the hymn book, and grandmother sits there again as an old woman, and looks upon the faded rose which lies in the book.

Now grandmother is dead. She sat in the arm-chair and related a long, beautiful story; she said, "Now the story is finished, and I am tired;" and she leaned her head back, in order to sleep a little. We could hear her breathing—she slept; but it became stiller and stiller, her face was full of happiness and peace; it was as if a sunbeam illumined her features; she smiled again, and then the people said, "She is dead." She was placed in a black box; there she lay covered with linen; she was very beautiful, and yet her eyes were closed, but every wrinkle had vanished; she lay there with a smile about her mouth; her hair was silver white, venerable, but it did not frighten one to look upon the corpse, for it was indeed the dear, kind-hearted grandmother. The hymn book was placed under her head—this she had herself desired; the rose lay in the old book, and then they buried grandmother.

Upon the grave, close by the church wall, a rose tree was planted; it was full of roses, and the nightingale flew singing over the flowers and the grave. Within the church, there resounded from the organ the most beautiful hymns, which were in the old book under the head of the dead one. The moon shone down upon the grave, but the dead was not there; each child could go there quietly by night and pluck a rose from the peaceful court yard wall. The dead know more than all of us living ones; they are better than we. The earth is heaped up over the coffin, even within the coffin there is earth; the leaves of the hymn book are dust, and the rose, with all its memories. But above bloom fresh roses; above, the nightingale sings, and the organ tones forth; above, the memory of the old grandmother lives, with her mild, ever-young eyes. Eyes can never die. Ours will one day see the grandmother again, young and blooming as when she for the first time kissed the fresh red rose, which is now dust in the grave.—Hans Andersen.

☞ An over-worked woman is always a sad sight, sadder a great deal than an overworked man, because she is so much more fertile in capacities for suffering than a man. She has so many varieties of headache—sometimes as if Jael were driving the nail that killed Sisera into her temples, sometimes letting her work with half her brain, while the other half throbs as if it would go to pieces—sometimes tightening round her brows as if her cap band were Luke's iron crown—and then her neuralgias, and her backaches, and her fits of depression, in which she thinks she is nothing, and those paroxysms which men speak slightly of as hysterical—convulsions, that is all, though not commonly fatal ones—so many trials which belong to her fine and mobile structure, that she is always entitled to pity, when she is placed in conditions which develop her nervous tendencies.

ADVENTURE WITH AN ALLIGATOR.

A soldier writing from Bayou Blue, Louisiana, to a sister in Albany, relates the following adventure:

"Now that I am on the alligator chapter, I will tell you the adventure that I had with one. I have always been anxious to obtain some portions of an alligator to carry home as a curiosity. One day, while returning from one of the outposts, I put into 'Alligator Bayou.' An alligator swimming shows but two little bumps above water, the larger one at his eyes and the other at his nose, and it requires a marksman of no mean skill to kill one. I soon fell in with a number of them, and picking out the largest one I fired. He turned on his back, his feet quivered in the air, his jaws opened, and he sank. I paddled to the spot, and after poking in the water a short time with my paddle, I brought his lordship to the surface. I struck him several times with my paddle and hove him to the side of the canoe, to make sure that he was dead. After a good deal of pulling and prying, I managed to get him into the boat, taking care to turn his head to the bow. He had hardly struck the bottom of the boat, when his eyes and mouth opened with a start, and his tail swept from side to side with the force of a sledge hammer. In an instant I comprehended my situation. To jump out and swim for shore was to fall into the jaws of a dozen of those hungry reptiles, and my only salvation was to keep out of the reach of his tail by pushing him towards the bow with my paddle, the canoe being so narrow that he could not turn around and reach me. At length, by throwing his head over the side of the boat, he got his head towards me and made a charge with open jaws wide open. For once in my life I think I was thoroughly frightened. In an instant I plunged my paddle down his throat. His jaws closed on it like a vice, and he was quiet for a moment, giving me time to draw my pistol and send two balls trough his head. He now lay quiet, but I saw that he was by no means dead, and I loaded my pistol in preparatory to another attack; but as he did not feel disposed to renew hostilities I paddled swiftly down the stream and landed at the first convenient point, and then paid my last respects to his alligatorship, by sending another ball entirely through his head, and went on my way rejoicing. I did not succeed in getting the desired trophy, for alligators are like snakes, 'their tails do not die until sundown,' and every time I would touch him his tail would fly from side to side with such force as to endanger my body. I think I shall never handle another alligator until his head and tail are both cut off."

HABIT.—Burke relates that for a time he had been under the necessity of frequenting a certain place every day, and that, so far from finding a pleasure in it, he was affected with a sort of uneasiness and disgust; and yet if by any means he passed by the usual time of going thither, he felt remarkably uneasy, and was not quieted until he was in the usual track.

Persons who use snuff soon deaden the sensibility of smell, so that a pinch is taken unconsciously, and without any sensation being exerted thereby, even though the stimulus may be.

After a series of years winding up the watch at a certain hour, it becomes so much a routine as to be done in perfect unconsciousness; meanwhile the mind and body are engaged in something entirely different.

We are all creatures of habit, and the doing of disagreeable things may be made more pleasant than omissions; should teach to the young the importance of forming correct habits in early life, to the end that they may be carried out without effort, even although at first it may have required some self-denial, some considerable resolution to have fallen into them.

☞ An excellent system for gardening for ladies: Make up your beds early in the morning; sew buttons on your husband's shirts; do not make up your grievances; protect the young and tender branches of your family; plant a smile of good temper in your face; and carefully root out all angry feelings, and expect a crop of happiness.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1863.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

The news of the past week is not of an exciting nature, but encouraging to those, who wish well for the Republic. It consists rather of things indicative than of things done—of the shadow of coming events cast before. For instance, it is quite certain, from information now at hand, that the late Union victories have produced a salutary impression on the perverse heart of John Bull. That gentleman moderates his tone, as an intermeddler against America, and evidently begins to consider whether he has not been laying up wrath against the day of wrath. One of his stanchest organs for the "corner stone" government virtually gives up the fight, as if it should say, We were mistaken, the "confederacy" is a sham. True 'twould not do to "let her slide" all at once. So they—the anti-Union Englanders—have been stirring to galvanize rebel stocks into marketable life. No political chemistry has proved able to raise the corpse, and there it lies on 'Change at London a warning to John Bull against all future complicity with rebel slave holders. So much abroad. At home the straws are all one way. North Carolina is speaking louder and louder. More and more she reviles the Davis government, and sighs for the sweetness of the Union. The Raleigh Standard, always uneasy under the yoke of the "grand military consolidation," now becomes the medium through which R. S. Donnell, Speaker of the North Carolina House of Representatives, elaborately assails the Davis misrule, and points to the Union as the only hope of his unhappy State. The election in Kentucky proves to be a complete Union triumph; the emancipation sentiment in Tennessee is gaining ground; the navigation of the Mississippi is unobstructed; guerillas are disappearing in the South West and that section cleared of rebel rule and rebel wrong is springing into the life of prosperous trade under the genius of Liberty regulated by law. Add to these things a confirmed disaffection among the Southern masses in other States evidenced by complaints of poverty, of oppression, of weariness of the Davis regime—evidenced by their alacrity in swearing allegiance to the old Flag, and by the desertions from the rebel armies, which it would seem are thinning the rebel forces more than battles, disease or famine.

The draft in New York was resumed Wednesday last and proceeded with without interruption. But the quiet was donbtless purchased at the cost of 20,000 troops there. So much has copperheadism cramped the Government in one city in one week—viz: the sending from the field where they ought to have been, 20,000 soldiers, at an expense, at least, of $160,000,000, all things reckoned.

The city of Lawrence, Kansas, to slay whose peace was the aim of border ruffians, has been made the victim of guerilla violence. Quantrell's band of 800 pounced upon the prospering town unawares and plundered and burnt it as they would.

While on the 3d day of September the democrats of Massachusetts in State Convention, will be croaking, as they are capable, for disunion, a grand Union mass meeting will be held at Springfield, Ill., at which President Lincoln is expected to be present. The croakers will not be able to make themselves heard.

Jeff. Davis, 'tis said, is under a strong guard at Richmond to prevent his running away. There is but little doubt about this, for he has been strongly suspected of a skedaddling tendency ever since his invitation to his deserting army to stretch forth their hand and take victory. Perhaps, however, he is only trying on prison life as a foretaste of by and by.

General Hurlbut learning there was a large quantity of railroad stock at Grenada, Miss., made a raid thither, driving away 2000 men and 2 pieces of artillery, and destroying fifty-seven locomotives, 400 cars, the dept buildings, machine shops and a large quantity of ordnance and commissary stores.

The reports touching Meade's and Lee's armies are conflicting and unsatisfactory as matter of news. We have it that Lee is advancing and that he is falling back on Richmond—that he is going to try another raid and that he is not. No doubt Meade's army has been reduced by detatchments sent to Charleston and perhaps elsewhere, but not so much as to imperil his position, it is to be hoped. Newspaper correspondents, by confirmed habit or disease, must say something every day of things in Virginia, and it seems to matter not much what they say. They are paid for their business, and a line is a line. Therefore let them line and lie. Meanwhile we at home may as well judge for ourselves, and so judging, it would seem that both Meade and Lee are rather quietly about their business, waiting, like Micawber for something to turn up. It is best to credit nothing from Virginia till late.

Generals Rosecrans and Burnside are following up the rebels in the interior—the one pressing on Chattanooga and the other on Knoxville. Rosecran's army is reported to be in fine condition, and Bragg's whom he pursues, as a tattered, flying sort of a rabble. We guess it is so. Parson Brownlow, who ought to know something about it, speaks hopefully of the movements of our two generals R. and B., which being written mean Rebel Beaters.

The Richmond Whig says, "We want the aid of France." That's truth. But it adds, "We are able to pay for it." That's a lie.

In Richmond ice sells at $16 per bushel and the sellers are cool towards buyers at that.—Brandy juleps sell at $2. At such a price they should be called Jew-leps. Perhaps they are at any price.

Three weeks ago we told our readers we would note the fall of Charleston "next week." We meant next week, and next week we will certainly give them a sail up the harbor under the Stars and Stripes, and land then at the wharf without molestation from rebel missiles or anything of the sort. The fact is, Wagner was little more of a brick than we thought it—so Gregg and so Sumter. However we have been banging away at them all these three weeks, and the truth is, we have peppered them exceedingly. Wagner is now about silenced—Gregg is much torn, and Sumter is a honey comb. There is no honey in it—Sumter, but there will be by and by. Next week we will call there, and get some. Meantime keep your patience, for there is a good time coming.

BEST KID GLOVES in light colors for 75 cts., to close at Peabody's.

KENTUCKY ELECTION.

Some of our Democratic friends in this vicinity are claiming the late Union triumph in Kentucky a Democratic victory, and that the men elected are of their stamp, and bitterly hostile to the national administration. Now the real truth is that the principal feature of the recent election canvass in Kentucky was the downright and earnestly expressed antagonism of the Union party to the Copperheads. This was the chief thing in the speeches of Judge Bramlette and other Union men. Instead of attacking the Administration, they attacked the rebels and their allies. Instead of railing at the President and his supporters, they pledged themselves to support his endeavor to crush the rebellion to the utmost extent of their influence and means. Here is an extract from one of Judge Bramlette's speeches. He is talking to Wickliffe, the Democratic candidate, and his supporters:

"You object to negro soldiers. Who began this business? Who raised the first negro regiment? Did Lincoln? Don't you know that in the beginning of this strife, in New Orleans, they heralded it abroad that they had already organized two regiments of negroes to fight the Yankees with? Don't you know that the first act in the Tennessee rebel legislature was the organization of free negro regiments? Don't you know it to be a fact furthermore, that they have regiments of Indians in their service, to tomahawk and scalp our women and children? And yet none of you here assembled, I will venture to say, have heard these constitutional Union gentlemen object to their using negro regiments to fight us with. You never heard one object to enlisting the Indians against us. Why is it that you have grown so terribly repugnant to negro aid? You are willing it should be employed against us, but now that it is being employed to help us you are terribly disturbed. The reason seems irresistible, that then they were fighting on the side you were anxious should win; but as soon as they are employed against that side you object.

"Suppose one of you were assaulted by robbers, who threatened to burn your house and murder your family if you didn't give up your money; that your neighbor came rushing to your assistance, and with him one or two stout negroes, with clubs, and axes, and guns; that while you were engaged in a close hand to hand conflict with one of them and you should see that brawny negro holding one of them down, would you say, 'Hold on! I don't want any negro to help me. Here, Mr. Robber, I am not going to succeed in driving you off by any such aid as that; you may burn my house and take my property." Is this what any sane man would do? But it is just in this way that southern sympathizers — constitutional Union men—talk. They would have us, because the President would not use just such weapons as they think proper, says: 'Here, Jeff. Davis, take all we have, and slay us as soon as you please; not another man or another dollar can we give until Lincoln quits fighting with these things.'

"I am for the constitution framed by Washington and his compeers,—those good and great men who were touched with more than human wisdom—at all hazards and at all expense. Are you for it? Alas, I fear you are for the constitution and the union of the southern confederacy; for every means and measure that you object to being used by the federal government, you are perfectly willing that the rebel government should use. You are opposed to the Union being maintained by unconstitutional measures, but you are willing Jeff. Davis should fight unconstitutionally to destroy the Union and the Constitution. This shows where your heart is better than your formal professions of Unionists."

WINDFALL.—Sundry of our citizens have been most agreeably surprised by the reception of narrow strips of paper in the shape of checks, with the government stamp upon them, and representing good bankable money. When their first surprise was over, some of them recollected that, seventeen years ago, a young and enterprising firm of business men yielded to the pressure of hard times and settled with their creditors by compromise and a good dividend. Since that time both members of the firm have had the smiles of fortune—one of them in an eminent degree—and they now voluntarily pay all their deficiency, with interest.

Such acts as this tend to restore confidence in the general integrity of business men, and to assure us that, in cases of misfortune, there are many who would gladly pay the uttermost farthing if they only had the power.

☞ The Statesman "respectfully" asks: "What is meant by Union?" The answer is, UNION!

☞ Company K of the 8th Regiment were paid off Monday afternoon last at the Town Hall in Danvers. Sixty-three privates and non-commissioned officers received their pay, which averaged about $75 each, including allowance for clothing, &c. and the five months pay due. Captain Allen, though quite feeble still, was present, and did his usual part on the occasion in his usual way—gracefully and well. We thought it was a handsome compliment Major Amory, the paymaster, paid to Captain A. and his Company. The Major's business, as paymaster has, led him, during the past two years, all through Virginia where our armies or their detatchments have been located. At the seat of war he has paid soldiers in all sorts of places and under all sorts of circumstances, and he has paid many here at home. "But," said he, "I have never seen a better behaved company than yours Captain Allen or ever taken more pleasure in paying one." Colonel Coffin also bears testimony to the decorum and efficiency which have uniformly characterized Company K.

☞ The Statesman asks: "Is there a military necessity that New York democrats shall be drafted?" Most certainly there is.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

We editors, at this season of the year, like to enjoy ourselves as well as other people; consequently when a good occasion offers, we are apt to take advantage of it, as will be seen by the following communications, the first one being from our able assistant:—

COHASSET, Aug. 20, 1863.

It is a gracious sensation in these sultry, sun-searching days to be down by the deep blue sea. Go ye unto the mountains who will. Be ours the ocean with its baths, beaches and breezes, with its rocky historic shore full of sermons, with its tidal solemnity and its resonance eternal! "The unplanted sea," said Homer—"the barren sea," said the blind old minstrel. And, Homer, thou wast blind to say so of the prolific thalassa. 'Tis not unplanted—'tis not barren. Lo! is it not more full of life even than the dry land? Is it not a field sown all over with hopes and fears and joys and sorrows—with plans and "enterprises of great pith and moment," and the reapers—are they not many? We deny you not as a poet, O Homer, but give us Byron for the sea—Byron with his verse rolling on like the "Roll On" of its theme, and like its theme settling, sinking, softening at last into calm—the "yeast of waves" dying into an echo, O how sweetly!

> And I have loved thee, ocean! and my joy
> Of youthful sports was on thy breast to be > Borne, like thy bubbles, onward: from a boy
> I wanton'd with thy breakers—they to me
> Were a delight; and if the freshening sea
> Made them a terror—'t was a pleasing fear,
> For I was, as it were, a child of thee,
> And trusted to thy billows far and near.
> And laid my hand upon thy mane—as I do here.

Cohasset is a cunning little Cohasset. In a bee line from Boston, by sea, it is about sixteen miles. Once it was a part of Hingham, but not since 1770. The population, exclusive of fishermen and fisherwomen, is not easily reckoned. Hull is hard by Cohasset. Scituate is situate next town south. The next is Marshfield, where sleeps the immortal Webster "all habited as when

> His look drew audience still as night,
> Or summer's noon-tide air."

Cohasset is an intimate personal acquaintance of the Minot Ledge Light Honse, and the Minot Ledge Light House is an intimate personal acquaintance of it—Cohasset. This House, which, we believe, Mr. Everett says is, or was to be, the largest and best in the world, except the Eddy Stone in the English Channel, is some two miles from the shore line. It lies off there in calm or storm a grand, proud monument of the skill and industry of man. Indeed, when we see it unmoved and apparently immovable, as the sea breaks around it, lashing it with furious billows, and heaving spray to the summit, we are half of the opinion that it is not a "vain title" that man has taken of lord of the sea. The title, however, is vain, as we think we should readily concede were we in that Light House of a tempestuous night. Not that we intimate that this master-piece is going the way of its predecessor. A greater storm than that of April 16th, 1851, it will take to level to the ledge the Beacon that now warns against the rocks of Cohasset. The lining brick of this structure was finished by a Danvers man—Mr. Charles Page. Four men are employed in the care of Minot, at a salary ranging from $500 to $1000. By alternating, one of them is ashore doing the land business—while three are constantly in the water bounded prison, but with comfortable quarters and much company in good weather, for people from all parts of the world are visiting Minot Ledge Light House, and doubtless will continue to do so, till it shall be no more.

Did anybody ever know of so much travelling in summer time—of such a filling up of the houses wherever there are fish to be caught, game to be killed, or sensible recreation of whatever kind to be had? It is as much as your life is worth to get a room, but when you have got a room, thanks to nature! there is room enough. Fashion cannot trouble you then. Then the meanest is as much a lord as the wealthiest or the silliest; for, for him—the meanest—the sea rolls as well, the fishes bite as sharply, the breezes blow as divinely and the mountains are as grand.

As we write from Cohasset it would be invidious not to mention the principal house here—"The Glades." It would, in fact, be ungrateful, for no summer visitor fares better than at the hands of Mr. JAMES M. CLARK, the proprietor of the Glades. His table, always "full" with good company, is also ever found full with that which attracts company and causes them a regret in departing.

A DAY ON "OLD OCEAN."

> "There's music in the ocean;
> There's music wild and grand;
> With its surges all in motion,
> Breaking fiercely on the land;
> Swept by breezes, soft and vernal,
> Lashed by tempest bold and free,
> There is melody eternal
> In the deep and mighty sea."

PRELIMINARIES.

Pic-nics, this season, seem to be the order of the day. We have them in the woods, on the mountains, on the beaches, and on the waves; and it was our good fortune last Thursday to attend one of the latter. At a few minutes past five in the morning our party left the Square in one of Burnham's coaches, and were soon left at the foot of Phillips' Wharf, in Salem, where we found that staunch and beautiful craft, "Planet," (Capt. Weston), thirty tons burthen, waiting to receive us. All on board, we cast off our connections with the piers, and spread our canvass to the wind—which was not very strong, hardly a "cat's paw,"—and slowly wended our way down the now placid harbor, enjoying the beautiful scenery on all sides. The old dilapidated forts—Pickering and Lee—erected by our fathers to keep at bay the British Lion, loomed up thro' the fast receding mists of the morning; the bold shores of historic old Marblehead were on our right, while in front lay beautiful islands and projecting capes, dotted with light houses and tents of pleasure seekers, and far beyond in the distance rolled the blue billows of old ocean.

ORGANIZATION.

On our way down the harbor our party, which consisted of twenty-nine, were organized for the day. We were requested to assemble aft, and on motion of one of the party, JERE. PUTNAM, Esq., was nominated and elected President, but to the great disappointment of all he could not be prevailed on to accept, although great inducements were held out to him on account of his well known administrative abilities. The mantel then fell on JOHN V. STEVENS, Esq., whose governing powers had been well demonstrated on many previous occasions of this kind, and he speedily evinced his good judgment by accepting the honor conferred on him without an "if" or an "and." MILES O. STANLEY, Esq., was then chosen Vice President, to fill the office of President in case anything happened to the latter—such as being washed overboard, etc. CHARLES D. HOWARD was elected Secretary, and was instructed to note down any little irregularities of the company, and inform the readers of the WIZARD of the same, take lunar observations of the sun, and see that the needle of the compass always pointed towards the North Pole.—SUMNER SOUTHWICK was selected as the best man of the whole party for Treasurer, and C. P. STEVENS and B. M. HILLS were appointed Stewards, and authorized to do all in their power to alleviate the wants of the party when hungry or thirsty, and to try to keep them in good spirits when sea-sick. The appointing of a Chaplain and Snrgeon was suggested, and in case it had been decided on, Mr. A. B. BLAKE, who has a ministerial appearance, would undoubtedly have been selected for the former; as for having a surgeon, it was thought to be entirely useless, as all the party were strict hydropathists and advocated nothing else but the copious use of pure water for the cure of all ontward and inward diseases. The balance of our party was incorporated into a sort of Mutual Aid Society, sworn to help each other in case of an emergency, and their motto was, "united we stand, divided we fall."

IN THE BAY.

As our party left home without breakfasting, refreshments were freely distributed by our attentive stewards, and as mirth and lively chat chimed in, all seemed in the highest spirits, and bent on having a good time. It had been almost a dead calm all the morning, but now the breeze began to fill the sails, and we were soon gently parting the waves from our bows, and cleaving our way through the "great waste of waters," occasionally "coming to" and trying our luck in fishing for the denizens of the deep, securing enough for our chowder in prospecto. Aided by a steadily increasing breeze, Baker's Island Lights, Lowell Island, Marblehead and the Neck, with its lighthouse and numberless white tents, soon vanished, like a dream, from our sight, and all we could distinguish was the blue outline of the distant hills, as with all sail set and colors flying, we sped across Massachusetts Bay. Minot's Ledge Light, the place of our destination, could just be discerned on the blue horizon, looking about as large as a cambric needle. We kept our eyes on that almost indistinct object as intently as does the mariner on its twinkling light by night, and made it our beacon by day. Gradually that faint, dim outline began to assume larger proportions—now it is as large as a darning needle, now as large as your thumb, rising out of the waters, solitary and alone, as though nature instead of man had placed it there. It was some hours before we were near enough to it to distinguish its inmates about the lantern. Approaching it as near as we thought prudent—as it was high water, and no part of the ledge on which it rested was discernible—we greeted its keepers with three cheers, which they quickly acknowledged by ringing the fog-bell. After giving three more cheers for the gallant keepers the order was given to "bout ship," and we commenced to retrace our briny pathway.

MINOT'S LEDGE LIGHT-HOUSE.

This light-house possesses every element of strength, iron and stone being its component parts. The stone came from the Rockport quarries, and was fashioned into the desirable shapes at Quincy. On the lowermost base the stones are very ingeniously dove-tailed together, and strongly bolted to the ledge, and each successive course similarly secured up to the lanteru part. It was pattered from the noted Eddystone Light-house, on the coast of England, which was erected in 1759, more than one hundred years ago, and which, like its prototype, promises to stand for many centuries to come. Minot's Light has only been in operation for a few years, the former one having been carried away in a terrific gale twelve years ago. It was of iron, and rested on nine wrought piers, some sixty feet in length and from six to eight inches in diameter, connected together by a net-work of iron braces in the strongest possible manner. It was pronounced by competent engineers able to defy the elements in any shape; but alas! for the uncertainty of human judgment, for on the night of the sixteenth day of April, 1851, the winds blew and the waves came, and beat upon that massive iron structure, which man in the pride of his genius and strength had plased there, hurling it, with its unfortunate inmates, into the sea! This calamity, coupled with the many shipwrecks and sad disasters which have occurred here in former times, impart a sort of tragic interest to this locality, which time will be long in effacing; and we left it, gratified with our short but interesting visit, gazing at it till its beautiful outlines were lost in the distance.

THE TORNADO.

Fortunately for all on board, on our return trip we had a "piping breeze" to aid us, or our friends on shore might have been alarmed for us, considering the nature of the weather in the latter part of the afternoon. As we had a long distance before us, most of our party were prophesying and making calculations in regard to the weather, some saying that the good breeze we were now having would soon die away into a calm, as in the morning, and leave us drifting with the tide some twenty miles from home, with a good prospect of staying all night; but they were false prophets, for soon dark clouds were observed gathering on the northern horizon, accompanied by low mutterings of thunder, and chain-like flashes of lightning. But it was off a great distance—although advancing with the strides of a giant—and our prophets consoled themselves with the happy idea that the storm would not reach us, but pass off in an easterly direction, which was very encouraging to those who were uninitiated to sea squalls. In our party, which numbered thirty-two, including the boat hands, were a number who had in former years "gone down to the sea in ships," which also tended to make us feel secure if the worst should come to the worst. Our skipper was a weather-beaten old tar, who no donbt had roughed many severe storms, and we noticed that he kept a sharp eye on the gathering clouds ahead. He finally left the tiller, giving it in charge of Mr. WARNER—one of our party, who had formerly followed the sea for twenty-five years—and commenced to don his oil cloths and heavy tarpaulin. We now came to the conclusion that something was up, or was soon going to be. The clouds grew darker, the thunder heavier, the lightning sharper, and some of our party commenced to clear the decks, coil the ropes, and make things secure. Soon big drops of rain and hail stones commenced to patter on the deck, and immediately the order was given to down with the fore-sail, and a rush was made for the cabin by those who could do no good in helping to manage the boat. The sail was hardly secure before we had the squall full upon us, and the order was quickly given to take in the jib, which was with great difficulty accomplished, half under water as we were, and raining and blowing furiously. The roar of the storm, and the noise and confusion on deck, together with the crash of up-turned articles in the forward part of the boat, soon caused an exit from the cabin to the flooded decks out in the drenching rain; but by this time the fury of the tornado had passed, the jib was secured, and our good boat was plunging through the waves with the speed of a frightened steed, guided at the helm by a firm and steady hand. The waves had changed their color from a deep blue to a dark greenish hue, capped here and there with little flecks of fleecy foam; the clouds swiftly flitted athwart the sky in angry jets, and in the distance we could hear the sullen roar of the waves as they dashed on our "wild New England shore"—the whole producing one of those grand pictures we have so often heard of but never expected to witness, "a storm at sea."

A rainbow in the east was now seen, and the clouds over our heads were fast breaking away, and floating off in dense black masses to the south of us; the tents on the Neck glistened in the far, far distance, and looked as though painted on the sky. Onward we ploughed, leaving a long snowy trail in our rear, and rapidly lessening the space between us and a haven of security. The first danger had passed—were we to experience another?—for the clouds in the north seemed to be marshalling their vapory hosts for another charge. Our skipper still wore a serious look, and made but little talk; but by the aid of our fleet craft, we were soon out of danger, in a snug harbor, and throwing over our anchors went below; and while the rain was pouring down in sheets, and darkness was o'er land and sea, we ate our supper without fear of seeing Father Neptune, the god of the seas, that night. About eight o'clock in the evening we reached the pier, and found Southwick and the buz in waiting, and were soon home again once more.

"DEMOCRATS" AND THE PRESIDENCY.

Washington Irving, in his History of New York, speaks of a renowned Dutch tumbler who was going to jump over a hill, and in order to get under way took a start three miles off, but arriving at the base was winded, and concluded to sit down. The "democrats," in their race for the next President, remind us of this Dutch tumbler. To be sure we are glad to see them thus spend their breath, and put themselves hors du combat, but at their simplicity we must be excused for smiling. It but shows that "democrats" have lost their wits, and are no longer to be trusted even as tumblers. Valor they still have; not valor to go to war; not valor to fight, act, do anything, which may protect and preserve the Government of whose bounty they were so long the special partakers. Not such is the quality of the men, who rejoicing in the name of "democrat," are from the men who once gave diguity and character to the name of Democracy. Their courage only is to strike for the Presidency, but how, when or wherefore, they know not, care not, so they strike.

> "—now estranged, divorced forever, > Far as the grasp of fate can sever,"

Since the war commenced numerous cases have occurred of soldiers who, taken sick, and bereft temporarily of reason, have fought over their battles and passed through the scenes of camp, but of course without rule, connection, or accomplishment. So with any one from whom the light has departed, life remaining—he careers erratically—the vain reactor of former days and deeds. Exactly this is the case of the "democrats," who in so many Olympiads fought in the ranks of Democracy the battles of the Presidency and reapt the spoils of victory. Shorn of the strength of health by the departure from them of the Dickensons and Dixes, the Butlers and Bradys, made crazy by the disease of sympathy with slavery and treason, they still toss and kick on their old Cincinnati and Charleston platforms, projecting presidential campaigns and speculating on the spoils thereof, without sense, aim or end. Such ravings, from their ludicrousness, always excite laughter in the midst of profound grief. The approximation to death is full of seriousness; but if one will make grimaces, crack jokes and dance Jim Crow on the brink, it is not our fault if we laugh him off the stage.

There is to be a "democratic" State Convention at Worcester the 3d of next month to nominate State officers, and choose four delegates to the "national convention." We predict that this group at Worcester will, if possible, be a greater medley than was that at Faneuil Hall last year. We advise our pictorial brethren, if they would make a ten stroke, to recall all their artists from the war scenes and have them there at Worcester. Methinks we see the scene—the John Tuckers and the Judge Abbotts (who are "not going to blow their own horns,") the Lorings and the Lunts, the Swans, Greenes and O'Flarragans all cuddled together—consolidated fag ends of democracy, whiggery, Bell-Everetty and people's party, "forgetting past differences," and all minor things, such as the kicks and stabs they used to give one another, and ready for a long pull, a strong pull and a pull all together for—the Presidency. Thus on the 3d day of September, in the year of grace one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, will the "democracy" of Massachusetts, under the auspices of Jack Tucker, commence the feat of jumping the mountain. Let the readers of the WIZARD be not in a hurry to see them jump. They are at least three miles off, and if Jack should not order them to sit down at the base, it will make no difference. They will sit down and go not an inch farther. For jumping they will have no breath, and as for the mountain their faith will never remove it.

☞ Capt. Daniel J. Preston, of the 35th Regiment, has been appointed Major of a colored Regiment and ordered to report at Newbern, N. C. On his arrival in New York from Vicksburg Captain P. was quite sick.

☞ During the thunder storm of last Thursday afternoon the barn of Mr. NATHANIEL FELTON, on Hog Hill, in this town, was struck by lightning, doing but little damage however.

LETTER FROM PROPELLER.

No. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON, August 20th, 1863.

NEW YORK PICTURES—GREENWOOD CEMETERY.

You may readily suppose, that with my peculiar tastes, I should not remain long in New York without visiting Greenwood Cemetery, that large silent city of the dead, made sacred to grief and sorrow, and painfully interesting to the reflecting mind by the many breaking hearts that have wandered among its beautiful scenery, by the tears shed within its borders by the desolate widow as she looked for the last time on the cold form of her only earthly protector, and by sorrowing parents who have with passionate and earnest idolatry uttered the pathetic cry, "my child, my child," as the coffin of their favorite was lowered into the earth; and made classic to the scholar by the many who have made themselves illustrious as Statesmen and Warriors, whose mouldering relics now repose beneath its shades,—interesting to the general reader as the last resting place of the loved and lost of this "London" of America—a great opulent city whose commerce and wealth are the pride and boast of the American people.

Taking the first leisure afternoon, I proceeded to the office of the Association and procured a ticket of admission and a Directory; crossing Fultou Ferry, the street Railway takes you through Brooklyn; turning on to Third Avenne, you pass the beautiful scenery along the shore of Gowanus Bay, another turn leaves you on 36th Street, where you first notice numbers of marble shops, showing that a new avenue is opened by this great city for the exercise of the mechanical genius of her sons in the construction of tombs, vaults, statuary, &c., &c.; leaving 36th Street the entrance way curves round nearly to the Superintendent's house where it widens to a large spacious lawn, embellished with evergreens and shrubbery, and adorned with flowers. Greenwood Cemetery with its tall obelisks, massive vaults, its beautiful jets throwing their silvery spray into the air, its "Ocean Hill," and its battlefield consecrated by the blood of Revolutionary Patriots, on the 26th of August, 1776, is before us.

> "There he lay
> Each in his grassy tenement, the sire
> Of many winters, and the noiseless babe
> Over whose empty cradle, night by night,
> Sat the poor mourning mother in her tears."

We are now at the entrance for visitors. In contrasting this Cemetery with Mount Auburn, I shall endeavor to speak truthfully as the beauties and defects of each appeared to my mind. At the first view the entrance seemed inferior. Beautifully appropriate is that tall Classic Egyptian gateway at Mount Auburn, with that sublime passage from Ecclesiastes engraved on its front, "Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was, and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it." The Greenwood Association have expended, at this entrance, as large a sum of money as was appropriated at Mount Auburn for a gateway, but it was for wooden buildings—a lodge, and tower, house for the gatekeeper, officers, &c. The tall iron fence that encloses two sides of Mount Auburn is also peculiarly appropriate and you feel the want of its dark mourning shade to give solemnity to Greenwood. The entrance avenue itself is inferior, for that beautiful grove of white maples are wanting in Greenwood. The chapel, also gives to Mount Auburn a fine finish and classical appearance: its turrets and towers are not seen at Greenwood, and the round tower with its battlements forming the wreath of the mountain top, and embellished with its artistic decorations, is not found here. The avenues of Greenwood are not so well gravelled, and you miss also the flowers that border the paths, filling the air with fragrance, and giving beauty and variety to the place.—To compensate for these deficiencies you have its battle-field, memorable for its Revolutionary contest, its beautiful sylvan lake, its jets of water, its ocean view, where is seen the vast expanse of water, bounding the vision in the distance, and giving grandeur and sublimity to the scene. New York, its bays and harbors, islands and forts,—the shores of the East and North Rivers, Staten Island, Brooklyn, and New Jersey, are distinctly seen from Gowanus Heights. There is not so much uniformity in the lots at Greenwood as at Mount Auburn—their oval, octagonal or circular form, varies the mathematical precision of the square, and prevents monotony in their appearance. Greenwood in the variety, richness, and beauty of its artistic scenery, and its view of the distant ocean, and in the exquisite taste and elegant finish of one or two of its monuments, its lavish expeuditure for the new catacomb tombs and vaults, is superior to Mount Auburn, but taken as a whole for the purpose to which they are appropriated, Mount Auburn is superior to Greenwood. Mount Auburn has proportionably many less interments in its public lots, and more select private enclosures than Greenwood.

Greenwood was chartered in 1838, and opened in 1842. The Corporation have sold 10,200 lots, the size of common lots being the same as in Mount Auburn, and the Corporation grade and take care of them. The Corporation has five cottages for the accommodation of the different Superintendents, has two entrances on the southern side, one used for visitors, and the other for funerals. Greenwood contains about 360 acres of land, employs 260 laborers, five or six Superintendents and a number of Assistants.

EXCURSION.—A large party, of ladies and gentlemen, left this town yesterday morning, bound for TUDOR's, on Nahant. There were two omnibus loads, besides a large number who went in single teams. They had a pleasant time.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY FOR SEPTEMBER.—The Atlantic for next month comes richly freighted, as usual, with good things in literature, science and belles letters. We refer our readers to the magazine itself to enjoy the contents of one of the best numbers which has been issued. We would particularly direct their attention to the appreciative article on De Quincy and the scientific paper of Agassiz.

DISTRICT MEETING.—At a meeting of the legal voters of Wallis District, it was voted that it was inexpedient to paint the school house at present; also, that the Committee be empowered to make such repairs as necessary on the present outbuildings.

CONTINENTAL MONTHLY.—The September number of the Continental shows signs of growth and improvement. We find some notes as addenda to the powerful article of Robert J. Walker on Jeff. Davis's connection with Repudiation, which appeared in the August number. There is a good variety and great geniality in the contributions for this Magazine.

POST OFFICE ROBBERY.—C
there was an extensive robbe
Salem Post Office in the Asia some hour during the nigh made through the window n way directly in the rear of th
An aperture was cut throug panes, evidently with a diam this, the fastening was rem raised, and access made easy.
in the office were evidently h ly burned matches were fou not over a dollar and a ha the office-drawer; twenty stamped envelopes, &c., whic found with little effort were t for the penny-post and the c boxes were also undisturbed.
pigeon holes containing the
and the private numbered ransacked; while the drop-b transient letters as were drop o'clock on Sunday forenoon bed of its contents. The del Sunday noon essentially re that would otherwise have b

There is at present no clue, of, to the perpetrator of th
Monday morning, however, left for repairs in an obscure sition in the West Place,—c
the "Mansion House Yard nearly all the letters, amou hundred, were found. Som who dropped in several, ha found them all. Those cont of course retained by the ro one person who dropped in $25, and of others containing but of no other letters of
The amount of money lost known. The letters were al robber in the close carriage, nearly consumed spermaceti —Gazette.

☞ The dying words of Reed, who was mortally wo aldsonville fight, on the Miss of July, and died soon after tic. About a half hour be surgeon informed him that a was past and he had but a li Being then comparatively f few minutes, he remarked don't know as there is any longer; I guess I will shove diately he expired. He had ocean of eternity; his skiff l where he held it in the surf when nature tiring, he said shove off," and launched at nal tide. He was one of spirits in the navy—so full o his death was universally lan

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday, er of West Danvers, was thro near the corner of Federal a and was very seriously injur body. He was attempting t entrance to Tuttle's stable a ing in the road, when his wagon and he was thrown o
Dr. Mack was called and he was taken to his house s his recovery was considered

MUSIC AHEAD.—We learn
B. LORING, of Salem, is en
Democratic nomination for
He is a skillful manager, and win the honor of the nomin
he is, we believe, of the Va and would represent that De the Boston Courier and New are the clever exponents. T in the convention, if the I claims, of which there is s
Bedford Mercury.

☞ The general impression has called for 300,000 men for any other definite number call is for one fifth of the m first class, and we are not a timate of the number which nished has been made public.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK fo been published and is to be f stores. It is fully illustrated department of fashion, &c., an esting matter for the ladies.

KENTUCKY.—Returns, most 99 of the 110 counties in Ken Bramlette, Union, for Gove votes; Wickliffe, Democrat, lette's majority is 48,655. T come in will bring it up to 55,000.

☞ After next Sabbath the in the several churches in this mence at 2 o'clock.

☞ Governor Seymour w addressed the mob as his "im ents." But for their votes he been elected. Gen. Wadswo
State outside of the city of N 000 majority, while the 39 ele which there are the greatest shops, brothels and places w robbers habitually resort, Sey majority. These districts gave but 1,681 votes. Seymour h all the votes cast in the most G tion of that city, where vices are only exceeded by ignorance —Portland Press.

☞ One of the exempted co liston mowed an acre of heav in seven hours and a half, on a time given to do it in 11 hou his cash as soon as the job was

☞ Visit OSBORNE's Store, unusual variety of new style
CAPS—191 Essex street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' Wringers, before purchasing ale at the Equity Store, South
advertisement.

BARGAINS IN KID GLOVES.— has determined to close his ent
Kid Gloves, and has marked cents. They are the best good Boston and Salem for $1 25 an

Dry Goods Salesman

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER
181 Ess
Salem, Aug 29, 1863.

Jordan Lodge.

REGULAR MEETING this (Wednesday) Evening, August 26, at 7½ o'clock.

JOHN O. POOR, Sec'y.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not kdow." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that "Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fevers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and Dropsical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS. — Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fœtid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits. Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Marriages.

In Salem, Aug 4, by Rev Mr Hartney, Mr Michael Coughlin to Miss Mary Lakin; 13th, Mr Patrick Tivan to Mrs Mary Kenney.

17th, by J Carlton Esq, Mr John E Moses of Beverly, to Miss Emma A Greenlaw of Salem.

18th, at the South Church, by Rev Brown Emerson, DD, Mr Thomas Hall Jr of Boston, to Miss Mary, daughter of Mr Israel Putnam of Salem.

In Beverly, Aug 16, by Rev Dr Abbott, Mr Israel B Woodbury to Miss Elizabeth A Appleton.

Deaths.

In this town, Aug 11, Lizzie Mattie, daughter of Matthew H and Sarah E Mason, aged 4 mos.

In Salem, Aug 16, Mr George Turner, 50 yrs

18th, Edward, son of Eben'r Henry and Sarah Jane Morse, 2 yrs 1 mos 18 days.

19th, Edward, son of John and Ann Pender, 3 yrs 7 mos.

20th, Mr John Allen, 61 yrs

22d, James, son of James and Bridget Slattery, 5½ mos.

24th, Mr Jeremiah Pervier, 47 yrs.

In Marblehead, Aug 13, Mr Wm Green, 67 years.

In East Boston, Aug 21, Sumner Atherton, only child of Sumner and Carrie A Hill, of Salem, aged 1 yr 3 mos.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 16th, schs Solomon Francis, Cottrell, Bangor; 17th, Ada Herbert, Linehan, N York; Pearl, Robinson, Rockland.

Ar 20th, schs Mary Elizabeth, Cordery, Philadelphia; Alexandria, Dodge, Elizabethport; Governor, Chase, New York; sloop Comet, Floyd, Boston; 21st, sch T H Cushing Amee, Bangor.

M. FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

LETS.....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;

At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, May 23, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in Danvers, in said county, on MONDAY, the fourteenth day of September next, at 3 o'clock, P. M.:

THE right in equity that Charles Page of Danvers aforesaid has to redeem the following described mortgaged real estate situate in Danvers aforesaid, viz: a certain tract of land on Purchase Street, consisting of nursery land, tillage, pasture and salt marsh, containing ten acres and 110 poles, bounded as follows: beginning at the easterly corner thereof, by land of Richard Hood and Purchase Street, and running westerly on said street about 1460 feet to the middle of Crane River Bridge, thence winding by said river southeasterly to land of said Hood, thence by land of said Hood, as the wall now stands north 8° east about 190 feet, and more easterly 280 feet to the corner first mentioned. Also a lot of land containing about 60 poles, bounded southerly by Purchase street 143 feet, westerly on Ash street 136 feet, northerly and easterly by middle of Crane river.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, August 5, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in South Danvers, on THURSDAY, the tenth day of September next, at 9½ o'clock, A. M.:

THE right in equity that Henry Bowers has to redeem his mortgaged dwelling house (wherein he now lives,) with the land under and adjoining, situate in Goldthwait Place, South Danvers.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, August 5, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in South Danvers, on THURSDAY, the tenth day of September next, at 9½ o'clock, A. M.:

THE right in equity that John Murphy has to redeem his mortgaged tannery, land and buildings, situate by Silsbee street in South Danvers, formerly owned by B. C. & R. S. Osborn.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Assignees' Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the second meeting of the creditors of Eben'r S. Howard, of South Danvers, in the County of Essex, Insolvent Debtor, will be held at the Court of Insolvency in Salem, in said county, on the fourteenth day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, when creditors may be present and prove their claims.

Also at the same time and place will be held the third meeting of the creditors of the said Eben'r S. Howard, at which meeting the Assignee will present his account, and creditors may be present and object to the allowance thereof.

H. O. WILEY, Assignee.
Aug 3, 1863.

Mortgagee's Sale of Desirable Residences in South Danvers.

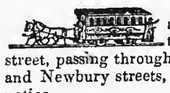
To be sold at Public Auction on the premises, on FRIDAY, the 4th day of September, in the year 1863, at 2½ o'clock in the afternoon, in pursuance of a power of sale contained in a mortgage deed made by David Daniels to the Salem Savings Bank, which deed bears date the 31st day of March, in the year 1860, and is recorded in the Registry of Deeds for Essex County, in Book 603, Leaf 231, for breach of the condition and to foreclose the same:

THE following described real estate lying in South Danvers, in said County, and bounded Northeasterly on Main street one hundred and five feet; Southeasterly on Washington street one hundred and sixty-four feet; Southwesterly on land now occupied by John W. Proctor one hundred and five feet; and Northwesterly on land of Wheeler one hundred and sixty-four feet.

Also a lot of land bounded Northwesterly on said Washington street, Northeasterly on land of Abel Proctor, junior, Southeasterly on land of Burbeek seventy-five feet, and Southwesterly on land of Obadiah Kimball one hundred and fifty feet.

Salem Savings Bank, by
WILLIAM WALLIS, Treasurer.
Salem, Aug. 26, 1863.

Salem & South Danvers Railroad.



THE Cars will hereafter run regularly from the New Depot on Webb street, passing through Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets, both ways, until further notice.

On Wednesday and Saturday Afternoons, when pleasant, the Car "Excursionist" will make two trips, leaving Webb street at 2.30 and 6; and leaving South Danvers at 3.10 and 6.40

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Aug. 26, 1863.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY,

FOR September.—It contains contributions from Col Higginson, Gail Hamilton, Louis Agassiz, Rose Terry, Charles Sumner, Theodore Tilton, Robert Dale Owen, Edward L. Pierce, Julia Ward Howe. Numbers promptly furnished by

aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

MARK YOUR CLOTHING.

STENCIL Plates cut in the best way; Indellible Ink, Brushes, etc., at the lowest prices, at

aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.

POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Aug 25, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Sarah Beckwith	R O Patten
Mrs Joseph Boardman	Jos L Rhodes
Mrs A Baylies 2	Mrs Margaret Quinn
Margaret Follansbee	Charles Sweeney
Michael L Gleeson	John F Sanborn
Charles Holden	Mary E Torr
Mrs Sarah Hunt	Mrs Eliza'h C Whipple
Maria F Larrabee	Mrs Emily L Whipple
Mary Keefe	Mrs Eliza Vittim
Mrs Mary E Mitchell

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent each.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

CROUT'S & MUNROE'S

SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at 10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " at 5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at 3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at 4 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.

Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street. Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.

Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.

Smallest favors thankfully received.

South Danvers, august 26—tf

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Sets of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless,

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.

NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRAKLNIN, General Agent.

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.

LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

ITS publication marks an era in the history of Maps It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc., made famous by the War, and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It is a County Map, and neatly col'd. Price in sheets, 60 cts; mounted $1 25. Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
aug 19 Publisher's Agents.

BOOTS & SHOES,

At No. 10 Front St., Salem.

NOTICE! Having made arrangements with some of the best manufacturers of Boots and Shoes, I shall be able to sell a good article at lower prices, (for the same,) than others will in this city.

Just received—Men's, Boys', Ladies', Misses', Balmorals, Congress, Army, Brogans, Slippers, etc., etc.

FULL FALL PANTS.—Just rec'd, a lot of full Fall Pants, for old Folks, (some large sizes;)

SUMMER CLOTHING—selling low;

FURNISHING GOODS—selling at less prices than can be purchased in this or any other city;

WOOL KNIT SHIRTS—for laboring men, best article;

Fish Lines and Reels, 8 cents; Kerosene Lamps, worth $1 25, for only 63 cents; Balance Crockery:—Patent Shoe Brushes; Horse Coverings; Hats; Caps; Window Curtains; Blind Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Looking Glasses, all sizes; Clocks; Writing Desks; Work Boxes, etc;

Just received, some new patterns, Painted Floor Cloths; Straw Carpeting, selling at less than it can be imported for. aug 12—3w

---

MORRIS'

RESTAURANT,

18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.

Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.

Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WANTED!

$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.

South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

ANDERSON'S

Spring Bed Bottom

(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.

And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

PATTERSON'S

LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7—3m CLARK & GIDDINGS.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,

Wallis Street, South Danvers,

Are Agents for

GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S

PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND PIPE FOR DRAINS.

South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

R. C. MANNING & CO.,

Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,

183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.

N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.

John P. Peabody.

Best Light Kid Gloves, 75 Cents.

AT PEABODY'S.

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

Cotton Hosiery for Ladies, Misses, and Children, in every variety, in open and plain, At PEABODY'S.

Best Cord Nets, Double, 19 Cents.

AT PEABODY'S.

EMBROIDERIES.

Collars—Sleeves—Bands—Flouncings—Edgings—Insertings—Laces—Cambric Edgings and Insertings, in great variety

At PEABODY'S.

Black Kid Finished Silk Gloves, 50 Cents.

AT PEABODY'S.

LACE GOODS.

Lace Veils—Guipure Edgings—Silk Laces—Bobbinet Laces—Saxony—Smyrna—Thread and Cotton Laces, all widths and prices.

At PEABODY'S.

Best Embroidered Corsets only $1.75.

AT PEABODY'S.

SKIRTS.

GORE TRAIL AND PANNER SKIRTS, in all sizes and prices, from 35 cts. to $3 00.

We warrant every Skirt we sell.

J. P. PEABODY.

Fancy Back Combs, New Styles.

AT PEABODY'S.

FOR THE TOILET.

Sterling's Ambrosia—Castorine—Bear's Oil—Stick Pomades—Honey, Bro'n Windsor, Castile, Barbers', Rose and Union Soaps, Puffs, Powders and Boxes.

At PEABODY'S.

Leather Travelling Bags, For Ladies.

AT PEABODY'S.

TRIMMINGS.

Buttons—Bindings—Braids—Cords—Quilled Ribbons—Velvet Buttons—Leather Buttons—Hooks and Eyes—Whale Bones—Embroidered Silks and Braids, etc.

J. P. PEABODY.

OUR PRICE LIST OF

FANCY GOODS.

Rose Soap—two cakes for	5c
Pumice Soap—the best per cake	5c
Honey Soap—large size per cake	5c
Brown Windsor per package	25c
White Castile Soap—nice, per cake	10c
Castile Soap—imported	8c
Almond Soap—highly scented	10c
Amber Soap—round cakes	4c
Barber's Soap—for shaving	6c
Tooth Brushes—8, 10, 12½, and	25c
Hair Brushes 25, 38, 50, 75, and	$1 25
Clark's Indellible Pencils	17c
Ladies' Rubber Pages	12½c
Leather Wallets 25, 50, 62, $1 and	$1 25
Puff Boxes, Powders, Brushes, &c.

STOCK TO BE REDUCED.

ONE PRICE ONLY!

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

JOHN P. PEABODY.

Augusts 26, 1863.

James F. Almy.

NEW DRESS GOODS.

WE have received a Bargain in new Dress Goods, at 20 and 25 cents.

We are offering a fine stock of Cottons, Flannels and other Domestic Goods, at our usually low prices for best grades of Goods.

CLOSING SALE.

All Goods appertaining to our Summer Stock are closing at greatly reduced prices.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central st.
Aug 19, 1863.

A. J. Archer & Co

REDUCED PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Offer their stock of

Summer Dress Goods, Summer Shawls, and Capes,

at REDUCED PRICES—to close.

Salem, july 15—tf

SUMMER SHAWLS!

We open this morning beautiful new

SUMMER SHAWLS.

— Also —

A variety of THIN DRESS GOODS; 8 4 Black Hernani and Crape Maretz; Black Grenadine. For sale by

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Salem, june 3—tf.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,

(Successors to M. Black)

DANVERS-PORT,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE---No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.

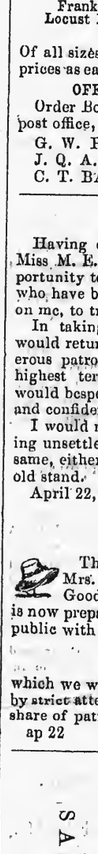
April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. FLETCHER her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE,
ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.



SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult

JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT.

Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.

Second-hand Machines bought and sold.

South Danvers, May 13—tf

THE PIANO FORTES

THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,

218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,

where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes, also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call.

Mch 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

WEBBER'S

South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7 and 11 A M, and 1½ and 5 P M.

Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.

Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.

Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.

July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

George S. Walker.

SOMETHING NEW.

THE WINDSOR TIE. Every new style of Tie brought out abroad and at home, will uniformly be found in my assortment.

GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

LINEN COLLARS.

THE best qualities, in the latest styles, at the lowest prices, at

GEO. S. WALKER'S, 228 Essex st.

SILK SCARFS.

A FINE assortment of Real Roman Scarfs.—Also, a good imitation, for sale at

GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
aug 5 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

FIRST CLASS GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES

"DESIRABLE."

MESSRS. BROWNING & LONG have just opened a splendid assortment of CAMBRIC EDGINGS and INSERTINGS, in large variety and very Neat patterns, at Low PRICES!

Also, a fine assortment of HAIR NETS, New Patterns, and all very stylish, with many other New Goods, purchased Now as they are Low.

Finding that "Low PRICES" are appreciated, they continue offering their goods at

"POPULAR PRICES."

Good Thread Nets,	25c;
White and Unbleached Hose,	18c;
Nice Open-work Hose,	25c;
White Misses' and Unbleached Hose,	16c;
Children's Colored Hose,	16c;
Gent's good half-Hose,	15c;
Misses' Fancy Cotton Hose,	16c;
Nice Lisle Gloves,	15c;
Ladies' Mohair Mitts,	40c;
Ladies' All-Linen Hdkfs,	13c;
All-Linen Hem-Stitched Hdkfs,	30c;
Embroidered Collars,	15c;
Nice Crape Collars,	25c;
Gent's Woven Bosoms,	8c;
Bead Nets,	25c,
Children's Mitts,	15c;
Nice Embroidered Gloves,	15c;

and many others in like comparison.

THE VERY LATEST STYLES
— OF —
NEW GOODS.

Constantly receiving the Largest Stock of Ladies' Furnishing Goods in the city, at

BROWNING & LONG'S.

Essex St., 177 Essex St.,
Salem, Aug. 19, 1863.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

---

NEW STOCK
— OF —
DRY GOODS
— AT —
No. 238 Essex street,

(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

THE Subscriber opened on MONDAY, May 18th,

A Fresh Stock of Dry Goods,

Consisting of nearly all the new styles of Dress Goods, Ladies' Cloths, Cloths for Men's & Boys' Wear; Shawls, Domestic and Housekeeping Goods; Sun Umbrellas; Parasols; Hoop Skirts; Hosiery; Gloves; &c., &c., &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

GEORGE P. DANIELS.
Salem, May 20.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at

NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.

RHOADES' CELEBRATED

NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,

THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,

AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.

CALL AND EXAMINE.

For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,

At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,

South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

TO LET.

A PARTIALLY stocked and well located

GROCERY STORE.

A shoemaker, or a person of any other sedentary pursuit, wishing to spend a portion of his time in trading, will find this a capital chance to work into a good paying business. No capital will be required, but the applicant must bring recommendations for honesty and enterprise. Inquire at this office.

South Danvers, Aug 12. 3t

Choice Spring Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.

BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 2 Central street, Salem.

Auction Sale

WILLIAM ARCHER,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock
34 Front Street.

Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

D. P. GROSVENOR,

Druggist and Apothecary,
38 MAIN STREET,

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 29, 1861.

GEO. E. MEAC

Dealer in

DRUGS & MEDICIN
Fancy & Toilet Article
126 MAIN ST.,
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So.

T. A. SWEETS

Druggist & Apo
37 Main St., So.

DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines,
Foreign Leeches,
Herbs, Dye Stuffs,
Acids, Sponges, S
der Braces, Tru
and Genuine Patent

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands. Toilet Articles and Stationery.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prep perienced persons.

37 MAIN STREE

PRESERVE YOUR FR

LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND C

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc fectly fresh state.

They require no wax, solder for cemen stantly, and are more easily sealed and op any other article for the purpose ever inv kinds of wax and cement are equally di and uncertain in sealing. In presenting cles to the public, the inventor challenges in an infallible, simple, easy, and rapid p Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and pra who have examined them, say that they a a fault, and are the only ones that have chemical test.

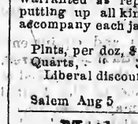
The sealing is on an entirely original p principle has stood the test for several year best certificates of their value is, that t have tried these articles will use no other warranted as represented. Reliable dire putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables accompany each jar.

PRICE LIST.

Pints, per doz, $2 25; 3 pints, per doz, Quarts, " 3 00; Half gallon, " Liberal discount to the trade.

Salem Aug 5 S C & E A SIMON 32 Front

Mothers—Take Heed



GIVE no more poison children. Do you eve when observing the un tions of your childre the only cause of th sufferer's illness is wor nineteen cases out of it is so. Of all the diseases to which are exposed none are so fatal to them as In fact, children are seldom free from worms imitate the symptoms of many complaints. They often produce alarm fects without being suspected as the The only certain cure—one of nature remedies, a compound of nothing bu and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from t tem, if the directions are strictly adhe No more filthy vermifuge will be u those who have once used these Powder active principle in all other vermifuges, Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozen Mercury, as any physician will tell you. dealers will recommend inferior prepar and low-priced articles, affording more to themselves. Be sure and obtain onl Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, M South Danvers, June 17, 1863.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by cians for

FAMILY USE AND INVAL

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrel

And for sale by

J. MAGUIRE & CO

No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for

MASSEY & COLLINS'

PHILADELPHIA AL

BUCKHART'S

CREAM ALE,

And Dealer in

LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, kinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO

July 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Sal

To the Honorable, the Senate and of Representatives of Massachusett

THE undersigned hereby ask that they be incorporated as the SOUTH DANV AND LYNN RAILROAD COMPANY, a capital of one hundred thousand dollars power to construct a Horse Railroad from convenient point in the town of South vers to some convenient point in the Lynn, and with power to connect wit roads of the Lynn and Boston Railroad pany, and the Salem and South Danvers road Company, and to use such portions road of the latter company as public con ience may require; and as in duty bound ever pray.

WM. H. LITTLE,
HENRY POOR,
LEWIS ALLEN,
STEPHEN BLAN
C. W. OSBORNE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

SECRETARY'S DEPARTMENT,
Boston, July 18, 1863.

I approve the publication of the above tion in the Lynn Reporter and the South vers Wizard. OLIVER WARNER,
July 29 Secretar

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd day by rail from Canada, for sale

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSETTS.

HEADQUARTERS, BOSTON, JULY 31, 1863.

GENERAL ORDER, No. 18.

1st. The Commander-in-Chief desires to call the attention of the people of the Commonwealth to the fact, that by reason of the great reduction in the numbers of the Volunteer Militia, the State finds itself at this moment without any adequate organized military force available for the protection of the State, or for the maintenance of the public peace. And, inasmuch as it is believed that the provision of the General Statutes, Chapter 13, Section 18, which requires that the volunteer militia shall be first ordered into service in case of war, invasion, &c., and the provision it 1st Section of 49th Chapter of the Acts of 1861, which requires that all companies of the volunteer militia shall be liable to be marched without the limits of the Commonwealth on a requisition of the President of the United States upon the Commander-in-Chief, for extended terms of service, have deterred the citizens of the State from enlisting in the volunteer militia, and must continue to operate against the recruitment of that force, the following Act of the General Court of Massachusetts, passed the 29th day of April, A. D., 1863, and being Chapter 243 of the Acts of the current year, and the Order in Council adopted in accordance with the provisions of said Act, are hereby promulgated :—

[CHAP. 243.]

AN ACT in addition to an Act concerning the Militia.

Be it enacted, &c., as follows :—

SECT. 1. The governor, with the advice and consent of the council, is authorized to organize, arm and equip, under such regulations as he may prescribe, so many of the enrolled militia as may be necessary for the common defence.

SECT. 2. The militia so organized shall consist of at least one regiment of cavalry, to consist of twelve troops or companies; one regiment of artillery of not more than twelve batteries, and eight regiments of infantry of ten companies each, which shall be officered in the manner prescribed by the laws of the United States, and of this State concerning the militia. The governor shall divide the militia into divisions and brigades.

SECT. 3. The governor may appoint one major-general, to command the militia thus organized, who shall hold his office until the next session of the legislature, when a major general shall be chosen in accordance with the provisions of the constitution.

SECT. 4. The general, staff, field and company officers, and the non-commissioned officers of the militia thus organized, shall be chosen, appointed and commissioned agreeably to existing laws. But the habitual use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage shall disqualify any person from holding a commission under this act; and no commission shall issue to an officer elected or appointed, unless he is qualified by education and ability to discharge the duties of his office; and the commander-in-chief may appoint a military board to examine into the capacity, qualifications and efficiency of all persons claiming or holding a commission in the militia under the rank of a major-general, and if the report of the board is unfavorable to the officer, his commission shall be vacated or withheld, as the case may be.

SECT. 5. Uniforms, arms and equipments shall be provided for the militia thus organized, in general conformity with those furnished to similar troops in the service of the United States. And the governor may, in his discretion, arm a portion of the infantry with rifles.

SECT. 6. The pay of the militia so enrolled shall be the same as now provided by law, except that officers and non-commissioned officers serving on foot, and privates, shall be allowed for their personal service when called out for discipline, one dollar each per day, and one ration, valued at thirty cents.

SECT. 7. The commander-in-chief may call out the militia mentioned in this act, for discipline and military instruction, at such times and places as may be expedient and necessary; and may issue all such orders as are necessary to carry this act into effect.

SECT. 8. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, IN COUNCIL, Boston, July 30, 1863.

Whereas, by 243d Chapter of the Acts of the year 1863, it was among other things enacted by the Legislature of Massachusetts, that the "Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council, is authorized to organize, arm and equip, under such regulations as he may prescribe, so many of the enrolled militia as may be necessary for the common defence."

It is therefore Ordered, that agreeably to the said Statute a military force to be called the Independent Division of the Active Militia of Massachusetts be organized, armed and equipped under such regulations as the Governor may prescribe.

2d. The above recited Act provides for the organization of an active militia force, to be uniformed, armed and equipped, by the State, and commanded by officers who shall have given proof of their ability by passing such an examination as shall be prescribed, and the members of which shall not, by reason of their enlistment therein, be subject to any liability to be ordered without the limits of the Commonwealth, beyond that attaching to every citizen of the State enrolled in its militia, except as it is hereinafter provided.

3d. The Commander-in-Chief, therefore, earnestly calls upon the able-bodied citizens of the State enrolled in the militia of the Commonwealth, to form themselves into companies, under the above recited Act, in their respective cities and towns.

4th. The companies raised under the above recited Act shall, until further orders, be limited to twelve companies of cavalry, six batteries of artillery, and one hundred and thirty companies of infantry, and shall be organized as one regiment of cavalry, one regiment of artillery, and thirteen regiments of infantry, to constitute a Special Division of Active Militia.

Each Regiment of Cavalry shall consist of—

1 Colonel.	1 Regimental Commissary, with rank of First Lieutenant,—an extra Lieutenant.
1 Lieutenant Colonel.	1 Chaplain.
1 Major for every 4 companies.	1 Veterinary Surgeon.
1 Surgeon.	1 Sergeant Major.
2 Assistant Surgeons.	1 Quartermaster-Sergeant.
1 Regimental Adjutant—with rank of 1st Lieutenant,—an extra Lieutenant.	1 Commissary-Sergeant.
	2 Hospital Stewards.
1 Regimental Quartermaster, with rank of First Lieutenant,—an extra Lieutenant.	1 Saddler-Sergeant.
	1 Chief Trumpeter.

And twelve troops of Companies, each to consist of

1 Captain,	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Trumpeters,
1 Second Lieutenant,	2 Farriers or Blacksmiths,
1 First Sergeant,	1 Saddler,
1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,	1 Wagoner,
1 Commissary-Sergeant,	and 60 privates minimum,
5 Sergeants,	and 78 maximum.

Each Regiment of Artillery shall consist of—

1 Colonel,	1 Chaplain,
1 Lieutenant Colonel,	1 Sergeant Major,
1 Major for every four batteries,	1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,
	1 Commissary Sergeant,
1 Adjutant, with rank of First Lieutenant,—not an extra Lieutenant,	1 Hospital Steward,
	2 Principal Musicians.
1 Quartermaster with rank of 1st Lieutenant, not an extra Lieut,

And each Battery shall consist of—

1 Captain,	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Musicians,
1 Second Lieutenant,	2 Artificers,
1 First Sergeant,	1 Wagoner,
1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,	86 Privates, minimum,
4 Sergeants,	122 Privates, maximum.

To the above organization of a Battery, the Commander-in-chief may, in his discretion, allow in addition: 1 First and Second Lieutenant, 2 Sergeants, and 4 Corporals.

1 Colonel,	2 Assistant Surgeons,
1 Lieutenant Colonel,	1 Chaplain,
1 Major,	1 Sergeant-Major,
1 Adjutant, with rank of 1st Lieutenant—an extra Lieutenant,	1 Regimental Quartermaster-Sergeant,
	1 Regimental Commissary Sergeant,
1 Quartermaster, with rank of 1st Lieut.—an extra Lieutenant,	1 Hospital Steward,
	2 Principal Musicians,
1 Surgeon,

And Ten Companies, each to consist of—

1 Captain,	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Musicians,
1 Second Lieutenant,	1 Wagoner,
1 First Sergeant,	and 64 privates, minimum,
4 Sergeants,	and 82 privates, maximum.

5. The companies to be raised under the above recited Act will be apportioned among the counties of the State, according to their population, so far as may be; but as the number of companies to be raised may be increased, if the citizens of the State shall respond to this call in a manner to warrant it, those petitions which are first received will be first granted, in the order of their reception.

6. The form of enlistment in the active division of the militia hereby provided for, shall be as follows:

We the undersigned, do hereby severally acknowledge to have voluntarily enlisted in the active militia force of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, organized in pursuance of an Act passed on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1863—and being chapter 243 of the Acts passed by the General Court of said Commonwealth in said year—(in a company of infantry, artillery, cavalry,) raised in the city or town of———, for the period of five years, unless sooner discharged by proper authority; and we declare that we have not enlisted in any other company raised under said Act; and we do hereby severally solemnly swear that we will bear true faith and allegiance to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and will support the Constitution thereof, and that we will observe and obey the orders of the Commander in Chief, and of the officers appointed over us, according to the rules and articles for governing the militia in actual service, and the regulations which may be prescribed in pursuance of said Act. And we do severally solemnly swear, that we will support the Constitution of the United States.

Each member enlisting in a company shall sign his name to a roll under the above form of enlistment, and there shall be at the time of such signing added against his name in separate columns, the date of his enlistment, the city or town in which he resides, his age, occupation, and whether he is married or single; and the above oath shall be administered by a Justice of the Peace or Notary Public, who shall at the bottom of such roll certify that he duly administered said oath to the man or men whose names are contained in said roll.

7. Petitions for permission to organize companies of Infantry, Artillery or Cavalry under the above Act, must state in what city or town it is proposed to raise the same, and be signed by at least fifty members of the enrolled militia of the Commonwealth who proposes to enlist in said company; and the same must be attested by the Mayor or Selectmen of the city or town in which it is proposed to raise said company, and addressed and forwarded to the Adjutant General, to be laid before the Governor.

8. When any such petition shall have been approved and granted, blank enlistment rolls will be issued to some one of the petitioners, by the Adjutant General, and, if the same are not returned within a period of three weeks from the date of their issue, with at least the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company enlisted therein, the authorization for the formation of such company will be withdrawn, unless, from special circumstances, the Commander in Chief shall see fit to extend the period allowed for raising said company.—Upon the withdrawal of the authorization granted to any petitioners to raise such company, by reason of their failure to obtain the prescribed number of men within the time allowed, all enlistments in such company become void, and the men who enlisted therein are free to enlist in any other company.

9. Whenever the enlistment rolls of any company authorized to be raised in pursuance of the above Act shall have been returned to the Adjutant General, and it shall appear that at least the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company have enlisted therein, the said roll being attested by the Mayor or Selectmen of the place where said Company was proposed to be raised, or where a majority of the men enlisted therein reside, the said company shall receive its designating letter or number, and an election of officers shall be ordered in said company.

10. The order for such election of officers shall be directed to one or more of the Selectmen, or Mayor and Aldermen, of the place where a majority of the men enlisted in such company reside, and the person or persons to whom said order is addressed shall cause notifications of said election to be served on the persons enlisted in said company, and shall preside at such election, and keep a record of the proceedings, and return the same to the Adjutant General.

11. The presiding officer at such election shall, with the record of the proceedings thereof, return any certificates or papers presented to him by any of the officers elected, tending to show that the officer presenting the same is duly qualified by education and ability to discharge the duties of the office to which he has been elected, as required by section 4 of the above recited Act. And any officer so elected may at any time forward any such certificates or papers, or furnish any other evidence of his ability or qualifications, to the Adjutant General direct. And the Commander-in-Chief will in all cases, when it may appear necessary, order any such officer so elected to appear before a military board for examination as provided in said section.

12. When the officers of a company shall have been commissioned and its organization completed, the Master of Ordnance shall, on application by the commander thereof and on his furnishing satisfactory evidence that a suitable armory or place of deposit is provided therefor agreeably to Section 88, Chapter 13, General Statutes, issue to such commander the arms and equipments for such company.

13. Uniforms will be served by the Quartermaster General to the companies organized under this Act, as soon as they can be furnished.

14. The commissioned officers of every company shall receipt to the Master of Ordnance for all the arms and equipments issued to such company, and shall be responsible for their safe keeping, and for their return when demanded, and for any damage thereto.

15. In case of the discharge or death of such an officer, he or his legal representative shall be relieved from such responsibility upon filing with the Master of Ordnance a certificate signed by not less than two commissioned officers of such company, that the arms and equipments issued to such company are, at the date of such certificates, undiminished in quantity and value, reasonable use and wear excepted. And such certificate shall specify the different articles, and the number of each, then in the possession of said company, and specify their particular condition.

16. There shall be to each company a clerk, who shall be appointed in the manner prescribed in chapter 13 of the General Statutes, and who shall discharge the duties prescribed in that chapter.

17. When a sufficient number of companies of the respective arms shall have been organized, they will be formed into regiments, and elections of the field officers for such regiments will be ordered. And when a sufficient number of regiments shall have been organized, they will be formed into brigades, and the commanders thereof elected, and the said brigades will be organized as a Special Division, and the commander thereof will be appointed.

The said Special Division is organized to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, to defend the commonwealth, and to aid the civil authorities to execute the laws and to preserve the public peace and order; but in case of invasion of or insurrection in either of the New England States or in the State of New-York, (the same being contiguous to the boundaries of Massachusetts,) the said Special Division, or any part thereof, may be ordered by the Governor to march into any such adjoining State on the request of the Governor thereof, or of the President of the United States, to aid in preventing or suppressing such invasion or insurrection, but shall not be obliged to remain on service out of this Commonwealth, for any term exceeeding thirty days in all, during any one year, unless they shall, (with the consent of the Governor of this Commonwealth,) personally volunteer additional service. And on any occasion of public danger, when requested thereto by the President of the United States, or by the Governor of any State thereof, the Governor of this Commonwealth may, in his discretion, detail for duty in any part of the United States, where it may be needed, any portion of the members of said Special Division, personally volunteering for such extraordinary duty, for any term of service, not exceeding three consecutive months.

As individual members of the enrolled militia of Massachusetts, the members of this Division will, however, remain subject by law to all the duties imposed on the enrolled militia generally, and properly enforceable by draft, conscription, or otherwise, under the laws of the United States or of Massachusetts.

18. Whenever any company of the said Special Division shall, upon any occasion upon which it is ordered out for duty, appear with less than the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company, besides its proper number of commissioned and non-commissioned officers, it may forthwith be disbanded.

By command of His Excellency JOHN A. ANDREW, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

WILLIAM SCHOULER, Adjutant General.

Aug 19

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test

Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.

George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.

For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.

Apr. I, 1853—1 y

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience—and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing

JOHN B. OGDEN,
ang 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Imperities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Monstache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Premature Decay, etc., etc., by one who has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned Doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island, by enclosing an addressed envelope. Address

CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, New-York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,

—ALSO—

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—ly

MAPS.

NEW Map of Massachusetts, counties, townships, etc., 75.

New Pocket Map of New England, New York and Canada, 75c.

Large scale Map of Boston and country adjacent, giving all the rail and county rods—just the thing for travellers, $3 00.

State Map of Massachusetts—the best Map of the State ever published—large size $6 00.

Eastman's White Mountain Maps, 25c.

aug 5 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

LAVA WARE.

LAVA Tea Sets, Vases, &c. Also, Parian Ware—at

jy 29 SC & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Marke
[Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aueroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

JOHN MOULTON,
LIVERY STABLE,
Central Street, South Danvers.
Mr. M. will endeavor to keep up the good reputation of his stable, by still keeping good Horses and Carriages. jan 7. 1863.

Advertisemets.

LINSEED OIL, &C.
PURE Linseed Oil and Varnishes, of al kinds, at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

WHITE LEAD IN PAILS.
1000 POUNDS New York White Lead in pails of 25 lbs. each, just received at S C & E A SIMONDS',

VARNISHES.
COACH Varnish; Furniture and Damar Varnish, of the best quality, at je 17 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

FRUIT BASKETS.
WHITE China and White Granite Fruit Baskets—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

EMANCIPATION HYMN.
QUARTETTE and Chorus—composed and dedicated by permission to the Salem Union League, Manuel Fenollosa—for sale by
jy 15 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

FRENCH CHINA.
A FULL assortment of French China Tea Ware, Vases, Match Boxes, etc., just received from New York, and for sale by
jy 29 SC & E A SIMONDS, 32 Front st.

WIRE COVERS.
WIRE Dish Covers in sets of five, at
S C & E A SIMONDS, 32 Front st.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.
FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

COLOR AND PLAIN STAMPING
FOR Stationery, most desirable and fashionable styles—one or more initials to order—Samples at
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Mannfacturers of
Rose. Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.
Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Mannfacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

E. N. PRICE,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
HARNESSES,
SADDLES, BRIDLES,
AND WHIPS.
— ALSO —
Trunks, Valises and Traveling Bags.
All orders for Manufacturing and Repairing executed with promptness, and in the best manner.
237 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.
mch13-tf

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
ang 6 SALEM. tf

THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.
CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street, at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block]
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

E. S. FLINT,
Manufactnrer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes, and patent leather Pictures, of varous sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

FRANKLIN COAL.
JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8½, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2½, 5½, 7½, p. m.
Beverly, 8½ am., 1, 3½, 5½, 6.55, 7½ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8½ a m., 1.5½ p m.
Portsmouth, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Portland, 8½ a m., 3½ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM

Portland, 8½ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7½ †11½ a m., 15½ p m.
Amesbury, 7.55, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m., 6½ p m.
Ipswich, 7.25, 8.25, 10.25 a m., 12.25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 2.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.35 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, *9.05, 11.05 a m., 12.50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, *4.35, 5.55, *6.20, 5½, *7.55, * 9.05 p m.
Boston, 7½, *8½, 10½ a m., 12½, 2½, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9½.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10½ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Marblehead for Salem, 6¾, 7¾, 8¾, 9¾ a m., 12¾, 1¾, 5¼, 6¾, 7½ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7½, 8½, 9.25, 11½ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6¾, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5½ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.

Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11½ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7¾ a m., 12¾, 3¾, 6¼ p m.

J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:

Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9 40 a m. and 5 55 p m:

Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.

*Freight Train with passenger car attached.

F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is effected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious ascent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock.) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y

Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1863. NO. 35.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Selected Poetry.

REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIERS.

BY DAVID HUMPHREY.

O, what avails to trace the fate of war
Through fields of blood, and paint each glorious scar!
Why should the strain your former woes recall,
The tears that wept a friend's or brother's fall,
When by your side, first in the adventurous strife,
He dauntless rush'd, too prodigal of life!
Enough of merit has each honored name,
To shine untarnish'd on the rolls of fame,
To stand the example of each distant age,
And add new lustre to the historic page;
For soon their deeds illustrious shall be shown
In breathing bronze or animated stone,
Or where the canvass, starting into life,
Revives the glories of the crimson strife.
And soon some bard shall tempt the untried themes,
Sing how we dared, in fortune's worst extremes;
What cruel wrongs the indignant patriot bore,
What various ills your feeling bosoms tore,
What boding terror's gloom'd the threatening hour,
When British legions, arm'd with death-like power,
Bade desolation mark their crimson'd way.
And lured the savage to his destined way.

THE POEM.

I am dreaming o'er a poem
Of affection's strength sublime;
Loved, because that once I read it
In the dear, dear olden time,
While you sat and praised my reading
Of the poet's touching rhyme.

And how often, very gently
Did you check my cadence, when
I read the sweetest verses
Over to you once again!
I have read that blessed poem
Many, many times since then.

Then you softly closed the volume,
While I paused at the last line,
While your eyes said sweeter poems,—
Poems that were more divine;
And all Hybla sweets were clustered
On the lips that dropped to mine.

This is over now, all over,—
And 'tis better thus to be;
Yet I often sit and wonder
Who is reading soft to thee,
And if any voice is sweeter
To thine heart than mine would be.

RAIN.

BY LONGFELLOW.

How beautiful is the rain!
After the dust and heat,
In the broad and fiery street,
In the narrow lane,
How beautiful is the rain!

How often it clatters along the roofs,
Like the tramp of hoofs!
How it gushes and struggles out
From the throat of the overflowing spout!
Across the window pane
It pours and pours;
And swift and wide,
With a muddy tide,
Like a river down the gutter roars
The rain, the welcome rain.

☞ The following story reads like a burlesque on Gen. McClellan's characteristics, but we find it in the Post:

"Little Mac," had a narrow escape in the surf the other day at East Hampton, L. I., and as stated just missed being drowned. It seems, with a fellow bather, he was borne out swiftly by an unobserved outward sea current, far beyond breakers or the reach for human help.—His fellow bather, a lad of fourteen, went down in sight of all. Gen. McClellan was forced out of the current by a favoring billow, and struggled in through the breakers, to the relief of all, and to none more welcome than his anxious wife, who cried, "Why, George, you promised that you would not go beyond your depth." Panting from exhaustion, he replied, "Why, do you suppose I did so willingly?"

☞ I hope you have a good husband, madam," said a reverend gentleman to a lady arrayed in the depth of fashion. "Yes, sir," replied she, "and a good man, too, I think." "I don't know what to say about his goodness," added the minister, "for my Bible teaches me that a good man should clothe his wife, but he lets you go half naked."

☞ The "Stonewall Jackson" monument in England, is to be of marble, not granite, of heroic size, to cost $7500, most of which is already subscribed. It is not intended that the subscriptions to the statue should imply any opinion on the merits of the American struggle. The committee say "they will be taken solely and simply as a recognition of the rare personal merit of Gen. Jackson."

☞ The Columbus (Ga.) Sun calls for the destruction of all the dogs in the Confederacy, estimated at a million, in order to save their

Selected.

THE RESCUE.

BY ROBERT OWEN.

Mr. Robert Bruce, originally descended from some branch of the Scottish family of that name, was born, in humble circumstances, about the close of the last century, at Torbay, in the south of England, and there bred up to a sea-faring life.

When about thirty years of age, to wit, in the year 1828, he was first mate of a barque trading between Liverpool and St. John's, New Brunswick.

On one of her voyages, bound westward, being some five or six weeks out, and having neared the eastern portion of the banks of Newfoundland, the captain and mate had been on deck at noon, taking an observation of the sun; after which they had both descended to calculate the day's work.

The cabin (a small one) was immediately at the stern of the vessel, and the short stairway descending to it ran athwart ships. Immediately opposite to this stairway, just beyond a small square landing, was the mate's state-room; and from that landing there were two doors close to each other, the one opening aft into the state room. The desk in the state-room was in the forward part of it, close to the door; so that one sitting at it, and looking over his shoulder, could look into the cabin.

The mate, absorbed in his calculations, which did not result as he had expected, varying considerably from the dead reckoning, had not noticed the captain's motions. When he had completed his calculations, he called out, without looking around, "I made latitude and longitude so and so; can that be right? how is yours?"

Receiving no reply, he repeated his question, glancing over his shoulder, and perceiving, as he thought, the captain busy writing on his slate. Still no answer. Thereupon he rose, and, as he fronted the cabin door, the figure he had mistaken for the captain raised its head and disclosed to the astonished mate the features of an entire stranger.

Bruce was no coward; but, as he met that fixed gaze looking directly at him in grave silence, and became assured that it was no one whom he had ever seen before, it was too much for him; and, instead of stopping to question the seeming intruder, he rushed upon deck in such evident alarm, that it instantly attracted the captain's attention.

"Why, Mr. Bruce," said the latter, "what in the world is the matter with you?"

"The matter, sir! who is that at your desk?"

"No one that I know of."

"But there is, sir, a stranger there."

"A stranger! why, man, you must be dreaming. You must have seen the steward there, or the second mate. Who else would venture down without orders?"

"But, sir, he was sitting in your arm-chair fronting the door, writing on your slate. Then he looked up full in my face; and if I ever saw a man plainly and distinctly in this world, I saw him."

"Him! whom?"

"God knows, sir, I don't. I saw a man, and a man I never saw in my life before."

"You must be going crazy, Mr. Bruce. A stranger, and we nearly six weeks out!"

"I don't know, sir, but there I saw him."

"Go down and see who he is."

Bruce hesitated. "I never was a believer in ghosts," he said, "but if the truth must be told, sir, I'd rather not face it alone."

"Come, come, man, go down at once, and don't make a fool of yourself before the crew."

"I hope you have always found me to do what's reasonable," Bruce replied, changing color; "but if it's all the same to you, sir, I'd rather we should both go down together."

The captain descended the stairs, and the mate followed him. Nobody in the cabin. They examined the state-rooms. Not a soul to be found!

"Well, Mr. Bruce," said the captain, "did not I tell you you had been dreaming?"

"It's all very well for you to say so, sir; but if I didn't see the man writing on your slate, may I never see my home and family again."

"Ah, writing on the slate! Then it should be there still." And the captain took it up.

"Here's something, sure enough! Is that your writing, Mr. Bruce?"

The mate took the slate, and there in plain, legible characters, stood the words, "Steer to the nor'west."

"Have you been trifling with me, sir?" added the captain, in a stern manner.

"On my word as a man and a sailor, sir," replied Bruce, "I know no more of the matter than you do. I have told you the exact truth."

The captain sat down at his desk, the mate before him, in deep thought. At last, turning the slate over and pushing it toward Bruce, he said, "Write down, 'Steer to the nor'west.'"

The mate complied, and the captain, after narrowly comparing the two handwritings, said, "Mr. Bruce, go and tell the second mate to come down here."

He came, at the request of the captain, and also wrote the same words. So did the steward. So, in succession, did every man of the crew who could write at all. But not one of the various hands resembled, in any degree, the mysterious writing.

When the crew retired, the captain sat in deep thought. "Could any one have been stowed away?" at last he said.—"The ship must be searched, and if I don't find the fellow, he must be a good hand at hide-and-seek. Order up all hands."

Every nook and corner of the vessel, from stern to stern, was thoroughly searched, and that with all the eagerness of excited curiosity—for a report had gone out that a stranger had shown himself on board; but not a living soul beyond the crew and the officers was found.

Returning to the cabin after their fruitless search—"Mr. Bruce," said the captain, "what do you make of all this?"

"Can't tell, sir. I saw the man write; you see the writing. There must be something in it."

"Well, it would seem so. We have the wind free, and I have a great mind to keep her away and see what will come of it."

"I surely would, sir, if I were in your place. It's only a few hours lost, at the worst."

"Well, we'll see. Go on deck and give the course nor'west. And Mr. Bruce," he added, as the mate rose to go, "have a lookout aloft, and let it be a hand you can depend on."

His orders were obeyed. About three o'clock, the lookout reported an iceberg nearly ahead, and shortly after, what he thought was a vessel of some kind close to it. As they approached, the captain's glass disclosed the fact that it was a dismantled ship, apparently frozen to the ice, and with a good many human beings on board. Shortly after they hove to, and sent out the boats to the relief of the sufferers.

It proved to be a vessel from Quebec, bound to Liverpool, with passengers on board. She had got entangled in the ice, and finally frozen fast, and had passed several weeks in a most critical condition. She was stove, her decks swept—in fact, a mere wreck; all her provisions, and almost all her water gone. Her crew and passengers had lost all hopes of being saved, and their gratitude for the unexpected rescue was proportionally great.

As one of the men who had been brought away in the third boat that had reached the wreck was ascending the ship's side, the mate, catching a glimpse at his face, started back in consternation. It was the very face he had seen three or four hours before, looking up at him from the captain's desk.

At first he tried to persuade himself it might be a fancy; but the more he examined the man, the more sure he became that he was right. Not only the face, but the person and the dress exactly corresponded.

As soon as the exhausted crew and famished passengers were cared for, and the barque on her course again, the mate called the captain aside. "It seems that was not a ghost I saw, sir; the man's alive."

"What do you mean? Who's alive?"

"Why, sir, one of the passengers we have just saved is the man I saw writing on your slate at noon. I would swear to it in a court of justice."

"Upon my word, Mr. Bruce," replied the captain, "this gets more and more singular. Let us go and see this man."

They found him in conversation with the captain of the rescued ship. They both came forward and expressed, in the warmest terms, their gratitude for deliverance from a horrible fate—slow coming death by exposure and starvation.

The captain replied that he had but done what he was certain they would have done for him under the same circumstances, and asked them both to step down into the cabin. Then turning to the passenger, he said—"I hope, sir, I am not asking too much, but I would be much obliged to you if you would write a few words on this slate." And he handed him the slate with that side upon which the mysterious writing was not.

"I will do anything you ask," replied the passenger; "but what shall I write?"

"A few words are all I want. Suppose you write, 'Steer to the nor'west.'"

The passenger, evidently puzzled to make out the motive for such a request, complied, however, with a smile. The captain took up the slate and examined it closely; then stepping aside so as to conceal the slate from the passenger, he turned it over and gave it to him again, with the other side up.

"You say that is your handwriting?" said he.

"I need not say so," rejoined the other, looking at it, "for you saw me write it."

"And this?" said the captain, turning the slate over.

The man looked first at one writing, then at the other, quite confounded. At last, "What is the meaning of this?" he said. "I only wrote one of them, who wrote the other?"

"That's more than I can tell you, sir. My mate here says you wrote it, sitting at this desk at noon to-day."

The captain of the wreck and passengers looked at each other, exchanging glances of intelligence and surprise; and the former asked the latter—

"Did you dream that you wrote on this slate?"

"No, sir—not that I remember."

"You speak of dreaming, said the captain of the barque; what was this gentleman about at noon to-day?"

"Captain," rejoined the other, "the whole thing is most mysterious and extraordinary, and I had intended to speak to you about it as soon as we got a little quiet. This gentleman" (pointing to the passenger,) "being much exhausted, fell into a heavy sleep, or what seemed such, sometime before noon; after an hour or more, he awoke and sad to me—'Captain, we shall be relieved this very day.' When I asked him what reason he had for saying so, he replied that he was on board a barque, and that she was coming to our rescue. He described her appearance and rig; and, to our utter astonishment, when the vessel hove in sight, she corresponded exactly with his description of her. We had not put much faith in what he said, yet still we hoped there might be something in it, for drowning men, you know, will catch at straws. As it has turned out, I cannot doubt that it was all arranged in some incomprehensible way by an overruling Providence, so that we might be saved. To Him be all thanks for His goodness to us."

"There is not a doubt," rejoined the other captain, "that the writing on the slate, let it come there as it may, saved all your lives. I was steering at the time considerably south of west, and I at once altered my course to northwest, and had a lookout aloft to see what could come of it. But you say," he added, turning to the passenger, "that you did not dream of writing on a slate?"

"No, sir; I have no recollection whatever of doing so. I got the impression that the barque I saw in my dream was coming to rescue us; but how that impression came I cannot tell. There is another very strange thing about it," he added; "everything here on board seems to me quite familiar; yet I am very sure I never was in your vessel before. It is all a puzzle to me. What did your mate see?"

Thereupon Mr. Bruce stated to them all the circumstances above detailed. The conclusion they finally arrived at was, that it was a special interposition of Providence to save them from what seemed a hopeless fate.

The above narrative was communicated to me by Captain. J. S. Clarke, of the schooner Julia Hallock,* who had it directly from Mr. Bruce himself. They sailed together for seventeen months, in the years 1836 and '37; so that Captain Clarke had the story from the mate about eight years after the occurrence. He has since lost sight of him, and does not know whether he is yet alive. All that he has heard of him, since they were shipmates, is, that he continued to trade to New Brunswick, that he became master of the brig Comet, and that she was lost.

I asked Capt. Clarke if he knew Bruce well, and what sort of man he was.

"As truthful and straightforward a man as ever I met in my life," he rereplied. "We were as intimate as brothers; and two can't be together, shut up for seventeen months in one ship, without getting to know whether they can trust one another's word or not. He always spoke of the circumstance in terms of reverence, as of an incident that seemed to bring him nearer to God and another world. I'd stake my life upon it that he told me no lie."

*In July, 1858, The Julia Hallock was then lying at the foot of Rutger's Square, New York. She trades between New York and St. Jago, in the island of Cuba. The captain allowed me to use his name, and to refer to him as evidence of the truth of what is here set down.

THE HORSE RAILROAD.

The Horse Railroad seems now to be in good running order, as far as completed, and there is but little trouble occasioned by running off the track, which now extends through Newbury, Brown, Winter, Bridge and Webb streets, to the stables and car and other houses there erected. These stables are near the Northern end of the street; and they, with the other appurtenances, are arranged with great perfection of convenience, and everything there seems to be well managed, reflecting credit upon not only the projectors, but those who superintend both road and stables. The stables are made up of two wings, which meet at an obtuse angle. The wings contain, on either side, stalls for the accommodation of about fifty horses—a few less, perhaps. Two large ventilators afford a perfect change of air. In the chamber are stored the hay and grain, with a hay-cutter for chopping up the feed, and a box on wheels to trundle it along to the hoppers which conduct it to the cribs and troughs of the different stalls. There are two good sleeping apartments here also, for the hostlers.

Adjoining these stables are two other wings, which, starting from the wings of the stable, meet more nearly at right angles than do those of the latter. In this building the cars are sheltered—there being a neat and light cast iron turn-table near the junction of wings, to direct the cars to the required tracks, of which there are four. There is an ample space of clear ground in the centre created by the four wings of the stable and car houses, which forms the yard into which horses are turned when they come in in a state of perspiration. Here they can get cooled off in the open air while sheltered from the winds, which might produce cold. In this yard, there is a trough supplied with aqueduct water, which also runs into the stable and into the chamber, for mixing the feed. The car house is similarly supplied, also, thus affording every convenience for washing the cars.

In the rear of the stables is another building, one end of which is devoted to a hospital for sick horses—there being stalls for eight. In the opposite end is an apartment to be used for a repair shop to which the cars will be trundled on a track yet to be laid. A harness room will be over this. In the centre, between the hospital and repair shop, is a blacksmith's shop, where horses are shod and other iron work executed.

This entire arrangement is very neat, compact, convenient and perfect; and an inspection will be found interesting to any one. Mr. Hale, the Superintendent of the road, and Mr. Eveleth, who has charge of the stables, will, if for the time unemployed in necessary work, no doubt take pleasure in showing visitors about.

Heretofore, about fifty passages have been made daily. Yesterday a car was put on to connect with the Eastern Railroad trains, thus increasing the trips to 59, and making the number of miles daily travelled, about 300. The horses, which are fine animals, make an average of 3 1-2 or 4 trips each per day. The road now carries from 1400 to 1800 passengers daily; and some days more—there having been a steady increase since opening. Those who are in a position to judge, express great confidence that the road will not merely promote the convenience of the public, but yield a satisfactory return to the stockholders.—Gazette of 28th ult.

☞ If you are disposed to be pettish or insolent, it is better to exercise your ill-humor on your dog, your cat or your servant, than your friend.

Wm. C. Macready and J. P. Kemble in the character of Marcus Brutus.

EXTRACT FROM A LECTURE BY CHARLES R. PEMBERTON.

My memory can trace distinctly the first deep impressions which were made on my senses by a perusal of this drama, (Julius Cæsar:) the noble, gracious and beautiful qualities of head and heart, which are so conspicuous in Brutus, were struck indellibly on my mind—they grew with my growth and strengthened with my strength; and how much did I wish to gaze on a living representation of the man! There came one before me of whom all spoke as the realization—a second life—of Brutus; all voices were loud in his praise; the sympathies of all glowed in admiration of this noble impersonation of the noblest of Shakspeare's characters. I gazed with fixed delight. I listened with concentrated eagerness of eye and heart. The stately beauty of his form, the glowing grace of his gestures, and the majesty of his repose, touched me with a feeling of reverence. The rich and piercing light of his intellectual eye, was haloed round with an intense sorrow;—he looked an eagle speculating in deep grief. The tones of his voice came upon the ear as floats the continuous breeze through the multitudinous foliage of the forest:—it swept through the auricular channels, into brain and heart, with a mighty, irresistible influence. I was at once astonished, delighted and subdued—I admired equally with the most admiring—I applauded with the most enthusiastic. But it was not the Brutus which my imagination had created out of Shakspeare's glorious illuminations. I could not recognize in that the living soul and throbbing heart; yet its power over me was sufficiently strong to obscure for a while the massive substantiality, and distinctness of outline of my former creation; but time and thought brought it back again, in mightier strength, and deeper beauty than ever; and I longed "till hope had hopeless grown"—though I was not one of those who thought that with John Kemble had died the last representative of "the last of all the Romans." I saw Macready—my desire was accomplished. If the stately form, and the cautious, though beautiful, artistical elegance of Kemble, manifested in the gorgeous folds and abundant drapery of his toga, and entire personal costume, struck one with admiration, how much more intense was the effect of Macready's invisible art and profounder acquirements—the masterly simplicity of thorough gracefulness—the strict though beautiful preservation of all that combines to make a picture of pure, noble, spontaneous, and exalted manly beauty! So he stood as the light lifting of the folds across his bosom told of the painful passages that were heaving in his heart beneath them. I will not attempt to go into detail of this masterly development: to particularize the beauties, the graces and the grandeur of the massive strokes, the delicate touches, the sublimity of tenderness, the heart-crushing gentleness, the soul-elating strength and swelling magnanimity, would excite my nerves to a sympathy far too intense for my feeble body to endure, without a reaction of physical suffering. All was the exactness of masterly talent, catching, swaying and directing the impulses of genius—the expansive blaze and subtle sparks—the vast soaring of imagination were thrown forth or kept back at the volition of reason; helmed on their undeviating course by the steady hand of perfect judgment. I soberly regard that impersonation of Brutus as the noblest intellectual triumph that was ever exhibited on the English Stage;—I doubt whether it has been surpassed by anything of dramatic power the world ever saw. It was a lovely thing—it was beautiful, gracious, pure, and say, holy—holy is the word; for every sympathy which it awakened was generous, or kind, or gentle, or soul-elevating. From first to last the voice was a varying and noble music—but who that heard the words:

"You are my true and honorable wife,
As dear to me, as are the ruddy drops
That visit my sad heart," can forget, during life, the tenderness of the rich melody in which they passed through Macready's lips into the heart of every hearer? Who that remembered the stately and gorgeous demeanor of Kemble was not penetrated to the very soul by the truer, nobler, the more exalted and melting kindness of Macready towards the boy Lucius? In one, we saw and admired the lofty superior, graciously condescending to a consideration of the convenience or comfort of his humble servant;—in the other a gentle and generous nature impelling the holy and beautiful sympathies. How strong was the contrast! how heart grasping was the thrill of approving delight with which Brutus was then gazed upon! But I must quit this theme, dear as it is in every intellectual and moral sense of my being.

DEATH OF BLAKE, THE PAINTER.

The story of Blake's death is one of the most touching scenes in the history of art. He had reached his seventy-first year, and the strength of nature was fast yielding. Yet he was cheerful and contented to the last.

"I glory," he said, "in dying, and have no grief but in leaving you, Katharine. We have lived happy, and have lived long. We have been ever together but we shall be divided soon! Why should I fear death? nor do I fear it. I have endeavored to live as Christ commands, and have sought to worship God truly, in my own house, when I was not seen of men."

He grew weaker and weaker. He could no longer sit upright and was laid in his bed, with no one to watch over him, save his wife, who, feeble and old herself, required help in such a touching duty. The "Ancient Days," was such a favorite with Blake that three days before his death, he sat bolstered up in his bed, and touched it with his choicest colors and in his happiest style. He touched and retouched it, held it at arm's length, and then threw it from him, exclaiming—

"There, that will do, I cannot mend it!"

He saw his wife in tears—she felt that was to be the last of his works—

"Stay, Kate!" cried Blake. "Keep just as you are: I will draw your portrait, for you have ever been an angel to me."

She obeyed, and the dying artist made a fine likeness. The very joyfulness with which this singular man welcomed the coming of death, made his dying moments exceedingly mournful. He lay chanting songs, and the verses and the music were both the offspring of the moment. He lamented that he could no longer commit those inspirations, as he called them, to paper.

"Kate," he said, "I am a changing man. I always arose and wrote down my thoughts, whether it rained, snowed or shone, and you arose too, and sat beside me: this can be no longer."

He died without any visible pain. His wife, who sat watching him, did not perceive when he ceased breathing.

☞ An English paper, in some remarks on agriculture, makes this observation:—"However, the sober truth remains, that we have now farms on which steam does all the fixed machine work—that such farms are increasing in number—and that machinery of every kind is so rapidly extending that the farm is fast assimilating to the manufactory; and that the farmer and his laborers bid fair, in another generation, to equal in intelligence their brethren in the town."

☞ Mr. Hillard in his "Six Months in Italy," observes that an English man-of-war seems to be always within a day's sail of every where. "Let political agitation break out in any port of the globe, if there be even a roll of English broad cloth or a pound of English tea to be endangered thereby, within forty-eight hours an English steamer frigate is pretty sure to drop anchor in the harbor, with an air which seems to say, 'There I am; does anybody want anything of me,'"

FORCE OF HABIT.—It has been told of the late Mr. Peter Moore, and was actually true of Secretary Scraggs, that he began life as a footman, that in the days of his opulence, he once handed some ladies into the carriage, and then, from the mere force of habit got up behind.

☞ "John," said a stingy old boss to his hired man, as he was taking dinner, "do you know how many pancakes you've eaten?" "No." "Well, you've eaten fourteen." "Well," said John, "you count and I'll eat."

☞ Why is a New York milkman like Pharaoh's daughter? Because he takes a little prophet (profit) out of the water.

SLIGHT OF HAND.—Refusing an offer of marriage.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1863.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

A more wicked, brutal, heartless, abominable deed, in all this war, so abounding in shocking deeds, than the slaughter and waste committed by Quantrell and his band at Lawrence, Kansas, has not been recorded. Everlasting infamy is to that name, Quantrell! everlastingly black must be the cause, the work of whose agents is so savage, blood-thirsty, hellish! In this onslaught upon an unarmed, unwarned town 183 were made the victims of butchery; 85 thereby made widows, and 245 made orphans, while the destruction of property was at least $2,000,000. It is but poor consolation that the murderous band was determinedly pursued by the brave Lane, dispersed, and made to severely suffer.

The news from camp in the last sennight is chiefly the news from camp meetings. The conquests and captures in these bayonetless, but not brassless or noiseless camps are variously reported. The distinguishing triumph was related by one of the brethren at Asbury Grove substantially as follows: "Brethren, the Lord is certainly pouring out his spirit on his sinful creatures. He is doing it here at Asbury Grove, but He is pouring out his spirit more bountifully down there at Martha's Vineyard. The other day there, a great, very great sinner was converted. The Lord's artillery smote him with its solid shot, and he fell prostrate and conquered. And brethren, the most incredible part of it all is that that man was a——lawyer!" "Glory to God!" "Glory to God!" shouted all the congregation.

The only considerable ripple on the Potomac we have to note is the presentation of a superb sword to Gen. Meade. The "Pennsylvania Reserves" made the present. This kind of sword business seems a little more sensible than the McClellan kind. The idea of presenting a superb sword to one whose warfare has come to be chiefly a combat with the breakers on Long Island beach is rather superbly ridiculous.—Presenting a sword to a General at the head of his army, after a great victory is a timely thing and proper. There are those who still believe McClellan a great general! (Ironical laughter.)

Gen. Pemberton, the unsuccessful, and therefore unheroic defender of Vicksburg, is reported to have been killed by a Texan soldier (officer,) who charged him with selling Vicksburg to Gen. Grant. This is what an acquaintance of ours used to call, "heaping contumely on the bald head of misfortune." Pemberton undertook to kill the Texan, and we wish he had succeeded.

If report is true the U. S. Supreme Court has unanimously decided, that the States in rebellion are no longer States as Congress may determine. "Law," saith Blackstone, "is the perfection of reason," and it would seem that the Court this time has hit the law. If report as above is true, we expect the copperhead school will begin to read of the creation of the world as laid down in Genesis. They will look upon the recent paragraph of Agassiz and the Court's decision, as one and the same thing. Nevertheless, geology don't lie, and the blaze of rebellion is but illumining the understanding of courts and judges. They set on fire the rubbish of slavery;—behold what a fire they kindled for the nation to read in and be wise!

Volunteering in New Jersey is so brisk as to be likely to supersede drafting. 5000 have lately volunteered. Good for Jersey.

J. Davis, as a dernier resort proposes to raise an army of 500,000 negroes, who at the end of their service military are to have their freedom and 40 acres of land each. Think of this man, who starts a government upon the express principles that slavery is the normal, best and only proper condition of the blacks, now proposing to plunge 500,000 human beings into the dark abyss of Freedom! Thus does the increasing desperation of rebel fortunes become more and more a confession of the mighty falsehood wherewith rebels set out.

Garibaldi addresses a letter to "Abraham Lincoln, Emancipator of the Slaves." This is a foreshadowing of the great chaptor of history that is to be.

Four rebel war vessels have successfully run the blockade in the last six weeks. Rebel leaders will not be likely to escape the blocks that are being prepared for them.

The accounts of desertions from the rebel army thicken and there can be little doubt that they are true. To atone for this state of things, J. Davis is letting loose convicts from the prisons and conscripting them.

Gen. Floyd, the rebel thief extraordinary, has gone to his last account and there we leave him.

The guerilla Mosby and a detachment of the 2d Mass. Cavalry have had a brush near Fairfax. Our men fought manfully. There were losses on both sides. Mosby was wounded and is now reported dead. Col. Lowell pursued the guerillas, who, however, succeeded in escaping.

An expedition to Texas is said to be in progress, which will be under the command of Gen. Banks. The army of the Cumberland, under Gen. Rosecrans, is across the Tennessee river, pressing on towards the Gulf. A grand movement is to be made against Mobile, and forces are numerously concentrating southward with this object in view.

A tone of despondency, in view of the impending fall of Charleston, is the pervading sentiment of the South. Their six year President is condemned indiscriminately as an imbecile, a traitor, a despot and a coxcomb.—Beauregard, who was once a favorite to swear by, is ridiculed and spit at. John Mitchell of the Richmond Examiner, that Alabaman slave-plantation worshipper-raves like mad. There is a general cursing about Vicksburg, Port Hudson and the rest of their fallen greatnesses, and all things in the future, to rebel eyes, look dark, drear, and dreadful. No wonder, for the end draws near, and the hopes that were built on that "corner store" were vain, fleeting and false. Sumter is smashed and Charleston is crumbling. Butler, 'tis said, will hold the reins there when that city is ours. In this there will be poetical fitness and practical sense.

A great battle is expected in Arkansas, and the Davisites claim a victory at White Sulphur Springs, Va., but as these are dubious, we drop the pen, and wait a little longer.

☞ The estimates of value of the husbands killed during the recent riots in New York, vary greatly, ranging from ten thousand to as low as two thousand dollars.

COURIER TEARS AND COLORED TROOPS.

The Boston Courier has lately had a most dolorous article induced by some unexpected contributions to the fund for raising colored regiments. Generally that slavery-loving, liberty-spurning organ vents itself in such terms of rancor and spleen as to excite in us no sympathy whatever—no emotion but that of O tempora! O mores! Not THAT however, because we never for a moment feared its influence to the extent of the great Roman's ejaculation; so we take back the O's, and say, that generally the Boston Courier is a crab, ugly to behold, born to go backward, destined during its mortal days to be stern-pushing among the sea weed, the muscle shells and dirty rocks of the shore, despised of the shell fish because it is not of them, and a marvel to the forward-swimming fishes, because of its retro-locomotion. But even crabs—say epicures—have a sweetness; and so—mirabile dictu—hath the Courier. That morose and sour looking animal that inhabits the cellar of the old State House on State street, and scowls at passers-by, and parades its claws so scraggily—that animal, fellow-citizens, is also sweet. You had not wot of it, but it has a soft, tender spot, a lachrymal capacity—it can weep, and hath done, out of the tenderness of the love it beareth to "certain names published among those who have contributed to the fund for raising negro regiments."

There was a poet once, and he said:

"There is a love which, born
In early days, lives on through silent years,
Nor ever shines but in the hour of sorrow."

Long years ago there was a Whig party. It was a buxom, blooming, handsome lass, of seventeen summers, or thereabouts, the belle of all Boston, and indeed, of all Massachusetts. On festive days, such as election and the like, the damsel was the admired of all admirers, and carried off the palm always. No Miss Democrat could gain applause, or gain a look where Miss Whig was. She looked, she moved, "now Pallas, now the Queen of Love." This fair maiden, on account of the great wealth she possessed, and her great wealth-promising beauty, Mr. Courier—so it was thought—fell in love with, and was married to. For a while, with the wedded pair, all went charmingly—that is to say, all so went for all the public knew; for the gauze of high life thick veils its scenes, and many a discord reigns that little is dreamed, until some over-peering eye discovers the broil, or some over-acted scene "tears a passion to tatters." And thus was it with Mr. Courier and his bride. Many suspected, but none certainly knew, that their honeymoon was all the while anything but a silver moon, until through the vigilence of sundry good folk, it turned out that Mr. Courier, horrible to relate! in his lust of gain and for the purposes thereof, was endeavoring to force his amiable and beautiful wife into the walks of prostitution. Her virtuous soil recoiled from so sordid a presence, and she indignantly applied to the National Court, sitting at Philadelphia, June Term, 1848, for a divorce. Henry Wilson, Esq., was her counsel, and a divorce was decreed a vinculo, and the decree stipulated a restoration to her of all moneys and estates possessed by her before marriage. Mrs. Courier then took the name of Freesoil. However, she did not get back all her possessions, and the Court, sitting at Baltimore in 1852, issued a writ in the nature of a mandamus in favor of Miss Freesoil. But even this was not entirely effectual, so complicated with his own name had Courier managed to get the titles of his wife's property, and so astutely did he play the rascal. Another mandamus went from the Court, with better success, in 1856, in favor of Mrs. Republican, Miss Freesoil at this time having assumed, by a second marriage, that name. Another issued in 1860 with much better success, but still Courier retained in his hands much that came to him by his wife. All this while Courier, so far from manifesting any sentiment of justice or humanity, or indeed acknowledging such things as justice and humanity, was continually snarling and growling at the courts and judges, and fortifying himself in every possible pettifogging way to retain the residue of Mrs. Republican's effects, and confident he was of success. The Court became indignant, and on the first of January, 1863, issued a mandamus maximus entitled the Proclamation! This was irresistible even to the arts of sublimated pettifoggery. At least it in time became so, and Courier, seeing that the last of the jewels of the wife he had outraged were going out of his house, ceased cursing, and began to plain. It became to him the hour of sorrow, and he returned to the melting mood—to his love—whatever of that he was ever born unto—grew suddenly mellow, tender, lachrymose—no longer defiant, but entreatice, supplicative, don't dearitive. And this is his strain of dolor:

We see, with profound regret, certain names published among those who have contributed to the fund for raising negro regiments. Nine-tenths of the subscribers, indeed, have been well known as Abolitionists; and their contributions to such an object affect us, therefore, with no surprise; though we regard the object not only as in the highest degree impolitic and inexpedient, but as simply unchristian and inhuman. Doubtless there are those among the subscribers who give their money from mere imitation, and who would give it for almost any purpose recommended by the signatures of other men holding respectable stations in the community. Of course no man would sign such a paper, who is not willing to be counted an Abolitionist of the Garrison and Phillips school, and who will not be so reputed by others, whether he be willing or not. But though somewhat habituated to painful surprises, in the hard experience to which the conductor of a journal must be subject in such trying times—to the weaknesses, the vacillations, and the inconsistencies of only too many in whom confidence has been placed—we must confess that we could scarcely read some of the names appended to the paper without a blush.

If we could imagine that remonstrances would avail with persons who have any disposition to aid in such an object, we would invoke every warning voice inspired by the united breath of nature, humanity and religion, to urge our fellow-citizens to refrain from a course of action, against which, in our deliberate judgment, nature, humanity and religion, alike unhesitatingly revolt. The excesses, the barbarities, the dreadful crimes, to which this unprecedented experiment would lead, if successfully carried out by the arming of any considerable number of blacks, all of which must eventually recoil with tenfold vengeance upon that unhappy race of inferiors itself—one would think would be amply enough to fill with horror and disgust the thoughts of any really sensitive and reflecting mind. We look upon the whole scheme as degrading the character of the country with a stain to make future ages ashamed of us; and we predict that, before many months, some of those who have taken part in it, will wish that with a pen of fire they could obliterate their names forever, from a roll upon which few will look back without unmeasured regret.

STRIKE.—Nearly all of the leather finishers in Pinder & Brown's currying establishment struck for higher wages on Monday last. They demand $9.00 a week. The morocco finishers, who have also been on a strike, have compromised with their bosses, at prices which are satisfactory all round. We live in "striking" times.

☞ The Essex County Agricultural Show will be held at Andover the 29th and 30th of the present month, and it is to be hoped the citizens generally will take an interest in the Exhibition. More than one thousand dollars will be awarded in premiums and gratuities. It is easy to look up something that will pay the expense of attending the Show. And if it should not, the privilege of seeing what others exhibit, and of meeting old friends, and passing an agreeable day, will well reward the effort. Every citizen of the county should feel that he is, in a measure, responsible for the success of the Exhibition.

We remember when the Show was at Andover, years ago, and the ploughing was on the field directly in front of the Theological Institution—some ladies, dressed in white, were so earnest to see the work, that the ploughman said to them, "stand back, ladies, you frighten my oxen." It is to be wished the young men would press forward with equal zeal, and then the work would be well done.

☞ It is terribly uncertain who will be the nominee for Governor at the "democratic" State Convention to-morrow, because rogues are so apt to quarrel among themselves. A paragraph has been going the rounds to the effect that Dr. LORING, of Salem, is figuring for the questionable honor. The Doctor is not a vain figurer, nor, in our judgment, is he a rogue—except in his political creed. We would like to see him Governor of our excellent Agricultural Society, if he can get elected; and would as willingly see him Governor of the State as any other "democrat." Judge how willing we are!

☞ We, and others, tender our sincere thanks to Mr. W. E. NUTTER, for a free passage home from the Camp Meeting Grounds, last Friday afternoon, in his fast sailing vehicle, whereby we were enabled to keep out of the wet. We shall soon begin to think we are a sort of Jonah, for it is sure to rain on every "scrape" we attend. If the wet season continues much longer the whole community will become amphibious, and will be able to live under water as well as above.

☞ "How long shall we suffer from John Browns, Montgomerys, and Quantrells?"—Statesman.

The heart of the man who penned that question must be considerably blacker than the ink he wrote with. Think of classing John Brown, the heroic friend of LAWRENCE and of mankind, with Quantrell, the murderous destroyer of that city and the enemy of his species!

☞ Major Daniel J. Preston arrived home Saturday morning last, from New York, in very feeble state of health. The Major made the journey reclining upon a couch in the cars, but was happily relieved by the ministrations of Mrs. Preston, who had repaired to New York to accompany her husband home.

☞ The friends of George Miller, who was reported accidentally shot at Baltimore a few weeks ago, will be relieved to learn that it was another individual of the name of Miller, belonging to Co. K, of the same regiment.

CAMP MEETINGS.

There are various objections, which we think may be started, and sustained with considerable reason against Camp Meetings. Apart from the curiosity, which they excite, and the consequent attraction of a miscellaneous crowd—the simply-curious, the evil-disposed, the peace-breakers, the pocket-pickers, the scapegraces and scoffers, who, however, seldom "remain to pray;"—apart from the opportunities afforded to the non-participants of the meeting for the practices of sin—and they are too many and too obvious to need naming—it is questionable in our mind, if it be either wise or Christian to make too much of a specialty even of religion. In the latter remark let us not be misunderstood. We believe that religion should be a uniform abiding sentiment and conviction governing men's conduct and life—not Sundays more than other days, and not one week more than another. By specialty of religion therefore, we mean the undivided and unintermitting application of the mental and moral faculties, for a number of continuous days, to religion considered as the relation of man to his Maker, accompanied by that frequent and protracted exercise of worship incident to camp meetings. Extremes are deleterious;—in the wake of intensity follows reaction. The camp meeting is a religious extreme. It is the pursuit of worship in the manner of storm, passion, violence. No sentiment is so powerful as the religious. Under the excitement of none other have so many minds been wrecked. From the top billow of none other have so many minds that ascended in hope been hurled to the grief of infidelity and the depths of despair. More than that rational uniform, subdued sentiment, which is the healthy, natural outgrowth of faith in God, as the Ruler and the Judge of the quick and the dead, we believe should not be indulged in on occasions of public worship. But as this sentiment is so susceptible of glow and intensity, the flame of devotion should not blaze too intently nor too long. The camp meeting is a continuous, overpowering fire—a perilous extreme too apt to be succeeded by the desolation of reaction—and should, therefore, we cannot but think, be dispensed with for reasons indeed of public policy, but above all for reasons which relate to the well-being of immortal souls!

We confess, however, to the many things pleasant and good which pertain to the camp meeting. The union of churches by which is had a wholesome interchange of thought and comparison of experience—the union of families by which the social quality receives (what it needs) culture and development—the large congregation in the open air, beneath the broad sky, the Lord's holy temple and His only one, a Meeting House not made by hands—the voices in the wood—the singing—the rich old and rich new Methodist hymns (inspired they sometimes seem to be) caught up and swelled by united choirs—resounding, floating, echoing through the grove, through the forest, through the glen and over the hill top—this and so much is pleasant, good, almost divine, and reluctant more than once, we have quit the scene, the music and the inspiration which seemed near and around. That in all this there is virtue we believe; that by these things many are made better we little question, but that camp meetings, as a rule, are desirable, we entertain the gravest doubts.

ACCIDENTS.—During last week there were two cases of fractured limbs in this town; one of the leg, just below the knee, the other of the thigh. The former case was that of Mr. Daniel Hussey, a visitor from New Hampshire in the family of his brother-in-law, Mr. David Osborne, Central street. Mr. Hussey had just started for Boston early Monday morning, the 24th ult., when he received a kick from his horse, fracturing the large bone of the leg. He is a hale old gentleman of 73 years, and is doing very well, bearing his affliction with great patience.

The latter case is that of a boy six years of age, son of Mr. Moses Dearborne, of Rockville. The family started Thursday morning for Camp Meeting, when by accident the boy was thrown from the chaise, under the wheel, which passed over the thigh, fracturing it about midway. He is doing well, and in a fair way to recover in due time.

We are informed that Dr. D. C. Perkins attended both of these cases.

PEABODY HIGH SCHOOL.—The vacancy of Principal in this school has been filled by the appointment of Mr. ISAAC N. CARLETON, late of Phillips Academy, Andover. Mr. Carleton comes to his new position highly recommended for his attainments, his capacity and faithfulness as a thorough teacher, and we bespeak for him all those kind amenities which give encouragement to the labors of one holding a position so responsible.

FIRE.—The alarm of fire last Sunday morning was occasioned by the burning of an old, dilapidated, unoccupied house on the Lynnfield road, in South Danvers, belonging to Mr. Samuel Brown.

PLEASANT RE-UNION.

On Monday evening last, a parting Dinner was given at Simonds's Hotel by THOMAS HARDY, Esq., to his old associates and friends of the "Jackson Club," more generally known as the Jackson News Room. This association was formed by young men of this place nearly thirty years ago, yet on this occasion eighteen of the twenty-one members met around the social board. It is rather a note-worthy circumstance that in that long period only one has died. One resides in California and one living in town was not present. Of those at the table one came from Middleton, one from Somerville and one from West Cambridge. All the rest, except the generous host himself, were residents of South Danvers.

We regret that circumstances prevent our giving such an account of the "feast of reason and flow of soul" as we would like, and we can only say that the dinner itself was superb, even surpassing all Mr. Simonds's former efforts in the culinary art. Mr. HARDY presided with dignity and addressed pleasant words of good cheer to the company before him, and remarks were also made by Messrs. S. Blaney, Isaac B. Elliot, C. W. Osborn, John Osborn of West Cambridge, John R. Poor of Somerville, Chas. E. Brown, Miles O. Stanley and others. The speech of W. H. Little, Esq., was particularly appropriate and elicited much applause, as did also the original song of 39 verses.

As might naturally be expected, the burden of the several speeches was the early history and recollections of the Club, the career and generous hospitality of the host, and their good wishes for his continued prosperity. After passing the evening in pleasant social enjoyment, the company separated at a reasonable hour. The occasion will always be one of delightful recollections. Mr. HARDY left town yesterday morning for his destination at the far west, with the parting benedictions of our whole community.

GIFTS TO THE PEABODY INSTITUTE.

It is already known to many of our citizens that THOMAS HARDY, Esq., whose recent return from California has excited so much interest, has bestowed some valuable gifts for the cabinet of the Institute, all of them being peculiar productions of the Golden State. These gifts have been duly acknowledged, and we are enabled, by the kindness of a member of the Committee, to publish the letter conveying their acknowledgments. All our people will join in the closing good wishes for his "continued good health and prosperity" as a fitting reward for his career of honor and generosity:—

SOUTH DANVERS, August 21, 1863.

THOMAS HARDY, Esq.:

Dear Sir,—I have the honor and pleasure, under the direction of the Lyceum and Library Committee of the Peabody Institute, to acknowledge your highly acceptable and generous gifts to that institution, consisting of two specimens of elk horns, which are a rare article in this vicinity, symmetrical and beautiful in appearance; also a specimen of gold and silver quartz, combined; also a specimen of copper ore; and a very handsome and valuable specimen of gold as it came from the mines, and which might be taken as a work of art. Be assured that these interesting and valuable articles will be duly appreciated by your fellow townsmen.

It is pleasant to be remembered by native citizens of the town in their wanderings in distant lands; it is evidence that the associations of youth and early manhood are not forgotten; and as these gifts are looked upon by old and young you will be gratefully remembered as the generous donor. In the next annual report of the Trustees they will be noticed in such manner as will ensure a record of the transactions for all coming time.

As you are about to depart for your distant home, I take the liberty, not only on my own account, but in behalf of the whole community, to wish you continued health and prosperity.

With great respect, I am most truly yours,

R. S. DANIELS,

President of the Lyceum and Library Com. of the Peabody Institute.

MAOLIS HOUSE AND GARDENS, NAHANT.—In visiting this beautiful summer resort one day last week, in company with a large party of ladies and gentlemen from this vicinity, we were gratified to learn from its courteous landlord, Mr. H. L. FULLER, that the new house and gardens have been well appreciated by our pleasure-seeking public this season. We said we were gratified, yet we were not surprised, for we cannot see how any one could be otherwise than pleased, when noticing how much has been done by that great public benefactor, FREDERICK TUDOR—who is to Nahant what GEORGE PEABODY is to South Danvers—in fitting up such an attractive place, at such a great outlay of money, for the benefit of the present and coming generations. "Maolis" is destined to grow more and more in favor with the public, who will seek its cool and shady bowers, there to study and admire its rich paintings and marble statuary, and drink of its refreshing waters. All hail, Maolis!

DANCING.—Those interested in dancing, will notice Mr. Upton's advertisement. As the horse cars go directly to the hall door, it will be very convenient for the young people who desire to receive instruction in this accomplishment. The first lesson is on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 19th, at two o'clock.

SCHOOLMASTERS ABROAD.

The School Committee of this town, having advertised for a teacher, have had their hands full of applications. At least sixty applicants appeared in the space of about a week, personally or by letter. More than sixty letters came into the hands of the Chairman, many of them filled with bulky testimonials in favor of the candidates. Some of the writers only gave the names of gentlemen to whom the committee were requested to apply for information as to their qualifications. These were necessarily passed by as the time was too limited to enable the committee to seek such certificates. The candidates were mostly from our own State, although Maine furnished fifteen, New Hampshire six, and Vermont two. Fifteen were graduates of Harvard, nine of Bowdoin, eight of Dartmouth, while Williams and Brown furnished three each, Amherst and Waterville two each, and there were one each from Vermont University, Wesleyan University, Tufts College and a good loyalist from South Carolina College. Nine either were not graduates, or the fact did not appear in their communications.—One of the candidates was a lady, whose letter showed a cultivated mind and a proper estimate of the teacher's work. Two other letters were received from different ladies, well composed and in neat penmanship, asking the place in behalf of their absent brothers. One good looking candidate, not being able to visit the committee in person, sent his photograph, which proved a good letter of recommendation.

Several of the letters stated the age of the writers, and one of them informed the committee that he was "six feet high"—a piece of information not wholly inapplicable when we consider that this is about the average height of all the former teachers of the Peabody School. Some of the applicants appealed to the vanity, some to the sympathy and one to the cupidity of the committee, informing one of the members that if he got the place, the committee man would "lose nothing by it."

Some of the applicants, noticing the careful wording of the advertisement, that the salary offered was "not exceeding" one thousand dollars, stated right up and down that they would not accept a smaller sum. Several were receiving nearly or quite that amount in their present positions. One put his services at the cheap rate of seven hundred dollars, and others hinted that in regard to compensation they would not be very particular.

Some of the letters, written by college graduates, who must be supposed to be familiar with the Latin and Greek languages, showed a very imperfect knowledge of English. The orthography of one or two was not according to Webster or Worcester, but rather savored of Jack Downing. The hand-writing was generally very fair, with some excellent specimens, and others were stiff and crabbed. The epistolary style was also generally good, with instances of the pompous verbose, as well as the businesslike and the chaste. Among the candidates were a goodly number who would probably make excellent grammar school teachers, and several of so much promise that they will probably find future distinction as teachers of some of our best High Schools and academies.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Nearly all of the public schools in this town commenced last Monday. The following is a list of the teachers:

HIGH SCHOOL.

Mr. Isaac N. Carleton.

WALLIS DISTRICT.

Principal—Mr. John L. Davis.
Assistant—Miss Martha H. Gould.
First Intermediate—Miss Sarah H. Burt.
Second Intermediate—Miss E. L. Evans.
First Primary—Miss M. J. Peasley.
Second Primary—Miss Augusta F. Daniels.

CENTER DISTRICT.

Principal—Mr. J. Warren Upton.
Assistant—Miss Pamelia Needham.
Intermediate—Miss E. B. Davis.
Assistant—Miss Lucy A. Kimball.
First Primary—Miss S. H. Potter.
Second Primary—Miss C. C. Wiswell.

BOWDITCH DISTRICT.

Principal—Mr. W. E. Eaton.
Assistant—Miss Mary E. Lord.
Intermediate—Miss Rosa H. Towne.
Primary—Miss J. S. Tufts.

ROCKVILLE DISTRICT.

Principal—Mr. George H. Martin.
Primary—Miss H. E. Gove.
Boston Road Primary—Miss S. A. Barnes.

LOCUST DALE DISTRICT.

Mixed School—Miss Mehitable B. Felton.

FELTON DISTRICT.

Mixed School—Miss Carrie E. Welch.

WEST DISTRICT.

Mixed School—Miss Sarah S. Skinner.

SUNTAUG DISTRICT.

Mixed—Miss Mary H. Esty.

Number of teachers, 24. Males, 5; females, 19. Number of school-houses, 11.

The number of scholars between the ages of 5 and 15 (required by law) is 1310, divided in the different districts as follows.

	This year.	Last year.	Gain.	Loss.
Wallis,	421	394	27
Center,	390	384	6
Bowditch,	195	211		16
Rockville,	134	150		16
Locust Dale,	53	48	5
Felton,	46	50		4
West,	41	48		7
Suntaug,	30	34		4
	1310	1319

It will be seen by this table that we have 9 children less this year than last. The sum required to educate these children amounts to full $8000, not including the High School, which has a sum of $1200 appropriated for its use.

☞ There is a man in Danvers seventy-five years of age who moves about as briskly as most young men at twenty-five. Last year he was hoeing in his field, and turned up a coin, distinctly showing the figures 1788, the very year in which he was born.

HOME TOBACCO.—In visiting Mr. Tudor's Gardens in Nahant, lately, we noticed that he entered somewhat largely in the culture of tobacco, having a drying house, etc., to cure it in. We also saw several fine specimens of "King Cotton," in an advanced state.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers. See advertisement.

SOUTH DANVERS CONS

The following is a list of the exem

Daniel C. Brown, Wesley William
L. Peirce, John Motley, Bowman W
C. George, Benjamin T. Tilton, Will
George W. Ravell, and Byron Goo bility.

Nathaniel K. Hodgkins, father of child under twelve dependent.

Daniel H. Felton, Thomas L. Putn
R. Patterson, Hugh McKenney, S
Williams, John P. Winchester,
Poor, 2d, Henry K. Boynton, Jo
George F. Stone, Nathaniel Holde liam H. Price, 2d, disability.

William C. Munroe, elected by a pendent.

Warren A. Poor, Peter Twiss,
Bodge, James W. Ferren, Albert
John P. Rust, disability.

Benjamin H. Millett, only son dependent.

Andrew N. Jacobs and Charles M
disability.

Eri Littlefield, only son of a wid ent.

John F. Pickering, Comfort E.
Daniel B. Southwick, disability.

Henry Manning, father of mot
dren under twelve dependent.

George Jeffrey, disability.

Henry W. Moore, only son of pendent.

Thomas T. Southwick, Joel L.
Charles A. Smith, disability.

Joseph O. Barnes, only son of dependent.

Eben N. Moulton, Matthew H.
ham A. Fisk, Samuel H. Ormsbee
Towne and Webster Twiss, disabil

Charles E. Moore, father of mo
dren under twelve, dependent.

Asa Galeucia, only son liable
dependent.

John Shaw, 2d, George Twiss, pher Campbell, Michael Cassidy
Clark, Walter S. Lovejoy, James
Levi W. Farwell and Charles H. disability.

Charles A. Nevers, father of m
dren under twelve, dependent.

Albert W. Buxton, for disabili

The following are the names have furnished substitutes:

Caleb W. Osborne, Caleb T. So
jah Wilson jr, Joseph Jacobs jr, G
Warren E. Eaton, James O. Whit
E. Proctor, George Peirce, Henr
Silas A. Smith, George Horace M
H. Wilson, Henry Bushby jr, Ph
Amos S. Lane, Samuel H. Buxton
Jones, Alfred Ward, William F.

Names of those who have paid
tation fee:

Albert C. Perkins, Benjamin G
Edward W. Jacobs, Thomas E. C
A. Newhall, Thomas W. Osborn
Smith, Nathaniel Putnam, Lewi
Henry Lane, Silas A. Wentwort
Porter—12.

Sent to Long Island—Orlan
Charles Peirce—2.

Whole number drawn, 119. Nu ed, 63; furnished substitutes, 21 12; passed 2; total 98—21 more upon.

THE ONION MAGGOT.—It is Levi Bartlett of Warner, N. H., f bor Davis has guarded against t these insects by the application o the plants just about the time the are deposited by the onion fly, a in the form of a small white wor process goes on, and that such a of hot water can be made, we ha (See Country Gentleman, Vol. X
We hope some of the many grow in this vicinity will try the re year, and thereby secure their a come in the production of the oni streams from little fountains flow

☞ We think our School Co evinced good judgment in selec for principal of our High Scho teacher by profession. Our schoo intended to be used as charitabl to enable young men fresh from the visions of all our great men their eyes—to acquire the mea them to still further prosecute th order to seek that goal which so and so many fall short.

HARPER'S MONTHLY for Septe us with a kind of autumnal richn other articles worthy reading "T ship of Shakspeare" contains no fished from the ocean of poetry i
The illustrations of this number a caricature pages of Harper's we failures. Latterly they have pr proach to something like genuine
E. B. Waitt has at his store Ha lantic, the Continental, and oth

A GUN FOR A CONSCRIPT.—Yes
ing the express brought a gun fr directed to a conscript at Concor old rusty barrel banded upon a of alder with a stick for a ramm was crooked enough to shoot arou created considerable amusement one of "ye ancient kind."—N. E

☞ Along with a body-guar
Grant, says an exchange, rides hi stout lad of some twelve years.
all the marches, follows his fat with all the coolness of an old s in short a "chip of the old block

PRESENTATION.—Capt. J. C. man of the tracklayers on the Sal
Danvers Horse Railroad, has ha him a fine watch by those em him.—Register.

So. Danvers Horticultur

A Quarterly Meeting will be h change News Room on Monday o'clock.

M. O. STA
So. Danvers, Sept. 2d, 1863.

BARGAINS IN KID GLOVES.—Jo has determined to close his entir
Kid Gloves, and has marked th cents. They are the best goods
Boston and Salem for $1 25 and

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, a unusual variety of new styles
CAPS—191 Essex street.

BEST KID GLOVES in light colors for 75 cts., to close at Peabody's.

HEIMSTREET'S
INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,

But restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty,

promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 Broadway, N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary article ever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face and hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing beauty, imparting the marble purity of youth, and the distingue appearance so inviting in the city belle of fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness from the skin, leaving the complexion fresh, transparent and smooth. It contains no material injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses and Opera Singers. It is what every lady should have. Sold everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedent in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health-restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Casearilla Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover-buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Coriander, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, public speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties.

Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find in these Bitters what they have so long looked for.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
Mhey cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer.

The following startling and emphatic statements can be seen at our office.

Letter of Rev E. F. CRANE, Chaplain of the 107th New York Regiment:

NEAR ACQUIA CREEK, March 4th, 1863.

Owing to the great exposure and terrible decomposition after the battle of Antietam, I was utterly prostrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepared by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise they gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost allowed me to join my regiment. * * * * * I have since seen them used in many cases, and am free to say, for hospital or private purposes I know of nothing like them. REV. E. F. CRANE, Chaplain.

Letter from the Rev. N. E. GILDS, St. Clairsville, Pa.:

GENTLEMEN:—You were kind enough, on a former occasion to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for $3 50. My wife having derived so much benefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to continue them, and you will please send us six bottles more for the money inclosed.

I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. GILDS, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

SOLDIERS' HOME, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
CINCINNATI, OHIO, Jan. 15th, 1863.

* * * * * * *

I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvelous and gratifying.

Such a preparation as this is I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field. G. W. ANDREWS, Superintendent.

Dr. W. A. CHILDS, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

WILLARD'S HOTEL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22d, 1863.

GENTLEMEN:—We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.

Respectfully, SYKES, CHADWICK & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c., &c.

Be sure that every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate label, with our private stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BBOADWAY, N. X.

Sold by all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, and country dealers.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 25th, schs Moses Black, (Br) Harris Digby; St Lucar, Barnes, New York.
Ar 30th, sch Forest, Wilson, New York.

Deaths.

In Danvers, Aug 29, Ellen, daughter of Cornelius and Bridget Doyle, 6 mos.

In Salem, Aug 24, Mr Jeremiah Pervier, 47 yrs; Arthur E, son of Edward D and Mary G Ropes, 6 weeks; 25th, Thomas, son of Michael and Mary Bean, 6 mos; Mrs Susan S, widow of the late Mr Edward Tarr, 36 yrs; 27th, Mr Samuel Simonds, 70 yrs 6 mos; Mr Wm Crowley, 37 yrs; 28th, Mr James D M'Murphy, 45 yrs; 29th, Mrs Sarah, widow of the late Capt Wm Tozzer, 78 yrs; 31st, Mr Francis M Perkins, son of Isaac Perkins, 18 yrs 7 mos 19 dys, a member of Co A, 50th Mass Regt (Salem Light Infantry) and was left sick at Cleveland on the reeent passage of the company home.—He arrived at Salem on Wednesday last, and died on Monday morning.

In Beverly, Aug 26, Mrs Charity, widow of the late Capt Benj Glover, 93 yrs; 27th, Mrs Joanna G, wife of George W Lovett, 23 yrs 6 mos; Mr Benj H Cressey, 19 yrs 6 mos; 30th, Mr John L Carter.

In Middleton, Aug 7, after a short illness of six days, Deacon David Stiles, 78 yrs 9 mos.

In North Andover, 26th, Miss Elizabeth Perkins of Salem, 78 yrs.

In Rowley, Aug 13, Mr Nathaniel Prime, 42 yrs—son of Daniel N Prime.

Marriages.

In this town, Sept. 1, by Rev Mr Barber, Mr Henry H Proctor to Miss Ellen A Perkins, all of South Danvers.

In Danvers, Aug 27, by Rev J W Putnam, Mr Richard C Abbott to Miss Theresa Hill, both of Danvers.

In Beverly, Aug 25, by Rev Mr Nichols, Mr Wm P Noble of Salem, to Miss Serena A Ingersoll of B.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,

LETS.....PIANO FORTES,
at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES,
at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES,
on the easiest terms;

At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

Barn for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his barn, in rear of his residence on Holten st. Said barn is well adapted for any one wishing to keep a cow or horse. The loft will hold 1½ ton of hay.
Terms easy. S. Q. WHITE.
So. Danvers, Sept. 2, '63. tf

Dancing.

MR. E. UPTON'S Fall Term for instruction in Dancing will commence on Saturday afternoon, September 19th, at Creamer Hall, Salem, at two o'clock.
Salem, Sept. 2d, 1863. 3w

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, May 23, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in Danvers, in said county, on MONDAY, the fourteenth day of September next, at 3 o'clock, P. M.:

THE right in equity that Charles Page of Danvers aforesaid has to redeem the following deseribed mortgaged real estate situate in Danvers aforesaid, viz: a certain tract of land on Purchase Street, consisting of nursery land, tillage, pasture and salt marsh, containing ten acres and 110 poles, bounded as follows: beginning at the easterly corner thereof, by land of Richard Hood and Purchase Street, and running westerly on said street about 1460 feet to the middle of Crane River Bridge, thence winding by said river southeasterly to land of said Hood, thence by land of said Hood, as the wall now stands north 8° east about 190 feet, and more easterly 280 feet to the corner first mentioned. Also a lot of land containing about 60 poles, bounded southerly by Purchase street 143 feet, westerly on Ash street 136 feet, northerly and easterly by middle of Crane river.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, August 5, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in South Danvers, on THURSDAY, the tenth day of September next, at 9½ o'clock, A. M.:

THE right in equity that Henry Bowers has to redeem his mortgaged dwelling house (wherein he now lives,) with the land under and adjoining, situate in Goldthwait Place, South Danvers.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, August 5, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in South Danvers, on THURSDAY, the tenth day of September next, at 9½ o'clock, A. M.:

THE right in equity that John Murphy has to redeem his mortgaged tannery, land and buildings, situate by Silsbee street in South Danvers, formerly owned by B. C. & R. S. Osborn.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Assignees' Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the second meeting of the creditors of Eben'r S. Howard, of South Danvers, in the County of Essex, Insolvent Debtor, will be held at the Court of Insolvency in Salem, in said county, on the fourteenth day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, when creditors may be present and prove their claims.

Also at the same time and place will be held the third meeting of the creditors of the said Eben'r S. Howard, at which meeting the Assignee will present his account, and creditors may be present and object to the allowance thereof.

H. O. WILEY, Assignee.
Aug 3, 1863.

Mortgagee's Sale of Desirable Residences in South Danvers.

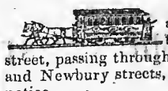
To be sold at Public Auction on the premises, on FRIDAY, the 4th day of September, in the year 1863, at 2½ o'clock in the afternoon, in pursuance of a power of sale contained in a mortgage deed made by David Daniels to the Salem Savings Bank, which deed bears date the 31st day of March, in the year 1860, and is recorded in the Registry of Deeds for Essex County, in Book 603, Leaf 231, for breach of the condition and to foreclose the same;

THE following described real estate lying in South Danvers, in said County, and bounded Northeasterly on Main street one hundred and five feet; Southeasterly on Washington street one hundred and sixty-four feet; Southwesterly on land now occupied by John W. Proctor one hundred and five feet; and Northwesterly on land of Wheeler one hundred and sixty-four feet.

Also a lot of land bounded Northwesterly on said Washington street, Northeasterly on land of Abel Proctor, junior, Southeasterly on land of Burbeck seventy-five feet, and Southwesterly on land of Obadiah Kimball one hundred and fifty feet.

Salem Savings Bank, by
WILLIAM WALLIS, Treasurer.
Salem, Aug. 26, 1863.

Salem & South Danvers Railroad.



THE Cars will hereafter run regularly from the New Depot on Webb street, passing through Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets, both ways, until further notice.

On Wednesday and Saturday Afternoons, when pleasant, the Car "Excursionist" will

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Sep. 1, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Thomas Burke	2	John Nolan
James Craig	2	Mrs H A Merrill
Mrs C A Fernald		Cornelius Roundy
Mrs C A Johnson		Mr Putnam, pump
Chas Lewis	2	maker
Mrs Susan A Moore		George Priee

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent each.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,
DENTAL SURGEON,
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless,

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.
LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

ITS publication marks an era in the history of Maps! It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc. made famous by the War, and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It is a County Map, and neatly col'd. Price in sheets, 60 cts; mounted $1 25. Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
aug 19 Publisher's Agents.

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WANTED!

$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.
South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE,
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7—3m CLARK & GIDDINGS.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

R. C. MANNING & CO,
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

THE PIANO FORTES

THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,
218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call.
Mch 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7 and 11 A M, and 1½ and 5 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.
Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.
Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

MILITARY BOOKS

AT G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S, September 2d.

Army Officer's Pocket Companion;
Benet's Military Law and Courts Martial;
Benet's Campaign of Waterloo;
Jominie's Art of War; Monroe's Co. Drill;
Digest of US Tactics, from the French of Steffen
Elements of Military Art of History;
Rifles and Rifle Practice, Wilcox;
The Ordance Manual, a most valuable Book;
Mahan on Field Fortifications;
Instruction in Outpost Duty;
Casey's Infantry and Rifle Tactics;
Cameron's Infantry Tactics; Scott's do do.
sept 2 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

THE NEW GOSPEL OF PEACE

ACCORDING to Lt. Benjamin. A burlesque

John P. Peabody.

NEW GOODS.

New Wrought Flouncings, from 25 to 75 cts;
New Hem Stitched Hdkfs—Linen, 25 cts;
New Wrought Edge Hdkfs—fine, 25 cts;
New Linen Cambric Hdkfs—fine, 15 cts;
New Cambric Edgings in pretty styles;
RECEIVED THIS WEEK,
AT PEABODY'S.

Best Light Kid Gloves, 75 Cents.
AT PEABODY'S.

HOSIERY
—AND—
GLOVES.
Cotton Hosiery for Ladies, Misses, and Children, in every variety, in open and plain,
At PEABODY'S.

Best Cord Nets, Double, 19 Cents.
AT PEABODY'S.

Black Kid Finished Silk Gloves, 50 Cents.
AT PEABODY'S.

LACE GOODS.
Lace Veils—Guipure Edgings—Silk Laces — Bobbinet Laces — Saxony— Smyrna—Thread and Cotton Laces, all widths and prices.
At PEABODY'S.

Best Embroidered Corsets only $1.75.
AT PEABODY'S.

SKIRTS.
GORE TRAIL and PANNER SKIRTS, in all sizes and prices, from 35 cts. to $3 00.
We warrant every Skirt we sell.
J. P. PEABODY.

Fancy Back Combs, New Styles;
AT PEABODY'S.

FOR THE TOILET.
Sterling's Ambrosia—Castorine—Bear's Oil—Stick Pomades—Honey, Bro'n Windsor, Castile, Barbers', Rose and Union Soaps, Puffs, Powders and Boxes.
At PEABODY'S.

Leather Travelling Bags, For Ladies.
AT PEABODY'S.

TRIMMINGS.
Buttons—Bindings—Braids—Cords—Quilled Ribbons—Velvet Buttons — Leather Buttons—Hooks and Eyes—Whale Bones—Embroidered Silks and Braids, etc.
J. P. PEABODY.

OUR PRICE LIST OF
FANCY GOODS.

Rose Soap—two cakes for	5c
Pumice Soap—the best per cake	5c
Honey Soap—large size per cake	5c
Brown Windsor per package	25c
White Castile Soap—nice, per cake	10c
Castile Soap—imported	8c
Almond Soap—highly scented	10c
Amber Soap—round cakes	4c
Barber's Soap—for shaving	6c
Tooth Brushes—8, 10, 12½, and	25c
Hair Brushes 25, 38, 50, 75, and	$1 25
Clark's Indellible Pencils	17c
Ladies' Rubber Pages	12½c
Leather Wallets 25, 50, 62, $1 and	$1 25
Puff Boxes, Powders, Brushes, &c.

STOCK TO BE REDUCED.

ONE PRICE ONLY!

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

James F. Almy.

NEW DRESS GOODS.

WE have received a Bargain in new Dress Goods, at 20 and 25 cents.

We are offering a fine stock of Cottons, Flannels and other Domestic Goods, at our usually low prices for best grades of Goods.

CLOSING SALE.

All Goods appertaining to our Summer Stock are closing at greatly reduced prices.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central st.
Aug 19, 1863.

A. J. Archer & Co

TABLE LINENS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.
Have just received a fine assortment of
LINEN TABLE DAMASK,
in the piece, in Cloths, Napkins and Doylies.
Also—TOWELLINGS of every description, which are offered at the lowest Cash prices.

BLEACHED AND UNBLEACHED COTTON SHEETINGS & SHIRTINGS, of all the best manufactures. Also, SHIRTING LINENS, of the most approved make, constantly on hand, at lowest prices. For sale by
A. J. ARCHER & Co.,
sept 2 181 Essex street.

REDUCED PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Offer their stock of
Summer Dress Goods, Summer Shawls, and Capes,
at REDUCED PRICES—to close.
Salem, july 15—tf

SUMMER SHAWLS!

We open this morning beautiful new
SUMMER SHAWLS.
—Also—
A variety of THIN DRESS GOODS;
8 4 Black Hernani and Crape Maretz;
Black Grenadine. For sale by
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Salem, june 3—tf.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retai yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE---No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidenee.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.

April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. FLETCHER her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE, ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
A few doors from Washington Street,
At 236 Essex Street,
SALEM, MASS.
M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURES TO ORDER

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult
JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT.
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.

George S. Walker.

SOMETHING NEW.

THE WINDSOR TIE. Every new style of Tie brought out abroad and at home, will uniformly be found in my assortment.
GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

LINEN COLLARS.

THE best qualities, in the latest styles, at the lowest prices, at
GEO. S. WALKER'S, 228 Essex st.

SILK SCARFS.

A FINE assortment of Real Roman Scarfs.—Also, a good imitation, for sale at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
aug 5 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

FIRST CLASS GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES

"DESIRABLE."

MESSRS. BROWNING & LONG have just opened a splendid assortment of CAMBRIC EDGINGS and INSERTINGS, in large variety and very Neat patterns, at Low Prices!

Also, a fine assortment of HAIR NETS, New Patterns, and all very stylish, with many other New Goods, purchased Now as they are Low.

Finding that "Low Prices" are appreciated, they continue offering their goods at

"POPULAR PRICES."

Good Thread Nets,	25c;
White and Unbleached Hose,	18c;
Nice Open-work Hose,	25c;
White Misses'and Unbleached Hose,	16c;
Children's Colored Hose,	16c;
Gent's good half-Hose,	15c;
Misses' Fancy Cotton Hose,	16c;
Nice Lisle Gloves,	15c;
Ladies' Mohair Mitts,	40c;
Ladies' All-Linen Hdkfs,	13c;
All-Linen Hem-Stitched Hdkfs,	30c;
Embroidered Collars,	15c;
Nice Crape Collars,	25c;
Gent's Woven Bosoms,	8c;
Bead Nets,	25c,
Children's Mitts,	15c;
Nice Embroidered Gloves,	15c;

and many others in like comparison.

THE VERY LATEST STYLES
— OF —
NEW GOODS.

Constantly receiving the Largest Stock of Ladies' Furnishing Goods in the city, at
BROWNING & LONG'S.
Essex St., 177 Essex St.,
Salem, Aug. 19, 1863.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

NEW STOCK
— OF —
DRY GOODS
— AT —
No. 238 Essex street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

THE Subscriber opened on MONDAY, May 18th,

A Fresh Stock of Dry Goods,

Consisting of nearly all the new styles of Dress Goods, Ladies' Cloths, Cloths for Men's & Boys' Wear; Shawls, Domestic and Housekeeping Goods; Sun Umbrellas; Parasols; Hoop Skirts; Hosiery; Gloves; &c., &c., &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

GEORGE P. DANIELS.
Salem, May 20.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.
RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,
THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
CALL AND EXAMINE.
For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

TO LET.

A PARTIALLY stocked and well located
GROCERY STORE.

A shoemaker, or a person of any other sedentary pursuit, wishing to spend a portion of his time in trading, will find this a capital chance to work into a good paying business. No capital will be required, but the applicant must bring recommendations for honesty and enterprise. Inquire at this office.
South Danvers, Aug. 12. 3t

Choice Spring Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, o which the Mackie took the First Premium at the lat

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front street, Salem. ap30-tf

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

ON SATURDAY NEXT, at 9½ o'clock, will be sold at No. 34 Front street:

A QUANTITY OF FURNITURE—New and Second-hand; Sofas, Mahogany carved Centre Table, Counter Glass Case, Feather Beds, &c.

Also—One case Men's Patent Leather and Calf Gaiter Boots; Women's and Children's Boots and Shoes.

Also—Dry Goods: Cassimeres, Satinetts, Dress Goods, Towelling.

Also—2 Bowling Alleys, each 14 feet long, with Balls and Pins complete.

Also—at 11 o'clock, 2 second hand Piano Fortes—both good instruments. sept 2.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,
33 MAIN STREET.
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.
Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 MAIN ST. 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

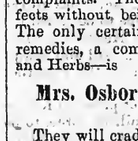
Druggist & Apothecary,
37 Main St., So. Danvers
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery, Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.
LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND COVERS

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.
They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world in an infallible, simple easy, and rapid progress Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are without a fault, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.
The sealing is on an entirely original plan. The principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried these articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar.

PRICE LIST.
Pints, per doz, $2 25; 3 pints, per doz, $3 50;
Quarts, " 3 00; Half gallon, " 4 00;
Liberal discount to the trade.
S C & E A SIMONDS'.
Salem Aug 5 32 Front Street.

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them. The worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause. The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st, South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY,

FOR September.—It contains contributions from Col Higginson, Gail Hamilton, Lucy Agassiz, Rose Terry, Charles Sumner, Theodore Tilton, Robert Dale Owen, Edward Pierce, Julia Ward Howe. Numbers promptly furnished by
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

MARK YOUR CLOTHING.

STENCIL Plates cut in the best way

OMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

HEADQUARTERS, BOSTON, JULY 31, 1863.

ENERAL ORDER, No. 18.

1st. The Commander-in-Chief desires to call e attention of the people of the Commonealth to the fact, that by reason of the great duction in the numbers of the Volunteer ilitia, the State finds itself at this moment ithout any adequate organized military force ailable for the protection of the State, or for e maintenance of the public peace. And, asmuch as it is believed that the provision of e General Statutes, Chapter 13, Section 13, hich requires that the volunteer militia shall first ordered into service in case of war, inasion, &c., and the provision it 1st Section of th Chapter of the Acts of 1861, which reires that all companies of the volunteer mili- shall be liable to be marched without the nits of the Commonwealth on a requisition the President of the United States upon the ommander-in-Chief, for extended terms of rvice, have deterred the citizens of the State om enlisting in the volunteer militia, and ust continue to operate against the recruitent of that force, the following Act of the eneral Court of Massachusetts, passed the 9th day of April, A. D., 1863, and being hapter 243 of the Acts of the current year, nd the Order in Council adopted in accordnce with the provisions of said Act, are hereby romulgated:—

[CHAP. 243.]

N ACT in addition to an Act concerning the Militia.

e it enacted, &c., as follows:—

SECT. 1. The governor, with the advice and onsent of the council, is authorized to organze, arm and equip, under such regulations as ie may prescribe, so many of the enrolled miitia as may be necessary for the common deence.

SECT. 2. The militia so organized shall conist of at least one regiment of cavalry, to consist of twelve troops or companies; one regiment of artillery of not more than twelve batteries, and eight regiments of infantry of ten companies each, which shall be officered in the manner prescribed by the laws of the United States, and of this State concerning the militia. The governor shall divide the militia into divisions and brigades.

SECT. 3. The governor may appoint one major-general, to command the militia thus organized, who shall hold his office until the next session of the legislature, when a major general shall be chosen in accordance with the provisions of the constitution.

SECT. 4. The general, staff, field and company officers, and the non-commissioned officers of the militia thus organized, shall be chosen, appointed and commissioned agreeably to existing laws. But the habitual use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage shall disqualify any person from holding a commission under this act; and no commission shall issue to an officer elected or appointed, unless he is qualified by education and ability to discharge the duties of his office; and the commander-in-chief may appoint a military board to examine into the capacity, qualifications and efficiency of all persons claiming or holding a commission in the militia under the rank of a major-general, and if the report of the board is unfavorable to the officer, his commission shall be vacated or withheld, as the case may be.

SECT. 5. Uniforms, arms and equipments shall be provided for the militia thus organized, in general conformity with those furnished to similar troops in the service of the United States. And the governor may, in his discretion, arm a portion of the infantry with rifles.

SECT. 6. The pay of the militia so enrolled shall be the same as now provided by law, except that officers and non-commissioned officers serving on foot, and privates, shall be allowed for their personal service when called out for discipline, one dollar each per day, and one ration, valued at thirty cents.

SECT. 7. The commander-in-chief may call out the militia mentioned in this act, for discipline and military instruction, at such times and places as may be expedient and necessary; and may issue all such orders as are necessary to carry this act into effect.

SECT. 8. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, IN COUNCIL,
Boston, July 30, 1863.

Whereas, by 243d Chapter of the Acts of the year 1863, it was among other things enacted by the Legislature of Massachusetts, that "Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council, is authorized to organize, arm and equip, under such regulations as he may prescribe, so many of the enrolled militia as may be necessary for the common defence."

It is therefore Ordered, that agreeably to the said Statute a military force to be called the Independent Division of the Active Militia of Massachusetts be organized, armed and equipped under such regulations as the Governor may prescribe.

2d. The above recited Act provides for the organization of an active militia force, to be uniformed, armed and equipped, by the State, and commanded by officers who shall have given proof of their ability by passing such an examination as shall be prescribed, and the members of which shall not, by reason of their enlistment therein, be subject to any liability to be ordered without the limits of the Commonwealth, beyond that attaching to every citizen of the State enrolled in its militia, except as it is hereinafter provided.

3d. The Commander-in-Chief, therefore, earnestly calls upon the able-bodied citizens of the State enrolled in the militia of the Commonwealth, to form themselves into companies, under the above recited Act, in their respective cities and towns.

4th. The companies raised under the above recited Act shall, until further orders, be limited to twelve companies of cavalry, six batteries of artillery, and one hundred and thirty companies of infantry, and shall be organized as one regiment of cavalry, one regiment of artillery, and thirteen regiments of infantry, to constitute a Special Division of Active Militia.

Each Regiment of Cavalry shall consist of—

1 Colonel.	1 Regimental Commissary,
1 Lieutenant Colonel.	with rank of First Lieu-
1 Major for every 4 com-	tenant,—an extra Lieupanies.	tenant.
	1 Chaplain.
1 Surgeon.	1 Veterinary Surgeon.
2 Assistant Surgeons.	1 Sergeant Major.
1 Regimental Adjutant —	1 Quartermaster-Sergeant.
with rank of 1st Lieu-	1 Commissary-Sergeant.
tenant,—an extra Lieu-	2 Hospital Stewards.
tenant.	1 Saddler-Sergeant.
1 Regimental Quartermas-	1 Chief Trumpeter.
ter, with rank of First Lieutenant,—an extra Lieutenant.

And twelve troops of Companies, each to consist of

1 Captain,	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Trumpeters,
1 Second Lieutenant,	2 Farriers or Blacksmiths,
1 First Sergeant,	1 Saddler,
1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,	1 Wagoner,
1 Commissary-Sergeant,	and 60 privates minimum,
5 Sergeants,	and 78 maximum.

Each Regiment of Artillery shall consist of—

1 Colonel,	1 Chaplain,
1 Lieutenant Colonel,	1 Sergeant Major,
1 Major for every four bat-	1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,
teries,	1 Commissary Sergeant,
1 Adjutant, with rank of	1 Hospital Steward,
First Lieutenant,—not	2 Principal Musicians.
an extra Lieutenant,
1 Quartermaster with rank of 1st Lieutenant, not an extra Lieut,

And each Battery shall consist of—

1 Captain,	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Musicians,
1 Second Lieutenant,	2 Artificers,
1 First Sergeant,	1 Wagoner,
1 Quartermaster-Sergeant,	86 Privates, minimum,
4 Sergeants,	122 Privates, maximum.

To the above organization of a Battery, the Commander-in-chief may, in his discretion, allow in addition: 1 First and Second Lieutenant, 2 Sergeants, and 4 Corporals, 2 Assistant Surgeons,

Each Regiment of Infantry shall consist of—

1 Colonel,	2 Assistant Surgeons,
1 Lieutenant Colonel,	1 Chaplain,
1 Major,	1 Sergeant-Major,
1 Adjutant, with rank of 1st	1 Regimental Quartermas-
Lieutenant.— an extra	ter-Sergeant,
Lieutenant,	1 Regimental Commissary
1 Quartermaster, with rank	Sergeant,
of 1st Lieut.—an extra	1 Hospital Steward,
Lieutenant,	2 Principal Musicians,
1 Surgeon,

And Ten Companies, each to consist of—

1 Captain,	8 Corporals,
1 First Lieutenant,	2 Musicians,
1 Second Lieutenant,	1 Wagoner,
1 First Sergeant,	and 64 privates, minimum,
4 Sergeants,	and 82 privates, maximum.

5. The companies to be raised under the above recited Act will be apportioned among the counties of the State, according to their population, so far as may be; but as the number of companies to be raised may be increased, if the citizens of the State shall respond to this call in a manner to warrant it, those petitions which are first received will be first granted, in the order of their reception.

6. The form of enlistment in the active division of the militia hereby provided for, shall be as follows:

We the undersigned, do hereby severally acknowledge to have voluntarily enlisted in the active militia force of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, organized in pursuance of an Act passed on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1863—and being chapter 243 of the Acts passed by the General Court of said Commonwealth in said year—(in a company of infantry, artillery, cavalry,) raised in the city or town of———, for the period of five years, unless sooner discharged by proper authority; and we declare that we have not enlisted in any other company raised under said Act; and we do hereby severally solemnly swear that we will bear true faith and allegiance to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and will support the Constitution thereof, and that we will observe and obey the orders of the Commander in Chief, and of the officers appointed over us, according to the rules and articles for governing the militia in actual service, and the regulations which may be prescribed in pursuance of said Act. And we do severally solemnly swear, that we will support the Constitution of the United States.

Each member enlisting in a company shall sign his name to a roll under the above form of enlistment, and there shall be at the time of such signing added against his name in separate columns, the date of his enlistment, the city or town in which he resides, his age, occupation, and whether he is married or single; and the above oath shall be administered by a Justice of the Peace or Notary Public, who shall at the bottom of such roll certify that he duly administered said oath to the man or men whose names are contained in said roll.

7. Petitions for permission to organize companies of Infantry, Artillery or Cavalry under the above Act, must state in what city or town it is proposed to raise the same, and be signed by at least fifty members of the enrolled militia of the Commonwealth who proposes to enlist in said company; and the same must be attested by the Mayor or Selectmen of the city or town in which it is proposed to raise said company, and addressed and forwarded to the Adjutant General, to be laid before the Governor.

8. When any such petition shall have been approved and granted, blank enlistment rolls will be issued to some one of the petitioners, by the Adjutant General, and, if the same are not returned within a period of three weeks from the date of their issue, with at least the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company enlisted therein, the authorization for the formation of such company will be withdrawn, unless, from special circumstances, the Commander in Chief shall see fit to extend the period allowed for raising said company.—Upon the withdrawal of the authorization granted to any petitioners to raise such company, by reason of their failure to obtain the prescribed number of men within the time allowed, all enlistments in such company become void, and the men who enlisted therein are free to enlist in any other company.

9. Whenever the enlistment rolls of any company authorized to be raised in pursuance of the above Act shall have been returned to the Adjutant General, and it shall appear that at least the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company have enlisted therein, the said roll being attested by the Mayor or Selectmen of the place where said Company was proposed to be raised, or where a majority of the men enlisted therein reside, the said company shall receive its designating letter or number, and an election of officers shall be ordered in said company.

10. The order for such election of officers shall be directed to one or more of the Selectmen, or Mayor and Aldermen, of the place where a majority of the men enlisted in such company reside, and the person or persons to whom said order is addressed shall cause notifications of said election to be served on the persons enlisted in said company, and shall preside at such election, and keep a record of the proceedings, and return the same to the Adjutant General.

11. The presiding officer at such election shall, with the record of the proceedings thereof, return any certificates or papers presented to him by any of the officers elected, tending to show that the officer presenting the same is duly qualified by education and ability to discharge the duties of the office to which he has been elected, as required by section 4 of the above recited Act. And any officer so elected may at any time forward any such certificates or papers, or furnish any other evideuce of his ability or qualifications, to the Adjutant General direct. And the Commander-inChief will in all cases, when it may appear necessary, order any such officer so elected to appear before a military board for examination as provided in said section.

12. When the officers of a company shall have been commissioned and its organization completed, the Master of Ordnance shall, on application by the commander thereof and on his furnishing satisfactory evidence that a suitable armory or place of deposit is provided therefor agreeably to Section 88, Chapter 13, General Statutes, issue to such commander the arms and equipments for such company.

13. Uniforms will be served by the Quartermaster General to the companies organized under this Act, as soon as they can be furnished.

14. The commissioned officers of every company shall receipt to the Master of Ordnance for all the arms and equipments issued to such company, and shall be responsible for their safe keeping, and for their return when demanded, and for any damage thereto.

15. In case of the discharge or death of such an officer, he or his legal representative shall be relieved from such responsibility upon filing with the Master of Ordnance a certificate signed by not less than two commissioned officers of such company, that the arms and equipments issued to such company are, at the date of such certificates, undiminished in quantity and value, reasonable use and wear excepted. And such certificate shall specify the different articles, and the number of each, then in the possession of said company, and specify their particular condition.

16. There shall be to each company a clerk, who shall be appointed in the manner prescribed in chapter 13 of the General Statutes, and who shall discharge the duties prescribed in that chapter.

17. When a sufficient number of companies of the respective arms shall have been organized, they will be formed into regiments, and elections of the field officers for such regiments will be ordered. And when a sufficient number of regiments shall have been organized, they will be formed into brigades, and the commanders thereof elected, and the said brigades will be organized as a Special Division, and the commander thereof will be appointed.

The said Special Division is organized to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, to defend the commonwealth, and to aid the civil authorities to execute the laws and to preserve the public peace and order; but in case of invasion of or insurrection in either of the New England States or in the State of New York, (the same being contiguous to the boundaries of Massachusetts,) the said Special Division, or any part thereof, may be ordered by the Governor to march into any such adjoining State on the request of the Governor thereof, or of the President of the United States, to aid in preventing or suppressing such invasion or insurrection, but shall not be obliged to remain on service out of this Commonwealth, for any term exceeding thirty days in all, during any one year, unless they shall, (with the consent of the Governor of this Commonwealth,) personally volunteer additional service. And on any occasion of public danger, when requested thereto by the President of the United States, or by the Governor of any State thereof, the Governor of this Commonwealth may, in his discretion, detail for duty in any part of the United States, where it may be needed, any portion of the members of said Special Division, personally volunteering for such extraordinary duty, for any term of service, not exceeding three consecutive months.

As individual members of the enrolled militia of Massachusetts, the members of this Division will, however, remain subject by law to all the duties imposed on the enrolled militia generally, and properly enforceable by draft, conscription, or otherwise, under the laws of the United States or of Massachusetts.

18. Whenever any company of the said Special Division shall, upon any occasion upon which it is ordered out for duty, appear with less than the minimum number of privates prescribed for such company, besides its proper number of commissioned and non-commissioned officers, it may forthwith be disbanded.

By command of His Excellency JOHN A. ANDREW, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

WILLIAM SCHOULER,
Aug 19 Adjutant General.

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.

George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1853—1 y

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the receipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience — and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing

JOHN B. OGDEN,
ang 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Imprurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Monstache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN.
ang 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Premature Decay, etc., etc., by one who has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned Doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island, by enclosing an addressed envelope. Address

CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,

— ALSO —

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER' No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central Street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.

He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.

He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.

All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lewell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Marke
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feh13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

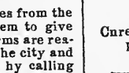
JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aueroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

JOHN MOULTON,
LIVERY STABLE,
Central Street, South Danvers.
Mr. M. will endeavor to keep up the good reputation of his stable, by still keeping good Horses and Carriages. jan 7, 1863.

Advertisements.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.



We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,
SALEM.

WE are selling out all our Black Silks;
We are selling out all our Cambric Prints;
We are selling out all our French Prints;
We are selling out all our nice Taffetas;
We are selling out all our Organdie Muslins;
We are selling out all our Lawns;
We are selling out all our Cotton Hosiery;
We are selling out all our Linen Hdkfs;
We are selling out all our Domestic Goods;
We are selling thin Dress Goods for 1s worth 25 cents;
We are selling Bleached Cottons for 12½ cts;
We are selling light Spring Prints for 1s;
We have the Quaker Skirt for ladies;
We have the Belle Point Skirt for ladies;
We have the Trail Skirt for ladies;
We have the very best Silk for Visites;
We have a full assortment of B P R Silks, which we are selling out very low.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE
AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

SPRING BEDS! SPRING BEDS!

ALL those that are inclined to rest their weary limbs on the most luxurious

SPRING BED

that was ever invented, are invited to call at

No. 52 Main St., South Danvers,

and there see the very best SPRING BED BOTTOM that has been offered to the public.

Not having been able at first to meet the demands, I now have the facilities to supply all orders.

Having bought the right to make and vend for the county of Essex, the subscriber would be happy to supply all those who may favor him with a call.

Rights for sale for any town or city in the county except Haverhill and Lawrence.

THOS. TRASK.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale on favorable terms,—or would exchange for a Farm,—his Estate on Wallis Street, near the Monumental Cemetary, consisting of THREE DWELLING HOUSES, which will be sold separately or as one Estate.

There are 75 feet of land in front, and 72 feet in the rear of the house.

The situation is pleasant, in a good neighborhood, and the houses are supplied with all the conveniences for immediate occupation. In ordinary times these tenements would rent for from 330 to 350 dollars.

The Subscriber, having made up his mind to dispose of the property, will sell it low, and it is well worth the attention of purchasers.

Apply to JOHN M'NEAL.
South Danvers, Dec. 10th, 1862. tf.

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
july 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

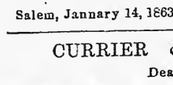
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in



Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
ang 6 SALEM. tf

THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block]
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

AERATED BREAD.
THE subscriber will daily leave the above new article of bread with the principal grocers in this town, of whom it may be purchased at 5 cents a loaf. It is claimed that this bread—unrivalled in point of sweetness and wholesomeness—is more nutritious than that made in the usual way, that it will keep much longer, and is moister and more palatable, having the taste of new bread, even when it is several days old. F. H. KIRK.
So. Danvers, Aug 5, 1863.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8¼, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2½ 5½, 7½ p. m.
Beverly, 8¼ am., 1, 3½, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55, 7¾ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8¼ a m., 3½, 5¾ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8¼ a m., 1, 3½, 5¾, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8¼ a m., 1, 5¾ p m.
Portsmouth, 8¼ a m., 3½, 5¾ p m.
Portland, 8¼ a m., 3¾ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM

Portland, 8¼ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7¼, †11¼ a m., †5½ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m., 6¼ p m.
Ipswich, 7.25, 8.25, 10.25 a m., 12.25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8 50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 p m.
Lynn, 8.05, *9.05, 11.05 a m., 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, *4 35, 5.35, *6.20, 5¼, *7.35, *8.05 p m.
Boston, 7¼, *8¼, 10¼ a m., 12¼, 2½, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9¼.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†On or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10½ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Marblehead for Salem, 6¾, 7¾, 8¾, 9¾ a m., 12¼, 1¼, 5¼, 6¾, 7½ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7½, 8½, 9.25, 11½ a m., 1, 3½, 5¾, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6¾, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5½ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.

Leave Salem for Lawreuce and way stations, 7, 11½ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8 40 a m., 1.30, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7½ a m., 12¾, 3¾, 6½ p m.

J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

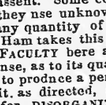
ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:

Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9.40 a m. and 5 55 p m.

Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.

*Freight Train with passenger car attached.
F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!



FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.

WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A CORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and come down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it, as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1863. NO. 36.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Selected.

THE DUTCH MERCHANTS.

On the evening of the 20th of January, 1795, the city of Amsterdam was thrown into an unusual state of bustle and confusion by the entrance of the French army under Piehegru. While the troops with stacked arms awaited their billets and rations, the citizens hastened to illuminate in honor of their arrival, and in spite of the piercing cold, thronged to welcome the heroes.

Amid the general rejoieings, one house alone remained with closed doors and darkened windows. It was the dwelling of the wealthy merchant Werden, who, wholly occupied in business, cared little for politics, still les for the arrival of the French, and was far too careful of his money to waste it like his neighbors' illuminations.

Wrapped in his fur dressing gown, a seal skin cap drawn closely over the few gray hairs time had left upon his head, he had wheeled his easy chair close to the chimney, and rubbed his hands over the bright coal fire, seeming lost in revery, from which neither the beer can nor the long clay pipe on the table at his side had power to rouse him.

All at once the silence was interrupted by a violent ring at the house bell. The old man started, and turning to a stout red-cheeked servant, who, seated at a respectful distance, was occupying herself in knitting a stocking—

'See who it is, Jacqueline,' said he, 'that comes to disturb us at this unreasonable hour.' In a few minutes a tall young man entered, and throwing off his cloak saluted the old man as father.

'Ha! is it you, Wilhelm? I did not expect you back so soon.'

'I have just returned from Brock,' replied the other, 'and should have arrived long ago, had not the road been so incumbered with troops and idlers.'

'Have you seen Van Elburg?'

'Yes,' answered the young man, taking his seat by the fire, 'and he consents to my union with his daughter, but refuses to give more than 4000 ducats for her dowry.'

'Then he may keep both ducats and daughter,' said the merchant, angrily.

'But consider, father—'

'Consider what?' interrupted Werden. 'There is nothing to consider. I know that at your age love outweighs gold, but time will teach you that when poverty comes in at the door, love flies through the window.'

'Yet, father,' argued the young man, 'Van Elburg is one of the richest men in the country, and sooner or later his daughter must have his fortune.'

'Tut, tut,' said Werden. 'Van Elburg knows well what he is about, but cunning as he is, he shall not put a bad bargain upon me. As for you, Wilhelm, I have promised to give you up my business, and now recommend your taking a word of advice with it; never give more than you receive, and always consider your transactions; rely on it, that it is the only way to prosper in business as well as in love, and now we will drop the subject.'

The young man knew his father's humor too well to press the matter further, at least at that moment.

As he sat brooding over his disappointment, the bell rang, and the tread of a horse's feet was heard in the court yard, while the watch dog commenced a furious barking.

'It is certainly a stranger this time,' said Mynheer Werden, 'there's no mistake in the dog's bark.'

He was interrupted by the servant bringing in a package.

'Commissariat department!' said her master with no little surprise, as he opened it; but with an expression of uneasiness which had at first slightly contracted his features, changed into one of pleasure as he read on:

'An order to deliver four hundred thousand herring for the use of the French army,' he continued, 'a very acceptable commission. Wilhelm! you shall marry Van Elburg's daughter, and he shall give her a handsome dowry in spite of himself.'

'How say you, my dear father?' replied the son, unable to believe his senses at this unexpected transition.

'Leave all to me, Wilhelm,' said Werden. 'Order our horses to be saddled at daybreak, and mind that I am called in time, for we must be at Broek before 12 o'clock, and now good night.'

The rising sun saw our travellers on the road to that celebrated village, where cleanliness is carried to such an extent, that before entering the streets both father and son, in compliance with an invariable custom, were obliged to dismount and leave their horses in care of a servant. At the door of Van Elburg's house they were required to do what a few years later, neither Napoleon nor the Emperor Alexander were exempted from, taking off their boots and replacing them with slippers, before they were allowed to enter the room, where he sat with his daughter Clotilde.

'Good morning, Mynheer Werden,' said he, shaking his friend warmly by the hand. 'Have you been frightened out of your good city by the French, that you honor me so early with a friendly visit?'

'Not at all, Van Elburg,' said the other, 'I care nothing about the French, and as I never meddle with politics, it is quite immaterial to me who governs our town. But I came to make you a proposal. I have undertaken to furnish the commissariat four hundred thousand herring on this day month, and I wish to know if it would be convenient for you to procure them for me in three weeks.'

'At what price?' asked his friend.

'Ten guilders per thousands.'

'Ten guilders—you shall have them.'

'Draw out the contract, then,' said Werden, 'and when it is signed I shall be happy to partake of your hospitality, for my ride has given me an appetite.'—Then turning to Clotilde, he continued, 'I have come to arrange another matter, too, which we can discuss after dinner.'

It was in vain that, during the evening, Werden tried every way to change his friend's resolution respecting his daughter's fortune.

After a long discussion he was obliged to give up the point, and the marriage was at length fixed to take place the following week.

Next day, when Wilhelm and his father returned home, the former could not refrain from expressing some curiosity concerning the cause of the sudden change in his prospects.

'What do you mean?' asked his father.

'Have you not given up the point about his daughter's fortune?'

'I should have thought you knew me better,' replied Werden, looking slyly at his son. 'But no matter—it is sufficient that you marry the girl you like.'

Once more at home, the merchant shut himself in his office until evening, when he appeared with a package of letters, which were immediately sent by post.

On the day appointed for the marriage, Wilhelm and his father arrived at Broek, where they found a large party of friends and relations assembled to meet them.—Van Elburg welcomed them with cordiality, but there was an expression of care and embarrassment on his face that at first made the bridegroom fear fresh obstacles to his happiness. The elder Werden, however, in no way shared his son's anxiety, for he could give a tolerable good guess at the cause of his host's uneasiness.

'Mynheer Van Elburg,' he exclaimed, 'what can be the matter? Are you unwell?'

'No, my dear friend,' replied the other, 'not ill, but in the most unpleasant dilemma possible. I would wish to speak to you immediately in private.'

'Is it anything respecting the marriage?' asked Werden. 'If you wish to be off your word there is still time.'

'Not for the world.'

'In that case we will proceed to the church at once. You know that I like to do things regularly, and as I came here to see my son married, we will finish that business first, and then I will be happy to hear what you have to say.'

There was no remedy; and it was not until after the happy couple had been made man and wife that Van Elburg could succeed in catching his friend alone.

'I am bound to deliver you four hundred thousand herring in fourteen days,'—said he, 'and not a single fish can I get at any price.'

Werden could not restrain his laughter. 'I dare say not,' he replied, 'I bought them up long ago.'

'In that case, of course, the contract is at an end,' said Van Elburg, looking doubtfully at his friend.

'By no means, or at least on certain conditions. We have this day united our children, Van Elburg, and shall leave them a fortune when we die. But as regards the present, matters are less fairly arranged. My son received a capital business, while you only gave your daughter four thousand ducats. Now, as I did not like to make them unhappy by refusing my consent to their marriage, I thought you and I would settle the matter another way. You are to deliver four hundred thousand herring at ten guilders per thousand, or I do not part with a single tail. The difference is sixteen thousand guilders, which I intended to pay my son as his wife's just dowry.'

Van Elburg looked rather foolish during this explanation, but at the end regained his self-possession, and even smiled as he said, clapping him on the shoulder, 'you've outwitted me, Mynheer Werden, and I must pay the penalty, so say no more about it. And now let us join our friends.'

Eight days afterwards Van Elburg went to visit his daughter at Amsterdam, and in his turn found Werden in the greatest perplexity.

'You are the very person I wanted,' said he seizing his hand; 'unless you can assist me I am a ruined man. The herrings are all ready, but high or low not a barrel is to be found.'

Van Elburg's little gray eyes twinkled cunningly; 'Every man for himself, Werden—you bought the fish and I bought the barrels. But as an old friend I won't take the advantage of you, and you shall have as many as you want for exactly sixteen thousand guilders above the cost.'

Werden looked rather blank, but did his best to conceal his vexation. 'The trick is not a bad one,' said he with a forced smile, 'but you must confess that I taught it you.'

'Ay, ay,' returned the other, 'you are clever fellows at Amsterdam, but we are not all fools at Broek.'

THE TWO QUAKERS.

BY SOPHIE MAY.

'There now, thee shan't be abused,' said good James Eaton, as he rode slowly down the dusty road, stooping every now and then to pick a cling-fly off his sleek horse. 'Thee must keep thy temper, good beast, and I'll soon put these little fellows out of mischief.'

And tenderly he dropped the buzzing torments into his drab coat pocket. 'Poor little creeter,' chuckled he, 'its no use struggling agin the law. Them that disturbs the peace must go to jail. Well for 'em if they don't fare worse and lose their heads.'

So saying the drab figure jogged peacefully along the highway toward friend Dean's yellow farm-house, a man

"Whose big swelling heart
Strained the straight-breasted drab of his Quaker apart."

'Here comes friend Eaton,' cried several childish voices joyfully, as he rode leisurely up to the porch door.

'Why, how does thee do, Patience and Solomon and Benjamin?' said the dear man, heartily, while the little ones flew around their dear old friend, alighting upon him like a flock of birds.

'Is thy mother well and about the house? Really, children, thee must let me have a chance to hitch my horse. And now I will release my prisoners,' added the old gentleman, opening wide his pockets, and letting out scores of dizzy, crazy flies. 'There, now, my poor fellows, thee can get an honest living here, if thee's industrious."

Little Benjamin and Patience laughed aloud at this, and seizing their tender-hearted old friend by the arms led him into the back kitchen, where their mother was pulling worsted.

'Why, James, how dost thou do?' said the good woman, rising. 'I am right glad to see thee.' And they shook hands heartily, after the Quaker fashion, as if shaking hands was an honest pleasure, instead of being, as some people regard it, a painful duty.

'Thee is as busy as ever,' said friend Eaton, pointing to an immense ball of worsted which lay on the floor beside his hostess.

'Busy?' echoed Mary Dean, as she pulled off long flakes from the soft ball, rolled them over her finger, and tossed them into the basket ready for spinning. 'Thee would think there was no time for idling, if the country called thy son to the war.'

And she looked up at him, her fresh, matronly face glowing with suppressed feeling, her plain cap shaking a little at the borders.

'Mary!' exclaimed the good old man, opening wide his mild blue eyes as far as the lids would allow, 'thee don't mean to tell me that thee is going to send one of thy children to battle?'

'I do mean it, James,' answered she, steadily, plucking with all her might at the worsted.

The poor old gentleman fairly turned pale. 'Patience,' said he, 'won't thee fetch me a drink of water?'

With a skip and a bound the little damsel brought some water in a long handled tin dipper.

'Thank thee, Patience," said the Quaker, the ruddy color stealing back to his face. 'Now, Mary, I hope thee won't be offended if I ask thee a searching question.'

But before the question had formed itself into words, Mary Dean had arisen to perform one of her household duties. Seizing a towel she went quietly to the kitchen table, whereon was spread a primitive fly-trap, it being nothing else than a pool of delusive molasses. 'Here's a goodly lot of the little torments,' making an onslaught upon them with her towel. Friend Eaton's soul was stirred within him.

'Mary, Mary,' said he, in a grieved tone, 'consider what thee is doing. Thee can't make a fly.'

'I know it,' said Mary, as she proceeded coolly with her savage work, 'and I'm sure I shouldn't want to.'

'Thee really hurts my feelings, Mary.'

'Well, thee knows, James, I haven't thy patience. I desire to possess a meek and quiet spirit, but I told thee I've no notion of being turned out of my own house by an army of flies.'

'Mary, Mary, it's no wonder thee has a heart to kill flies, when thee is lending a helping hand to kill thy fellow creeters! I wanted to ask thee a question. If thee means to send thy son along with the world's people to fight for——'

'Our country!' Mary threw the two words in with strong emphasis.

'Thee is taking a strange step for a friend! Has thee made this a subject for meditation? Does thee feel that thee has been instructed by the Inward Teacher?'

'James,' said Mary Dean, calmly, 'thou knowest little of the inward strife I have suffered. But I verily believe I have been led by the Spirit, and my mind is now centered down into quietness. The war is just, and Moses shall stand up for his country.'

Good James Eaton looked puzzled. 'I respect thy feelings,' said he, after a pause, 'but, Mary, thee knows the Scriptures go agin fighting.'

'No, I don't know any such thing, James,' said Mary Dean, unpinning her checked kerchief in her warmth, 'for didn't the Lord persecute Pharaoh till he let his people go? And when the Israelites had crossed the Red Sea, didn't they sing, 'The Lord is a man of war, the Lord is his name?' I do know that the South has her heart fully set within her to do evil, and I believe it is the will of the Lord that she shall be beaten with many stripes.'

'Mary, friend Mary, can it be that thee is harboring bitterness in thy heart against the people of thy own country? against the nation which the God of our fathers hath blessed?'

'My brethren have fallen,' exclaimed Mary. 'Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.'

'But, Mary, Christ forbids thee to hold bitterness. If thy enemy smite thee——'

'Thou canst hardly tell me any new thing out of the Holy Book,' said Mary Dean, quickly, 'but remember, James, we are to beware of taking the Scriptures too literally; it is the spirit that giveth life!'

'Mary, what does thee make of these words: 'Pray for them that despitefully use you?''

'James,' replied Mary Dean with a trembling voice, 'if thou does think I have not the spirit of prayer, thou misjudges me. While I am sewing and spinning for Moses, it is borne in upon me to pray for our misguided Southern brethren as I never prayed before.'

'I thank the Lord for thee,' said the Quaker, wiping his eyes, 'but, Mary, thee hasn't any children to spare; or has thee lost all a mother's feelings?'

Mary Dean arose nervously, 'Friend James,' said she, 'I have got a country; hast thou got one? I remember noble George Washington; dost thou remember him? Art thou willing to wipe out all he has done for us?—Wilt thou put the necks of thy children under a yoke, and die, to have them curse thee.'

Patience and Benjamin looked at each other in dismay, wondering why the Spirit should move their mother to preach in such a way to good friend Eaton. 'Or, wilt thou help to loose the bands of wickedness?' continued the good woman, 'to undo the heavy burdens and let the oppressed go free? to break every yoke?'

'I don't know what to say to thee,' said friend Eaton, rubbing his hands together in a perplexed way. 'My heart is heavy within me when I think of the poor bondmen down South, but 'vengeance is mine, I will repay,' saith the Lord.'

'Thee is right, but 'he that justifieth the wicked is an abomination to the Lord,' think of that, James! an abomination to the Lord! Doesn't thee justify the wicked when thee folds thy hands and holds thy tongue?'

'O Mary, Mary, thee is hard on me!'

'I verily believe that I am moved to speak, friend James. Thee mustn't think hard of me for saying those things that bear in upon my mind! I speak in love.'

'Speak on, Mary, I am in a state of preparation to hear thee.'

'Well, James, don't thee remember this passage in Revelations, 'He that leadeth into captivity: he that killeth with the sword must be killed by the sword?' How plain this is, James, so that a little child Might understand it. And then it says: 'Here is the faith and patience of the saints.' Oh, James, we think we have patience and faith, we trust the Lord will let the poor black men out of Egypt; but ain't willing to help! Does thee think, James, that our blood is richer and redder than the blood of the world's people? If it is, I tell thee we ought to shed it all the quicker! Let us make a Red Sea of it, and the Lord will make the sea dry land that the children may pass over to the promised land of Canaan!'

'Why, Mary,' said James Eaton, rubbing his hands and looking at them, 'Thee keeps pushing me into a corner! Verily and truly I don't know what to say to thee!'

'Thee needn't say anything,' replied Mary Dean, calmly. 'The Lord hasn't enlightened thee yet; but I will pray for thee that thy eyes may be opened.'

'Amen,' said the Quaker solemnly.—Congregationalist.

THE GOLDEN CROSS.

The Croissy is a little tale, full of freshness and interest. We will let our readers judge of it by an analysis and some extracts:—

'I will tell you, sir, why I come every evening to smoke my pipe under the Croissy yew.'

So begins the tale. In 1812, the narrator, who had escaped conscription by entering college, which he had since left, did not know what to do with himself. Meanwhile he amused himself by climbing up into a huge yew tree, and casting his eyes over the surrounding country. One moonlight evening, when at his post, he overheard a conscript, who was bidding adieu to his sister and his betrothed. The latter wept. The more resolute sister said:

'Have you not got a Colonel? him who enlisted you? Well, go and find your Colonel, throw yourself on your knees, and say, 'My lord, I don't want to gay away—I don't want to be killed. There are a sister and a wife, who cannot live without me, and who are going to throw themselves into the river. Beat me, Colonel, put me in prison, but don't make me go away! Long live the Emperor! He's a noble fellow! Let him leave me in peace, and go about his own business! Colonel, I am a man, and a free one, and I have no right to leave my sister Christine, who won't have me to leave her, and who will hate you, Colonel, if you make me go off!''

The brother smiled at his sister's eagerness, and told her he must have a substitute, and money to pay him.

'Well,' said Christine, 'I will give everything I've got—my gold cross, my ear-rings, my silk neckerchiefs, my collerettes, in a word, all of my trinkets—to him who will consent to go.'

'All that does not amount to the price of man,' replied Eugene.

Christine reflected a while, and said, catching her brother's arm:

'Well! I am well worth a man—worth more than a man—oh, certainly I am. I will give myself, then. I will tell somebody or other, 'Go in my brother's place, and I will be your wife. You see I am pretty—a little spoiled, but what matters that? I will love you so, if you will save my brother!' Oh, yes, I swear by the golden cross, in which is some of my mother's gray hair, I would willingly marry him who would devote himself to you.'

At evening, as they were seated at their humble meal, without being able to touch it, and looking tearfully at each other, some one knocked at the door.

'Come in,' said the young man, hastily drying his eyes.

An old sergeant made his appearance, saying:

'Health! Is the conscript Eugene Leven here?'

'Yes, sergeant.'

'There,' said the soldier, throwing a letter on the table. Eugene read slowly at first, but afterward devoured the paper. It was his discharge in due form. He looked at the old soldier in astonishment.

'That means that your place is taken, conscript. It is a pity, though, for your moustaches would have sprouted with a little gun-powder. But enough, you are happy now—farewell.' And he was going away. 'Oh,' said he, as he returned, 'Christine Leven—is that your sister? Where is your sister?'

'Here,' said Eugene, pointing to Christine, who was pale with joy and emotion.

'This is one for you, Miss;' and he threw a second letter on the table, but stopped short as he saw Christine trembling with agitation, crumpling the letter in her hands, and gazing fixedly on the table.

'What is the matter? what is the matter?' said Eugene. 'Christine, let us see that letter? Selfish being that I am, I never thought of it. Let me see who dares to write to you? What does all this mean?' And he ran over the letter hastily.

'Oh, read it aloud,' said Christine, it's the same to me. Good heavens! this is but just.'

Eugene read aloud:

'Miss—I ask nothing—I go away without making any terms—I take your brother's place; you need him, and no one needs me. But I am honest, and love you, ever since I saw you weep. I send you a ring of my mother's. If you have pity upon me, you will take the golden cross, in which is some of your mother's gray hair, and which glitters on your neck in the moonlight, this evening you will place in the crevice of the large yew tree, near the branches. I will get it to-morrow morning; then you will wait two years, and, if I am not dead, I will bring it back. Will you remember what you have sworn on that cross? Farewell.'

'What does this mean?' said Eugene, slowly. 'How could any one know? Sergeant, do you understand this?

'Some fellow on the lookout near you.'

'Why, then, did he not come to us frankly?' answered the young man. what a way of obliging is this?'

'Ah,' said the soldier, 'there's the thing—one's afraid of being treated as a spy; and then, when one is young, and timid, and all full of romantic sentiments! one knows how to write, and is afraid to talk, for want of practice; that's it.'

Eugene shook his head.

'Soldier!' cried he, 'your hand! I will not have this substitute—my sister shall not be sacrificed—I will go with you. See!' And he took up his discharge, and prepared to tear it in pieces.

Christine stopped him.

'But what if I want to have him?' said she. 'After all, it's a fine action on his part. And then he goes without making any terms—and then he is unhappy—and then I have no other means of keeping you—and then I want to be in love with him! He did well, however, in not showing himself—one might have regretted him too much. I will take the cross—but I should like to know—sergeant have you seen him?'

'Yes, now and then.'

'Well! he is not hump-backed, or bandy-legged, is he?'

'A good joke! Is the French army recruited with such sort of stuff under the little corporal? Is it not composed of individuals irreproachable as to their persons, and no fools as to morality?'

'Is he a man of worth?' asked Eugene.

'Very much so, I answer for it."

'Well, sir soldier,' said Christine, removing from her graceful neck the cross, 'tell him that he has done well; and place this cross in the hollow of the great yew; and then, say nothing more to him, but do not quit him, do you hear! and try to come back with him, to tell me, 'There he is; it is he himself; he is worthy of you.''

Eugene and Louise looked on, without being able to speak. The grenadier rose, took off his cap, received the cross, wiped away a tear, and said, 'Enough

Christine turned to her brother as future sister. She was no longer the same person. Her character had assumed a more serious hue. She to Louise, 'I, too, am betrothed; the pledge of my faith is in the hands of a soldier of the guards.'

A year afterward Eugene had to leave his home. The enemy was in France and he would not have accepted a substitute now, if he could have found one At Montereau his life was saved by lieutenant of carabineers. As this officer informed him that he had no family Eugene invited him home to his own.

Charles, such was his name, soon won Christine's favor; but she had plighted her troth to her brother's substitute, and she was faithful to him. Then Charles handed her the golden cross, and told her that it was he, who, a poor collegian ashamed of the noble action he was about to perform, went away without seeing her, and finally rose to the rank of lieutenant.

'At present, sir,' continued the narrator, 'we are married. The sergeant died at Waterloo. Eugene and myself have prospered in the world; we live in that little red and white house you see yonder, and I go every evening to smoke my pipe under the Croissy yew.'

BENA AND THE PRINCES.

In the olden times, young ladies, instead of manœuvring for their fortunes stayed at home and waited for them; and so it happened that Bena had never seen the world, or been outside of the old castle in which she lived. Freda, her nurse however, was a wise woman, and taught her not only to spin, sing and dance, but a little of that old-fashioned science called common sense. She instructed her also in the language of the birds, and told her all the wonderful stories of fairyland. And when she was about to die Bena was inconsolable, and tore her lovely golden hair, and desired to die also.

"But," said the old nurse, "the oldest trees must fall at last. Grieve not for me, but look to yourself. See that you wait not too long for your fortune, and yet that you take it up not too hastily.

So Bena lived alone by herself in the castle, and had no one to talk to her but her old servants, till there came the great Magician of the Woods to visit her, who had heard of her beauty, and wished to marry her. He was dressed in cloth of gold, with a crown of diamonds, and was followed by a train of a thousand magicians, all dressed in cloth of silver; but he was old and hump-backed, and so ugly that Bena couldn't endure to look at him.

"Can this be my fortune?" she said to herself; and, having no one else to advise her, she went out in the forest and called to the birds.

"Tell me, O birds, shall I marry the King of the Magicians? I shall live in a palace, and sit on a throne covered with gold; but my nurse told me not to take up my fortune too hastily."

Then said one, "He is too old and will be jealous."

And another, "He is too ugly, and you will tire of him."

And a third, "He is no mate for you Take not up your fortune yet."

So Bena would have nothing to say to the King of the Magicians; but hardly had he departed, when arrived a prince and his servants pitched a tent for him outside of the gates, because he is of too high degree to enter into any but a royal palace, and they all bowed down on their knees before him whenever he spoke and exclaimed, with one voice, "We are your slaves, do with us as you will."

"Maid," said the prince to Bena, "get in that litter, and come with me. I intend to do you the honor of marrying you."

But Bena went out in the forest and called again to the birds.

"O, birds, does my fortune come down to me?"

And one sang, "Be sure that it is your fortune."

And another, "All is not gold that glitters."

And a third, "A tall man has no need of stilts."

Then said Bena, "I will see if this be a real prince or not."

And going to her fairy godmother's

Continued on fourth page.

...e Wizard.

...SDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1863.

...MARY OF THE WEEK.

...ction in Vermont being a complete ...umph is not surprising, but is gratifying ... will encourage the soldiers from the ...ountains, as it will indeed, all the ...ho are fighting for the Union, and ...d stout knock on the head of copperheads. The Union Governor, State officers, ... elected by 20,000 majority and more. ...ats" were nowhere.

... California has gone and done likewise ...withstanding the "democratic" can... Governor, Downey, was a pretty ...n, having well served his State in ...ears. These elections will have a ... influence in directing the canvasses ...States, Maine, Ohio, Pennsylvania, etc. ...e Union Mass Meeting held at Spring...3d inst. That meeting was immense. ...le were there, ever so many thousands ... and their enthusiasm was great and ... They passed resolutions that had the ...g and they are ringing still. The ...t's letter was just the thing—peculiar ... but up to the times, logical and right ...oint. It was not a backing down, but ... up "man fashion." Copperheads ... turned pale, so vain have been their ...s to pick flaws in "Old Abe's last." ... are improving all round. This is be... democracy" is vanishing.

...news, though less eventful than the ..., is hopeful and significant. Burnside ... giving treason a broadside in Tennes...ing taken Kingston with inconsiderable ... All Eastern Tennessee, save the Chat...part, is now freed of rebel rule. It is ... that Burnside entered Knoxville the ... The movements at New Orleans still ... a combined attack on some Southern ...old of rebellion, and as we have good ... down that way, we may well count ...uccess. The expedition against Mobile ... be abandoned.

...valry raid by the rebel Stuart into ...nd is rumored, but such rumor causes ...rm than it once did. It seems now ...tablished that the former raids by Lee ...rgan were made upon assurances given ... Vallandigham school that the Northern ... only awaited the appearance among ...f a Southern army to proclaim Jeff. ...n the place of Lincoln. Yet Vallan... is candidate for Governor of a State, ...praised by the "democracy" of Mass.!—Gov. Seymour is so praised and Gov. ...ur praises Digham. What is the differ...

...ot, Ill., has lately been the scene of cop...d violence induced by the draft.

... first negro regiment has been organized ...nessee. It numbers 980 men, and is ... be composed of the best stock and to be ...orly officered.

... Steele, with a force, say, of 20,000 in... and 10,000 cavalry is moving on Little ... Ark. Our army is in good spirits, but ...her poor health. The rebels are com...d by Price, who has made loud promises ...rease his force, and who is fortifying at ... Metor, 15 miles this side of the city. ... accounts say Steele has beaten Price and ...he rebels are in full retreat, hundreds of ...deserting.

...eign of terror prevails in central Missis... occasioned by Davis's sweeping conscrip... Whites and blacks are numerously flee...om the intolerable despotism.

...io "democrats," with a view, no doubt, ...v dissension in the Army, have written to ... Rosecrans for the privilege of circulating ...s and documents of their vile creed in ...amps. The General says he will allow ...ning proper, but that he is not of "that ...mental class who weakly and timidly al...prawling license to stab true liberty."

...e Union Republicans of Massachusetts ... their State Convention, the 24th inst., at ...cester. The present State officers will ...ably be nominated quite unanimously.

...efugees concur in reporting continued and ...easing desertions from the rebel armies.

... rupture with France is anticipated. War ... Japan has already begun, the U. S. ...ner Pembroke having been fired upon from ...nese forts. U. S. steamer Wyoming sunk ... Japanese steamers, and bombarded Si...uski.

...he rebels cling to everything immediate to ...rleston, as if thereby hung there one and ...y hope. The ken of persons in decline is ... to be more acute than that of persons who ... well, and we take it the rebels are right. ...th Charleston falls their edifice. Charleston ...y be considered the vestibule of the rebel... But we tell them if their old vestibule ...'t topple pretty soon, there will be no house ...which it attaches. It matters not which ...ples first—the wretched house or the ...etched portico, so the work of toppling goes ...adily on, and on it is going. As we now ...k back, we see a steady tumbling down of ...e fabric of Davis, from the time of Lincoln's ...augural until now, only the tumbling has ...en a little more rapid of late. If we mis...ke not, the end will be something like that ...dden collapse, which we sometimes see at ...es. It is not improbable that the bombard...ent of Charleston has been resumed and is ...w progressing and with "Greek Fire." ...rt Sumter is entirely demolished. The peo...e of Charleston are said to desire the sur...nder of the city, but Beauregard refuses. ...here has been a great battle between the ...onitors and forts. Everything is progressing ...vorably.

☞ We invite attention to the adver...sement in another column of the sale ...o be made the 25th inst, of Hon. James ...D. Black's estate, at Danversport. It is ...eldom so good an opportunity is pre...ented for the purchase of a fine resi...dence, admirably located, and in excel...ent condition.

☞ Levi Howard, of Danvers, private ...n Co. I, 14th Regiment, recently died ...at the paroled prisoners' camp at An...napolis. Mr. Howard was among the ...first to enlist in the service, and did so ...from a high sense of duty. He was 45 ...years of age, and leaves a wife and a ...numerous family of children. His eldest ...son has been nine months in the service.

FIXATION.

The Boston Courier, for a long time, kept—practically, does now keep—at the head of its columns the following resolution, passed by Congress, at the extra session, in 1861:

"Resolved, That the present deplorable civil war has been forced upon the country by the disunionists of the Southern States, now in arms against the Constitutional Government, and in arms around the Capitol; that in this National emergency, Congress banishing all feeling of mere passion and resentment, will recollect only its duty to the whole country; that this war is not waged on their part in any spirit of oppression, or for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, or purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of those States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality, and rights of the several States; and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease."

The meaning of this piece of print work as thus stereotyped by the Courier, and of those persons, who are similarly stereotypical, we take to be as follows: That whereas Congress came together while the country was just plunged in rebellion, assembling in the midst of a state of things exciting beyond measure, with the terrors of war frowning on every side, of prepared war menacing the Capital, menacing the Constitution, menacing National Life! without precedent to guide them, representing constituencies without experience in arms, fearing indeed, the worst, but still incapable of the belief that there had budded and was unfolding into death-bearing bloom so impossible a scarlet-flower as this Rebellion, crimsoning sea and land—that whereas Congress, so assembled and so wrought upon, passed the above resolution, therefore, all subsequent Congresses, and all the people, greater than all Congresses, are bound by the action of the Congress in extra session in the year of trepidation, 1861! Not this is republicanism; not this is representative government; not this is the majesty of Democracy; nor the way the world moves onward.

Let us look at it with the reason we use in other matters. In one considerable plan of all the plans you ever laid, reader—in one considerable work of all the works you ever performed, did you ever solemnly bind yourself to complete your plan or perform your work according to arbitrary rule fixed at the outset, stubbornly pursuing the first idea, regardless of the suggestions of experience, the utilities of the hour, the lights of time, or even the success itself of the very work to be done? You never did, reader, and you never will. Let a man undertake to act on this principle even for one day in the conduct of his ordinary affairs, and he will victimize himself every hour, and be a subject of laughter to all about him. But just in proportion as the work to be done—the enterprise to be achieved, is large and complicated, exactly to that extent is it more impracticable, impossible to prescribe in the beginning a safe rule to govern in the execution. Men are not prescient beings who in the beginning of things see the end. They are born to learn, improve, and rise through experience and experiment. Ignorant of what a day may bring forth, they feel their way rather than travel it confident and secure. As it is their duty to try all things, and hold fast to that only which is good, so is it their lot in the pursuit of things better and higher. These truths kept in mind, and since the world began there has not been started a more preposterous idea than that above indicated; namely—that we are bound to carry the country through this rebellion—bound to consider and treat all the mighty interests involved in the contest, according to the rule prescribed by the foregoing resolution, passed while yet we were infants—infants in the experiences of a nation convulsed with civil war—infants in arms—infants in the statesmanship higher and more difficult rendered necessary, inevitable by the events of the hour—infants, in fact, in the sense of duty as owed to ourselves as countrymen, and to a race for whom there has yet been no country.

We hazard the assertion that no man in his senses would dare to go before the public, and stake his reputation for sanity, by advancing, upon any other than a political subject, such a theory as that which seems to be best named the fixation theory—the theory of the Courier. As if the congressmen who sat in the extra session at which the foregoing resolution was passed, could not frame and pass a better resolution now, this day two years later! As if the country was not wiser to cope with rebellion now than two years ago, after two years of coping! To suppose otherwise is to suppose a country of idiots—charged with being which will never be our fortune, unless all the newspapers of the land shall hoist to the top of their columns, as political gospel, the above resolution. That resolution, considering the crowd of events since its passage—the battles, sieges, inventions, discussions, diplomacies, changes—is older and more fragile than the Articles of Confederation, which our Fathers regarded a rope of sand. They who pin to their flag this musty antediluvian resolution, and undertake to keep step to the music of the Union, must necessarily march most awkwardly and pitifully. Practically they are singing Old Hundred and trying to march by it, while the band of the regiment is playing the Yankee Doodle of '63. Practically they are sailors aboard a sinking ship, who refuse to throw over board rubbish and refuse cargo to save their craft and themselves. Practically they are practical jokers against their country and mankind.

In the light of experience and elevated in its statesmanship by the events of the last two years, Congress, if it pass any more resolutions, the propriety of which is questionable, will be likely to pass some such resolution as this:

Resolved, That this unhallowed rebellion, whose end is now at hand, was forced upon the country by the disunionists of the Southern States, instigated by their love of Slavery, and their ambition to have Slavery the "corner stone," not of the "Confederate States" alone, but of the United States; that in this national emergency Congress, in detestation of such an infamous purpose and in the passion of its duty to the whole country, would have the war waged, as it has been waged, not in any spirit of oppression, but for the purpose of crushing the rebellion; that, if in the attainment of this object the established institutions of the rebellious States are overthrown, be it so; that the purpose of Congress is to maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to establish and preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the men of the several States acknowledged and protected; and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease, and shall, but not sooner.

SALEM & SOUTH DANVERS R. R.

It will be seen by the following statement, which has been kindly furnished to us, that the travel over the Salem and South Danvers Railroad far exceeds the expectations of the sanguine. It is with great satisfaction that we present to our readers this statement, and assure them that such is the encouragement receeived by the proprietors that the public may not be surprised to see, at no distant day, an extension of the road to, and quite through the neighboring town of Danvers:

Average number of passengers carried daily (not including Sundays,) over the Salem and South Danvers Railroad, for each week, commencing July 13th, 1863, and ending August 30th, 1863:—

For the week ending	July 18,	999 per day.
"	ending July 26,	1150 per day.
"	ending Aug. 2,	1163 per day.
"	ending Aug. 9,	1358 per day.
"	ending Aug. 16,	1376 per day.
"	ending Aug. 23,	1392 per day.
"	ending Aug. 30,	1480 per day.

Increase	2d week over 1st, 15	per cent.
Increase	3d week over 2d, 1	per cent.
Increase	4th week over 3d, 16½	per cent.
Increase	5th week over 4th, 1½	per cent.
Increase	6th week over 5th, 2	per cent.
Increase	7th week over 6th, 7	per cent.

Per centage of increase 7th week over 1st, 48

Passengers carried Sunday, Aug.	2, 625
Passengers carried Sunday, Aug.	9, 706
Passengers carried Sunday, Aug.	16, 815
Passengers carried Sunday, Aug.	23, 963
Passengers carried Sunday, Aug.	30, 989

☞ A neighbor of ours relates the following as a fact, and as occurring in his own house, lately. A newly arrived servant girl (she was American) was set to roasting a leg of veal, and directed not to omit occasionally to baste it. The maid went to work, and after a while a lady of the house came into the room, and, observing a ball or skein of coarse cotton as rather out of place in the cooking region, was about to take it away. "By no means," said the maid. "And why?" said the lady. "Indeed, Mrs.—— told me to baste the veal and I intend to do so." An examination was had, and it was found that the basting had already faithfully progressed, for the good maid, with darn-needle and thread, had basted the leg of veal pretty much all over.

☞ The Statesman discourses of an "F. O. Prime, the candidate for Secretary of State," and "a member of the Senate last winter." We advise the Statesman to post itself up in "democratic" politics as quick as possible. Besides that there was no F. O. Prime or F. O. anybody else a member of the Senate last winter, no F. O. Prime was nominated at Worcester for Secretary of State.

☞ The Statesman speaks of the rhapsody of Richard S. Spofford as "a very able and excellent speech," and hopes "to be able to publish it in full." If that isn't stooping pretty low for "democratic" recognition, pray tell, O Humility, how deep are thy depths! Out of respect to the manes of the old Whig party, we implore the Statesman to cease such servility.

☞ The 1st Battalion of the 2d Heavy Artillery left Boston Friday afternoon last for North Carolina. The Battalion went out under command of Capt. A. P. Fuller, of Danvers, who will undoubtedly soon be promoted to Majorship. Capt. P. has been the recipient of high compliments since his connection with the new Regiment.

☞ Lieut. A. F. Upton, of this town, has been appointed Brigade Quartermaster of Gen. Ferrero's Brigade, in the 9th Army Corps, recently at Vicksburg, but now stationed in Kentucky.

THE "DEMOCRACY" AFFAIR AT WORCESTER.

If we had been so entirely at leisure Thursday last that we could not have been more so, we think we should have gone out to Worcester to see the men that then and there congregated, and to hear the noises that they there and then made. As we did not go, we have done the next best thing, or worst—read the "proceeds" as chronicled in the papers,—in the Post, Herald, etc., who, you know, are honorable men. Our first impulse was to laugh—seeing some of the names—but bethinking ourselves of the gravity of the matter, we stuffed a handkerchief in our mouth, and kept on a long face all through the columns. They took a vote who should speak. Mr. Abbott—whom they still call judge, because he once was—unanimously was elected a speaker, it being understood that his speech would not be likely to better his chances for the Governor nomination, whereto he was aiming. The ex-judge mounted the platform and went on in his usual way—parenthetically, but not perspicuously. Indeed, he never before jumbled up clauses, defied syntax, and stuck in those things "which might have been omitted without injuring the sense," quite so successfully. It was a rare specimen of style even for him. We report not what he said, he said so very little. We report only what he did not say—this time he did not say he was not "going to blow his own horn." The speaker said he was sick, and his speech certainly showed it.

The next orator was Dr. Loring. He was barely chosen, the anti-Loringites being afraid he would make too taking a speech. The Doctor did not speak long, but in so far as this, he spoke pretty well, namely, he seemed to know what he was talking about, and he kept in good humor even while lecturing his rascally "Democrats" for voting against him as a speaker. The gist of Governor Loring's remarks was, State Rights, by which was meant, "hnrrah for oppression!"

There was much scrambling for the presidency of the Worcester affair. It was finally got by Richard S. Spofford—sometimes known as Dick Spofford. Dick made a speech—a long, prosy (and if we may be allowed to express an opinion), the wishy-washiest speech we ever read. We supposed Dick had something in him, but if he has, it certainly did not come out 'tother day. As the speech was not illustrated with applauses and laughters—the Lord knows the laughters ought to have been in thick—we take it for granted that the speech was prepared, that is, written out, and furnished to the gentlemen of the press "previously beforehand." This being the case, we propose to send Richard to school again, and keep him there in the second class in primer, grammar, or something else, till he stops such business as the following:

"While the people of the South, on the one hand, almost unanimously have been jealous of the sovereignty of their respective States, the prevailing sentiment of the North, upon the other hand, has been willing to concede the point to the Federal Government in any doubtful question of the State or Federal Sovereignty—nay, even to concede the indubitable rights of the States. Or, in other words, that is to say, while the prevailing tendencies of construction of the Constitution have been centripetal, so to speak, in the North, they have been centrifugal in the South."

Other extracts might be made equally suggestive of the question, what in the devil do you mean, Dick? but we have no room for more of snch "substantive reality." We therefore leave the President, by most disrespectfully remarking, that as to language and the absence of matter, he has committed disgrace to political speech-making, even in "Democratic" conventions.

There was a doubt whether Gen. Whitney was invited to speak, but he spoke, and spoke on "this unholy war." Oliver Stevens did too, and George Sennott audaciously remarked that Oliver was begging for votes. A certain one-armed soldier made a speech in favor of supporting the government, and was hissed!

At last the babbling being over the balloting came. Abbott, J., declined to be governor, and it lay between Heterodox Whig Paine and Ginger Blue Loring. Paine got it, and painful it was to Loring that he did. Nevertheless, the Doctor said "I am happy and proud," and he moved the unanimous thing, and the cruel "Democrats" who wouldn't vote for the Doctor, gave him three cheers. Paine accepted. He said he was "truly gratified," and he "gratefully accepted." Other nominations were made—other pins set up to be knocked over—and then sixteen resolutions were lifted upon the platform by a little lawyer by the name of Avery. The platform was not observed to creak under the weight, and for good reason, for the resolutions turned out to be nothing but gas. The odor, however, when the touching off commenced, was insufferable, and about this time all persons not habituated to terrible stenches left the hall. While 'Squire Avery's unsavory odor was raging, four delegates were sent to the "National Convention," and four destitutes. Poor Abbott got a crumb this time, as did the everlasting Beach. The everlasting Plunkett had previously shouldered the Lieutenancy nomination for governor, and put for Pittsfield, no more to be heard of till another year—if then, Tom. George Lunt got 31 votes for to go to the "National Convention."

To wind up with, and in the confusion of "democrats" making up faces at old Whigs, and old Whigs saying, "damn yer eyes," to "democrats," some kind of a committee was partly chosen, and Dick aforesaid "centrifugally," "so to speak," "or, in other words, that is to say," chairmanly dismissed the crowd. Nobody said anything of McClellan all day! That great Major General wasn't mentioned! Paine, who started off on a run for governor, has already subsided into a walk, and has been overheard several times to say, "cuss the business!"

☞ We are authorized to state that Horse Railroad Tickets, by the package, will be sold at the rate of 23 for one dollar. B. F. Stevens, at his fine jewelry store, is having quite a demand for them, as well as for all other articles in his line. A good chance is now offered to the citizens of Salem to come and see his nice display of goods.

Danvers.—Rev. Charles R. Rice of Conway, formerly pastor of the First Congregational Church in Saco, Me., was installed as pastor o the First Church in Danvers, on Wednesday, the 2d inst.

Flour.—Mr. E. F. Gsborn, determined that none shall suffer in this vicinity for want of the "Staff of Life," has opened a wholesale flour store, in Sutton's Building. See adv't.

LIFE IN THE SADDLE.

Headquarters Cavalry Department, Mackintosh's Brigade, Gregg's Division, Orleans, Faquir Co., September 2d, 1863.

Received your note and undertook to reply to it yesterday, when suddenly I heard the order, "Boots and Saddles," sounded. This immediately set the whole regiment in motion, which was, presto, all saddled, up and ready for work; with the rest, I ordered my horse saddled, and all my effects packed, ready for a hasty departure. On inquiring, after I had got all ready, I learned that a party of about fifty men, in command of Major Cryer of the 6th Ohio Cavalry, had been attacked while on a scout and driven back with a loss of about twenty prisoners, one killed and three wounded, including the Major himself. He was surprised by a party of rebels under a Major White, numbering, by report, 300 men altogether. He was out on the road to Burbee's Cross Roads, about six miles from our camp at Orleans, when he was attacked by a superior force in front and obliged to retire, and then was assailed by men in ambush all along the road for a distance of two miles. The Major received a pistol shot in the leg, striking the patella; one man was killed and three wounded—one of the latter mortally, and the others severely in shoulder and side. Our regiment, after forming in front of the camp, went out as far as the Cross Roads, but finding that the enemy had an hour and a half advantage of us, returned, reaching camp about 9½ P. M. The wounded and killed were placed in an ambulance by Dr. W. and myself, brought back to camp, and removed into a house belonging to a Dr. Chapman, an Englishman, who lives in Orleans. He formerly practised in Baltimore, is a very intelligent and well educated old man (75 years,) but sympathizes very strongly with "Southern rights." The wounded were here dressed and made comfortable for the night and to-day sent to Warrenton. Our post here is held by a detachment of three regiments from our brigade, 1st Massachusetts, 6th Ohio, and 1st Rhode Island Cavalry, in command of Col. Sargent, and it is a very exposed position, being on the extreme right flank of the army and ten miles from the infantry camp at Warrenton, and the rest of the brigade of cavalry at that place. On the 23d of August I arrived at Warrenton at 7½ P. M. and remained all night. Next morning I went out to our camp, which I found was about a mile from the town, west, on the road to Annisville, Orleans, etc. I got my baggage into camp all right without mishap. The regiment remained in that camp until Wednesday last, when it came to this present place (Orleans,) and here we have remained since, with nothing to break the monotony of camp life until yesterday's affair. I take a ride out a mile or two to the picket, etc., but it is rather risky to go far, as the country is full of guerillas. The site from camp commands a fine view of the Blue Ridge for a considerable distance and it is very picturesque, and thus I have an excellent chance to test my field glass, and feel perfectly satisfied with it. All agree that it is one of the best in the regiment. There are very few sick; not more than six or eight on the average of the daily record.

I received a letter from Professor P——s yesterday. He is anxious about his son's (Lieut. P.) health. I have tried for a week past to persuade him (the Lieutenant) to make application for furlough, but he seems unwilling. I have finally taken the initiative and got out his papers and hope to be able to put them through.

RECONSTRUCTION.

It is not difficult to divine what the copperhead press means by the terms "Reconstruction" and "the Union as it was." They mean, submission of the North to the South, the guarantee of Slavery and the placing of the Rebels in power. They would make peace tomorrow by allowing at once, Jeff. Davis, Breckinridge, Mason, Slidell, Toombs and Vallandigham all the political rights of loyal men. They would re-enslave manumitted negroes and not only foster and protect slavery in the old States, but extend it to the new. They would inaugurate a government composed of a mosaic of Copperheads and Rebels. Who that has read the sentiments expressed by their speeches and presses, can doubt that they would willingly call into the national councils the very traitors who have been at the bottom of all our troubles? With Seymour for President, Breckinridge, Vallandigham and others of the like kidney in the Cabinet, and Slidell, Mason and other rebels for foreign ministers, they would elect a Congress who would vote the assumption of the confederate debt. We can easily imagine what would follow such a "reconstruction."

☞ The Register pays the following just and feeling tribute:

An Old Friend Departed. We were surprised and pained yesterday to hear of the death of Capt. Charles Stephens, a respected and valued citizen of Beverly, long and favorably known in the affairs of the town. We were aware that for a long time, ever since he had suffered from a severe and almost fatal attack of illness, his health had been precarious; but he was able to be about, and it is so short a time since we saw him as well as he had been for months, that the intelligence of his death was sudden and unexpected. Capt. Stephens was born in Beverly Feb. 5, 1779. For years he was engaged in mercantile pursuits, and always manifested an intelligent and active interest in Town, State and National affairs. He filled several town offices with ability and acceptance. Thirty years ago he was one of the Representatives of his native place in the General Court, and has served in the same capacity since then, the last time in 1857. For many years he commanded the Beverly Light Infantry, and was ever a zealous and devoted friend of the Militia. He was formerly an officer in the Boston Custom House, and for the last two years, and at the time of his death, Inspector at Beverly for the District of Salem and Beverly. His genial disposition, obliging character, fine social qualities, intelligence, and energy, made him a general favorite, and his counsel and co-operation were much sought after in the numerous cases in which the services of a public spirited citizen can be made widely useful. He will be missed and mourned not only by his townsmen but by a large circle of attached friends outside of the community in which he has so long dwelt.

LETTER FROM PHILADELPHIA.

Philadelphia, Aug. 26th, 1863.

Dear Wizard,—No man is proof against disappointments, though they come not "like angels visits," he can't get used to them. A little prospect is suddenly knocked on the head—down goes the blow deep into the feelings of expectation. Hope—exhilarations nourish the body, give vigor to our wondrous mechanism.

Disappointments make us limp rapid, only vigor enough to enforce our ill-nature. Here am I in Philadelphia perspiring freely. It is the "wet season" with the body—a very "inundation of the Nile" to the cuticle!

My leather-bag, plump with the linen of a sennight, my sole companion to this city seems to me partaker in my grief. It was packed for other parts! I had well matured intentions.—One night I saw, or thought I saw, what the morn must bring forth. The gay, natty anticipated "team" brought round to the door—leather-bag, "plump with," &c., stowed safely under the seat—a gay companion (trouble not your head for the gender) mounted upon it, and a sprightly getting up there myself by his (her?) side and a rapid driving independently away northward—no matter where—all faded like a dreamed vision. Business was the point that pricked that vacation balloon. Nothing aerial about business. Who does business must come down to earth and be earthy very. I did, and took cars for New York. Bother the cars! necessary nuisances though. How audaciously they take up, and cut off your views!—with speed and cinders: and take the poetry out of you, and your favorite poet! "Railway literature" must be simply just something not worth reading—to look at sometimes—to glance over more frequently at young Beauty on the opposite seat going rapidly to fatigue.—To New York by rail! now, don't argue with me. Don't mention the luxury and comfort of the sleeping car. That's a lie—for me. I can't accomplish "nature's sweet restorer" by processes wiggle-waggle. Morpheus has tried his mesmeric powers several times upon me and failed. He thinks he might succeed, by time and patience, against rumble and jerk; but shakes his ancient locks doubtfully at the locomotive "screeches."

Variety of position is worth something on a long trip, so I paid a dollar for the privilege of horizontal elongation. At half-past ten I distinctly nodded in my seat—happy moment!—To seize it, off go my boots, and I lay myself out and shut my eyes. Ah! the car light's faint glimmer is shut out but not the sense of it. Bootless and on deck at the ferrying across to New London, (think of friends there!) No sleep to N. Y. and a hasty breakfast at the "Astor"—coffee excellent—chops cold—potatoes colder—for all of which having paid with no inclination to "elevate the host"—I am off to Jersey Ferry! Cars again—four hours later you are in "Quaker City." A foggy obscuration of morning glories saves you from a description; and really I ought to apologize for this preambling gate and come down to soberer paces. But think of it! The mercury only a degree or two on the cool side of a round hundred! The heat of inspiration and this are not identical. Thinking is out of the question and if, O Reader, you expect point, brilliancy or anything of that sort, I pray you turn to another column and leave your "disappointed" correspondent unread.

I shall not take you "around" the city—our time is limited—but we will take a look at matters as they come in our course and perhaps talk our thinkings as we sit on the balcony looking at the living panoramma below.

Every thing worth looking at in the genteeler walking way moves up and down Chestnut Street; the grand centre—the mutual exchange of which is the Hotels, the Continental on one side, on the other the Girard, frowning upon each other in first class style. How are you, Continental? No. 110! The proprietors can keep a Hotel. Quite a volume discriptive of the Continental may be had at the office. I therefore forbear. Not all the Beauties are rustling their muslins and silks where the briny breezes blow. Sweet faces and elegant figures give to the saloons of the Continental what the upolsterer cannot. I like the "figures," not because they show to so much advantage the tricks of fashion but as they suggest health and strength and mean vigor to the race which is to come.

When in Philadelphia I always drop in to the Old State House—that other cradle of Liberty, to see the statue of the Father of his country and the paintings of the old heroes, (old because we make news ones in these times) and sit on "a part of a pew in Christ Church that Washington, Franklin, Lafayette and Bishop White sat in," and look at the old bell that first announced to expectant Americans "Independence Day has come," and inspect the chair made of so many endeared and distinguished woods, the choisest, that from the house Columbus once lived in. I come out a better man.

Regiments of officers are quartered at the present time in Philadelphia, and wandering about the city in a very "demoralized" condition. Attentive to dress they appear well disciplined in the knack of showing it off.—Some of the exhibitions are very delightful foppery—admirable quintessence of sworded dandyism. But the "kid gloved" order have in so many instances during the rebellion took to the "flinty and steel couch of war" with such "prompt alacrity," changed the "kids" for the gauntlet with so much grace that, though I wonder at the numerous furloughs, it would be uncharitable not to acquit these carpet-knight-looking gentlemen of having any horror of "villanous saltpetre." Let them be forgiven, under "your only peace maker"—if they are as ready to report for duty as they are prompt to come up to the Continental Bar.

If we understand American habits and customs by what we see in New England, then Philadelphia is "out in the cold." Comparison is challenged at every turn. Little of the Qnaker is seen here—none of the Puritan—the specimens of Dutch looseness would astonish him. At bottom Boston and Philadelphia are much the same, but in warm weather the Philadelphian removes his garments and shows "like what he is"—the Bostonian is seldom clear of his Puritan stays—strait laced—in promiscuous company. The Puritan fears his neighbor more than his conscience. The "proprieties" are his manhood's bugbear.

Philadelphia—at this season at all events—presents an appearance very gone-out-of-town-ish. Such closing up of shutters and blinds! Marble is greatly used in construction of the houses. Marble is thrown out in steps upon the sidewalks—about the doors as framework; used as underpinning and often stretches up a shole story, staring whitily at you. Doors, and shutters (for the lower windows) are also generally white. Not a bit of English comfort in sight. At night—change! Open shutters, blinds, windows and doors. Come forth oh ye, unsunlit people and sit on your steps and gaze out of your windows and give no profit to your gas companies! Oh moon!

Reader, how little you know of this city from anything I have said in this letter. You must be patient; "some other time."

Disappointed.

Promoted.—Sergeant Henry P. Fowler, of Danvers, has been promoted to a second lieutenancy, in the 14th Regt.

☞ Ladies will please notice the changes in our advertisicg columns to-day. Our dry goods merchants are preparing for the fall trade.

☞ Large improvements and additions have been recently made in the currying establishments in South Danvers, and we are pleased to record the evidences of the prosperity of this thriving town. Henry Poor & Sons have recently built a new currying shop, three stories in height, with steam works and all the latest improvements, near their tannery on Main St. Thomas E. Proctor, Esq., is also fitting up a large building on the Upton Estate and formerly called Upton Hall, for prosecuting the currying business with all the facilities which experience can dictate or capital furnish. Each of the above establishments will give employment to from fifty to sixty hands. Mr. Wm. N. Lord has made quite an addition to his shop on Foster Street, and is putting in steam works, and all the other firms in So. Danvers seem to be putting on steam in the way of getting out leather. We are sorry to say that there seem to be no corresponding improvements among the neighboring tanners and curriers of Salem.

New
RIBBONS
and
FLOWERS
Opened at PEABODY'S, yesterday.

French Classes.

A lady, educated in France, and speaking the French as her native language, besides having had the experience of several years in teaching it, both privately and in seminaries, is desirous to secure classes for the ensuing autumn and winter. This will afford a superior opportunity for those who wish to acquire an accurate knowledge of spoken as well as written French.

For further information apply at No. 6 Aborn St., South Danvers.

September 9.

Attention, Co. C!

The members of Company C are requested to meet at the Warren Bank Building, on WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9, at 2 o'clock, P. M., to take steps to obtain the $25 bounty. A gentleman will be present to prepare the necessary papers.

Each member will bring his discharge paper.

Capt. R. S. Daniels, Jr.

September 9.

Bargains in Kid Gloves.—John P. Peabody has determined to close his entire stock of light Kid Gloves, and has marked them down to 75 cents. They are the best goods and are sold in Boston and Salem for $1 25 and $1 50.

☞ Visit Osborne's Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in Hats and Caps—191 Essex street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For ale at the Equity Store, South Danvers. See advertisement.

Perham's New Enterprise.—We refer our readers to the patriotic project of Mr. Josiah Perham, the particulars of which are set forth in another column. The object proposed is the founding of a National Home for Invalid and Disabled Soldiers, and the plan for raising the funds is novel, but entirely feasible. Subscribers to the fund are entitled to four admissions to the Great Mirror of the Rebellion, or to the Seven Mile Mirror, either in Boston, or wherever else exhibited, for each dollar paid, and when 100,000 tickets have been sold, the ticket-holders will be presented with a large amount of valuable property.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 29th, schrs Daniel Breed, Patterson, Bangor; 30th, Boxer, Sutton, do; 1st, Louisa Gray, Bowen, and R G Porter, Smith, Philadelphia.
Ar 3d, schr Pearl, Robinson, Rockland.

Marriages.

In Salem, Mr John H Sweeney to Miss Ellen Kiernan; Mr Jno Green to Miss Mary H Robinshaw; 23d, Mr Matthew Creamer to Miss Bridget Grace; 3d, Mr John B Margeson, of Springfield, to Miss Elizabeth L Skerry of S.
Aug 31st, by Rev Willard Spaulding, Mr E Augustus Annable to Miss Susan A Hoyt.
Sept 5th, by Rev Brown Emerson, Sergeant Fred W Smith, 23d Mass Reg, to Miss Mattie M, daughter of Charles F Rand, Esq.

Deaths.

In this town, July 26, Mrs Betsey Moulton, 86 yrs 3 mos 15 ds.
July 31, David W, son of Wm W and Laura Reed, 1 year 8 mos 26 ds.
Aug 13, Mrs Emeline L Skinner, 42 years 4 mos 4 ds.
Aug 14, Henry P, son of Jacob and Melissa Berry, 13 mos.
Aug 21, Lizzie S, danghter of Henry P and Lucy S Southwick, 2 yrs 7 mos.
Aug 27, Mary Ettie, daughter of Andrew and Gertrude E Wiggin, 2 years 1 month 8 ds.
William G, son of Wm and Harriet E Tarbox 2 years 6 mos.
Sept 1, Margaret Ellen, child of Michae and Mary M'Grath, 18 mos.; Alice M, daugh ter of Oliver A and Hannah M Lane, 3 mos.
Sept 2, Allen P, son of James M and Am Southwick, 5 years 4 mos.
Sept 2, Mrs Abigail Wentworth, 65 yrs 4 ds
In Danvers, 7th inst, Miss Julia A, eldes daughter of Mr Alfred Trask, 21 years. [Ne Hampshire papers please copy.]
In Salem, Sept 3, Mrs Ellen, wife of Denni Neagle, 57 yrs; Isabella Frances, daughter o Samuel G and Jane S Fairfield, 18 mos; 4th Phennie Hurd, only child of Wm C and Eliz B Horton, 11 mos; 7th, Arthur Treadwell, so of Daniel T and Mary E Smith, 9 mos; 6th Catharine, daughter of Thomas and Mary Ne ville, 5 mos; 7th, Rev G S G Spence, son o Deacon John Spence, of Boston, 44.
In Salem, Aug 30th, Mary A and Hattie I twin daughters of Robert M and Vesta E Cop land, 17 ds; Sept 1, Mrs Susan S, wife of J Julius F Prince, and daughter of the late Ro ert Hodgdon, 45; 3d, Mr Patrick Stanton, 7

BEST KID GLOVES in light colors for 75 cts., close at Peabody's.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are consideeations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not kdow." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of 'Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fevers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and Hepatical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS. — Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits. Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

M. FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

LETS.....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;

At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Sep. 8, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Dr Preston M Chase	Anthony Roman
E B McCarthy A B	John W Perkins
Mary Regan	William Collins

Advertisements.

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX ss. Probate Court. To the next of Kin, Creditors, and all other Persons interested in the estate of HANNAH L. WILSON, late of South Danvers, in said county, widow, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, application has been made to said court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to SAMUEL WELCH of South Donvers, in the county of Essex, trader:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Tuesday of October next, at nine o'clock before noon, to shew cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said Samuel Welch is heteby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the South Danvers Wizard, printed at South Danvers, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this first day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty three. A. C. GOODELL, Register.
Sept 9, 1863. 3w

PERHAM'S
SEVEN MILE MIRROR
INVALID SOLDIER BENEFIT
TICKET ENTERPRISE

FOR THE FOUNDING OF A

NATIONAL INSTITUTION

FOR THE RELIEF OF

Invalid and Disabled Soldiers.

JOSIAH PERHAM,

Agent for the Seven Mile Mirror,

Has the honor to announce a plan for the founding of a National Institution, to be a home for Invalid and Disabled Soldiers.

100,000 TICKETS,

Each admitting Four Persons to any Exhibition in the Popular Entertainment, or to any Exhibition of the

Great Mirror of the Rebellion,

Which will be soon unrolled to the public, will be sold at

ONE DOLLAR EACH.

One half the profits of the Entire Sale

TO BE EXCLUSIVELY DEVOTED AND DONATED

TO THIS PATRIOTIC OBJECT.

The holders of the 100,000 Tickets shall choose Trustees in Mass Meeting to be held in Boston,

On Wednesday, October 28th, 1863,

who shall receive the funds as aforesaid, on their giving sufficient bonds to faithfully apply the same to this object, in accordance with the plans of the originator.

☞ To speedily accomplish this great purpose every wise means will be used by the projector to effect the immediate sale of the tickets, and he calls upon the loyal and humane to assist earnestly, in act and deed, in carrying this noble undertaking forward to a triumphant success.

Neither its importance nor its feasibility can be called in question; let the people but respond in a spirit worthy of the project, and no obstacles shall delay its consummation.

Making the proposition in good faith, and ready to devote his whole energies to the great work, the projector firmly believes the tide of popular favor will flow in the desired direction, and accomplish the founding, and ensure the erection of a permanent National Institution, which shall be an asylum for the retired Soldier, whose loss of health, or limb, is his diploma FOR HEROIC SERVICE performed in his country's cause; and which shall go down to future generations a blessing to mankind and an enduring monument to the liberality of the loyal people.

By combining this enterprise with the public place of amusement, of such well-known high character and merit, the subscriber to the fund, while giving his money for the promotion of a great charitable design, may receive a full equivalent for the outlay in witnessing this splendid series of Paintings.

As soon as the Tickets are sold, in addition to one-half the profits to be paid over as aforesaid, the following described property will be donated to the Ticket-holders and placed in the hands of the Trustees chosen as aforesaid, to be held in trust, and to be disposed of as the Ticket-holders shall direct in Mass Meeting, which may be by selling the property and appropriating the proceeds thereof for the benefit of Invalid Soldiers, or they may instruct the Trustees to dispose of the property among the Ticket-holders, or in any other way most agreeable to them, with this specific condition, that in disposing of the property there shall be no violation of the law:—

One genteel Residence in City of Roxbury, Mass., valued at	$10,000
Three Piano Fortes, valued at $500 each	1,500
Five Piano Fortes, valued at $300 each	1,500
Five Gold Watches, at $100 each	500
Fifty " " " $50 each	2,500
Two shares in the Boston & Worcestor Railroad, valued at $130 each	260
Two shares in the Boston & Maine Railroad, valued at $130 each	260
Two shares in the Merchants' Bank, Boston, valued at $100 each	200
Six thousand Gold Union Medals at $3 each	18,00
Two Sewing Machines at $50 each	100
	$34,720

THE SEVEN MILE MIRROR.

Will be exhibited in various parts of the country to accommodate the Ticket-holders.

The Great Mirror of the Rebellion,

On which the best Artists in the country have been employed for the last three months, will be opened at the Melodeon, in Boston, on Monday, September 14th. This great work of Art illustrates with startling Dioramic accompaniments the most thrilling incidents and terrific Battles of the War, both Naval and on Land.

TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH,

Tickets one dollar each, or to any one who will get up a Club of Ten and forward ten dollars will receive eleven tickets, each ticket admitting four persons. Tickets for sale at the Melodeon, 367 Washington street and at the Adams House, Boston, Mass.

All communications on this subject, and all orders for Tickets by mail or express, should be directed to

JOSIAH PERHAM, Agent,
Adams House, Boston.
Sept. 9. 4—w.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by

James F. Almy.

Shawls! Shawls! Shawls!

☞ We have just received from New York a fine assortment of BERLIN SHAWLS.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central st.
Sept 9, 1863.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,

WILL open FALL and WINTER GOODS of desirable styles, this day.
Salem, Sept 9.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless,

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.

NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.

LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

ITS publication marks an era in the history of Maps. It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc, made famous by the War, and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It is a County Map, and neatly col'd. Price in sheets, 60 cts; mounted $1 25. Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
aug 19 Publisher's Agents.

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.

Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WANTED!

$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.
South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult

JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT.

Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.

POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

THE PIANO FORTES

THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,

218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,

where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call:

Mch 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7 and 11 A M, and 1½ and and 5 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.

Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.

Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

Dancing.

MR. E. UPTON'S Fall Term for instruction in Dancing, will commence on Saturday afternoon, September 19th, at Creamer Hall, Salem, at two o'clock.
Salem, Sept. 2d, 1863. 3w

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

NEW BOOKS,

AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S.

THE Amber Gods, by Miss Prescott;
Fine Wool Sheep Husbandry, by H. Randall, LLD;
Philip Van Artevelde, by Henry Taylor;
Army and Navy Journal; Monthly Religious Magazine for Sept; Church Monthly, do; Little Pilgrim, do;
Two Pictures, by Miss McIntosh;
Glimpses or the World, by Miss Sewall;
Sept 9 Sign of the Five Golden Books.

ALL THE NEW BOOKS

GO into our Subscription Circulating Library. Terms four dollars a year in advance, this is the cheapest way of reading the new publications.
Sept 7 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

John P. Peabody.

NEW GOODS.

Cambric Edgings,

We have just received a choice stock of new patterns in Wrought Cambric Edgings and Flouncings, at very low prices.

Hem Stitched Hdkfs.

A few Cartons Hem Stitched Hdkfs, in all grades—wide and narrow Hem. A good fine Hdkf for 25 cts. In this department we can show decided bargains.

Embroidered Hdkfs.

We have a choice stock of Wrought Hdkfs, in all qualities, from 25 cents to $3 50 each. A pretty Wrought Edge Hdkf for 25 cents—a real bargain.

German Zephyr Worsteds.

Our Stock of German Zephyr Worsteds will be large and desirable, and we shall sell them as heretofore, much under the regular market prices.

Leather Goods.

Elastic Band Wallets, Travelling Bags, &c., in variety. In this department, we have a new stock, comprising all the choice styles, and at prices THAT WILL NOT FAIL TO SUIT

Corsets and Skirts.

In these goods we keep none but those we can warrant in every respect. A nice Corset for $1 35. French Embroidered Corset $1 75. Skirts from 35 cents to $3 00.

Trimmings and Buttons.

We have a full line of Trimming Goods, Braids, Buttons, Bindings, Cords, Silks, Emb'd Braids, &c. In Buttons we have—Silk, Crochet, Velvet, Plush, Jet, Steel, Leather, Pearl, Rubber, Agate,.....&c,...&c,.....&c,....&c.

Woolen Yarns.

Our stock of Yarns is all fresh—opened the past week—in White, Drab, Slate, Purple, Black, Majenta, Crimson, Scarlet and Random—in the best quality.

Head Dresses in pretty new styles;

Steel and Jet Pins and Buckles—new patterns;

Cambric Edgings and Flouncings, choice styles;

Hem Stitched Linen Hdkfs.—fine—25 cents;

Wrought Edge Hdkfs.—pretty styles—25 cts.;

Steel, Jet and White Bead nets—for the hair;

Bonnet Ribbons, Artificial Flowers and Ruches;

English Thread, Smyrna and Guipure Laces;

Zephyr Worsteds—all colors—4 and 8 fold;

Woolen Yarns—best quality—all colors;

Woolen Hosiery, gent's, ladies' misses' & chil'n;

Steel, Jet, Glass, Pearl, Silk & Crochet Buttons;

Dress Trimmings, Bindings, Braids and Cords;

Hair, Nail, Tooth and Soft brushes—all prices;

Soaps, Perfumes, Hair Oils, Pomades, &c.;

Knitting, Sewing, Crochet & Darning Needles;

Elastic Braids and Cords—in Silk and Cotton.

Magic and Collerette Ruffles—all widths;

Corsets and Skirts—in all the best makes;

Elastic Band Wallets, Travelling Bags, &c.;

Black French Lace Veils—Round and Square;

Mourning Veils, Collars, Sleeves, Gloves, &c.;

Black Kid Gloves—in the best quality;

Guipure Lace Collars—in pretty patterns;

Infants' Waists and Robes—in all qualities;

Ivory, Rubber & Horn Combs, Fine Side & back

Back Combs—in fancy Patterns—new;

White Cambrics, Muslins, Lawns, &c.;

Checked and Striped Cambrics & Linen Lawns;

Embroideries—in every variety and price;

Lisle, Silk, Braganza, Cotton and Kid Gloves;

Ladies' misses' & children's gloves, every variety

Embroidery Cottons, Braids, Silks, Cords, &c.;

Best White Glazed Spool Cottons, 200 yds, 6c;

Best Worsted Dress Braids—full length, 8c;

Two Cakes Union Rose Soap—fine, 5c;

Nice Honey Soap—Large Cakes—only, 5c;

Fine Almond Soap—large cakes—only, 5c;

Low's Old Brown Windsor—package, 25c;

Ladies' Rubber Pages—with clasp, 12c;

☞ The largest Stock of Ladies' Furnishing Goods in Essex County.

ONE PRICE ONLY!

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,
JOHN P. PEABODY.
Sept. 9th, 1863.

A. J. Archer & Co

FALL AND WINTER.

ELEGANT NEW GOODS.

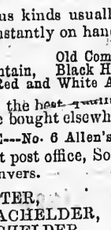
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
ARE OPENING
MANY NEW STYLES OF
DRESS GOODS,
INCLUDING
Ottoman Reps,
Cashmere Plaids,
Thibet and M. D. Laines,
Rich & Heavy Black Silks,
Plain Colored Silks.
ALSO
SHAWLS
Of every description.
Salem, Sept 9—tf

FLANNELS AND COTTONS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Have on hand a full supply of
BROWN SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
BLEACHED SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
— Also —
GREY TWILLED FLANNELS;
WHITE FLANNELS,
which they offer at the LOWEST PRICES.
Salem, Sept 9—tf.

FIRST CLASS GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES



PREPARATORY

TO receiving their FALL STOCK of NEW GOODS, BROWNING & LONG offer many Bargains. They find that their "POPULAR PRICES" are appreciated, and therefore continue offering them with still further inducements.

NEW GOODS
N N N
E E E
W W W
NEW GOODS.
G O G
O O O
O D O
D S D
S S
NEW GOODS

They will commence the Autumn Season with one of the best stocks ever shown in Salem, offering especial attractions, a larger assortment, and a better variety than heretofore, and will adhere to their motto of selling

"FIRST CLASS GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES."

☞ Due notice will be given of the opening.

BROWNING & LONG'S.

Essex St., 177 Essex St.,
Salem, Sept. 9, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,

(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retai yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE---No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.

April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of MRS. M. M. FLETCHER her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE, ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
At 236 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.
M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURES TO ORDER

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

George S. Walker.

Fancy and Toilet Articles,
FOR GENTLEMEN.

HAIR BRUSHES, English and French Hat Brushes, Cloth Brushes;
Dressing, Pocket and Fine Combs;
Pocket Books and Purses;
Soaps for the Toilet and Shaving;
Razors and Razor Strops;
Hand Mirrors, Shaving Boxes;
Pen and Pocket Knives;
Hair Oils and Pomades;
Lubin's Extracts;
Farina's genuine Cologne;
Tooth Paste and Powders;
Key Rings; Nail Knives;
Tooth Picks;

Pearl and Sleeve Buttons, with a great variety of useful articles for Gentlemen, can be found at

GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
sept 9 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

Gent's Summer Under Shirts.

DRAWERS, HOSIERY, GLOVES, TIES, &c., for the balance of the season, can be bought at Low PRICES, at

GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom

(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7—3m CLARK & GIDDINGS.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,

Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUCHS
GUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

R. C. MANNING & CO.

Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

NEW STOCK

— OF —

DRY GOODS

— AT —

No. 238 Essex street,

(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

THE Subscriber opened on MONDAY, May 18th,

A Fresh Stock of Dry Goods,

Consisting of nearly all the new styles of Dress Goods, Ladies' Cloths, Cloths for Men's & Boys' Wear; Shawls, Domestic and Housekeeping Goods; Sun Umbrellas; Parasols; Hoop Skirts; Hosiery; Gloves; &c., &c., &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

GEORGE P. DANIELS.
Salem, May 20.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,

— BY —

C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at

NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863,

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.

RHOADES' CELEBRATED

NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,

THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.

CALL AND EXAMINE.

For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

TO LET.

A PARTIALLY stocked and well located
GROCERY STORE.

A shoemaker, or a person of any other sedentary pursuit, wishing to spend a portion of his time in trading, will find this a capital chance to work into a good paying business. No capital will be required, but the applicant must bring recommendations for honesty and enterprise. Inquire at this office.
South Danvers, Aug 12. 3t

☞ If you wantto SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front street, Salem. ap30-tf

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.

Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

ON SATURDAY NEXT, at 9½ o'clock, will be sold at No. 34 Front street:

THE FURNITURE of a person breaking up Housekeeping; consisting of Mahogany Sofa, 6 Mahogany Chairs in hair cloth, Marble Top Card Table, Stuffed Mahogany Chair, Mirror, Card and Work Tables, Secretary, Eight-day Timepiece, Feather Beds, Bedstead, Crockery and Glass Ware, &c.

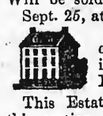
Also—1 6 Octavo Piano Forte and Stool.
Also—9 Bbls. Vinegar to close a Concern.

By GEORGE NICHOLS.

Auctioneer and Stock Broker—42 Washington Street, Salem.

Peremptory Sale of a very desirable Country Residence in Danvers at Auction.

Will be sold at public auction, on FRIDAY, Sept. 25, at 3 o'clock, P. M.:



That fine Estate situated on the corner of High and Purchase sts., in Danvers, occupied by JAMES D. BLACK.

This Estate is one of the most desirable in this section, the site is elevated, command in an extensive and exceedingly fine prospect, the elevation rendering it remarkably dry and healthy. Being midway between two enterprising villages, it is sufficiently removed from the turmoil of the busy centres to render it a quiet retreat, while at the same time it is not inconveniently removed from post offices, railroad accommodations, churches, schools or grocers.

It is distant from Salem three miles; within eight minutes walk of two post offices, three railroad depots, five churches, high, grammar and primary schools, and mechanic shops of every description.

The house is nearly new, of modern architecture, high stud, well built, of the best materials, has eleven rooms and is finished throughout; has a furnace, is well supplied with water, and has one of the finest stables in the vicinity.

Connected with the house is one acre of Land, in a high state of culture, well stocked with the best varieties of fruit, consisting of apples, pears, cherries, grapes, mulberries, currants, strawberries, blackberries, walnuts, etc., etc; ornamented by thrifty rows of elms on both fronts, good substantial bank walls, flourishing evergreen hedges, spruces, larches, flowering shrubs, herbaceous and climbing plants, etc., etc. The sale will be on the premises.
Sept. 7, 1863.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,
33 MAIN STREET.

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 · · MAIN ST. · · 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

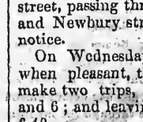
Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers,

DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

37 MAIN STREET.

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

Barn for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his barn, in rear of his residence on Holten st. Said barn is well adapted for any one wishing to keep a cow or horse. The loft will hold 1½ ton of hay.
Terms easy. S. Q. WHITE.
So. Danvers, Sept. 2, '63. tf

Salem & South Danvers Railroad.

THE Cars will hereafter run regularly from the New Depot on Webb street, passing through Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets, both ways, until further notice.

On Wednesday and Saturday Afternoons, when pleasant, the Car "Excursionist" will make two trips, leaving Webb street at 2.30 and 6; and leaving South Danvers at 3.10 and 6.40 M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Aug. 26, 1863.

Choice Spring Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the last Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.

BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, April 22, 1863. tf

Continued from first page.

she borrowed Queen Lilla's bed, the softest in the world, and gave it to the prince to sleep on.

In the morning she asked, "How did your highness sleep?"

"Oh, wretchedly," answered the prince; "I have never felt anything so hard and uncomfortable in my life. You should try the beds at my court. One can sleep on them."

"This is some impostor," said Bena to herself, "since he thinks it necessary to assume so much."

And she turned her back on him and would have nothing to say to him.

He was hardly out of sight, when there came a third prince, riding with no retinue save two knights, but fair and noble in mien, and courteous even to the little children, whom he stopped to kiss and play with.

"If this be not he," said Bena, "I care not for any!"

And all the birds sang loudly, "Let not your fortune wait too long."

And Bena, who was quite willing to take their advice, went with the prince to his court, and ruled there in state all the rest of her life.

☞ "He who rises late may trot all day but never overtakes his business." So said Dr. Franklin. A contemporary says: "We have watched those fellows who are early risers, and as a general thing they are the first chaps who go to the groceries of a morning. It's all moonshine about the smartest and greatest man being the early riser."

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY. because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs. Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Gennine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all canses of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose: and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test

Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1853—1 y

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing

JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Premature Decay, etc., etc., by one who has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned Doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island, by enclosing an addressed envelope. Address

CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,

—ALSO—

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD. 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—ly

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, May 23, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in Danvers, in said county, on MONDAY, the fourteenth day of September next, at 3 o'clock, P. M.:

THE right in equity that Charles Page of Danvers aforesaid has to redeem the following described mortgaged real estate situate in Danvers aforesaid, viz: a certain tract of land on Purchase Street, consisting of nursery land, tillage, pasture and salt marsh, containing ten acres and 110 poles, bounded as follows: beginning at the easterly corner thereof, by land of Richard Hood and Purchase Street, and running westerly on said street about 1460 feet to the middle of Crane River Bridge, thence winding by said river southeasterly to land of said Hood, thence by land of said Hood, as the wall now stands north 8° east about 190 feet, and more easterly 280 feet to the corner first mentioned. Also a lot of land containing about 60 poles, bounded southerly by Purchase street 143 feet, westerly on Ash street 136 feet, northerly and easterly by middle of Crane river.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, August 5, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in South Danvers, on THURSDAY, the tenth day of September next, at 9½ o'clock, A. M.:

THE right in equity that Henry Bowers has to redeem his mortgaged dwelling house (wherein he now lives,) with the land under and adjoining, situate in Goldthwait Place, South Danvers.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Sheriff's Sale.

ESSEX ss, August 5, 1863. Taken on execution, and will be sold at public auction at the Post Office in South Danvers, on THURSDAY, the tenth day of September next, at 9½ o'clock, A. M.:

THE right in equity that John Murphy has to redeem his mortgaged tannery, land and buildings, situate by Silsbee street in South Danvers, formerly owned by B. C. & R. S. Osborn.

STEPHEN UPTON, Deputy Sheriff.
August 26 3w

Assignees' Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the second meeting of the creditors of Eben'r S. Howard, of South Danvers, in the County of Essex, Insolvent Debtor, will be held at the Court of Insolvency in Salem, in said county, on the fourteenth day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, when creditors may be present and prove their claims.

Also at the same time and place will be held the third meeting of the creditors of the said Eben'r S. Howard, at which meeting the Assignee will present his account, and creditors may be present and object to the allowance thereof.

H. O. WILEY, Assignee.
Aug 3, 1863.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,

And for sale by

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for

MASSEY & COLLINS'

PHILADELPHIA ALES,

BUCKHART'S

CREAM ALE,

And Dealer in

LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.

LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND COVERS.

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.

They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world in an infallible, simple, easy, and rapid progress of Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are without a fault, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.

The sealing is on an entirely original plan. This principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried these articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar.

PRICE LIST.

Pints, per doz, $2 25; 3 pints, per doz, $3 50;
Quarts, " 3 00; Half-gallon, " 4 00;
Liberal discount to the trade.

S C & E A SIMONDS'.
Salem Aug 5 32 Front Street.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,

FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,

Central Street, South Danvers,

Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.

He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.

He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.

All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MILITARY BOOKS

AT G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S, September 2d.

Army Officer's Pocket Companion;
Benet's Military Law and Courts Martial;
Benet's Campaign of Waterloo;
Jominie's Art of War; Monroe's Co. Drill;
Digest of US Tactics, from the French of Steffen
Elements of Military Art of History;
Rifles and Rifle Practice, Wilcox;
The Ordance Manual, a most valuable Book;
Mahan on Field Fortifications;
Instruction in Outpost Duty;
Casey's Infantry and Rifle Tactics;
Cameron's Infantry Tactics; Scott's do do.
sept 2 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

THE NEW GOSPEL OF PEACE

ACCORDING to Lt. Benjamin. A burlesque on the Politicians and the Times. It shows up "Phernand iwood of Gotham," The Tshirubree of the South, etc.—Price 25 cents. For sale by G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY,

FOR September.—It contains contributions from Col Higginson, Gail Hamilton, Louis Agassiz, Rose Terry, Charles Sumner, Theodore Tilton, Robert Dale Owen, Edward L. Pierce, Julia Ward Howe. Numbers promptly furnished by
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

MARK YOUR CLOTHING.

STENCIL Plates cut in the best way; Indellible Ink, Brushes, etc., at the lowest prices, at
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Cards.

WILLIAM G. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feh13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aueroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

JOHN MOULTON,
LIVERY STABLE,
Central Street, South Danvers.
Mr. M. will endeavor to keep up the good reputation of his stable, by still keeping good Horses and Carriages. jan 7, 1863.

Advertisements.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,
SALEM.
WE are selling out all our Black Silks;
We are selling out all our Cambric Prints;
We are selling out all our French Prints;
We are selling out all our nice Taffetas;
We are selling out all our Organdie Muslins;
We are selling out all our Lawns;
We are selling out all our Cotton Hosiery;
We are selling out all our Linen Hdkfs;
We are selling out all our Domestic Goods;
We are selling thin Dress Goods for 1s worth 25 cents;
We are selling Bleached Cottons for 12½ cts;
We are selling light Spring Prints for 1s;
We have the Quaker Skirt for ladies;
We have the Belle Point Skirt for ladies;
We have the Trail Skirt for ladies;
We have the very best Silk for Visites;
We have a full assortment of B P R Silks, which we are selling out very low.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE
AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

SPRING BEDS! SPRING BEDS!

ALL those that are inclined to rest their weary limbs on the most luxurious

SPRING BED

that was ever invented, are invited to call at

No. 52 Main St., South Danvers,

and there see the very best SPRING BED BOTTOM that has been offered to the public.

Not having been able at first to meet the demands, I now have the facilities to supply all orders.

Having bought the right to make and vend for the county of Essex, the subscriber would be happy to supply all those who may favor him with a call.

Rights for sale for any town or city in the county except Haverhill and Lawrence.

THOS. TRASK.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale on favorable terms,—or would exchange for a Farm,—his Estate on Wallis Street, near the Monumental Cemetary, consisting of THREE DWELLING HOUSES, which will be sold separately or as one Estate.

There are 75 feet of land in front, and 72 feet in the rear of the house.

The situation is pleasant, in a good neighborhood, and the houses are supplied with all the conveniences for immediate occupation. In ordinary times these tenements would rent for from 330 to 350 dollars.

The Subscriber, having made up his mind to dispose of the property, will sell it low, and it is well worth the attention of purchasers.

Apply to JOHN M'NEAL.
South Danvers, Dec. 10th, 1862. tf.

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block]
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

AERATED BREAD.
THE subscriber will daily leave the above new article of bread with the principal grocers in this town, of whom it may be purchased at 5 cents a loaf. It is claimed that this bread—unrivalled in point of sweetness and wholesomeness—is more nutritious than that made in the usual way, that it will keep much longer, and is moister and more palatable, having the taste of new bread, even when it is several days old. F. H. KIRK.
So. Danvers, Aug 5, 1863.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8¼, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2½ 5½, 7¼, p. m.
Beverly, 8¼ am., 1, 3½, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55, 7¾ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8¼ a m., 3½, 5¾ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8¼ a m., 1, 5¾ p m.
Portsmouth, 8¼ a m., 3¾, 5¾ p m.
Portland, 8¼ a m., 3¾ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM

Portland, 8¾ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7¼, †11¼ a m., †5½ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m., 6¼ p m.
Ipswich, 7 25, 8.25, 10.25 a m, 12.25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10.10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, *9 05, 11.05 a m., 12.50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, *4 35, 5.35, *6.20, 5¾, *7.35, * 1.05 p m.
Boston, 7¼, *8¼, 10¼ a m., 12¼, 2¾, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9¼.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11¼ p m. and on Saturdays at 10¼ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Marblehead for Salem, 6¾, 7¾, 8¾, 9¾ a m., 12¾, 1¾, 5¼, 6¾, 7¼ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7¼, 8¼, 9.25, 11¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6¾, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5¼ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.

Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11¼ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7¾ a m., 12¾, 3¾, 6¼ p m.

J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:

Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9.40 a m. and 5 55 p m.

Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.

*Freight Train with passenger car attached.

F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON. Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.

WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David G. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y

Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assets—$375,000.

Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem,
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes, and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired.

CROUT & MUNROE'S

SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at 10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " " at 5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at 3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at 4 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.

Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street. Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.

Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.

Smallest favors thankfully received.

South Danvers, august 26—tf

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

TO

LYNN & BOSTON

BY

OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.

W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily.

Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving Scollay's Building, Court Street, at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.

Sunday Arrangements.

Leave S. Danvers at 7.50 a.m., and 4.50 p.m.
Leave Lynn at 9.40 a.m., and 6.40 p.m.

Cars leave Scollay's Building, Conrt Street, Boston, to meet the Omnibuses in Lynn for South Danvers, at 8 15 A. M., and 5 15 P. M.

Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - - 30 cents.

Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.

Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS

Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.

Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.

South Danvers, 1863.

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

MARSHALL'S

DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM EXPRESS.

Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.

OFFICES:

In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office.
Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible point in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1-6-tf

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.

Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.

Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE
South Danvers, 1860.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent. Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abcesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, uniting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded: loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating masrimony, consult a physician of experience, and he at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capottes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. 3 or $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION

TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a very few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1863. NO. 37.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Selected Poetry.

[From the New York Weekly Dispatch.]

BROTHERLY LOVE.

BY ROBERT MORRIS.

The attachments of Freemasonry and their rational cause are conveyed in the following lines. As distinguished from the cement of ordinary affiliations, untenacious and transient, the subject is worthy the study of the moralist and Christian:

By one God created, by one Saviour saved—
By one spirit lighted, by one mark engraved,
We're taught in the wisdom our spirits approve
To cherish the spirit of Brotherly Love,
Love, love, Brotherly Love,
This world has no spirit like Brotherly Love.

In the land of the stranger we masons abide,
In forest, in quarry, on Lebanon's side,
Yon temple we're building, its plans from above,
And we labor supported by Brotherly Love.

Though the service be hard and the wages be scant,
If THE MASTER accept it our hearts are content;
The prize that we seek for we'll have it above
When the Temple's completed, in Brotherly Love.

Yes, yes, though the week may be long, it will end,
Though the temple be lofty, THE KEYSTONE will stand;
And the Sabbath, blessed day, every thought will remove Save the memory fraternal of Brotherly Love.

By one God created—come, Brothers, 'tis day!
By one Spirit lighted—come, Brothers, away!
With beauty and wisdom and strength to approve,
Let's toil while there's labor, in Brotherly Love,
Love, love, Brotherly Love,
This world has no spirit like Brotherly Love.

A SONG FOR THINKERS.

BY C. SWAIN.

Take the spade of Perseverance,
Dig the field of Progress wide;
Every rotten root of Faction
Carry out and cast aside;
Every stubborn weed of Error—
Every seed that hurts the soil—
Tares whose very growth is terror—
Dig them out whate'er the toil!

Give the stream of Education
Broader channels, bolder force;
Hurl the stones of Persecution
Out, where'er they block its course.
Seek for strength in self-exertion—
Work, and still have to wait;
Close the crooked gate to fortune—
Make the road to Honor straight!

Men are agents for the future—
As they work, so ages win
Either harvest of advancement,
Or the product of their sin!
Follow out true Cultivation,
Widen Education's plan;
From the majesty of Nature
Teach the majesty of Man!

Take the spade of Perseverance,
Dig the field of Progress wide;
Every bar to true instruction
Carry out and cast aside.
Feed the plant whose fruit is Wisdom—
Cleanse from crime the common sod—
So that from the throne of Heaven
It may bear the glance of God.

PRENTICEIANA.—When we thrash the rebels by a cavalry dash, they may be said to be horse-whipped.

A Chicago editor says that we don't "seem to fancy the truth." His truth is undoubtedly a fancy article.

We have cut the rebel confederacy in two.—If it can live, we shall give full credit to the story of the dog said to have been split longitudinally from nose to tail by running against a scythe.—Louisville Journal.

☞ Those wishing to send letters to New Orleans, by the way of the Mississippi river, should mark on the envelope "via Cairo, Illinois," else they will go by steamship as heretofore.

☞ The rebel organs recommend the immediate killing of all the dogs in the Confederacy to save food. The Louisville Journal says: "We don't pretend to know what the rebels mean to do with the dogs after killing them, but we rather expect they will soon be growling at us worse than ever."

☞ Thaddeus Stevens has given an opinion, agreeing with Gen. Cushing, that the payment of three hundred dollars commutation money is the same as furnishing a substitute for a drafted person.

☞ A negro in Rhode Island was enrolled in two towns and drafted in both. In one case he goes, in the other he furnishes a substitute.

Selected.

GENERAL DODGE.

The following, relative to Gen. G. M. Dodge's reception, at his home, in Council Bluffs, we copy from the Daily Nonpareil of Sept. 1st:

On Monday evening last, our citizens turned out to extend a public welcome to Gen. Dodge. The artillery company was out in uniforms, and a majority of our citizens joined in the ovation. About sundown, a few guns were fired from the east end of the town, after which the artillery company formed in line, and with their piece, marched to the General's residence. After a salute had been fired, Mr. Crawford, in the name of the city, bade the General welcome home, in the following words, to which Gen. Dodge responded as below:

MR. CRAWFORD'S WELCOME.

Gen'l. Dodge:—I have been charged by the unanimous voice of the City Council, in the name and behalf of its citizens, with the pleasurable duty of bidding you a cordial and generous welcome to your home. To condole with you in view of your seriously impaired health, consequent to your long and ardous duties in the field, while standing near the flag of your country.

To communicate the hope that health and vigor may soon return to you, and that you may long live to enjoy the evidence of their entire confidence and profound respect you have so nobly won and so meekly wear.

I have been charged to thank you for your courteous and kindly generous treatment of our citizen soldiers entrusted to your care, and whom you have seen cloven down by your side, in the tempest of battle, upon the bloody slopes of Pea Ridge, and upon the plains and in the valleys of Tennessee—to whose valor on the field and faithfulness in the camp you have so often and eloquently paid honorable and generous tribute.

I have been charged to thank you, Sir, for your prudence and soldierly conduct upon the field of battle, by which you have conferred additional lustre upon the already glorious escutcheon of Iowa, and won for yourself a name in history, that must and will live as long as Liberty and good government are loved, and despotism, usurpation and tyranny despised.

In the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral, in London, is the tomb of Sir Christopher Wren, the architect of that noble structure, and the felicitous inscription upon it runs thus: "Reader, if you seek his monument, look 'round." And so we say this day to the world, and let the despotism of the old world behold and tremble. If you would see how well the American People love the Government of their Fathers "Look around." Behold the old man trembling with age, but with the flame of patriotism burning brightly in his bosom, casting away his crutch and grasping the deadly fire lock. The young man upon whose cheek still lingers the spring bloom of infancy nerving himself for the conflict as if he was a veteran of some of our proudest victories. The sister taking the sword of her dead father, and placing it in the hand of her brother, and as she does so casting away the scabbard. The mother taking her only boy and pointing where the battle rages tells him to go and to return with honor or come no more.

And how well Iowa soldiers have kept the oath they registered in heaven. Go read ye upon the graves of our early dead—upon the sepulchral stones of our Tuttle, Kinsman, Mills, and the hosts of our unreturning brave. But eulogy greets not the cold dull ear of death; let us hope when the Angel of Death presents us with his scroll that our death may be as glorious as theirs, and our memory worthy of the fame and honor theirs now enjoy. General, I bid you welcome to your home, in behalf of this large assemblage of your admiring fellow citizens, with the hope that repose will soon restore your impaired health and fit you for the further performance of the high and responsible duties imposed upon you; that your future may be as remunerative of honors as your past has been, and that you may long enjoy the confidence and respect of the people you have done so much to serve and honor.

GEN. DODGE'S REPLY.

Ladies and Gentlemen:—If I had the mental I have not the physical ability to make a proper response to your generous welcome. It was Gen. Scott, I believe, who said "that there was nothing dearer to a soldier than the approbation of his countrymen." I know that there is nothing dearer, when it comes from his own home, and from his nearest friends.

It is more than two years since I left this city, in command of the 4th Iowa Infantry. We promised the people of Western Iowa we would endeavor to do our duty. We felt our honor was at stake in upholding Iowa's good name. The record of this regiment is before you.—It is your right and your privilege to criticise it, and say how far they have kept their promise. It is a long time since I parted from the regiment, but I can truthfully say I am proud of its record. It bears a name in the army, and a fame as bright as that of any other, and stands forth prominent among all those brave Iowa regiments whose deeds have immortalized Iowa soldiers.

The army to-day is in excellent condition. It is loyal to the heart. It has fears only of dishonor—never of death; and all it asks of you is that generous support which all soldiers have the right to expect, and all Governments have the right to demand of its citizens. It believes in the present policy of the war, and says to you who are all anxious for peace, that there is but one way to obtain it, and that by hard fighting—dealing of swift, determined blows. No mild policy will accomplish it. Nothing but the utter defeat and breaking up of the rebel armies will ever bring peace.—We say to you, fill up our ranks—send us good cheering words at all times—give us your hearty, undivided support, and we will soon place this rebellion in a condition that you can read its downfall and destiny in words as plain as the noonday sun.

I have come home to regain my health and build up a constitution badly shattered. It is my desire, and I shall return the moment my surgeon marks me for duty.

I have buried my best friends and bravest men in the South, and I intend to stay there until you and I and every one can visit their graves in every State, under the peaceful protection of that flag which every loyal citizen loves to honor, and every soldier fight—and if necessary—die for.

There is a monitor here that tells me I have already gone too far. I would like to take each of you by the hand to-night, but my feeble health forbids, and I trust you will take my good intentions for the deed.

VARIETIES.

Sam Slick says—"I don't like preaching to the nerves instead of the judgment."

A Frenchman wishing to speak of the cream of the English poets, forgot the word, and said "de butter of the poets." A wag said he had fairly churned up the English language.

Young ladies, don't let the keys of the piano forte make you forget the keys of the store-room, or the enlightenment of your understanding prevent you from enquiring the price of candles.

A western editor thus fills up a blank in a column:—"'Twas the dead of night—an awful silence reigned—the stars cast their soft rays from the dome above. Young Lucius was not to be intimidated, though he was that night to peril his life—column full."

A gentleman dined one day with a dull preacher. Dinner was scarcely over, before the gentleman fell asleep, but was awakened by the divine, and invited to go and hear him preach. "I beseech you, sir, excuse me, I can sleep very well where I am."

Inconsistency—condemning a boy to prison for stealing a handkerchief, and yet allowing a wealthy shop-keeper, who has been convicted several times of using false weights, to get off with a small fine.

An English lawyer — Maryatt by name—once perpetrated the following: "The chimney took fire, and poured forth volumes of smoke—volumes, did I say?—encyclopædias!

☞ At Washington they estimate the number of men to be obtained by the draft at 150,000. We believe from the reports that come to us that it will not be over two-thirds of that number.

☞ Garabaldi, in his letter congratulating him upon his proclamation of emancipation, styles Mr. Lincoln "heir to the aspirations of Christ and John Brown."

☞ Love Gifts, it has been decided in London, are not recoverable under the law.

[For the Wizard.]

A DREAM.

One summer day, when the sun was high
And brightly shone in the cloudless sky
O'er Rockville's grassy plain,
I lay me down in a shady nook
Close by a stream called Tapley's Brook,
And there I dream't a dream!—

I dreamed there was a motley group
Seen dancing in the air—
From grey beard old to fiery youth,
And pretty maidens fair.

I asked a man with visage grey
If these were spirits freed,
Who to this earth had come again
To prove the modern creed?

The old man raised his wondering eyes,
First gazed at me and then the skies,
And as he told his story
He said, "My name is Cory;

"In sixteen hundred ninety two—
And what I tell you now is true—
The times were hard and trying;
Foes were many and friends were few,
And hardened hearts more stoney grew—
Alas! for human nature!

"Through these wood paths, dewy wet,
By this brook, whose waters fret
The roots of spectral beeches,
Lightly passed in days of yore
Those whose spirits humbly bore
The odious name of witches.

"And though no crime by all confessed,
Yet some were hung and others pressed
To prove this strange delusion;
I among them with my wife
Was pressed to death amid the strife
And mystical confusion.

"Near by this brook my grave was made,
Between two roads my body laid—
Denied a Christian burial—
May God in mercy forgive the deed
(And foolish dupes of the modern creed, Whose doctrine is ephemeral.)

"No spirits e'er on earth were seen,
Except it be in the land of dream,
Or through some fancied vision,
Just as thou see'st my visage grey
In this shady nook on a summer's day—
All else is but delusion."

I asked him if he ever knew,
Or thought it rather strange—if true—
That tables tipped or walked?
That some departed friends of ours
Were clothed with supernatural powers
And through the Mediums talked!

Disgurted at the very thought
That such a thing should now be taught
In eighteen hundred sixty-three,
The old man shook his hoary head,
Rejoiced to think that he was dead
And from such folly free.

"Go tell the Wizard man my story,
Tell him this from good man Cory:
No spirits e'er on earth were seen,
Except it be in the land of dream,
Or through some fancied vision."

W. S. LOVEJOY.

ORIENTAL WOMEN.

FROM A LECTURE BY COUNT KAZINSKI.

The next object of not slight interest is the Avret Bazaar, or woman market. Please do not be afraid, although the sound of these words is revolting.—"What," you may say, "a market where women are sold like beasts? Horrid idea!" Yes! yes! I grant it, and God forbid that I should defend it! Nevertheless, the pretty creatures seem so content that I cannot pity them, and the descriptions which you have read of weeping innocence, dishevelled locks, torn garments and beaten breasts, exist only in the imagination of some sentimental writers. The Circassians and Georgians are only victims of custom—willing victims;—being brought up by their mercenary parents for the merchant. Their destination is constantly before their eyes, painted in glowing colors, and so far from dreading it, they look with much anxiety for the moment when they are brought to the market. In the market they are lodged in separate apartments, carefully secluded, where, in the hours of business, they may be visited by aspirants for possessing such merchandize. The would-be-purchaser may fix his eyes on the lady's face, and his hands may receive evidence of her bust. Our waltz or polka allows nearly as much liberty before hundreds of eyes. The price and value differ, and depend upon their accomplishments and beauty. I am now at the point to give you a true picture of their beauty, intellect, social intercourse and pleasures. A very natural question arises. It is this: What can be said of women who have no balls, plays, masquerades, concerts, operas, theatres, lectures, panoramas, pic-nics, fancy fairs,—not even tea-parties? If no other, then that they are the happiest women in the world. Love, or desire, (as you will,) is the idol to which they are devoted from childhood; at whose altar their ideas are formed, to whose service their education tends.

The principal care of a mother is to instruct her daughter in the art of pleasing the first man who sees her—her husband; and, as his tastes are not refined, the nature of her lessons may be supposed. The oriental bride is a self-contradiction. Their beauty! who can be so presumptuous as to describe it? Eyes belying the prophet's anti-female soul doctrine, large and softly lustrous: a voice tuned like a silver lute, making music of every word that leaves the lips;—a luxurious expression, which rivals the Sybels feasting with Cleopatra; hands small, taper-fingered, indicate favorably of the remainder of nature's handiwork. Different from the Italian or Spanish black, or from the deep blue of fair American ladies, their eyes, in particular, are unrivalled for an expressive expression, which it is impossible to look upon without admiration. Of the higher classes of women in Turkey, (for the lower orders lead nearly the same life, in all countries, nursing children, cooking food, etc.,) rank first the inmates of the seraglio, who are divided into two classes, the Sultan's ladies, and the maidens of the valide Sultana. The former are purchased slaves, since no Turkish woman, being free-born, can be a mistress even of the sovereign; the latter are also in part slaves, and part daughters of Pashas, who have been placed there for honor, or on the death of their fathers. They are all instructed in the Arabian and Persian tongues, in dancing and singing. The resource of each other's company, the luxury of their existence, and the absence of care, render them happy. After a sister or a daughter, the Sultan cannot evince greater favor for a Pasha than by giving him in marriage one of his unknown women. An equal honor is a wife from the house of the valide Sultana. The lady in either case is placed at the head of her husband's harem, with absolute authority, since on her interest at court depends his advancement. More pashalicks are gained by petticoat interest than is supposed. The condition of a lady in a harem is very charming. She has a train of females, more or less numerous, more or less beautiful, and more or less ornamented, according to her fancy, distinguished as are the officers of her lord. They watch her eyes, listen for the clap of her hands, leave her alone, dance to her, sing, act the buffoon, any thing to please her whims. She smokes, chews mastick, sips coffee, and drinks sherbet. Viola her life! Tiresome enough, will you think, fair ladies, but habit reconciles us to everything and ignorance is bliss; and

"Where ignorance is bliss,
'Tis folly to be wise."

The oriental lady knows no other mode of existence, nor has she any books, to enable her to define the vague wishes which arise in her bosom in moments of languor. A singular amusement for consolation is the following example: Two ladies declare themselves lovers; plans of intrigue are formed, confidants established, secrecy ensured, billet-doux in flowery language exchanged, all the little ruses de guerre are employed to elude discovery, and in this way a harmless courtship is continued for years.

AUTOMATIC MACHINES.

Allow me to say, that the improved state of popular knowledge is but the necessary result of the improved condition of the great mass of the people.—Knowledge is not one of our merely physical wants. Life may be sustained without it. But in order to live, men must be fed, clothed, and sheltered; and in a state of things in which one's whole labor can do no more than procure clothes, food and shelter, he can have no time nor means for mental improvement. Knowledge, therefore, is not attained, and cannot be attained, till there is some degree of respite from manual toil and never-ending drudgery. But whenever a less degree of labor will produce the absolute necessaries of life, then there come leisure and means, both to teach and learn.

But if this great and wonderful extension of popular knowledge be the result of an improved condition, it may, in the next place, well be asked, what are the causes which have thus suddenly produced that great improvement? How is it that the means of food, clothing and shelter, are now so much more cheaply and abundantly procured than formerly?—Sir, the main cause I take to be the progress of scientific art, or a new extent of the application of science to art. This it is which has so much distinguished the last half century in Europe and in America; and its effects are everywhere visible, especially among us. Man has found new allies and auxiliaries, in the ponces of nature and in the inventions of mechanism.

The general doctrine of political economy is, that wealth consists in whatever is useful, or convenient to man, and that labor is the producing cause of all this wealth. This is very true. But then, what is labor? In the sense of political writers, and in common language it means human industry; but, in a philosophical view, it may receive a much more comprehensive meaning. It is not, in that view, human toil only—the mere action of thews and muscles; but it is any active agency which, working upon the materials with which the world is supplied, brings forth products useful or convenient to man. The materials of wealth are in the earth, in the seas, and in their natural and unaided productions. Labor obtains them, works upon them, and fashions them to human use. Now, it has been the object of scientific art, or of the application of science to art, to increase this active agency, to augment its power, by creating millions of laborers in the form of automatic machines, all to be diligently employed, and kept at work by the force of natural powers.—To this end these natural powers, principally those of steam and falling water, are subsidized and taken into human employment. Spinning machines, power-looms, and all the mechanical devices, acting among other operatives, in the factories and workshops, are but so many laborers. They are usually denominated labor-saving machines, but it would be more just to call them labor-doing machines. They are made to be active agents; to have motion and to produce effect; and though without intelligence, they are guided by those laws of science, which are exact and perfect, and they produce results, therefore, in general, more accurate than the human hand is capable of producing.

When we look upon one of these, we behold a mute fellow-laborer, of immense power, of mathematical exactness, and of ever-during and unwearied effort. And while he is thus a most skilful and productive laborer, he is a non-consumer—at least beyond the wants of his mechanical being. He is not clamorous for food, raiment, or shelter, and makes no demands for the expenses of education. The eating and drinking, the reading and writing, and clothes-wearing world are benefited by the labors of these co-operations, in the same way, as if Providence had provided for their service millions of beings, like ourselves in external appearance, able to labor and to toil, and yet requiring little or nothing for their own consumption or subsistence; or rather, as if Providence had created a race of giants, each of whom, demanding no more for his support and consumption than a common laborer, should yet be able to perform the work of a hundred.

Now sir, turn back to the Massachusetts letters of production, and you will see that it is these automatic allies and co-operators, and these powers of nature, thus employed and placed under human direction, which have come, with such prodigious effect, to man's aid, in the great business of procuring the means of living, of comfort, and of wealth, and which have so swollen the products of her skilful industry. Look at these tables once more, sir, and you will see the effects of labor united with and acting upon capital. Look yet again, and you will see that credit, mutual trust, prompt and punctual dealings, and commercial confidence, are all mixed up as indispensable elements in the general system.

I will ask you to look yet once more, sir, and you will perceive that general competence, great equality in human condition, a degree of popular knowledge and intelligence, nowhere surpassed, if anywhere equalled, and the prevalence of good moral sentiment, and extraordinary general prosperity, is the result of the whole. Sir, I have done with Massachusetts. I do not praise the old "Bay State" of the Revolution; I only present her as she is.—Webster.

THE RETINA.

This is a thin coat on which everything we look at is painted by the light with a wonderful accuracy and clearness. It is connected with the optic nerve which is the messenger between the world outside and the brain inside. Besides many other parts which make up the machinery of the eye, there are muscles which are so placed, and are so obedient, that as quick as thought you can pull one cord, and the eye will turn to the right, or pull another and the eye will turn to the left, or up, or down, or round, while one steadies and regulates the motion of the rest.

But the retina is the strangest picture gallery in the world. All the great galleries, and all the splendid paintings that have ever been seen, are nothing to it.—If you stand on the top of a high mountain and can look around you thirty, or forty, or fifty miles, all that great picture is painted by the light on the retina, with all the colors and shapes and sizes more correctly than could even be done by any art of man. This great picture is painted with a finer pencil than any painter ever used. All the landscape, with hills, valleys, towns, rivers and sky is painted on this delicate canvass only half an inch in diameter. There was in the Crystal Palace a gold dollar, upon which the Lord's Prayer was engraved on one side, and another curiosity of engraving in the shape of a merchant's business card, consisting of several lines of writing, all in a space which the head of a good sized pin would cover. But this is nothing in comparison with painting such a picture as may be seen from the spire of Trinity Church, in a space only as large as a sixpence.

This is proved by actual experiment with the eye of some large animal, say an ox. By taking the two outside coats off from the back part of the eye, so as to leave the retina exposed, you have an opportunity of seeing any object which is reflected upon it. Now close the shutters of the room, and set the eye in a hole prepared for the purpose, looking out, and the light will paint everything in reach of the eye on the retina, the same as though the animal were alive.—Houses, trees, men walking, and everything outside, will be painted in the small space, and upside down. The optic nerve sets them right again by the time that they get to the train.—Wm. O. Bourne.

GLEANINGS FROM THE GREAT.

If it were possible that a people brought up under an intolerant and arbitrary system, could subvert that system without acts of cruelty and folly, half the objections to despotic power would be removed. We should in that case be compelled to acknowledge that it at least produces no pernicious effects in the intellectual and moral character of the people. We deplore the outrages which accompany revolutions. But the more violent the outrages the more assured we feel that a revolution was necessary.—Macaulay.

"It is the characteristic of fools," says some one, "to be always beginning;"—and this is not the only point in which folly and genius resemble one another. So chillingly indeed, do the difficulties of execution succeed to the first ardor of conception, that it is only wonderful there should exist so many finished monuments of genius.—Moore.

Men seldom think deeply on subjects on which they have no choice of opinion. They are fearful of encountering obstacles to their faith (as in religion,) and so are content with the surface.—Sheridan.

More instructive lessons are taught in courts of justice than the church is able to inculcate. Morals come in the cold abstract from pulpits; but men smart under them practically when we lawyers are the preachers.—Erskine.

When the philosopher Anaxagoras lay dying for want of sustenance, his great pupil, Pericles, sent him a sum of money. "Take it back," said Anaxagoras, "if he wished to keep the lamp alive, he ought to have administered the oil before."

There is a courageous wisdom; there also a false reptile prudence, the result not of caution but of fear. The eye of the mind is dazzled and vanquished. A abject distrust of ourselves, an extravagant admiration of the enemy present us with no hope but a compromise with his pride by a submission to his will.—Burke.

All our great prose-writers owe the glory of their power to our great poets. Asking, who is a great prose-writer? we cannot name one; they all sink to Shakspeare.—Christopher North.

To read habitually by hurried instalments has this bad tendency—that it is likely to found a taste for modes of composition too artificially irritating, and disturb the equilibrium of judgment in relation to the colorings of style.—Quincy.

☞ The Russians are building a line of railroad from Moscow to Sebastopol, 953 miles. Sebastopol is to be made a free port, and this railway will connect it with all parts of the Empire. Russia is the most progressive country in Europe.

☞ A clear conscience is a sure ce

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16, 1863.

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

If we had not, in the latter months, been getting used to warlike successes, the morning papers of Friday last would have occasioned a greater elation of spirits than they in fact did. As it was the public were noticeably affected, as was manifest by the cheerful looks of every body, not a copperhead, and by the prodigal display of Union bunting wherever there were flag-staffs and other things dedicated to flag-showing. Indeed, last Friday was about the pleasantest day of the year. Weatherly-speaking it was, and it was newsmatically, so to speak. Apart from sundry other significant items all tending to show that the conntry was becoming rebellionless, there was a trio of reports—rather facts—whereof each was a volume of good tidings to clever Americans and a world of dismay to the Americans who are wicked, that is, "democrats." First was the official announcement of Gen. Gilmore that Wagner and Gregg were ours, that our brave men had captured 19 pieces of artillery, and a large supply of ammunition and that the city and harbor of Charleston were completely covered by federal guns. Second, was the surrender to Gen. Shackleford by the rebel Frazier of Cumberland Gap, and the capture of 2000 rebel prisoners and 14 guns, artillery pieces; together with the report of the complete success of Gen. Burnside's campaign by which East Tennessee is restored to the Union to the great relief of the people there who with every manifestation of joy lined the way and made the march of our army on its entry into Knoxville a perfect ovation. And third the capture by Gen. Blunt of Fort Smith, Ark., the dispersion of the rebel forces thereabouts, and the evacuation by them of Little Rock. So much for Friday. Subsequent accounts confirm the above, and go to show that the rebels have arrived at that stage of discouragement, demoralization, weakness or sickness of their cause, whence they will not, cannot, or do not care to stand fire, but are obliged, or choose to yield with but little resistance to the advance of the Union forces. This is natural. For the last two and a half months, with trifling exceptions, it has been with them constant defeat. With the soldiers of the Union, in that time, it is been constant success. Flushed therefore, with victory, and conscious of the greatness of their cause, our armies become an overwhelming odds against armies shattered by repeated reverses and now convinced that, from the first, they have been fighting not for their country, not for their liberty, but only to their own injury, and to bring into suffering and distress their wives, their children, and everything which makes life dear. With the rank and file of their treason-doing forces, now no longer really armies, who have been so cruelly misled, we have unfeigned sympathy, and hail them in their readiness to return to the old flag. To the leaders whose sin is without measure in quantity, as it is without parallel in quality we hold that there should be no commutation of the punishment which attaches to treason.

A Federal Expedition under Gen. Stevenson lately advanced from near Vicksburg 60 miles into Louisiana, through Bayou Beuff and Whashita counties, to drive away the rebel bands that had there been overrunning the country. A part of this section is represented as being Eden-like in its beauty—the planters being wealthy, the buildings fine, and the shrubbery and grounds splendid. The town of Monroe is a place of much wealth, and its stores were well filled with the necessaries of life, which, however, are sold at fabulous prices. The country is there filled with deserters from Pemberton's and Gardner's old armies. The people cordially welcomed Gen. Stevenson, and expressed themselves determined to be free of rebel rule. Gen. S., by the orderly deportment of his army, got hosts of converts to the Union, who gave him all the information in their power, and swore they would never be conscripted into the army of rebellion.

The Creek Indians have nearly all deserted the rebels, and the Indian territory is pretty much cleared of marauders.

Some newspaper man talks of a proposed attack on Norfolk, Va., by General Rebel Longstreet. We give but little heed to this, believing that that rebel, if he undertake anything of this kind, will find it a long street indeed, he attempts to travel.

The "democrats" of New York held a State Convention at Albany last Thursday, and adopted a platform such as you may suppose. Gov. Seymour was there, and speechified ad nauseam. Among other things he said—"It (the Proclamation) must fall because it is invalid!" (Roars of laughter from the people who didn't stop to hear any more, but commenced to whistle Yankee Doodle. Seymour finally ceased by saying, "Let the war cease." Seymour, cease secession.

There are 5000 colored seamen in the Navy. 1000 conscripts have been sent from New York to Gen. Banks' Department, and more will be sent in a few days. The draft is to be enforced in Ohio.

The Richmond Enquirer calls on Lee to invade Pennsylvania again, and says "the road to peace lies through Pennsylvania via Washington." But it will be a hard road to trabel, Mr. Enquirer. The Richmond Examiner says the Lawrence massacre was "a gallant and perfectly fair blow at the enemy." So brutal is Slavery!

A military road from Nicholasville Ky., to Knoxville, Tenn., is being built and the work is going on with great energy. Most of the laborers are negroes who will be well clothed and paid. There are to be 1000 workmen to a mile.

Look out for a big movement in the South West Texasward. Uncle Sam has some smart boys down that way—everywhere now-a-days.

Charles Sumner's great speech at Cooper Institute, New York, the 10th inst., is an event of the week, which will reach far into the future.

Many deserters, who have come into our lines in Louisiana, report that Davis's conscription is a failure in raising him his necessary troops. The greatest gloom is said to prevail in Richmond owing to the Freedom at last restored to East Tennessee.

A party of Georgia soldiers have destroyed the printing office and press of the Raleigh (North Carolina) Standard, the paper there devoted to the Union. Union men destroyed the rebel State Journal in retaliation. Gov. ——— told the Georgia rebels that no such outrages were perpetrated in "Lincoln's dominions."

An expedition comprising 200 men went against Fort Sumter with a view to run up the ruins and mount the parapet, thus taking the Fort. The rebels however, opened with musketry, and with a murderous fire with guns from other quarters, and all our men who landed, some 80 were either killed or captured. A rebel paper says the flag lowered by Maj. Anderson and sent by Admiral Dalghren to be replaced was also taken, which is false, for that flag is in safe keeping in N. Y. City.

Great strength is being bronght to bear against Fort Moultrie, which cannot hold out much longer. Its magazine has been blown up with terrific effect, and the whole village of Moultreville put in flames. The constancy and heroism of our men at Charleston are above all praise. Gen. Gilmore has received a full supply of incendiary shells with orders to put the city in ruins, if it do not speedily surrender.

It is reported that Lee's army is abandoning its line on the Rappahannock and falling back on Gordonsville—that in fact the army is moving towards Richmond much reduced by detatchments sent to Bragg and Beauregard, which detatchments however, are likely to do no good, for Bragg and Beauregard now want but little here below, nor want that little long

The news for Union comes in from the Pine Tree State grandly.

THE UNION STATE CONVENTION.

The State Convention which is to be held at Worcester, the 24th instant, will represent the very large majority of the people of Massachusetts, and its action will undoubtedly reflect the sentiments of the people. Those sentiments, in chief, we take to be—undying hostility to the Rebellion, which, in the last two and a half years, has preyed upon the country, and an unalterable determination that, so far as Massachusetts may be able, through the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches of her government, as also through the less prominent but not less potent organizations of her society, the rebellion shall be so utterly and radically suppressed as to insure us against the repetition of a civil war growing out of the incompatibility of the institutions of the Northern and Southern sections of the country. We have had, and are still having an experience unknown and unparalleled in the history of tribes and nations. Folly, madness—the grossest dereliction of duty will it be, if in our passage through it, we do not forgetlessly learn the lesson which it teaches;—if we do not come quickly to practice with superior fidelity and heroism the precept lettered in bold relief upon every crimsoned page of the book of the national struggle. By their press, by their pulpits, by their laws, by their literature, by their assemblies public and private, by their records passed and passing into history to be read evermore, there cannot, at this day, be doubt in reasonable minds what is the faith and what is the purpose of the people of Massachusetts. Their faith is in Liberty—their purpose that the Union shall be maintained and that to all men in it the Starry Flag shall mean one and the same thing, namely, the largest Liberty consistent with Law.

In this faith and in this purpose, we readily assume, will the Convention meet at Worcester. In the exercise of the high duty with which the Convention will be charged, we not less readily assume that there will be harmony united with zeal and spirit. In the performance of a great work and noble, men do not quarrel—not often. Differences they may have—feelings may superficially conflict, still,

"Not hate, but glory makes the chiefs contend,
And each brave foe in his heart a friend."

The position which this State takes in the approaching November election will have a marked influence in the councils of the nation; for although the position of the old Bay State is not and scarcely ever has been doubtful, its action, in every canvass, has come to be looked to, throughout the country, tacitly, it not by confession, as the standard for imitation in politics. Not in boasting be this said. Rather be it said that we may the more appreciatively and wisely act. If, before the war, evidence were wanting of the estimation in which Massachusetts was everywhere held even by those who loudly cursed her, since the war the evidence is certainly complete. It is, we believe, the universal testimony of Massachusetts soldiers, that wherever they have served and fought, in the South, South West, West, or East, it is for them, with persons not demoniac in their hate, a passport and insurer of respect, to hail from Massachusetts. Under such circumstances the proceedings of the Convention to be held rise in importance; and, in this national juncture, it were easier to underrate than to magnify the influence they are to exert.

We little question that the present State officers will be renominated and by acclamation. It is fit that it should be done. It would be ascribing to them more than human powers to presume that, in the administration of the government in the last three years, they have not committed errors; but in the summing up of their labor the people may justly say, Well done, good and faithful servants! As we are not out of this war their three years' experience is invaluable to us—more desirable than it might have been considered a year ago; because in the closing up of a long and arduous work, those who are familiar with the details of its progress, as well as the general routine of it, are best qualified to bring it to a successful and happy termination. With our desire, is united a pride, to see the glorious career of JOHN A. ANDREW, as Governor of the Commonwealth, end only with the war with which his executive career may be said to have begun. There is little, if any reason, why we may not indulge in a similar expression as towards the other State officers.

☞ "There is no doubt that a Commander-in-Chief may, under certain circumstances, take and destroy the property of the public enemies in time of war. He may also take the property of his own friends, if necessary, for military operations; but all these powers are confined to property actually within the lines and power of his army."

The above is an extract from a poor article in the Statesman on President Lincoln's letter to the Springfield Mass Meeting. "Respectfully" we ask, where does the Statesman get that doctrine? that "all these powers are confined," &c. We guess that no army in this little world ever waited to get "property actually within its lines" before meddling with it. We suspect that every army that ever was (not made up of cowards,) always made it a point to push into the enemy's lines after him and his property. Why did not the Statesman object to throwing shell out of our lines at Vicksburg? Gen. Grant committed the enormous offence of destroying enemy's "property" not "actually within" his lines! Why don't the Statesman remonstrate with Gen. Gilmore at Charleston? Why don't it object to shooting any way? As well may it, as to object to the Proclamation, which was and still is in the nature of a bomb only—a very large one indeed—but as legitimate gun firing as ever was. What is the difference whether you storm an enemy's works with iron or ideas? The President is shelling the rebels with an idea, and what the President says is true—that idea having gone forth can no more be recalled than Gen. Gilmore can bid back a shot ejected from one of his Parrots;—nay, it were more possible for Gilmore to do this than for Lincoln to do what "democrats" ask of him.

☞ "And where else," asks Henry W. Paine, "democratic" nominee for Governor—"And where else (than in a "democratic" convention,) brother Democrats, shall a disciple of Daniel Webster be in these times?"

This is what Daniel Webster thought of "democracy" even in its better days of 1848;—judge what, if living, he would think of it now:

"We know that Gen. Cass could have prevented the Mexican war; and we know he was first and foremost in pressing that war. We know that he is a man of talent, of ability, of some celebrity as a statesman, in every way superior to his predecessor, if he should be the successor of Mr. Polk. But I think him a man of rash politics, pushed on by a rash party, and committed to a course of policy, as I believe, not in consistency with the happiness and security of the country. Therefore, it is for you and for me, and for all of us Whigs, to consider, whether in this state of the case, we can or can not, we will, or will not, give our votes for the Whig nomination. I leave that to every man's conscience. I have endeavored to state the case as it presents itself to me."

And this is what Daniel Webster said of "democrats" of Polk times:

"For my part, I think that 'doughfaces' is an epithet not sufficiently reproachful. Now, I think, that such persons are doughfaces, with dough heads, and dough hearts, and dough souls; that they are all dough; that the coarsest potter may mould them to vessels of honor or dishonor,—most readily to vessels of *dis*honor."

He is a dough "disciple" of Daniel Webster who goes into "democracy," such things remembered. Think, Mr. Paine, of the faces Webster made up when he said these things!

MAINE ELECTION----THE UNIONISTS TRIUMPHANT!

The returns of the Maine election show that the State has been carried for the loyalists by an overwhelming vote. This was not unexpected, although the Copperheads had made great boastings of what they were about to do. The result will cause deep mourning among the rebel papers of Boston, Salem and Richmond, and they will exercise all their ingenuity to account for a circumstance so wonderful. It is a strange idea to them that people should voluntarily and willingly take the side of the country. They choose to act in concert with her enemies. This Maine election will prove an eye-opener to all but the most incorrigible.

☞ The interesting letter of our correspondent, "GREGORY," on the subject of "Army Guns and their Manufacture," well rewards [a perusal. It was not received in season for our last paper.

☞ Capt. W. W. SMITH, of Danvers, has recently been transferred from his company in the 17th Regiment to Co. C, lately commanded by Capt. N. P. FULLER. Sergeants LEWIS CANN and JAS. INMAN of Co. C, are promoted to Second Lieutenants, and Sergeant HYDE of the same company is promoted to Orderly Sergeant of Co. G, Capt. G. W. KENNEY.

☞ We are indebted to Capt. W. W. SMITH, of the 17th Regiment, for a copy of the Raleigh Standard, in which occurs the following:

"Was it not beautiful in the outset of Secession to hear men proclaiming that there would be no war, and if war did actually come, they would face the music—ten of them could whip a hundred Yankees, and drive (!) them from the South. But when war did come, to see them falling back upon their dignity, saying, 'We can't go,—our business must be attended to; too much property at stake, cannot loose it; the poor man must go and fight for us.' Is not this beautiful?"

Also this:

"Is it not beautiful to think, that South Carolina was, and had been preparing for this conflict ever since the days of Nullification, in 1831—32, that the conflict has come, and she has not prepared one thing, except windy speeches, and quaint resolutions?"

On the other hand the Mobile Register comes to us whistling up its courage after this wise:

"We are firm in the conviction that the conquest of the South was never more remote and improbable than it is at this moment. We have our destinies in our own hands. We have the power if we have the will. On the other hand, danger and trouble and obstacle are daily gathering and thickening around the heads of our enemies at Washington."

SUDDEN DEATH.—Last Saturday evening, as a young lady by the name of MARGARET SWEENEY was walking to Salem, in company with another lady and two young gentlemen, she was noticed to stagger and finally fall to the ground. On being picked up, and asked what was the matter, it was found that she was not able to speak; but on obtaining a glass of water and drinking it, she revived enough to say that "nothing was the matter—only a weakness—it will be over in a minute." She then asked to be taken to the other side of the street, and on stepping off the sidewalk, she fell to the ground again. She was then taken to Mr. Shannahan's house, on Aborn street, and a messenger despatched for Dr. Osborne, who, on arriving, found her insensible, and she soon expired. Miss Sweeney was 24 years old, and was employed in Mr. E. S. Flint's sole factory. Her parents are dead; but she was not entirely bereft, having two brothers in the army. The funeral took place Monday forenoon, from Mr. Shannahan's house.

ROBBERY.—Last Wednesday morning, while Mr. Johnson, proprietor of the Fish Market, in this town, had left his store for a few minutes, three boys entered it and took from his drawer some five dollars. Mr. J., on his return, discovered the theft and immediately started in pursuit of the boys, who narrowly escaped him by jumping on the train which was just leaving for Salem. Learning that there were three other boys accessory to the theft, who had taken a different direction, a person was despatched after them and succeeded in arresting one of them near the "big tree" on Main street, who divulged the names of his comrades, and two more were subsequently arrested. They were tried before Justice Perkins last Monday, and one of them, named Welch, was sentenced to the House of Correction for six months. Five of the boys belonged in Salem and one in Roxbury; and we learn that two or three of them have previously "boarded" in Salem jail.

☞ We are much gratified to learn that Mr. GEORGE S. POOLE, formerly of this town, and late Librarian of the Charlestown Public Library, has received the appointment of Assistant Librarian of the Congressional Library at Washington. We congratulate him on his elevation to this highly honorable position, not only on account of its pecuniary advantages, but as it will bring him into personal contact with men distinguished in public life.

☞ A writer in the Gazette seems to fear there is danger of the Essex Agricultural Society being "disgraced by an unworthy occupant of the chair." If the writer had been more explicit, he had written more to the purpose. Who is the disgraceful candidate? "AN OLD MEMBER" of the Society must have rather a poor opinion of his associates.

☞ Mr. ABRAHAM R. HOBBS, a respectable citizen of Danvers, was attacked last Friday afternoon with a fit of which he died at 6 o'clock Saturday morning. Mr. H. had been in the possession of good health, and had not been subject to attacks of the kind. He was 55 years of age—peculiarly skilful as a workman on roads and highways, and will be much missed by the people of Danvers Plains.

☞ It was our own gallant 24th Regiment, under the lead of our former townsman—Lieut. Col. OSBORNE—who charged and captured the rifle pits in front of Fort Wagner, thus insuring its speedy fall. All honor to the intrepid veterans of the 24th! They have never yet known defeat, and we trust they never will.

☞ Horace Poole, of the 21st Iowa, has been placed on the staff of Gen. Banks as Assistant Adjutant General.

ARMY GUNS AND THEIR MANUFACTURE.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., SEPT. 3, 1863.

Army Guns—How many we use—How many we produce—How many import. The Springfield Gun. The Providence Tool Co. Armory Size—Machinery—Men employed. Contract for $1,000,000—How the Barrel is made, &c.

It is supposed by some persons that the number of guns now furnished by our manufacturers to the Government must exceed the demand, but such is not the fact. It is estimated by military men that the average number of guns used by soldiers in active service is at the rate of one and one-half guns a year for each soldier. If we have 600,000 men in the field we should then require 900,000 guns per year. The actual aggregate production of our armories is only about two thousand per day or 730,000 guns per year, leaving a deficiency of about 220,000 to be supplied by importation. A very large number of the arms now in the hands of our soldiers are of foreign manufacture, chiefly the Enfield and Austrian guns. The latter are inferior and will probably be replaced by the Springfield gun as fast as possible. All of the muzzle loading guns manufactured for the Government are of the Springfield pattern.

One of the principal establishments for the manufacture of this gun is the Providence Tool Co. Armory located in this city and superintended by F. W. Howe, Esq., a native of Danvers. The Armory covers a space of about 300 by 150 feet. The main building is 210 feet long and 48 feet wide and is five and six stories high and is filled with gun machinery of the most improved and modern kinds. Four hundred men are employed at the Armory and the work is pressed with warlike vigor. The Company has a contract with the U. S. Government to furnish fifty thousand guns for one million of dollars. At present some three thousand guns per month are turned in on the contract, and the number will soon be increased to four thousand per month.

All the different parts of the gun are made here. Only three other government contractors make the entire gun but rely upon other shops for such portions as they have not the facilities for making.

We visited the Armory the other day and had we time and space should be glad to describe the principal operations through which the different parts of the gun pass before they emerge united in a perfect weapon ready for the hands of the soldier. We shall only write of the barrel in detail as it is seen in the process of manufacture here.

Lying on the hard earthen floor of the barrel department we first see the plates of English iron from which the barrel is to be made.—These plates are twelve inches long, five inches wide, and five-eights of an inch thick. They are first heated in a large furnace and then passed five times through stout iron curving rollers which curve the flat plates into round tubes. Put back into the furnace they are reheated to a soft, welding heat. At this stage the artizan thrusts a long round steel rod into one of the glowing tubes, withdraws it from the intense fire, and holds it up to the edge of two powerful rollers twenty inches in diameter, which catch the tube or embryo barrel and draw it in, the rod remaining in the hands of the workman, the hole in the tube being, however, fixed as to size and shape by the rod.—After thus passing between the rolls the barrel is straightened and at once thrust back into the furnace, reheated and taken out by a smaller rod and again passed through a smaller groove of the same rolls. This operation of alternate heating and rolling is repeated until the tube has passed through the rolls eight times, a different sized rod being inserted each time. Now the tube has assumed the proper size and taper and shape of a gun barrel outside, and the hole within is of proper dimensions. These barrel rollers run with their heavy rumbling sound continuously, night and day, never resting except on Sunday.

The scene in this department at night is exceedingly picturesque. The glowing furnace illuminates all about it. The men stripped to a single garment, reeking with perspiration, the huge machinery, the barrels white and sparkling with heat rushing through the narrow circles of the pondcrous rolls, remind one of the smithy of Vulcan, the armor forger of the gods. After the rolling follow several boring and turning and straightening operations.

The workman determines when the barrel is perfectly straight by an ingenious process of observation of rays of light which pass through a window of ground glass into the barrel.

Next, the barrels are inspected, after which they are proved or tested, the manner whereof is as follows: Two hundred and eighty grains of powder and a thick paper wad are rammed down solid by a heavy copper ramrod, which nearly fills the bore of the barrel. On the top of the wad is rammed a one ounce ball and another wad. Thus loaded, 32 barrels are fastened, in a line, on a frame, in a small building built of four inch planks, and all fired at once by a train of powder ignited from the outside of the building, the balls lodging in a bank of soft earth as harmlessly as our shells pass into the rim of Fort Wagner. The barrels are then subjected to another test with two hundred and fifty grains of powder, like wads and ball.—They are then cleaned and inspected to see if any have proved unequal to the severe test.—Then they are passed through more than thirty other distinct machine operations including the rifling, beside several hand manipulations. They are also again inspected twice, once before, and once after, rifling. So intricate and laborious is the manufacture of the gun barrel.

About the most interesting processes in the whole manufacture of the gun are those by which the Stock is made. Forty minutes suffice to pass the rough-sawn stick through twenty distinct machine operations, and change it to a perfect gun stock, so complete, that the barrel and mountings fit it accurately without any hand work.

From eight to twelve U. S. inspectors are constantly occupied in the Armory under the general superintendence of Col. Hagner, of the Ordnance Board.

In each gun there are seventy different pieces and each piece is inspected and guaged in detail, and each piece is made to interchange with the like piece of the guns made at the Springfield Armory. Nothing has been spared to render this establishment of the most complete in its kind in the country, and its guns effective and perfect weapons against the armed hordes of rebellion.

GREGORY.

A HEALTHY TOWN.—The town of Hamilton in this county, must be one of the healthiest places in New England. Twenty-five men were drafted there and all but nine passed the examination. What place goes ahead of Hamilton?

HORSE CARS.

The following communication should have been handed to Mr. H. HALE instead of us, in conformity to the laws posted up in our horse cars, which read: "Passengers are requested to report to the Superintendent any incivility or want of politeness on the part of conductors or drivers." We think, if the drivers and conductors are in too much of a hurry to give passengers easy ingress or egress, it is out of no want of politeness on their part, but a zeal to make the required time between the different turn-outs, so that there shall be no waiting for each other, and consequently no grumbling on the part of passengers; and we have all charity for the conductors, knowing them to be likely young men, sincerely believing that they do all in their power to make things agreeable for the travelling public. The communication, however, is written in the best of humor, so we have concluded to publish it:

MR. WIZARD,—Permit me to call your attention to an inconsistency which ought to be at once removed, lest it shall become a permanent abuse, and so plead usage and precedent in its defence. You cannot have failed to see in the horse cars, conspicuously placed, a solemn Caution to people not to get on or off the cars when they are moving; and, I think, that you cannot have failed also to observe that, if a conductor makes a full stop for a gentleman to get on or off the car, it is apparently regarded as a very special favor, although he is alike consulting his own safety and heeding the CAUTION. The time allowed for a lady to enter the cars is very often insufficient; and, even if a lady passenger is so fortunate as to get inside the car before it is started, she may find herself thrown headlong against the other passengers before she can be seated. And that ladies have not often fallen into the street in consequence of the brief time allowed them to leave the cars, is, no doubt, something to be thankful for,—but not to the conductors and drivers.

It used to be said that on the Western Rivers, the captain of a steamboat about to race with a rival would announce—"Gentlemen who have not paid their fare will please walk into the Ladies' Cabin, as we are going to fire up and beat the other boat." The Ladies' Cabin being the safest place;—in case of an explosion, the fares of delinquent passengers might possibly be collected afterwards, though the passengers who paid might be blown sky-high.

I hope it is not time that, in the opinion of those concerned in the management of horse cars, passengers who have paid their fare and are leaving the cars, "have no rights" which conductors and drivers "are bound to respect." The excuse which might have been good some weeks ago, namely—to endeavor to make up, in the way complained of, the time lost by running off the track, is not now of so much force. At any rate, if the abuse continues, it will be judicious to remove the CAUTION from the cars, and place instead a placard like this:—

"NOTICE.—Ladies and gentlemen will please get on and off the cars in their own way and at their own risk. Time is precious."

Try, Mr. WIZARD, to have this inconsistency removed.

S.

☞ We clip the following complimentary notice of one of our townsmen from the Newport (Vt.) News. "The good," do not all "die young:"

"Among the distinguished guests at the Memphremagog, we notice the name of Hon. Jeremiah Putnam, of South Danvers, Mass., grandson of General Putnam of revolutionary fame. Mr. Putnam is a gentleman of some fifty odd years, looks hale and hearty, and is here for the purpose of enjoying the season's sport of hunting, fishing and boating upon the lake. He has a heap of "Old Put" about him, and will be up in the morning to hold his own with the best of the younger gents who are here for the some purpose."

☞ We are compelled from the crowded state of our columus to postpone the article by Phocion, and the Post Office Notice from Danversport.

☞ Mr. Henry Southwick, of the 14th Regiment, has returned home, on furlough, for a short time.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG, as will be seen by his advertisement, announces a new list of prices, to take place on and after October 1st, 1863. Mr. H. feels himself justified in making this new arrangement on account of the high prices of everything pertaining to his line of business. We doubt not but what the public will still continue to patronize our now solitary barber as liberally as they have in times past. Like Day & Martin's Blacking—he is always on hand; and as for his workmanship, few—very few—are his superiors.

AMUSEMENTS IN BOSTON.—At the Boston Theatre the ever welcome Florences are playing a very successful engagement. Manager Marshall is untiring in his efforts to please.

The Buckleys still maintain their high reputation and perform to full houses nightly. They justly deserve their success.

☞ Arthur F. Poole has received the appointment of Hospital Steward at Large.

☞ Parson Brownlow is out with a notice of the re-establishment of his paper, the Knoxville Whig. He says: "I expect to issue the first number in October, as it was in that month, two years ago, my paper was crushed by the God-forsaken mob at Knoxville, called the Confederate Authorities. I will commence with this hell-born and hell-bound Rebellion, where the traitors forced me to leave off."

☞ There is some little fluttering among the exempted conscripts from a rumor that the Board of Enrollment will re-examine their action in some cases, believing they have been imposed on. If exemption is fraudulently obtained it is of no value and may increase trouble for the guilty parties.

☞ The Adriatic brings news to September 1st. The tone of the Times towards Mr. Laird and his pirates is changing fast, and there are indications that the Government will do its duty and put a stop to this disgrace of the English good names.

Warren Bank.

The Stockholders of the Warren hereby notified that the Annual M be held at their Bank Rooms on T October 6th, at 9 o'clock, A. M., for of officers for the ensuing year; t the subject of loans to Directors, an act any other business that shall le before them. Per order,

FRANCIS BA

South Danvers, Sept 16, '63.

New
RIBBONS
and
FLOWERS
Opened at PEABODY'S, yeste

BARGAINS IN KID GLOVES.—John has determined to close his entire st Kid Gloves, and has marked them cents. They are the best goods and Boston and Salem for $1 25 and $1 ☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and unusual variety of new styles in CAPS—191 Essex street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' Natio Wringers, before purchasing elsew ale at the Equity Store, South Dan advertisement.

INVALID SOLDIERS' HOME.—The object to which the exhibition of Mile Mirror is devoted, deserves support of all loyal people. We see so much interest manifested in out the country, and hupe for an summation of so liberal and humane taking.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS.....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central-stree
Feb 11 SAL

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ha ating Spirit, seems to stir up an army Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a genera are like the Morning Glory—look very morning but wilt before the day has pas has been before the public for years; his Remedy has been tested and not found acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and system; it is good at all times and for eve

MANUAL FENOLLOSA
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Si
MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central S
SALEM, MASS.

Port of Danver

Ar 7th, schs Ada Herbert, Linneh encc, Snow, and T H Thompson, Ba York.

Ar 9th, schs George R Lanfair, S New York; 10th, H O Warren, (E Clementsport.

Marriages.

In Salem, Aug 27, by Rev Dr Wor Daniel W Putnam to Miss Lydia S both of South Danvers.

Sept 5th, by Rev Dr Emerson, Mr Brown of Salem, to Miss Lizzie R da Eben S Howard, Esq, of So. Danvers Rev Mr Halley, Mr William Sulliva Mary O'Connell, both of So. Danvers Rev Mr Cox, Mr Thomas Brown to M L Burton; 10th, by Rev Dr Mills, Jo ker Esq, to Miss Emma J, daughter of Stanwood; 10th, by Rev Mr Clapp, M T Stedman to Miss Mary Ann Derby.

In Lynn, Sept 10th, by Rev A F Mr Henry W Williams of South Da Miss Narcissa L. Ware of Salem.

Deaths.

In this town, Alice Shillaber dau Daniel and Eliza B., 4 yrs 8 mos 17 da

In Danvers, Charles, child of Josep Lucy M Toombs, 3 mos; Sept 9th, M Gilluly, 40 yrs.

In Salem, Sept 8th, Mr George H yrs 9 mos 10 days; 9th, Robert Upton yrs 6 mos 27 days; 9th, Michael, son and Jane Green, 10 mos; 10th, Danie John and Johanna O'Neil, 17 mos; James Bowman, 79 yrs 4 mos; Mrs widow of the late Mr George Daland 10 mos. New Hampshire papers plea 12th, Mr John Morgan, 35 yrs; Mr Bailey, 35 yrs; Miss Frances C Felt, daughter of the late Mr George W Fe Margaret Sweeney, of So. Danvers, 24

In Haverhill, Sept 5, Mrs Phebe, w the late Amos Wheeler of Salem, N. H 8 months.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office a Danvers, Sep. 8, 1863. [Persons for these letters will please say they ar tiscd.]

Joseph H. Burnham	George Lill
Thomas Burke	James Murp
William Frye	Catherine M
Georgiana Gray	Wm. M. S
Holman (Building mover)	Sarah A. W
Mrs. George Wylie.

N. B. These letters are subject to ditional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSA SETTS.

HEAD-QUARTERS, Boston, Sept 10, 1

SPECIAL ORDER, No. 569.

The 59th Regiment of Infantry, V Volunteers, will be recruited in the coun Essex and Middlesex. Major GOULD, 13th Mass. Vols. has been designated C and Major JOHN HODGES, Jr., of the Regt., M. V. M., Lieutenant Colonel. will establish their Head-quarters and mence immediately the organization of regiment.

Persons wishing to obtain Commissio this regiment or to recruit for it, will mak plication to these Head-Quarters, or t above-named officers.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

WILLIAM SCHOULER

Boston, Sept 16—3w Adjutant-Gen

French Classes.

educated in France, and speaking as her native language, besides the experience of several years in both privately and in seminaries, to secure classes for the ensuing winter. This will afford a superior for those who wish to acquire an knowledge of spoken as well as writ-ther information apply at No. 6 South Danvers.

er 9.

HEIMSTREET'S
BLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,

gray hair to its original color, by sup- capillary tubes with natural sustenance, age or disease. All instantaneous dyes d of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality of the hair, and afford of themselves no Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only r to its natural color by an easy process, hair a growth, prevents its falling off, eradi- uff, and imparts health and pleasantness It has stood the test of time, being the ir Coloring, and is constantly increasing Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is espectable dealers, or can be procured by commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

Luxuriant Beauty,

AN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

he most delightful and extraordinary arti- scovered. It changes the sun burnt face to a pearly satin texture of ravishing par ing the marble purity of youth, and te appearance so inviting in the city belle It removes tan, freckles, pimples and from the skin, leaving the complexion parent and smooth. It contains no mate- ls to the skin. Patronized by Actresses Singers. It is what every lady should t everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

of the Plantation Bitters is without preced- history of the world. There is no secret in They are at once the most speedy, strength- th-restorer ever discovered. It requires but ial to understand this. Their purity can al- lied upon. They are composed of the cele- lisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Daudelion, Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, er-buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

especially recommended to clergymen, pub- s, and persons of literary habits and seden- who require free digestion, a relish for food, ental faculties.

females and weak persons are certain to find tters what they have so long looked for. ify, strengthen and invigorate. ate a healthy appetite. an antidote to change of water and diet. ercome effects of dissipation and late hours. engthen the system and enliven the mind. vent miasmatic and intermittent fevers ify the breath and acidity of the stomach. e Dyspepsia and Constipation. re Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus. e Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache the best Bitters in the world. They make an strong, and are exhausted nature's great owing startling and emphatic statements can our office.

f Rev. E. F. Crane, Chaplain of the 107th Regiment:

Near Acquia Creek, March 4th, 1863.

to the great exposure and terrible decomposi- the battle of Antietam, I was utterly pros- d very sick. My stomach would not retain An article called Plantation Bitters, prepar- r. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give gth and an appetite. To my great surprise me immediate relief. Two bottles almost al- to join my regiment. * * * * * I have them used in many cases, and am free to say, al or private purposes I know of nothing like

Rev. E. F. Crane, Chaplain.

om the Rev. N. E. Gilds, St. Clairsville, Pa.:

men:—You were kind enough, on a former to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation r $3 50. My wife having derived so much om the use of these Bitters, I desire her to them, and you will please send us six bottles he money inclosed.

I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. Gilds, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

diers' Home, Superintendent's Office, Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15th, 1863.

* * * * * * *

given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of soldiers who step here, more or less disabled ous causes, and the effect is marvelous and preparation as this is I heartily wish in every every hospital, and at hand on every battle

G. W. Andrews, Superintendent.

A. Childs, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle ion Bitters. They are the most effective, per- harmless tonic I ever used."

Willard's Hotel,
Washington, D. C., May 22d, 1863.

men:—We require another supply of your Bitters, the popularity of which daily in- ith the guests of our house.

Respectfully, Sykes, Chadwick & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c.

that every bottle bears the fac simile of our on a steel plate label, with our private stamp ork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, aloons, and country dealers.

Advertisements.

Selectmen's Notice.

CE is hereby given to the abuttors on following streets in South Danvers, ashington St. and Foster St.—that a of the Selectmen of South Danvers held at the Town House on Wednesday, day of October next, at 2 o'clock, in rnoon, at which time and place the Se- of said town will fix and determine tion and manner of construction of the and South Danvers Railroad in the aforesaid; and at which meeting the and other citizens interested may ap- d shew cause, if any there be, why said t should not be so located and con-

Joseph Poor, } Selectmen
W. Bancroft, } of Ana Woodbury, } South Danvers

h Danvers, Sept 16. 3w

ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL—

1, 2 and 3, now ready.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
16 3—w Salem Agents.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

JAMES F. ALMY.

WE have just received a very large Stock of SEASONABLE GOODS,

COMPRISING

RICH BLACK and COLORED SILKS.

PLAIN, PLAID and STRIPED ALPACCAS, in different qualities.

MOUSLIN DE LAINE PLAIDS,

HEAVY WOOL PLAIDS,

PLAIN and PLAID POPLINS,

OTTOMANS, REPPS and THIBETS, WOOL MOUSLIN DE LAINES, &c.

Also—Common DE LAINES, PRINTED REPPS, ENGLISH, FRENCH and AMERICAN PRINTS,

Also—A full Stock of MOURNING GOODS.

Also—A splendid line of AUTUMN SHAWLS.

Also—A full Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS, OPERA FLANNELS.

DOMESTIC GOODS, LINENS, KID GLOVES, &c.

☞ Believing that I have clearly demonstrated the principle of Buying and Selling for Cash, so that it has found favor, I am confident that our Goods, bought in large quantities from first hands, are this season to be sold lower, compared with ruling prices, than ever before.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Sept 16, 1863.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem-stitched Hdkfs;

sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

Salem & South Danvers Railroad.

THE Cars will hereafter run regularly from the New Depot on Webb street, passing through Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets, both ways, until further notice.

On Wednesday and Saturday Afternoons, when pleasant, the Car "Excursionist" will make two trips, leaving Webb street at 2.30 and 4.42; and leaving South Danvers at 3.10 and 5.25—stopping to receive and leave passengers at Newbury, Washington and North Sts., and Buffum's Corner only.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.

Salem, Sept 16, 1863.

UNDER-SHIRTS & DRAWERS
AT COLMAN'S,
10 FRONT ST., 10

Just received from Boston and New York,

100 DOZ. Shirts and Drawers (all qualities); Doeskins; Cassimeres; Fancy Wool Shirts; 100 dozen Men's and Boy's Linen Dickeys; a new lot Pants and Vests—some Full Fall Pants; Linen and Oil Cloth Table Covers; 1000 pairs Boots, Shoes and Brogans, with a great variety of other Goods, received every day, and sold at a small profit.

Window Curtains, Fixtures, Cord and Tassels; Painted Carpeting at all time constantly on hand.

☞ No. 10 COLMAN'S; No. 10 Front St.

Salem, Sept 16—3w

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.	8 cts,
Hair Cutting,	Or 8 Tickets for $1 00.	15 cts,
Champooing,		15 cts.

Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.

South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two p stage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
127 Bowery, New York, Post Office Box, 4586.

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the best brands, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.

South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

NEW BOOKS,

AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S.

SQUIRE Trevlyn's Heir, by Mrs. Wood;
Army and Navy Journal, No. 3;

Sept 16 Sign of the Five Golden Books.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS.

A LITTLE lot, but slightly damaged, are selling at very low prices.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

FOR NEURALGIA,

RHEUMATISM and like troubles, Sturgis' Electric Compound is recommended by many of our own citizens. For sale at

sept 15 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

COLOR STAMPING,

IN the most approved styles—at
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX ss. Probate Court. To the next of Kin, Creditors, and all other Persons interested in the estate of HANNAH L. WILSON, late of South Danvers, in said county, widow, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, application has been made to said court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to SAMUEL WELCH of South Danvers, in the county of Essex, trader:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Tuesday of October next, at nine o'clock before noon, to shew cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said Samuel Welch is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the South Danvers Wizard, printed at South Danvers, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this first day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty three. A. C. GOODELL, Register.

Sept 9, 1863. 3w

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), Salem, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless,

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Denturos made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. Franklin, General Agent.

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.

LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

ITS publication marks an era in the history of Maps It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc, made famous by the War, and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It is a County Map, and neatly col'd. Price in sheets, 50 cts; mounted $1 25. Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
aug 19 Publisher's Agents.

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.

Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.

Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WANTED!

$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.

South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.

POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.

Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,

At 236 Essex Street,

A few doors from Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

M. A. PORTER,

MANUFACTURES TO ORDER

Dancing.

MR. E. UPTON'S Fall Term for instruction in Dancing, will commence on Saturday afternoon, September 19th, at Creamer Hall, Salem, at two o'clock.

Salem, Sept. 2d, 1863. 3w

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.

Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

STENCIL PLATES.

SAMPLES of the various styles can be seen at G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

John P. Peabody.

☞ WORSTEDS. ☜

Double and Single Zephyr.

A FRESH STOCK

OPENED THIS WEEK,

IN ALL COLORS,

—AT—

JOHN P. PEABODY'S,

No. 220 Essex St., Salem.

WORSTEDS AT PEABODY'S.

WORSTEDS AT PEABODY'S.

WORSTEDS AT PEABODY'S.

GERMAN ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

GERMAN ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

GERMAN ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

Steel and Jet Goods.

PINS,

BROOCHES,

BRACELETS,

BUCKLES,

IN NEW PATTERNS,

Just received at PEABODY'S.

NEW GOODS.

Cambric Edgings,

We have just received a choice stock of new patterns in Wrought Cambric Edgings and Flouncings, at very low prices.

Hem Stitched Hdkfs.

A few Cartons Hem Stitched Hdkfs, in all grades—wide and narrow Hem. A good fine Hdkf for 25 cts. In this department we can show decided bargains.

Embroidered Hdkfs.

We have a choice stock of Wrought Hdkfs, in all qualities, from 25 cents to $3 50 each. A pretty Wrought Edge Hdkf for 25 cents—a real bargain.

German Zephyr Worsteds.

Our Stock of German Zephyr Worsteds will be large and desirable, and we shall sell them as heretofore, much under the regular market prices.

Leather Goods.

Elastic Band Wallets, Travelling Bags, &c., in variety. In this department, we have a new stock, comprising all the choice styles, and at prices

THAT WILL NOT FAIL TO SUIT

Corsets and Skirts.

In these goods we keep none but those we can warrant in every respect. A nice Corset for $1 35. French Embroidered Corset $1 75. Skirts from 35 cents to $3 00.

Trimmings and Buttons.

We have a full line of Trimming Goods, Braids, Buttons, Bindings, Cords, Silks, Emb'd Braids, &c. In Buttons we have—Silk, Crochet, Velvet, Plush, Jet, Steel, Leather, Pearl, Rubber, Agate,.....&c,....&c,.....&c,....&c.

Woolen Yarns.

Our stock of Yarns is all fresh—opened the past week—in White, Drab, Slate, Purple, Black, Majenta, Crimson, Scarlet and Random—in the best quality.

☞ The largest Stock of Ladies' Furnishing Goods in Essex County.

ONE PRICE ONLY!

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

JOHN P. PEABODY.

Sept. 16th, 1863.

A. J. Archer & Co

FALL AND WINTER.

ELEGANT NEW GOODS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
ARE OPENING
MANY NEW STYLES OF
DRESS GOODS,
INCLUDING

Ottoman Reps,
Cashmere Plaids,
Thibet and M. D. Laines,
Rich & Heavy Black Silks,
Plain Colored Silks.

ALSO
SHAWLS
Of every description.

Salem, Sept 16—tf

FLANNELS AND COTTONS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Have on hand a full supply of

BROWN SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;

BLEACHED SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;

—Also—

GREY TWILLED FLANNELS; WHITE FLANNELS,

which they offer at the LOWEST PRICES.

Salem, Sept 16—tf.

AUTUMN GOODS.

CLOTHS! CLOTHS!!

A fine assortment of

Cloths, Cassimeres, Doeskins,

—AND—

CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CAPES,

—FOR SALE BY—

A. J. ARCHER & CO.

Sept 16. tf

FIRST CLASS GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES

PREPARATORY

TO receiving their FALL STOCK of NEW GOODS, BROWNING & LONG offer many Bargains. They find that their "Popular Prices" are appreciated, and therefore continue offering them with still further inducements.

NEW GOODS
N N N
E E W
W W E
NEW GOODS.
G O G
O O O
O D D
D S S
S NEW GOODS

They will commence the Autumn Season with one of the best stocks ever shown in Salem, offering especial attractions, a larger assortment, and a better variety than heretofore, and will adhere to their motto of selling

"First Class Goods at the Lowest Prices."

☞ Due notice will be given of the opening.

BROWNING & LONG'S.

Essex St., 177 Essex St.,

Salem, Sept. 9, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retai yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. Crane, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss Crane, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.

April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. Fletcher her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE,

ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.

George S. Walker.

Fancy and Toilet Articles,
FOR GENTLEMEN.

HAIR BRUSHES, English and French Hat Brushes, Cloth Brushes;
Dressing, Pocket and Fine Combs;
Pocket Books and Purses;
Soaps for the Toilet and Shaving;
Razors and Razor Strops;
Hand Mirrors, Shaving Boxes;
Pen and Pocket Knives;
Hair Oils and Pomades;
Lubin's Extracts;
Farina's genuine Cologne;
Tooth Paste and Powders;
Key Rings; Nail Knives;
Tooth Picks;

Pearl and Sleeve Buttons, with a great variety of useful articles for Gentlemen, can be found at

GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
sept 9 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

Gent's Summer Under Shirts.

DRAWERS, HOSIERY, GLOVES, TIES, &c., for the balance of the season, can be bought at Low Prices, at

GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom

(E. Hennesey's Patent.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.

And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.

August 5.

PATTERSON'S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7—3m CLARK & GIDDINGS.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
GUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.

South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

R. C. MANNING & CO.
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
188 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.

N. C. Robbins, R. C. Manning.

oct17

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the Old and Reliable Offices.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

NEW STOCK
— OF —
DRY GOODS
— AT —
No. 238 Essex street,

(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

THE Subscriber opened on MONDAY, May 18th,

A Fresh Stock of Dry Goods,

Consisting of nearly all the new styles of Dress Goods, Ladies' Cloths, Cloths for Men's & Boys' Wear; Shawls, Domestic and Housekeeping Goods; Sun Umbrellas; Parasols; Hoop Skirts; Hosiery; Gloves; &c., &c., &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for Cash, at Low Prices.

GEORGE P. DANIELS.

Salem, May 20.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at

NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.

South Danvers, July 29, 1863,

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.

RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,

THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.

CALL AND EXAMINE.

For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,

At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,

South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing Sewing Machines will find it to their advantage to consult

JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT,
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.

Second-hand Machines bought and sold.

South Danvers, May 13—tf

☞ If you wantto Save Money, in purchasing Goods, go to Colman's, No. 10 Front street, Salem. ap30-tf

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.

Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

By GEORGE NICHOLS,

Auctioneer and Stock Broker—42 Washington Street, Salem.

Peremptory Sale of a very desirable Country Residence in Danvers at Auction.

Will be sold at public auction, on FRIDAY, Sept. 25, at 3 o'clock, P. M.:

That fine Estate situated on the corner of High and Purchase sts., in Danvers, occupied by James D. Black.

This Estate is one of the most desirable in this section, the site is elevated, command in an extensive and exceedingly fine prospect, the elevation rendering it remarkably dry and healthy. Being midway between two enterprising villages, it is sufficiently removed from the turmoil of the busy centres to render it a quiet retreat, while at the same time it is not inconveniently removed from post offices, railroad accommodations, churches, schools or grocers.

It is distant from Salem three miles; within eight minutes walk of two post offices, three railroad depots, five churches, high, grammar and primary schools, and mechanic shops of every description.

The house is nearly new, of modern architecture, high stud, well built, of the best materials, has eleven rooms and is finished throughout; has a furnace, is well supplied with water, and has one of the finest stables in the vicinity.

Connected with the house is one acre of Land, in a high state of culture, well stocked with the best varieties of fruit, consisting of apples, pears, cherries, grapes, mulberries, currants, strawberries, blackberries, walnuts, etc., etc; ornamented by thrifty rows of elms on both fronts, good substantial bank walls, flourishing evergreen hedges, spruces, larches, flowering shrubs, herbaceous and climbing plants, etc., etc. The sale will be on the premises.

Sept. 7, 1863.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,
33 MAIN STREET.

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 · · MAIN ST. · · 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,
Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers,

DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemica Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery Toilet Articles and Stationery.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

37 MAIN STREET.

Mothers—Take Heed!

GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st.

South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

THE PIANO FORTES

THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,

218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,

where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call.

Mch 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

Barn for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his barn, in rear of his residence on Holten st. Said barn is well adapted for any one wishing to keep a cow or horse. The loft will hold 1½ ton of hay. Terms easy. S. Q. WHITE.

So. Danvers, Sept. 2, '63. tf

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, o which the Mackie took the First Premium at the 1st Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.

BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.

South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

ALL THE NEW BOOKS

GO into our Subscription Circulating Library. Terms four dollars a year in advance, this is the cheapest way of reading the new publications.

Sept 7 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY!

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs. Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Billousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simply, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test

Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing

JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

EDITOR OF WIZARD,—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Premature Decay, etc., etc., by one who has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned Doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island, by enclosing an addressed envelope. Address

CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,

— ALSO —

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

---

PERHAM'S

SEVEN MILE MIRROR

INVALID SOLDIER BENEFIT

TICKET ENTERPRISE

FOR THE FOUNDING OF A

NATIONAL INSTITUTION

FOR THE RELIEF OF

Invalid and Disabled Soldiers.

JOSIAH PERHAM,

Agent for the Seven Mile Mirror,

Has the honor to announce a plan for the founding of a National Institution, to be a home for Invalid and Disabled Soldiers.

100,000 TICKETS,

Each admitting Four Persons to any Exhibition in the Popular Entertainment, or to any Exhibition of the

Great Mirror of the Rebellion,

Which will be soon unrolled to the public, will be sold at

ONE DOLLAR EACH.

One half, the profits of the Entire Sale

TO BE EXCLUSIVELY DEVOTED AND DONATED

TO THIS PATRIOTIC OBJECT.

The holders of the 100,000 Tickets shall choose Trustees in Mass Meeting to be held in Boston,

On Wednesday, October 28th, 1863,

who shall receive the funds as aforesaid, on their giving sufficient bonds to faithfully apply the same to this object, in accordance with the plans of the originator.

To speedily accomplish this great purpose every wise means will be used by the projector to effect the immediate sale of the tickets, and he calls upon the loyal and humane to assist earnestly, in act and deed, in carrying this noble undertaking forward to a triumphant success.

Neither its importance nor its feasibility can be called in question; let the people but respond in a spirit worthy of the project, and no obstacles shall delay its consummation.

Making the proposition in good faith, and ready to devote his whole energies to the great work, the projector firmly believes the tide of popular favor will flow in the desired direction, and accomplish the founding, and ensure the erection of a permanent National Institution, which shall be an asylum for the retired Soldier, whose loss of health, or limb, is his diploma FOR HEROIC SERVICE performed in his country's cause; and which shall go down to future generations a blessing to mankind and an enduring monument to the liberality of the loyal people.

By combining this enterprise with the public place of amusement, of such well-known high character and merit, the subscriber to the fund, while giving his money for the promotion of a great charitable design, may receive a full equivalent for the outlay in witnessing this splendid series of Paintings.

As soon as the Tickets are sold, in addition to one-half the profits to be paid over as aforesaid, the following described property will be donated to the Ticket-holders and placed in the hands of the Trustees chosen as aforesaid, to be held in trust, and to be disposed of as the Ticket-holders shall direct in Mass Meeting, which may be by selling the property and appropriating the proceeds thereof for the benefit of Invalid Soldiers, or they may instruct the Trustees to dispose of the property among the Ticket-holders, or in any other way most agreeable to them, with this specific condition, that in disposing of the property there shall be no violation of the law:—

One genteel Residence in City of Roxbury, Mass., valued at	$10,000
Three Piano Fortes, valued at $500 each	1,500
Five Piano Fortes, valued at $300 each	1,500
Five Gold Watches, at $100 each	500
Fifty " " " $50 each	2,500
Two shares in the Boston & Worcestor Railroad, valued at $130 each	260
Two shares in the Boston & Maine Railroad, valued at $130 each	260
Two shares in the Merchants' Bank, Boston, valued at $100 each	200
Six thousand Gold Union Medals at $3 each	18,00
Two Sewing Machines at $50 each	100
	$34,720

THE SEVEN MILE MIRROR.

Will be exhibited in various parts of the country to accommodate the Ticket-holders.

The Great Mirror of the Rebellion,

On which the best Artists in the country have been employed for the last three months, will be opened at the Melodeon, in Boston, on Monday, September 14th. This great work of Art illustrates with startling Dioramic accompaniments the most thrilling incidents and terrific Battles of the War, both Naval and on Land.

TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH,

Tickets one dollar each, or to any one who will get up a Club of Ten and forward ten dollars will receive eleven tickets, each ticket admitting four persons. Tickets for sale at the Melodeon, 367 Washington street and at the Adams House, Boston, Mass.

All communications on this subject, and all orders for Tickets by mail or express, should be directed to

JOSIAH PERHAM, Agent,
Adams House, Boston.
Sept. 9. 4-w.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,

And for sale by

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for

MASSEY & COLLINS'

PHILADELPHIA ALES,

BUCKHART'S

CREAM ALE,

And Dealer in

LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.

LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND COVERS.

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.

They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world to an infallible, simple, easy, and rapid progress of Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are without a fault, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.

The sealing is on an entirely original plan. This principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried these articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar.

PRICE LIST.

Pints, per doz,	$2 25	3 pints, per doz,	$3 50
Quarts, "	3 00	Half gallon, "	4 00

Liberal discount to the trade.

S C & E A SIMONDS',
Salem Aug 5 32 Front Street.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,

FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,

Central street, South Danvers,

Residence 25 Elm Street.

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.

He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.

He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.

All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

WEBBER'S

South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7 and 11 A M, and 1½ and and 6 P M.

Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.

Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.

Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.

July 29, 1863 PARKER, WEBBER.

THE NEW GOSPEL OF PEACE

ACCORDING to Lt. Benjamin. A burlesque on the Politicians and the Times. It shows up "Phernand Iwood of Gotham," The Tshirubres of the South, etc.—Price 25 cents. For sale by G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

---

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN, NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aueroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

JOHN MOULTON,
LIVERY STABLE,
Central Street, South Danvers.

Mr. M. will endeavor to keep up the good reputation of the stable he still keeping good Horses and Carriages. Jan 7, 1863.

Advertisements.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,

SOLE AGENT FOR

SARGENT & CO.S'

MAGIC SOAP

For South Danvers & Salem.

OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.

Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.

Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

AERATED BREAD.

THE subscriber will daily leave the above new article of bread with the principal grocers in this town, of whom it may be purchased at 6 cents a loaf. It is claimed that this bread—unrivalled in point of sweetness and wholesomeness—is more nutritious than that made in the usual way, that it will keep much longer, and is moister and more palatable, having the taste of new bread, even when it is several days old. F. H. KIRK.
So. Danvers, Aug 5, 1863.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY,

FOR September.—It contains contributions from Col Higginson, Gail Hamilton, Louis Agassiz, Rose Terry, Charles Sumner, Theodore Tilton, Robert Dale Owen, Edward L. Pierce, Julia Ward Howe. Numbers promptly furnished by
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

MARK YOUR CLOTHING.

STENCIL Plates cut in the best way; Indellible Ink, Brushes, etc., at the lowest prices, at
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SPRING BEDS! SPRING BEDS!

ALL those that are inclined to rest their weary limbs on the most luxurious

SPRING BED

that was ever invented, are invited to call at

No. 52 Main St., South Danvers,

and there see the very best SPRING BED BOTTOM that has been offered to the public.

Not having been able at first to meet the demands, I now have the facilities to supply all orders.

Having bought the right to make and vend for the county of Essex, the subscriber would be happy to supply all those who may favor him with a call.

Rights for sale for any town or city in the county except Haverhill and Lawrence.

THOS. TRASK.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale on favorable terms,—or would exchange for a Farm,—his Estate on Wallis Street, near the Monumental Cemetary, consisting of THREE DWELLING HOUSES, which will be sold separately or as one Estate.

There are 75 feet of land in front, and 72 feet in the rear of the house.

The situation is pleasant, in a good neighborhood, and the houses are supplied with all the conveniences for immediate occupation. In ordinary times these tenements would rent for from 330 to 350 dollars.

The Subscriber, having made up his mind to dispose of the property, will sell it low, and it is well worth the attention of purchasers.

Apply to JOHN M'NEAL.
South Danvers, Dec. 10th, 1862. tf.

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

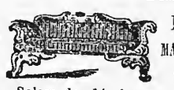
Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.

dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, ... Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in



Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

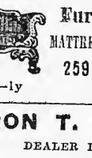
THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block]
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

---



THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

MILITARY BOOKS

AT G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S, September 2d

Army Officer's Pocket Companion;
Benet's Military Law and Courts Martial;
Benet's Campaign of Waterloo;
Jominie's Art of War; Monroe's Co. Drill;
Digest of US Tactics, from the French of Steffen
Elements of Military Art of History;
Rifles and Rifle Practice, Wilcox;
The Ordance Manual, a most valuable Book;
Mahan on Field Fortifications;
Instruction in Outpost Duty;
Casey's Infantry and Rifle Tactics;
Cameron's Infantry Tactics; Scott's do do.
sept 2 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8½, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2½ 5½, 7½, p. m.
Beverly, 8½ am., 1, 3½, 3½, 5½, 6.55, 7½ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8½ a m., 1, 5½ p m.
Portsmouth, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Portland, 8½ a m., 3½ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM

Portland, 8½ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7½, †11½ a m., †5½ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m., 6½ p m.
Ipswich, 7.25, 8.25, 10.35 a m., 12.25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 to a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, *9.05, 11.05 a m., 12.50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, *4.35, 5.35, *6.20, 8, *7.25, * 8.05 p m
Boston, 7½, *8½, 10½ a m., 12½, 2½, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9½.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10½ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Marblehead for Salem, 6½, 7½, 8½, 9½ a m., 12½, 1½, 5½, 6½, 7½ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7½, 8½, 9.25, 11½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6½, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5½ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.

Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11½ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6 40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7½ a m., 12½, 3½, 6½ p m.

J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:

Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9 40 a m. and 5.55 p m.

Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.

*Freight Train with passenger car attached.

F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.

Norwich Steamboat Train.

The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage; $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack-transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious ascent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never falling remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 25 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 20, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$300,000. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Amos W. Prentice, Pres.
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$100,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y

Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the

Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass.
Capital and Assets—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-]

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphereotypes, Melainotypes, and patent carte de Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 17

GROUT & MUNROE'S

SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at	10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " " at	5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at	3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at	4 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.

Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street. Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.

Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.

Smallest favors thankfully received.

South Danvers, august 26—tf

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

— TO —

LYNN & BOSTON

— BY —

OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.

W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily.

Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M.

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving Scollay's Building, Court Street, at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.

Sunday Arrangements.

Leave S. Danvers at 7.50 a.m., and 4.50 p.m.
Leave Lynn at 9.40 a.m., and 6.40 p.m.

Cars leave Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston, to meet the Omnibuses in Lynn for South Danvers, at 8 15 A. M., and 5 15 P. M.

Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - 30 cents.

Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.

Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS

Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.

Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.
South Danvers, 1863.

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m.
Leave Salem, - - - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

MARSHALL'S

DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM EXPRESS.

Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.

OFFICES:

In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office.
Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.

All business promptly and faithfully attended to.

☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.

☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."

☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible points in the United States, at the usual rates.

P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1-8-tf

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.

Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.

Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venerea and impure blood, Impetency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abcesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating masrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr Dow has also for sale the French Capottes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. 3 or $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION

TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a very few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has

South Danvers Wizard.

. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1863. NO. 38.

ITH DANVERS WIZARD
ery WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Buildvers Square.
Dollars a year.
NTS inserted at reasonable rates.

ARLES D. HOWARD,
R AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
NT EDITOR, DANVERS.

ected Poetry.

VER TONES OF WOM-AN'S TONGUE.

tones of woman's tongue,
uence of woman's eyes,
l nameless bards have sung,
ns unheeded by the wise;
t be a bard like them
the bliss of Lucy's smile, would herself condemn erer's deceitful wile.

: tell thee how I love,
t the charms I find in thee,
ery leaf in yonder grove
into winged words for me;
! to this heart of mine
hy gentle fingers press—
bounding throb is thine,
ry throb is happiness.

s the holy hour
mlight dies upon the sea—
rls are hung on every flower, ds are hush'd on every tree;
attice—all is mute,
the beams of yon pale star;
ot even have thy lute
sic of such silence mar.

here is in it a spell
es the soul a higher sway, hts that oft in darkness dwell,
o life in bright array;
-feelings—ecstacies—that fling
n joy through both our bosoms, rs in moonlight, or like spring
eaths on every bough in blossom.

s world we long have been,
s their sun—our arms their zone, something felt—not seen—
our bliss a higher tone;
can clasp each other thus,
deep purity entwin'd,
is all this earth to us?—
nnot bound the chainless mind.

like clouds at break of day,
he sun's bright pathway driv'n, light resolv'd a way—
ie light—the light of Heaven!
loats in liquid light,
ff upon a sapphire sea.
we have seen to-night
se of Heaven's eternity!

s a time for prayer—for thoughts we cannot speak, blue and starry air
ghts will find the home they seek;
n me, Lucy, side by side—
not things of dust and clay, ry own immortal bride—
ith me, Lucy!—we will pray.

DIER TO HIS CHILDREN.

wing beautiful poem is taken from Transcript as written in camp, after a soldier to his children at home:]

s, I am weary pining;
ows fall across my way;
ardly see the lining
cloud—the silver lining,
ing darkness into day.

ary of the sighing,
ing, wailing through the air;
g hearts in anguish crying,
lost ones—for the dying;
ng anguish of despair.

ary of the fighting;
ers red with brother's gore.
at the wrong we're fighting—od Honor's battle fighting—
ld draw my sword no more.

ning; dearest, pining
our kisses on my cheek;
r dear arms round me twining;
r soft eyes on me shining;
our loved words, darling—speak!

in your earnest prattle,
he olive branch and dove,
e from the cannon's rattle;
y thoughts away from battle;
me in your dearest love.

g, I am weary pining;
lows fall across my way;
ardly see the lining
cloud—the silver lining,
ning darkness into day.

---

ron.—The use of Greek fire shells was personally ordered by President The Greek fire burns for twenty It will burn on the water as well as nd each shell covers a surface of one square feet with flame. The shell o about one hundred and twenty ten times as many as the ordinary f course the effect of these shells will Charleston in flames, which nothing e.

e new postal currency notes will be of denomination as the old, but, instead of different sizes, they will all be of nsions of the present ten cent postal. s will distinguish them.

Parishioner inquired of his pastor the of this line in Scripture: "He was with curses as with a garment." "It " replied the divine, "that the indi- ad got a bad habit of swearing."

MRS. LOFTY AND I.

Mistress Lofty keeps a carriage,
So do I;
She has dapple greys to draw it,
None have I;
She's no prouder with her coachman
Than am I,
With my blue-eyed laughing baby,
Trundling by.
I hide his face lest she should see
The cherub boy, and envy me.

Her fine husband has white fingers,
Mine has not;
He could give his bride a palace,—
Mine a cot;
Her's comes home beneath the starlight—
Ne'er cares she;
Mine comes in the purple twilight,
Kisses me,
And prays that He who turns life's sands
Will hold His loved ones in His hands.

Mistress Lofty has her jewels,
So have I;
She wears her's upon her bosom,—
Inside I;
She will leave her's at Death's portal,
Bye and bye;
I shall bear my treasure with me
When I die;
For I have love and she has gold—
She counts her wealth—mine can't be told.

She has those who love her—station,
None have I;
But I've one true heart beside me,
Glad am I;
I'd not change it for a kingdom,
No, not I;
God will weigh it in a balance,
Bye and bye,
And the difference define
'Twixt Mrs. Lofty's wealth and mine.

THE POISON ARROWS OF AFRICA — The late travels of Major Denham and Capt. Clapperton, besides their discovery of countries in Central Africa, before unknown, give a light on many subjects, of which formerly we had but an obscure knowledge. Amongst these, the Poisoned Arrows stand very prominent. By the accounts of Major Denham, it is a weapon, the slightest scratch of which is death; nothing can equal it, excepting the bite of a rattlesnake. Major Denham accompanied an expedition of horse and foot, armed with musketry, against the Felatahs, the bravest of the African nations.

The Felatahs are not of the negro race. but are of a bronze color, and are evidently of Arab descent. The combatants met, and the contest was not long doubtful. The army of the assailants, principally on account of the cowardice of the Bornou horse, were defeated, and the poisoned arrows of the Felatahs made dreadful execution. In the flight, Major Denham was frequently in the most critical danger, hundreds of these arrows falling all around him. Horses, wounded, were seen after half an hour to drop dead; and the soldiers died, swelled, and the blood issuing at every pore. Boo Khaloon, a merchant general, under whose escort Don Oudley and his party had crossed the desert, fell from his horse and expired by a slight wound in the foot from one of these arrows.

ORIGIN OF THE CITY OF LONDON.—London is first mentioned as a Roman settlement, in the year 61, when it was the residence of a great many merchants and dealers. Long before their taking possession of it, however, it was a village of the Belgic Britons, who were a mixed race of Gauls and Germans, but more German than Gælic. It was built in a wood, fortified with ramparts and ditches, and thence its name Lund, or "The Wood," and Lundduyn, the fortified wood or hill. It is indebted to no splendid origin or adventitious aid, except being the seat of government; but has risen to its present grandeur and opulence by its intrinsic merits, the advantages of his situation, and the industry and commercial spirit of its inhabitants. The Romans soon discovered its convenient situation for a military station, and established a magazine of stores and provisions there, A. D. 51.

SYSTEMATIC OPPOSITION.—There is a story told of an Irishman who, landing in New York harbor, was met and welcomed by a countryman who had been longer here. "Welcome Pat," said the latter, "I'm glad to see ye; ye've come just in time, for to-morrow's election day." Pat and his friend took some refreshment together, and presently the newly-arrived began to make some inquiries about voting. "Ye'll vote for who ye plaize," said his friend, "sure it's a free counthry." "Well, thin, begorra," rejoined Pat, "I go agin the government—that's what I always did at home."

☞ It has been suggested that the Quakers who are drafted and refuse to serve in the army should be allowed to enter the ambulance corps and take care of the wounded.

SPECULATION MORE EASY THAN PRACTICE.—If to do were as easy as to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches, and poor men's cottages princes' palaces. It is a good divine that follows his own instructions: I can easier teach twenty what were good to be done, than to be one of the twenty to follow my own teaching. The brain may devise laws for the blood; but a hot temper leaps over a cold decree: Such a bare is Madness, the youth, to skip o'er the meshes of good Counsel, the cripple.

One watch set right, will do to try many by; and on the other hand, one that goes wrong, may be the means of misleading a whole neighborhood. And the same may be said of the example we individually set to those around us.

The true secret of happiness is to be well with our own minds. The vexations which we must expect to happen to us from without, will often throw us back upon ourselves; it is good to have there an agreeable retreat.

Criticise upon nothing more than your own actions, and you will soon see reason enough to pardon the weakness of others.

THALES ONE OF THE WISE MEN OF GREECE.—A sophist wishing to puzzle him with difficult questions, the sage of Miletus replied to them all without the least hesitation, and with the utmost precision:

What is the oldest of all things? God, because he always existed.

What is the most beautiful? The world, because it is the work of God.

What is the greatest of all things? Space, because it contains all that has been created.

What is the most constant of all things? Hope, because it still remains with man, after he has lost every thing else.

What is the best of all things? Virtue, because without it there is nothing good.

What is the quickest of all things? Thought, because in a moment it can fly to the end of the universe.

What is the strongest? Necessity, which makes man face all the dangers of life.

What is the easiest? To give advice.

What is the most difficult? To know yourself.

VARIETIES.

Ill temper puts as many briefs into the lawyer's bag as injustice.

Why is rheumatism like a glutton? Because it attacks the joints.

There are two things which you should not borrow—trouble and a newspaper.

You may prescribe only one scruple of medicine for a sick man, and yet he may have a hundred scruples to take it.

A man of philosophic temperament resembles a cucumber—for although he may be completely cut up, he still remains cool.

The Chinese have a saying that an unlucky word dropped from the tongue cannot be brought back by a coach and six horses.

A man who lived much in society, said that his acquaintances would fill a cathedral, but that the pulpit would hold his friends.

"What are you writing such a big hand for, Pat?"

"Why you see my grandmother is dafe, and I'm writing a loud letter to her."

☞ The Scientific American says that the simplest and best way of preserving woolens through the summer from the destruction of moths, is to wrap them well up, after brushing and beating them, in cotton or linen cloths. The moth can pass neither. Two covers well wrapped around and secured from the air will be effectual.

SUBSTITUTES IN NEW YORK.—The city authorities of New York advertise for ten thousand substitutes to be procured by the same system which Governor Seymour originally recommended.

☞ Prentice says he has no doubt that Beauregard, when the Devil gets him, will quarrel with his club-footed majesty in regard to the fire he shall use in broiling sinners.

☞ How the Prince of Wales popped the question to the Princess of Denmark: "Please deign to marry me." And the fair Dane deigned.

☞ It is related that Duverger, the actress, wears, in one of her characters at a Paris theatre, a costume valued at $180,000. One diamond in her head-dress is valued at $20,000.

☞ To ridicule old age is like pouring in the morning cold water into the bed in which you have to sleep at night.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 23, 1863.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

A ride into Virginia—Chain Bridge—The Forts—Visit to Alexandria—The Soldiers' Cemetery, &c., &c., &c., &c.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 12, 1863.

DEAR WIZARD,—It was a bright, clear morning, and yet not over warm, but a few days ago, when my friend and myself started, with horse and buggy, to visit Alexandria. As that city was to be, however, only in one sense the end, but not the sole object, of our journey, and our trip was to be quite roundabout in order to enable us to see as much as possible of the fortifications around Washington, on the Virginia side, and of the Old Dominion in that neighborhood, we were on our way betimes fully prepared to make a peaceable invasion of the sacred soil—that is, with a box of peaches under the seat and cigars, and a drinking cup in our pocket. Driving first to Chain Bridge, about six miles north west from the Capitol, our progress was suddenly arrested at the tete-de-pont covering it from the eastern side of the river, by the sentinel's challenge, our passes were scrutinized and our vehicle examined, lest a false bottom or some other contrivance, at which others than Yankees have proved themselves adepts, and that in a bad cause, might be conveying contraband articles beyond the Union lines. For the information of many of your readers, who may very naturally be led by the misnomer, I will state that Chain Bridge is not a chain bridge at all; that is only the name of it, reminding one of the boy crying, "Hot minee pies, here's your hot mince pies," but when, of a winter day, a purchaser bit one and stuck his tooth in a mass of ice, the waggish little vendor exculpated himself by saying he didn't mean they were hot; that was only the name of them. The fact is, in explanation there was formerly a chain or suspension bridge at this point, which was destroyed, and a pier bridge has been built in its place, and the old name has outlasted the structure. The Potomac becomes very narrow near this point, flowing between huge ledges, and reminding me of the Columbia, which, in passing through the Cascade Mountains, seems affrighted at the mighty columns of basalt through which it is attempting to pass, and from near a mile in width shrinks into a deep but narrow channel resembling a common canal. Between Chain Bridge and Long Bridge, at the lower part of this city, the river increases to just a mile in width. We found the country for a long distance back from the bridge so broken and rugged as to constitute, of itself, a good defense against the approach of artillery, at least, except by a single road, which winds itself among the hills and is amply covered by the guns of Fort Ethan Allen, which is perched on the highest peak in the vicinity, as it were among the Green Mountains of the hero after whom it was named. At this fort we found the soldiers luxuriating in water-melons and evidently bent on killing time, the only enemy in their immediate front, in the most agreeable manner possible. Taking a brief survey of the defenses along our route, we drove from fort to fort, occasionally passing a farm house surrounded by its orchard and by some slight traces of former cultivation, but inter arma labor languet, and if ever thrift distinguished the denizens of this region, they are certainly holding that trait in abeyance for the present. The timber which once beautified these hills and made them voluable, being mostly oak, has been felled and either used by the soldiers for fuel or now lies in piles of cord-wood to render next winter comfortable.

At Fort Whipple, the finest and most approved, probably, of the fortifications around Washington, are stationed several companies of the 14th Mass. Regiment, and as several members of one of these companies were from the writer's native town, it required no urging for him to tarry awhile to renew a long-interrupted acquaintance, talk of old times and old friends and examine the fort, of which the garrison is justly proud, and the enemy may be justly afraid. The care which Massachusetts soldiers take of their personal appearance and health is so universally remarked that I need hardly mention it; and the surgeon's record shows that at this fort the health of the garrison is better than that of ordinary communities with all the conveniences and advantages of home.

When we arrived opposite Long Bridge we passed the camp of the negro regiment, enlisted in this District, and which does credit to a people, so large a portion of which has but recently been but recently released by act of Congress from the yoke of servitude. I doubt whether an equal number of white laboring men and women, in any part of the country, could undergo so great and sudden change of condition as have the slaves of this District with less disorder and with greater credit to themselves. We may all rejoice that the capital of our country no longer hears the bondsman's chains, nor sees the human chattle on the auction block!

From Long Bridge, six miles over an excellent road brought us to the end of our journey. Whatever objects of interest Alexandria contains, I cannot dwell upon them now. There is the church to which Washington used to come from Mount Vernon to attend service, and though all other pews have been remodeled to conform to modern style, his square, high-locked pew, with his name upon it, has appropriately been preserved in its old estate.

I stood near the spot in the Marshall House where that tragic scene, the murder of Ellsworth and the swiftly following vengeance was enacted, and that, too, at a period when we had not become used to all the sad and terrible realities of war. The stars and stripes now float from the same staff whence Ellsworth wrenched the emblem of treason, and Alexandrians have learned to quietly, if not willingly, submit to federal rule. Alexandria is said to contain about 15,000 inabitants, and those business men who remained there have had a larger trade since its occupation by the federal forces than they ever had before. But many of the wealthiest and most prominent citizeds abandoned all their property to follow the fortunes of rebellion. I visited one house thus abandoned by its owner, together with at least $20,000 worth of other property. Not an article of household furniture was taken by him, but everything in his house was left as when he occupied it; the family portraits all hanging on the walls, rich vases filled with grasses or flowers on the mantles, as though a few days was to restore him to the familiar objects of home. Certainly here was devotion to a bad cause, worthy of emulation in a better one. But he has been mistaken in his calculations of a speedy return, and the U. S. Marshal now has charge of the property, to deal with it under the confiscation law.

From the lower part of Alexandria a good view is obtained as far down the river as Fort Washington, nearly opposite Mount Vernon, which is but five or six miles distant in a straight line;—that one great shrine which ought to be the mecca to which thirty millions should go up in peace to renew their devotion to the Union, which he did so much to establish. It seems to me that every American must derive new strength and purpose of patriotism from a visit to the tomb of Washington, even as Antæus, from each new contact with his mother earth, drew new strength for his herculean contest.

But I visited a spot of more immediate and solemn interest to me than is possessed by any other about Alexandria. it is the Soldiers' Burial Ground. Not long since an appropriate place was selected, purchased and prepared by an agent of the Government for the interment of such soldiers as should die in that vicinity. Already nearly a thousand soldiers of the Union lie in those sacred precincts. They are buried in long rows, side by side, with head-boards of uniform size and appearance, neatly painted and giving their names and the companies, regiments and States to which they belonged. There sleep the sons of every loyal State, mingling their ashes as their blood has been mingled. Every grave is carefully sodded and watered that they may be kept green, as will the memories of those that slumber there in the hearts of friends and kindred far away.

We may now, in truth, speak of the sacred soil of Virginia; sacred, not, indeed, as its F. F. V's fain would have it against the tread of loyal soldiers, but sacred by virtue of "New England's dead" and the dead of every loyal state from Plymouth Rock to San Francisco's Golden Gate, for California has sent her sons to mingle in death as in life with the sons of Massachusetts.

Soon after the battle of Gettysburg, a senator from the extreme northwest visited the scene of that terrible conflict, and upon my inquiring, when he returned, as to the particulars of what he saw, he exclaimed, in a sort of rhapsody, "Massachusetts is the most glorious state in the union! I saw Massachusetts graves on all portions of the field, even within the enemy's line of battle, and you can distinguish them from all others, for every one of them is as carefully sodded as if it were in a New England grave yard. There is a pride in her soldiers and her citizens which cares for her dead as well as her living." This was a spontaneous tribute from one who never lived in New England, and whose feelings and interests have long been thoroughly identified with the West. He would hardly favor "leaving New England out in the cold." Gov. Curtin never did a fitter thing than when he caused a portion of the stricken field of Gettysburg to be purchased for a soldiers cemetery, for it will one day be adorned and beautified by states and private pilgrims until it shall be made worthy of the gallant dead who fell on that eventful day.

After a fine shower an hour's pleasant drive brought us back to Washington, which is now as quiet and regular as if "grim-visaged war had smoothed his wrinkled front," but I doubt not that we shall soon have his savage frown near us again, for there is reason to conjecture that the rebel leaders are concentrating their forces under their ablest general, Lee, to make another and most desperate effort to retrieve their losses in the southwest by defeating our army under General Meade or breaking his lines and attacking Baltimore or Washington, or at least making an invasion in some direction. He may do this, too, in season and with a view to influence the pending election in Pennsylvania. But I have made this letter already over-long and will not weary your readers by prophecies.

Yours, &c.,
S. R. B.

NAHANT.

"Oh, that the desert were my dwelling place,
With one fair spirit for my minister."

Such was the desire of the author of Childe Harold. But Byron never came to America, as he often purposed to do, and therefore never saw the place whose name stands for the keystone of this article. Had he spent but one of the long laughing days of summer with a whole omnibus load of "fair spirits" in that romantic spot, where the sublime blends with the beautiful, he never would have sighed again for a lodge in the desert.

The "genii of melody" which hover over that place (their snowy wings tinged with immortal glories,) would have drawn from his Lyre a strain that would have rivalled his apostrophe to the Alps. What peals of thunder would have been flung from the forehead of Pulpit Rock! What an oration would old Neptune have delivered from his granite throne, Egg Rock, to the rebellious waves of ocean! And how would the boom of Spouting Horn, Nature's great trombone, have shaken the surrounding hills with "mountain mirth." With what a majestic roar would the Stone Lion have startled the sleeping echoes in their rocky caverns! And that Wooden Bull—but ah, he speaks for himself. He is a Bull in two senses.

But, seriously, gentle reader, have you been there? If not, you have lost full one-half of your existence. This we can prove, and "nail't wi' scripture." Go then, go soon, and die not a fool. Greatly will it invigorate your intellectual powers, turning your brain into a fire-mill, shooting new vigor through your frame, and blowing up seraphic ardor in your heart, even if you are as cold and phlegmatic in your temperament as a sun-jelly.

Very glorious is it to plant your feet on the summit of those "sea-o'er gazing eminences" and listen to the full-lipped melody of Nature's "Great Harmonist," whose mighty breast heaves and dilates with rapture as he sings. That same sublime monody he has rolled on ever since creation's dawn till now. His sombre shadow has loomed up in all ages, and thrown itself across the disk of thousands of imaginations. The royal Psalmist beheld its liquid columns waltzing to the roll of Heaven's Thunder Drum, and sung as he swept with fire-tipped fingers his seraphic lyre;—"The deep hath lifted up his hands on high." And did not the prophet Ezekiel see in it an image of Divine Providence? "The appearance of the wheels and their work, was like unto the color of a beryl." Dana beheld in it a mighty Giant heaving and straining to free himself from the viewless chain that bound him. The "Pilgrim of Eternity" whose "fame over his living head like Heaven was bent," saw in it a "glorious mirror," catching in every tempest the dim contour of Deity." Cowper contemplating it in a calm when the "gentleness of Heaven" was on its face, viewed it as a tired infant, smiling and resting in its placid slumbers. Others have imagined it the great "shrine of Nature," inlaid with the gemmed coronets of a thousand kings, whose base is among the unregistered treasures of dead dominion, and the diamonds of infant Time.

Highly conducive to physical health also is an occasional visit to such a place—a perfect catholican for all manner of diseases. Does ennui oppress, or blue devils haunt you? "Throw physic to the dogs," whether it comes in the shape of pound pills, or infinitesimal pellets, and make tracks for Nahant. Go early, "ere the hot sun counts his dewy rosary on the eglantine," and inhale the fragrant breath of morning, while yet her roseate cheek is wet with ocean dew. Snugly ensconce yourself in Swallow's Cave, and let the tidal wave roll in one pocket and out the other. Infinitely superior is it to all patent shower baths.

Then climb the rugged steep to hail the King of Day, as, kindled at the Eye of God, he comes forth from his regal chamber in the east to bless the world. Or give the reins to your Rosinate as you roll across the "velvet beach," and ply the lash till the fire flies from his heels, and you will believe yourself riding in a cloud-woven chariot on an atmospheric railway, bound for the golden gates of Saturn. Nothing so lifts one out of himself as an excursion like this. Forgetting the cares of business and the jingle of the "almighty dollar," you exclaim with Hazlitt—"Go thy ways old world, swing round in blue ether, voluble to every age, you and I will jostle no more for the present."

Then repairing to Tudor's Garden, where "fair spirits" have provided for you a repast worthy of the gods—though minus their liquors—you will find yourself possessed of an appetite that will not stop to inquire if a granite boulder would lie hard in the stomach. Returning home, you will be better fitted to grapple with the stern realities of life. You can look trouble in the eye and sing:—

"Here's a sigh to those who love me,
And a smile to those who hate;
And, whatever sky's above me,
Here's a heart for every fate."

☞ During the battle of Fredericksburg, the Confederate Gen. Lee observed one of his aides-de-camp, a very young man, shrink every now and then, and by the motion of his body, seek to evade, if possible, the shot. "Sir," said Lee, "what do you mean? Do you think you can dodge the balls? Do you know that Napoleon lost about a hundred aides-de-camp in one campaign?" "So I've read," replied the young officer, "but I did not think you could spare so many."

☞ Artemas Ward says—"I have already given two cousins to the war & I- stand reddy to sacrifiss my wife's brother rathur'n not see the rebelyin krusht. And if wuss cums to wuss I'll shed every drop of blud my able bodied relations has got to prosekoot the war. I think sumbody oughter to be prosekooted, and it may as well be the war as anybody else."

☞ The question has been asked, why it is considered impolite for gentlemen to go in the presence of ladies in their shirt sleeves, while it is considered in every way correct for the ladies themselves to appear before gentlemen without any sleeves?

☞ Lord Bacon once remarked that they who derive their worth from their ancestors resemble potatoes, the most valuable part of which is under ground.

☞ Bacon says that labor conquers all things, but idleness conquers more people than labor does.

☞ "Why are hoops like obstinate men? Because they often stand out about trifles."

A FIGHTING CLERGYMAN.—The Rev. A. M. Haskell, pastor of the Barton Square Society in Salem, who was drafted, has been examined and passed, and is going to the war.

☞ The Providence Bulletin learns that leather bonnets, trimmed with flowers of the same material, will appear in market in a week or two.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 23, 1863.

☞ On our outside will be found two interesting communications, viz: "Letter from Washington," "Nahant."

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

The occupation by our army of East Tennessee discloses the truth that what Parson Brownlow has said as to the outrages committed in the last two years by the secessionists in that unhappy region is not exaggeration—that in fact, any statement on paper of the rebel barbarities as practiced towards men, women and children suspected of no offence other than a lingering love for the flag of their fathers necessarily falls short of the tragical truth. No wonder Gen. Burnside was hailed as a Deliverer! that as his army entered Knoxville the streets of the city were thronged with a people almost wild with joy, their eyes streaming with tears of gratitude, their voices filling the air with shouts of welcome and with Amens of Safety at last! It was the joy of sudden liberation from the most terrible thraldom, and to the heroic soldiers who brought such happiness the scene presented must have been a full reward even for all their toil and suffering in field and camp.

Active movements are resumed in the army of the Potomac. Matters look as if Lee in the quiet of the last few weeks had been "studying up something," which he now proposes to develop. So far it is not very encouraging to him. Gen. Pleasanton with his cavalry made a splendid move the 18th, crossing the Rappahannock, advancing with gallant charges till the rebels were driven to, through and beyond Culpepper. Our forces took, 3 guns, 104 prisoners, and a large quantity of ordnance stores. This in Virginia is the only important fighting of the week. Skirmishing, picket-firing, shelling and scouting in force rather that reconnoitering in force have been going on, on either side, and with indicative activity. Lee's army, supposed to be quite large, is on the south of the Rapidan, ours confronting it is on the north side, and it is not improbable that a great battle is pending. Our army is said to be in fine condition. It is due to rebeldom to say that rebels both in Virginia and elsewhere have recently exhibited more boldness and warosity than their late reverses were leading us to expect. Either Lee proposes a battle, or is keeping up a determined show of fight to cover—what by some is presumed—the abandonment by his army of Virginia.

Gen. Rosecrans is still heading South. The rebels on evacuating Chattanooga retired to Lafayette, taking possession of the Gaps of Pigeon Mountain. This mountain is as the arc of a circle around Lafayette, of which the rebels hold the interior and we the exterior lines. The rebel position is a strong one, as it can only be approached by the Gaps which precaution has been taken to well guard. The rebels are thus covered in their retreat on Rome and Collemore where it is supposed they will make a stout stand, should they be defeated in their present position. The have been largely reinforced so that their army now numbers 65,000, as is thought.

The great South Western Expedition, having as its prime object the restoration of Texas, commenced last week, moving by three different routes in three different forces respectively under commands of Generals Franklin, Washburn and Herron. Gen. Franklin's force, in consequence of the loss of two gun-boats at Saline Pass, whither he had proceeded, has been obliged to return to New Orleans. This, no doubt, will temporarily delay the whole movement on Texas.

Jeff. Davis has been sending troops into North Carolina, if possible, to awe into submission the good people of that State, who are so fast becoming alive to the wretchedness of his rule. He don't send North Carolina troops there.

Napoleon the Last is reported "baffled and humbled," his schemes for coalitions, throne-aggrandizing, throne-making, &c., all having reference to the "Latin race," not eventuating as by him was to be desired.

The President having suspended the writ of habeas corpus in cases of military arrests, the "democrats" say, that now all is lost—that the last vestige of liberty is wiped out—that "that good and great man, Horatio Seymour," has lived to no purpose—that "the noble martyr, Vallandigham," has martyred it in vain—that the world is crumbling to pieces—that the moon is sickly pale—that the stars are falling or "wandering rayless and pathless in the eternal space"—that the end of all things is at hand—even "democracy!" Meanwhile Abe says, "if it be valid, it cannot be retracted."

We are soon to be under new obligations to England for some rebel rams. Our debt will be large, but we shall be able to pay John Bull in time.

Pennsylvania soldiers have issued an address urging the re-election of Gov. Curtin. This is because the soldiers believe in Union and supporting the Government for the sake of saving the Union.

The Richmond Examiner raves uncommonly loud over the enormity of the sin of desertions from the rebel armies.

Copperheads brighting up under some apparent rebel encouragements quote gold at one forty, but this is coppery gold. Union gold is as it was—as good as greenbacks and no better.

☞ The Salem Observer publishes an interesting contribution from a drafted man of the war of 1812. He was sent to Salem Neck in a detachment under command of Capt. Samuel Mudge of Lynn. Among the list of names (78 in all) in this detachment, we notice the following from our town:

1st Lieut.—Asa Tapley, brick-maker.
2d Lieut.—Amos King, trader.
Privates—John Brown, mariner.
" —Elisha Bunker, laborer.
" —Samuel Long, mariner.
" —Jeremiah McIntire, laborer.
" —Robert B. Osgood, cordwainer.
" —Elbridge Putnam, cordwainer.
" —James Poor, mariner.
" —Levi Sargent, laborer.
" —William Wilson, cordwainer.

This detachment was mustered at Danvers Aug. 1, 1814, and discharged after being in the service three months.

Read our new advertisements.

CONSERVATISM AND DEMOCRACY.

It is a singular fatality that governs the moral and political status of individuals who do not keep a steady eye to principles—that they become the victims of words. Language is valuable only as the representative of thought. In its highest cultivated state, as the representative of thought—of the quick and subtle operations of mind—it is imperfect, and to its employer always tame and unsatisfactory. Men are accordingly impelled by a kind of desire of mental pleasure to be ever striving for improvement in the expression of their ideas; but as perfect expression is not attainable, it follows that language can never become fixed. "A perfect language," says Madame de Stael, "supposes a perfect literature." As, however, we can never be perfect in literature, but only make advances therein, language, in the course of our progress, must necessarily constantly be subject to change, obsoleteness, decay. The experience of the world shows that it is so subject—shows that few things are so mutable as this thing called language, so unsafe to be relied on as the representative of ideas in different periods. Terms once of honor, become terms of reproach, and terms once of reproach become terms of honor;—not because ideas have changed, but because men have adopted new words to represent the same ideas. A word like anything else not immaterial, gets worn out—by long usage gets rent, soiled and shabby, and people abandon it as they do an old shoe or garment. Then they dress their ideas in new words, as they dress their persons in new garments. Some people, however, never put away their old shoes, old pantaloons nor their old epithets, and accordingly as they do not, one or the other of these things, they go vile and ragged in their personal habit, or vile and ragged in their vernacular.

Of the latter class are those, who call themselves "conservatives" and "democrats." Once conservatism meant "a desire of preserving what is established," and democracy meant, "a government by the people." Now conservatism means a desire of opposing what ought to be established, and democracy means, a government by slaveholders. These words as representing the popular and overwhelmingly prevailing ideas of true government and of the conservative principle which should obtain in Government have become obsolete. The people cast them off years ago, and would no more readopt them in place of Union Republicanism and Union Loyalty, than they would prefer their worn out boots or worn out trousers, to those just purchased.

This inevitable drift and action of the popular mind in shedding language, particularly as relates to epithets, is a process which some persons seem incapable of recognizing. They are, in consequence, continually behind in the dark, hitting their heads and knocking out their brains against the rubbish of obsolete words. Many of them mean well enough, and are innocent victims except only as they are culpable for the ignorance which supposes that the same word in politics can long truly represent a great and true principle. Others are not so innocent, but are prowling around among the rubbish in the character of camp followers, in the pursuit of plunder. Many Democrats and many conservatives have actually bloated into fatness by their business as camp followers in the campaigns of the former Whig and Democratic parties, but they have done it at the expense of their minions whom they have fleeced and left behind to subsist on the carrion of dead carcasses. Grown insane by their greediness they have become blind to the fact that Whigs and Democrats stopped campaigning some years ago, and they are still blundering round on those desolated battle grounds of 1852–56, where even there are not to be found the bones of a dead ass or mule. The few innocent creatures whom they yet deceive into hunting and groping with them are fast getting their eyes open to the barrenness of the ground, and we shall presently hear no more of those old worn out habiliments of political ideas, Democracy and Conservatism.

☞ The "Danvers Musical Union" met Monday evening, the 14th inst., and organized by choice of the following officers:—

President—George Tapley.
Vice President—A. W. Trask.
Secretary—John S. Learoyd.
Treasurer—Eben G. Berry.

The "Union" holds its first meeting Monday evening, the 28th instant, at the Town Hall, and will, during the season, be under the direction of Prof. Leonard Marshall of Salem. From the success which attended this association last season, the people of Danvers have reason to believe that they will be favored with some fine musical entertainments the coming winter.

☞ The Gazette speaks of Gen. G. M. Dodge, as a native of South Danvers. The Wizard has already once corrected that mistake, and will do so again, if necessary.

☞ Messrs. J. Silvester & Co. are about to remove the business of their large shoe manufactory from Danvers to Derry, N. H. Aside from the lower price of work in Derry, suggesting this change, we understand that the inhabitants of that place offered considerable inducements to the Messrs. Silvesters to effect this removal—among others the rent for six months of a large factory there, eighty by forty-five feet, together with the rent of four large boarding houses in the immediate neighborhood. The effect of a large establishment, employing a hundred and fifty hands, in increasing the wealth, population and business activity of a town, is obvious. Within a year and a half the Messrs. Silvesters have manufactured in Danvers some 400,000 pairs of shoes, and in the last eight or nine months have paid out weekly to their hands from $1800 to $2000. This money is, of course, in great measure spent in the town where it is earned. It goes to the grocery stores, tailor shops, variety stores, livery stables, and, in general into the channels of trade, without activity in which there is no sure growth for a town. The people of Derry seem to understand this, and hence the above proposal, which we wish, however, they had never made. Besides the loss that will accrue to Danvers, we could have wished to see the business kept in the town for reasons—if they be such—of a historic nature. Mr. Joshua Silvester is one of the oldest shoe manufacturers of Danvers—is the oldest Danvers manufacturer now in the business. Years ago, prior to the destruction of his shop by fire, in 1845, he was regarded eminently skilful in his business, and was famed for his aptness in devising patterns for new styles of shoes. Until the fire referred to, he did a flourishing business and then for a number of years was engaged in the rubber trade in England. Until the last two years he has not been engaged much in the shoe business, but within this time he seems to have enlisted in his old work with more enthusiasm and greater vigor than ever. We dislike to see him transfer his busy and prosperous establishment to another town and State.

☞ At a caucus of the citizens of Danvers, under a call for "all those who support the present administration in a vigorous prosecution of the war," the following named delegates were chosen to the State, County and Senatorial Conventions:

STATE CONVENTION.

I. W. Andrews,	A. A. Putnam,
William Lord,	Allfred Fellows,
Allen Knight,	Edwin Mudge.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

John A. Putnam,	E. F. Putnam,
Augustus Fowler,	George Porter,
Nathan Tapley,	M. C. Adams.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

James D. Black,	S. D. Shattuck,
Daniel P. Pope,	A. M. Trask,
Chas. P. Preston,	J. R. Langley.

At a caucus of the citizens of South Danvers, held last Saturday evening, at the Town Hall, the following delegates were elected to attend the Worcester Convention:

Eben S. Poor,	Jonathan King,
Dr. Geo. Osborne,	James P. King,
Stephen Blaney,	Isaac Hardy.

SUBSTITUTES.

Henry Poor,	Nathan H. Poor,
M. A. Shackley,	C. Warren Osborne,
Oscar Phillips,	Amos Merrill.

☞ The Boston Post publishes from the Newburyport Herald a long article entitled "Remove the Cause,"—calls the paper "Republican," and says, "We do not know that we can dissent from anything the Herald says." When the Post gets hold of a paper, having an article on the above subject from which it cannot "dissent," the Post may conclude that the said paper is a pretty good organ of "democracy."

The Superior Court, which closed its sitting at Newburyport on Thursday last, adjourned to meet in Salem tomorrow. The juror from Danvers is A. Sumner Howard; from South Danvers, Thomas Stimpson. About 140 cases have been placed upon the trial list, of which those upon the Salem list will be tried at the adjournment.

☞ What is an Advertising Agency? It is an office for facilitating the publishing of the advertisements of merchants and all other classes of business men in any and all newspapers throughout the United States, and British Provinces, at far more reasonable prices than the advertiser can possibly effect, saving both time and trouble.

Rowdyism.—Three fast young men were last week taken before Justice Perkins for sundry acts of rowdyism and fast riding, all contrary to the constitution and town by-laws, and they got off cheaply by paying about forty dollars. We hope this will teach them to shun bad liquor in future.

☞ The wife of a North Danvers drafted man, when about to visit her husband on Long Island on Friday, fell down a flight of steps on the steamer Bellingham, and received severe injuries on her head and face.

☞ Edward R. Putnam, of this town, late of the 23d Mass. Vols., has been transferred to an invalid corps.

☞ J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia, announce a forthcoming Geography for Common Schools, by Benj. F. Shaw and Fordyce A. Allen. The work is on a novel and highly philosophical plan—as might be expected from its authors.

Godey's Lady's Book for October has been received, containing its usual variety of fashion plates and choice reading matter.

WAR CORRESPONDENCE.

Fortifications of Newbern, N. C., September 16th, 1863.

Mr. Editor,—Permit me, through the columns of your widely circulated paper, to ask you, by way of information for self and comrade soldiers of South Danvers, if a meeting has been held by our good citizens, and resolutions passed in favor of voting to the soldiers, who enlisted from South Danvers under the first call of the President, for three years, any stipulated sum of money in consideration of their voluntary services in the field? Report is current here amongst the men in our regiment (23d Mass. Vols.,) that such a meeting has been called, and the good citizens have kindly remembered the men, who left their homes and loved ones behind, to share the fatigue and horrors of the battlefields of the South; and if nothing has been done in the premises, it is time the town should see to the men who embarked in the "Burnside Expedition," met the enemy for the last two years (and is ever ready to meet him,) on his chosen ground, in the face of shot and shell, and whipped him every time handsomely.

And now, Sir, good old Beverly, and sister Danvers (alias Neck,) have opened the ball and lead off in a liberal style, by voting and giving to each and every one of their soldiers in this regiment a sum of one hundred dollars. All hail to those sister towns—their soldiers are prond of them. And may we also have cause to be thankful, feeling assured that the patriotism of our citizens will not be left out in the cold—if not already up to time with her neighbors—thereby securing for themselves the services of veteran soldiers for another campaign, at the expiration of their short term of service about to expire. We ask no charity. Our motto is, "Volunteer Soldiers," and nothing different. We claim the attention of our citizens to our case, and ask for justice at their hands. We ask no more, nor will we take less.

Hoping you will excuse this trouble, and my plain way of speaking,

I remain, sir,
Your obedient servant,
T. McS.,
23d Mass. Vols.

LIFE IN THE SADDLE.

Cedar or Stoughton Mountains, Culpepper Co., Va., Sept. 16, 1863.

The fall campaign has apparently now opened in earnest. After our return from the guerrilla hunting expedition to Middleburg, we spent one night in our camp at Warrenton. The next forenoon orders were received to break camp and be ready to move at 3 o'clock P. M. the same day, with fifteen pounds of forage and three days rations on the horses.—This order, coming so suddenly, without any premonition, with the men and horses quite fatigued by the tramp of the two days before, occasioned considerable speculation as to the probable movement, whether forward or retrograde. The question was soon solved, however, for at 3 P. M. our whole brigade was on the road to Sulphur Springs, at which place we crossed the road about 7 o'clock, joining the other brigade (the 2d), which had for some weeks been here encamped. Here we bivouacked for the night. At 3 the next morning reveille sounded. "Boots and Saddles" half an hour after, and in another half hour the 2d Brigade moved out on the road to Culpepper by way of Jefferson. Our brigade followed, starting just at daybreak. Nothing occurred till after we crossed the Acotham River. When we had reached about a mile south of this river, our brigade was drawn up in squadrons in an open field waiting for the wagons to come up. Cannonading was heard directly south towards Culpepper. It continued at intervals for an hour and half and then ceased, and was then again heard more distantly. It was by this evident, that the 2d Brigade, in advance, had engaged a force of the enemy, and the latter had fallen back.

We were soon in motion again, and after advancing a mile entered the wood in which the fight had taken place. One man on our side had been killed by a shell, and two more seriously wounded. From this our brigade kept on at a trot all the rest of the way to Culpepper, on reaching which we again halted north of the town for an hour or two. Here was a large force of our cavalry, which we could see in the town, and here we got information that Kilpatrick's and Buford's division of our forces had crossed at the lower fords of the Rappahannock, and come up to Culpepper from the eastward, and was reported to have captured 3 guns and some 100 prisoners. About 2 o'clock our brigade was in motion again, this time taking the advance of all the forces—the other brigade remained in the town. Two miles from the town we came up with the enemy and drove them about a quarter of a mile, when they got their artillery into position and opened upon us a pretty hot and accurate fire. This was met very quickly by our own pieces, and the fighting continued till about dark, the enemy gradually falling back. Just before the cannonading commenced our regiment halted in the road, and I turned out upon a little elevation at the roadside, from which I could see two lines of skirmishers about a hundred yards in front of me, firing at each other, and could distinctly with my glass see the rebels running a gun up the side of a hill, and putting it into position. This opened very quickly, and my position proving too good a mark—as several shells burst near, and solid shot struck into the ground on both sides of me—I moved back toward a house in the rear, and just as I was nearing it word was brought to me that Serg't Reed, Co. E, was wounded. I immediately returned and found him with his right leg completely shattered by a round shot. He told me he saw the shot coming, as it ricochetted twice and then struck the bridle of the horse in front of him, and thence took his leg which he had raised to avoid it. He was taken back to the house, and I returned with him, as quite a number of men of other regiments had been wounded and taken there. We were very soon busy with them, being occupied until 8 o'clock dressing, etc. The sergeant's leg was amputated by the flap operation. This was the only one wounded in our reg't, tho' several horses were killed, and Cole—Dr. Warner's former orderly—had a shot pass directly through his horse from front to rear, killing him very speedily. Dr. Heslop ordered me to take charge of the wounded for that night, and I was therefore up till a late hour feeling very tired and used up. The next morning, however, I was relieved and went on at an early hour to join the reg't.

At Cedar Mountain I caught up with the regiment, which on that day had the advance of the brigade, and the regiment, finding the enemy had fallen back during the night, had pushed pretty rapidly to this point; but here, after passing the mountain, the road enters a very extensive wood, extending, I should think, at least three miles to any clearing, thence the distance is only about a mile to the river. It was necessary, therefore, to use some caution about entering the wood, and we waited a long time while our scouting parties were out in all directions to scour the country. The regiment then reformed and proceeded through the wood with an advance guard and a line of skirmishers on each side of the road, but no enemy was met till the clearing was reached on the further side of the wood. Here the two lines of skirmishers came vis-a-vis, occasionally firing at each other, but without effect. On the other bank of the river considerable rebel infantry could be seen, and quite a number of wagons. I could see men too in their shirt sleeves, throwing up rifle pits directly in front of the position of a battery of two guns. All over the hills were scattered troops of different sorts, either cavalry, infantry, or artillery, showing that they must have a large force encamped there. A portion seemed to be moving off on a road toward Orange Court House, which latter could be seen quite plainly.

Affairs remained in statu quo until about 3 P. M., when Col. Sargent, who had command of our regiments, viz.:—6th Ohio, 1st Rhode Island and 1st Massachusetts, at the front—received an order to push forward the line of skirmishers and develop what force they had. The order was given and in a few minutes the skirmish firing became more rapid, and as soon as one of our squadrons filed out of the road and formed in open field, a rebel battery of three pieces opened upon them, and these were soon followed by five or six more, and the regiment soon formed itself, exposed to a hotter fire than they had ever experienced before. There was no flinching however, each one of the three regiments holding their ground, changing position only occasionally, as the range became more accurate. When the first three guns opened I was standing on the side of the road, just in rear of Capt. Sargent's squadron, watching the skirmishing taking place about 100 yards in front, and happened to look directly at the position of the battery, when I saw the smoke roll forth from the guns directly towards me, and in a second came the report of the guns, and almost instantaneous a shell passed 20 feet over my head to the left, cutting off the top of a small tree by the roadside. I therefore rapidly retired from that position. But even after going about a quarter of a mile I found I could not get out of range without going so far as to be out of reach from the regiment, therefore halted at the reserve post of the regiment which was stationed in the road under Col. Hayden. Here I remained but a short time, as I was soon called back to see a man who had been hit in the head by a piece of shell. While visiting him in the woods, the firing was very sharp, the shot striking all around my position, one shell bursting vertically over my head, but providentially I received no injury.

The cannonading was continued until night, and then ceased. The enemy's position was an admirable one for them. They had five pieces on this side the river, on a hill where is situated a house belonging to the rebel Gen. Taliaferro. The hill commands all the level ground in front and the woods perfectly. There were also three, probably Witworth, guns on a hill on the other side of the river. The ground on that side is very high and commands entirely the whole of this side. We had no guns, on account, I suppose, of the bad condition of the road through the woods.

The losses in our regiment since leaving Warrenton on Saturday last, were three killed, three seriously wounded, and two or three slightly bruised from falls, collisions, etc.

Killed—Charles Bateman, Co. H; Frank Henchell, Co, H; Arthur Harrigan, Co. E.

Wounded—Sergt. Charles Reed, Co. A; H. T. Allen, Co. E, right arm amputated.

Harrigan had his arm completely amputated by the shot and a hole bored through his right side, tearing the bowels and liver. He lived about fifteen minutes, requesting me to pray for him and to have his effects sent to his family.

Bateman was killed instantly, a piece of shell entering above his fifth rib on the left side; passed through the heart and out at the right hip.

Henchell had a blow on the head, producing the symptoms of compression, and died in 24 hours, being unconscious throughout.

The amputations were doing well when I last heard from them.

Our regiment, with the 1st Rhode Island and 6th Ohio are, and have been since yesterday morning, at the rear, encamped at the foot of Cedar Mountain. We shall probably go again to the front to-morrow. Yours, G.

Partial Payment of Letter Postage.—Mr. Editor,—Letters weighing more than the single rate of postage (one-half ounce,) bearing but one three-cent stamp, are often sent to the Post Office—the writers thinking that the letters may pass, and, possibly, at a saving of three cents. The consequence is, six cents are charged at the marking office, on all such letters, for every half ounce, or any fraction over the half ounce, these letters may weigh—which sum must be collected by the Postmaster at the office of delivery.

These facts are not generally well understood, and persons sending to the post-office and receiving this class of letters, often express much dissatisfaction, believing that the postmaster has charged them excessive postage.

The following extracts from the present Post Office Laws, it is hoped, will correct the error of making but part payment of letter postage, and thus remove the cause of present complaints:—

"Sec. 26. And be it further enacted, that if any matter on which by law the postage is required to be pre-paid at the mailing office shall reach its destination without such prepayment, double the pre-paid rates shall be charged and collected on delivery.

"If postage is partly pre-paid, the unpaid postage will be charged at double rates."

David Mead, P. M.
Danversport, Sept. 20th, 1863.

☞ The Boston Post reports a gratifying reduction of prices in the Boston market. Mutton is put down at from 10 to 11 cents; veal about the same, and beef several cents lower than a few weeks since, when it stood at 14 cents.

Beverly.—The ladies connected with the First Baptist Society in Beverly, held a Fair during the day and evening on Thursday last, from which the sum of $800, over all expenses, was realized.

LETTER FROM PROPELLER.

No. 15 Cornhill, Boston, Sept. 19th, 1863.

I hail you again from my pleasant sanctum and new headquarters, No. 15 Cornhill, and will give your readers some hasty notes written in the bustle of travel.

A SOLDIER'S LETTER.

Happening on a way train, the other day, as it stopped to take in passengers and freight from one of the pleasant towns on the Kennebec River, we could not help noticing a young and pretty woman, who entered the car hurriedly, looked round impatiently for a seat, and rather eagerly, than politely, took the one we offered to her. We have said she was young and pretty; she was also undoubtedly a wife and mother, and quite as certainly a happy one. The clear, rosy tint on her cheek showed that she had a kind husband, and had been well taken care of; the basket in her hand showed through its interstices quite as plainly that her household treasures numbered three, one old enough for a slate and pencil, another for the mysteries of a tiny cook stove, while the third was represented by an India rubber roly-poly, and must, therefore, have been a baby. Her dress was neat and lady-like, but very simple, and her face such a charming mixture of girl, wife, and mother, as one rarely sees. These observations were made while the lady was occupied in taking from her pocket and tearing open a closely-written letter, consisting of four pages, and a scrap written on both sides and crossed. We knew at once it was from her husband, that he was a soldier, that she was boarding with her children in some little country settlement, minus a post-office, and had been to town on purpose to get that letter. How the lights and shades flitted over her face as she read it; how the rosy flush deepened as she neared the close, and re-read that final scrap, looking at it from every side to see that she did not miss a word, and finally stooped down, and took advantage of a small bit of tunnel through which we passed to kiss it. It was easy to understand the contents of that letter. The first two pages were occupied in describing personal comforts and discomforts, hardships and advantages; then came allusions to their old home, and hopes of her present happiness and welfare; then talk about the children, about his bright Harry, their darling little Susie, and the pet of the nest, who as yet knows neither name nor sex, and is only the "baby." This it was that made the young mother's cheek glow and her eye brighten; but the last, the dearest of all, the scrap, this was for herself alone, and this she kissed, but did not put it with the rest, and neither shall we.

NEWSPAPER BLUSTER.

Malignant cowards are often clamorous for war. It affords them a sort of second-hand excitement. Debarred by their temperament from the "stern joy" of actual conflict, it stirs their white blood a little to see, from a safe stand-point, brave men cut each other's throats. Sometimes a public journalist, whose face would blanch at the sight of a lifted pistol or a double fist, shows a wondrous anxiety to have two powerful nations get together by the ears. He will volunteer to bluster for one of them, and, acting as its herald and official spokesman, throw down, in its name, the gage of battle to the other. His defiant expletives and abusive epithets are legion, and he fathers them all on the government of which he aspires to be the backer and bottle-holder, with a comprehensive "we." We will "enforce," "expel," "destroy," "teach a terrible lesson;" and so forth. Reader, have you ever seen such a self-constituted champion, in paper-tabard emblazoned with truculent figures, (or speech,) strutting about, Bombastes Furioso fashion, and daring the assembled world to meddle with his mighty client's boots? Bah! there is something too much of this. Does not such a murmer deserve to be treated as Charles the bold, of Burgundy, treated the false Bohemian who called himself a herald "king at arms?" He was scourged, you know, for pretending to talk authoritatively, as the representative of sovereignty when, to speak vulgarly, he was a mean scalliwag.—This great republic certainly requires no such mouthpiece. If she has been wronged and injured, at the proper time and in the proper way she will do herself right. When it is her cue to fight, she will know it without a prompter!

"SH'LL I SHINE YOUR BOOTS, CAP'EN?

These were the words addressed by a small member of the shoe-black brigade, the other morning, to a tired and dusty looking individual in regimentals who was crossing the common. The officer shook his head and strode along; but the persevering urchin was not to be thus rebuffed. He shouldered his kit and ran alongside, urging—"I'll shine 'em high, cap'em and won't charge you nothin'; we doesn't charge sogers nothin' for shinen thar boots.'" At which finally, the soldier laughed good naturedly, and perhaps to escape the importunity held out his foot and let the youngster "shine" away to his hearts content.

The incident itself was not much, but as an evidence that the soldiers will have it all their own way when they come back from the war, it is worth recording. Young men who will not volunteer, and who have escaped the draft, congratulate themselves now on living in the highest state of clover, and put on superfluous airs on the ground of the scarcity of "marrying men;" they may do so for the present, but the tables will be turned upon them by and by. Civilians will stand very little chance when the war is at an end, and the country full of captains, colonels, majors and brigadier generals! The best places and the seats of honor everywhere will be reserved for those who wear the badge of heroes, and young women will not look at anything less than a shoulder strap with the cordon of the Republic woven thrice in glittering lines.

Young men who are contented to remain behind desks and counters had better try and make the most of their chances, for the opportunity will soon be lost to them. A few months and city and country will swarm with gay uniforms, and every one will be eager to do honor to the brave and add to their glory and eclat if it is only by "shining" the boots of the captain.

SOMETHING FOR BOSTON TO BE PROUD OF.

L. D. Boise & Company have now perfected their arrangements for the fall trade at their immense clothing warehouse, No. 154 Washington Street, Boston, and this establishment has now become an institution which every visitor to Boston would do well to examine. The precise location is in Washington, five doors south of Milk Street. This is the entrance. Within may be found the most extensive and best organized clothing concern in the country, complete in every department and perfect in every detail. This firm already have the very highest repatation as tufers, wholesale and retail dealers, ionable fitters of clothing in every var they seem determined to maintain tha tion. Their salesmen are popular, known among our fashionable circle cutters are gentlemen of unquestion periority in their profession. Their are selected from the best cash mar come direct from the most reliable turers. Consequently, either a sing or a large order can be filled on the vantageous terms, at the option of chaser. Just look in at No. 154 W Street, and see if L. D. Boise & Co. fitted it up with something for Bos proud of.

THE "IRONSIDES."

The following graphic accoun
"Ironsides" in action is from t
Herald. Four Danvers boys, Ch ward, Edwin Grout, James Batt liam Caird, and John Blake, are aboard this naval monster, and the action below described:

At about nine o'clock the New Captain Rowan, was signalled to g fight, as the position of the Weeha become somewhat perilous. The tide ing her, and she listed over so much was danger of her being struck belo mor and destroyed, as all or nearly enemy's guns were again in full play
The monster frigate moved rapidly up ship channel, swung around the buo ris Island shoals as nicely as a pilot steered for the city of Charleston.
came abreast Fort Moultrie, and dist a thousand yards or less from its stopped and dropped her anchors, stern, and opened fire upon the re her shells falling in just the right p time. The rebel batteries to the righ of Moultrie and Moultrie itself direct ous fire upon her, occasionally sendi at the Weehawken; and the batte Ironsides endured thenceforth proves ling value of the model and armor o sel. She was hit I know not how ma but undoubtedly over two hundred, anchored at easy range, and soon beca
ed target for the enemy's heavy ri maintained her ground from nine o'cl morning until about two in the afte which time she came out of the action munition being exhausted, as coolly a ly as if she had been firing at a target heavy guns in the Delaware river.

But the rapidity and terrible earn her fire have never been equalled.
one continuous line of flashes from battery, from stem to stern, and vice half of the time she obscured from th of Fort Moultrie by the immense smoke issuing from her broadside.
exploded in quick succession in Moul ing up the parapet and dismountin their course, and hurling their fra thick and fast among the defenders o that on several occasions the work wa silent. Not a gun was fired from the and only one or two from a flank of bearing on the Weehawken, while the was paying exclusive attention to M
During the latter part of the forenoo ing was more rapid than I have ever heavy ship guns before, and I hav crack American frigates engaging when I supposed the rapidity and a their fire could not be surpassed. Th too hot, at any rate, for the rebels, an times deserted their guns and sought the bomb-proofs.

When she had subdued Moultrie would rattle the shell into the ba either side, until they were obscure smoke of these exploding missiles a of flying sand. It would require moments to make the small batterie or four guns each too hot for work, too, would become silent. Then on again would her ponderous broadsid turned, and again would that work silent, to open again when the fire of sides was directed against other batter nearly five hours did this magnifi hammer the rebels, and draw the gr of their fire against her own impregn
But for her it is not probable that hawken could have been extricated perilous position. The other monit they fired as rapidly as they could, splendid effect, could not keep down fire. At the best they fired painfully every one knows it is the rapidity and ity of fire that tell against open wor deed works of any kind. This elemen cess they lack.

☞ The Secretary of the Interior h ed that the illegitimacy of a son is n mother's claim to a pension.

☞ The news from Gen. Rose that after seven days hard fighting fell back to Chattanoogo, to a arrival of Burnside with his forc reports a loss of 1200 killed an wounded; also that he has tak rebel prisoners and a general.

EXTRA
Superb New Shades.

BROWNING & LONG will short their Fall importation of GERMAN ZEPHYR WORSTE which will supersede the display of an ous season, and in fact will be the har assortment ever brought to Salem. In the many Fairs, and the increasing den Worsteds, they have made this a pa speciality, and promise the Ladies th can here find one of the most extensiv ments in the country, the prices, as usu low.

P. S. A "Special Discount" alway
ed for Charitable and Patriotic purpose

Notice.

We shall in a few days have our Ne in, and will then be able to show an ass of Goods, which for Beauty, Elegance and Variet cannot be surpassed.

BROWNING & LONG
177 Essex street.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

☞ Due notice will be given of the

New
RIBBONS
and
FLOWERS
Opened at PEABODY'S, yesterday.

THE PRAISEWORTHY undertaking of Mr. Sarah Perham, having in view the construction of a National Institution, designed to be a home for Invalid and Disabled Discharged Soldiers, is meeting with favor everywhere. The plan is attractive and speaks for itself.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

HEAD-QUARTERS, Boston, Sept 10, 1863.
SPECIAL ORDER, No. 569.

The 59th Regiment of Infantry, Veteran Volunteers, will be recruited in the counties of Essex and Middlesex. Major GOULD, of the 54th Mass. Vols. has been designated Colonel, and Major JOHN HODGES, Jr., of the 50th Regt., M. V. M., Lieutenant Colonel. They will establish their Head-quarters and commence immediately the organization of the regiment.

Persons wishing to obtain Commissions in this regiment or to recruit for it, will make application to these Head-Quarters, or to the above-named officers.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,
WILLIAM SCHOULER,
Boston, Sept 16—3w Adjutant-General.

Warren Bank.

The Stockholders of the Warren Bank are hereby notified that the Annual Meeting will be held at their Bank Rooms on TUESDAY, October 6th, at 9 o'clock, A. M., for the choice of officers for the ensuing year; to act upon the subject of loans to Directors, and to transact any other business that shall legally come before them. Per order,
FRANCIS BAKER,
South Danvers, Sept 16, '63. Cashier.

BARGAINS IN KID GLOVES.—John P. Peabody has determined to close his entire stock of light Kid Gloves, and has marked them down to 75 cents. They are the best goods and are sold in Boston and Salem for $1 25 and $1 50.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers. See advertisement.

BEST KID GLOVES, in light colors for 75 cts—to close—at PEABODY'S.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 12th, schs T H Cushing, Ames, Bangor.
15th, Nellie Potter, Sheppard, Philadelphia.
Ar 21st, Br sch Mary Ann, Granville.

Marriages.

In Salem, Sept 10th, by Rev Mr Clapp, Mr Joseph T Steadman to Miss Mary Ann Derby; 12th, by Rev Mr Beaman, Mr Charles Peckham to Mrs Charlotte White, both of Salem; 16th, by Rev Dr Briggs, Mr Wm Reith, jun to Miss Eunice S Dudley, both of Salem; 17th, by Rev Mr Haskell, Mr Joseph H Safford of So. Danvers, to Miss Lizzie E, daughter of Jas. C Stimpson, Esq.

In Lawrence, Sept 15, by Rev Mr Weaver, Mr Elisha Winch to Miss Mary Chapman.

In Williamburg, L. I., Sept 8, by Rev Mr Malone, Capt Henry C Pitman of San Francisco, Cal., formerly of Salem, Mass, to Miss A Augusta Rogers of W.

Deaths.

In Danvers, Sept 11, Mr Abraham R Hobbs, 55 yrs; 17th, Mr Michael Lynch, 32 yrs 6 mos.

At Danvers Centre, Aug 30, of lung rheumatic fever, George H Thomas, 16 years 6 mos 23 days, son of Joseph and Mercy C Thomas. This makes the seventh death in this family within 14 months.

In Salem, Sept 14th, Mrs Betsey, wife of Mr Henry McIntire, aged 60 years; 15th, Mrs Abigail, widow of the late Mr Stephen Webster, 72 yrs 6 mos; 17th, Mrs Judith C, widow of the late Mr John L Hammond, 79 yrs 6 mos; 19th, Richard, son of Dennis and Catherine Haley, 16 mos; 20th, Mrs Ann, wife of Mr Henry Grada, 38 yrs; 21st, Mrs Mary widow of the late Mr Timothy Brown, 66 yrs.

In Rowley, Sept 20, Mrs Eliza Dodge, widow of the late Mr George Nelson, and daughter of the late Capt Solomon.

In Tamworth, N H, Sept 5, Mr Theodore Dodge, 73 yrs 8 mos—formerly of Wenham, Mass.

[COMMUNICATED.]

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address
REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
New York.
Sept. 23—4m.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS ..... PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS ..... PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES .... PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested, and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

JAMES F. ALMY.

WE have just received a very large Stock of SEASONABLE GOODS,

COMPRISING

RICH BLACK and COLORED SILKS.

PLAIN, PLAID and STRIPED ALPACCAS, in different qualities.

MOUSLIN DE LAINE PLAIDS,

HEAVY WOOL PLAIDS,

PLAIN and PLAID POPLINS,

OTTOMANS, REPPS and THIBETS, WOOL MOUSLIN DE LAINES, &c.

Also—Common DE LAINES, PRINTED REPPS, ENGLISH, FRENCH and AMERICAN PRINTS,

Also—A full Stock of MOURNING GOODS.

Also—A splendid line of AUTUMN SHAWLS.

Also—A full Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS, OPERA FLANNELS.

DOMESTIC GOODS, LINENS, KID GLOVES, &c.

☞ Believing that I have clearly demonstrated the principle of Buying and Selling for Cash, so that it has found favor, I am confident that our Goods, bought in large quantities from first hands, are this season to be sold lower, compared with ruling prices, than ever before.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.
Sept 16, 1863.

Advertisements.

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

FALL AND WINTER GOODS
AT
GEORGE P. DANIELS'S,
No. 238 Essex Street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

Consisting of New Styles
DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS,
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR,
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera;
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

sept 23—tf GEORGE P. DANIELS.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Sep. 22, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

John Byrnes	Louisa McArthur
Mrs Phebe Blair	William O'Regan
John W Blair	Jhim J Turcotte
Hosea B Bryant	Patrick McCloskey
Mis Caroline Barnes	Mrs Mary Sullivan
Mary Carroll	Mrs Mary E Sullivan
Sarah M Cheever	John L Stafford,
Jenny Flagg	John T Thenault
John G Dervan	Charlotte Thompson
Ezekiel Goss	Mrs William Upton
Mrs Clara E Galeucla	Miss C L Waldo
John Hurley	Hannah Wilson
Michael Jordan

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.

For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thurs ays and Saturdays.

Passengers by this route can take the 4.45 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.

Passengers by this line going to Philade phia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.

☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & F. R Railroad Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, September 23, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

Settees for Sale

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S.

OUR Old Home, a series of English Sketches, by Nathaniel Hawthorne;
Methods of Study in Natural History, by L. Agassiz;
A Reply to Judge Advocate General Holt's Review of General Court Martial in case of Maj Gen Fitz John Porter, etc, etc, by Reverdy Johnson;
Sumner's Speech on Foreign Relations;
Our Sunday School and How we Conduct it, by Waldo Abbott, Introduction by J S C Abbott;
The Prize Bible, or Covetousness, by Mrs Leslie;
Catherine, by N Adams, new edition;
Bertha, " "
Peterson's, Godey's, Continental, Leslie's and other October Magazines.
sept 23 Sign of the Five Golden Books.

SOMETHING NEW,
FOR cleaning Kerosene Lamp Chimneys—at
sept 23 S C & E A SIMONDS.

THE ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL—
NOS. 1, 2 and 3, now ready.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
sept 16 3—w Salem Agents.

Selectmen's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given to the abuttors on the following streets in South Danvers, viz: Washington St. and Foster St.—that a meeting of the Selectmen of South Danvers will be held at the Town House on Wednesday, the 7th day of October next, at 2 o'clock, in the afternoon, at which time and place the Selectmen of said town will fix and determine the location and manner of construction of the Salem and South Danvers Railroad in the streets aforesaid; and at which meeting the abuttors and other citizens interested may appear and shew cause, if any there be, why said railroad should not be so located and constructed.

JOSEPH POOR, A. W. BANCROFT, DANA WOODBURY, } Selectmen of South Danvers
South Danvers, Sept 16. 3w

TEETH ON VULCANITE!
DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,
DENTAL SURGEON,
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, MASS.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. All fitting Sets of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless.

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by unfingers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRAKLIN, General Agent.

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURES TO ORDER
At 236 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.

UNDER-SHIRTS & DRAWERS
AT COLMAN'S,
10 FRONT ST., 10

Just received from Boston and New York,

100 DOZ. Shirts and Drawers (all qualities); Doeskins; Cassimeres; Fancy Wool Shirts; 100 dozen Men's and Boy's Linen Dickeys; a new lot Pants and Vests—some Full Fall Pants; Linen and Oil Cloth Table Covers; 1000 pairs Boots, Shoes and Brogans, every day, and sold at a small profit.

Window Curtains, Fixtures, Cord and Tassels; Painted Carpeting at all time constantly on hand.

☞ No. 10 COLMAN'S; No. 10 Front St.
Salem, Sept 16—3w

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.
E. F OSBORN,
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

Fall and Winter Goods.
ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem-stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

French Classes.

A lady, educated in France, and speaking the French as her native language, besides having had the experience of several years in teaching it, both privately and in seminaries, is desirous to secure classes for the ensuing autumn and winter. This will afford a superior opportunity for those who wish to acquire an accurate knowledge of spoken as well as written French.

For further information apply at No. 6 Aborn St., South Danvers.
September 9.

S—T—1860—X.
DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that those Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not know." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that "Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fevers, Weakness, Consumption, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and Dropsical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS.—Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits. Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulant, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

A NEW THING.

PATENT Hard Rubber Handle for Table Cutlery. It is not affected by hot water. It always retains its polish when in use. It is warranted not to become loose in the handle.—
sept 23 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS.

A LITTLE lot, but slightly damaged, are selling at very low prices.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

COLOR STAMPING,

IN the most approved styles—at
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

STENCIL PLATES.

SAMPLES of the various styles can be seen at G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

John P. Peabody.

☞ WORSTEDS. ☜

Double and Single Zephyr.

A FRESH STOCK

OPENED THIS WEEK,

IN ALL COLORS,

—AT—

JOHN P. PEABODY'S,

No. 220 Essex St., Salem.

WORSTEDS AT PEABODY'S.

WORSTEDS AT PEABODY'S.

WORSTEDS AT PEABODY'S.

GERMAN ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

GERMAN ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

GERMAN ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

Steel and Jet Goods.

PINS,

BROOCHES,

BRACELETS,

BUCKLES,

IN NEW PATTERNS,

Just received at PEABODY'S.

NEW GOODS.

Cambric Edgings,

We have just received a choice stock of new patterns in Wrought Cambric Edgings and Flouncings, at very low prices.

Hem Stitched Hdkfs.

A few Cartons Hem Stitched Hdkfs, in all grades—wide and narrow Hem. A good fine Hdkf for 25 cts. In this department we can show decided bargains.

Embroidered Hdkfs.

We have a choice stock of Wrought Hdkfs, in all qualities, from 25 cents to $3 50 each. A pretty Wrought Edge Hdkf for 25 cents—a real bargain.

German Zephyr Worsteds.

Our Stock of German Zephyr Worsteds will be large and desirable, and we shall sell them as heretofore, much under the regular market prices.

Leather Goods.

Elastic Band Wallets, Travelling Bags, &c., in variety. In this department, we have a new stock, comprising all the choice styles, and at prices THAT WILL NOT FAIL TO SUIT

Corsets and Skirts.

In these goods we keep none but those we can warrant in every respect. A nice Corset for $1 35. French Embroidered Corset $1 75. Skirts from 35 cents to $3 00.

Trimmings and Buttons.

We have a full line of Trimming Goods, Braids, Buttons, Bindings, Cords, Silks, Emb'd Braids, &c. In Buttons we have—Silk, Crochet, Velvet, Plush, Jet, Steel, Leather, Pearl, Rubber, Agate,....&c,....&c,.....&e,....&c.

Woolen Yarns.

Our stock of Yarns is all fresh—opened the past week—in White, Drab, Slate, Purple, Black, Majenta, Crimson, Scarlet and Random—in the best quality.

☞ The largest Stock of Ladies' Furnishing Goods in Essex County.

ONE PRICE ONLY!

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

JOHN P. PEABODY.

Sept. 16th, 1863.

George S. Walker.

Notice to Gentlemen!

FOR FALL AND WINTER WEAR.
UNDER GARMENTS.
HOSIERY,
GLOVES,

The LARGEST ASSORTMENT to be found in the city, at the LOWEST PRICES, is at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
sept 23 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

Gent's Linen Handkerchiefs.

JUST RECEIVED, Plain, Colored and Hem-stitched LINEN HDKFS, for Gentlemen's use, which I offer at very low prices,
GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

Gentlemen's Gloves.

100 VARIETIES to select from—at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
228 Essex Street, Salem Mass.

A. J. Archer & Co

FALL AND WINTER.

ELEGANT NEW GOODS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
ARE OPENING
MANY NEW STYLES OF
DRESS GOODS,
INCLUDING
Ottoman Reps,
Cashmere Plaids,
Thibet and M. D. Laines,
Rich & Heavy Black Silks,
Plain Colored Silks.
ALSO
SHAWLS
Of every description.
Salem, Sept 16—tf

FLANNELS AND COTTONS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Have on hand a full supply of
BROWN SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
BLEACHED SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
—Also—
GREY TWILLED FLANNELS;
WHITE FLANNELS,
which they offer at the LOWEST PRICES.
Salem, Sept 16—tf.

AUTUMN GOODS.

CLOTHS! CLOTHS!!

A fine assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Doeskins,
—AND—
CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CAPES,
—FOR SALE BY—
A. J. ARCHER & CO.
Sept 16. tf

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danvers port.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES,
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
—BY—
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.

RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,
THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
CALL AND EXAMINE.
For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult
JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT.
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WANTED!

$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.
South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front street, Salem. ap30-tf

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

By GEORGE NICHOLS,
Auctioneer and Stock Broker—42 Washington Street, Salem.

Peremptory Sale of a very desirable Country Residence in Danvers at Auction.

Will be sold at public auction, on FRIDAY, Sept. 25, at 3 o'clock, P. M.:

That fine Estate situated on the corner of High and Purchase sts., in Danvers, occupied by JAMES D. BLACK.

This Estate is one of the most desirable in this section, the site is elevated, command in an extensive and exceedingly fine prospect, the elevation rendering it remarkably dry and healthy. Being midway between two enterprising villages, it is sufficiently removed from the turmoil of the busy centres to render it a quiet retreat, while at the same time it is not inconveniently removed from post offices, railroad accommodations, churches, schools or grocers.

It is distant from Salem three miles; within eight minutes walk of two post offices, three railroad depots, five churches, high, grammar and primary schools, and mechanic shops of every description.

The house is nearly new, of modern architecture, high stud, well built, of the best materials, has eleven rooms and is finished throughout; has a furnace, is well supplied with water, and has one of the finest stables in the vicinity.

Connected with the house is one acre of Land, in a high state of culture, well stocked with the best varieties of fruit, consisting of apples, pears, cherries, grapes, mulberries, currants, strawberries, blackberries, walnuts, etc., etc; ornamented by thrifty rows of elms on both fronts, good substantial bank walls, flourishing evergreen hedges, spruces, larches, flowering shrubs, herbaceous and climbing plants, etc., etc. The sale will be on the premises.
Sept. 7, 1863.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,
88 MAIN STREET.
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.
Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861. ly

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 MAIN ST. 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers,
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfume Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.
J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following
TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.	8 cts
Hair Cutting,	Or 8 Tickets for $1 00.	15 cts
Champooing,		15 cts

Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS PORT
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL
OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand
Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.
Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.
OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 19—

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage on me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.
April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. FLETCHER her stock of Millinery Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
151 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 20, 1863.

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY.

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs. Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1853—1 y

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the receipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience — and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing

JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

EDITOR OF WIZARD,—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN.
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Premature Decay, etc., etc., by one who has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned Doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island, by enclosing an addressed envelope. Address

CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

— ALSO —

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Cbetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. "DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

MANHOOD;

HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorroea or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c,—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586.

Mothers—Take Heed!

MRS. OSBORN'S CURE FOR PIN WORMS

GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st. South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

PERHAM'S
SEVEN MILE MIRROR
INVALID SOLDIER BENEFIT
TICKET ENTERPRISE

FOR THE FOUNDING OF A

NATIONAL INSTITUTION

FOR THE RELIEF OF

Invalid and Disabled Soldiers.

JOSIAH PERHAM,

Agent for the Seven Mile Mirror,

Has the honor to announce a plan for the founding of a National Institution, to be a home for Invalid and Disabled Soldiers.

100,000 TICKETS,

Each admitting Four Persons to any Exhibition in the Popular Entertainment, or to any Exhibition of the

Great Mirror of the Rebellion,

Which will be soon unrolled to the public, will be sold at

ONE DOLLAR EACH.

One half the profits of the Entire Sale

TO BE EXCLUSIVELY DEVOTED AND DONATED

TO THIS PATRIOTIC OBJECT.

The holders of the 100,000 Tickets shall choose Trustees in Mass Meeting to be held in Boston,

On Wednesday, October 28th, 1863,

who shall receive the funds as aforesaid, on their giving sufficient bonds to faithfully apply the same to this object, in accordance with the plans of the originator.

To speedily accomplish this great purpose every wise means will be used by the projector to effect the immediate sale of the tickets, and he calls upon the loyal and humane to assist earnestly, in act and deed, in carrying this noble undertaking forward to a triumphant success.

Neither its importance nor its feasibility can be called in question; let the people but respond in a spirit worthy of the project, and no obstacles shall delay its consummation.

Making the proposition in good faith, and ready to devote his whole energies to the great work, the projector firmly believes the tide of popular favor will flow in the desired direction, and accomplish the founding, and ensure the erection of a permanent National Institution, which shall be an asylum for the retired Soldier, whose loss of health, or limb, is his diploma FOR HEROIC SERVICE performed in his country's cause; and which shall go down to future generations a blessing to mankind and an enduring monument to the liberality of the loyal people.

By combining this enterprise with the public place of amusement, of such well-known high character and merit, the subscriber to the fund, while giving his money for the promotion of a great charitable design, may receive a full equivalent for the outlay in witnessing this splendid series of Paintings.

As soon as the Tickets are sold, in addition to one-half the profits to be paid over as aforesaid, the following described property will be donated to the Ticket-holders and placed in the hands of the Trustees chosen as aforesaid, to be held in trust, and to be disposed of as the Ticket-holders shall direct in Mass Meeting, which may be by selling the property and appropriating the proceeds thereof for the benefit of Invalid Soldiers, or they may instruct the Trustees to dispose of the property among the Ticket-holders, or in any other way most agreeable to them, with this specific condition, that in disposing of the property there shall be no violation of the law:—

One genteel Residence in City of Roxbury, Mass., valued at	$10,000
Three Piano Fortes, valued at $500 each	1,500
Five Piano Fortes, valued at $300 each	1,500
Five Gold Watches, at $100 each	500
Fifty " " " $50 each	2,500
Two shares in the Boston & Worcester Railroad, valued at $130 each	260
Two shares in the Boston & Maine Railroad, valued at $130 each	260
Two shares in the Merchants' Bank, Boston, valued at $100 each	200
Six thousand Gold Union Medals at $3 each	18,00
Two Sewing Machines at $50 each	100
	$34,720

THE SEVEN MILE MIRROR.

Will be exhibited in various parts of the country to accommodate the Ticket-holders.

The Great Mirror of the Rebellion,

On which the best Artists in the country have been employed for the last three months, will be opened at the Melodeon, in Boston, on Monday, September 14th. This great work of Art illustrates with startling Dioramic accompaniments the most thrilling incidents and terrible Battles of the War, both Naval and on Land.

TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH,

Tickets one dollar each, or to any one who will get up a Club of Ten and forward ten dollars will receive eleven tickets, each ticket admitting four persons. Tickets for sale at the Melodeon, 367 Washington street and at the Adams House, Boston, Mass.

All communications on this subject, and all orders for Tickets by mail or express, should be directed to

JOSIAH PERHAM, Agent,
Adams House, Boston.
Sept. 9. 4—w.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.

LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND COVERS.

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.

They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world in an infallible, simple, easy, and rapid progress of Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are without a fault, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.

The sealing is on an entirely original plan. This principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried these articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar.

PRICE LIST.

Pints, per doz, $2 25; 3 pints, per doz, $3 50;
Quarts, " 3 00; Half gallon, " 4 00;
Liberal discount to the trade.
S O & E A SIMONDS'.
Salem Aug 5 32 Front Street.

PATTERSON S

LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7—3m CLARK & GIDDINGS.

R. C. MANNING & CO,
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
186 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Cards.

WILLIAM G. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office. in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feh13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aueroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

JOHN MOULTON,
LIVERY STABLE,
Central Street, South Danvers.
Mr. M. will endeavor to keep up the good reputation of his stable, by still keeping good Horses and Carriages. jan 7. 1863.

Advertisemets.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

AERATED BREAD.

THE subscriber will daily leave the above new article of bread with the principal grocers in this town, of whom it may be purchased at 5 cents a loaf. It is claimed that this bread—unrivalled in point of sweetness and wholesomeness—is more nutritious than that made in the usual way, that it will keep much longer, and is moister and more palatable, having the taste of new bread, even when it is several days old. F. H. KIRK.
So. Danvers, Aug 5, 1863.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY,

FOR September.—It contains contributions from Col Higginson, Gail Hamilton, Louis Agassiz, Rose Terry, Charles Sumner, Theodore Tilton, Robert Dale Owen, Edward L. Pierce, Julia Ward Howe. Numbers promptly furnished by
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

MARK YOUR CLOTHING.

STENCIL Plates cut in the best way; Indellible Ink, Brushes, etc., at the lowest prices, at
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SPRING BEDS! SPRING BEDS!

ALL those that are inclined to rest their weary limbs on the most luxurious

SPRING BED

that was ever invented, are invited to call at

No. 52 Main St., South Danvers,

and there see the very best SPRING BED BOTTOM that has been offered to the public.

Not having been able at first to meet the demands, I now have the facilities to supply all orders.

Having bought the right to make and vend for the county of Essex, the subscriber would be happy to supply all those who may favor him with a call.

Rights for sale for any town or city in the county except Haverhill and Lawrence.

THOS. TRASK.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale on favorable terms,—or would exchange for a Farm,—his Estate on Wallis Street, near the Monumental Cemetary, consisting of THREE DWELLING HOUSES, which will be sold separately or as one Estate.

There are 75 feet of land in front, and 72 feet in the rear of the house.

The situation is pleasant, in a good neighborhood, and the houses are supplied with all the conveniences for immediate occupation. In ordinary times these tenements would rent for from 330 to 350 dollars.

The Subscriber, having made up his mind to dispose of the property, will sell it low, and it is well worth the attention of purchasers.

Apply to JOHN M'NEAL.
South Danvers, Dec. 10th, 1862. tf.

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

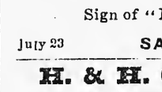
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in



Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block]
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

MILITARY BOOKS

AT G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S, September 2d.
Army Officer's Pocket Companion;
Benet's Military Law and Courts Martial;
Benet's Campaign of Waterloo;
Jominie's Art of War; Monroe's Co. Drill;
Digest of US Tactics, from the French of Steffen
Elements of Military Art of History;
Rifles and Rifle Practice, Wilcox;
The Ordance Manual, a most valuable Book;
Mahan on Field Fortifications;
Instruction in Outpost Duty;
Casey's Infantry and Rifle Tactics;
Cameron's Infantry Tactics; Scott's do do.
sept 2 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central Street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7 and 11 A M, and 1½ and and 5 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8 45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.
Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Mountment, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.
Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.
We defy any one to produce a better.
One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,
WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!
For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Barn for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his barn, in rear of his residence on Holten st. Said barn is well adapted for any one wishing to keep a cow or horse. The loft will hold 1½ ton of hay.
Terms easy. S. Q. WHITE.
So. Danvers, Sept. 2, '63. tf

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX ss. Probate Court. To the next of Kin, Creditors, and all other Persons interested in the estate of HANNAH L. WILSON, late of South Danvers, in said county, widow, deceased, intestate:

Whereas, application has been made to said court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to SAMUEL WELCH of South Danvers, in the county of Essex, trader:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Tuesday of October next, at nine o'clock before noon, to shew cause, if any you have, against granting the same.

And said Samuel Welch is heteby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the South Danvers Wizard, printed at South Danvers, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this first day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty three. A. C. GOODELL, Register.
Sept 9, 1863. 3w

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.
LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

ITS publication marks an era in the history of Maps It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc, made famous by the War; and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It is a County Map, and neatly colo'd. Price in sheets, 60 cts; mounted $1 25. Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
aug 19 Publisher's Agents.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

THE NEW GOSPEL OF PEACE

ACCORDING to Lt. Benjamin. A burlesque on the Politicians and the Times. It shows up "Phernand iwood of Gotham," The Tshirubree of the South, etc.—Price 25 cents. For sale by G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ALL THE NEW BOOKS

GO into our Subscription Circulating Library. Terms four dollars a year in advance, this is the cheapest way of reading the new publications.
Sept 7 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

FOR NEURALGIA,

RHEUMATISM and like troubles, Sturgis' Electric Compound is recommended by many of our own citizens. For sale at
sept 16 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8¼, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2½ 5½, 7½, p. m.
Beverly, 8¼ am., 1, 3½, 3¾, 5¼, 6.55, 7¾ p m.
W. Beach, Manr, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8¼ a m., 3½, 5¾ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8¼ a m., 1, 5¾ p m.
Portsmouth, 8¼ a m., 3¾, 5¾ p m.
Portland, 8¼ a m., 3¾ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM
Portland, 8¾ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7½, †11½ a m., †5½ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m, 6½ p m.
Ipswich, 7.25, 8.26, 10.25 a m, 12.25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8 50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, *9 05, 11.05 a m., 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, *4.35, 5.35, *6.20, 5¼, *7 35, * 6.05 p m.
Boston, 7½, *8½, 10½ a m., 12½, 2½, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9†.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†On or arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10½ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.
Marblehead for Salem, 6¾, 7¾, 8¾, 9¾ a m., 12¾, 1¾, 5¼, 6¾, 7½ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7½, 8¼, 9.25, 11½ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.
Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6¾, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5½ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.
Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11½ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7¾ a m., 12¾, 3¾, 6½ p m.

J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:
Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9.40 a m. and 5.55 p m.
Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.
*Freight Train with passenger car attached.
F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street, at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone efficacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thamos Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David O. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Beuton, Sec'y

Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assetts—$375,000.

Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D, Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Spherootypes, Melainotypes, and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

GROUT & MUNROE
SOUTH DANVERS

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1863. NO. 39

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square,
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Selected Poetry.

BURY ME IN THE MORNING.

BY MRS. HALL.

Bury me in the morning, mother—
Oh! let me have the light
Of one bright day on my grave, mother,
Ere you leave me alone with the night;
Alone in the night of the grave, mother—
'Tis a thought of terrible fear—
And you will be here alone, mother,
And stars will be shining there.
So bury me in the morning, mother,
And let me have the light
Of one bright day on my grave, mother,
Ere I am alone with the night.

You tell me of the Saviour's love, mother—
I feel it in my heart—
But oh! from this beautiful world, mother,
'Tis hard for the young to part;
Forever to part, when here, mother,
The soul is fain to stay,
For the grave is deep and dark, mother,
And Heaven seems far away.
Then bury me in the morning, mother,
And let me have the light
Of one bright day on my grave, mother,
Ere I am alone with the night.

Never unclasp my hand, mother,
Till it falls away with thine—
Let me hold the pledge of thy love, mother,
Till I feel the love divine;
The love divine—oh! look, mother,
Above the beams I see—
And there an angel's face, mother,
Is smiling down on me.
So burry me in the morning, mother,
When the sunbeams flood the sky—
For death is the gate of life, mother,
And leads us to the light on high.

BY THE SEA.

I walked with her I love by the sea.
The deep came up with its chanting waves,
Making a music so great and free
That the will and the faith which were dead in me,
Awoke and rose from their graves.

Chanting, and with a regal sweep
Of their broidered garments up and down
The strand, came the mighty waves of the deep,
Dragging the wave-worn drift from its sleep
Along the sea-sands bare and brown.

"O my soul, make the song of the sea!" I cried,
"How it comes with its stately tread,
And its dreadful voice, and the splendid prize
Of its regal garments flowing wide
Over the land," to my soul I said.

My soul was still; the deep went down.
"What hast thou, my soul," I cried,
"In thy song?" "The sea-sands bare and brown
With broken shells and sea-weed strewn,
And stranded drift," my soul replied.

The Knoxville Whig Revived.

The indefatigable and patriotic Parson Brownlow has already issued his prospectus for reviving the Knoxville Whig, in which for so many years he battled against the growth of the disunion sentiment at the South. The document is as follows:—

"BROWNLOW'S KNOXVILLE WHIG, AND REBEL VENTILATOR!"

"I propose to publish a Weekly and Tri-Weekly journal, bearing the above title, at Knoxville, in East Tennessee; and the Weekly paper, made up from the contents of the Tri-Weeklies, I propose to send out to distant subscribers, for Two DOLLARS per annum, invariably paid in advance. Subscriptions and remittances will be forwarded to me at Cincinnati, from which point I expect to ship my paper and materials. I expect to issue the first number in October, as it was in that month, two years ago, my paper was crushed out by the God-forsaken mob at Knoxville, called the Confederate Authorities. I will commence with this hell-born and hell-bound rebellion where the traitors forced me to leave off, and all who wish the paper would do well to begin with the first issue, as I intend that single paper shall be worth the subscription price to any Unconditional Union man!

"In the rule of my editorial conduct I shall abjure that servility which destroys the independence of Press, and cast from me that factious opposition which gives to party what is due to country. And whilst the name of my journal indicates in unmistakable terms, its politics, I shall, as a faithful sentinel, forget Whigs, Democrats, Know Nothings, and Republicans, and remember only my GOVERNMENT and the preservation of the FEDERAL UNION—as richly worth all the sacrifices of blood and treasure their preservation may cost—even to the extermination of the present race of men, and the consumption of all the means of the present age!

"Publishers inserting this Prospectus once, prominently, and sending me the paper to Cincinnati, will be favored with an exchange.

"W. G. BROWNLOW.

"September 7, 1863."

☞ A man's own good-breeding is the best security against other people's ill-manners.

Selected.

A SUBSTITUTE WANTED.

The other day Chief Engineer Dean, of the Fire Department, called at the office where I make shoes for a living, and handed me a big white envelope, notifying me that I was drafted and must report myself for examination, at Lawrence, on the 18th of August.

Now I consider it the duty of every citizen to give his life, if need be, for the defense of his country, so on the morning of the eventful 18th, I put on a clean shirt and my Sunday clothes, and started for Lawrence, to see if I could get exempted

Lawrence, as all know, is situated on the Merrimac river, and its principal productions are mud, dust and factory girls. The city proper, at least that part that I saw, consisted of a long, narrow entry, up one flight of stairs, adorned overhead with a fresco ing of gas meters, and carpeted with worn out tobacco quids, and furnished with one chair, two settees, and as many huge, square packing cases, marked "Q. M. D." Scattered around this palatial entrance-hall were some forty or fifty conscripts, looking very much as if they expected to be exempted by reason of old age, before the young man with the ferocious moustache should notify them of their turn. Most of them, however, were doomed to disappointment, for while they counted the hours of delay, a door would suddenly open, and the tall young man would single out a man and march him through the open door-way, to be seen no more.

By and by—that is after several hours waiting—my turn came.

"JOHN SMITH!" shouted the door-keeper.

"That's me," says I, and with a cheer from the crowd, I entered a large square room where two persons sat writing at a table, and a third, evidently the surgeon, was examining a man in the last stages of nudity.

One of the writers at the table, a young man with curly eyes and blue hair, nodded to me, and dipping his pen in the ink, commenced—

"John Smith, what's your name?"

"John Smith," says I.

"Where were you born?"

"Podunk, Maine."

"What did your great grandmother die of?"

"Darned if I know," says I.

"Call it hapentap," says he; "and your grandfather, too?"

"I don't care what you call it," says I, for I was a little riled by his nonsensical question.

"Did you ever have boils?" says he.

"Not a boil."

"Or fits?"

"Nary fit."

"Or delerium tremens?"

"No sir-ee!"

"Or rickets?"

"I'll ricket you," says I, for I thought he meant something else.

"Did you ever have the measles?" says he.

Here I took off my coat.

', Or the itch?"

"Yes, sir." I—"that ere fist (and I shoved a very large brown one within three inches of his nose,) has been itching for the last ten minutes, to knock your pesky head off, you little, mean, low-lived, contemptible whelp, you."

"My dear sir," said the mild spoken, gentlemanly surgeon, laying his hand on my arm, calm yourself, I pray. Don't let your angry passions rise, but take off your clothes, so I can see what you are made of."

So I suppressed my anger, and withdrawing to a corner, I hung my clothes up on the floor, and presented myself for examination, clad only with the covering nature had given me, except about a square inch of court-plaster on my right shin, where I had fallen over a chair, the night before, feeling for a match.

"Young man," said the surgeon, looking me straight in the eye, "you have got the myopia."

"Yes, sir," said I, "and a good one, too—a little Bininger, with a drop of Stoughton, makes an excellent eye-opener, of a morning."

"And there seems to be an amaurotic tendency of the right eye, accompanied with opthalmia."

"Show!" says I.

"And that white spot in the left eye betokens a'cataract."

"I guess you mean in the air," says I, "'cause I went in swimming this morning, and got an allfired big bubble in my left ear," and here I jumped up and down two or three times on my left foot, but to no purpose. As soon as I stopped he mounted a chair and commenced feeling the top of my head.

"Was your family ever troubled with epilepsy?" says he.

"Only the two boys," says I, "and when they catch them, my wife always goes at them with a fine tooth comb, tho first thing."

Jumping off the chair he hit me a lick in the ribs that nearly knocked me over, and before I had time to remonstrate, his arms were round my neck and his head pressed against my bosom the same way that Sophia Ann does, when she wants me to buy her some new bonnets and things.

"Just what I thought," says he; "tuberculosis and hemopthysis, combined with a defect in the scapular membrane and incipient phthysis!"

"Heavens!" says I, "what's that?"

"And cardiac disease."

"No!" said I.

"And pendardites!"

"Thunder!" said I.

"Stop talking! Now count after me—one!"

"One!" said I, half dead with fright.

"Asthma! Two."

"Two," I yelled.

"Exostis of the right febula! Three."

"Three!" I gasped.

"Coxalgia! Four."

"Murder!" said I—"Four!"

"Confirmed duodenum of the right ventricle! Five."

"Oh doctor! dear doctor, ain't you most through? I feel faint!"

"Through? No! Not half through. Why, my friend, Pandora's box was nothing to your chest. You have sphynixiana, and gloriosis, and conchoilogia, and persiflago and—"

Here my knees trembled so I leaned against the table for support.

"And permanent luxation of the anterior lobe of the right phalanx."

My only answer was a deprecatory gesture.

"And scrofulous diathesis and omnipodites."

I sank to the floor in utter despair.

"Elutriation!" he yelled, for he saw I was going fast—"and maxillarium and—"

When I woke to consciousness again, I found myself in a puddle of water, an empty bucket near by, and the surgeon astride of my chest, shouting something into my ear, of which, however, I could hear nothing.

I smiled feebly in acknowledgment of his attentions. At a sign from him, two attendants drew near, and having lifted him into a chair, for he was absolutely black in the face with the violence of his exertions, they hoisted me to a perpendicular and the examination proceeded.

But I will not harrass your feelings by repeating the heart-rending details. Suffice it to say, that I was afflicted with gastritis, emphysemation, marcidity, empyema, obesity, condyle of the humerus, bilicose veins, hernia in both great toes, and hermorhoids in the left heel, besides lots of other diseases whose names I cannot remember. Finally, after a rigid examination of my toe nails in search of eruptive lesions, he arose to his feet, drew a long breath, wiped the perspiration from his face with a stray newspaper and recommenced.

"Young man," said he, and his eyes glistened with delight as he spoke, "you are really the most interesting subject I have ever met with. Really a most wonderful case! I don't know when I have enjoyed a half hour so thoroughly. Why, sir, with the exception of two, or at most three, you have symptoms of every disease in the medical dictionary. Please let me embrace you again, just to see if I can't detect exicosis of the viscous membrane. Well, no," he continued, with a slightly disappointed air, as he released me. "I don't seem to find it, exactly, but would you mind coming round to my boarding house, after tea, so that I can spend the evening osculating after it?"

He was so anxious to find that particular symptom, that I was very sorry to refuse him; but I had promised Sophia Ann that I would be home to tea, and I knew that she would worry if I staid; so I was obliged to decline. Seeing there was a lady in the case, he very politely excused me, very much to my relief. "Well, good-bye, my friend," said he, as I took my hat to go; "I wish it was so you could go to the war; I would have you in my hospital in less than a month, and then I could examine you at my leisure. I am positive a little exposure would bring on those two symptoms I spoke of, and then what a magnificent subject you would be! How I should like to dissect you! But then, perhaps you don't feel like it, and if you don't, I don't know as I can blame you much for wishing to preserve your wonderful organization as long as possible; so you just go into the next room, and Capt. Herrick will give you a furlough to go home and provide a substituto or pay your commutation fee. Boy, call the next on the list!"

"But, sir," said I, aghast at his concluding remarks, "you don't pretend to accept me as able-bodied?"

"Really, my friend," said he, "the fact is you have so many diseases that I don't know which to specify. It won't do to say cranial disease, when it's your heart that is affected, and if I mention your heart what's the use of your having consumption? But I know Dr. Coggswell will be pleased to receive your commutation fee, or, if you will bring up a likely substitute, I shall be delighted to examine him; and some day, when we are both at liberty, I shall be most happy to have you call upon me. Hold!—just unbutton your coat for a moment. I must find that exico—"

But here I broke from his grasp, and, stopping in the next room only long enough to procure my furlough, I started for the railway station, and never looked behind until I was safe in the arms of Sophia Ann and the children.

And now, can anybody inform me where I can find a good able-bodied substitute, warranted diseased in the head, heart, lungs or legs, or all of them? To such a man I will give three hundred dollars cash down, or, if he prefer, at the rate of five dollars apiece for each symptom, and promise him, in behalf of our Uncle Samuel, food and clothing for three years, together with medical attendance in proportion to the number and malignity of his diseases.—Haverhill Gazette.

ODDS AND ENDS.

We once heard of a Kentuckian whose amazing strength was attended with fatal consequences. He was cutting a slice of bread and butter, when the knife slipped, cut himself in half and the two men behind him.

Quin told Lady Berkeley that she looked blooming as the spring; but, recollecting that the season was not then very promising, he added, "I would to Heaven the spring would look like your ladyship."

An editor says he has seen the contrivance lawyers use when they "warm up with the subject." It was a glass concern and held about a pint.

It is difficult, if not impossible, for men to love and be wise; even the heathen gods, when they were in love, made fools of themselves.

Ardent spirits are unfavorable to bodily toil. The greatest pedestrians walk on water.

No statue that the rich man places ostentatiously in his window, is to be compared to the little expectant face pressed against the window pane, watching for his father, when his day's labor is done.

A late philosopher says—"Before people take the leap through the wedding ring, they should be quite certain that the blanket of connubial contentment is held tight on the other side.

A hypocritical scoundrel in Athens inscribed over his door, "Let nothing evil enter here." Diogenes wrote under it, "How does the owner get in?"

To enjoy life you should be a little miserable occasionally. Trouble, like cayenne, is not very agreeable in itself, but it gives great zest to other things.

☞ Robert Burns said that a Life of Hannibal, which he read when a boy, raised the first stirrings of enthusiasm; and that a Life of Sir William Wallace poured a tide of Scottish prejudices into his veins, which would boil along them till the flood gates of life were shut in eternal rest. Speaking of his retired life in early youth he says: "This kind of life, the cheerless gloom of a hermit, and the toil of a galley slave, brought me to my sixteenth year, when love made me a poet."

☞ In an old play the undertaker reproves one of his mourners for laughing at a funeral, and says to him, "You rascal, you! I have been raising your wages these two years upon the condition that you appear sorrowful, but the higher wages you get the happier you look!"

THE STORY OF LIFE.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

Say, what is life? 'Tis to be born;
A helpless Babe, to greet the light
With a sharp wail, as if the morn
Foretold a cloudy noon and night;
To weep, to sleep and weep again,
With sunny smiles between; and then?

And then apace the infant grows
To be a laughing, pulling boy,
Happy, despite his little woes,
Were he but conscious of his joy;
To be in short from two to ten,
A merry, moody Child; and then?

And then in coat and trousers clad,
So learn to say the Decalogue,
And break it; an unthinking Lad,
With mirth and mischief all agog;
A truant oft by field and fen
To capture butterflies; and then?

And then, increased in strength and size,
To be anon, a Youth full-grown,
A hero in his mother's eyes,
A young Apollo in his own;
To imitate the ways of men
In fashionable sins; and then?

And then, at last to be a Man;
To fall in love; to woo and wed;
With seething brain to scheme and plan;
To gather gold, or toil for bread;
To sue for fame with tongue or pen,
And gain or lose the prize; and then?

And then in gray and wrinkled Eld
To mourn the speed of life's decline;
To praise the scenes his youth beheld,
And dwell in memory of Lang Syne;
To dream awhile with darkened ken,
Then drop into his grave; and then?

THE PERFUMERY OF HISTORY.

"Perfumes rejoice the heart."—[Solomon.

When it is recollected that there are some who appreciate the strong-smelling musk, and others who would "Die of a rose, in aromatic pain,"

the definition of a perfume becomes a matter of some difficulty. However, that is not our present purpose. It is admitted that pleasant perfumes exercise a cheering and exhilarating influence on the human system; the connection between the brain and the organ of smell being too close to allow the former to be uninfluenced by anything affecting the latter. This, and other reasons, may account for the fact that the use of perfumed drugs dates from the foundation of history. The walls of every temple in Egypt sufficiently attest this.

The unrolling of the mummy has placed in our hands the costly perfumes of ancient Egypt, actually used three thousand years ago, and yet retaining their very odor to the present day! Their sculptors represent priests pouring oil over monarchs, when it was also customary for a servant to attend on each guest, that he might anoint his head.

From the time of the Exodus, the Bible records their use, (thirtieth chapter and twenty-second verse, etc.) Moses is directed to take pure myrrh, sweet cinnamon, calamus, cassia, and oil of olive, to be compounded "after the art of the apothecary, for an oil of holy ointment." He is also commanded to take sweet spices, stacte, and onycha, galbanum, and pure frankincense, wherewith to compound "a confection pure and holy." The immense quantity made on the occasion here alluded to, being no less than seven hundred and fifty ounces of solid compounds, with five quarts of olive oil, may afford some idea of its profuse use among the Hebrews.

We are told by the Psalmist, that when the precious ointment was poured upon Aaron's head, it flowed "to the skirts of his garment." The "spouse" in the Canticles commends the perfume of her lover; the virgins mentioned by Esther used myrrh and sweet scented oils; Judith perfumed her face when she was to appear before Holofernes; and the voluptuous woman, described by Solomon, perfumed her bed with myrrh, aloes and cinnamon. Many other passages might be cited, of which the most familiar in the New Testament is contained in the fourteenth chapter of St. Mark, when the Redeemer sat at meat in the house of Simon the leper: "There came a woman having an alabaster box of ointment of spikenard very precious; and she broke the box, and poured it on his head."

Perfumes were prescribed as medicines by Hippocrates and other ancient physicians. The Assyrians and the Persians are known to have made great use of them. Tyre was a famous mart, as was Babylon, for the supply of the interior. The Greeks were familiar with their use. They anointed themselves several times daily, that the delicious fragrance might never diminish. They carried them to the bath, and their traffic must have been very considerable. In the wealthy and effeminate city of Capua, the street known as Septasia consisted of shops in which perfumery alone was sold.

In Rome these luxuries were not known till the end of the republic, and under the empire, when their use became no less general than in Greece. A description of the more costly unguents is given by Pliny. The preparation of these required peculiar skill, and then formed a particular profession. The numerous kinds of perfumes with which the ancients were acquainted is almost incredible. In short, whether to regale the nostrils of their deities while sacrificing, or their own while feasting, or to preserve their nostrils from being offended by defunct humanity, or the exhalation from crowded masses of people, the consumption of perfumes in early times was enormous.

In the Middle Ages, Italy and France were famous for their manufacture. Charlemagne indulged in them, and Philip Augustus granted a charter to the master perfumer in A. D. 1190. When Catherine de Medicis came to France to marry Henry the Second, she brought with her a celebrated professor named Rene.

In England, a taste for perfumes was prevalent in the time of Shakspeare, of which ample evidence is afforded in his works; and in the days of Dean Swift the shops of perfumers were the resorts of the loungers.

"First issued from perfumers' shops—
A crowd of fashionable fops."

Perfumes are still largely used in the East. Oils and ointments have, however, been superseded by perfumed waters. It is the custom to sprinkle guests with rosewater, and to perfume them with the incense of the aloes and other odoriferous woods, as a mark of hospitality. Even the great simplicity of their lives does not preclude the Bedouin Arabs from their use, as they perfume their handkerchiefs with civet. The traveller Bruce informs us that when he rose to take his leave of an Oriental family, he was "presently wet to the skin with orange-flower water."

Nor have Biblical customs altogether disappeared from among us. Incense is still used by the Roman Catholic church; and at the coronation of Queen Victoria "an oil pure and holy" was poured upon her head by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The perfection of perfumery is now considered to be genuine eau-de-cologne, simply because the constituents in its manufacture assimilate in odor and volatility, and thus produce, as it were, a single aromatic impression. In Cologne there are four perfumers named Farina, each claiming to have the original receipt. It appears that speculation is carried on to so high a pitch, that any child entitled to the surname of Farina is bargained for at his birth, and baptized [illegible], and, we blush to write it, this interesting event is even, at times, anticipated.—Home Journal.

☞ "Ven you arrives at the dignity of sawin' wood, Lafayette, if you is elevated to that 'ere profession, mind an' always saw the biggest fust, cause vy? you'll only have the little 'uns to saw ven you gets tuckered out. Ven you eat pi, as I 'spose you may if you live to be a man, always eat the crust fust, 'cause the crust ain't a good thing to top off with, 'specially if it's tough and thick as sole leather.—Ven you piles up wood, always put the big ones at the bottom—always, Lafayette, 'cause it's mighty hard exercise to lift 'em to the top of the pile.—These are the results of hobservation, Lafayette, an' may be depended on, an' it's all for your good I say it."

"Vy, father," responded young hopeful, "vot e'normous 'sperience you must a had!"

AN EDITOR SOLD.—The editor of an English paper was recently presented with a stone, upon which was carved the following letters. The editor was informed that the stone was taken from an old building, and he was requested to solve the inscription. It read:

FORC		ATT
LETOR		UBTHE
IRTA		IlsAg
A	In	St——

Eminent men were called in to consult upon the matter, and after an immense amount of time consumed, they were informed that the stone was—

"For cattle to rub their tails against!"

☞ "Pa, what is meant by raw recruits?" "It means soldiers who have not stood fire, child."

THE SUEZ CANAL.

The Suez Canal, which is one of greatest and most important works undertaken, and which for a time brought to a stand through the rivalr European powers, is again progress, this generation may see the trade tween India and Europe turned back to its ancient channel. The work is ried on by M. Lesseps, as the pri enterprise of a French company, assi actively by the Viceroy of Egypt. Egyptian administration, to get the quired number of hands to prosecute work, used compulsion, and forced 20, of its subjects each month to give t labor to it. This diverted more twice that number monthly from a culture, manufactures and other proc tive labors. The Sultan interfered this compulsory system, and to recon the workmen to the labor, required higher wages should be paid them, wh was about the greatest amelioration could effect from the Viceroy, tho backed by the influence of the Bri Government. Another subject wh was dissatisfactory to the Sultan was engagement entered into with the Fre company that it should occupy cer tracts of land for colonies on the lin the canal. The Sultan objected to such foreign occupation claiming pro tion from foreign powers, and M. Less had to yield for a money considera instead. The third difficulty was neutrality of the canal. The Sultan quired that the completo neutrality of canal should be guaranteed by inter tional stipulations. This was no do the suggestion of the Government Great Britain, who watches the Fre influence with a very jealous eye, a does not mean that any advantage sh be had of her in the prosecution o work which she has been so much opp ed to. These points all settled, the w is again in progress and will go rapi forward to completion, establishing rect commercial intercourse between great waters of the East and those of Western hemisphere.

The only work equal to this in co mercial importance will be the openi of canal communication between the w ters of the Atlantic and Pacific, acr the Isthmus of Panama.—Newburyp Herald.

BLUE MONDAY.—Perhaps it is generally known, that the reason w shoemakers do not work on Mond originated in the following tradition, n rated in the Perth Chronicle:—Wh Oliver Cromwell was encamped at Per he received intelligence of the death, suicide, of John Monday, one of his m zealous and active partizans, who li at a village a little to the north of Da head. Out of respect to John, his w thy patron offered a reward to the per who should compose the best eulogy the death of Monday. Among the cla ants for the promised reward was a w thy son of St. Crispin, belonging to "Fair City," who sent in the followi quatrain:—

"Blessed be the Sabbath day,
And cursed be wordly pelf.
Tuesday will now begin the week,
Since Monday's hanged himself!"

Cromwell was so well pleased w this, that the reward was not only gra ed to him, but he also directed that shoomakers should have henceforth Monday of each week as a holiday.

☞ A strictly orthodox old gentlem in Massachusetts returned home one Su day afternoon from church, and began extol to his son the merits of the serm "I have heard, Frank," said he, "one the most delightful sermons ever prea ed before a Christian society. It carr me to the gates of Heaven." "Wel replied Frank, "I think you had bet have dodged in, for you will never another such chance!"

☞ A young lady of extraordinary pacity addressed the following letter her cousin:—"We is all well, and mo er's got the his Terrix, brother tom h got the Hupin Kaugh, and sister su has got a babee, and hope these few lin will find you the same. Rite sune. Your aphfectionate kuzzen."

☞ On hearing Ike read that eighte rams were used in launching the Levi than, Mrs. Partington remarked, that s believed that a few yoke of oxen wou do a deal better than rams.

☞ Old Bachelor Sneer asks wh kind of a broom the young woman in t new novel used when she swept the rin lets from her classic brow.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 30, 1863.

THE FATHERS OF THE REPUBLIC.

It is an axiom in the literature of eulogy, that indiscriminate praise, panegyric which falls little short only of deification, is neither creditable to the author nor just to the subject; and that especially is this true when the voice of eulogy is applied to the works of men, considered apart from their character. Human character, in general, excels in point of virtue the works of human hands, equally as the artist's ideal of beauty and grandeur always excels his execution. For this reason it is not seldom unwarrantable to extol quite indefinitely the characters of men, having regard to the governing purpose and the practical virtue of their lives. But when praise comes to relate the works of men it is different, because all human works are very imperfect at best, and are unexceptionable, if at all, to human view only in the time more or less contemporaneous with the lives of the authors. The character of a remotest ancestor may be the proper example for imitation in all time—not his works, because these at most can only have been well adapted to his day and generation. Nor is this less true as concerning what results from intellectual labor than as to things made by the hands. It would be held preposterous were one to urge a return from the cunning contrivances of the factory to the distaff, or from the easy-furrowing plow of to-day to the cumbersome and indifferently-working implement of seventy years ago. Still this improvement in mechanism is but the improvement in intellect. Hands have simply given form and shape to better and higher intellectual conceptions.

These observations are too obviously true for denial, and they admit of constant application. The virtue, the constancy, the high purpose of our Fathers, from the time their great and vigorous minds conceived the Republic of America, down through the ordeal of their long and arduous struggle, to the time they struck out the Constitution and put the Union to revolving around the constitution as the sun of a solar system, are above praise, and entitle them to the lasting gratitude of us their posterity, and of mankind. As an ancestry they have a glory uneclipsed by true ancestral glory in the history of the world, and no effort, no ingratitude, no forgetfulness of degenernte sons, or envious nations, can jostle or disturb them in the high and serene places they occupy in the annals of the past. Not the good they did was interred with their bones; it lives after them, and must live evermore! But it lives after them, and is still to live—not as a work in itself complete, but as a great and noble beginning whose completion is to be reached by the lights of experience, by the triumphs of statesmanship, by the onward movements of the age. As we read the history of the Revolution, the trials which succeeded under the Articles of Confederation, the framing of the Constitution, and the adoption of it by the several States, we pass over four quite distinct epochs, each of which was full with difficulties, but in all which we find our Fathers equal to every emergency. When therefore, on the final page, we behold them emerging from the twenty odd years' labor, and bearing, in their hands, as it were, a new and unequalled nation, the prize of their devotion, our admiration is without limit; especially when contemplating that what they wrought was the greatest, best and purest of which their time would admit.

But it only was the greatest, best and purest of which their time would admit. It was not the greatest, best and purest possible, and it were falsome praise to assert that it was the greatest, best and purest attainable. To assert so would be to impugn the candor of the members of the Convention who framed the Constitution, to impugn the candor of the members of the conventions of the several States which ratified the Constitution: to charge with hypocrisy and factious opposition the press, the pulpits and the people of the time. The contemporaneous speeches, letters, essays and newspaper articles, with exceptions indeed, but whether coming from men in official station or otherwise, are of one tenor, namely: characterized by distrust whether the Constitution was the best that could be devised. A few supported it with full confidence,—a few opposed it with open violence; the many were continually distrustful, but finally yielded in the spirit of Franklin:

"I confess that I do not entirely approve of this Constitution at present,—but, Sir, I am not sure I shall never approve it: for having lived long, I have experienced many instances of being obliged by better information or fuller consideration, to change opinions even on important subjects, which I once thought right, but found to be otherwise. It is therefore, that the older I grow, the more apt I am to doubt my own judgment, and to pay more respect to the judgment of others"

If therefore, we would pay respect to the Framers and the people whose servants they were, it behooves us to consider that the Constitution we have inherited is none other than the best which the circumstances of their time permitted. "The older I grow, the more apt I am to doubt my own judgment," says Franklin. This is the remark of a wise man. It is equally the remark of a wise nation. "I have experienced many instances of being obliged by better information or fuller consideration, to change opinions even on important subjects, which I once thought right, but found to be otherwise." If this is the experience of man, as it truly is, is it not equally the experience of nations? Do men find occasion to "change opinions on important subjects," through "better information or fuller consideration," and not the collective bodies of men called nations? A nation is as a man, in the possible growth of knowledge, wisdom and whatever else may elevate it in character, dignity and consequence. Is it to be supposed that our Fathers had the conceit to believe they could enact a Fundamental Law which would answer the wants, the purposes, the exigencies, the progressive demands of all succeeding generations? The supposition is a libel on their memory, and an attempted obliteration of the records of the statesmanship which has made their names immortal! Is it to be supposed that our Fathers believed their era the culmination of wisdom—the mid-sunlight of the ages? The written deliberations of Washington and his compeers rebuke such idolatry! The Articles of Confederation carried our Fathers triumphantly through the Revolution. Why did they not with blind devotion adhere to the Articles? Because experience had told and was every hour more loudly telling them that time creates new demands, and imposes new duties. Having abandoned one form of government as worthless, was it in human wisdom immediately to devise another government as the consummation of human wisdom? Nay, the Constitution was but a great Improvement on the Articles. Our Fathers, had they longer lived and lived sufficiently long, would have improved on the Constitution. Their labor finished, the great work begun, they left to posterity the duty—as time and experience might direct—of re-framing the Constitution and making perpetual the Republic. To that high Duty we are called in these times. Let no undue adoration of ancestors—no unjust estimation of their work—excuse the performance of our part, or blind us to the fact that the day is coming when we also are to be censured or praised as ancestors, and that the surest way of meriting praise will be in imitating the fearless progressive spirit and example of the Fathers of the Republic.

WEBSTER AGAINST "DEMOCRACY."

In the palmy days of the Whig party, when Daniel Webster was in the zenith of his glory and hailed by all, except malignant "democratic" foes, as the great and true Expounder of the Constitution, the radical and hostile difference between Whigs and "Democrats" grew out of opposing theories as to the proper construction of the Constitution. "Democrats" claimed that the Constitution should be construed strictly and that the Federal Government derived no powers from it, except such as were expressly named and granted. On the other hand the Whigs held that the Constitution ought to be construed liberally and according to its spirit, and that when it conferred a general power, by implication, it conferred all other powers necessary for the purposes of the given end obviously had in view by the grant of the general power. Out of this difference of construction arose, flourished, fought and died the "Democratic" and Whig parties. The doctrine which Webster inculcated and which is embodied in the subjoined extract, has at last come to be the prevailing doctrine of the people, as has been manifest during the rebellion by the course of the administration and by the earnest popular support it has received. Still there are those, who adhere to the niggardly construction of former "democratic" days, blindly and meanly assailing and arranging the Government whenever it does or proposes anything, which by the Constitution is not authorized in so many words. To show how far such carpers are from being "disciples of Daniel Webster," let the following be read:

"But now, sir, what is the principle of construction upon which the gentleman relies to sustain his doctrine? 'The genius of our Constitution,' he says, 'is opposed to the assumption of power.' This undoubtedly is true; no one can deny it. But he adds, 'whatever power it gives, is expressly granted.'

"But I think this by no means follows from the first proposition, and cannot be maintained. It is doubtless true that no power is to be assumed; but then powers may be inferred, or necessarily implied. It is not a question of assumption, it is a question of fair, just and reasonable inference. To hold that no power is granted, and no means authorized, but such as are granted or authorized in express words, would be to establish a doctrine which would put an end to the Government. It could not last through a single session of Congress! If such opinions had prevailed in the beginning, it never could have been put in motion, and would not have drawn its first breath. * * * When the constitution confers on Congress a general power, or imposes a general duty, all other powers necessary for the exercise of that general power and for fulfilling that duty, are implied, so far as there is no prohibition. We act every day upon this principle, and could not carry on the Government without its aid. Under the power to coin money we build expensive mints—fill them with officers—punish such officers for embezzlement—buy bullion, and exercise various other acts of power.

"The constitution says that the judicial power of the United States shall be vested in certain courts. Under this general authority we not only establish such courts, but protect their records by penalties against forgery, and the purity of their administration by punishing perjuries.

"The Department of the Post Office is another and signal instance of the extent and necessity of implied powers. The whole authority of Congress over this subject is expressed in very few words; they are merely 'to establish post offices and post roads.' Under this short and general grant, laws of Congress have been extended to a great variety of very important enactments, without the specific grant of any power, as one may see who will look over the post office laws. In these laws amongst other provisions, penalties are enacted against a great number of offences; thus deducing the highest exercise of criminal jurisdiction by reasonable and necessary inferences from the general authority."

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.—The utmost harmony characterized the doings of the State Convention which assembled at Worcester the 24th instant. All the present State officers, with great enthusiasm, were nominated by acclamation. The speeches on the occasion were all excellent and loudly applauded. It is seldom that such spirit of unanimity pervades so large an assemblage of men, and it can only be accounted for upon the ground that the cause in which the Convention met is one which recommends itself to the sober judgments of all intelligent and patriotic men.

☞ The Republican County Convention will meet at Lyceum Hall, in Salem, on Thursday, the 15th day of October. South Danvers and Danvers will be entitled to six delegates each.

THE CONTINENTAL for October is received at Wilkinson's, and not only sustains the former reputation of the Magazine, but increases it.

WAR MATTERS.

The telegrams received from Chattanooga indicate that the rebel army continues to refrain from molesting General Rosecrans in his present position. This fact tells forcibly of the damage sustained by Bragg in the action of Saturday and Sunday last. Our best informed General officers are clearly of opinion that the rebel loss was considerably larger than ours, and regard the prospect of another attack on Rosecrans at present as being substantially over, and expect rather to learn in a few days that he has again commenced to press them back on Atlanta. In regard to our losses, the New York Herald correspondent makes out a worse story for our side than the Richmond papers, or even Gen. Bragg himself; but telegrams from the Commander of the Army of the Cumberland do not look upon the recent battles as anything like the disaster to the Union cause represented by unofficial dispatches.

By the exchange of prisoners, just effected, our army will gain twenty thousand men.

General Burnside is reported as being safe, and as having fully prevented a flank movement by the rebel troops in the South of Virginia.

As many substitutes are offered in New York for drafted men as are needed. The committee of the supervisors have already accepted and paid one thousand of them.

Among the commissions issued last week were Lieutenant and Adjutant A. Parker Browne of Salem, as Major; Rev. A. M. Haskell of Salem, Chaplain, and 2d Lieut. Charles G. Cox of Salem, 1st Lieut., in 40th Regiment; 2d Lieut. John R. Lakeman of Salem, 1st Lieut. in 23d; Sergt. Chas. G. Chipman of Salem (24th Regt.,) 2d Lieut. in 54th.

The Fourteenth Regiment is hereafter to be designated as the FIRST MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER HEAVY ARTILLERY.

After the rebels have given us all of our prisoners under the new cartel just agreed on, we will have a balance against them of more than fifty thousand.

Fifteen thousand of the Corps d'Afrique, under Gen. Banks, have been mustered in, and recruiting is active. The maximum strength is 25,000.

Beauregard says Gen. Gilmore's demand for the surrender of Fort Moultrie is weak and puerile. Echo answers pure oil.

Beauregard says it would be barbarous to destroy with shells and Greek fire Charleston. Echo answers charlatan.

"How are you Beauregard? Echo answers "braggart."

Gov. Letcher calls upon his people to turn into Guerrillas. Echo answers Gorillas.

The new Rebel Flag—The Cross of White & Black.

English neutrality—Bull a Gerent.

Johnny Crapeau in getting Mexico will be like the man who won the elephant in the raffle, and didn't know what to do with him.

Beauregard says, "Don't surrender, boys, until you have reached the last ditch," Echo says, last itch.

Richmond papers say the first families of Virginia (F. F. V.) will never surrender—they will die first. Echo says, Fly first.

Jeff. Davis says he despises a Copperhead. Echo says, Cut off his head.

CONSCRIPTS.—The number of conscripts sent by our town to Long Island, were three, viz.: Orlando E. Alley, Chas. Pierce, Chas. H. Bell.

Danvers sent two—Edward F. Henderson, Thomas Warren.

Salem sent six—Albert P. Smith, Geo. B. Lewis, Henry I. Adams, John A. M'Kenzie, Albert M'Fadden, Augustus M. Haskell.

PROMENADE CONCERTS BY THE SALEM BRASS BAND.—We understand a subscription paper is in circulation for one or more Concerts in South Danvers Square, by the Salem Brass Band—the first to take place on Monday evening next, October 5th, weather permitting.

☞ Warren Bank has declared a semi-annual dividend of three per cent., payable October 1st. The Danvers Bank has also declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent., payable Monday, October 5th.

FREE WORDS IN A SLAVE STATE.—In allusion to the frequent escape of slaves from Missouri, the Nashville Union says:—

"Whatever weakens the abominable system of slavery weakens the rebellion. Every blow at slavery is a blow at the Southern Confederacy. Every wound inflicted on the heaven-defying and man-degrading system of human bondage is a dagger thrust at the heart of the Richmond dynasty. When the night of death and damnation close over the Southern rebellion, may not a slave be found on our continent to kindle the flame of another rebellion and bring down the wrath of God anew upon this nation."

MAINE.—Lincoln is the only county in this State that threw a Democratic majority. It is also the only county that has no newspaper published within its limits. Judge Coney's majority will be about 18,000.

LETTER FROM PROPELLER.

No. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON, Sept. 27th, 1863.

PORTLAND.

This is really a busy and thriving city.—Heretofore somewhat deficient in business spirit and enterprise, Portland is beginning to show signs of improvement in this respect. A company, with a capital of $50,000, entitled the Portland Shovel Manufacturing Co., has been formed, their extensive buildings erected, in the western part of the city, and will commence their operations this week. It is about the largest establishment of the kind in the country, and combines all the improvements and facilities developed by its predecessors in England and in America. The Superintendent of this Company, Mr. A. D. Brown, has been a successful manufacturer of shovels in Augusta, and has just the skill and experience necessary for the successful management of this large establishment.

Just beyond this large factory, still in a westerly direction, is another large building, now nearly completed, which is designed for a glass factory. The capital of the company is $75,000, with permission to extend to $100,000.—This factory, which is designed for making table glass ware, will be quite an addition to the industry of Portland. Other enterprises will doubtless follow, and Portland will yet reach a high position as a manufacturing city. It has all the requisite facilities to make it such.

After a pleasant walk through "Deering's woods," we reached the splendid mansion of our old friend Capt. J. B. Coyle. Capt. Coyle's place is one mile from Portland in Westbrook. We wandered through the elegant grounds of our entertainers. The fine view of "Deering's woods" forcibly recalled to our memory Longfellow's beautiful Poem "My Lost Youth," from which we copy the first and last verses.

"MY LOST YOUTH."

Often I think of the beautiful town
That is seated by the sea;
Often in thought go up and down
The pleasant streets of that dear old town,
And my youth comes back to me;
And a verse of a Lapland song
Is haunting my memory still;
"A boy's will is the winds will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

And Deering's woods are fresh and fair,
And with joy that almost pain my heart goes back to wander there,
I find my lost youth again,
And the strange and beautiful song
The groves are repeating it still;
"A boy's will is the winds will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

In her press Portland stands far ahead of larger cities. "The Evening Courier" is edited with a piquancy and vivacity that win the admiration of the editor's political opponents.

WESTBROOK CEMETERY.

This place, one of the most beautiful towns in Maine, is fortunate in possessing a most charming "city of the dead." This town is one mile from Portland. In approaching Pine Grove Cemetery, we gain some foretaste of the beauty of the spot in the numerous trees and groves of natural pine woods and through a tasteful gateway—wandering again upward through broad avenues tastefully laid out, we advance into the grounds. The whole amount of enclosed grounds, we believe is forty acres.

This is presumed to be room enough for the resting places of many generations to come, of the inhabitants of Portland—none others we understand are allowed to be buried there.—Visitors to the "Forest City" should by all means visit this lovely city of the dead.

HOME AGAIN.

The warm weather induces some persons to linger in the country who would otherwise be found by this time in their city homes and haunts. Many, however, have already returned, brought back by the touch of fall in the cool evening air, and the mournful sighing of the wind; or, perhaps their return was hastened by causes less poetical; a fast failing exchequer may have suggested that there is a limit even to greenbacks, and that unless three dollars per day and extras was shortly reduced to the regular average, a disgusting state of complete bankruptcy must ensue. If this is the cause, it does not betray itself in their bright familiar faces, eager greetings and more cordial manner. They have caught a new tone from the scenes among which they have wandered, and have returned all the better for their brief sojourn amid strange persons and circumstances. Their pockets are lighter, but so are their hearts; their blood is purer, their muscles firmer, their nerves steadier, their social impulses kindlier.

They have been away to the valley and the hill-side, to where the brooks leap and play, amid rocks in the forest, where the wood-birds sing their first tuneful matin songs, where the squirrels chatter, or the sea whispers its false words of love to the glistening sands.

Gentle mothers, with their children, two and three, have exchanged crowded city houses for nestling cottages and snug farm-houses, and obtained a new revelation from seeing the natural ardor with which their pets, whose researches had heretofore been conducted from the front basement windows, took to flowers, and chickens, and cherry trees, and dirt-pies, in every puddle capable of being used for juvenile culinary purposes.

Quiet strolls through deliciously shaded country streets have taken the place of unwholesome rides in the jammed and stagnant city cars, and a pic-nic in the woods, a sail upon a lake, or drives upon the shores, of magnificent fields of corn and grain, rocking in the breeze like new seas of golden green, the occasional visit to the stale theatre or concert-room.

A few have paid the penalty which attaches to pretension, and after a month of high life in a miserable corner of some crowded hotel, come back jaded, and with depleted strength to make up by a rigorous economy for the unwonted outlay. Serve them right. We have no objection to those who have plenty of money and nothing to do, wearing themselves out with the excitement of fast living, and distributing their funds where their conscience will let them; but for people who earn every cent they possess by the sweat of their brows, to consent to humiliating embarrassments, and throw away their chances for recreation and real enjoyment in order to sit upon the edge of a charmed circle, which after all they cannot enter, is so foolish as to deserve punishment. The chances, are, however, nearly over; wise and unwise will soon be mingling together again in the busy town, and the summer, with its pleasures and pains, its plans which seemed so important, yet perhaps were never fulfilled, will be forgotten in the whirl of events, and in anticipation of good to come.

WAR CORRESPONDENCE.

Letter from the 17th Mass. Regt.

CAMP NEAR NEWBERN, N. C., September 16th, 1863.

MR. WIZARD,—As your columns have heretofore honored my pen by publishing an occasional waif, I propose at this time to jot down a few items, believing they will meet the same favor. I shall not confine myself particularly to military movements; and all that need be said under that head is, All is quiet in this department. I have no information in my possession, neither do I see any evidence further than what appears in the Northern papers, that North Carolina is yet, or likely very soon to return to the Union. How soon this much-desired thing may take place, time must decide. There is no doubt but there is a strong Union feeling existing among the people, and it is gratifying to know that the Raleigh Standard is bold enough to express it. This feeling will continue to grow rather than die out, and to say the least, it is a very hopeful sign.

Some four months ago a general order was promulgated, granting furloughs to the three years men. We hailed the announcement with gratification, and pleased ourselves with the idea that war was not so terrible a thing after all. Thus far, but few have enjoyed this privilege; and those who have, in a majority of cases, abuse it, either by remaining over time—and in many instances taken the advantage by getting the time extended—or receiving a discharge. Again, through partiality, many have got furloughs who were not entitled to them, nearly one-half being recruits who joined the regiment last summer and fall. I do not care to be personal, but I can give many instances where officers have wholly taken the matter in their own hands and given furloughs to those only whom they saw fit, disregardless in cases of urgency and demands. I presume this may be so in other regiments, but I have heard no complaints of the matter. If this matter isn't improved in some respects soon, I shall, with your permission, enter into it more fully, and expose a few cases. Enough of that for the present.

Our conscripts have not yet arrived, and there seems but little prospect that they are likely to soon. It is amusing to us to look over the names of the exempts and to hear of the ingenious, and I might say disreputable means resorted to, to escape the draft. Take the three years men in the field, and I will venture to assert, by applying the same test, nine men out of ten are exempt, and with much stronger reasons. It does not speak well for the patriotism of those at home giving so many evidences of their unwillingness to serve their country. Few, if any of the conscripts will have the honor of doing much fighting in the present rebellion according to present indications. I make no doubt that all the fighting between the two main armies will be finished up before the first of January next. The object of the draft was more for the moral effect it might produce than for active warfare. Well, we have given nearly two years and a half to the cause and have the proud satisfaction of saying that we are neither hirelings, conscripts or substitutes. All the money we have received while in the service will not amount to as much as many of the bounties which have been given to recruits in a very large number of instances.

Your readers will perhaps infer from the above remarks, that we feel sensitive; so we do, Mr. WIZARD, and haven't we good and sufficient reasons for it? As officially announced by Adjt. Gen. Schouler, of Massachusetts, our time (the 17th's) expires on the 22d of July next, when we shall be released from all war duties. Ten months is a long time to think about, but we started with the intention of "seeing the thing through," and life and health spared, we can "go it."

There is talk of our regiment going into the city soon to do provost duty—if so, we shall be provided with good winter quarters, which is very desirable.

Most of the companies received a lot of fresh vegetables yesterday from the North—potatoes, onions and beets—purchased from the company funds. These were much needed, as slight cases of scurvy had begun to make its appearance, owing, no doubt, to eating so much salt meat.

A large number of the boys are spending most of the time shaking. No serious cases of sickness. More anon. A.

☞ The Washington Republican says there could scarcely be stronger proof that the recent effort of Bragg to vanquish the Army of the Cumberland was a desperate one, than the fact that fifteen major and brigadier generals were killed or wounded in the fight, it having become necessary for them to rush to the front and expose themselves in order to keep their men up to the mark. The failure of that attack to accomplish its purpose was a great defeat to the rebel cause.

LARGE HEN'S EGGS.—In Propeller's rambles "down east" he came across some remarkable specimens of birds, animals, and men, women, and things generally. But the brace of mammoth hen's eggs which he laid on our table, the other day, beats anything we have yet seen in that line. They weigh about half a pound, and were laid by a hen of the Chattenooga breed, belonging to a farmer in Belfast, Me.—Hingham Journal.

WHAT LONDON CONSUMES.—Somebody has made an estimate that it would require a drove of cattle seventy-two miles long, ten abreast, to supply London with beef one year, and a flock of sheep, ten abreast, 120 miles long to supply it with mutton, and for beer it would require a thousand columns of hogsheads each a mile high.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for October contains a number of very readable articles, among which the "Army Correspondent" is of special interest as relating to the experience of a class of persons who in the last two exciting years have so largely occupied the columns of newspapers. The "Monthly Record" is more than usually interesting this month. For sale in Danvers at E. B. Waitt's, and in South Danvers at Wilkinson's.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

LIVERY STABLE.—We call the attention of our readers to the card of Mr. JOHN MOULTON, who has removed from his place on Central Street to the old stand opposite the Danvers Bank, where he is ready to welcome all his old customers and provide them with excellent teams at the shortest notice.

MISS M. CRANE, successor to M. M. Fletcher, announces in our columns to-day an "Opening of Fall and Winter Styles of Bonnets, Hats and Dress Capes." Miss C.'s goods are rich and tempting, and we have no doubt that her efforts to please the ladies will meet with good success.

JOHN P. PEABODY'S Millinery Opening commences this week. Our ladies will here find (as they always have found) a splendid stock to select from. His line of goods consists of every thing usually found in a first class ladies' furnishing store—from a button to a hoop skirt. He also has a large and fine assortment of worsted goods.

JAMES F. ALMY announces a large stock of seasonable goods, comprising silks, alpaccas, plaids, poplins, de laines and prints, which will be sold lower—compared with ruling prices—than ever before.

A. J. ARCHER & Co. are opening many new and elegant goods for the fall and winter trade.

GEO. P. DANIELS also advertises fall and winter goods.

BROWNING & LONG are opening new goods, consisting in part of a great variety of Berlin Zephyr Worsteds, of every conceivable shade, which they will warrant of the best European manufacture.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY for October is received at the Periodical Depot of Mr. R. W. Wilkinson. It contains a second part of Lamb's writings, and articles of great merit from the pens of Prescott, Trambridge, Mrs. T. Hopkinson, C. C. Hazewell, Thoreau, Whittier, Emerson, Chas. Sumner and others.—"Our Domestic Relations," by the latter, will excite much attention.

BOSTON—Amusements.—At the Boston Theatre the beautiful Cubas appeared on Monday night last as the French Spy, supported by an excellent company. Her stay is short. Go and see her.

At the Buckleys you will always see full houses, and they richly deserve them. The Aquarial Department is now filled with the choicest specimens ever seen on exhibition.

At the Howard Athenæum, G. W. Booth and Mrs. Barrow are engaged for twelve nights only. This is sufficient to ensure crowded houses.

FRANK PIERCE SNUBBED.—General Pierce has been spending some days recently at Gloucester, Cape Ann. The Bath Times says:—

"One day he sent an invitation to the ladies residing in one of the houses of entertainment, to join him in the exercise of bowling. One by one each of them decidedly refused. 'But what excuse shall I give him?' said his ex-Excellency's Messenger. 'Tell him we don't bowl with rebels,' said one of the most plucky of these. And that was the message sent, though it is said it was modified into the statement that 'the ladies didn't like his politics,' before it reached him."

☞ An Irishman attending a Quaker meeting heard a young friend make the following announcement: "Brethren and sisters, I am going to marry a daughter of the lord." "Och, 'n ye are," said Pat; "faith an' be jabers, an' it'll be a long time afore ye'll see yer father-in-law."

☞ The frigate Cumberland was raised from her bed in Hampton Roads recently, and the floats were being rapidly emptied when the tide began to make with such velocity as to seriously disturb operations. Suddenly the huge monster frigate again sunk to her bed at the bottom.

SYNONYM FOR COPPERHEAD. A French Canadian in Waterville, Me., wishing to express his contempt for a man with whom he had a difficulty, by calling him a Copperhead, and not being able to think of the name, said "You d—d old one cent!"

☞ Archbishop Hughes is reported to be in very feeble health, and fears are entertained that he may no more fill that large space in the world's affairs where he has heretofore acted.

☞ Shoemakers are exempt from military service in the Confederate army, even under the present wholesale conscription in Secessia. It is time somebody begun to look after rebel souls.

DISCOURAGED.—A Pike's Peaker, writing to a Minnesota journal, says the miners are very much discouraged in that region; they have to dig through a solid vein of silver four feet thick, before they reach the gold.

☞ The rebels never go to see the Falls of Niagara now. The Louisville Journal thinks it isn't necessary. They'll soon have a chance to see a much bigger Fall nearer home—the Fall of their Confederacy.

☞ The young ladies of a town in Pennsylvania are said to be keeping a list of the single drafted men, and noting down the reports of the examining board, with a view to select sound husbands. That's hard on the boys.

☞ Common brown sugar brings three dollars a pound in Richmond; clarified and white, four dollars at retail. No wonder they are getting soured down there.

☞ Those Florida coral reefs are now estimated to be 5,400,000 years old.

SOCRATES.—When Socrates was why he had built so small a hou replied, "Small as it is, I wish I fill it with friends." These, indee all that a wise man would desire semble; for a crowd is not con and faces are but a gallery of pic and talk but a tinkling cymbal, there is no love.

☞ A deserter was converted a cent camp meeting in Maine, and immediately to the military auth and confessed his sins.

☞ The abundant cranberry cro year, will help make up any falli in apples. Cranberries never yiel well as this year.

☞ Mehemet Ali's widow owes $ 000—small debts. The brute of tan refuses to pay the sum for h tells her "to spout her jewels."

☞ Three thousand bales of cot that is half a million of money—burnt near Vicksburg recently b fire of a cast away cigar.

☞ The Confederate debt, says ert Taylor, Register of the Treas
Richmond, is $840,000,000.

☞ The hinges of a new oaken lately put up at Hereford Cathed
England, cost £140.

SOCIAL PARTY.—There will be cial party held at Sutton's Hall, nesday Evening, October 7th.

☞ The streets of New York ar to look very sanguinary—scarlet is vogue.

☞ Parisian ladies are beginn wear cocked hats. They take them the lorettes as they do all the mode

New
RIBBONS
and
FLOWERS
Opened at PEABODY'S, yesterday

THE PRAISEWORTHY undertaking of Josiah Perham, having in view the con tion of a National Institution, designed t
Home for Invalid and Disabled Disc Soldiers, is meeting with favor every
The plan is attractive and speaks for itsel

Warren Bank.

The Stockholders of the Warren Ba hereby notified that the Annual Meetin be held at their Bank Rooms on TUES October 6th, at 9 o'clock, A. M., for the of officers for the ensuing year; to act the subject of loans to Directors, and to act any other business that shall legally before them. Per order,
FRANCIS BAKE
South Danvers, Sept 16, '63. Cas

BARGAINS IN KID GLOVES.—John P. Pe has determined to close his entire stock o
Kid Gloves, and has marked them dow cents. They are the best goods and are
Boston and Salem for $1 25 and $1 50.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look unusual variety of new styles in HA
CAPS—191 Essex street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National C
Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere.
ale at the Equity Store, South Danvers.
advertisement.

BEST KID GLOVES, in light colors for 75 to close—at PEABODY'S.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

OPENING—THURSDAY, OCTOBER
FALL AND WINTER STYLES OF
Bonnets, Hats, and Dress C
AT MILLINERY ROOMS
No. 168 Essex Street, Sale
M. E. CRANE,
Sept. 30. Successor to M. M. Fletch

Port of Danvers.

Ar 28th, Br sch Moses Black, Wilmot.

Marriages.

In Salem, Sept. 22, by Rev Mr Hayw
Mr Wm E Putnam to Miss Florence J Nic
both of Danvers; by Eben N Walton Esq
Thomas H Hall to Mrs Anna Burnham.

NEW PROVIDENCE, Hardin Co., Iow
Be it known to all men, That we, the dersigned, prompted by mutual love, inten live as husband and wife. And believing existing marriage system of our land to be damentally wrong, we cannot conscientio marry in accordance with its laws;—but lieving in the doctrine that each pair right to make such a contract as they t best, we have therefore made the follo agreement:—

We agree to live as husband and wife as as the union is mutually agreeable.

In witness whereof, we have this thirte day of September, A. D. 1863, signed names.

DORA B. MACOMBER, of N.
WADE ISLEY, of Mass.

Deaths.

In South Danvers, Sept 28, Mrs Louis
Dodge, wife of A P Phillips, 56 yrs 10 mo days. Funeral this (Wednesday) afternoo 2 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invite attend.

In Salem, Sept 19, Mr George K Bull
54 yrs; 21st, Mr Cyrus Scales, of Swampsc
64 yrs; 22d, Mr Andros Clough, 51 yrs; 2
Capt Nathl B Mansfield, 67 yrs; Marg daughter of William and Mary Doherty, mos; 25th, John W, son of Benj and Carol
E Newhall, 4 yrs; Mr Cyrus Hayward, 56
6 mos 5 days; 27th, Alice Marie, daughte
Wm W, and Amanda M Henville, 10 yrs 1
3 days.

In Beverly, Sept 19, Mrs Sophia, wido
the late Capt Mark Knowlton, 71 yrs 4 mo

...rdinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigor seems to stir up an army of Tonics,
Cure Alls; but as a general thing they Morning Glory—look very fine in the wilt before the day has past The Dr-fore the public for years; his Dyspepsia been tested and not found wanting; it Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole good at all times and for everybody.

ANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
, Piano and Singing,
Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
..... PIANO FORTES,
at the lowest rates;
..... PIANO FORTES,
at the Manufacturers Prices;
ES... PIANO FORTES,
on the easiest terms;
Rooms No. 7 Central street,
SALEM, MASS.

HEIMSTREET'S
ABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,
es gray hair to its original color, by sup-capillary tubes with natural sustenance, age or disease. All instantaneous dyes of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality of the hair, and afford of themselves no Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only r to its natural color by an easy process, e hair a
Luxuriant Beauty,
s growth, prevents its falling off, eradi-ruff, and imparts health and pleasantness
. It has stood the test of time, being the ir Coloring, and is constantly increasing Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is respectable dealers, or can be procured by e commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202
N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

AN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.
he most delightful and extraordinary artiiscovered. It changes the sun burnt face to a pearly satin texture of ravishing parring the marble purity of youth, and ne appearance so inviting in the city belle It removes tan, freckles, pimples and from the skin, leaving the complexion sparent and smooth. It contains no mate-ous to the skin. Patronized by Actresses Singers It is what every lady should d everywhere.
DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

of the Plantation Bitters is without preced-history of the world. There is no secret in
They are at once the most speedy, strength-th-restorer ever discovered. It requires but ial to understand this. Their purity can alelied upon. They are composed of the celelisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, er-buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

especially recommended to clergymen, pub-
, and persons of literary habits and seden-who require free digestion, a relish for food, ental faculties.
females and weak persons are certain to find tters what they have so long looked for.
rify, strengthen and invigorate.
ate a healthy appetite.
an antidote to change of water and diet.
ercome effects of dissipation and late hours.
engthen the system and enliven the mind.
vent miasmatic and intermittent fevers rify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
re Dyspepsia and Constipation.
re Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
re Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache e the best Bitters in the world. They make man strong, and are exhausted nature's great llowing startling and emphatic statements can t our office.

of Rev E. F. Crane, Chaplain of the 107th Regiment:
Near Acquia Creek, March 4th, 1863.
o the great exposure and terrible decomposi-the battle of Antietam, I was utterly pros-
I very sick. My stomach would not retain
An article called Plantation Bitters, prepar-Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give th and an appetite. To my great surprise me immediate relief. Two bottles almost alto join my regiment. * * * * * I have them used in many cases, and am free to say, al or private purposes I know of nothing like
Rev. E. F. Crane, Chaplain.

om the Rev. N. E. Gilds, St. Clairsville, Pa.: MEN:—You were kind enough, on a former to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation r $3 50. My wife having derived so much om the use of these Bitters, I desire her to hem, and you will please send us six bottles he money inclosed.
I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. Gilds, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

MESS' HOME, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
CINCINNATI, OHIO, Jan. 15th, 1863.
* * * * *
given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of soldiers who stop here, more or less di-abled ous causes, and the effect is marvelous and
.
preparation as this is I heartily wish in every every hospital, and at hand on every battle
G. W. Andrews, Superintendent.

A. Childs, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle tion Bitters. They are the most effective, per-harmless tonic I ever used."

Willard's Hotel,
Washington, D. C., May 22d, 1863.
MESS:—We require another supply of your n Bitters, the popularity of which daily in-ith the guests of our house.
spectfully, Sykes, Chadwick & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c.
e that every bottle bears the fac simile of our on a steel plate label, with our private stamp cork.
P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
262 BROADWAY, N. Y.
all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, aloons, and country dealers.

Advertisements.

MOULTON'S
LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

John P. Peabody.

MILLINERY OPENING.

RIBBONS,
RIBBONS,
RIBBONS,
RIBBONS,
RIBBONS.

We shall show a full line of BONNET RIBBONS in all the desirable styles

During this Week.

ALL FRESH AND DESIRABLE.

In ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS we shall show an extensive variety in very choice styles.

In RUCHES we can show our usual good stock at very low prices.

N. B.

Those ladies who look up their FALL MILLINERY GOODS early will have good stocks to select from. Those who are late will find few desirable goods and high prices.

THIS IS OUR OPENING WEEK.

KNIT AND WOVEN

WOOLEN GOODS!

HOODS, SONTAGS,
CLOUDS,
NUBIAS,
MITTENS,
SLEEVES,
SACKS.

In new and desirable varieties:

WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.
WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.
WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.
WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.
WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.

THE LARGEST STOCK OF

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS
IN ESSEX COUNTY.

Prices lower and Assortment larger than any other house in this city.

Black Zephyr Worsteds per ounce		20 cts;
White Zephyr Worsteds	" "	20 cts;
All Colors	" " "	25 cts;
Printed or Chinchilla	" "	25 cts.

—Cheaper by the Pound—

☞ We shall, as we did last year, sell our WORSTEDS at from 5 to 10 cents per ounce less than any of our competitors.

A NEW STOCK OF CORSETS.
A NEW STOCK OF SKIRTS.
A NEW STOCK OF LACES.
A NEW STOCK OF HDKFS.
A NEW STOCK OF EDGINGS.
A NEW STOCK OF WAISTS.
A NEW STOCK OF BANDS.
A NEW STOCK OF VEILS.
A NEW STOCK OF SOAPS.
A NEW STOCK OF PERFUMES.
A NEW STOCK OF LEATHER GOODS.
A NEW STOCK OF MOURNING GOODS.

STEEL & JET PINS.
STEEL & JET PINS.
STEEL & JET PINS.

NEW PATTERNS.

Hosiery & Gloves.
Hosiery & Gloves.
Hosiery & Gloves.
Hosiery & Gloves.

A FRESH LOT OF KID GLOVES,
A FRESH LOT OF KID GLOVES,
A FRESH LOT OF KID GLOVES.

☞ We have a New Stock—bought for CASH and bought low—which we shall sell for CASH at the

—LOWEST PRICES—

EXAMINE BEFORE BUYING.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,
JOHN P. PEABODY.

Browning & Long

BROWNING & LONG

ARE OPENING THEIR NEW GOODS

BERLIN ZEPHYR

☞ WORSTEDS. ☜

We have just received our Fall Importation, which supersedes in quantity and quality, that of any other Season, comprising the best new shades in the market, in 2, 4 and 8 folds.

We would also inform our Customers, that our WORSTEDS are warranted as the best European manufacture, and we will sell them as low as any Worsteds can ever be sold.

☞ Having always on hand a large quantity of each shade, and each shade being numbered, Ladies will always be able to match them.

NOW OPENING,

A SPLENDID VARIETY NEW GOODS

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S.

☞ Our business having increased, we have bought a much larger and more complete Stock than ever before, and we assure our customers that our assortment will now be found much more extensive, and we can safely say that our Stock of

"Ladies' Furnishing Goods"

is equal to any in New England.

Respectfully,
BROWNING & LONG,
177 Essex Street.
Sept. 30

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

JAMES F. ALMY.

WE have just received a very large Stock of SEASONABLE GOODS,

COMPRISING

RICH BLACK and COLORED SILKS.
PLAIN, PLAID and STRIPED ALPACCAS, in different qualities.
MOUSLIN DE LAINE PLAIDS,
HEAVY WOOL PLAIDS,
PLAIN and PLAID POPLINS,
OTTOMANS, REPPS and THIBETS, WOOL MOUSLIN DE LAINES, &c.
Also—Common DE LAINES, PRINTED REPPS, ENGLISH, FRENCH and AMERICAN PRINTS,
Also—A full Stock of MOURNING GOODS.
Also—A splendid line of AUTUMN SHAWLS.
Also—A full Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS, OPERA FLANNELS.
DOMESTIC GOODS, LINENS, KID GLOVES, &c.

☞ Believing that I have clearly demonstrated the principle of Buying and Selling for Cash, so that it has found favor, I am confident that our Goods, bought in large quantities from first hands, are this season to be sold lower, compared with ruling prices, than ever before.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.
Sept 16, 1863.

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

FALL AND WINTER GOODS
AT
GEORGE P. DANIELS'S,
No. 238 Essex Street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

Consisting of New Styles
DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS,
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR.
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera;
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

sept 23—tf GEORGE P. DANIELS.

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.

For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Passengers by this route can take the 4.45 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.

Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.

☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and State-rooms secured at the O. C. & F. R. Railroad Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent,
No. 82 Washington Street.
Boston, September 23, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

SOMETHING NEW,
FOR cleaning Kerosene Lamp Chimneys—at
sept 23 S C & E A SIMONDS.

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S.

PETER CARRADINE, or the Martindale Pastoral, by Carline Chesebro; The Young Parson; The Gold Seekers, a tale of California, by Gustave Ainward; Historical Collections of Essex Institute, Vol. 5, No. 4; Lessons from Insect Life; The Circus, a story for boys; Plants, illustrating in their structure the wisdom and goodness of God—illustrated; The Temperance Tales, by L. M. Sargent—a new edition; Leslie's Gazette of Fashion for October.

Sept. 30. 190 Essex Street.

SUBSCRIPTION LIBRARY.

ALL the new and desirable books are put at once into our Library—subscriptions commence any time, and each subscriber can have two books out at a time.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.
Sept. 30. 190 Essex Street.

[COMMUNICATED.]

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find A SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address
REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
New York.
Sept. 23—4m.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Selectmen's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given to the abuttors on the following streets in South Danvers, viz: Washington St., and Foster St.—that a meeting of the Selectmen of South Danvers will be held at the Town House on Wednesday, the 7th day of October next, at 2 o'clock, in the afternoon, at which time and place the Selectmen of said town will fix and determine the location and manner of construction of the Salem and South Danvers Railroad in the streets aforesaid; and at which meeting the abuttors and other citizens interested may appear and shew cause, if any there be, why said railroad should not be so located and constructed.

JOSEPH POOR, A. W. BANCROFT, DANA WOODBURY, } Selectmen of South Danvers
South Danvers, Sept 16. 3w

TEETH ON VULCANITE!
DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,
DENTAL SURGEON,
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, MASS.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Sets of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless.

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vendor.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

WATCH SPRING SKIRT,
At 286 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street
SALEM, MASS.
M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURES TO ORDER

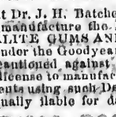
UNDER-SHIRTS & DRAWERS
AT COLMAN'S,
10 FRONT ST., 10

Just received from Boston and New York,
100 DOZ. Shirts and Drawers (all qualities); Doeskins; Cassimeres; Fancy Wool Shirts; 100 dozen Men's and Boy's Linen Dickeys; a new lot Pants and Vests—some Full Fall Pants; Linen and Oil Cloth Table Covers; 1000 pairs Boots, Shoes and Brogans; with a great variety of other Goods, received every day, and sold at a small profit.

Window Curtains, Fixtures, Cord and Tassels; Painted Carpeting at all time constantly on hand.

☞ No. 10 COLMAN'S; No. 10 Front St.
Salem, Sept 16—3w

Flour! Flour!



JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.
E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

Fall and Winter Goods,
ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.
Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

George S. Walker.

Notice to Gentlemen!
FOR FALL AND WINTER WEAR.
UNDER GARMENTS.
HOSIERY,
GLOVES,
The LARGEST ASSORTMENT to be found in the city, at the LOWEST PRICES, is at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
sept 23 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

Gent's Linen Handkerchiefs.
JUST RECEIVED, Plain, Colored and Hem-stitched LINEN HDKFS, for Gentlemen's use, which I offer at very low prices,
GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

Gentlemen's Gloves.
100 VARIETIES to select from—at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
228 Essex Street, Salem Mass.

A. J. Archer & Co

FALL AND WINTER.
ELEGANT NEW GOODS.
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
ARE OPENING
MANY NEW STYLES OF
DRESS GOODS,
INCLUDING
Ottoman Reps,
Cashmere Plaids,
Thibet and M. D. Laines,
Rich & Heavy Black Silks,
Plain Colored Silks,
ALSO
SHAWLS
Of every description.
Salem, Sept 16—tf

FLANNELS AND COTTONS.
A. J. ARCHER & CO.
Have on hand a full supply of
BROWN SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
BLEACHED SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
—Also—
GREY TWILLED FLANNELS;
WHITE FLANNELS,
which they offer at the LOWEST PRICES.
Salem, Sept 16—tf.

AUTUMN GOODS.
CLOTHS! CLOTHS!!
A fine assortment of
Cloths, Cassimeres, Doeskins,
—AND—
CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CAPES,
—FOR SALE BY—
A. J. ARCHER & CO.
Sept 16. tf

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.
INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danvers port.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.
ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22

HOUSE OF EQUITY
—BY—
C. T. SOUTHWICK.
FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.
RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER
THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
—CALL AND EXAMINE.—
For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

SEWING MACHINES.
PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult
JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT.
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.
Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. 1y

WANTED!
$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.
South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front street, Salem. ap30-tf

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,
88 MAIN STREET.
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.
Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 MAIN ST. 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers,
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by an experienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.
J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following
TARIFF OF PRICES!
Shaving, 8 cts.
Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.
Hair Cutting, 15 cts.
Or 8 Tickets for $1 00.
Champooing, 15 cts.
Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL
OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand
Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.
Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.
OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 10—tf

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.

April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

NOTICE.

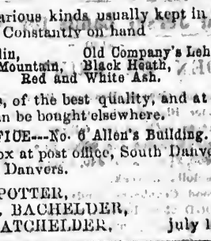
The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. FLETCHER her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE,
ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.
APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 22, 1863. tf

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.



HEAD-QUARTERS, Boston, Sept 10, 1863.
SPECIAL ORDER, No. 569.

The 59th Regiment of Infantry, Veteran Volunteers, will be recruited in the counties of Essex and Middlesex. Major GOULD, of the 13th Mass. Vols. has been designated Colonel, and Major JOHN HODGES, Jr., of the 50th Regt., M. V. M., Lieutenant Colonel. They will establish their Head-quarters and commence immediately the organization of the regiment.

Persons wishing to obtain Commissions in this regiment or to recruit for it, will make application to these Head-Quarters, or to the above-named officers.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,
WILLIAM SCHOULER,
Boston, Sept 16—3w Adjutant-General.

Settees for Sale
NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

THE ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL—
NOS. 1, 2 and 3, now ready.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
sept 16 3—w Salem Agents.

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

For They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs. Sore Throat, Hoarse, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing up in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped. They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity—Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; and cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect remedy while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured—they cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Indice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test

Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over ...s of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1853—1 y

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Impotency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the receipt and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing

JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Face, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Premature Decay, etc., etc., by one who has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island, enclosing an addressed envelope. Address

CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

— ALSO —

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
Feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, and as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the fearful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586.

Mothers—Take Heed!

MRS. OSBORNE'S CURE FOR PIN WORMS

GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st. South Danvers, June 17. 1863. 3m

PERHAM'S
SEVEN MILE MIRROR
INVALID SOLDIER BENEFIT
TICKET ENTERPRISE

FOR THE FOUNDING OF A
NATIONAL INSTITUTION
FOR THE RELIEF OF
Invalid and Disabled Soldiers.

JOSIAH PERHAM,
Agent for the Seven Mile Mirror,

Has the honor to announce a plan for the founding of a National Institution, to be a home for Invalid and Disabled Soldiers.

100,000 TICKETS,

Each admitting Four Persons to any Exhibition in the Popular Entertainment, or to any Exhibition of the

Great Mirror of the Rebellion,

Which will be soon unrolled to the public, will be sold at

ONE DOLLAR EACH.

One half the profits of the Entire Sale

TO BE EXCLUSIVELY DEVOTED AND DONATED

TO THIS PATRIOTIC OBJECT.

The holders of the 100,000 Tickets shall choose Trustees in Mass Meeting to be held in Boston,

On Wednesday, October 28th, 1863,

who shall receive the funds as aforesaid, on their giving sufficient bonds to faithfully apply the same to this object, in accordance with the plans of the originator.

To speedily accomplish this great purpose every wise means will be used by the projector to effect the immediate sale of the tickets, and he calls upon the loyal and humane to assist earnestly, in act and deed, in carrying this noble undertaking forward to a triumphant success.

Neither its importance nor its feasibility can be called in question; let the people but respond in a spirit worthy of the project, and no obstacles shall delay its consummation.

Making the proposition in good faith, and ready to devote his whole energies to the great work, the projector firmly believes the tide of popular favor will flow in the desired direction, and accomplish the founding, and ensure the erection of a permanent National Institution, which shall be an asylum for the retired Soldier, whose loss of health, or limb, is his diploma FOR HEROIC SERVICE performed in his country's cause; and which shall go down to future generations a blessing to mankind and an enduring monument to the liberality of the loyal people.

By combining this enterprise with the public place of amusement, of such well-known high character and merit, the subscriber to the fund, while giving his money for the promotion of a great charitable design, may receive a full equivalent for the outlay in witnessing this splendid series of Paintings.

As soon as the Tickets are sold, in addition to one-half the profits to be paid over as aforesaid, the following described property will be donated to the Ticket-holders and placed in the hands of the Trustees chosen as aforesaid, to be held in trust, and to be disposed of as the Ticket-holders shall direct in Mass Meeting, which may be by selling the property and appropriating the proceeds thereof for the benefit of Invalid Soldiers, or they may instruct the Trustees to dispose of the property among the Ticket-holders, or in any other way most agreeable to them, with this specific condition, that in disposing of the property there shall be no violation of the law:—

One genteel Residence in City of Roxbury, Mass., valued at	$10,000
Three Piano Fortes, valued at $500 each	1,500
Five Piano Fortes, valued at $300 each	1,500
Five Gold Watches, at $100 each	500
Fifty " " " $50 each	2,500
Two shares in the Boston & Worcester Railroad, valued at $130 each	260
Two shares in the Boston & Maine Railroad, valued at $130 each	260
Two shares in the Merchants' Bank, Boston, valued at $100 each	200
Six thousand Gold Union Medals at $3 each	18,00
Two Sewing Machines at $50 each	100
	$34,720

THE SEVEN MILE MIRROR.

Will be exhibited in various parts of the country to accommodate the Ticket-holders.

The Great Mirror of the Rebellion,

On which the best Artists in the country have been employed for the last three months, will be opened at the Melodeon, in Boston, on Monday, September 14th. This great work of Art illustrates with startling Dioramic accompaniments the most thrilling incidents and terrific Battles of the War, both Naval and Land.

TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH,

Tickets one dollar each, or to any one who will get up a Club of Ten and forward ten dollars will receive eleven tickets, each ticket admitting four persons. Tickets for sale at the Melodeon, 367 Washington street and at the Adams House, Boston. Mass.

All communications on this subject, and all orders for Tickets by mail or express, should be directed to

JOSIAH PERHAM, Agent,
Adams House, Boston.
Sept. 9. 4—w.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.

LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND COVERS.

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.

They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world in an infallible, simple, easy, and rapid progress of Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are with a tanit, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.

The sealing is on an entirely original plan. This principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried these articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar.

PRICE LIST.

Pints, per doz, $2 25; 3 pints, per doz, $3 50;
Quarts, " 3 00; Half gallon, " 4 00;
Liberal discount to the trade.
S C & E A SIMONDS'.
Salem Aug 5 32 Front Street.

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7—3m CLARK & GIDDINGS.

R. C. MANNING & CO,
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
188 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
R. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING,
oct17

Cards.

WILLIAM G. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM;
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
Jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

Advertisemets.

AERATED BREAD.

I have to-day will daily leave the above new article of bread with the principal grocers in this town, of whom it may be purchased at 5 cents a loaf. It is claimed that this bread—unrivalled in point of sweetness and wholesomeness—is more nutritious than that made in the usual way, that it will keep much longer, and is moister and more palatable, having the taste of new bread, even when it is several days old. F. H. KIRK.
So. Danvers, Aug 5, 1863.

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S.

OUR Old Home, a series of English Sketches, by Nathaniel Hawthorne;
Methods of Study in Natural History, by L. Agassiz;
A Reply to Judge Advocate General Holt's Review of General Court Martial in case of Maj Gen Fitz John Porter, etc, etc, by Reverdy Johnson;
Sumner's Speech on Foreign Relations;
Our Sunday School and How we Conduct it, by Waldo Abbott, Introduction by J S C Abbott;
The Prize Bible, or Covetousness, by Mrs Leslie;
Catherine, by N Adams, new edition;
Bertha, " "
Peterson's, Godey's, Continental, Leslie's and other October Magazines.
sept 23 Sign of the Five Golden Books.

A NEW THING.

PATENT Hard Rubber Handle for Table Cutlery. It is not affected by hot water. It always retains its polish when in use. It is warranted not to become loose in the handle.—
sept 23 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS.

A LITTLE lot, but slightly damaged, are selling at very low prices.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

COLOR STAMPING,

IN the most approved styles—at
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY,

FOR September.—It contains contributions from Col Higginson, Gail Hamilton, Louis Agassiz, Rose Terry, Charles Sumner, Theodore Tilton, Robert Dale Owen, Edward L. Pierce, Julia Ward Howe. Numbers promptly furnished by
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

MARK YOUR CLOTHING.

STENCIL Plates cut in the best way; Indellible Ink, Brushes, etc., at the lowest prices, at
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SPRING BEDS! SPRING BEDS!

ALL those that are inclined to rest their weary limbs on the most luxurious

SPRING BED

that was ever invented, are invited to call at

No. 52 Main St., South Danvers,

and there see the very best SPRING BED BOTTOM that has been offered to the public.

Not having been able at first to meet the demands, I now have the facilities to supply all orders.

Having bought the right to make and vend for the county of Essex, the subscriber would be happy to supply all those who may favor him with a call.

Rights for sale for any town or city in the county except Haverhill and Lawrence.

THOS. TRASK.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale on favorable terms,—or would exchange for a Farm,—his Estate on Wallis Street, near the Monumental Cemetary, consisting of THREE DWELLING HOUSES, which will be sold separately or as one Estate.

There are 75 feet of land in front, and 72 feet in the rear of the house.

The situation is pleasant, in a good neighborhood, and the houses are supplied with all the conveniences for immediate occupation. In ordinary times these tenements would rent for from 330 to 350 dollars.

The Subscriber, having made up his mind to dispose of the property, will sell it low, and it is well worth the attention of purchasers.

Apply to JOHN M'NEAL.
South Danvers, Dec. 10th, 1862. tf.

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer In—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—ly

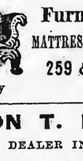
AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block]
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may



THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

MILITARY BOOKS

AT G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S, September 2d.
Army Officer's Pocket Companion;
Benet's Military Law and Courts Martial;
Benet's Campaign of Waterloo;
Jominie's Art of War; Monroe's Co. Drill;
Digest of US Tactics, from the French of Steffen
Elements of Military Art of History;
Rifles and Rifle Practice, Wilcox;
The Ordance Manual, a most valuable Book;
Mahan on Field Fortifications;
Instruction in Outpost Duty;
Casey's Infantry and Rifle Tactics;
Cameron's Infantry Tactics; Scott's do do.
sept 2 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, ATKINSON'S Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7 and 11 A M, and 1½ and and 5 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.
Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.
Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESSEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Barn for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his barn, in rear of his residence on Holten st. Said barn is well adapted for any one wishing to keep a cow or horse. The loft will hold 1½ ton of hay.
Terms easy. S. Q. WHITE.
So. Danvers, Sept. 2, '63. tf

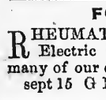
Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.
LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

ITS publication marks an era in the history of Maps It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc, made famous by the War, and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It is a County Map, and neatly colo'd. Price in sheets, 60 cts; mounted $1 25. Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
ang 19 Publisher's Agents.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.



We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.

Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

THE NEW GOSPEL OF PEACE

ACCORDING to Lt. Benjamin. A burlesque on the Politicians and the Times. It shows up "Phernand iwood of Gotham," The Tshirubree of the South, etc.—Price 25 cents. For sale by G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ALL THE NEW BOOKS

GO into our Subscription Circulating Library. Terms four dollars a year in advance, this is the cheapest way of reading the new publications.
Sept 7 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

FOR NEURALCIA,

RHEUMATISM and like troubles, Sturgis' Electric Compound is recommended by many of our own citizens. For sale at
sept 15 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8¼, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2¼ 5¼, 7¼ p. m.
Beverly, 8¼ am., 1, 3¼, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55, 7¾ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8¼ a m., 3¼, 5¾ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8¼ a m., 1, 5¾ p m.
Portsmouth, 8¼ a m., 3¾, 5¾ p m.
Portland, 8¼ a m., 3¾ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM

Portland, 8¾ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7¼, †11¼ a m., †5¼ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m, 6¼ p m.
Ipswich, 7.25, 8.25, 10.25 a m, 12.25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, ‡9.05, 11.05 a m., 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *3.35, *4 25, 5.35, *6.20, 5¾, *7 35, *. 0.05 p m.
Boston, 7¼, *8¼, 10¼ a m., 12¼, 2¼, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9¼.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11¼ p m. and on Saturdays at 10¼ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Marblehead for Salem, 6¾, 7¾, 8¾, 9¾ a m., 12¾, 1¾, 5¼, 6¾, 7¼ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7¼, 8¼, 9.25, 11¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6¾, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5¾ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.

Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11¼ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m.. 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7¾ a m., 12¾, 3¾, 6¼ p m.

J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:
Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9.40 a m. and 5 55 p m.

Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.

*Freight Train with passenger car attached.
F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5¼ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad, at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. P. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Barn for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his barn, in rear of his residence on Holten st. Said barn is well adapted for any one wishing to keep a cow or horse. The loft will hold 1½ ton of hay.
Terms easy. S. Q. WHITE.
So. Danvers, Sept. 2, '63. tf

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.
LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

ITS publication marks an era in the history of Maps It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc, made famous by the War, and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It is a County Map, and neatly colo'd. Price in sheets, 60 cts; mounted $1 25. Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
ang 19 Publisher's Agents.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to sell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the languor caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Ag

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1863. NO. 40.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD

Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square.

TERMS—Two Dollars a year.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,

ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Original Poetry.

FIFTY-THREE.

[The following beautiful lines by INCREASE S. HILL, Esq., of Boston, were read to some of his friends on the day of his attaining to the age of Fifty-Three, August 30, 1860. The pleasure we have felt in being furnished a copy for publication, can only be equalled by the esteem in which the author's large circle of friends hold him as a Christian gentleman whose life has been one of singular beauty and usefulness. To Mr. HILL'S friends in Essex county it may not be so generally known that, during many years, he has suffered from a disorder, suddenly prostrating him at times, and by which he has been liable, at any moment, to be taken away. It is to this that allusion is made in the second and third stanzas.—ED.]

The year rolls round, and still I'm here,
The tenant of an earthly sphere;
Is it a dream? or can it be
That I this day am fifty-three?

Go back a score or two of years,
Recall the varied hopes and fears,
Did health then seem a guaranty
Insuring life to fifty-three?

Did not the Doctor, Neighbor, Friend,
Late and early then contend,
Your chance of life could never be Lengthened out to fifty-three?

Yet I am here, ashamed to say
The light that shone upon my way
Was heeded not as it should be
By one who's reached to fifty-three.

Great God, our Father and our Friend,
Thou wilt a listening ear attend
While we direct our prayer to Thee,
And ask Thine aid in fifty-three.

The past is gone, we can't recall
Our faults and virtues, sins and all—
The future's hid alone with Thee,—
The present ours at fifty-three.

And this alone may I improve,
Its moments fill with use from love,
Nor then with vain regrets from me
Shall I look back to fifty-three.

Forward now, no fainting heart,
Onward, upward, do your part,
And then throughout eternity,
Bless God you lived to fifty-three.

Selected.

ESSEX COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

The annual exhibition of the Essex County Agricultural Society took place at Andover on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 29th and 30th ult. The weather was charming, the show good, and the attendance large. There were not, however, so many people as usual from this section of the County, owing to the inconvenience of reaching the far grounds from this vicinity.

The business meeting took place on Tuesday forenoon, in the vestry of the South Church, and the choice of officers resulted as follows:

President—Joseph Howe of Methuen.

Trustees—Benjamin P. Ware of Marblehead, Enoch S. Williams of Newburyport, Richmond Dale of Georgetown, John B. Jenkins of Andover, Robert Brookhouse, Jr., of Salem, Josiah Newhall of Lynnfield, Paul Titcomb of of Newbury, John M. Ives of Salem, Hazen Ayer of South Danvers, John Whittredge of Hamilton.

Hon. Allen W. Dodge of Hamilton declined a re-election as President.

From the report in the Boston Daily Advertiser we learn that the fair came up to the usual standard, that the show of cattle was in some respects very good, and there were some fine specimens of bulls. The pens for the cattle were erected on the grounds of S. P. Lock, and ample room was afforded for the exhibition. Jedediah H. Barker of No. Andover exhibited a pair of fat oxen weighing 3415 pounds; Daniel Carter two fat steers, 4 years old, weighing 3465 pounds; John T. Wood a pair of 5 years old, weighing 3365 pounds, and Charles P. Preston of Danvers a splendid pair of oxen weighing 4490 pounds. S. B. Locke had a pair of working oxen, and C. W. Hatch of Haverhill three good pairs of steers. T. Longfellow of Newbury had a good show of cattle, and Joseph Kittredge a good Durham heifer. Eben G. Berry of Danvers had a four years old heifer, grade Jersey and Ayreshire, and Hobart Clark of Andover a grade Durham yearling heifer. There were very few milch cows.

There were twenty or thirty horses exhibited, including some very fine animals. John Swinerton, George A. Walton of Danvers, and Amos F. Hobbs of Wenham, were among the contributors from this part of the county.

The show of sheep and swine was not large but afforded some excellent specimens. Charles Corliss of Haverhill had twenty Cotswold ewes. Franklin Putnam of North Andover nine Oxford Down sheep and lambs, S W. Andrews of West Boxford a good show of Southdown bucks, lambs and ewes, Samuel Moody, Jr., of West Newbury, a Spanish merino buck, D. H. Brickett of Haverhill a fine Cotswold buck and a very fat lamb 5 months old, and Israel Herrick a collection of sheep. In swine, the principle collections were those of William Foster of North Andover, Israel Herrick of Boxford, C. C. Stevens of Boxford, Byron Goodale of South Danvers, Matthew Poor of South Andover and C. P. Jaquith of North Andover.

Robert Buxton of South Danvers had the largest show of poultry, contributing a very large collection of Brahmah Pootra chickens and pullets, Muscovy ducks and China geese. John Swinerton of Danvers, A. Gaffney of Danversport and William Bonner of Andover, and others contributed to this part of the show.

The fruits, flowers, vegetables, dairy products and articles of domestic manufacture were exhibited in the Town Hall, where there was a very good display. The most noteworthy collections of apples were by E. Lake of Topsfield, who had 28 varieties, J. B. Baker of Methuen, 18, Benj. P. Ware, Marblehead, 14, Seth Sherman, Andover, 10, and Joseph S. Howe, Methuen, 9. Josiah Crosby of Elm Farm, North Andover, had a very large apple which he calls the "Detroit." The following had the largest and finest collections of pears: Moses Foster, Jr., of Andover, 20 varieties, Peter Wait, Danvers, 22, and William Chickering, Andover, and E. Lake, Topsfield, 13 each. William A. Gaffney of Danvers, sent four dishes of pears from the old "Governor Endicott" tree, which is supposed to be 238 years old, but from the looks of the fruit would appear to be still hale and hearty. Peter Temple of Andover, contributed a dish of pears from a tree 150 years old. M. Carter & sons of Georgetown, and Isaac Goldsmith of Andover, and others, contributed native wine, and Seth Sherman of Andover had 34 varieties of beans.

The show of grapes was large and good. G. W. Gage of Methuen, had 17 varieties, E. D. Rogers of Salem, 4 varieties of Rogers's hybrid grape, J. M. Ives of Salem, 3 varieties of cold house grape, and George L. Davis of North Andover, and John Smith of Andover, also good collections. There were good specimens of cultivated cranberries contributed by J. L. Colcord of South Danvers, and meadow cranberries by H. Jones and Orlando Abbott of Andover. Samuel Gray of Andover had a plate of fine Lombard plums. J. M. Ives had a plate of blood peaches.

The specimens of needlework contributed by the ladies of Andover and vicinity were very beautiful. Among other things was a very large rug of cloth made by Mrs. A. J. Church of Lawrence, a beautiful cone frame by Mrs. George H. Pearson of Saugus, and hair wreaths by Miss Roxana Bailey of Andover and Mrs. H. R. Abbott. A man-of-war's-man's shirt, made and embroidered by an old sailor on board the sloop-of-war Richmond, excited a good deal of attention. Mrs. Dr. Tracey contributed a very handsome pyramid of flowers. Edwin Flynn of Lawrence 100 varieties of dahlias and 150 of cut flowers, and George L. Davis of Andover many fine varieties. Several kinds of manufacture were well represented. The show of vegetables was, on the whole, not remarkable; Luke Cunningham of Andover had 16 varieties of potatoes, and among the other contributors were George L. Davis of North Andover, A. Curtis of South Danvers, G. S. Phippen of Methuen, and M. C. Andrews of Lawrence.

At 2 o'clock on Tuesday there was an interesting and well managed trial of draft oxen and horses. The Journal says a very amusing scene took place in this connection. Mr. Poore, of the State Alms House farm, came on the ground at the trial of oxen, with a two years old Jersey bull, harnessed to a rough cart on a single pair of wheels. To the axletree of this cart was fastened the tongue of a wagon loaded with 4,000 pounds of stone, and the word being given the Jerseyan Taurus put his shoulders to the yoke in solid earnest and dragged the immense weight up hill upwards of a hundred rods with great comparative ease—a feat that a sturdy pair of four years old oxen could do little easier. Considering the style of the tackling—the weight of the load being dead on the shoulder—the feat was an extraordinary one, and elicited much admiration and applause.

Governor Andrew and Surgeon General Dale were among the visitors on Tuesday and inspected all the departments of the Exhibition.

Wednesday the ploughing match took place, the address was delivered by Hon. Daniel Saunders, Jr., of Lawrence, and the premiums were awarded. As this was the principle day of the festival the attendance was largely increased.

THOU ART NEAR, O LORD!

Thou art near, O Father! on life's troubled sea;
How sweet and sustaining this thought is to me,
As an anchor, my sorely-tossed spirit it keeps,
When temptation's wild-blast like a hurricane sweeps.
For though perilous oft times my transit appears,
Thy presence sufficeth to banish my fears;
Not all the rough billows my bark can o'erwhelm,
While Omnipotent Wisdom and Love guide the helm.

Thou art near, O my Father! the friends that have smiled
On the days that are passed and their sorrow beguiled,
Are now far away from the homes which they blessed.
Some the Savior has called to the mansions of rest;
Some amidst the confusion of life and its cares,
Rarely think of the heart that once echoed to theirs,
And others regard me with glances that chill,
But unchanged and unchanging, thou lovest me still.

Thou art near, O my Father! how clear and how bright
Ought those actions to be which are full in thy sight;
Then help me with child-like affection each day,
To study thy will, and thy precepts obey.
O nerve me for conflict with self and with sin,
And teach me the way steady conquests to win;
And when wearied with failure, hope seems to decline,
O point to the crown which through grace shall be mine.

MY REVENGE.

We met in the beginning of the action, I and my enemy, Richard Withers—he a rebel, I a federalist; he on foot, I mounted. It matters not now why I hated him with the fiercest wrath of my nature. "The heart knoweth its own bitterness," and the details, while most painful to me, would be of trifling interest to you. Suffice it to say that our feud was not a political one. For ten years we were the closest intimates that the same studies, the same tastes and the same aims could make us. I was the older of the two and the stronger, physically; comparatively friendless, as the world takes it, and had no near relatives. Young, solitary and visionary as we were, it is hard to make you understand what we were to each other. Up to the period of our estrangement, working together, eating together, sleeping together, I can safely say that we had not a joy or grief, not a pleasure or vexation that we did not share with almost boyish singleheartedness. One day changed all. We arose in the morning dear friends—we lay down at night bitter enemies. I was a man of extremes—I either loved or hated with the whole strength of my heart.—The past was forgotten in the present. The ten years of kindness, of congeniality, of almost womanly tenderness, were erased as with a sponge. We looked each other in the face with angry and searching eyes—said but a few words (our rage was too deep to be demonstrative) and we parted. Then in my solitude I dashed my clenched hand upon the Bible and vowed passionately:

"I may wait ten years, Richard Withers! I may wait twenty, thirty, if you will, but sooner or later, I swear I will have my revenge!"

And this was the way we met.

I wonder if he thought of that day when he laid his hand on my bridle-rein, and looked up at me with his treacherous blue eyes. I scarcely think he did, or he could not have given me that look.—He was beautiful as a girl—indeed, the contrast of his fair, aristocratic face, with its regular outline, and red curving lips, to my own rough, dark exterior, might have been partly the secret of my former attraction to him. But the loveliness of an angel, had it been his, could not have saved him from me then. There was a pistol in his hand, but before he had time to discharge it, I cut at him with my sword—and as the line swept on like a gathering wave, I saw him stagger under the blow, throw up his arms and go down with the press. Bitterly as I hated him, the vision of his ghastly face haunted me the long day through.

You all remember how it was at Fredericksburg—how we crossed the river at the wrong point, and under that raking fire of the enemy were so disastrously repulsed.

It was a sad mistake, and fatal to many a brave heart. When night fell, I lay upon the field among the dead and wounded. I was comparatively helpless. A ball had shivered the cap of my right knee, and my shoulder was laid open by a sabre cut. The latter bled profusely, and by dint of knotting my handkerchief tightly around it, I managed to stanch it in a measure. For my knee I could do nothing. Consciousness did not desert me, and the pain was intense; but from the pains and groans around me I judged that others had fared worse than I had.

Poor fellows! many a mother's darling was suffering there—many of my comrades, lads of eighteen and twenty, who had never been a night from home until they joined the army; spoiled pets of fortune, manly enough at heart, but children in years and constitution, who had been used to have every ache and scratch compassionated with an almost extravagant sympathy—there they lay—crippled, gashed and bleeding, crushed and dying, huddled together—some where they had weakly crawled on their hands and knees—never a woman's touch to bind up their wounds, or a woman's voice to whisper gentle consolation.

It was pitch dark, and a cold miserable rain falling upon us. The very heavens seemed weeping over our miseries. Then through the darkness and drizzling rain, through the moans and prayers of the fallen men about me, I heard a familiar voice by my side:

"Water! water! I am dying with thirst—if it is but a mouthful—water! For God's sake, O give me water!"

I recoiled in dismay. It was the voice of Richard Withers. They were once very dear to me, those mellow tones! once the pleasantest music I wished to hear. Do you think they softened me now? You are mistaken. I am candid about it. My blood (what I had left) boiled in my veins when I heard him; when I knew that he lay so close to me, and I was powerless to withdraw from his detested neighborhood. There was water in my canteen—I had filled it before the last ball came. By stretching out my hand I could have given him to drink, but I did not raise my finger.—Vengeance was sweet, I smiled grimly to myself, and said down in my secret heart,

"Not a drop shall pass his lips, though he perish. I shall have my revenge."

Do not recoil with horror. Listen how merciful God was to me.

There was a merry little drummer on the other side, a manly boy of thirteen, the pet and plaything of the regiment.—There was something of the German in him. He had been with us from the first, and was considered one of the best drummers in the army. We would never march to the tap of Charley's drum again! He had got a ball in his lungs; and the exposure and fatigue, together with the wound, had made him light-headed. Poor little child! He crept close to me in the darkness, and laid his cheek on my breast. May be he thought it was his own pillow at home, may be he thought it was his own mother's bosom. God alone knows what he thought, but with his hot arms about my neck, and his curly head close to my wicked heart, even then swelling with bitter hatred of my enemy, he began in his delirium to murmur—

"Our Father who art in heaven."

I was a rough-bearded man. I had been an orphan for many a long year; but not too many nor too long to forget the simple prayer of my childhood—the dim vision of that mother's face, over which the grass had grown for twenty changing summers. Something tender stirred within my hardened heart. It was too dark for me to see the face; but the young lips went on brokenly,

"And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us."

It went through me like a knife—sharper than a sabre cut, keener than the ball. God was merciful to me, and this young child was the channel of his mercy.

"Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us."

I had never understood those words before. If an angel had uttered them, it could scarcely have been more of a revelation. For the first time, the thought that I might be mortally wounded, that death might be nearer than I dreamed, struck me with awe and horror.—The text of a long forgotten sermon was in my ears.

"It is appointed unto men once to die; and after that the judgment."

Worse and worse. What measure of mercy could I expect, if the same was to be meted that I had meted to my enemy.

The tears swelled in my eyes and trickled down my cheeks; the first I had shed since my boyhood. I felt subdued, and strangely moved.

The rain was falling still; but the little head on my breast was gone. He had crept away silently into the darkness. His unconscious mission was performed; he did not return at my call.—Then I lifted myself with great effort. The old bitterness was crushed, but not altogether gone.

"Water — water," moaned Richard Withers, in his agony.

I dragged myself close to him.

"God be praised!" I said with a solemn heart. "Dick, old boy, enemy no longer. God be praised! I am willing and able to help you.—Drink and be friends."

It had been growing lighter in the east, and now it was day—day within and day without. In the first gray glimmer of dawn, we looked into each other's ghastly faces for a moment, the canteen was at Richard's mouth and he drank as the fevered only can drink. I watched him with moist eyes, leaning upon my elbow—forgetting my bandaged shoulder.

He grasped me with both hands.—Bloodstained and pallid as it was, his face was beautiful as a child's.

"Now let me speak," he said, panting. "You have misjudged me, Mr. Rufus.—It was all a mistake. I meant to have spoken this morning, when I grasped your—"

"Forgive me, Dick," I murmured. I felt something warm trickle down my shoulder. I fainted and fell; then all was thick darkness.

* * * * *

I opened my eyes. Where was I?—How odd every thing was. Rows of beds stretched down a long, narrow hall, bright with sunshine; and women, wearing white caps and peculiar dresses, flitted to and fro with a noiseless activity, which in my fearful sickness it tired me to watch. My hand lay outside the covers; it was shadowy as a skeleton's.—What had become of my flesh? Was I a child or a man? A body or a spirit? So slight and frail did I feel, I began to think I was done with all material things altogether, had been subjected to some renewing process, and was now awakened to a new existence. But did they have beds in the other world? I was looking lazily at the opposite one when some one took my hand. A face was bending over me. I looked up into it with a beating heart. The golden sunshine was on it—on the fair, regular features, the red lips and the kindly blue eyes.

"Dick," I gasped, "where have you been all these years?"

"Weeks, you mean," said Richard, with the old smile. "But never mind now. You are better now, dear Rufus; you will live—we shall be happy together again."

"Where am I?" I asked, still hazy.—"What is the matter with me?"

"Hospital, in the first place," said Richard. "Typhus, in the second. You were taken after that night at Fredericksburg."

It broke upon me at once. I remembered that awful night. I could never, never forget it again. Weak as a child I covered my face with my hands and burst into tears. Richard was on his knees by my side at once.

"I was a brute to recall it," he said, remorsefully; "do not think of it, old boy; you must not excite yourself. It is all forgotten and forgiven."

"Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us."

"Those words have been in your mouth night and day since you were taken," said my friend.

I lay silently cogitating.

"Tell me one thing, Dick," I asked, "are we in the North or South?"

"North—Philadelphia."

"Then you are a prisoner," I said, mournfully, recalling his principles.

"Not a bit of it."

"What do you mean?"

Richard laughed.

"I have seen the error of my ways. I have taken the oath of allegiance. When we are strong enough again, we shall fight side by side."

"And the wound in your head?" I asked with emotion, looking up at his bright, handsome face.

"Don't mention it. It healed up long ago."

"And the little drummer?"

Richard bowed his head upon my hand.

"He was found dead upon the field."

"Heaven bless him!"

"They say he died praying, with his mother's name upon his lips."

"Revere him as an angel," I whispered, grasping him by the hand. "But for his dying prayer, we had yet been enemies. Oh, Richard, God's grace is with the simple and pure of heart."

TO THE COPPERHEADS.

Humble your bodies in sackcloth and ashes,
Hide your poor heads from the light of the sun;
Smite your base breasts with conscience's lashes,
Blush, if you can, for the deeds you have done;
Weep for the aid you have given to traitors,
Do let repentance illumine your souls—
Souls? if you had them, your crimes would be greater,
Snakes of humanity, crawl to your holes.
Brazen-faced copperheads, white-livered copperheads,
False-hearted copperheads, crawl to your holes.

You that incited rebellion and treason,
You that have aided it all that you can,
You that have fought against conscience and reason,
And all of the rights that are sacred to man:
Hark! through the land, from each tower and steeple,
The knell of rebellion most solemnly tolls;
Flee from the scorn of intelligent people;
Noisome serpents, bah! crawl to your holes.
Crimson-faced copperheads, ruin-sucking copperheads,
Traitorous copperheads, crawl to your holes!

Now, when the moon of rebellion is setting,
Why do you struggle and fight against fate?
Can you not cease your complaining and fretting?
Try to be men ere you find it too late.
The tide running Northward in haste is retiring,
The wave urged by freemen triumphantly rolls;
The time has gone by for your plots and conspiring—
Reptiles and renegades, crawl to your holes!
Venomous copperheads, low-sneaking copperheads,
Vile-hissing copperheads, crawl to your holes!

You that have aided this carnage and plunder,
You that have urged a resistance to draft,
Open your eyes with abhorrence and wonder,
Can you not see that you all have been "daft?"
Mobbing and riot will bring retribution,
Errors can all be made right at the polls;
Stand by the Laws and the old Constitution!
Cowardly copperheads, crawl to your holes!

PARMENUS SMART WEED.

Syracuse, July 20, 1863.

A GOOD STORY.

The following amusing sketch of the manner in which an irrascible President of the old Cambridge College was once mollified by a mug of flip, is from the pen of "Jack Robinson."

Appropos of Porter whose name I have just taken in vain: I heard a good college story the other, which I may as well set down here. Porter is an institution in Cambridge. He is a person of varied accomplishments, and keeps "a house of call." None like him to beshop, or mingle a shandy goff. But his chef dœuvre is flip. It is reported among the students that Ganymede being immortal—he left Jupiter's service, married Hebe, set up an inn with his savings, and died at a good old age—it is reported that Ganymede left Porter the recipe for making both nectar and ambrossia, which recipe he surreptiously copied from Juno's receipt book, and Porter, improving on the idea, conceived the happy thought of mingling both divine materials, and producing an ineffable beverage—something which should combine the elements of supernal drink—a harmony of solid and fluid, to which each element should contribute its celestial favors. He carried out the idea. He mingled the ambrossia and nectar, and all Olympus turned pale with envy, for the result was flip.

With such a classic origin it was not to be wondered that undergraduates, who are notorious for their love of mythological matters, should find themselves attracted to Porter's and there refresh the reminiscences of Olympus with draughts of the divine beverage. In fact, such was their devotion to this branch of classic study, and so inspired did they frequently—inspired even to the Pythonic pitch of being unintelligible in their speech, that the matter attracted the attention of the President of the college, a venerable gentleman, of the period whose name I have forgotten. Heartless and ignorant persons entirely misconceiving the spirit in which the undergraduates visited Porter's, reported the worthy person that the students were in the habit of getting drunk every night on flip. It must be seen to.

The President puts on his most authoritative wig and sternest countenance and sallies out to blow up the class Porter, for leading his students astray. First of all, in order to speak more decisively, that he will taste this noxious beverage with his own lips. Then there can be no mistake. With much dignity he enters Porter's. He interrogates Porter:

"Sir, many of the undergraduates come here, I understand?"

"A few," modestly replies Mr. Porter.

"They come here frequently, Mr. Porter?"

"They drop in now and then, sir."

"And they drink a beverage called flip, sir?"

"Sometimes, sir."

"They drink a deal of it Mr. Porter?"

"Well sir, they do take considerable."

"They get drunk on it Mr. Porter?"

The discreet Porter remained silent.

"Make me a-a-flip," at length says the venerable President, still frowning and indignant.

Porter, whose sang froid has never for a moment forsaken him, deploys all the resources of his art.

Presently a superhuman flip, with an aromatic foam cream over the edge of the goblet, is the result of the effort. He hands it respectfully, and with some anxiety, to the President, on whose judicial brow thunder clouds had been gathering. The President tastes it gloomily. He pauses. Another sip. The thunder clouds have not yet flashed forth any lightnings. The President gazes wonderingly at his glass. A general emollient seems to glide over his face and smooths the frowning brow. His lip relax, and a smile seems about to dawn. He lifts the glass once more to his lips, heaves a sigh and puts it down. The glass is empty!

"Mr. Porter," he says, "the students get drunk on this, sir?"

Porter sees that the storm is past, and boldly answers in the affirmative.

"Sir," says the venerable man, walking gravely away, "sir, I don't wonder at it."

☞ The Shakers at Lebanon Springs, N. Y., among their rules relative to visitors, have the following: "Married persons tarrying with us over night are respectfully notified that each sex will occupy separate sleeping apartments while they remain. This rule will not be departed from under any circumstances." A friend says he was reading this to a married lady when she innocently remarked: "How foolish that is, ain't it?"

☞ The census of Ireland for 186[illegible] which has just been issued, gives the total number of inhabitants as being 5,768,967, in addition to 26,080 officers and soldiers, 1,178 men belonging to the navy, 2,282 in connection with the merchant service. Out of these figures 2,105,958 can read and write, 1,022,78[illegible] read only, and 2,667,090 are incapable of doing either.

AMERICA.—An Irishman, in describing America, said:—"I am told that you might roll England thru it, an' it wouldn make a dint in the ground; there's fresh water oceans inside that ye might drown ould Ireland in; an' as for Scotland, you might stick it in a corner, an' ye'd never be able to find it out, except it might be by the smell o' whiskey."

☞ "But if I place my money in the savings-bank," inquired one of the newly arrived, "when can I draw it out again?" "Oh," responded his Hibernian friend, "sure an' if you put it in to-day, you can get it out again to-morrow, by giving a fortnight's notice."

☞ The thunder of the bombardment of Charleston, it is said, was distinctly heard at Beaufort, 60 miles distant.

The Wizard.

EDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1863.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

A County Convention of the people of Essex who support without an "if" an "and" the Government in its pres- heroic struggle to maintain the su- macy of Constitutional Liberty, is to et at Lyceum Hall in Salem the 15th t., to nominate a County Commission- in place of JAMES KIMBALL, of Salem, Register of Probate and Insolvency in ce of ABNER C. GOODELL, also of lem, and a Councillor in place of GERRY COCHRANE, of Methuen. It is to be sumed there will be little or no oppo- ion to the renomination of Mr. KIM- LL, who appears to have fulfilled the ties of his office, during the three years, ry acceptably; and less can it be sup- sed there will be a dissenting voice to e renomination, if indeed to the elec- n, of the present accomplished Regis- r. With singularly fine qualifications the office as regards accuracy, neat- ss, system and dispatch, Mr. GOODELL ites the qualities of a gentleman— hat in such an office is hardly less need- than the requisite clerical attainments. r. G. has so admirably discharged the ties of the place in the last five years at we are unaware, if he has excited y remark but of commendation.

Concerning the Councillor the "two ars rule" has come to be so well estab- hed that Mr. COCHRANE, who has had e advantage or disadvantage of it, will unlikely to present or have himself esented for a third year. For the place is about to vacate it would be a marvel there were not various candidates ready be permitted to counsel His Excellen- . We would rather see this than not, it at least so far elevates the office as relieve it from the discredit of beggary. s it become in part a custom to choose e Councillor alternately from the north- n and southern sections of the County, ssex South will be likely to be heard rst in the Convention this year. As, owever, the nomination is a matter sole- the business of the Convention, we ave it where it belongs, not questioning hat this year, as heretofore, the people f Essex, through their representatives, ill do what is right and for the best.

A SHERIFF'S JURY CASE.—During he past week Lynn has had the some- hat unusual occurrence of the gather- g of a sheriff's jury to determine a uestion of damages in the case of a reat public improvement—the cutting ff of Hill's Corner, near the Central ailroad Depot, by order of the City ouncil. The owners of the property, eing dissatisfied with the reward ($3400) f the City Council for the injury done o their property, applied to the County ommissioners for a jury to hear the vidence in the case and grant them that ustice which they deemed had been denied them by the city authorities; ac- ordingly Sheriff Cary, by order of the ounty Commissioners summoned a jury, our of whom are gentlemen from this own, viz.: Albert A. Messer, Alexander . Merrill, Geo. W. Bancroft and Moses . Shackley—Mr. Alexander B. Merrill eing foreman. The plaintiffs secured . C. Stickney of Lynn and E. H. Derby f Boston, while the interests of the city ere looked after by James R. Newhall f Lynn and George O. Shattuck of Bos- on. The case was decided by awarding he owners of the property $600 more han the city allowed them.

HORSE TAKING.—Horse-stealing has lately assumed the milder of horse-tak- ing; or horse-theft, it would seem, is softening into horse-left. The horse and carriage of Mr. John A. Learoyd, last Wednesday, while standing in St. Peter's street, Salem, was taken by a soldier, with straps on his arms, and driven to Haverhill, and left standing in a street there nearly a whole day. A morning or two previous, at Danvers Centre, a horse, with carriage, was left tied in the street, which proved to have been taken by a soldier at Newburyport; and Thurs- day last W. H. Bryant, of Wenham, had his horse and carriage taken, and left, as yet he knows not where.

LYNNFIELD CENTRE.—Dr. FITZ, of Ipswich, was moderator, and Rev. H. A. STEVENS, of Melrose, was scribe of a Council which met in this town on Thursday, Oct. 1st, for the ordination of Mr. M. B. BOARDMAN as Pastor of the Congregational Church. The sermon was preached by Rev, W. M. BARBER, of South Danvers. The day was fine, the audience large, the settlement har- monious and full of promise.

☞ Max Goepp, of New York, in a "democratic" speech lately made in Philadelphia, and published in the Age, thus defines a "democrat:"

"If I choose to drink water whilst my neigh- bor prefers whiskey, I am no Democrat, if I go to Harrisburg, and procure the passage of a law, forbidding him to drink whiskey, and compelling him to drink water."

APPLES. The price in New York, and that influences the price for fall apples in New Eng- land, is from $1,50 to $2,50 per barrel.

"DEMOCRACY" AND ITS NOTA- BLES.

There is something peculiarly painful and unpleasant in the way "democracy" treats its noted men—throwing over- board, and to the extent of its power, sinking into oblivion the men, who have faithfully served the "democratic" cause by giving to it whatever they possessed of prestige, worth or expectation. Not to rake up the more unseemly past by recurring, among other notable instances, to Pierce who, with youth and a future easily bright before him, obediently took on his back the weight of Kansas, and then was sunk to rise no more—the mule-packers not even allowing the ani- mal to bray in convention by compli- mentary vote—or to Douglass who, more serviceable still in the Kansas scheme, was yet trodden in the dust in the hour when his "democratic" reward should have come!—not these by-gones to re- late, it is sufficient and better to remark on things present. It is the boast of "democracy," that it remains as it was—unchanged and unchanging. With re- spect to the ruling passion, strong in death, this is true. "Democracy" evi- dently means to die, heroic to the last, in inflicting death upon its more dis- tinguished votaries.

It certainly must be anything but pleasant even to the spirit of partisan violence to contemplate the case of McClellan. To all who remember well—and few can fail to remember—how that soldier stood in the hearts and hopes of the people during the few first months of his Commander-in-Chiefship, there is something inexpressibly sad and heart- piercing to behold him in his present plight.

Since Washington, it would seem, God has not vouchsafed to man so splen- did an opportunity to enshrine his name in the hearts of his countrymen and fix for himself a glorious immortality in his- tory, as fell to the lot of McClellan early in this transcendant struggle of Libery against Oppression. He was placed at the head of the grandest army of the world, and he had the grandest public sympathy and support ever accorded to a man. With people loyal, or supposed to be loyal, there was not a whisper against him. Everybody was pre-occu- pied with the idea that he was to be the nation's deliverer, and everybody prayed he might be.

"Sedate and silent moved the numerous bands,
No voice, no whisper but the Chief's commands:
Those only heard;—with awe the rest obey,
As if some god had snatched their voice away."

Under these circumstances "democracy" saw gleaming in the distance what only it has ever been able to see, namely—the PRESIDENCY and George B. McClel- lan as the "democratic" President! They seized him as a "democrat," which he could not deny he had been. They insisted on his doing, not his country's behests, but "democracy's," and not his country's behests, but "democracy's" he did. Meanwhile "democracy" in con- vention, in mass-meeting, in wordy news- papers was shouting George B. McClel- lan! George B. McClellan! GEORGE B. MCCLELLAN! They McClellaned him all over America, all over Europe and to the skies. They tore their garments, split their throats, and broke window panes stentorianizing George B. McClel- lan. The unsuspecting man and clever—for such we believe him—stunned by this din of "democracy," louder than the din of Donnelson and No. 10, or the thunders at Beaufort, verily believed he was doing God service and the country by spading it, and keeping forever out of reach of victory for the Union. How he did the Government believe, and the Government dropped him, and the peo- ple said, Amen! This was grand for "democracy," and grand too for McClel- lan, if "democracy" was to be believed, for "democracy" now shouted louder and longer than ever. Many thought the world was coming to an end. Swords, serenades, peregrinations, who will ever forget them? Speeches too—O how many! Prosy ones, but prosy or not, all a prosy speaker had to do (and they all did it) when everybody was tired to death, was to scream George B. McClel- lan, and down came the house, as the World's and Post's reporting sticks said, with "unbounded and never-to-be-for- gotten applause."

Alas! all this was but a "democracy" prelude to another of the inevitable de- mocracyisms. George B. McClellan was to be laid out and the cents put on. And it was done, and

"——now lies he there,
And none so poor to do him reverence."

Not in his funeral may Antony come to speak. Crushed should Antony be by ten thousand "democratic" hands (if there are so many) should he, among such Romans, attempt to name the name of Cæs—McClellan.

Who next? "That noble hearted pa- triot, Horatio Seymour, of New York!" (Thunders of applause) Hear it at Worcester, hear it at Albany, hear it at Cincinnati, hear it the Lord knows where. But hear it not the Lord knows where you will pretty soon. You will not hear it anywhere. Already that man smells death, and sees not undimly in the dis- tance the appointed copperheads ap- proaching with the coppers. For be it known, gentlemen of the jury, your "democrats" don't "George B." nor "noble heart" anybody longer than their body keeps up a respectable semblance of the Democracy that is true. With the people it won't do, and well they know it who have public leave to speak the "democracy" false as hell. Poor McClellan couldn't speak at all or did not. They were therefore afraid of his silence. Poor Seymour, soon to be, has spoken too much. They have trembled at his much speaking, and he is soon to be with those who are no more forever—an inglorious host—may God have mercy on their souls—rather on their want of souls!

THE FRUITS OF THE EARTH.

There is no season during the year which speaks so distinctly of the pro- tecting providence of God as the autumn- al season. The productions of the earth at that season hang in abundant golden clusters on every hand. The Great God seems then to say to the children of men through the fruits of the earth—behold my bounteous provisions for your com- fort and your support, and obey the great law of your nature, which is My Law, and shun temptation, and practice virtue, that you may fully enjoy my bounties.

We have frequently reflected as we have looked upon nature, even in her un- cultivated and wild condition, how weak and insignificant is man—how frail and imperfect are all his works when com- pared to the Infinite results of the In- finite mind of the Great Eternal!

The golden fruits of autumn, in some of the varieties of the field, are less abundant this year than in some former years; but we have some excellent ex- amples of progress in the improvement and arrangement of fruit orchards in our midst which do credit to the possessors, and are a real blessing to the community.

One of these orchards is situated on the old Boston Road, a little westerly from the head of Foster street, and is owned by Mr. STEPHEN BLANEY. The excellent arrangement and choice selec- tion of fruit trees in this establishment is worthy of the observation of all those who are particularly interested in such matters. A man will want to be a pret- ty good French Linguist to pronounce the names of the different varieties of Pears which are growing in Mr. B.'s garden. There are thirty varieties in bearing condition this fall, and a large number that have not yet arrived at that stage.

There are other establishments of this kind in town which are in excellent con- dition. One is that of Mr. ANDREW PORTER on Elm street. These all do credit to their owners for exquisite taste and great care in arrangement and choice of varieties.

☞ The Essex County Anti-Slavery Society held a convention at the Town Hall, in Danvers, Sunday last. James M. Buffum of Lynn was chosen Presi- dent for the ensuing year, no other change being made in the board of of- ficers. The convention held three ses- sions, forenoon, afternoon and evening. The attendance was respectably large, the audience representing various parts of the county. Of the speakers from abroad the principal were Parker Pils- bury, E. H. Hayward, J. M. Buffum, Chas. L. Remond, and the immortal DANIEL PRATT of Boston, and Joseph Merrill and John Cutler of Danvers.

Mr. Pilsbury presented the resolutions and supported them in a characteristic speech, claiming that the brutalities and barbarities of which we complain, as committed by rebels, are wholly due to the teachings of Southern school-masters, school-mistresses, ministers and mission- aries, educated at Northern colleges, and theological seminaries; and saying among other things equally false, that since men began to bathe the earth with blood, no people, their resources considered, had conducted a war with such success as the South, and no people, their re- sources also had in view, had met with such disasters and managed so deplorably as the North. Mr. P., as usual, could see nothing good in Nazareth and proba- bly never will. A resolution introduced by Mr. Cutler of Danvers, complimentary to Gov. Andrew, and urging his election as a duty, was vehemently opposed by Mr. Remond, who said his conscience had suffered a good deal on account of the enlistment of colored men, whose en- listment he had to some extent aided. The resolution, however, met with favor. Mr. Hayward, who spoke in the fore- noon and evening, is an able and hand- some speaker. He is a young man and eloquent, and could, we think, apply his powers to a better purpose than ranting in such meetings as was the above.

☞ All the papers, including the WIZARD, have reported that "Eben G. Berry of Danvers had a four years old heifer, grade Jersey and Ayershire." A neighbor remarks that when a pig ceases to be a pig and becomes a hog, it is not altogether adjudicated, but that a heifer is no longer a heifer when at the age of three years, is too well settled to allow any "four years old" to rank in the heifer fold. Mr. Berry "had" four one year old heifers of the above grade. That is the difference.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 2d, 1863.

The State Campaign—Union Ratification Meet- ing—The Russian Fleet—Gov. Seymour and the Metropolitan Police—The Riot wholly subsided—Trial of the rioters—Prosperity of the City.

DEAR WIZARD,—The political campaign has fairly opened. The leading issues here as in the other States embrace questions higher than those of mere State polity; they comprehend the vital points of the mighty National struggle. The election is less important than it would be were a Governor to be chosen. We only elect the subordinate officers this fall, as Secretary of State, Attorney General, Canal Commissioner, Judges of the highest court, &c. Nevertheless, there is a record to be made up—the disgrace of the bloody days of July is to be repudiated by the State and affixed where it rightfully belongs, and the voice of the State to be heard in support of the National Govern- ment against its enemies.

On Wednesday night occurred the meeting of the Union party to ratify the nominations. It was an immense gathering even, for New York. Vice President Hamlin made a telling speech. Gen. John Cochrane, the candidate for Attorney General, made another. Senator Morgan presided. Admiral Farragut was pres- ent and was the hero of the hour. Nothing was wanting to the dignity or enthusiasm of the occasion.

Although the city is thus intensely interested in the practical politics of the day it found time yesterday for a grand international demonstra- tion. Eight Russian war vessels having drop- ped anchor in the North river, it was determin- ed by the town officials to give their officers a public reception. Yesterday was the day fixed for the ceremony and Wall Street fairly shook with the thunder of the salutes of the vessels and forts. There was a military escort of more than 6000 troops, numerous bands of music, a great concourse of citizens and strangers, re- views, shoutings, a splendid September sun, and a banquet. There are also lying at anchor in the harbor one French and three or four English war vessels.

Various reasons are given for the presence of the Russian men-of-war, which as matter of gossip you are welcome to. One is, that in view of possible collision with France the Au- tocrat of the Russias desires to have his floating batteries at sea so that they may not be block- aded in his own ports and thus rendered use- less. Another is that he desires to exhibit a fraternal alliance between Russia and our own Government, in view of European and Ameri- can Complications. The Russian officers and sailors are treated with the utmost cordiality by the citizens. The Admiral in command of the fleet has seen much active service, having entered the army in 1805. He is now not far from 55 years of age. The English squadron carries 129 guns and lies near the Russian ves- sels. The actual significance of these naval movements your correspondent does not pre- tend to announce.

Ever since Governor Seymour took his official seat he has been threatening the removal of the Commissioners of Police on account of their too vigorous support of the Government with the police force. His Democratic friends have been urging the removal with unceasing pertinacity and charging him with want of pluck because he didn't act in the premises. Just now, on account of the approaching election, the matter has taken new life and it is rumored that the axe will surely fall and the Police force come under the control of men who hold their party affiliations above their allegiance to their Gov- ernment.

All apprehension of further trouble on ac- count of the conscription act or copperhead malignity has passed away. The Federal troops have all disappeared; the State militia, are no longer on active duty; the burnt districts are being rebuilt; the negroes have recovered their confidence. Only the Courts of Justice are vengeful. In October term come on the trials of the capital cases when the dreadful procession of events will counter-march to decide the fate of the deluded victims of the worse but more cunning men who, from behind the curtain, instigated the crime.

The City is full of vigorous life. The Streets are crowded—the hotels filled. Fashion and business jostle each other an the sidewalks.—Vice President Hamlin said the other night that there is too much prosperity; that the war is prolonged by it.

Yours, &c.,
GREGORY.

☞ From the following, lately re- ceived from an officer of the Regiment, it will be seen that the "Seventeenth Massachusetts" takes high rank in the Department of North Carolina:

"Our Regiment at this time would seem to be the best one of the Department. We have had some half dozen complimentary orders from the General (Palmer) on our manner of doing guard duty within two weeks; and as a reward we are to go into town to do Provost duty the first of October. Here is a copy of one of the orders above referred to:—

'Colonel,—The General commanding directs me to send you the following extract from the report of the General Officer of the day for the Camps and Post on the south side of the Trent river for August 29, 1863:

EXTRACT. 'The 17th Massachusetts Regi- ment are deserving of especial credit for the promptness with which their guard turned out. In almost an instant after the challenge, they were in line, and in complete order and readi- ness. And in my opinion they perform guard duty in a better manner than any other body of troops that I have seen in the Department.

'Your ob't serv't,
GEORGE H. TEW, Lieut. Col.,
5th R. I. Artillery.

'To Lieut. Col. J. F. Fellows, Com'g. 17th Mass. Vols. J. A. Judson, A. A. G.'"

☞ The Danvers Farmers' Club meets this evening, at the Town Hall, for the choice of officers and the transaction of other necessary business.

☞ The Promenade Concert on our Square was postponed from Monday even- ing to this (Wednesday) evening, on ac- count of the damp weather.

☞ At the annual meeting of the stock- holders of the Danvers Bank, the following gentlemen were elected Directors—Eben Sut- ton, Warren M. Jacobs, E. F. Osborn, Joseph Osgood, Johna. King, A. A. Abbott, J. B. El- liot. At a meeting of the Board of Directors, E. Sutton, Esq., was re-elected President.

LETTER FROM BOSTON.

PROPELLER ADVERTISING AGENCY,
No. 15 Washington St.,
Boston, Oct. 3d, 1863.

THE MISTY SUBLIME.

If Byron could not comprehend his own meaning when he attempted to be "very fine," who shall understand the mystic utterances of some of the ladies and gentlemen who wreak themselves in rhyme through our magazines and newspapers? We don't want to hurt any- body's feelings, but if a score or two of our Sapphos would betake themselves to shirt-mak- ing or clear-starching, or some other branch of mechanical industry suitable to their much-ad- mired sex, it would be a sensible relief to the public mind. Likewise there are many am- bitious effusionists of the other gender who would be more usefully employed, and, we think, happier in their minds, if condemned "to make the paper that they soil." O, ye transcendental bardlings! whose metre no sane man ever wishes to meet again, when will ye learn that it is not necessary to get on stilts to "build the lofty rhyme?" Why wail ye through the press? What has the English language done to you, that you should let loose into it your monstrous compound adjectives, verbs, participles, and adverbs, that make worse havoc with its beauty than did Samson's in- cendiary foxes among the standing corn of Philistia? Thinking yourselves eagles, ye are but bats that put out the light with your leath- ern wings!

The vice of turgid writing is a growing evil among us. Sledge-hammer sentences that drive an idea home into the sensorium and clinch it there are out of fashion. Gingerbread English takes the place of wholesome Anglo- Saxon. Sometimes our mother-tongue rants, sometimes lisps. Oh, for a touch of Billy Cob- bett's sinewy phraseology in our political dis- quisitions, of Jeremy Taylor's plain talk in our sermons, and of Pope's and Dryden's grand simplicity and luminous common-sense in our poesy!

BELFAST, ME.

I have sojourned in all the principal cities and towns in Maine, and stop here to pass the Sabbath with a dear cousin, who has warmly welcomed your propelling correspondent. In my last I honored Portland with my steel pen, and forgot to pay tribute to the fine steamer Daniel Webster. This steamer has proved a great success on the route from Portland to Bangor. The trip at this season is delightful to take. The Webster leaves Portland three times a week for Bangor, stopping at Rockland, Camden, Belfast, Bucksport, Frankfort, and other pleasant towns on the Penobscot Bay and River. I find some very pleasant people in Belfast—one of whom is Mr. Holmes, of the Phenix House, to whom I am indebted for many courtesies, which were, of course, appre- ciated the more, as he had not the most remote idea that he was ever going to be noticed in print. Nothing here to put down in my diary of wonderful or even interesting events, except my friend, Mr. W. H. Mower, the gentlemanly clerk of the Webster, called upon me, rather unexpectedly, yesterday, to make a speech.

I had the pleasure, this morning, of visiting a camp of Penobscot Indians, and purchasing a few baskets.

Leaving Portland at 6 A. M., the first object of interest is the new fortifications now in an advanced state of progress. We are promised the 100 pound Parrotts shall speak before Christmas. The scene from the Webster's deck was romantic. The lofty islands at the entrance to Portland harbor are soon lost in the distance. Sequin soon reared its bald and ragged head from the deep blue ocean, and in the distance more than one hundred of mackerel catchers were distinctly visible, appearing so close to- gether that they resembled nothing so much as an encampment. Their white sails, glistening in the sun, presented a charming appearance.—We hope and doubt not the noble fishermen are reaping a golden harvest.

At 12 M. we stop at Rockland, to land and take on board passengers. It is a busy place, containing a population of 7000 inhabitants.—The chief business carried on here is the man- ufacture of lime. The immense lime sheds at the water's edge are a great curiosity. Vast furnaces are burning the rock night and day.—The quarries are about three miles from the city, and the lime stone resembles our granite. Rockland, we should judge, is increasing in wealth by the manufacture of lime.

Leaving Rockland, soon the mountains of Camden appear, the tips thereof among the clouds. We did not see the clouds strike the "tops"—not far from it. Along the sides of the mountain nestles the town of Camden, a thrifty place. East, is a broad bay, dotted with isles, charming the eye of the beholder.

We ventured out on the promenade deck, with a party of ladies from Portland, to whom it was an agreeable task to entertain. The wa- ters were full of mackerel, real horse mackerel. Some actually thought they saw the sea ser- pent. The scene was very exciting.

To-morrow we leave Belfast for Bangor, to see our friend, Capt. Wm. Flowers, the popular Eastern Agent of the Grand Trunk Railroad. Perhaps we may drop you a line from the Ban- gor House.

TRIP TO SOUTH DANVERS.

Thursday last found us on board the Port- land morning train, bound to your sanctum, via Beverly. The train was under charge of the veteran Conducton Towle. The iron horse soon propelled us to Beverly, and here we were welcomed by brother Cressy, of the Beverly Citizen. An hour soon passed away in social chat on business matters. Our friend accom- panied us to the cars. Conductor Philbrook gave the signal, and we bid adieu to our Bev- erly friends.

Nothing worthy of note occurred on our journey towards Danvers, except stopping five minutes at Buffum's Corner; this gave the pas- sengers in the horse cars time to visit the cor- ner grocery. Of course your correspondent was warmly welcomed by his old friend Si- monds, of the Simond's Hotel, and also by the Publisher of the Wizard. Our notes taken here we shall lay by for a rainy day.

☞ At the annual meeting of the stockhold- ers of the Warren Bank, the following gentle- men were elected Directors for the ensuing year—Lewis Allen, E. W. Upton, Sylvester Osborn, Benj. Wheeler, Levi Preston, Franklin Osborn, George Osborne, Henry A. Hardy, C. Warren Osborn. At a subsequent meeting Lewis Allen, Esq., was re-elected President.

☞ The Peak Family, assisted by the Swiss Bell Ringers, give one of their grand Concerts in Danvers to-night. Of those who have once heard this distinguished troupe, few but will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear them again.

☞ At a meeting of the Essex Agricultural Society, held at Andover, Sept. 30th, 1863, the following Premiums and Gratuities were award- ed to persons in Danvers and South Danvers:

Fat Cattle—C. P. Preston, Danvers, 1st pre- mium, $10.00.

Heifers—E. G. Berry, Danvers, yearling, 2d premium, $3.00.

Working Oxen—Joel Wilkins, Danvers, ox- en over 3000 lbs., 1st premium, $10.00.

Stallions—Loring P. Demsey, Danvers, stal- lion over 4 years old, 1st premium, $10.00.

Colts—George B. Martin, Danvers, 2 years old, 2d premium, $3.00.

Swine—Byron Goodell, So. Danvers, Mackie boar, 1st premium, $5.00.

Poultry—Robert Buxton, South Danvers, Geese, Gratuity, $1.00. Do. Fowls, $3.00.

Wm. A. Gaffney, Danvers, Geese, Gratuity, $3.00.

John Swinerton, Danvers, Fowls, Gratuity, $2.50.

Pears—Premiums were awarded to the fol- lowing persons for dishes of 12 specimens, $1,00 each:—Belle Lucrative, Peter Wait, Danvers; Flemish Beauty, do.; Golden Beurre, do.; Doyenne Boussock, Francis Baker, South Danvers.

Gratuities, 50 cts. each—Paradise of Au- tumn, Fulton P. Wait, Danvers; Lewis, Jona. Shillaber, South Danvers; Gov. Endicott, from a tree 238 years old, Wm. A. Gaffney, Danvers.

Apples—Premiums of $1 each for plates of 12 specimens:—Porter, H. & J. M. Perry, Dan- vers; Hunt's Russet, Peter Wait, Danvers; Ramsdell Sweet, P. Wait, Danvers; Fameuse, S. P. Fowler, Danvers; R. I. Greening, H. & J. M. Perry, Danvers; Fall Harvey, N. Anna- ble, South Danvers; Winter Sweet, H. & J. M. Perry, Danvers. S. P. Fowler, Danvers, Hurlburt, Gratuity, 50 cents; Peter Wait, Danvers, assorted fruit, 3d premium, Flint's Grasses.

Cranberrie—John L. Colcord, South Dan- vers, Gratuity, 50 cts; H. Jones, do., 50 cts.

Vegetables—A. Curtis, So. Danvers, largest and choicest collection of vegetables, 1st pre- mium, $8.00.

Gratuities—E. G. Hyde, Danvers, Onions, Flax, &c., 50 cents; Jonathan King, So. Dan- vers, Coffee bean plant, 50 cents.

Counterpanes—Mrs. Mary Fuller, So. Dan- vers, Gratuity, $1.

Rugs—Mrs. Nathan Bushby, South Danvers, 2d premium, $2.00; Mary A. Ross, Danvers, Gratuity, $1.00.

Fancy Work, &c., &c.,—Anna Putnam, Dan- vers, wall pockets, gratuity, 50 cents.

The above premiums and gratuities will be paid by the Treasurer, WILLIAM SUTTON, at the Commercial Bank, Salem.

CLOTHING.—Lanes, leading to rustic cottages on quiet farms, away from the dusty highway, are usually pleasant places to travel. So is it with the Lane we now speak of—the proprie- tor of which is one of the pleasantest of men. The headquarters of this Lane is at Nos. 31 and 32 Dock Square, where may be seen one of the largest and most varied assortment of clothing not surpassed by any other similar establish- ment in the city. While many other clothing dealers in the city have raised their prices twenty-five per cent, Lane still continues selling at the old prices. The clothing is all perfect, made from choicest fabrics, and war- ranted free from "shoddy."

"REDEEMER AND REDEEMED."—Messrs. Lee & Shepard, publishers and Booksellers, 149 Washington street, Boston, will shortly pub- lish a book, with the above title, containing the sermons preached by CHARLES BEECHER, pastor of the Congregational Church at George- town, Mass., which led to an investigation by a council of the Congregational Church. It will also contain his defence before that council.

They have also in press a new volume by "Oliver Optic," entitled "RICH AND HUMBLE, or the Mission of Berthra Grant."

CEMENT PENS.—This is the name of a new pen which is for sale by Mr. C. A. Beckford, at his store, No. 9 Central street, Salem. They are said to have been lately discovered in Aus- tralia, are anti-corrosive and pointed by a chemical process. We can testify—from per- sonal knowledge—to their good writing quali- ties.

☞ The following gentlemen were elected Directors of the South Danvers Mutual Fire Insurance Company—Henry Cook, George Os- borne, Henry Poor, Rob't S. Daniels, Benj. Wheeler, Joseph Osgood, N. P. C. Patterson, John Whitney, John Safford, Beverly. Henry Cook, Esq., was re-elected President.

MILLINERY.—At R. Warren's, 90 and 92 Court street, Boston, the ladies will find a choice and excellent assortment of bonnets, hats, ribbons, flowers, etc., selling at the very lowest prices. Please call when in the city and examine the stock.

☞ Judge Woodward, the Democratic can- didate for governor in Pennsylvania, thinks "Slavery is an incalculable blessing," and goes in strong for the let alone doctrine of Jeff Davis; or, as he expresses himself, "the South ought to be allowed to go peaceably."

☞ Within two months over seven thou- sand cavalry men, who had lost their equip- ments and horses in the exigencies of the ser- vice, have been remounted and returned to the service from Camp Stevenson, near Washing- ton.

☞ The Russian naval officers disclaim any political object in their visit to New York, though not concealing their sympathy with the North in the rebellion.

☞ New Jersey is paying high bounties for volunteers; $943 to veterans, and $681 to raw recruits. That is soldiering to a profit; never in the world was so much paid before.

☞ The inventor of Greek Fire has found his way to Port Royal, and it is presumed a conflagation will be seen somewhere in that vi- cinity before long.

☞ The public services will hereafter be held Sunday afternoons and evenings at the Universalist Church. The forenoons will be devoted to the Sunday School. The evening services will commence at 7 o'clock.

☞ Rusia persists in her determination to grant concessions to Poland, only after her pa- cification, and that, too, without the mediation of other powers, ☞ Mayor Lincoln has extended the hospi- talities of Boston to the Russian naval officers now in New York, and they will probably soon visit that city.

So. Danvers Horticultural Society.

The Second Exhibition of this Society will take place at Sutton Hall on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 7th and 8th.

Hall open on Wednesday at 2 o'clock, P. M., and closed at 10 P. M. Open on Thursday at 9 o'clock, A. M., and closed at 9 P. M. All persons, whether members or not, are invited to contribute Fruits, Flowers and Vegetables, all specimens of which will be given in charge of a Committee who will provide a place for them, and return them to the contributors at the close of the Exhibition.

Ladies are invited to contribute Boquets and Cut Flowers. Committees will be in attend- ance on Wednesday morning, to receive con- tributions.

☞ It is particularly requested that all arti- cles, excepting Flowers, be brought in at as early an hour as possible that they may be pro- perly arranged. All articles to be accompanied by a written list of the same, and the name of the contributor.

Premiums to be awarded in accordance with the By-Laws of the Society. Admission Ten Cents. Members Tickets to be had at the door.

Per Order,
M. O. STANLEY, Sec'y.

So. Danvers, Oct. 7, 1863.

☞ A Lost Art in America—The Art of Economy.

New
RIBBONS
and
FLOWERS
Opened at PEABODY'S, yesterday.

BARGAINS IN KID GLOVES.—John P. Peabody has determined to close his entire stock of light Kid Gloves, and has marked them down to 75 cents. They are the best goods and are sold in Boston and Salem for $1 25 and $1 50.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers. See advertisement.

BEST KID GLOVES, in light colors for 75 cts—to close—at PEABODY'S.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 23d, schs Boxer, Sutton; California, Spiller, and Florence, Crockett, Bangor; Pearl, Robinson, Rockland; 24th, Caressa, Fullerton, Ellsworth; Mary Ann Winchenbach, Waldo- boro'; 25th, Ada Herbert, Linehan, New York; Daniel Breed, Patterson, Bangor; 27th, Moses Black, (Br) Wilmot; Richard Baker, Baker, New York; 29th, Governor, Chase, do; Jane Woodbury, Coombs, Bangor; Oct. 1st, Nelson Wells, Ryder, New York; 2d, Equal, Kallock, Rockland.

Marriages.

In Lowell, Oct. 3d, by Rev J W Putnam o Danvers, Mr Alden Y Caswell to Miss Mary A Damon, both of Lowell.

In Salem, Sept. 11, Mr John Henry Giddi to Miss Joanna Barry; 27th, Mr Timothy Don- ovan of Middleton, to Miss Kate Welch o Salem; 28th, Mr Joseph H Wheeler of Boston to Miss Judith L Osgood of Salem; 30th, M Henry I Eaton to Miss Lizzie E Butterfield both of Salem; Oct. 1st, Mr George P Taylo of Alexandria, Va., to Miss Nancy C, daugh ter of the late Daniel M Ladd of Salem; 1s Mr Thomas Ratigan of Roxbury, to Miss Elle Heeney of Salem.

Deaths.

In this town, Sept. 28th, Mr Samuel Blake 64 yrs 3 months 14 days; 30th, Francis, son o Anthony and Mary Rowen, 13 yrs.

In Salem, Sept 30th, Mrs Hanora, wife o Mr John Galiyan, 33 yrs; Mr Joseph Felt, 6 yrs; Miss Margaret Warren, 55 yrs; Nahu Edwin, son of Nahum and Eliza S Adams, 2 mos 13 days; Oct. 2d, Mr Jeremiah Dyer, 5 yrs; 4th, Thomas, son of John and Mary Ki roy, 6 yrs; Martin, son of Martin and Eliz Eagan 17 yrs 10 mos 18 days.

In Beverly, Oct 1, Mr Benj Gallucia, 40 yr 3 mos; Miss Rebecca F Prince, 29 yrs—prin cipal of the intermediate School at Brisco Hall.

In Marblehead, Oct. 2, Mrs Ann, wife of M Patrick Coughlin, 32 years.

In Lynnfield, Sept 26, Mr Edward Downin 58 years.

In Wenham, Sept 28, Mrs Hannah, wido of the late Nathan Preston, 81 yrs 3 mos.

Advertisements.

Salem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'

ALL persons using the water of the Sale and South Danvers Aqueduct are here notified that the water rents, for the six mont ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and th they are required to pay the same, at the offi of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1 day of Nov. next. Should the bills rema unpaid for thirty days, the water will stopped, in conformity to the regulations of t Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from to 5.

Per order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my busine from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW, sa partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALM & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in thr years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass
Oct. 7.

PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN by the use of

Nitrous Oxide Gas.

GEORGE H. CURRIER, Dentist,
Oct 7—4w 22 WASHINGTON ST., SALE

DENTAL NOTICE

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,

FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOU PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administ ed, total insensibility be produced, Tee extracted, and perfect consciousness restored from three to five minutes. It causes no sic ness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant a happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.
Oct. 3—mo.

Settees for Sale

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sa Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store

French Classes.

A lady, educated in France, and speaking the French as her native language, besides having had the experience of several years in teaching it, both privately and in seminaries, is desirous to secure classes for the ensuing autumn and winter. This will afford a superior opportunity for those who wish to acquire an accurate knowledge of spoken as well as written French.

For further information apply at No. 6 Aborn St., South Danvers.

September 9.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
Music Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS .....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS .....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES ...PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 13 SALEM, MASS.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not kdow." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that "Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fevers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and Dropsical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS. — Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Browning & Long

GRAND OPENING

—OF—

NEW GOODS

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S.

THE MOST EXTENSIVE STOCK

—OF—

'Ladies' Furnishing Goods'

EVER BROUGHT TO SALEM.

MESSRS. BROWNING & LONG

Extend a cordial invitation to the Ladies to call and look at the beautiful New Goods which they have just opened. It being their aim to accommodate all, they are always willing to show their Goods, whether Ladies wish to purchase or not.

OUR STOCK,

Comprising a variety not often to be found in a Retail Establishment,

consisting of

NEARLY EVERYTHING TO BE FOUND IN THE Ladies' Furnishing Line.

BERLIN ZEPHYR
☞ WORSTEDS. ☜

Having received our
FALL IMPORTATION,
We now offer one of the best selected Stocks ever presented in this Market, having

Many Shades very Rare and Desirable,

and offering them at the

LOWEST PRICES.

Having made an especial endeavor to get the above Stock as near perfect as possible, we think that as far as particular shades, the best quality and

VERY LOW PRICES

are concerned, we can suit the most fastidious.

BROWNING & LONG,
177 Essex Street.
Salem, Oct. 7, 1863.

John P. Peabody.

MILLINERY OPENING.

RIBBONS,
RIBBONS,
RIBBONS,
RIBBONS,
RIBBONS.

We shall show a full line of BONNET RIBBONS in all the desirable styles

During this Week.

ALL FRESH AND DESIRABLE.

In ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS we shall show an extensive variety in very choice styles.

In RUCHES we can show our usual good stock at very low prices.

N. B.

Those ladies who look up their FALL MILLINERY GOODS early will have good stocks to select from. Those who are late will find few desirable goods and high prices.

THIS IS OUR OPENING WEEK.

KNIT AND WOVEN

WOOLEN GOODS!

HOODS, SONTAGS,
CLOUDS,
NUBIAS,
MITTENS,
SLEEVES,
SACKS.

In new and desirable varieties:

WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.
WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.
WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.
WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.
WORSTEDS AND WOOLEN YARNS.

THE LARGEST STOCK OF

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS
IN ESSEX COUNTY.

Prices lower and Assortment larger than any other house in this city.

Black Zephyr Worsteds per ounce	20 cts;
White Zephyr Worsteds " "	20 cts;
All Colors " " "	25 cts;
Printed or Chinchilla " "	25 cts.

—Cheaper by the Pound—

☞ We shall, as we did last year, sell our WORSTEDS at from 5 to 10 cents per ounce less than any of our competitors.

A NEW STOCK OF CORSETS.
A NEW STOCK OF SKIRTS.
A NEW STOCK OF LACES.
A NEW STOCK OF HDKFS.
A NEW STOCK OF EDGINGS.
A NEW STOCK OF WAISTS.
A NEW STOCK OF BANDS.
A NEW STOCK OF VEILS.
A NEW STOCK OF SOAPS.
A NEW STOCK OF PERFUMES.
A NEW STOCK OF LEATHER GOODS.
A NEW STOCK OF MOURNING GOODS.

STEEL & JET PINS.
STEEL & JET PINS.
STEEL & JET PINS.

NEW PATTERNS.

Hosiery & Gloves.
Hosiery & Gloves.
Hosiery & Gloves.
Hosiery & Gloves.

A FRESH LOT OF KID GLOVES,
A FRESH LOT OF KID GLOVES,
A FRESH LOT OF KID GLOVES.

☞ We have a New Stock—bought for CASH and bought low—which we shall sell for CASH at the

—LOWEST PRICES—

EXAMINE BEFORE BUYING.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,
JOHN P. PEABODY.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

JAMES F. ALMY.

WE have just received a very large Stock of SEASONABLE GOODS,

COMPRISING

RICH BLACK and COLORED SILKS.

PLAIN, PLAID and STRIPED ALPACCAS, in different qualities.

MOUSLIN DE LAINE PLAIDS,

HEAVY WOOL PLAIDS,

PLAIN and PLAID POPLINS,

OTTOMANS, REPPS and THIBETS, WOOL MOUSLIN DE LAINES, &c.

Also—Common DE LAINES, PRINTED REPPS, ENGLISH, FRENCH and AMERICAN PRINTS,

Also—A full Stock of MOURNING GOODS.

Also—A splendid line of AUTUMN SHAWLS.

Also—A full Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS, OPERA FLANNELS.

DOMESTIC GOODS, LINENS, KID GLOVES, &c.

☞ Believing that I have clearly demonstrated the principle of Buying and Selling for Cash, so that it has found favor, I am confident that our Goods, bought in large quantities from first hands, are this season to be sold lower, compared with ruling prices, than ever before.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.
Sept 16, 1863.

The Essex County Teachers' Association

WILL hold its next meeting in Lynn, on the 16th and 17th of OCTOBER.

FRIDAY will be devoted to visiting the Public Schools of Lynn. Friday evening, the Hon. JOSEPH WHITE will address the Association.

SATURDAY will be devoted to Essays, Discussions, &c.

☞ The time for preparing Essays is extended to the tenth of October.

T. G. SENTER, Cor. Sec.

[County papers please copy.]

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

THE
FAMILY MOURNING STORE,
20 Winter Street, Boston.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would respectfully call attention to their establishment (the only one of its kind in the city,) where every requisite for Mourning can be obtained.

We have a complete assortment of the following goods, just received:—

English and French Bombazines.
Alpacas, of every width and price.
Alpaca Glace.
7-8 Alpaca.
Bombazine Laine, a new article.
Turin Cloths, Canton Cloths.
French Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths.
Mourning Ginghams and Prints.
Mourning Millinary, in new styles; Mourning Hats and Veils, Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.

S. S. WILLIAMS.
Oct. 7.—2ms.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 Washington Street, Boston,
(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES
FALL & WINTER
CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,

OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,

In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,

Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
And PIECE Goods
FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS

In all the most desirable patterns of English, German, French, Scotch and American Coatings, Cassimeres & Doeskins,

Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner at

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 WASHINTON ST., BOSTON,
Five Doors above the Old South.
Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m

THE NEW BOOKS,

BY Hawthorne — Gail Hamilton — Henry Ward Beecher—Miss Chesebro—together with all other New Works—are for sale at
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

GREEN AND BLACK PAINT,

IN cans for vessels' use; also, Verdigris ground in oil—at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

WHITE LEAD, &C.

PURE White Lead and Linseed Oil; Spirits Turpentine and Benzole; Japan Drying and Varnishes—constantly for sale at oct 7 S C & E A SIMONDS.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Oct. 7, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Daniel Bailey	Mrs Henry Moulton
Henry Allen	B J Mitchell
Caddie Barry	Frances Osborne
Wm Croughwell	N M Quint
Mrs Charles Carr	Daniel Shehane
A A Evans	Abigail Rouil
George Downs	Bridget Kennedy
Ella B Goodwin	Margaret Sweetman
Catherine Harmon	N H Shallaber
Mrs Kelly	Thomas Robbins
Patriek Kelly	B H Taylor
Mary E Lewis	Rebecca Wilson
James Mulehary	John F Worcester
J S Moulton	Mary Barrett

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

THE ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL.

PUBLISHED Weekly—gives a deal of information on the topics of interest now before the country. Price $5 00 a year.

Samples seen and subscriptions received by
oct 7 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

OPENING—THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1ST.

FALL AND WINTER STYLES OF

Bonnets, Hats, and Dress Caps,

AT MILLINERY ROOMS
No. 168 Essex Street, Salem.
M. E. CRANE,
Sept. 30. Successor to M. M. Fletcher.

FALL AND WINTER GOODS
AT
GEORGE P. DANIELS'S,
No. 238 Essex Street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

Consisting of New Styles
DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS,
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR.
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera;
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

sept 23—tf

SUBSCRIPTION LIBRARY.

ALL the new and desirable books are put at once into our Library—subscriptions commence any time, and each subscriber can have two books out at a time.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.
Sept. 30. 190 Essex Street.

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

SALEM, MASS.
A few doors from Washington Street,
WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
At 236 Essex Street,
M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURES TO ORDER

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.
E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

George S. Walker.

Notice to Gentlemen!

FOR FALL AND WINTER WEAR.
UNDER GARMENTS.
HOSIERY,
GLOVES.
The LARGEST ASSORTMENT to be found in the city, at the LOWEST PRICES, is at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
sept 23 228 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

Gent's Linen Handkerchiefs.

JUST RECEIVED, Plain, Colored and Hemstitched LINEN HDKFS, for Gentlemen's use, which I offer at very low prices.
GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

Gentlemen's Gloves.

100 VARIETIES to select from—at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
228 Essex Street, Salem Mass.

A. J. Archer & Co

FALL AND WINTER.

ELEGANT NEW GOODS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
ARE OPENING
MANY NEW STYLES OF
DRESS GOODS,
INCLUDING
Ottoman Reps,
Cashmere Plaids,
Thibet and M. D. Laines,
Rich & Heavy Black Silks,
Plain Colored Silks,
ALSO
SHAWLS
Of every description.
Salem, Sept 16—tf

FLANNELS AND COTTONS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Have on hand a full supply of
BROWN SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
BLEACHED SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
—Also—
GREY TWILLED FLANNELS;
WHITE FLANNELS,
which they offer at the LOWEST PRICES.
Salem, Sept 16—tf.

AUTUMN GOODS.

CLOTHS! CLOTHS!!

A fine assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Doeskins,
—AND—
CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CAPES,
—FOR SALE BY—
A. J. ARCHER & CO.
Sept 16. tf

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

HOUSE OF EQUITY.
—BY—
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.

RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,
THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
CALL AND EXAMINE.
For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult
JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT.
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

WANTED!

$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.
South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front street, Salem. ap30-tf

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.

Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

ON SATURDAY NEXT, at 9½ o'clock, will be sold at No. 34 Front street:

A QUANTITY of new and Second Hand Furniture, Sofas, Chairs, Tables, Feather Beds, Mattresses, Carpets, Parlor and Cook Stoves.

Also—An invoice of Women's and Children's Shoes and Boots.

Also—An invoice of Dry Goods, Cassimeres, Satinettes, &c.

Also—6 New Lever Watches, warranted; 100 yds Rubber Cloth for Blankets, &c; 10 boxes Tobacco; 100 Clothes Brooms; 2 Cans Smoked Tongues, &c.

At 11 o'clock, 1-5 Octave Melodeon, rosewood Case, Manning & Nichols's make, a fine instrument. oct 7

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,
DENTAL SURGEON,
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. All fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless.

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by Infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRASLEIN, General Agent.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,
88 MAIN STREET.

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 MAIN ST. 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,
Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers,

DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery Toilet Articles and Stationery.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

87 MAIN STREET.

Potter, Batchelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh, Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.

April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. FLETCHER her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE, ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S.

PETER CARRADINE, or the Martindale Pastoral, by Carline Chesebro; The Young Parson; The Gold Seekers, a tale of California, by Gustave Ainward; Historical Collections of Essex Institute, Vol. 5, No. 4; Lessons from Insect Life; The Circus, a story for boys; Plants, illustrating in their structure the wisdom and goodness of God—illustrated; The Temperance Tales, by L. M. Sargent—a new edition; Leslie's Gazette of Fashion for October.

Sept. 30. 190 Essex Street.

Miscellaneous.

SATISFACTORY REASON. "Here's your money, dolt; now tell me why your rascally master wrote me eighteen letters about that rascally sum?" "I'm sure I can't tell; but, if you will excuse me, sir, I guess it was because seventeen didn't fetch it!"

☞ Pizarro, the conqueror of Peru, was not ashamed to own himself the son of a swineherd. His mansion at Trujillo, erected after the conquest, among other heraldic devices, displays a couple of pigs feeding under an oak tree.

☞ Though we travel the world over to find the beautiful, we must carry it with us, or we find it not.

☞ Hoops and skirts are quite exploded in Paris; flounced mohair skirts being used instead.

☞ The Mayor of Baltimore has vetoed resolutions allowing city passenger railway cars to run on Sunday.

☞ What Miss will ruin any man?—Miss-management.

Special Notices.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY.

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test

Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.

George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1853—1 y

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the receipt and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing

JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Rare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A NERVOUS YOUNG MAN.—Published as a warning and for the especial benefit of young men, and those who suffer with Nervous Debility, Loss of memory, Premature Decay, [illegible] has cured himself by simple means, after being put to great expense and inconvenience, through the use of worthless medicines prescribed by learned doctors. Single copies may be had (free) of the author, C. A. Lambert, Esq., Greenpoint, Long Island, by enclosing an addressed envelope. Address CHARLES A. LAMBERT, Greenpoint, Long Island, near New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,

— ALSO —

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $30. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD. 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
Feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

A TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Division Street, New York. je 3—1y

[COMMUNICATED.]

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
Sept. 23—4m. New York.

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586.

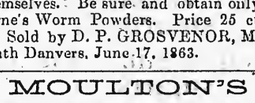
Mothers—Take Heed!

GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,



Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

HEYLINGBERG'S

Hair Dressing Saloon,

24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.	8 cts,
	Or 8 Tickets for $1 00.	15 cts,
Champooing,		15 cts.

Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)

City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO.

Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,

DEALERS IN

COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
186 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.

N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT.

Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.

For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

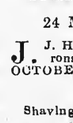
For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Passengers by this route can take the 4.45 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.

Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.

☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & F. R. Railroad Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, September 23, 1863.



Book & Job Printing

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

Executed with Neatness & Despatch

AT THIS OFFICE.

COLOR STAMPING,

IN the most approved styles—at
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

SOMETHING NEW,

FOR cleaning Kerosene Lamp Chimneys—at
sept 23 S C & E A SIMONDS.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

Advertisemets.

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7—3m CLARK & CIDDINGS.

AERATED BREAD.

THE subscriber will daily leave the above new article of bread with the principal grocers in this town, of whom it may be purchased at 5 cents a loaf. It is claimed that this bread—unrivalled in point of sweetness and wholesomeness—is more nutritious than that made in the usual way, that it will keep much longer, and is moister and more palatable, having the taste of new bread, even when it is several days old. F. H. KIRK.
So. Danvers, Aug 5, 1863.

A NEW THING.

PATENT Hard Rubber Handle for Table Cutlery. It is not affected by hot water. It always retains its polish when in use. It is warranted not to become loose in the handle.—
sept 23 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS.

A LITTLE lot, but slightly damaged, are selling at very low prices.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

MARK YOUR CLOTHING.

STENCIL Plates cut in the best way; Indellible Ink, Brushes, etc., at the lowest prices, at
aug 26 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.

LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND COVERS.

FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.

They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world in an infallible, simple, easy, and rapid progress of Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are without a fault, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.

The sealing is on an entirely original plan. This principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried these articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar.

PRICE LIST.

Pints, per doz, $2 25; 3 pints, per doz, $3 50;
Quarts, " 3 00; Half gallon, " 4 00;
Liberal discount to the trade.
S C & E A SIMONDS'.
Salem Aug 5 32 Front Street.

SPRING BEDS! SPRING BEDS!

ALL those that are inclined to rest their weary limbs on the most luxurious

SPRING BED

that was ever invented, are invited to call at

No. 52 Main St., South Danvers,

and there see the very best SPRING BED BOTTOM that has been offered to the public.

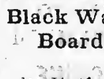
Not having been able at first to meet the demands, I now have the facilities to supply all orders.

Having bought the right to make and vend for the county of Essex, the subscriber would be happy to supply all those who may favor him with a call.

Rights for sale for any town or city in the county except Haverhill and Lawrence.

THOS. TRASK.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.



THE Subscriber offers for sale on favorable terms,—or would exchange for a Farm,—his Estate on Wallis Street, near the Monumental Cemetary, consisting of THREE DWELLING HOUSES, which will be sold separately or as one Estate.

There are 75 feet of land in front, and 72 feet in the rear of the house.

The situation is pleasant, in a good neighborhood, and the houses are supplied with all the conveniences for immediate occupation. In ordinary times these tenements would rent for from 330 to 350 dollars.

The Subscriber, having made up his mind to dispose of the property, will sell it low, and it is well worth the attention of purchasers.

Apply to JOHN M'NEAL.
South Danvers, Dec. 10th, 1862. tf.

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Cloths of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.

dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &c
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

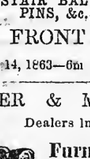
AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

THOMAS DAVIS,
ADVERTISING AGENT
For the principal New England Newspapers, remains at the old stand, No. 23 Cornhill, Boston, where you will find him still loyal to the Constitution, the Laws, and Advertising.
Boston, Jan 29, 1862. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may



THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.

Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.

Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

MILITARY BOOKS

AT G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S, September 2d.

Army Officer's Pocket Companion;
Benet's Military Law and Courts Martial;
Benet's Campaign of Waterloo;
Jominie's Art of War; Monroe's Co. Drill;
Digest of US Tactics, from the French of Steffen
Elements of Military Art of History;
Rifles and Rifle Practice, Wilcox;
The Ordance Manual, a most valuable Book;
Mahan on Field Fortifications;
Instruction in Outpost Duty;
Casey's Infantry and Rifle Tactics;
Cameron's Infantry Tactics; Scott's do do.
sept 2 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is preparod to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.

He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.

He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.

All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom.
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin,
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
GUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

THE PIANO FORTES

THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,

218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,

where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call.
Mch 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

Barn for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his barn, in rear of his residence on Holten st. Said barn is well adapted for any one wishing to keep a cow or horse. The loft will hold 1½ ton of hay.
Terms easy. S. Q. WHITE.
So. Danvers, Sept. 2, '63. tf

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

A NEW MAP FOR THE PEOPLE.
LLOYD'S GREAT COUNTY MAP OF THE UNITED STATES.

ITS publication marks an era in the history of Maps It covers our entire country. It contains all towns, rivers, mountains, etc, made famous by the War, and while it has an immense number of names, it does not confuse the eye. It is a County Map, and neatly col'd. Price in sheets, 60 cts; mounted $1 25.
Call and see it—it is having an enormous sale.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH,
aug 19 Publisher's Agents.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.

Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

AND Benzole Spirits, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

THE NEW GOSPEL OF PEACE

ACCORDING to Lt. Benjamin. A burlesque on the Politicians and the Times. It shows up "Phernand iwood of Gotham," The Tshirubree of the South, etc.—Price 25 cents. For sale by G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ALL THE NEW BOOKS

GO into our Subscription Circulating Library. Terms four dollars a year in advance, this is the cheapest way of reading the new publications.
Sept 7 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

FOR NEURALGIA,

RHEUMATISM and like troubles, Sturgis' Electric Compound is recommended by many of our own citizens. For sale at
sept 15 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8¼, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2½ 5¼, 7¼, p. m.
Beverly, 8¼ am., 1, 3¼, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55, 7¾ p m.
W. Beach, Manr, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8¼ a m., 3¼, 5¾ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8¼ a m., 1, 5¾ p m.
Portsmouth, 8¼ a m., 3¾, 5¾ p m.
Portland, 8¼ a m., 3¾ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM

Portland, 8¾ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7¾, †11¼ a m., †5¼ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m, 6¼ p m.
Ipswich, 7 25, 8.25, 10.25 a m, 12.25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, *9 05, 11.05 a m., 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *5 35, *4 35, 5.35, *6.20, 5¾, *7.35, * 0.05 p m.
Boston, 7¼, *8¾, 10¼ a m., 12¼, 2¾, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9¼.

*Via Sangus Branch.
†Or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10¼ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Marblehead for Salem, 6¾, 7¾, 8¾, 9¾ a m., 12¾, 1¾, 5¾, 6¾, 7¾ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7¼, 8¼, 9.25, 11¼ a m., 1, 3¼, 5¾, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6¾, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5¼ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.

Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11¼ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7¾ a m., 12¾, 3¾, 6¼ p m.

J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:

Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9.40 a m. and 5 55 p m.

Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.

*Freight Train with passenger car attached.

F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPID LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the languor caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 25 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 20, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y

Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the

Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass.
Capital and Assetts—$373,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D, Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, JR.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Spherecotypes, Melainotypes, and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1863. NO. 41.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

HEIMSTREET'S
INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,

But restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty,

promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 Broadway, N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary article ever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face and hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing beauty, imparting the marble purity of youth, and the distingue appearance so inviting in the city belle of fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness from the skin, leaving the complexion fresh, transparent and smooth. It contains no material injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses and Opera Singers. It is what every lady should have. Sold everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedent in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health-restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover-buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Coriander, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, public speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties.

Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find in these Bitters what they have so long looked for.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer.

The following startling and emphatic statements can be seen at our office.

Letter of Rev E. F. Crane, Chaplain of the 107th New York Regiment:

NEAR ACQUIA CREEK, March 4th, 1863.

Owing to the great exposure and terrible decomposition after the battle of Antietam, I was utterly prostrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepared by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise they gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost allowed me to join my regiment. * * * * * I have since seen them used in many cases, and am free to say, for hospital or private purposes I know of nothing like them. Rev. E. F. Crane, Chaplain.

Letter from the Rev. N. E. Gilds, St. Clairsville, Pa.:

Gentlemen:—You were kind enough, on a former occasion to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for $3 50. My wife having derived so much benefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to continue them, and you will please send us six bottles more for the money inclosed.

I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. Gilds, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

Soldiers' Home, Superintendent's Office, Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15th, 1863.

* * * * * * *

I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvelous and gratifying.

Such a preparation as this is I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field. G. W. Andrews, Superintendent.

Dr. W. A. Childs, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

Willard's Hotel,
Washington, D. C., May 22d, 1863.

Gentlemen:—We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.

Respectfully, Sykes, Chadwick & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c., &c.

Be sure that every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate label, with our private stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Sold by all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, and country dealers.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the Original Poetry.

FAITH IN THE TEMPERANCE CAUSE.

Faith, confidence, consistency, all three are well allied,
By steady laws of firmness immutably are tied,
But Faith is mistress of them all, sublimest of the three,
And renders man reliant, invincible, and free.

And Courage is allied to faith, the false kind and the true,
The former resteth all on self, the latter is God's due;
The former giveth impudence, audacity and brass,
Which wither by the latter, as by the sun, the grass.

So far exceeding is the moral, the animal must yield,
And own the almost magic power, that true courage can wield;
And yet before the falsely brave, the timid cringe and fear,
And with their sensual, fawning minds, audacity revere;

So has it always truly been, in future times will be,
The stronger, o'er the weak, have influence wide and free.

'Twas noble faith that Tell possessed, whom Gesler had arrayed,
To shoot his freedom apple from off his own child's head;
'Twas faith sublime the child displayed, when he bade his father "Aim,"
Faith in his father's skill, and his heavenly Father's name.

By faith all great inventors have found the new and true,
Columbus brought a Western world into an Eastern's view;
By simple instruments of use, the lightnings force is chained,
And words and deeds af far away are sent throughout the land;
By steam we traverse all the earth, and o'er the bounding sea,
And lovingly shake hands with France and Germany.
By hidden gasses, once unknown, we fill our homes with light,
And traverse through the upper air, with more than eagle's flight.

Yet true faith has its martyrs, scorned for their own belief,
Who work, and patient wait results, 'till death brings them relief.
One instance—Galilea's name—he vainly strove to gain
The world's applause—he only had his labor for his pain;
But now, who ventures to assert this martyr was not right?
"The earth does move," and we give homage to his faith so bright.

Our noble cause of Temperance, by faith shall move along,
'Till, fast the names increasing, we muster numbers strong,
And trusting in our worthy cause, and in the God above,
We'll win inebriates back to good, by charity and love.

Have confidence in your brother, and though you be deceived,
What matter that? some wise design will surely be revealed,
You find his weaker points, and have a chance to foil,
To aid his right endeavors, his tempter's strength to foil.
Man in himself is weakly, and, when tempted, prove to fall,
And only by a noble faith can he be saved at all.
Go, take your erring brother, show confidence in his name,
And kindly work upon his hopes to save his tarnished fame.
He sees your noble faith, and takes a portion for his own,
His after conduct yields you back a thrice-increased loan.

Go, work you boldly, steadily, for ignorance is weak
And faith and courage in the right its overthrow will seek.
Man vainly is vile, yet more from power to be than deed,
Temptation comes, he yields his will, and that perfects the seed.
He tampers with his grosser self till it assumes the stain,
That vilest passions always trace, and never clear again.

Go, save him from the tempter's snare, and leave the weak man free,
Nor rashly put it in his way, and goad to victory,
For he will surely, weakly fall, and perish by the way
And you will have the ignoble sin of sending souls astray.
Go, stretch a helping, saving hand in Charity and Love,
And gain your scroll another name to register above;
Another soul won back from sin and placed in Virtue's way,
And calm, true faith shall keep that soul from going now astray:
Oh! great the victory for yourself when you shall hear "well done,"
And brighter Faith and Charity the worthy crown you've won.

White Feather.

☞ Only eighty-six million tons of coal are Communications.

LETTER FROM BOSTON.

Propeller Advertising Agency,
No. 15 Washington St.,
Boston, Oct. 3d, 1863.

EASTERN RAILROAD DEPOT.

Leaving the new and spacious depot of the Eastern Railroad at the foot of Friend street, we commence our journey. This elegant structure is one of the most spacious in the city, and its accommodations for passengers possessed by few others. The large stone building on our left, seen before we get fairly off the first bridge, is the new and spacious jail, located near the font of Cambridge St. On the left, about 2 1-2 miles from Boston, is Mount Benedict, upon the banks of the Mystic River. The ruins standing upon the summit of the hill are portions of the Ursiline Convent, burnt on the 11th of August, 1834. Well do we remember the morning the city bells gave the alarm of fire, and from the top of our store, near Union wharf, we witnessed its destruction by the fiery element. Time nor space will not allow even a brief description of the many pleasant towns on our route towards

NEWBURYPORT.

A pleasant ride by rail of 36 miles and we stop at the Ocean House to pass a quiet Sabbath with our esteemed friend, Horace Hamblet, the popular landlord of this favorite hotel. A more beautiful place than Newburyport we seldom find. Faced by the river Merrimac, surrounded by hills, and having a back and around it a fine rural country, no better or more healthy location can be found in the State. From the river we look upon its sliding surface, washed by every shower and cleaned by every rain. The most important enterprise, tending to revive business, was cotton manufacturing.—Six large mills have been erected within a few years, with a capital of over two millions of dollars, employing two thousand hands, and manufacturing 15,000,000 yards of cloth. Ship building has increased since 1850. Newburyport, in this important branch of business, has been second only to Boston in the State, and in fishing, maintained the third rank. Some of the finest and fastest ships for the New York packet lines for years past, were built at Newburyport. We noticed from the parlor of the Ocean House several fine ships on the stocks, nearly ready for launching. A pleasant call on our friend Marden, whose stage line extends to Amesbury. We shall some leisure day ride over and take notes from this thriving New England village. Before leaving our pleasant hotel here, we must visit

PLUM ISLAND.

This famous resort for pleasure-seekers is at the mouth of the Merrimac River, about three miles from the Ocean House. The island is nine miles long. The beach is one of the finest imaginable. Sight-seers say that an eastern storm on Plum Island is one of the grandest sights in nature. The formation of the coast is peculiarly adapted to give height and majesty to long swells that come rolling in from far out to sea, and break in mighty thunder on the sand. The Bay State House is a well kept house on the island, where visitors are sure of courteous and hospitable attention. We regret we could not find time to accept a polite invitation to visit this well kept, this pleasant sea shore retreat. Whittier, the Quaker poet, thus speaks of the noble Merrimac:

"Stream of my fathers! sweetly
The sunset rays thy valleys fill; still,
Poised slantwise down the long defile,
Wave wood and spire beneath their smile.
I see the winding Powow fold
The green hills in its belt of gold,
And following down its wavy line,
Its sparkling waters blend with thine.
There's not a tree upon thy side,
Nor Rock, which the returning tide
As yet hath left abrupt and stark
Above thy evening water mark;
No calm cove with its rocky herm,
No isle whose emerald swells begerm
Thy broad, smooth current; not a sail
Bobbed to the freshening ocean gale;
No small boat with its briny oars,
Nor gray wall sloping to the shores;
Nor farm house with its maple shade,
Or rigid poplar colonade,
But lies distinct and full in sight,
Beneath the gush of sunset light."

BROCK'S CROSSING

Is 67 miles from Boston. This is our next halting place. It is the junction of the Great Falls Branch Road. The locality is in the beautiful town of South Berwick, and the station was erected here to accommodate passengers over the I availed myself of a polite invitation of Mr. Foss, the conductor of the hand car, and passed over a portion of the road towards South Berwick Junction. It was a novel way of propelling over the iron track; by the aid of two powerful men we could make a mile in two minutes. South Berwick station is one of great importance, as the cars from this and the Boston and Maine road here unite and proceed to Portland as one train. It is pleasant to take a stand upon the line of road and watch the approach of one of these huge trains, and as it glides by,

"First, the shrill whistle, then the distant roar,
The ascending cloud of steam, the gleaming brass,
The mighty moving arm; and on amain
The mass comes thundering, like an avalanche o'er
The quaking earth, a thousand faces pass—
A moment, and are gone, like whirlwind sprites,
Scarce seen—so much the roaring speed benights
All sense and recognition for a while!
A little space, a minute and a mile!
Then look again,—how swift it journeys on!
Away, away, along the horizon,
Like drifted cloud, to its determined place!
Power, speed, and distance melting into space!"

A fine prospect is enjoyed from the high hills. The river wends its way over a pebbly bottom, in gentle rippling cascades, under the bridge. Near by is a forest of oak trees. We stopped to bathe amid their rich foliage on the river bank.

We are once more on our journey to our farm house at Wells; this time by friend Duckhan's wagon. Our new-made acquaintance we found quite intelligent. Our course lay through Tatnick Hills. Leaving the lofty Agamenticus Mountain on our right, we are soon down on Maryland Ridge, and at 7 P. M. warmly welcomed by the lady we have so often spoken of in former letters.

THE FRUITS OF AUTUMN.

They are in their prime now, the fruits of Autumn. The markets are fragrant with their voluptuous odors and beautiful with their varied hues. Look at them, shaped so fairly, tinted so temptingly, and exhaling clouds of invisible incense that, ascending through the olfactories to the sensorium, evoke by sympathy the appetite, and diffuse strange longings through the inner man. See those rare-ripe peaches blushing ardently under the lid of yonder basket, burst half-way open by their rosy plumpness! And the pears, are they not ravishing? The golden Bartletts—surely they are melting into the air, for it is so full of their flavor that one seems to imbibe them at every breath. Had the gods ever tasted a Bartlett or a "Flemish Beauty," they had foresworn nectar forever, and formed themselves into societies for the encouragement of the growth of choice fruit. The green-gages are not so odoriferous—but just bite one! Ah! did nature ever create a more delicious mucilage? All-sweetening sun! we thank thee for the ean suere of the water-melon, now in its full perfection. Plucked when the cool dews of these autumnal mornings glisten on the dark green rind, and kept in the refrigerator till desert-time, it is a thing most excellent. To plunge mouth first into one of its honeycomb segments is glorious. The prettiest blone that lives has not such a come catme flush upon her cheek as that which pervades the heart of the ripe water-melon; and, as to the "honey of her lips"—well, of course nothing can bear that, so we will merely say———"without great wrong to either,

It were much better to have both than neither."

But, after all, the nutmeg melon is the king fruit of the season. This year, Providence, for some wise purpose not communicated to the press, has caused it to grow to nearly double its usual size. Were it as big as a barrel we should not object. Nothing in the world of flavors can surpass that of the luscious inner integument of this truly luxurious fruit. The pale gold semi-solid of its interior melts upon the tongue in such a flood of deliciousness that it almost maddens one. Take them altogether, our fall fruits, this season, are equal to any that ever tickled the uvula of a voluptuary.

HOOPS AND "HELP."

American hoops, we notice, are being shipped to Europe in great numbers. It is only another instance of the fact that after importing the material from abroad, we can still make up and sell in a foreign market an article more popular than their own. Of course this hoop trade, or crinoline trade, has given work to thousands of girls and young women in this country. "Five hundred girls wanted to make hoop skirts," is quite a common placard on our street corners, and it is pleasant to see our female industrials so

Selected.

BEARING OF THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON

WHEN MOBBED FOR VOTING FOR CATHOLIC EMANCIPATION.

I remember a wooden-legged soldier, whom I once saw defend the Duke of Wellington in a mob. But I must tell you the story. In the spring of 1827 I was spending an extra vacation in London, and thus I witnessed the mobbing of this great man. I suppose you have thought that the Iron Duke had only successes, and laudations, and honors in this world. Not so. He had not been the Iron Duke, if he had not been hardened by moral conflict, as well as by warlike combat. At the time I was in London, the Duke had given his voice for Catholic emancipation; consequently he had made himself obnoxious to the bigotted rabble. Sectarian preachers preached against him day and night, from pulpit, stand, and stump, about treason, Popery, and the like, until the poor ignorant masses imagined that they must be bitted and bridled by a Pope, and priesthood, and to the death, if Catholics were treated like human beings. Wellington had thrown his great influence in the scale for emancipation, consequently the mob determined to revenge what they considered their wrongs on him. The animus of a mob is more frequently a mistake than a wickedness. One morning in February I noticed threatening crowds near the Pall Mall gate, not far from the statue of Achilles. This statue was cast from cannons taken in the Iron Duke's various battles, and was dedicated "To Arthur, Duke of Wellington, by the women of England." I determined to watch the Duke, and see what was going to be done. Punctual to the moment, he descended the steps of Apsley House, his residence. His appearance was imposing. He was at the head of the Cabinet, Premier of England, and was par excellence the first man in England.

It was a drizzly morning. He wore a blue frock coat buttoned up to the chin, a military stock and brown pantaloons. His falcon eye surveyed the excited groups about the park gate, with a sort of pleasant contempt. The mob was either awed by his appearance and prestige, or they had not yet screwed their courage to the insulting point. The Duke passed on horseback, attended by his faithful valet. Nobody molested him till he reached his office. There the mob hissed him, but when he turned around and faced them, the hissing ceased. He then entered his office. As I knew the hour he would leave Downing street to return to the Park, I was there in due season. The neighborhood of the Horse Guards probably deterred a good many of the excited fanatics from gathering about the office, but numbers were gathered. The Duke, who was punctuality itself, came out at the appointed moment, and mounted his horse, amid groans and hisses. After he passed the Horse Guards, the noise increased to shouts. When he passed the Charing Cross, and entered Pall Mall, the mob began to throw missiles and dirt. Near Pall Mall gate there was a whirlpool of human beings eddying round in strange, wild, and yet a sort of symmetrical confusion. I feared they would murder him there. As he approached the gate, a good deal spattered with mud and dirt, the mob, as if compelled by some higher power than that of earth, ment they seemed awed, and appeared to relent. But when he had entered the gate their violence rose to fury. He dismounted with difficulty, placed his back against the rails of the statue of Achilles, and calmly faced his furious assailants. I shall never forget that moment.—Thoughts and feelings took mastery of my nature, then, that have swayed me ever since. Not one word did he utter. There was no shrinking—not even a cloud of apprehension upon that glorious face. Oh, how small and contemptible his assailants looked! How great is man!—How little are men!

There was a lull in the storm or shouts and missiles and dirt, and an old Irishman, with a wooden leg, hustled his way to the side of the Duke. This man sold apples and oranges by Hyde Park gate, and his basket had been upset by the mob. When he had reached the Iron Duke he stood by his side, and made a speech that immediately subdued the monsters. He began:

"My curse on you for cowardly scoundrels! If ye have pluck, come and fight me. Let there be two of us against you all. Begorra, come and kill us both.—This is your fair play! This is English justice! thousands against one. Think of Waterloo. But for him and us, Boney would have beaten ye. I've got my wooden leg for fighting for ye, ye villins—and ye are goin' to pay him by murdherin' him, ye bloody scoundrels! Come on, but come one at a time, not like cowards and ruffians as ye are, altogether."

The speech was a mighty success.—The mob was ashamed and calmed, and began to sneak away. Wellington gave a smile of recognition to the man who had saved his life, and ever afterwards he amply provided for him, as he did for many others, out of his own private fortune, in his own quiet, noiseless way.

Josh Billings—To Correspondents.

Fred. Yu aint obliged tu ask a gals mother if yu ma go home with her from a partee; git the gals endorsement, and sale in; it iz proper enuff tu ask her tu take your arm, but yu haint got no rite tu put yure arm around her waste, unless yu meet a Bear on the rode, and then yu are bound to take yure arm away, just az soon az the Bear gits safely by.

Whip. Yu are rite; Mules live to a long age; iv'e known them myself tu live one hundred years, and not half tri. Yu are rite also, about their being sure footed; iv'e known um tu kick a man twise in a sekund, ten feet oph.

Gertrude. Yure inquiry stumps me. The more i think on it, the more i kant tell. Az near az i kan rekolek now i i dont kno. Much might be ced both ways, and neether wa be rite. Upon the whole i rather reckon i wud, or i wuddent, jist as i thought best or otherwise.

Plutark. Yu'are mistaken, the Shakers dont marry. If young Shakers fall in lov tha are sot to weeding onions, and kures them forthwithly. I kant tell yu now, how much it dus kost tu jine the Shakers, but i beleave that expenze used tu be, inkluding having yure hair cut and larning how tu danse, about $65.

Sportsman. Yure inquiry is not edzackly in mi line, but i haste to repli, as follers, to wit: The rite length tu cut oph a dog's tale haz never yet bin fully diskovered, but iz undoubtedly somewhare bak ov hiz ears, provided yu git the dog's consent. N. B. It aint absolutely necessara the dog's consent should be in riteing.

Kate. I think Lord Biron waz the author ov the lines yu speke ov; 'twas either him or 'twas Captain Kidd, one or tother. Biron waz dredful limber at riteing potri, so waz Kidd, but Biron waz the limberest.

☞ The Okoloona (Miss.) News tells the following story:—

"Old P. is well known in some parts as one who never pays a debt if it can be avoided. He has plenty of money, and is a jolly, frollicking old chap—gets drunk occasionally, when of course some friends take care of him. A few days since he fell into the hands of a friend, who held his note for a small sum, and it was the last chance, the friend dived into old P.'s wallet, took out the amount of the note, and put the note where the money had been. When he awoke to consciousness, he took out his wallet to count how much money he was out, as was his custom, and finding his purse almost depleted, he cries out,—

'How did I spend so much money?'

'You paid off that note I held,' replied his friend.

'Well,' muttered old P., 'I must have

A Revolution in Ireland.—A Revolution in Ireland is talked of by the French papers as about to transpire. The Gazette de France says:—

"It is published by the International, a French journal appearing in London, and is to the effect that a vast conspiracy is now openly organizing in Ireland against the English domination of course. The conspirators, who call themselves 'Fenians'(?) and 'Sons of St. Patrick,' are said to be eighty thousand in number, all armed, and only awaiting an opportunity to shake off the Saxon yoke, and proclaim the independence of Ireland. If the English government were engaged in a war with France, which is not probable, or with the United States, which is less probable, they would at once raise the standard of their country, and would be aided by their countrymen who have emigrated to America. The Irish would like to have France on their side; but they have resolved to act without her. The people in all the counties long for the day of deliverance, and do not make any secret of their hopes. We indulge no illusions as to the importance of this news. Ireland has for centuries groaned under English tyranny, and it is not astonishing that she should always long for freedom; but that happy day is not so near, perhaps, as we could wish. When it comes we shall hail it with joy."

Horse Car Etiquette.—It is uncivil for a gentleman to keep his seat when an elderly lady or a fatigued younger lady has none.

It is uncivil for a lady to take a seat from a gentleman as though it were her right, or to crush into it in a surly, morose, or imprudent manner, without a thought of the courtesy that has been shown her.

It is uncivil to chew tobacco in a car or to use the car for a spitoon.

It is uncivil for two to talk in so loud tones that other passengers must hear what they are saying, whether they will or no.

It is uncivil for men to push and shove and claim room they are not entitled to. A sensible man never arrogates.

☞ Dogs are in great favor in Virginia. The rebels use their skins for leather, and from their flesh extract oil. And now that the chance for light has so much improved, it is to be hoped they will become less dogged in their spirit and see the way of return to allegiance. By the way, our city and vicinity would gladly be relieved of a few hundred of these howling nuisances. Within a week three persons have been seized and their flesh badly lacerated by them; and it would not be strange if those who are exposed should provide themselves with the means of defence, and use them, too. A biting dog must be "next akin" to a reb.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ Borax is one of the best of bleaching and emmollient agents. Dissolved in hot water in the ratio of a pound to ten gallons, whether applied to the person or to clothing it will be found economical and desirable. It will not injure the most delicate fabric and laces and other fine tissues may be washed in a solution of this article with advantage.

☞ A Richmond paper illustrates how our prisoners are insulted and martyred by the rebels, when it announces the demise of a newspaper man at the Libby prison, heading the article, "A Yankee prisoner gone home to write up his reports by the fire."

☞ We should not forsake a work because it does not advance with a rapid step. Faith in virtue, truth, and Almighty goodness, will save us alike from rashness and despair.

☞ Henry Ward Beecher says: "Life would be a perpetual flea hunt, if a man were obliged to run down all the inuendoes, the enveracities, the insinuations, and the suspicions, which are uttered against him."

☞ The death of Charles Putnam, the great-grand-son of Israel Putnam, is announced in a Marietta (Ohio) paper.

☞ The sum of five thousand, two hundred dollars was realized from a patch of sixteen acres in western New York, in the cultivation of strawberries.

☞ Prentice says there's a good deal of the Devil in the rebels. They sometimes fight like him, frequently run like him, and always

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1863.

MORE ENERGY.

There doubtless has not been a time during the war when energy—downright, forward—pressing energy was so much needed in the Government, in the army, in the people as now, this month, this day, this hour. The capital Union successes in July, followed by others on sea and land, which, if less important, were hardly less significant, together with the Union triumphs by ballots in Kentucky, Vermont, California and Maine, had all combined to produce in the public mind, if not an overweaning, certainly an undue confidence, that the Rebellion was inevitably at an end. The present almost unexampled business prosperity of the loyal States has further increased this dangerous sentiment. Engrossed with trade and schemes of trade—everybody making money or hoping to make it—everybody reading the papers, and reading of the onward march of our arms, and the discomfiture, distress and demoralization of rebel armies and rebel communities, suddenly the major part of the Northern people came to think that the gigantic work of saving the country was as good as completed, and henceforth it was to be, All hail to Trade—to the arts of peace and the delights of society! The decimation of the heroic armies to whose valor was due whatever of hope we cherished and whatever of security we had gained was a fact forgotten. The serpentine life of rebellion which we so often have had occasion to remark was a fact forgotten. The natural desperation of the rebels, haply more potent, under the circumstances, than any previous condition of things with them, was a fact forgotten. Unawares we subsided into the comfortable assurance, that the house was about in order—that the national clock was wound up, and would strike out the hours of national life, no wheel opposing. For the draft, it was well enough in its way, but rather needless; recruiting as a system—that was well in the ancient days of Bull Run, but not to be thought of in these gala days of business and colored troops; some guerillas yet in Virginia and on the banks of the Mississippi, Charleston not yet taken, and more or less of opposition in Texas and thereabouts, but on the whole the Rebellion was smashed, the Union saved, Liberty secure. Meanwhile the desperation of rebels was desperatized. They rallied for conscription, rallied for concentration, rallied for a fight and they achieved a victory, and we have not yet neutralized the prestige of it, such as it is. It, therefore, behooves us to put forth more energy and that immediately. We want men in the field, and every day is increasing the want. If the Government is not going to do it, the people should take this thing in hand, and fill up their thinned armies. Money-making, pleasure-seeking and all Tom Thumb performances should be subordinate to this idea and this work—the filling up of the armies for the speedy suppression of the Rebellion. Let it be so.

THE POOR YOU HAVE ALWAYS WITH YOU.

——"And good, my lord,
By that you love the dearest in this world,
As you wish Christian peace to souls departed
Stand these poor people's friend."

This language of the dying Catharine of Aragon, in behalf of her faithful servants, may not seem inappropriate touching the duty of that class of our citizens, whom Providence has blessed with abundance, towards that other class whose path of life runs among the thorns and trials of adversity. The chilling blasts of winter are close upon us. Many we know are illy prepared for suitable protection against its natural inclemeney. To stand unprotected amid the snows and frosts of our Northern winter, is to suffer almost beyond the power of language to describe.

There may be few, and perhaps need be none, who are called to suffer thus in this humane and Christian community; but that it is possible thus to be conditioned, and that there have been cases even within the limits of our own favored New England of absolute destitution in dead winter, cannot, nor will not be controverted. Let much be pardoned to the natural sensitiveness, or pride, if you will, which conceals, sometimes, the real wants of certain families. Remember, reader, that it is a very humiliating task to a person of high spirits, who has seen better days, to go out into the world and lay bare his wretchedness. He may have much to regret in his own delinquencies, which makes him hang back, but should a weak and sinking wife, and little helpless babes, be left to suffer because of the guilty or innocent improvidence of an unfortunate husband and father?

Beside, is it a necessity always to conclude that, where there is wretchedness, there must also be guiltiness? If there is guiltiness, is it justice that the sins of the father and the husband should be visited upon the wife and the children? Even if just, has mercy no part nor lot in this great and heavenly work of assuaging the sorrows and sufferings of poverty and want amid the frosts and storms of winter? Is sin, negligenee and crime confined invariably to the poor? Has not the case been, frequently in our world, that the very abundance possessed by some people has accrued through injustice and wrong by grinding the face of the poor?

We will conclude our feeble remarks to-day in the following language from the immortal Bard of Avon:—

"The quality of mercy is not strain'd;
It dreppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath: it is twice bless'd;
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes:
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes
The throned monarch better than his crown;
His sceptre shews the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty,
Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings;
But mercy is above this sceptr'd sway,
It is enthroned in the hearts of kings,
It is an attribute to God himself;
And earthly power doth then shew likest God's
When mercy seasons justice. Therefore, Jew,
Though justice be thy plea, consider this—
That in the course of justice, none of us
Should see salvation: we do pray for mercy;
And that same prayer doth teach us all to render
The deeds of mercy.

H.

☞ The Danvers Farmers' Club organized last Monday evening by choice of John A. Putnam as Chairman for the ensuing meeting, and Andrew Nichols as Secretary for the year. Dr. George B. Loring. M. C. Adams, William R Putnam and W. L. Weston were chosen as the Executive Committee. A chairman of the Club is chosen every week, who is also, for the time being, a member of the Committee.

☞ Bank Hall, in Danvers, is being fitted up for a Masonic Lodge, to be known as "Amity Lodge." Already there are some sixty Masons in the town and the prospect is of a large and flourishing Lodge. GEORGE TAPLEY, Esq., has been chosen Master.

☞ We have on exhibition in our office a wild raspberry, fresh and plump, picked from the vines a day or two ago by Mr. Stephen Osborne. It should have been in our horticultural exhibition.

☞ The Massachusetts Senate started, Tuesday morning, on a visit to the Hoosac Tunnel, expecting to be gone some four days.

HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION.

The Seeond Exhibition of this society on Wednesday and Thursday of last week did eredit to our town, notwithstanding that the present year has been a bad one for fruit. The display of pears was large and varied, and in eonjunction with the fine varieties of flowers made a beautiful show. Four or five long tables were crowded with pears, apples, grapes and flowers, comprising almost every known variety, and partly graced by names as jaw-cracking as those of the officers of the Russian fleet in New York harbor. There were several very large contributions—Stephen Blaney sending some 45 plates; J. V. Stevens 42, while Messrs. Wm. Maloon, Isaac Hardy, Henry Poor, Nathan H. Poor, Wm. T. Dole, Sumner Southwick, R. S. Rogers, and others, were largely represented.

We would say that the contributions from Wm. Maloon, of Salem, were equal to any we have ever seen on exhibition, several of the varieties being new and choice kinds. Not being a member of the society the committee could not award him a premium or gratuity; but at the close of the exhibition a vote of thanks was tendered him, as well as R. S. Rogers, Wm. D. Northend, Mr. and Mrs. McGee, for their choice speeimens and gifts of fruit and flowers to the Society.

The number of plates of pears on exhibition, was 409; apples, 36; grapes, 49; quinees, 4; eranberries, 1; baskets of fruit, 2; pots of grapes, 3; stands of flowers 4; pots flowers 1; bouquets 22.

Annexed we give the reports of the different committees:

FLOWERS.

Mrs. S. A. McGee—Dish of Flowers beautifully arranged; also a stand dish of cut Verbenas and Heliotrope, displaying very fine taste in the arrangement; also two hand Boquets. This being considered by the committee the finest display of flowers a gratuity of $1 was awarded.

Mrs. Lottie A. Peirce—Very fine dish and vase of Flowers, in great variety and beautifully arranged. Gratuity 75 cents.

Mrs. Haven—Dish of Phloxes, Asters, Heliotrope, Verbenas, etc., some of the varieties of which were very fine. 50 cents.

Mrs. J. Pinder—Two small round dishes of Flowers to match, for table ornaments, very fine. 50 cents.

S. Newman—Three boquets, one of Dahlias, in which were some of the finest varieties on exhibition. 50 cents.

Ward Poole—Pyramidal Dish of Fuchias, Salvias, Asters, etc., very handsome. 50 cts.

R. S. Rogers—Very fine display of Dahlias. 50 cents.

David Peirce—Eight beautiful Flowers of the Bruginansia. 50 cents.

George C. Peirce—Flat Boquett; also cut Flowers of the Gazanna Splendens, Zinnias, Convolvulus, Japan Pink, Drummond's Phlox, Seedling Snapdragons, Mourning Bride (several varieties), Eschsoltzia, Abutilon, and several varieties of Liliputian or Boquet Dahlias.

Two dishes and several boquets of Globe Amaranthus Flowers in white and purple, attracted general attention. One of the dishes was arrangsd to spell "UNION," and one had the letters A. L. for Abraham Lincoln. These were sent in without names.

VEGETABLES.

The committee regret that in a town like ours, that produces more vegetables than any town in the county, that so few of our farmers seemed disposed to contribute of their products for the encouragement of our society.—The committee passed upon what few specimens were received, which were generally of a superior quality.

James Perry, for the most numerous and best variety of vegetables, the first premium of $2.

Andrew Curtis, for the second best variety of vegetables, a gratuity of $1.

Hazen Ayer, for fine specimens of Turnips and other root vegetables, a gratuity of $1.

James P. King, for fine specimens of Squashes and Ruta Baga, a gratuity of $1.

There were also fine specimens of Sugar Beets offered by Eben S. Poor, and some few Sweet Potatoes by A. Jones, but not sufficient in variety to warrant the committee in making any award.

PEARS.

Hiram Plumer, Clargo Pear, 1st premium.
John Pinder, do, gratuity.
A. L. Pierson, Belle Lucrative, 1st quality.
Rufus H. Brown, do, 2d quality.
Miles O. Stanley, Flemish Beauty, 1st qual.
Isaac Hardy, do do, 2d quality.
Abel Proctor, Laurence, 1st quality.
Stephen Blaney, do, 2d quality.
A. L. Pierson, Seckle, 1st quality.
Henry Poor, do, 2d quality.
W. M. Jacobs, Winter Nelis, 1st quality.
Benjamin S. Wheeler, do do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Beurre de Anjous, 1st qual
John V. Stevens, do do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Beurre Diel, 1st quality.
Samuel Newman, do do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Duchess, 1st quality.
Wm. T. Dole, do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Easter Beurre, 1st quality.
Sumner Southwick, do do, 2d quality.
Francis Baker, Glout Morceau, 1st quality.
Sumner Southwick, do do, 2d quality.
John V. Stevens, Louise Bon de Jersey, 1 q.
Stephen Blaney, do do, 2d quality.
Wm. T. Dole, Vicar of Winkfield, 1st qual.
Hiram Plumer, do do, 2d quality.
Miles O. Stanley, Urbaniste, 1st quality.
Stephen Blaney, do, 2d quality.
" " Burre Bosc, 1st quality.
Hiram Plumer, do do. 2d quality.
John V. Stevens, Paradise D'Autum, 1st q.
Stephen Blaney, do do, 2d quality.
Henry Poor, Maria Louise, 1st quality.
Benj. Goodrich, do do, 2d quality.
George C. Peirce, Swan's Orange, 1st qual.
Joseph Fenderson, do do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Passe Colman, 1st quality.
John V. Stevens, do do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Bossouck, 1st quality.
John V. Stevens, Fulton, 1st quality.
Isaac Hardy, do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Buffum, 1st quality.
W. M. Jacobs, do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Beurre Superfine, 1st qual.
John V. Stevens, do do, 2d quality.
Hiram Plumer, Figue, 1st quality.
John V. Stevens, do do, 2d quality.
Isaac Hardy, Catilac, 1st quality.
John V. Stevens, Beurre Langalier, 1st qual
Stephen Blaney, do do, 2d quality.
John V. Stevens, Bergamot, 1st quality.
Benjamin Wheeler, do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Epine Duman, 1st quality.
Hiram Plumer, do do, 2d quality.
Sumner Southwick, Grand Soliele, 1st qual.
Joseph Fenderson, Tongress, 1st quality.
David Osborne, do, 2d quality.
Stephen Blaney, Andrews, 1st quality.
" " Graslain, 1st quality.
John V. Stevens, do, 2d quality.
Isaac Hardy, Doyemed Alencon, 1st qual.
Basket of Fruit, 1st prem., to S. Blaney.

GRAPES.

Stephen Blaney, Isabella, 1st quality.
Benjamin Goodrich, do, 2d do.
Hiram Plumer, Delaware, 1st do.
Joseph Fenderson, do, 2d do.
" " Hartford Prolific, 1st do.
John V. Stevens, do, 2d do.
Hiram Plumer, Concord, 1st do.
Wm. F. Perry, do, 2d do.
Jefferson Taylor, Diana, 1st do.
Joseph Fenderson, do, 2d do.
John V. Stevens, Rebecca, 1st do.
Joseph Fenderson, do, 2d do.
Sumner Southwick, Black Hamburg, 1st do.
Miles O. Stanley, do do, 2d do.
R. S. Rogers, do do, 2d do.
Wm. T. Dole, Grizely Frontignac, 1st do.
" " " Red Chapelas, 1st do.
Lewis Allen, White Frontignac, 1st do.
Sumner Southwick, do do, 2d do.
" " Sweet Water, 1st do.
Premium on Cannon Ball, Muscat, to R. S. Rogers.
Premium on Barbarossa, to R. S. Rogers.
Premium on White Syrian, to do.
Grape Vines in Tubs—gratuities to Jefferson Taylor and J. O. Haven.

APPLES.

Lewis Allen, Hubbardston Nonsuch, prem.
Lewis Allen, Hunt Russett, premium.
S. Blaney, Hubbardston Nonsuch, gratuity.
G. C. Peirce, Baldwin, premium.
S. Newman, do, gratuity.
S. Blaney, Roxbury Russett, premium.
S. Blaney, do, gratuity.
Henry Poor, Minister, premium.
S. Blaney, do, gratuity.
M. O. Stanley, Ladies' Sweeting, premium.
N. Bushby, Fameuse, gratuity.
Lewis Allen, Ben, premium.

Joseph Fenderson, cranberries, 1st quality.

☞ The Republicans of South Danvers held a caucus at the Town Hall last Saturday evening. Called to order by Francis Baker; Sidney C. Bancroft was chosen Chairman and Charles D. Howard Secretary. Delegates were chosen as follows:—

TO THE COUNTY CONVENTION.

Sidney C. Bancroft,	William H. Little,
Charles D. Howard,	Nathan H. Poor,
John S. Torr,	Isaac Hardy.

TO THE SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

Alfred McKenzie,	Alerson Galeucia,
Joseph Moore,	Stephen Blaney,
James P. King,	Eben S. Poor.

The following named gentlemen were appointed for the Republican Town Committee for the ensuing year:—

Francis Baker,	John S. Torr,
Charles D. Howard,	Stephen Blaney,
Alonzo P. Phillips,	Henry A. King,

John C. Blaney.

TAXES FOR 1863.

We have been favored by the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, with a perusal of the tax book, and below we give a list of the persons, firms, corporations and estates, who are assessed $39 and upwards:—

Allen Lewis,	$367 18
Do., trustee Poole estate,	143 98
Annable Nath'l,	1I4 84
Abbott Alfred A.,	67 72
Buxton Joshua,	222 10
Buxton Joshua, Jr.,	77 62
Buxton Henry V.,	47 88
Buxton John,	54 08
Buxton Daniel,	50 36
Buxton Daniel, heirs of,	40 92
Blake, Samuel,	50 36
Beckett Joseph,	45 40
Berry William,	60 90
Bank Danvers,	40 92
Bagley John, estate of,	48 36
Baker Francis,	59 04
Brown Chas. E.,	40 44
Brown Samuel, Jr.,	98 72
Bancroft Alpheus,	108 64
Bushby William,	62 14
Bushby Asa, estate of,	55 18
Brooks & Messer,	45 88
Blaney Philip,	57 80
Berry John M.,	80 74
Brown Rufus H.,	81 98
Bushby Henry,	146 46
Burbeck John E.,	126 00
Basford P. B.,	49 12
Brown John,	43 54
Bancroft S. C.,	196 68
Brown Samuel,	160 72
Blaney Stephen,	270 46
Brown Daniel,	72 06
Brown Joseph,	61 52
Bank Warren,	124 00
Brown Wm. H.,	87 56
Buxton Jonathan,	60 28
Buxton Daniel, Jr.,	121 66
Buxton Edward,	138 58
Cook Henry,	347 96
Crane Samuel,	85 08
Curtis Andrew,	79 50
Curtis Samuel,	77 02
Clark Aaron F.,	87 56
Clark & Co.,	68 20
Clement John B.,	55 32
Cobb Seward P.,	45 40
Daniels R. S.,	183 66
Daniels David,	124 76
Dole Moses, estate of,	62 00
Dole William T.,	137 16
Dustin Jonathan, heirs,	559 86
Elliot Isaac, estate of,	195 30
Elliot Isaac B.,	127 24
Elliot Lewis W.,	147 70
Eaton Peter.	46 64
Fairfield Joseph,	83 84
Fernald Stephen,	119 80
Felton Nathaniel,	97 48
Frost John,	291 54
Flint Elijah, heirs of,	68 82
Goodrich B.,	143 36
Goodrich Z.,	39 82
Goodwin D. C.,	45 40
Goodell Perley,	61 52
Gardner Asa, estate of,	123 38
Goldthwait E., estate of,	40 92
Gallucia Alerson,	60 90
Gile Benjamin, heirs of,	43 40
Huntington Benjamin,	46 02
Harris Samuel,	59 66
Hardy Isaac,	209 08
Hodgkins Joseph S.,	75 78
Ham Samuel,	56 56
Haskell Daniel,	53 46
Hutchinson Benjamin,	309 52
Howard Betsey,	89 90
Herrick John,	71 44
Horton N. M. and others,	213 28
Hildreth Paul,	48 50
Jacobs John, estate of,	51 40
Jacobs Joseph,	116 70
Jacobs W. M.,	293 40
Jacobs W. M. & Son,	230 64
Jacobs Joseph, Jr.,	40 44
Jacobs Edward W.,	50 36
King Jonathan,	980 98
King Amos,	68 34
King Perley & Eben U.,	103 54
King Phebe,	351 54
King Eben,	512 88
King Perley G.,	373 38
King Henry A.,	358 50
King Eben W.,	287 20
King James P.,	345 48
King S. P. C.,	323 78
King Daniel W.,	109 26
Kimball Obadiah,	207 84
Little William W., estate of,	150 04
Loring Richard,	51 60
Lord John A.,	100 58
Lord William N.,	106 78
Lowe Charles P.,	145 84
Little William H.,	122 90
Little Plummer,	155 76
Little Mary, estate of,	47 12
Marsh James,	119 80
Marsh Mary,	65 72
Marsh Philip,	101 20
Mansfield John,	41 18
Merrill Wingate,	103 68
Munroe Isaac,	72 06
Merrill Henry M.,	62 14
Messer A. A.,	39 20
Newhall David,	45 40
Needham Elias,	52 42
Needham Stephen P.,	62 14
Needham Benjamin,	56 56
Nelson & Merrill,	68 82
Nutter Cyrus S.,	39 20
Newhall Samuel K.,	46 02
Nutter W. E. & J. S.,	48 36
Osgood Joseph,	74 68
Osborne Kendall,	206 60
Osborne Philip L.,	54 70
Osborne Amos,	191 72
Osborne Franklin,	283 48
Osborne Dennison W.,	52 84
Osborne George F.,	68 34
Osborne Daniel,	98 10
Osborne Richard,	39 68
Osborne Joshua,	61 52
Osborne C. W.,	163 82
Osborne Amos, 2d.,	72 76
Osborne Caleb,	205 98
Osborne Sylvester,	305 18
Osborne George, Dr.,	402 52
Osborne George, Dr., trustee,	60 40
Osborne George P.,	42 92
Osborne Miles,	178 70
Osborne Miles & Co.,	101 68
Osborne Abraham C.,	57 18
Osborne George A.,	52 84
Osborne David,	47 88
Osborne Jacob,	46 02
Osborne Persis L.,	68 82
Osborne Douglass,	72 68
Osborne Benjamin C.,	50 36
Osborne Ann F.,	99 20
Osborne Rachel L.,	99 20
Poor H. C.,	111 74
Poor John O.,	42 30
Poor Joseph,	92 52
Poor Henry,	338 66
Poor N. H.,	55 32
Poor Eben S.,	295 88
Plumer Hiram,	45 40
Proctor J. W., guardian,	96 10
Proctor Daniel,	96 76
Proctor Abel,	291 54
Proctor Irene F.,	200 88
Perry James,	103 06
Preston Levi,	160 72
Peasley John,	111 74
Prescott Jonathan E., estate of,	112 36
Putnam Jeremiah,	45 40
Proctor Thomas E.,	191 72
Page Enoch,	118 56
Peirce William,	57 18
Peabody S.,	83 84
Patterson N. P. C.,	73 92
Perkins James,	52 84
Pinder John,	44 16
Pinder & Brown,	458 80
Peirce George C.,	41 86
Preston Moses,	84 46
Proctor Perley,	51 60
Proctor Thorndike,	96 86
Phelps Thurston, estate of,	40 30
Proctor Abel J., estate of,	188 48
Pepper George W.,	64 00
Poor Henry & Son,	86 60
Reith John,	65 86
Reed Joseph W.,	98 72
Reed Jonas,	138 40
Robbins Hannah S.,	69 44
Richardson Samuel,	52 22
Sutton Eben,	1,470 16
Stevens John V.,	39 20
Sanger Augustus H.,	143 36
Sanger A. & A. A.,	166 56
Spaulding Levi,	59 66
Sanger Abner,	238 84
Simonds Charles,	61 52
Stimpson Thomas,	86 32
Stimpson & Floyd,	63 86
Smith Richard,	106 16
Stanley Miles O.,	70 20
Shillaber Jonathan,	108 02
Symonds Samuel,	131 58
Symonds R. S. D.,	77 64
Shillaber Daniel,	39 20
Shackley M. A.,	47 88
Sutton William Jr.,	127 24
Southwick Edward,	60 28
Sutton William,	586 66
Salstonstall H.,	99 96
Do., as guardian to F. H. Appleton,	496 00
Do., personal est. held in trust,	341 00
Edward Todd,	76 40
Josiah B. Thomas,	114 22
Taylor D., estate of,	57 66
Teel George M.,	44 16
Torr Andrew,	121 66
Taylor Jefferson,	73 30
Trask Thomas,	54 08
Tilton George P.,	98 72
Torr John,	47 88
Taylor Benjamin,	76 40
Upton Eben S.,	74 54
Do., adm'r estate of C. Lambert,	50 84
Upton Eben, estate of,	440 20
Mutual Union Store,	63 86
Upton Franklin,	146 46
Upton David,	61 52
Upton George,	326 88
Upton Elijah W.,	1,105 60
Ward Alfred A.,	54 08
Wilson Susan,	75 64
Wilson Silas,	72 06
Wilson Newhall,	47 88
Winchester Silas,	45 40
Wilson John,	277 90
Wilson Samuel,	60 90
Welch Samuel,	46 64
Ward Alfred,	51 60
Wilson Benjamin,	78 88
Wilson Warren,	44 78
Wheeler Benjamin S.,	178 08
Wheeler Benjamin,	376 48
Wheeler John, estate of,	43 40
White & Fisk,	62 00
Whitten James O.,	51 60
Young Jaeob,	46 64

NON-RESIDENTS.

Richard S. Rogers,	$281 48
Mrs. Catherine Little,	42 16
Timothy O'Shea,	54 56
Emma C. Dodge, estate of,	43 40
James M. Caller,	186 00
George Crowningshield,	42 16
Francis Dane,	150 04
Francis Dane & Co.,	186 00
Sally P. King,	121 52
John Dexter,	43 40
Thomas Brown,	104 16
Dr. F. P. Hurd,	84 32
Samuel D. Pender,	158 10
Theophilus W. Walker,	688 20
Estate of Asa Russell,	59 52
Henry Gardner,	277 76

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

Fernando Wood and his victims—Gov. Seymour—Reception of the Missouri and Kansas Delegations—August Belmont and the Rothschilds—The new President of Dartmouth—The late decision of the Court of Appeals—its effect.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 9th, 1863.

DEAR WIZARD,—The trials of the July rioters and murderers are progressing before Judge Barnard of the Supreme Court. The strong arm of the Law is upon the wicked agents.—The more criminal principals still walk our streets or sit in high places of authority. Up in his splendid residence on the banks of the Hudson sits Fernando Wood preparing himself for his debut in the halls of Congress. Down in the City Hall the dreadful mill of Justice grinds up his dupes. On the Fourth of July the Gubernatorial orator played the Antony at the Academy of music and the "sudden flood of mutiny" streamed mad and red through the beleaguered streets within the month. But to-day his "friends" shiver at the bar of the Court, friendless, forsaken, abandoned by the men who first excited, then fanned, their rude and fierce passions to the point of blood and arson. In spite of Gov. Seymour and his political associates the United States authority was vindicated here and the Conscription Law was enforced to the letter and now they tremble at the expectation that their disloyalty may cost them the loss of the State this fall.

Public opinion sets terribly against them on the riot business and they do not hesitate to push on the trials of the rioters, although every man of them who is convicted is a voter lost to their ticket. The Governor's "friends" are getting the worst of it, but such is the fate of the mere tools in every lawless outbreak against constituted authority. If successful, the leaders ride into power; if trampled out, the populace, who have dared and fought, die; the leaders escape.

The Missouri and Kansas Delegation had a public reception at the Cooper Institute last week. Their speakers set forth the condition of Missouri affairs with considerable power, but they were exceedingly unfortunate in some of their remarks. Neither was the spirit exhibited by them calculated to inspire faith in their wisdom. They manifested too little respect for the President and too little for the forms of law. In fact, their disregard for all things authorized and all men in authority seems to be chronic in Missouri on both sides. The late speech of Mr. Blair in opposition to the Radicals is quite as violent and more lawless in its assertions than their remarks referred to alone.

August Belmont has just sailed for Europe to arrange the business of his house here which has been disarranged by the withdrawal of his two partners. They have been members of the firm for ten years and retire with ample fortunes. Mr. Belmont is the agent, as is well known, of the Rothschilds in this country.—The Rothschilds have lately had a meeting of their family. Among other acts they relaxed the rule hitherto in force with them, by which it was obligatory upon them, to marry only their first cousins. They also discontinued their Naples house. They now have only four, one in each of the cities of London, Vienna, Frankfort, and Paris.

The Rev. Asa D. Smith the President elect of Dartmouth college, is still preaching to his society on the Second Avenue. He is a man well advanced in years, dignified in manner and apparently possessed of that kindness of disposition which attracts young persons. He is well reputed as a preacher. His sermons are said to be sound, scholarly productions. It seems to be the opinion here that the college trustees have made a wise selection of a President.

That they did well in effecting the removal of Dr. Nathan Lord, the divinity copperhead correspondent of the Boston Courier, no alumnus hereabouts questions.

The late decision of our Court of Appeals asserting the constitutionality of the legal tender law and so foreshadowing the action of the Supreme Court of the U. S. has had a tendency to inflate values somewhat on Wall Street. It is argued that now the city banks will again issue their bills, there being no further fears of demands for specie—that the National Banks, just going into operation in the city, will operate to expand the volume of paper afloat, while the prospects at Chattanooga favor the belief in a prolongation of the necessity of new and further issues, and, thus arguing, a winter of gigantic stock speculation is prophesied.

Yours, &c.,
GREGORY.

TEMPERANCE UNION MEETING.

A meeting of the Essex County Temperance Union was held in the vestry of Rev. Dr. Cooke's Church in Lynn, on Thursday, Oct. 8th.

The Convention was called to order by Hon. W. F. Johnson of Lynn, and opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Beaman of Salem.

The records of the last meeting were read. The following gentlemen were appointed to nominate a list of officers for the ensuing year: Christopher Johnson, of Lynn; E. N. Walton, of Salem; Mr. Millett, of Beverly; W. E. Nutter, of South Danvers and Hiller of Marblehead.

The following were appointed a Committee on Business: Rev. Mr. Beaman of Salem—Rev. Mr. Owens of Lynn—Rev. Mr. Barber of So. Danvers.

The following were appointed a Committee on time and place of holding next meeting: Isaac Hardy of So. Danvers, Marshall of Beverly, and Clough of Lynn.

While the Committees were out, addresses were made by Rev. Mr. Allen of Maine (better known as camp-meeting John,) Mr. Trask of Salem, Rev. Mr. Kelly of Lynn, and Rev. Edwin Thomson of Walpole.

The Committee on nominations reported the following list which was adopted:

PRESIDENT—Isaac Hardy, So. Danvers.

VICE PRESIDENTS—C. Johnson, Jr., Lynn; A S. Gannett, Lynnfield; W. D. Brackett, Swampscott; J. Q. Hammond, Nahant; W. R. Ranker, Danvers; Jaeob Perley, Salem; John Safford, Beverly; J. E. Hiller, Marblehead; J. Price, Manchester; Rev. J. W. Bacon, Manchester; Rev. I. J. P. Collyer, Gloucester; Rev. S. Barden, Rockport; J. S. Oliver, Saugus.

SECRETARY—M. B. Mansfield, Salem.

TREASURER—Harrison Newhall, Lynn.

The Committee of time and place reported as follows, which was adopted:

Gloucester, on 2d Thursday, Jan. 7, 1864. Rev. C. W. Biddles of Lynn to deliver the address and Samuel Kelly of Lynn as Substitute.

Remarks were made by C. Johnson, Jr., of Lynn; T. M. Gwinn of Salem and J. C. Hiller of Marblehead.

The Committee on Business submitted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the positive and alarming increase of intemperance demands a corresponding earnestness on the part of all lovers of temperance. We hail as a good omen the attendance of to-day, and greet as co-laborers and friends all organizations which labor for the common cause.

Resolved, That inasmuch as the character of every nation depends upon the character of those composing it, and that inasmuch as there is a special temptation to intemperance in the present disturbed state of the country, it is the judgment of this convention that there is a special call to every true patriot to act in the suppression of intemperance as one desirous of seeing the nation as distinguished for its sobriety, as it is for the intelligence and privileges of its citizens.

Resolved, That the interests of Religion, the increase of church membership, and the guarding against religious declension, plead with great earnestness, for christians to give to the cause of temperance their most efficient support.

Resolved, That we ought to labor to secure the safety of the rising generation, not only by public efforts and organizations, but by constant efforts to impress upon all parents the imperative duty of exercising wholesome discipline and inculcating in precept and practice sound temperance principles in their homes.

Resolved, That in our opinion one pro source of intemperate habits is the daily continued indulgence of children in pleas of the appetite, and the practice of allov them to choose their companions uncontrol and to employ their time where they will.

Resolved, That as success in life can onl hoped for by those who are of strictly tem ate habits, our young men who cherish an orable ambition should steadfastly adhe the principles of total abstinance.

Resolved, That it is the duty of temper men to see that the Laws of the Commonw prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquo executed.

The resolutions were discussed by Mr. Mallalieu of Lynn, Rev. Mr. of Beverly, Rev. Mr. Allen of Ma Rev. Mr. Beaman of Salem, Rev. Brigham of Saugus, Rev. S. Kelley Lynn, C. C. Cummings, C. Robinson, and W. L. Peabody of Lynn, W. Nutter of So. Danvers, J. E. Hille Marblehead, J. Perley, A. Trask, D. Lord and M. B. Mansfield of Salem, were all adopted.

A most excellent discourse was deli ed by Rev. A. B. Rich of Beverly u the teachings of the Scriptures upon question of the use of intoxicating dri

A very beautiful dinner was furni by the friends of temperance in L which was made an occasion for an ir change of social intercourse, proving the intoxieating is not an essential of our enjoyment of the good thing this life.

The Convention adjourned about past five with the conviction that t was a leaver at work, which bye and would make itself manifest throug the county.

SALEM DELEGATES.—The Republi of Salem held their caucus for the cl of delegates to the County Conven at their Head Quarters in Washin Street, last Tuesday evening, N. J. den, Esq., presiding. The follo gentlemen were duly chosen as delega

At Large—William S. Messervy, J. C. kins, James A. Gillis.

Ward 1—S. R. Hathaway and C. A. B ford.

Ward 2—N. J. Holden and Benjamin Gray.

Ward 3—Edward A. Goldthwait and liam G. Choate.

Ward 4—Lucius B. Morse and J. B. F. good.

Ward 5—S. A. Merrill and Eleazer Au

Ward 6—Joseph Swan and John Town

BAND PROMENADE CONCERT.—The next cert, by the Salem Brass Band, will take on Friday evening, Oct. 16th, on the Sq provided the weather is favorable.

Warren Five Cents Savings Ba

The members of this Corporation are h notified that the Annual meeting will be h at the Warren Bank Rooms, on Wedne Nov. 4th, at 7 o'clock P. M., for the cho Officers for the year ensuing, and for the t action of any other business that may le come before them.

Per Order
FRANCIS BAKER, Sec
So. Danvers, Oct. 14, 1863.

SINGING SCHOOL.—We understand tha J. B. Watts, the popular music teacher, town making arrangements for a juvenile ing class.

☞ At the Boston Theatre, the beau CUBAS still attracts crowded houses. Sh pears as Narramattah, or the Wept of Wi Wish this week, and we advise all to see BARGAINS IN KID GLOVES.—John P. Pea has determined to close his entire stock of Kid Gloves, and has marked them down cents. They are the best goods and are s Boston and Salem for $1 25 and $1 50.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Cl Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. ale at the Equity Store, South Danvers. advertisement.

BEST KID GLOVES, in light colors for 75 to close—at PEABODY'S.

Jordan Lodge

SPECIAL MEETING this (Wedne Evening, October 14, at 7½ o'clock.

JOHN O. POOR, Se

Marriages.

In this town, Oct. 11th, by Rev O F Sa John H Wilson to Miss Mary E Prescott, of Salem.

In Salem, Sept 29, Mr John Hunt to Belinda A French; Oct. 7th, George R merton Esq, to Miss Jeannie M, daugh John Bertram Esq; 8th, Charles Sewal to Miss Margaret P, daughter of Stepl Ives Esq.

Deaths.

In this town, Oct. 2d, Willis A., son of R and Sarah E Baker, 2 mos 14 days; Cl H, son of John H and Mary E Marshall, 2 days.

8th, Miss Eunice O Hussey, 36 years.

11th, Mrs Anna Buxton 70 years 4 mo

12th, Elizabeth King, wife of S P Cobl daughter of the late Joseph Merrill, 31 mos 13 days. Funeral this afternoon at 2 P M. Relatives and friends are invited tend.

In Danversport, Oct 7, Frederick H son of George A and Mary M Elliot, 1 18 days.

There sleep in peace, my little babe,
There rest in sweet repose;
And though thou mouldered to the dus
Thou are fairer than the rose;
Too good to live, just right to die,
To go to Jesus and reign on high.

In Salem, Oct 6th, Mrs Lucy F Gardn yrs; 9th, Mrs Lydia, widow of the lat Jesse Johnson, 78 yrs; Mr Thomas Smi yrs; Elizabeth, daughter of James and Mahoney, 17 yrs; Joseph B, son of the la William R Morris, 7 yrs 5 mos 2 days; Miss Elizabeth S Johnson, 46 yrs 8 mos; Dr Thomas Wallace, 70 yrs 4 mos; 12th R

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 3d, schs H O Warren, (Br) Clementsport; Colora do, Shepherd, Philadelphia; 7th, R G Porter, Smith, and T Lake, Doughty, do; 8th, Chief, Allen: Gen Putnam, Young, and Speedwell, Berry, New York; 9th, Charles & William, Golding, and Ocean, Starr, Philadelphia; 12th, Pearl, Robinson, Rockland.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS.....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss. At the Superior Court begun and held at Newburyport, within and for the County of Essex, on the first Monday of September, A. D. 1863, and by adjournment, at Salem on the 21st day of September, A. D. 1863. PETER G. FOLSOM, of South Danvers in our County of Essex, plaintiff, against JOHN SAFFORD, of Monmouth in the County of Kennebec and State of Maine, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of JOSEPH SAFFORD, late of said South Danvers, deceased, defendant, in an action of contract. And the plaintiff says the defendant owes him four hundred and sixty-six dollars and eighty-eight cents, according to the account annexed to the plaintiff's declaration.

Upon the suggestion of the facts in this suit, it appearing to the Court that notice is necessary to be given to the defendant,

IT IS ORDERED, that the action be continued to the next term of this Court, and that notice of the pendency of this suit be given to the defendant by publishing this order in the South Danvers Wizard three weeks successively, the last publication to be thirty days at least before the next term of this Court to be held at Salem within and for said County of Essex, on the first Monday of December next.

Attest.

A. HUNTINGTON, Clerk.

South Danvers, Oct. 14, 1863.

Assignee's Sale of Real Estate in North Reading.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on the premises, FRIDAY, October 23d, 1863, at 4 o'clock, P. M., unless previously disposed of at private sale, the farm belonging to the estate of OLIVER PARKER, and formerly occupied by him, situated in North Reading.

This farm consists of about 100 acres of Field, Pasture and Wood Land, with a good Barn, but no Dwelling House.

S. C. BANCROFT, WM. P. HARDING, } Assignees.

No. Reading, Oct. 14, 1863—2w

VISIT THE PHOTOGRAPH ROOMS
— OF —
T. E. WOOD,
(Over O. F. Batchelder's Store,)
No. 136 Main St., South Danvers,
And get a faithful likeness of yourself and friends while in HEALTH and STRENGTH.

Carte de Visite, Photographs and Ambrotypes taken. Also pictures copied at reasonable prices.

Frames, Albums, Cases, &c., for sale.
South Danvers, Oct 14.

Selectmen's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given to the abutters on the following streets, viz.:—Foster street throughout its entire length, Washington street throughout its entire length, and that part of the Old Boston road between the Western terminus of Washington street and the Lynn boundary line—that a meeting of the Selectmen of South Danvers will be held at the Town House on THURSDAY, Oct. 29, 1863, at two o'clock P. M., at which time and place the Selectmen of said town will fix and determine the location and manner of construction of the track of the Salem and South Danvers Railroad in the streets aforesaid; at which meeting the abutters and other citizens interested may appear and show cause, if any there be, why said track should not be located and constructed.

JOSEPH POOR, A. W. BANCROFT, DANA WOODBURY, } Selectmen of South Danvers.

South Danvers, Oct. 10, 1863.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Oct. 13, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Jacob Burton,	Darby Loftus,
Patriek Fitzgerald,	Thomas Miller,
Lizzie Davis,	Moses A. Morrill,
Ellen Flynn,	Dennis O'Council,
S. H. Huttlestone,	A. H. Stone,
J. H. Lovett,	Geo. W. Twiss,
P. S. Locke,	Rebecca Wilson,
Mary P. Knoekler,	Willie F. Webber.

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

BOYS' OVER-COATS!
BOYS' OVER-COATS!
— AT —
CROSS' CLOTHING HOUSE, 219
Essex Street, Salem.

MEN'S OVER-COATS!
MEN'S OVER-COATS!
IMMENSE STOCK!
Salem, Oct 14,—3w

Browning & Long

GRAND OPENING
—OF—
NEW GOODS
—AT—
BROWNING & LONG'S.

THE MOST EXTENSIVE STOCK
—OF—
'Ladies' Furnishing Goods'
EVER BROUGHT TO SALEM.

MESSRS. BROWNING & LONG Extend a cordial invitation to the Ladies to call and look at the beautiful New Goods which they have just opened. It being their aim to accommodate all, they are always willing to show their Goods, whether Ladies wish to purchase or not.

OUR STOCK,
Comprising a variety not often to be found in a Retail Establishment,
consisting of
NEARLY EVERYTHING TO BE FOUND IN THE Ladies' Furnishing Line.

BERLIN ZEPHYR
☞ WORSTEDS. ☜
Having received our
FALL IMPORTATION,
We now offer one of the best selected Stocks ever presented in this Market, having
Many Shades very Rare, and Desirable,
and offering them at the
LOWEST PRICES.

Having made an especial endeavor to get the above Stock as near perfect as possible, we think that as far as particular shades, the best quality and
VERY LOW PRICES
are concerned, we can suit the most fastidious.

BROWNING & LONG,
177 Essex Street.
Salem, Oct. 7, 1863.

John P. Peabody.

GERMAN
ZEPHYR WORSTEDS

BLACK & WHITE ZEPHYR WORSTEDS, 17 Cents per ounce;
FINE COLORS ZEPHYR WORSTEDS, 22 Cents per ounce;
MOTTLED ZEPHYR WORSTEDS, 22 Cents per ounce;
☞ The Largest Stock of Worsteds in Salem, and the Lowest Prices. ☜
BREAKFAST SHAWLS.
SONTAGS.
HOODS.
NUBIAS.
SKATING CAPS.
MITTENS—SLEEVES—TIPPETS, &c.
WORSTED GOODS MADE TO ORDER.

RIBBONS AND FLOWERS.
Ribbons in all colors.
Ribbons in all widths.
Ruches in the best styles.

EMBROIDERIES AND LACE GOODS.
HOSIERY AND GLOVES.
OUR BEST KID GLOVES.
Pins—Needles—Buttons—Cottons—
Silks—Twists—Braids—Cords—
Soaps—Perfumes—Toilet Articles—
Brushes, &c, &c, &c, &c.

☞ Customers will find it to their advantage to examine our Stock before purchasing, as WE shall sell at the Very Lowest Prices!

Ladies' Furnishing Store,
220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,
JOHN P. PEABODY.
Salem, Oct. 14, 1863.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

JAMES F. ALMY.

WE have just received a very large Stock of SEASONABLE GOODS,
COMPRISING
RICH BLACK and COLORED SILKS.
PLAIN, PLAID and STRIPED ALPACCAS, in different qualities.
MOUSLIN DE LAINE PLAIDS,
HEAVY WOOL PLAIDS,
PLAIN and PLAID POPLINS,
OTTOMANS, REPPS and THIBETS, WOOL MOUSLIN DE LAINES, &c.
Also—Common DE LAINES, PRINTED REPPS, ENGLISH, FRENCH and AMERICAN PRINTS,
Also—A full Stock of MOURNING GOODS.
Also—A splendid line of AUTUMN SHAWLS.
Also—A full Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS, OPERA FLANNELS.
DOMESTIC GOODS, LINENS, KID GLOVES, &c.

☞ Believing that I have clearly demonstrated the principle of Buying and Selling for Cash, so that it has found favor, I am confident that our Goods, bought in large quantities from first hands, are this season to be sold lower, compared with ruling prices, than ever before.

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.
Sept 16, 1863.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!
ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.
We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.
SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.
oct 14

The Essex County Teachers' Association

WILL hold its next meeting in Lynn, on the 16th and 17th of OCTOBER.

FRIDAY will be devoted to visiting the Public Schools of Lynn. Friday evening, the Hon. JOSEPH WHITE will address the Association.

SATURDAY will be devoted to Essays, Discussions, &c.

☞ The time for preparing Essays is extended to the tenth of October.

T. G. SENTER, Cor. Sec.

[County papers please copy.]

SPECIAL NOTICE.
OPENING—THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1ST.
FALL AND WINTER STYLES OF
Bonnets, Hats, and Dress Caps,
AT MILLINERY ROOMS
No. 168 Essex Street, Salem.
M. E. CRANE,
Sept. 30. Successor to M. M. Fletcher.

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the
LOWEST CASH PRICES.
E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

DENTAL NOTICE.
NITROUS OXIDE GAS,
FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.
IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.
Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.
Oct. 3—mo.

Settees for Sale
NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

Salem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

ALL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be stopped, in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 5.

Per order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

WHITE WARE.
WHITE Dinner and Tea Ware, of the newest patterns, at oct 14 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st

GILT WARE.
GOLD Band Tea Ware. Also, Lustre China, at S C & E A SIMONDS.

GUT GLASS WARE.
GOBLETS, Champagnes and Wines, Dishes, &c., just opened at
oct 14 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st

PIQUE,
A brilliant new novel
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

WOVEN BOOK MARKS
BEAUTIFULLY made and in brilliant colors. Call and see them.
oct 14 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL.
HARPER'S Weekly, Leslie's Paper, and other weekly papers are received by
oct 14 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 Washington Street, Boston,
(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES
FALL & WINTER
CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,
OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,
In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,
Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,
MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
And PIECE Goods
FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS
In all the most desirable patterns of English German, French, Scotch and American Coatings, Cassimeres & Doeskins,
Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner at
LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 WASHINTON ST., BOSTON,
Five Doors above the Old South.
Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m,

FALL AND WINTER GOODS
AT
GEORGE P. DANIELS'S,
No. 238 Essex Street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)
Consisting of New Styles
DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS,
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR.
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera;
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.
☞ All the above Goods will be sold for Cash, at Low Prices.
sept 23—tf

M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURER TO ORDER
WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
At 236 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.

PAINLESS DENTISTRY.
TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN—by the use of
Nitrous Oxide Gas.
GEORGE H. CURRIER, Dentist,
Oct 7—4w 22 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

George S. Walker.

Gentlemen's Goods,
FOR FALL AND WINTER WEAR.
GEORGE S. WALKER respectfully invites the attention of his friends and the public to his Stock of
MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
carefully selected in the New York and Boston markets, embracing the LARGEST STOCK and assortment in the city, of
UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS,
Woolen, Merino and Silk—all qualities and sizes.
HALF HOSE.
Merino, Wool, Cotton, and every seasonable material.
GLOVES.
A great variety of Fall and Winter wear, including the best makes of KID and BEAVER, with a full and superior stock of Shirts, Collars Scarfs, Ties, Stocks, Suspenders, Bosoms, Cuffs, Umbrellas, and a general assortment of Toilet and other Articles for Gentlemen's use.
Buying advantageously, my prices will compare favorably with others in the city.
GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

FALL AND WINTER.
ELEGANT NEW GOODS.
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
ARE OPENING
MANY NEW STYLES OF
DRESS GOODS,
INCLUDING
Ottoman Reps,
Cashmere Plaids,
Thibet and M. D. Laines,
Rich & Heavy Black Silks,
Plain Colored Silks,
ALSO
SHAWLS
Of every description.
Salem, Sept 16—tf

FLANNELS AND COTTONS.
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Have on hand a full supply of
BROWN SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
BLEACHED SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
— Also —
GREY TWILLED FLANNELS;
WHITE FLANNELS,
which they offer at the LOWEST PRICES.
Salem, Sept 16—tf.

AUTUMN GOODS.
CLOTHS! CLOTHS!!
A fine assortment of
Cloths, Cassimeres, Doeskins,
— AND —
CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CAPES,
— FOR SALE BY —
A. J. ARCHER & CO.
Sept 16. tf

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.
FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863,

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.
RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,
THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
CALL AND EXAMINE.
For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

SEWING MACHINES.
PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult
JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT,
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 F street, Salem. ap30-

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission

TEETH ON VULCANITE
DR. J. H. BATCHELDER
DENTAL SURGEON,
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.,
Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them as to Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless,
Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY
NEW YORK.
This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.
The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.
AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary
33 MAIN STREET.
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.
Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 · · MAIN ST. · · 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers

T. A. SWEETSER

Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumes, Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL
OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand
Franklin, Locust Mountain, Red and White Ash. Old Company's Lehigh, Black Heath,
Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.
OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 19—tf

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stand to Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this opportunity to request my friends and customers who have bestowed their liberal patronage upon me, to transfer the same to my successor.

In taking leave of my business friends, I would return my warmest thanks for the generous patronage I have received. I can in the highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, and would bespeak for her your kind consideration and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those having unsettled accounts to call and adjust the same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at the old stand.

April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER.

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased of Mrs. M. M. FLETCHER her stock of Goods, and made additions to the same, is now prepared to furnish her patrons and the public with a large and fine assortment of

Millinery Goods,

which we will sell very low for cash. We hope by strict attention to business to merit a liberal share of patronage. M. E. CRANE, ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts.

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

THE
FAMILY MOURNING STORE,
20 Winter Street, Boston.
MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would respectfully call attention to their establishment (the only one of its kind in the city,) where every requisite for Mourning can be obtained.
We have a complete assortment of the following goods, just received:—
English and French Bombazines.
Alpacas, of every width and price.
Alpaca Glace.
7-8 Alpaca.
Bombazine Laine, a new article.
Turin Cloths, Canton Cloths,
French Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths.
Mourning Ginghams and Prints.
Mourning Millinery, in new styles; Mourning Hats and Veils, Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.
S. S. WILLIAMS.
Oct. 7.—2ms.

ABRUPT BUT SUGGESTIVE.

A showily dressed woman, not bad looking, yesterday entered a handsome store along the promenade. She looked like the wife of a man who had suddenly made money by army contracts. Her "harness" was good, but the wearer evidently was but lately accustomed to indulgence in finery. She entered the "principal depot" of a citizen, who among other proprietary articles, is the inventor of a celebrated hair tonic.

As she entered, proprietor was behind the counter, a matter rather rare for him, and with his hat on his head. He personally waited on her, asking, with his best smile, "What can I show you ma'am?"

"Why, your hair tonic."

"Here it is ma'am"—producing a bottle of the article.

"This is what makes hair grow, does it?"

"Yes ma'am; you'll find a little pamphlet inside the wrapper with many certificates from people who have been bald."

"Humph! What's the price?"

"A dollar a bottle ma'am—six bottles for five dollars."

"You're certain it'll bring hair in?"

"It never fails unless the hair is destroyed by disease."

"Well, I've got a bald spot on the top of my head. I'd give five hundred dollars to have it covered again."

Proprietor said he had no doubt the tonic would accomplish the result, and the lady ordered a half dozen to be sent to her house. Proprietor took the address. As the lady turned to leave the store, proprietor removed his hat, showing a head whose crown was innocent of covering.

"Well I declare!" exclaimed the lady, transfixed, looking at him in blank surprise.

"What is it, madam?"

"Why I swear if you ain't bald yourself."

Proprietor was about to rejoin, but the lady continued:

"I don't want that hair grease o' yourn now. I jest believe you're a lyin."

Proprietor attempted to explain, but the lady wouldn't listen. She couldn't be made to believe that a man could make "hair grease" to restore other people's hair, when bald himself. She left, advising him to grow a crop of hair on his own head before undertaking to furnish a recipe to cover the heads of other folks.

The moral is, when bald people sell hair tonic they should keep their hats on.

THE SKELETON LINE.—Riding along Girard Avenue, Philadelphia, a few days since, in a horse car, among the passengers (and there were but few of them) was a tall, dark, nervous-looking man, with much tobacco in his mouth, and considerable saliva on his shirt-bosom and vest. He was an impatient man, and as the car crept along at a snail's pace, his jaws worked furiously, and he spit tremendously, while he cast angry glances at the conductor and driver, who were "laying back" for more passengers. When the car reached Tenth street, and the nervous man found that the speed was not increased, he called to the conductor, compelled the latter to bend his head, as though to receive a communication of some moment, and then hoarsely whispered—

"How much do you get for the job?"

"Sir!" replied the conductor, and looked at the man as though desirous of enlightenment.

"How much for the job?" again asked the nervous man. "Does it come cheaper than hacks?"

A wild stare was the only answer.

"Whose body is it?" continued the nervous man, stuffing a fresh piece of tobacco into his mouth.

"Body, sir! What do you mean, si?"

"Why, ain't this car following a hearse?"

"No, sir," answered the astonished conductor.

"Oh! I thought it was, judging by the speed."

SINGULAR INCIDENT.—In a town near Danbury, some men engaged in putting up lightning rods called upon a forehanded farmer, well known in the county, and proposed to put some rods upon his buildiugs. He peremptorily declined the offer, saying that "if God Almighty owed him a grudge, he could destroy his property." Strange to say, that in less than a week afterwards, a heavy storm passed over his premisis, and a bolt descended upon the dwelling, killing him instantly, but doing no injury to any other person in the house, although there were several in it.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience – and possess a Valnable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing
JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs. Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1853—1 y

New Jersey Lands for Sale,
— ALSO —
GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

[COMMUNICATED.]
PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!
A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find A SURE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address
REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
New York.

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!
Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.,—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS J. C. KLINE,
127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586.
Sept 16—1yr

Advertisements.

Mothers—Take Heed!

MRS. OSBORN'S CURE FOR PIN WORMS

GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

Cards.

WILLIAM G. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.
Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

Fall and Winter Goods.
ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.
Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

FRANKLIN COAL.
JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.
may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

Book & Job Printing
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
Executed with Neatness & Despatch
AT THIS OFFICE.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.
INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.
ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

WANTED!
$1000 on a prime FIRST Mortgage of valuable Real Estate. Apply at this office.
South Danvers, Aug. 5, 1863. tf

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.
Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 23, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.
Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors. Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.
J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following
TARIFF OF PRICES:
Shaving, - - - - - - - - 8 cts,
Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.
Hair Cutting, - - - - - - - 15 cts,
Or 8 Tickets for $1 00.
Champooing, - - - - - - - 15 cts.
Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

PRESERVE YOUR FRUIT.
LUDLOW'S GLASS JARS AND COVERS.
FOR preserving Fruits, Vegetables, etc., in a perfectly fresh state.
They require no wax, solder or cement, seal instantly, and are more easily sealed and opened than any other article for the purpose ever invented. All kinds of wax and cement are equally disagreeable and uncertain in sealing. In presenting these articles to the public, the inventor challenges the world in an infallible, simple, easy, and rapid progress of Hermetical Sealing. All scientific and practical men who have examined them, say that they are without a fault, and are the only ones that have stood the chemical test.
The sealing is on an entirely original plan. This principle has stood the test for several years, and the best certificates of their value is, that those who have tried these articles will use no other. They are warranted as represented. Reliable directions for putting up all kinds of fruits, vegetables, etc, will accompany each jar.
PRICE LIST.
Pints, per doz, $2 25; 3 pints, per doz, $3 50;
Quarts, " 3 00; Half gallon, " 4 00;
Liberal discount to the trade.
Salem Aug 5 S C & E A SIMONDS'.
32 Front Street.

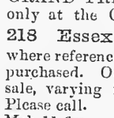
CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,
HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of
COFFINS AND CASKETS,
as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

CREAM ALE.
THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.
Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &e., &c.
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESSEY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.
We defy any one to produce a better.
One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,
WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!
For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

THE PIANO FORTES



THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,
218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call.
Meh 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

Barn for Sale.
THE subscriber offers for sale his barn, in rear of his residence on Holten st. Said barn is well adapted for any one wishing to keep a cow or horse. The loft will hold 1½ ton of hay.
Terms easy. S. Q. WHITE.
So. Danvers, Sept. 2, '63. tf

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.
THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.
FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

OATS.
2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.
For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Passengers by this route can take the 4.45 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.
Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.
☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & F. R. Railroad Station.
GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, September 23, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,
Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO,
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
188 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):
For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8¼. 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2¾ 5¼, 7½ p. m.
Beverly, 8¼ am., 1, 3½, 5¾, 6.55, 7¾ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8¼ a m., 3¼, 5¾ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8¼ a m., 1, 5¼ p m.
Portsmouth, 8¼ a m., 3¾, 5¾ p m.
Portland, 8¼ a m., 3¾ p m.
AND FOR SALEM, FROM
Portland, 8¼ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7¼, †11¼ a m., †5¼ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m., 6¼ p m.
Ipswich, 7 25, 8.25, 10.25 a m., 12 25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, *9.05, 11.05 a m., 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *3 35, *4 35, 5.35, *6 20, 5¾, *7 35, *.6.05 p m.
Boston, 7¼, *8¼, 10¼ a m., 12¼, 2¼, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9¼.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11¼ p m. and on Saturdays at 10¼ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.
Marblehead for Salem, 6¾, 7¾, 8¾, 9¾ a m., 12¼, 1¾, 5¼, 6¾, 7¼ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7¼, 8¼, 9.25, 11¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.
Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6¾, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5¾ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.
Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11¼ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m.. 12.40. 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8 40 a m., 1.20, 6 40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7¾ a m., 12¾, 3¾, 6¼ p m.
J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:
Leave Lowell for Salem, 7 25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9 40 a m. and 5 55 p m.
Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.
*Freight Train with passenger car attached.
F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.
CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5¼ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.
WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.
THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.
TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.
DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy. It has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.
DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.
General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?
THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on
Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,
And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:
Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass.
Capital and Assetts—$372,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.
WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS,
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Spherecotypes, Melainotypes, and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

GROUT & MUN
SOUTH DANVERS &
RAILROAD EXP
Express leaves South Danvers at
Freight " " at
Express leaves Boston at
Freight " " at
OFFICE at FREIGHT DE
Danvers Square.
Express Office in Boston, 3 Wash
Freight Office, 48 Kilb
Particular attention paid to r niture, collecting Bills, Notes, D
Smallest favors thankfully received.
South Danvers, august 26—tf

SUMMER ARRANG
TO LYNN & BOS
BY OMNIBUS & HORS
W. F. BURNHA
Line of Omnibuses will leave the L
Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Build vers. passing down Main Street, throu
Street, to Lynn, daily.
Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clo and 4 50 P. M
Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, We
A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.
Horse Cars leaving Scollay's Buildin at 8 15 A M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will houses at Lynn, at the above named passengers to South Danvers.
Sunday Arrangement.
Leave S. Danvers at 7.50 a.m.,
Leave Lynn at 9.40 a.m., and 6
Cars leave Scollay's Building, Court to meet the Omnibuses in Lynn for So
8 15 A. M., and 5 15 P. M.
Tickets to Lynn, - -
Through to Boston, -
Through Tickets to and from Boston
the Drivers and Conductors.
Passengers called for at reasonable el is given at the office.
EXPRESS BUSINE
Between South Danvers and Lynn pr ed to, on reasonable terms.

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1863. NO. 42.

E SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD olished every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Build-outh Danvers Square.
MS—Two Dollars a year.
'ERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
SSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

S—T—1860—X.

AKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

ey purify, strengthen and invigorate.
ey create a healthy appetite.
ey are an antidote to change of water and diet.
ey overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
ey strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
ey prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
ey purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
ey cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
ey cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
ey cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
ey are the best Bitters in the world. They make reak man strong, and are exhausted nature's restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix , the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, re taken with the pleasure of a beverage, with-egard to age or time of day. Particularly recom-ended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimu-

Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Sa-. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

is delightful article for preserving and beautify-he human hair is again put up by the original rietor, and is now made with the same care, skill attention, which first created its immense and recedented sales of over one million bottles ar-ly! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. million bottles can easily be sold in a year when again known that the Kathairon is not only the t delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it nses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it turning gray. These are considerations worth wing. The Kathairon has been tested for over ive years, and is warranted as described. Any who values a beautiful head of hair will use the airon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. sold by all respectable dealers throughout the id.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

he Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion commending the attention of our government to naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for preservation of the health of our soldiers. This cle has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards system against disease by exposure and irregular t. It is said that the great success of the Planta-n Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our appy difficulties was found in most Southern ies, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark ich it contained as one of its principal ingredi s.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one our most distinguished physicians remark, that enever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or nospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters can-be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—understand our government has opened negotia-ns with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but h what truth we do not know." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we assume "Our Government" that the Plantation ters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North South. There is probably several other things that ur Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular dicine in the world. We are not afraid to show at it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two ndred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis VI, King of France, for the enormous price of its n weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, vers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and dis-ses of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and ospical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS.—Aromatic, stimulant and nic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, nscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake ot, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, parting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to e mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the orld, and we withhold its name for the present. Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation itters; but the following is what's the matter, and ey know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatuleney and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, lerchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits, also for delicate females and weak persons who re-uire a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite nd clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Gro-ers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile f our signature on a steel-plate label, with our pri-ate government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigor ating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Facsimile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Mearon, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

Selected Poetry.

[It has been said that the Rebellion is inspired of the infernal regions, and the following piece of copperhead "poetry" so well illustrates the remark that we give it a place in the columns of the WIZARD, from the moral that may be readily drawn from it.—ED.]

A RUMPUS IN TOPHET!

NORTH-RIDGEVILLE, (Ohio,) Jan. 27.

HON. S. MEGARY: SIR—I send you the following lines, comprising a leaf in history which I think has never yet been published. Should you think them worthy a place in The Crisis, you will please give them an insertion:—

Come, gentle Muse, and touch a strain;
'Twill echo back the sound again;
On scenes that past we now must dwell,
When Old John Brown arrived in hell.

When Pluto heard Old Brown was hung,
Old Tophet with hosannas rung:
For well they knew the lying thief
Would make for them an honored chief.

Brown to receive they did prepare,
All eager in the joy to share;
Old Satan from his throne came down,
And left his seat for Old John Brown.

Not long, indeed, for him they wait,
For soon he thundered at the gate:—
"Come in," said Pluto, "quickly come,
You're welcome to your fiery home!".

Three cheers rolled forth in accents brief,
To hail the Abolition chief!
Old John chim'd in, and thanked the Fates
He'd safely passed the pearly gates.

While Arnold held him by the hand,
Old Satan took the Speaker's stand;—
"Silence!" cried he; "now, all sit down,
And hear me welcome brother Brown:—

"You're welcome, John, to your reward;
You've cheated Riddle and the Lord;
Though pearly gates wide open flew,
They did not catch my servant true.

"As oft you've murdered, lied and stole,
It did rejoice my burning soul;
You've run your length in earth's career,
And we are pleased to see you here.

"You'll take your seat at my left hand—
Why I do this you'll understand;
Be not surprised when I tell you
Old Abraham is coming too!

"There on my right, that vacant chair
Long since for him I did prepare;
And soon I know that he will come—
His earthly race is almost run.

"John at my left, Abe at my right,
We'll give the heavenly hosts a sight;
A triune group we then shall be—
Yes, three in one, and one in three.

"Abe's Cabinet, 'tis very true,
Will soon knock here as loud as you;
In short, the negrozing clan
Are travelling here unto a man.

"I shall protest most long and loud,
'Gainst taking in the motley crowd;
For well I know they'd me dethrone,
And swear that Tophet was their own.

"Let Sumner, Stevens, and their host,
When they on earth give up the ghost,
Unto a lower hell appear;
We have no room for them up here.

"The Clergy, too, I much do fear,
Attraction's law will draw them here;
Their earthly teachings, though I tell,
Are doctrines long since preached in hell!

"They, too, must find a lower home,
For hither sure they shall not come;
We're crowded now in every spot,
Save here and there a vacant lot.

"These I've reserved through all our fights,
For those who have pre-emption rights;
That corner lot's for Backbone Tod,
A renegade accursed of God.

"The traitor here from his own place
Can view the scenes at Fortress Chase;
Laugh at the woes of his old friends,
Till his cursed life in horror ends.

"There's other traitors I could tell—
They are too mean to come to h—ll!
So let each go, and hunt his hole,
For greenbacks here won't pay their toll!

"And now, O John, on earth oppress'd,
You are with us a welcome guest;
On earth you played your part full well,
So now with us forever dwell!"

P. GRIMES.

Selected.

A Romantic Incident of the War.

A few mornings ago Gov. Curtin of Pennsylvania was called upon at the Continental Hotel in Philadelphia by a young lady. When she was introduced into his parlor she expressed her great joy at seeing the Governor, at the same time imprinting a kiss upon his forehead:

"Madam," said he, "to what am I indebted for this unexpected salutation?"

"Sir, do you not know me?"

"Take a chair," said the Governor, at the same time extending one of the handsomest in the parlor.

"Shortly after the battle of Antietam you were upon that bloody field," said she to the Governor.

"I was," replied the Governor.

"You administered to the wants of the wounded and the dying."

"It was my duty, as a feeling man.

"You did your duty well. Heaven alone will reward you, sir, for in this life there is no reward adequately expressive of the merit due you. You, sir, imparted consolation and revived the hopes of a dying soldier of the 28th Ohio. He was badly wounded in the arm; you lifted him into an ambulance, and, the blood dripping from him stained your clothing. That soldier was as dear to me as life itself.

"A husband?" said the Governor.—"No, sir."

"A brother, perhaps?" "No, sir."

"A father?" "No, sir."

"A son?" "No, sir."

"A lover?" "No, sir."

"If not a husband, father, brother, son, or lover, who, then could it be?" said the Governor, at length breaking the silence; "this is an enigma to me. Please explain more about the gallant soldier of Ohio."

"Well, sir, that soldier gave you a ring—C. E. D. were the letters engraved on the interior. That is the ring now upon your little finger. He told you to wear it, and carefully have you done so."

The Governor pulled the ring off, and sure enough the letters were there.

"The finger that used to wear that ring will never wear it any more. The hand is dead, but the soldier still lives."

The Governor was now more interested than ever. "Well, madam," said he, "tell me all about it. Is this ring yours? Was it given to you by a soldier whom you loved?"

"I loved him as I loved my life; but he never returned that love. He had more love for his country than for me; I honor him for it. That soldier who placed that little ring upon your finger stands before you." So saying, the strange lady arose from her chair and stood before the Governor.

The scene that now ensued we leave to the imagination of the reader. A happy hour passed. The girl who had thus introduced herself was Catherine F. Davidson of Sheffield, Ohio. She was engaged to be married, but her future husband responded to the call of the President, and she followed him by joining another regiment. He was killed in the same battle where she fell wounded. She is alone in the world, her father and mother having departed this life years ago. She was the soldier of the 28th Ohio who had placed the ring upon the finger of Gov. Curtin, for the kind attention given her upon the bloody field of Antietam.

The right arm had been amputated about half way between the elbow and the shoulder. The interview finally ended, and having at last seen her benefactor, she bade him and his friends adieu, taking with her an order, bearing the bold signature of A. G. Curtin, for one of Palmer's patent arms.

TO KEEP FRUIT AND FLOWERS FRESH. Fruit and flowers may be preserved from decay and fading by immersing them in a solution of gum arabic in water two or three times, waiting a sufficient time between each immersion to allow the gum to dry. To insure success in experiments of this kind, it should be borne in mind that the whole surface must be completely covered, for, if the air gains entrance only at a pin-hole, the labor will be lost. The solution should not be so strong as to leave a particle of the gum undissolved.

BABYLON.

A writer in Blackwood paints the following picture of the desolation that surrounds and cushrouds the once mighty Babylonian empire:

"In the distance, high above the plain, loomed a great mound of earth. On both sides of us lay what looked like long parallel ranges of hills. These lines are pronounced to be the remains of those canals that once conducted the waters of the Euphrates over the length and breadth of the ancient Babylonia. What mighty canals must they have been, that still showed under the roll of centuries such substantial traces! Now not so much as a drop of water; no, not even a drop of heaven's pearly dew, ever glistens, where once ships must have navigated. These mighty banks that carried fertility to every corner of the ancient kingdom are now mere useless, sightless mounds.

"No morning mist, moistening the thirsty earth, ever hangs over them. No rain clouds ever shadow them, tempering the rays of a fierce daily returning sun. The end of her that "dwelleth upon many waters" has been brought only too surely. The awful prophecies had been fulfilled, and desolation, in all its nakedness, in all its dreariness, was around us. After riding some two hours we arrived at the foot of the great mound that we had seen in the morning. We dismounted and scrambled to the top, for we had even arrived at the ruins of Babylon; and this great mound of earth that we were on was the grave of the golden city.

"I believe from the summit, raised some hundred feet above the plain, the walls of the ancient city may be traced. But a hot wind driving burning sand and the impalpable dust of ages into the pores of our skins, made every effort to open an eye so terribly painful that we gave up the idea in despair of either tracing walls, or, indeed, of looking about us much anywhere.

"I remember seeing, away to the west, lines of willows, and a silver thread winding away into distance; and nearer, some unsightly bare mounds, looking as if some volcanic fire had been at work underneath the smooth surface of the plain, and had thrown these mounds up in the spirit of pure mischief. That silver thread was our first glimpse of the waters of the Euphrates, and the mounds all that remain of the once beautiful hanging gardens of Babylon; at least so the conjecture of men of research has accounted for them. But so completely have the prophecies been fulfilled—so completely has the "name and remnant been cut off" of all pertaining to the once mighty city, that even the great hill on which we were standing is only by conjecture supposed to be the ruin of some great building or royal palace that stood within the walls—possibly the palace of Semiramis.

"We descended from the great mound, and made for those lesser mounds which are supposed to be the site of the hanging gardens of Nitocris and Semiramis. In one spot the only thing we saw in the shape of a building in a state of ruin—was a mass of vitrified brickwork, piercing the old soil and debris of centuries, angle upwards. The bricks were square, of large size, and beautiful make, the angle of some clear and sharp, as if the brick had but left the kiln yesterday, instead of nearly twice two thousand years ago. Turning into a little hollow way between the mounds, we came suddenly upon the colossal stone lion. Time with his leaden hand had knocked away all the sharp angles of the statue. The features of the lion are completely obliterated, as are also those of the prostrate form that lies so helpless, so utterly and wholly human, beneath the upraised paw of the ring of beasts.

"The group presents itself to the eye, owing to the wear of old Time, much in the appearance of those vast blocks of Carrara marble which the bold chisel of Michael Angelo struck into, and then, at the point that the shapeless marble had begun to assume the merest "abozzo" of the great sculptor's ideas, the block was suddenly abandoned and left as a wonder and a puzzle to future ages, so does this group of the lion and the man now bear an unfinished, unwrought appearance; but you can not look at it a moment, and not instantly avow the majesty and grandeur of the idea that once lay there so mightily embodied. This dark colossal statue, which may once have stood under the gorgeous roof of a temple, and before which the queenly Semiramis, proud and supremely beautiful, may once have bowed, stands now canopied by the grandest of all canopies certainly—high heaven—but never noticed but by the wind that sweeps moaning over it and the jackals that yelp around, as they hold high revel over the bones of some camel who has been good enough to die in the vicinity."

HOW NEAR WE ARE TO DEATH.—A writer in the Independent thus discourses on our nearness to death: When we walk near the powerful machinery, we know that one single mis-step and those mighty engines would tear us to ribbons with their flying wheels, or grind us to powder in their ponderous jaws. So, when we are thundering across the land in the rail-car, and there is nothing but half an inch of iron flang to hold us upon the track. So, when we are at sea in a ship, and there is nothing but the thickness of a plank between us and eternity. We imagine then that we see how close we are to the edge of the precipice. But we do not see it. Whether on the sea or on the land, the partition which divides us from eternity is something thinner than an oak plank or half an inch of iron flang. The machinery of life and death are within us. The tissues that hold these beating powers in their place are often not thicker than a sheet of paper and if that thin partition were pierced or ruptured, it would be just the same with us as if a cannon ball had struck us. Death is inseparably bound up with life in the very structure of our bodies. Struggle as he will to widen the space, no man can at any time go farther from death than the thickness of a sheet of paper.

☞ During the recent fire at the Old Seraglio at Constantinople, a jewel disappeared to which the Turks attached great importance. It was an amulet, formerly the property of Mahmood II., and supposed to contain a shred of the prophet's garment. Abdul-Medjid had given it to one of his favorite wives shortly before his death, and the present Sultan, soon after his accession, had demanded its return, but the lady, who constantly wore it about her person, had always found some pretext for retaining it. In the hurry and confusion attending the fire she lost the amulet, and gave notice of the fact to the police authorities. An active search was instituted, and the missing jewel was at last discovered in the possession of a hammal, or street porter, who declared that he had found it in the street, where it had probably been dropped by some person who had stolen it. The man was bastinadoed, but he persisted in his story, and his assertions were supported by the testimony of several other hammels, he was ultimately set at liberty.

THREE WITNESSES.—Shortly before he died, Patrick Henry, laying his hand on the Bible, said:

"Here is a book worth more than all others, yet it is my sad misfortune never to have read it until lately, with proper attention."

With voice and gesture pertinent, and all his own, John Randolph said:

"A terrible proof of our depravity is, that we can relish and remember anything better than the BOOK."

When the shadows of death were gathering around Sir Walter Scott, he said to the watcher:

"Bring me the book."

"What book?" asked Lockhard, his son-in-law.

"There is but one book," said the dying man.

A CONTRABAND IN PURSUIT OF HIS MASTER.—George Washington Glascoe Wiggins, a smart contraband, who accompanied the 53d Massachusetts Regiment on its return home from Dixie, writes from Ashburnham to a gentleman in Boston, desiring information of his late master, who he says, skedaddled and left him to take care of himself, and who, he learns, is in Boston. That individual will doubtless confer a favor upon his late chattle by communicating with him. The contraband probably desires to renew the old acquaintance in the new character of "a man and a brother," which he has acquired in these revolutionary times.

☞ We have received, from Messrs. BOSSON & GLOVER, No. 10 Lafayette street, Salem, the well known shoe-dealers, specimens of a new variety of Grape that excels anything grown in this vicinity. It is large, of delicious flavor, and ripens surely by the 20th of September. It is called the Crevelin. They have a few of the vines for sale, as well as other well-known varieties.

NEW ZEALAND CUSTOMS.

The Roman female corpses were painted. So are the corpses of the inhabitants of the Polynesian Islands and of New Zealand. When a New Zealand chieftain dies, says Mr. Polack, the relatives and friends cut themselves with muscle shells, and let blood profusely, because they believe that ghosts, and especially royal ghosts, are exceedingly partial to this beverage. The body is laid out by the priests. The head is adorned with the most valued feathers of the albatross. The hair is annointed with shark oil, and tied, at the crown, with a ribbon of tapa. The lobes of the ears are ornamented with bunches of white down, from the sea-fowl's breast, and the cheeks are embellished with red ochre. The brow is encircled with a garland of pink and white flowers of kaikatoa. Mats, wove of the silken flax, are thrown around the body, which is placed upright. Skulls of enemies, slain in battle, are ranged at its feet. The relics of ancestors, dug up for the occasion, are placed on platforms, at its head. A number of slaves are slaughtered, to keep the chieftain company. His wives and concubines hang and drown themselves, that they also may be of the party. The body lies in this state three or four days. The priests flourish round it, with wisps of flax, to keep off the devil and all his angels.—The pihe, or funeral song is then chanted, which I take to be the Old Hundred of the New Zealanders, very much resembling the mœnia, or funeral song of the Romans. At last, the body is buried with the favorite mats, muskets, trinkets etc., of the deceased.

"IF YOU PLEASE."—When the Duke of Wellington was sick, the last thing he took was a little tea. On his servant handing it to him in a saucer, and asking him if he would have it, the Duke replied, 'Yes, if you please.' These were his last words. How much kindness and courtesy is expressed by them. He who had commanded the greatest armies in Europe, and was long accustomed to the tone of authority, did not despise or overlook the small courtesies of life. In all your home talk, remember—'If you please.' Among all your playmates, don't forget 'If you please.' Of all who wait upon or serve you, believe that 'if you please' will make you better served than all the cross or ordering words in the Dictionary. Don't forget three little words: 'If you please.'

☞ An English lady was recently walking through the streets of Sydney, Australia, when she discovered in a jeweller's window a necklace which she recognized as one stolen from her in England two years before. She entered the store, and, seizing the necklace, touched a secret spring, and beheld two curls belonging to her deceased children. She claimed the prize, and the jeweller gave it up, asking as a favor, that she would not mention it; but she did, and it led to the discovery that for many years the thieves of Paris and London have been in the habit of sending their stolen goods to Australia.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1863.

PROVISION FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS.—Day by day numbers of men, disabled by the maiming of a hand, an arm, a foot, or a leg, from returning to the active employments of civil life, are returning to their homes, and it is necessary that places should be provided for these brave fellows, where they may be able, not to subsist in idleness, but earn their bread comfortably.

For most of the duties in post offices, custom houses, and other places in the gift of the general government, these scarred patriots are as well qualified as strong-limbed men. It is time to discard the theory that public offices were created for the reward of partizan service merely, and to practise upon the better and nobler one, that those who are ready to sacrifice and be sacrificed upon the alter of our common country are the most worthy to be her agents and representatives.

Apart from the justice of this course, the Government should adopt it as the best means of purifying our partisan politics, and putting a stop to the enormous evil of office-seeking, which threatens to corrupt our public virtue and undermine our public institutions. Thousands of men enter into our political excitements only to secure comfortable places under the Government, and boldly present their partisan services as claims to public employment. If a man understood hereafter, that only services in the ranks of the army would constitute a claim, when the applicant was otherwise fit for the appointment, we should see these place-patriots either taking a musket in hand, to establish for themselves a better claim than partisan service, or we should see them leaving the field of politics, as one wherein a livelihood is to be made, to engage in a vocation more reputable in itself and more useful to the community generally. All that were fit for soldiers would soon be in the ranks of the army, all that were not fit, would be compelled to go to employments from which no public mischief could arise.—Salem Gazette.

TRAVEL TO NEW YORK.—The general movement of domestic travel this season, to or from New York, has been unprecedented. Perhaps the most remarkable activity is to be observed on the Fall River route, leaving the Old Colony Depot in Boston and Pier No. 3, North River, New York. This patronage need not be wondered at, when we consider the splendid accommodations and agreeable facilities afforded by such powerful and elegant steamers as the Empire State, Captain Brayton, or the Metropolis, Captain Brown. During either a "heated term" or a "cold snap," it is a positive luxury to pass the night on board either of these floating palaces. The clerks, stewards, and other officers of those admirable steamers, are all gentlemen who may well be considered as models in their various departments. Through passengers are welcomed to the cars by Conductor Claflin. He is known as one of the most accomplished gentlemen in his line of business. Every-body, wife and family, (especially the ladies,) are sure to feel at home while under the care of Conductor Claflin. Every trip on this line renews the public praise of its admirable management. The agent in Boston is George Shiverick, 82 Washington street; in New York, Erastus Littlefield, 72 Broadway.

A PULPIT HABIT.—A correspondent is holding up a few pictures true to life, for the notice of such of his clerical friends as many have need of them, hoping reflection will do no harm. He says:—"I notice in some cases a handkerchief habit in the pulpit, which has led me to inquire if the use of that very necessary article is a part of theological training. I notice some ministers take it out of their pockets as they do their sermon, and lay it on the pulpit. Some spread it out lengthwise through the middle of the Bible; some roll it up and tuck it under the Bible; some shake it every few moments over their heads; some clench it in their hands as if they were going to throw it at the audience; and some keep crowding it into their pockets and pulling it out again with a nervous movement, as if they did not know what other use to make of their hands. I went once to hear a popular young preacher, and as much as half of his sermon was made up of pocket-handkerchief; and the most of the other half was gold watch and scraps of poetry."

☞ We learn that the splendid Steam Frigate Niagara is to take the place of the Sabine in our harbor. She will be here at about the right time. Between now and the middle of November from three to four thousand men will be landed from our fishing fleet, who will remain idle for some time after, or be scattered over the country. We have no doubt many of these men might be induced to enter the service, if proper efforts were made to obtain them. —Cape Ann Light.

☞ The trunks of two trees have been sent from the battle field of Gettysburg to the Massachusetts and Pennsylvania Historical Societies. They will attest the fierceness of the conflict there, one of them having 250 bullet holes in the space of 21 feet, and the other having 110 in the same space. Sad reminders they will be of the heroic dead.

☞ Among the Democrats of this section, joining the Republicans, is Dr. George Osborne of South Danvers, formerly one of the most notorious Hunkers of this county, who thought he was insulted if anybody asked him to support the coalition, ten years ago. He then, as now, belonged to the same class with Dickinson of New York.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ One who accompanied Burnside, writes: "The old flag has been hidden in mattresses and under carpets. It now floats to the breeze at every staff in East Tennessee. Ladies wear it—carry it—wave it. Little children clap their hands and kiss it."

☞ The Invalid corps has been organized into sixteen regiments, and Colonels to command them selected from Majors previously appointed.

☞ The London Times, taking the back track, says the despatch of a vessel reasonably suspected of being another Alabama, may be justly prevented.

☞ Robberies are becoming so frequent in Richmond that a cotemporary thinks the ghost of Floyd is about.

☞ A bridal veil six yards long and trailing half a yard has just been imported by Stuart. Price $600.

☞ The confederate prisoners complain that Yankee jailers cut off their coat-tails and otherwise humiliate them.

☞ Mississippi is nearly desolated. The country is almost destitute of food for man or beast.

☞ The largest effective gun in the British service has a calibre of eight inches diameter—a 68-pounder!

☞ The army has already exhausted one hundred millions dollars worth of clothes and wants more.

☞ The sand bags used in the construction of the Swamp Angel Battery cost $5000.

☞ The Springfield manufactory turns out twenty-five thousand rifled muskets per month.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1863.

WAR MEETING IN DANVERS!

There is to be a War Meeting at Gothic Hall, Danvers Plains, next Friday evening, for the purpose of encouraging enlistments. Colonel FRANKLE of the 2d Heavy Artillery Regiment, will be present, and the Band now belonging to that Regiment, and consisting of twenty-four pieces, will be present on the occasion. The Rev. Dr. BRIGGS, Hon. S. H. PHILLIPS, and the Rev. WILLARD SPAULDING of Salem, will address the meeting. A full attendance of the people of Danvers and the neighboring towns is invited.

JOHN BULL.

We rather wish, that John Bull, instead of blowing the horn of neutrality had blown his blast of recognition at the outset. We think the war would have been shorter and more effectual for the glory of the Republic. Instead of wasting our breath and strength in diplomacy and dismal forebodings, we should have then been hitting the old rascal with the only missiles he can or doubtless will ever understand or appreciate. He is a bull to all intents and purposes—a bull in his bellowing—a bull in his pawing—a bull in his tail-thrashing and a bull in not accepting the argument of a steam engine till the engine has knocked him into eternal smash. Ever since Sumter was struck down to the present hour he has been standing in front of the rebels as his pet cows, looking green eyed at Uncle Sam, bellowing, blustering and bullying. From London down to Cape Town, and all over that British world where the sun is said never to set, but will by-and-by, he has been aiding, abetting and comforting rebel pirates, rebel emissaries, rebel contractors, rebel blockade runners, rebel stock jobbers and all other rebel persons and things, at the same time practicing a studied coldness and meanness towards his best friend—the United States. The best part of his history he has crowded with retro-active shame—his best professions he has belied—and from being the representative of free principles over the Atlantic he has descended to the mire of political heathenism, and Europe has to look to the throne of the Czars for its hope of future Hampdens and Sidneys! The mighty power of Bull's press, Bull's oratory, Bull's literature, Bull's Parliament and Bull's Queen—once a glory—has gone in grand tumble over to the side of oppression. We have lost respect for the fellow, and with it, whatever we ever had—very small—of fear of him. Henceforth he is to be held as one of the despotisms to be overturned, uprooted and dissipated by the advancing gales and whirlwinds of determined civilization. Henceforth his fate is to look out for Cromwells and Brutuses at home and the outraged spirit of Liberty from abroad. Against the day of wrath, for two long years and a half he has been laying up wrath. He is laying it up still, with rams, with "Island Queens," with rebel munitions, with journalistic falsehoods, with Bulwer nonsense, Roebuck rhapsodies and the "neutral" lucubrations of Palmerstons and Russels. Meanwhile we and most of the rest of the world are about our business, which being done, John Bull, the viols will be uncorked, and then stand from under if your Islands, your Cape Towns and your Nassaus are large enough. Stand from under if you can. Substituting the preterit for the present, and with other sensible allowances, your epitaph is already written by your own poet:—

> "The world is a bundle of hay,
> Mankind the asses who pull;
> Each tugs in a different way,
> And the greatest of all was John Bull."

"Cowards die many times before their deaths;
The valiant never taste of death but once."

A great amount of human misery has no existence but in imagination. Mountains of trouble frequently loom high and threatening in the distance in our pathway through life, which diminishes as we approach, and, instead of trouble, we oft find a kind providence. How frequently have we all witnessed a continuous life of wretchedness in some individual, upon no earthly reason only that he feared some time in his life (if he lived long enough,) he might possibly come to want. We look upon such a person as unworthy the blessings which God, in his kind providence, is continually showering upon the children of men. Such a man has never known what real misery was,—he has never drank at the bitter fountain of real adversity. Perhaps a little of the genuine article might arouse him from his base ingratitude and place his feet upon a level with true manhood.

"Poor and content, is rich, and rich enough;
But riches fineless, is as poor as winter,
To him that ever fears he shall be poor."

'Tis the duty of us all to be as contented as possible in the condition in which God has placed us. Continued dread of coming trouble, not only destroys our own, but also the happiness of our friends, and is base ingratitude against the Great Jehovah. No worthy person need suffer in a community like our own. To lie down and die in despondency without effort, is a crime against our own nature, and calls more for censure than commendation from our fellow creatures. Despondency lives and feeds mainly on a false and morbid imagination.

This base state of the human mind constitutes much of the woe which afflicts our world, and it should be thrown from us as we would unloosen the coils around us of some hideous monster about to innoculate us with the most deadly poison. Let us practice honesty, industry, temperance and prudence and we shal be sure to steer clear of the rocks and shoals of human degredation and render ourselves worthy of the cheerful sympathy and aid of our fellow citizens, should we ever sink into real misfortune. "Jubiter helps those who help themselves." H.

MILITARY.

Co. D, of the 1st Massachusetts Heavy Artillery, formerly 14th Massachusetts Volunteers, is still at Fort Craig, near Washington, and has been building barracks for winter quarters during the last four or five weeks, which the boys expected to enter about the last of this month. This, and picket duty, about five or six miles from the fort, have kept them pretty busy. They are in good spirits, but report a scarcity of Massachusetts newspapers.

Mr. CHARLES GARDNER, of South Danvers, who went out with the Andrew Sharpshooters, and was with that company until there was not enough of it left to be called a company, and continued with the remnant till he was obliged to go into the hospital at Bealton, Va., by physical exhaustion, has been removed to the Stanton Hospital, Washington, and expects soon to be discharged. He has done his share at least.

We notice among the commissions issued last week, the name of 2d Lieut. MOSES SHACKLEY, of South Danvers, (19th Regiment) 2d Lieut. in 59th Regiment. Mr. Shackley has shared the hardships of the Potomac Army for the last two years, and we believe has participated in nearly all of its conflicts, from the massacre at Ball's Bluff to the victory at Gettysburg. He, with thousands of others, has nobly earned a place in the "Veteran Corps."

GRAND FAIR FOR THE SANITARY COMMISSION.—The ladies of Boston are making preparations for the Great Fair, which is to take place on the week before Christmas, at the Boston Music Hall, which has been generously offered for that purpose. All the towns in the State have been invited to be represented, and it is to be hoped that South Danvers will respond with her usual promptness and efficiency. In order to promote this, a committee of ladies have been soliciting subscriptions to procure materials. All who are willing to work for the object, are invited to meet at Sutton's Hall, this Thursday afternoon. Contributions for materials will be gratefully received.

☞ Since our last issue, elections have been held in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Iowa, and Nebraska. The result in each and all is strongly for the Union cause, and the Union party. It is unnecessary to give the figures; we refer to the general result as a matter for very great congratulation among all supporters of the Administration, and very great regret among the rebel sympathisers among us. The election in Massachusetts will be held upon the 3d of next month—fortnight from yesterday—when another State will give a largely increased majority for the Government.

THE BLEACHERY.—We learn that this valuable property has changed hands, having been purchased by a stock company, the former proprietors still holding a large interest in it. It is the design of the new company to extend the works and by an increase of capital to erect Dye Works, and perhaps eventually introduce other manufacturing business. Few places possess greater facilities for manufacturing to advantage, and we shall be glad to see a large increase of business in that locality.

OMISSIONS.—We omitted last week in our tax list the names of two of our heavy tax payers. Their names were Thomas W. Carr, taxed $73.92, and Andrew Porter, $112.36. The latter should have been in the place of Jonathan E. Prescott. The mistakes were ours—unintentional ones though, as we had no desire to "leave them out in the cold."

☞ Yesterday afternoon's news was that Lee had precipitately recrossed the Rappahannock towards the Rapidan, burning bridges, etc., in his rear, Lee is erratic in his movements, and we should not be surprised to hear this morn that he had recrossed it again in the direction of the Potomac.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

A convention of the "Republicans of the County of Essex, and all others who stand by the Government in crushing thoroughly a wicked rebellion, which has for its aim and object the overthrow of Republican institutions, and the extension and perpetuation of human slavery," was held at Lyceum Hall, yesterday. It was called to order at ten o'clock in the forenoon by Hon. Eben S. Poor of South Danvers, who read the call under which the Convention met.

On motion of Mr. W. F. Gile, of Lawrence, Mr. S. W. Hopkinson of Groveland was elected temporary Secretary.

On motion of Mr. Hill of Haverhill, a committee of seven was appointed to report a permanent organization. The committee,—which consisted of Messrs. E. P. Hill of Haverhill, W. G. Choate of Salem, George H. Chase of Lynn, Warren Hall of Saugus, N. A. Moulton of Newburyport, G. S. Merrill of Lawrence, and J. S. E. Rogers of Gloucester,—reported the following list, which was unanimously accepted:—

President—F. W. Choate of Beverly.

Vice Presidents—J. C. Perkins of Salem, Daniel Adams of Newbury, James F. Gile of Haverhill, Edwin Walden of Lynn, and Wm. F. Davis of Gloucester.

Secretaries—Geo. S. Merrill of Lawrence, and Charles F. Horton of Newburyport.

The President, who was conducted to the chair by Messrs. Babson of Gloucester and Hobbs of Wenham, in accepting the position assigned him, returned thanks for the honor thus conferred, saying he would like to speak of the glorious result of the elections in Ohio and Pennsylvania, which have resulted in favor of supporting the National Administration in prosecuting the war, but would not consume the time of the convention which had met for other business. The allusion to the late elections was met with demonstrations of applause.

A motion was then made and carried, that the convention proceed to an informal ballot for a candidate for Councillor, that being the first office named in the call. Previous to the taking of the ballot, a letter was read from Hon. Gerry W. Cochrane of Methuen, expressing thanks for the generous support extended to him the past two years, but declining to be considered a candidate for renomination. The letter was "accepted and placed on file." Mr. Hammond of Nahant took occasion to present, for the consideration of the convention, the name of Amos P. Tapley of Lynn, as a gentleman who, though not so extensively known, perhaps, as some others in the county, possessed excellent and rare qualifications for the office, and was universally respected by his fellow citizens, who knew him.

Messrs. Moulton of Newburyport, Porter of Beverly, and Davis of Gloucester having been appointed a committee to receive and count the votes, the ballot was then taken with the following result:—

Whole number of votes,	144
Eben S. Poor of South Danvers, had	82
Amos P. Tapley of Lynn,	48
Wm. Fabens of Marblehead,	7
John J. Babson of Gloucester,	6
G. W. Cochrane of Methuen,	1

The formal ballot resulted as follows:—

Whole number of votes	153
Necessary for a choice,	77
EBEN S. POOR of South Danvers had	97
Amos P. Tapley of Lynn,	56

Mr. POOR was, by the President, declared the nominee, and, on motion of Mr. Hammond of Nahant, who said he was satisfied his own candidate had received fair treatment, and that the nomination was not a very poor one after all, the action was made unanimous.

Pending the above proceedings, on motion of Hon. John I. Baker of Beverly, ABNER C. GOODELL, Esq., of Salem was unanimously renominated as the candidate for Register of Probate; and, on motion of Hon. Daniel Adams of Newbury, JAMES KIMBALL, Esq., of Salem, was renominated as the candidate for County Commissioner. No opposition whatever was raised in reference to these nominations on either personal or local grounds.

A committee was raised to report a County Committee for the ensuing year, and they reported the following list, which was adopted:—

County Committee.—Messrs. J. V. Spaulding of Lynn; Enoch S. Currier of Newburyport; Geo. L. Ford of Gloucester; W. F. Gile of Lawrence; O. B. Tenney of Georgetown; Charles A. Beckford of Salem; Wm. H. Graves of Ipswich; S. W. Hopkinson of Bradford; and Benj. Evans of Salisbury.

There was considerable discussion in reference to the basis of representation in the next County Convention, which was participated in by Messrs. Perley of Haverhill, Bancroft of South Danvers, Gile and Merrill of Lawrence, and Holden of Salem, part of whom favored and part opposed a representation based on the party vote rather than on legal voters, and by the Hon. Daniel Adams of Newbury, who favored any plan that was "right and equal," but who accepted an amendment to a motion of his, made by Mr. Perley of Haverhill, to the effect that the basis of the next County Convention should be one delegate for each city and town, one for every 100 Republican votes thrown at the election this fall, and one for each majority fraction of 100. This amendment finally prevailed; and a motion by Mr. Holden of Salem that each Ward of a city be entitled to one delegate to start with, the same as each town, was lost in a motion to adjourn, which latter finally prevailed, after the usual vote of thanks to the officers of the convention for the faithfulness and ability with which they had discharged their duties.—Salem Gazette, 16th inst.

FIRES IN SALEM.—The curriers' shop of Emery & Garfield, on Mason street, caught fire in the upper part last Wednesday noon, damaging it to the amount of about $75.

On Friday forenoon, about ten o'clock, an alarm was occasioned by the burning of a barn on the "Whitmore lot" in Bridge Street. The building was formerly a part of the Ropewalk establishment, but of late years has been used for storage by the Ice Company.

SUPERIOR COURT.—The October Term of the Superior Court, for the transaction of criminal business, is now being held at Lawrence, Judge Lord being upon the bench. The juror from Danvers is Zephaniah Pope; from South Danvers, Samuel Crane.

LETTER FROM BOSTON.

PROPELLER ADVERTISING AGENCY,
No. 15 Washington St.,
Boston, Oct. 17th, 1863.

CHARLESTOWN.

We greet our readers this week from the far-famed "Bunker Hill City," renowned in history as the place where the first battle of the revolution was fought. A few days ago, with our wife and numerous progeny, we bid adieu to our friends in Simpson Court, Boston, and preceded by Stacey's furniture wagons, loaded with our house-hold goods, took the horse cars for this famous city. Our arrival at 349 Bunker Hill street, created quite a sensation in that quiet neighborhood; had the Mayor and city council known of our coming without doubt they would have welcomed us with a speech on our entrance into the city. We are glad, however, they did not know it. We are not exactly a stranger in those parts, (we don't mean, dear reader, that we were ever a guest of the Commonwealth, at the well known stone mansion located here,) and shall therefore feel perfectly at home in this pleasant place, which is blessed with a complete system of horse railroads ably managed, and a wide-awake newspaper. Our business office in Charlestown is located at Jones's periodical depot, No 296 Main stree, and of course we expect calls from our numerous friends residing and doing business here.

OUR SUBURBAN LADIES.

Everybody who does business in Boston will join with us in saying that our streets draw a large share of their beautiful women from our suburban towns. One can easily distinguish the suburban lady who has served as such a proper time. She has a bright eye, a rosy cheek secured by air and exercise; a quick eye, and a cool, steady hand, made quick and steady by experience. She knows all the comings and goings of the horse and steam cars, and is familiar, by deep insight, with the causes which determine their frequent failures. Her very time passed in the cars gives her a chance for observation and mental improvement almost unequalled. Consequently, you will find her smart, sharp, and independant; but you will also find her beautiful, bright, and well read. May the class increase in our midst.

Charlestown is a famous place,
As every Yankee knows,
'Twas here our fathers fought and whipped
Their scarlet-coated foes.

OUR FRUIT TABLE.

This has been a lucky week with your correspondent. Good things have rolled in on us, and, like the old darkey, when he wished the Fourth of July would come every day in the year, we wish that such glorious weeks as the past may come fifty-times a year. Our acknowledgments are to Charles Esterbrooks Esq., publisher of the "Abington Standard," for a magnificent lot of grapes from his farm at Abington,—To Miss Caroline Marden, of Medford, for a box of Bon Juan Pears (a very choice pear,) also a basket Isabella Grapes. We shall probably, if we live, go into the wine making business soon, if not before.

FARM AT WELLS, ME.

Some twelve years ago, I thought I would try my luck in farming, and in partnership with my father-in-law, purchased a fine farm on "Maryland Ridge," midway between the depot and the village of Wells. I am pretty sure the purchase was a good investment, as the farm has been well improved by my father-in-law, Samuel Ricker, who is an occasional contributor to the poetical columns of the WIZARD. Farming is a new business to your correspondent, still I have managed to render valuable assistance during my brief sojourn here.

Next week we shall attend an old-fashioned husking—then look out, girls, for the red ears. The farmer looks round upon the labors of his hands with a pride and satisfaction never equalled, unless, perhaps, at the close of the great Indian Corn Harvest. But we must not linger too long in this pleasant field. Money well invested at this pleasant season, travelling by rail. "That's so."

"THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND MORE."—The President has issued his Proclamation calling for 300,000 volunteers to serve for three years, or the war, not however exceeding three years. In case the States shall not furnish their quotas by January next, a draft for the number required will take place Jan. 5, 1864. The President addresses himself not only to the Governors but to the good and loyal people of the States, "invoking them to lend their willing, cheerful, and effective aid to the measures thus adopted, with a view to reinforce our victorious armies now in the field, and bring our needful military operations to a prosperous end, thus closing forever the fountains of sedition and civil war."

☞ A fashionable wedding came off in New York on Monday last. Theodore A. Havemeyer, who belongs to one of the most wealthy families of "Gotham"—nephew of ex-mayor Havemeyer, to Emilie DeLoosey, eldest daughter of the Chevalier F. DeLoosey, Austrian Consul General at the port of New York. The ceremony was celebrated, by consent of Archbishop Hughes, at the private residence of Mr. DeLoosey, by the Right Rev. Bishop Bayley, of Newark, New Jersey, according to the rites of the Roman Catholic Church. The lovely bride was gracefully attired in emblems of purity, and looked charming. She is tall, very handsome, with dark eyes, dark hair, and gifted with most affable and bewitching manners.

☞ The Forts on Salem Neck continue to be objects of attraction to large numbers of our citizens. Fort Lee is now nearly completed, and is already mounted with four heavy pivot guns, carrying sixty-four pound shot. The fort is very handsomely and compactly sodded, and will, when completed, present a fine appearance. Fort Pickering will not be completed the present season, though work is still actively progressing there. This will be a formidable work and will be ditched in the rear. The water from the harbor will be let into this ditch when completed, thus making an island of the fort. The barracks for the garrison of the two forts are now in process of erection near Fort Pickering.—Gaz.

☞ The tallest "substitute" yet received in New Hampshire hails from Newbury. He stands 6 feet and 4½ inches in his soeks, and is named Joseph E. Adams.

☞ A duel was fought in Mississippi lately by S. K. Knott and A. W. Shott. The result was, Knott was shot, and Shott was not. In those citeumstances we would rather have been Shott than Knott.

IRELAND IN AMERICA.

BY BARNEY M'BLADGER.

Ye genii of the nation,
Who look wid veneration,
And Ireland's dissolation unsaysingly deplore—
Ye sons of Gineral Jackson,
Who trample on the Saxon,
Attind to the thransactions under Governor Seymour.

When Linkin (dirthy scumbug!)
The tyrant and the humbug,
Wid cannon and wid tunder upon our city bore,
Our forticlude and valliance
Insthructed his battalions
To rispect the gallant Irish wid Governor Seymour.

Shure, 'twas thin that Colonel Brien
Dthrawed his throops up in a line,
And whin he was beyant them a half a mile or more,
We hammered the curmudgin
Wid brickbat and wid bludgin,
And bate him into smudgins for Governor Seymour.

Thin the pollis—dirthy divils!—
Marched down wid two swivils:
We had killed forty nagurs, and wished to kill more;
We was throwin' the brickbat,
Mashin' the little nagurs flat,
But 'twas only for love of Governor Seymour.

And as the Jordge harangued,
We bothered and we banged,
And the 'rolling office doors and windows down we tore;
Shure, 'twould benefit yer sowls
To see us destroy the rowls
Wid which they tried to draft us from Governor Seymour.

Thin the fut, the dragoons,
In squadrons and platoons,
Wid theer bands a playing chunes, down upon us bore;
And they bate the ratatoo,
And the bagnets we did view,
Which indid the shaloo for Governor Seymour.

Camp 15th Illinois Cavalry,
Corinth, Miss., July 20th, 1863.

☞ Rebellion is rampant all the world over. There are those who believe that what occurs in this world is the effect of causes existing in the spiritual world. If this be so, the hells must be let loose, and events be occurring in the spiritual world similar to what Milton describes in his Paradise Lost. We can scarcely think of a nation or country on the face of the earth, that is in peace—without wars or rumors of wars. Rebellion is everywhere. In China, where dwell a third part of the earth's population, rebellion has afflicted the people for these twenty years. In Japan they have rebellion; in Poland, rebellion; in America, Rebellion; in all the South American States, rebellion. In Russia, Prussia, Austria, Italy, Faance, Ireland, Danis Germany, Syria, India, and other countries, they have rebellion suppressed but ready to break out again at any time. Besides these—Russia has a war with Circassia, France with Cochin China and Mexico, England in New Zealand, and Spain in St. Domingo. And in addition there is hardly a country that is not to-day under apprehension of war from some quarter.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ In the bull fighting days, a blacksmith who was rearing a bull pup, induced his old father to go down on all fours and imitate the bull. The canine pupil pinned the old man by the nose. The son disregarding the peternal roaring, exclaimed:—"Hold him, Growler! boy, hold him! bear it, father, bear it; it'll be the making of the pup!

☞ Pat Doolan, at Gettysburg, bowed his head to a cannon ball, which whizzed past, six inches above his bearskin. "Faith," says Pat, "one never loses anything by politeness."

☞ Heat is a form of motion and may be measured by the rate of motion.

☞ Talking about letting the freed negroes vote, a loyal Texan declared himself inflexibly opposed to the measure, "because in six months after you give the negroes the right to vote half the democratic politicians in the country will go about swearing that they have negro blood in their veins."

☞ The Boston Ærated Bread Company, who use carbonic acid gas which is made from simple molasses and water, for rising their bread, instead of yeast, have tried now in the grape season the taking of the gas from that fruit, using the grapes also for wine, and have succeeded in making both good bread and good wine.

☞ A copperhead newspaper says that there are more Democrats than Republicans now engaged in this war. The Philadelphia Press retorts—"Counting both sides, North and South, we should think there are."

☞ A cotemporary says the famous saying of Will Shakspeare that there is a divinity that shapes our ends, is exemplified in the employment of thousands of pretty girls in Massachusetts who are making gentlemen's boots.

VILLAGE BANK DIRECTORS.—Daniel Richards, (President,) Samuel P. Fowler, Francis P. Merriam, John A. Putnam, Edwin Mudge, Daniel F. Putnam, G. A. Tapley.

☞ Jeff. Davis has ordered the release of all criminals in State Prisons, provided they join the Confederate army.

☞ About 16,000 deserters have returned to the army of the Potomac.

A giant lady died at New Prospect, New Jersey, a short time since, weighing 700 lbs.—She liked ham and eggs, and a ham would last her for two meals. She ate a good dinner, of which twenty-four ears of green corn formed a slight portion, shortly before her death.

☞ During a marriage ceremony the bride was sobbing immoderately while the knot was being tied. "What's the matter, my young woman?" asked the official. "Oh, sir," replied the bride, "it's because it's forever!" "No, no," rejoined the parson, "that's a mistake—a great mistake, it's not forever. Death puts an end to the engagement." On hearing this the bride dried her tears and was consoled.

☞ A husband who had been gone nineteen years recently appeared at the residence of his wife in Rochester, N. Y., and said he had come to take care of his family. The stranger-children voted that he shouldn't, but the "auld wife" decided that the repentent wanderer upon whom she had lavished the wealth of her young affections, should in no wise be cast out. And he wasn't.

☞ A New York chemist has a piece of charcoal which he has used for thirty years in annealing gold under the blow-pipe. Although it has been on fire at least once a day during all that time, the cavity burned in it is not more than an inch in depth. The wood from which this charcoal came was the common pine.

☞ A new cure for consumption is talked of—a cream diet. Eat as much pure sweet cream as the stomach will digest (and as you can get,) and the effect, it is said, will be quite as apparent as from the use of the best cod-liver oil.

☞ One of the fifteen historic shells recently thrown into Charleston city by General Gillmore, shivered the statue erected some years since in front of the Court House of the doomed municipality, in commemoration of the late John C. Calhoun.

"Come wife," said Will. "I pray you devote
Just half a minute to mend this coat,
Which a nail has chanced to rend."
"'Tis ten o'clock," said his drowsy mate;
"I know," said Will, "it is rather rather late,
But it's never too late to mend!"

☞ The Horse Railroad is finished and ready for running, beyond the Town House, in Beverly. The cars will commence running within a very few days.

The success of the Salem and South Danvers portion of the road has gone beyond the most sanguine expectations.—Gaz.

☞ The rebel papers report that Jeff. Davis is about to take command of Bragg's army.—Jeff. is a graduate of West Point, and would make an officer of no mean abilities.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

LADIES.—Any of our Lady readers who do their shopping in Salem will be glad to learn where to buy their goods in order to buy them the cheapest. We will call their attention to JOHN P. PEABODY'S stock, giving them a few of his prices, then leaving them to judge of their cheapness. He has the largest stock of Zephyr Worsteds in Salem, and is selling the Black and White for 17 cents per ounce, and all the fine colors, (and he has a choice variety of them) are only 22 cts per ounce. In Hoods, Sontags, Clouds, Breakfast Shawls, Skating Hats, &c., he can always show pretty styles and the lowest prices, because he manufactures them himself. In Hosiery and Gloves his stock is too well known to need comment. In his Lace Goods department will be found everything that is desirable in Collars, Setts, Edgings, Veils, Waists, Hdkfs, &c., &e. His stock of Ribbons, Flowers, Ruches and Bonnet, Laces, is made up of the choicest goods at reasonable prices, which are far below those of any milliner. In Buttons, Bindings, Corsets, Skirts, Combs, Jet and Steel Goods, Wallets, Bags, Soaps, Perfumes &c., he always has the choicest styles, and we are sure it will be to the advantage of any one who is out shopping to look in and examne his stock, learn his prices, and buy if they are suited. If not, they will be allowed to depart without being importuned to buy what they do not want. His business is conducted on the one price system strictly, so that one customer can buy just as cheap as another; no matter how little they understand the goods or their value, no advantage can be taken of them where the one-price system is rigidly adhered to. His store is No. 220 Essex Street, Salem.

Senatorial Convention.

The Republicans of the Second Essex Senatorial District, and all others who stand by the Government in crushing thoroughly a wicked Rebellion, which has for its aim and object the overthrow of republican institutions, and the extension and perpetuation of human slavery, are requested to send delegates to a Convention to be holden at CREAMER HALL, in Salem, on MONDAY, the 26th day of October, 1863, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Senator in the next General Court, and to transact any other business that may properly come before the Convention.

The number of delegates to which each town and city is entitled, will be as follows:—Salem—fifteen; South Danvers—six; Danvers—five; Hamilton, Middleton, Topsfield and Wenham—two each.

By order of the District Committee,
Oct 21 WM. G. CHOATE, Chairman.

Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.

The members of this Corporation are hereby notified that the Annual meeting will be holden at the Warren Bank Rooms, on Wednesday, Nov. 4th, at 7 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Officers for the year ensuing, and for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

Per Order
FRANCIS BAKER, Sec'y.
So. Danvers, Oct. 14, 1863.

VISIT THE PHOTOGRAPH ROOMS
— OF —
T. E. WOOD,
(Over O. F. Batchelder's Store,)
No. 136 Main St., South Danvers,

And get a faithful likeness of yourself and friends while in HEALTH and STRENGTH.

Carte de Visite, Photographs and Ambrotypes taken. Also pictures copied at reasonable prices.

Frames, Albums, Cases, &c., for sale.
South Danvers, Oct 14.

Assignee's Sale of Real Estate in North Reading.

WILL be sold at Public Auction, on the premises, FRIDAY, October 23d, 1863, at 4 o'clock, P. M., unless previously disposed of at private sale, the farm belonging to the estate of OLIVER PARKER, and formerly occupied by him, situated in North Reading.

This farm consists of about 100 acres of Field, Pasture and Wood Land, with a good Barn, but no Dwelling House.

S. C. BANCROFT, } Assignees.
WM. P. HARDING, }
No. Reading, Oct. 14, 1863—2w

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers. See advertisement.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS.....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss. At the Superior Court begun and held at Newburyport, within and for the County of Essex, on the first Monday of September, A. D. 1863, and by adjournment, at Salem on the 21st day of September, A. D. 1863. PETER G. FOLSOM, of South Danvers in our County of Essex, plaintiff, against JOHN SAFFORD, of Monmouth in the County of Kennebec and State of Maine, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of JOSEPH SAFFORD, late of said South Danvers, deceased, defendant, in an action of contract. And the plaintiff says the defendant owes him four hundred and sixty-six dollars and eighty-eight cents, according to the account annexed to the plaintiff's declaration.

Upon the suggestion of the facts in this suit, it appearing to the Court that notice is necessary to be given to the defendant,

IT IS ORDERED, that the action be continued to the next term of this Court, and that notice of the pendency of this suit be given to the defendant by publishing this order in the South Danvers Wizard three weeks successively, the last publication to be thirty days at least before the next term of this Court to be held at Salem within and for said County of Essex, on the first Monday of December next.

Attest. A. HUNTINGTON, Clerk.
South Danvers, Oct. 14, 1863.

SECOND HAND BOOKS.

FROM our Circulating Library—duplicate copies for sale at half price.
oct 21 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

LITTLE RIDING HOOD.

SOMETHING novel in the way of a Picture Book, by Miss L. L. A. Very—price 37 cts.
oct 21 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

LINSEED OIL.

RAW and Boiled constantly for sale by S C & E A SYMONDS, 32 Front St.

HAMPDEN GREEN.

A supply of Hampden Green in Cans of all sizes, at oct 21 S C & E A SIMODS'.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Oct. 20, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Mary E Buzzell	Denis O'Connell
J C Butter	Mrs Jane S Putnam
Thomas Conlon	Hardy Shilaber
Chas W Conant	Mrs E H Spinning
Mrs Sarah Dennison	Chas Richardson.
J Higgins

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.
DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

Selectmen's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given to the abutters on the following streets, viz.:—Foster street throughout its entire length, Washington street throughout its entire length, and that part of the Old Boston road between the Western terminus of Washington street and the Lynn boundary line—that a meeting of the Selectmen of South Danvers will be held at the Town House on THURSDAY, Oct. 29, 1863, at two o'clock P. M., at which time and place the Selectmen of said town will fix and determine the location and manner of construction of the track of the Salem and South Danvers Railroad in the streets aforesaid; at which meeting the abutters and other citizens interested may appear and shew cause, if any there be, why said track should not be located and constructed.

JOSEPH POOR, A. W. BANCROFT, DANA WOODBURY, } Selectmen of South Danvers.

South Danvers, Oct. 10, 1863.

BOYS' OVER-COATS!

BOYS' OVER-COATS!

— AT —

CROSS' CLOTHING HOUSE,

219

Essex Street, Salem.

MEN'S OVER-COATS!

MEN'S OVER-COATS!

IMMENSE STOCK!

Salem, Oct 14,—3w

Salem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

ALL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be stopped, in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 5.

Per order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

John P. Peabody.

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

Black Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	17 cts
White Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	17 cts
Magenta Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Solferino Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Purple Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Blue Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Perdrix Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Printed Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
All fine colors Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts

Less by the pound.

—AT—

PEABODY'S,

220 Essex Street.

LADIES' UNDER-WEAR.

MERINO VESTS,
PANTS,
CORSETS,
SKIRTS, &c

—AT—

PEABODY'S,

220 Essex Street, Salem.

EMBROIDERIES AND LACE GOODS,
EDGINGS AND INSERTINGS,
RIBBONS AND FLOWERS,
RUCHES AND LACES,
MOURNING VEILS, COLLARS, &c,
WROUGHT SETTS, in variety,
LINEN CAMBRIC HANDKERCHIEFS,
HEAD DRESSES AND NETS,
CORSETS, SKIRTS AND SHAPES,
LEATHER BAGS AND WALLETS,
STEEL & JET PINS & BRACELETS,
TOILET SOAPS AND PERFUMES.

OUR WORSTEDS.

We invite your especial attention to our Stock of Zephyr Worsteds, as we have done all in our power to make it choice and desirable. It is the largest stock in Essex County, and we shall as we always have done, sell them at lower prices than any of our competitors. We have all the fine colors at prices from 17 to 22 cents per ounce. We have also a full stock of hand-knit and machine made Hoods, Sontags, Nubias, Clouds, Sleeves, Mittens, &c.

JOHN P. PEABODY.

TRIMMINGS.

Buttons,	Bindings,
Braids,	Cords,
Whalebones,	Hooks & Eyes,

&c., &c., &c.

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

KID GLOVES—a fresh Stock;
Ladies', Misses', and Children's Hosiery and Gloves in great variety.

LADIES!

We call your attention to our Stock, being fully confident that we can offer you many decided bargains.

Our prices as heretofore will be the very lowest.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

JOHN P. PEABODY.

Salem, Oct. 21, 1863.

Browning & Long

R I C H

—AND—

FASHIONABLE

NEW GOODS

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S.

FRENCH KID GLOVES,
(good quality at $1 per pair;)
ALEXANDRE'S REAL CLOTH GLOVES;
FALL GLOVES, in every variety;
NEW STYLES BALMORAL HOSE;
FANCY WOOLEN HOSE,
FLEECY LINED HOSE;
MERINO HOSIERY;
GENTS' MERINO HOSE,
FLEECED HOSE FOR INVALIDS;
MERINO UNDERVESTS;
MERINO DRAWERS;
MERINO DRESSES;
Hosiery, Gloves, and Under-Garments in every variety, for Ladies, Gents, Misses and Boys.

LACE VEILS;
THREAD VEILS;
BLACK AND WHITE VEILS;
CURR COL. VEILS;
GAUZE VEILS;
CRAPE VEILS;
LACE VEILS WITH CRAPE FOLDS;
LOVE VEILS.
Receiving many of our Veils direct from the Manufacturers, we are able to show many styles not to be found elsewhere.

PLAIN LINEN HDKFS.;
HEM-STITCHED HANDKERCAIEFS;
NOBBY STYLED HEM-STITCHED;
EMBROIDERED HDKFS.;
TUCKED HDKFS.;
SOLID BORD. HDKFS., (in colors;)
MOURNING HDKFS.;
FANCY EMBROIDERED HDKFS.
Handkerchiefs in all styles, for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children.

POINTE D'ALENCON COLLARS;
GUIPURE LACE COLLARS;
MALTA LACE COLLARS,
THREAD LACE COLLARS;
LACE TRIMMED COLLARS;
EMBROIDERED COLLARS;
EMBROIDERED SETTS.

HAIR NETTS.

A very large assortment, comprising many entirely new Patterns, and the very newest Styles

Lace Sleeves.

New Styles always on hand Any article in Lace made to order at short notice.

Edgings and Insertings,

In every possible kind.

NEW TRIMMINGS AND BUTTONS.

OUR
GERMAN ZEPHYR
☞ WORSTEDS. ☜

They are too well known to need more than a mere passing remark. Our assortment is better this season than ever before—the prices as low as a good article can be sold.

MESSRS BROWNING & LONG

Take great pleasure in informing the Ladies of Salem and Vicinity, that they have now in store the heaviest and best selected Stock of FANCY DRY GOODS ever brought to Salem. Encouraged by the success they have achieved since the opening of their Establishment, they have determined to make special efforts to meet, as far as possible, the wants and demands which may arise, and think they are now, with a large assortment of Goods, able to do so.

BROWNING & LONG,
177 Essex Street.

Salem, Oct. 21, 1863.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

Cloak Opening.

WE SHALL OPEN NEW STYLES

WINTER CLOAKS, SATURDAY, OCT. 25.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO., 188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

FROM NEW YORK.

We have received from New York a large stock of

CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CLOAKS,

comprising Sackings, Meltons, Frosted Beavers, Plush Beavers, Velvet Beavers, Petersham Beavers, Black Castor Beavers, Doeskins, German Broadcloths, Flannels, etc., also Buttons and Trimmings to match.

[These Cloths, comprising the best grades of their kind, we are prepared to make to order from measure in the most workmanlike and tasteful manner.]

We have received also many novelties in SHAWLS, for the Autumn and Winter Trade.—[We offer a special bargain in Shawls, at $4.25.]

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Oct'r 21, 1863.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!

ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.

We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.

SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.
oct 14

SPECIAL NOTICE.

OPENING—THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1ST.

FALL AND WINTER STYLES OF
Bonnets, Hats, and Dress Caps,
AT MILLINERY ROOMS
No. 168 Essex Street, Salem.
M. E. CRANE,
Sept. 30. Successor to M. M. Fletcher.

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

DENTAL NOTICE.
NITROUS OXIDE GAS,
FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.
Oct. 3—mo.

Settees for Sale

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

ATTRACTIVE!
AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF
New Fall and Winter
CLOTHING,
FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS
IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of

Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS,

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics'
WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

GEO. H. LANE,
31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,
BOSTON.
Oct 21, 1863. 2m

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 Washington Street, Boston,
(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES
FALL & WINTER
CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,
OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,

In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,

Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,
MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
And PIECE Goods
FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS

In all the most desirable patterns of English German, French, Scotch and American Contings, Cassimeres & Doeskins,

Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner at

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 WASHINTON ST., BOSTON,
Five Doors above the Old South.
Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m,

FALL AND WINTER GOODS
AT
GEORGE P. DANIELS'S,
No. 238 Essex Street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

Consisting of New Styles
DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS,
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR.
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera;
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.
sept 23—tf

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
At 236 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.

M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURER TO ORDER

PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN—by the use of
Nitrous Oxide Gas.
GEORGE H. CURRIER, Dentist,
Oct 7—4w 22 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

George S. Walker.

Gentlemen's Goods,
FOR FALL AND WINTER WEAR.

GEORGE S. WALKER respectfully invites the attention of his friends and the public to his Stock of

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,

carefully selected in the New York and Boston markets, embracing the LARGEST STOCK and assortment in the city, of

UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS,
Woolen, Merino and Silk—all qualities and sizes.

HALF HOSE.
Merino, Wool, Cotton, and every seasonable material.

GLOVES.

A great variety of Fall and Winter wear, including the best makes of KID and BEAVER, with a full and superior stock of Shirts, Collars Scarfs, Ties, Stocks, Suspenders, Bosoms, Cuffs, Umbrellas, and a general assortment of Toilet and other Articles for Gentlemen's use.

Buying advantageously, my prices will compare favorably with others in the city.

GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

FALL AND WINTER.

ELEGANT NEW GOODS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
ARE OPENING
MANY NEW STYLES OF
DRESS GOODS,
INCLUDING
Ottoman Reps,
Cashmere Plaids,
Thibet and M. D. Laines,
Rich & Heavy Black Silks,
Plain Colored Silks.
ALSO
SHAWLS
Of every description.
Salem, Sept 16—tf

FLANNELS AND COTTONS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Have on hand a full supply of
BROWN SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
BLEACHED SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;
— Also —
GREY TWILLED FLANNELS;
WHITE FLANNELS,
which they offer at the LOWEST PRICES.
Salem, Sept 16—tf.

AUTUMN GOODS.

CLOTHS! CLOTHS!!

A fine assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Doeskins,
— AND —
CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CAPES,
— FOR SALE BY —
A. J. ARCHER & CO.
Sept 16. tf

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863,

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.

RHOADES' CELEBRATED
NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,
THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
CALL AND EXAMINE.
For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult

JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT,
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY chasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, street, Salem.

Auction Sale

WILLIAM ARCHER
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

TEETH ON VULCANITE.

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,
DENTAL SURGEON,
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.

IS Licensed to make the New Patent HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and experience confidently recommends Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the much cheaper and better, being about half of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very pense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's guided—all with such care and gentleness nearly painless,

Office Established in 184

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL A
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder thorized by us to manufacture the PATENT CANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PL Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patent

The public are cautioned against employ tists who have no license to manufacture s and Gums, as patients using such Dentures infringers, are equally liable for damages maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER
aug 19 B. W. FRAKLNIN, General

D. P. GROSVENOR,

Druggist and Apothe
88 MAIN STREET
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemic Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medici Personal attention to Physicians' P tions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861.

GEO. E. MEACC

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINE
Fancy & Toilet Articles,
126 · · MAIN ST. · · 12
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Da

T. A. SWEETSE

Druggist & Apoth
37 Main St., So. Da
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Ch Foreign Leeches, Sh Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gu Acids, Sponges, Shou der Braces, Trusses and Genuine Patent Me
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Pa Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared perienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COA
OF the various kinds usually kept in a yard. Constantly on hand
Franklin, Old Company's Lehig
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.
Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at a prices as can be bought elsewhere.
OFFICE---No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 19—

A Card.

Having disposed of my stock and stan Miss M. E. CRANE, I avail myself of this portunity to request my friends and custo who have bestowed their liberal patronage me to transfer the same to my successo

In taking leave of my business frien would return my warmest thanks for the erous patronage I have received. I can in highest terms recommend Miss CRANE, would bespeak for her your kind considera and confidence.

I would most respectfully invite those ing unsettled accounts to call and adjust same, either with Miss Crane or myself, at old stand.

April 22, 1863. M. M. FLETCHER

Notice.

The Subscriber having purchased Mrs. M. M. FLETCHER her stock Goods, and made additions to the sa is now prepared to furnish her patrons and public with a large and fine assortment of which we will sell very low for cash. We h by strict attention to business to merit a libe share of patronage. M. E. CRANE,

Millinery Goods,

ap 22 cor. of Essex and St. Peter sts

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem
Salem, Aug 29, 1863.

THE FAMILY MOURNING STOR
20 Winter Street, Boston.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would r spectfully call attention to their establis ment (the only one of its kind in the city where every requisite for Mourning can obtained.

We have a complete assortment of the f lowing goods, just received:—

English and French Bombazines.
Alpacas, of every width and price.
Alpaca Glace.
7-8 Alpaca.
Bombazine Laine, a new article.
Turin Cloths, Canton Cloths.
French Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths.
Mourning Ginghams and Prints.
Mourning Millinery, in new styles; Mourning H and Veils, Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.

S. S. WILLIAMS.
Oct. 7.—2ms.

ommunications.

STIONS AND OPINIONS
— OF —
T. O., Esq.

No. 1.

ot true, what we are told by the he pulpit, that we are too world-d. The fact is—if one may be d for telling the truth—we are venly minded. Not that our are, by any manner of means, in eavenly frame, but that we think h in directions and upon subjects thought can lead to no possible and do not think at all in direcwhere thought is profitable and ecessary, for the attainment of le ends. We meditate upon the hich is to be revealed, and do ive to reveal the glory which now e quarrel so fiercely about the hich leads to heaven in another that we have made something very hell of this present world.
are too apt to get away from our-
Like the ancient Philosopher, ze at the stars 'till we tumble into tch; we go abroad into immensity;
e most anxious about that which ns us least; we so vex our souls the distant and remote that we go ssly about the business of the pres-we interest ourselves in the affairs e nation 'till the shop is bankrupt he farm is covered with weeds; we ore concerned for the success of our than we are for the success of our important commercial ventures.—
imbecile wretches! we doubt not that old the secret of the universe, and not the secret of a well ordered ehold. We know so well how to rule ion, that we cannot govern our own ts.

ven in the wide field of politics, into ch we enter with so much confidence ur abilities to solve the riddles of plicated relations, we do not chief-oncern ourselves about the present—well being of the millions now liv-—the interests of these millions, and millions themselves, if need be, we willing to sacrifice for some great g we propose to do for the future—posterity. We have no time faith-y to do our little duties in our narspheres. We must wear ourselves for some great principle, or some gary we call by that name. Men and n's interests are nothing; the cause everything. Burn cities, destroy com-erce, but let the principle be establish-—our principle;—let justice be done the earth—our justice. Men who ad-se other than this—men who are not ven over to an insane faith in theo-es—who do not believe in themselves o much that they disbelieve in God—ho do not love principle so much that ey hate men, but propose practical emedies for present evils, the comproising of differences and the doing of ome little good to the men and women ow alive, and who believe that of these, hose whom they have seen are quite as well worthy of attention as those whom hey have not seen,—men of this sort re scoffed at as selfish, narrow-minded bigots—decayed relics of a former period, incapable of entering into the spirit f this very progressive age, which said age is, to say truth, forever doing some great thing, which the age can never do, which God only can do (and which in His eyes, doubtless, is better not to have done at all)—is getting up wars and revolutions—is fertilizing the earth with blood, [illegible] abounding. Not for any good thing it proposes to do for itself, but for some imagined good it is to secure to future ages—to guard posterity against some fancied evils. "Thus do we play the fools of time while the spirits of the wise sit in the clouds and mock us."

If we were wise ourselves, we should not so vex our souls about the issues of matters which Providence has placed so infinitely beyond our control. We should learn what all history teaches, that the vain efforts of men to dictate the course of the larger events of life—to turn into their own narrow channels of party, of sect, or philosophy, the broad current of human progress, have ever met with disaster and defeat. We should not be continually stretching forward to do things which is impossible for us to do; we should measure actions not as we imagine they effect the future, but according as they are useful and proper to this our present life. Do we not remember what a leap the miserable Phaeton had, who attempted to guide his father's horses with a mortal hand? No created thing can remove from its proper place with impunity. There is a punishment for presumptuous sins.

How foolish and how futile, as we look back, seem the efforts of communities or nations to govern the course of their own development. The wind bloweth where it listeth and we hear the sound thereof, but cannot tell where it cometh or whither it goeth. Not as they will, but as He wills does the father lead His children through the desert of the ages, and by paths which the wisest of them thought not of—through temptations and troubles often, through need and blank despair, but ever onward and upward, toward something higher, purer and better, toward rational human freedom, which being truly understood is perfect obedience. Thus will He continue to lead them, till man, humbled and sanctified, shall be willing to give up his own self-willed means and self-willed methods to God's means and God's methods.

All that we are called upon to do is very easily done. Why should we bind upon ourselves such heavy burdens?—Liberty is God's, and the future is God's. To-day only is ours, wherein to trust, to labor and to enjoy. This, for us, is enough. Doubtless that "destiny which shapes our ends, rough hew them how we will," will take care of posterity much better than we can do it. To-morrow will be quite as wise, quite as strong as to-day—let us hope much wiser and much stronger. The future asks no sacrifices from the present, which the present is not better for the making.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing
JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,
— ALSO —
GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to
B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

[COMMUNICATED.]
PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!
A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find A SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address
REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
Sept. 23—4m. New York.

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two p stage stamps, by addressing
CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586.
Sept 16—1yr

Advertisements.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

Cards.

WILLIAM G. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

JOHN W. PROCTOR
Counsellor at Law,
Office near the Monument.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.
Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

Mothers—Take Heed!

MRS. OSBORNE'S CURE FOR PIN WORMS

GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st.
South Danvers, June 17. 1863. 3m

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.
may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

Book & Job Printing
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
Executed with Neatness & Despatch
AT THIS OFFICE.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.
INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.
ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.
Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

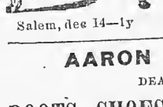
WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
july 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.
Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in



Furniture, Chairs, MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails Nail-penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype. Photograph and Stereoscope process—Bristol Indian Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.
J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following
TARIFF OF PRICES:
Shaving, - - - - - - - - 8 cts,
Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.
Hair Cutting, - - - - - - - 15 cts,
Or 8 Tickets for $1.00.
Champooing, - - - - - - - 15 cts.
Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

WHITE WARE.
WHITE Dinner and Tea Ware, of the newest patterns, at oct 14 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st

GILT WARE.
GOLD Band Tea Ware. Also, Lustre China, at
S C & E A SIMONDS.

CUT GLASS WARE.
GOBLETS, Champagnes and Wines, Dishes, &c., just opened at
oct 14 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st

PIQUE,
A brilliant new novel
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

WOVEN BOOK MARKS
BEAUTIFULLY made and in brilliant colors. Call and see them.
oct 14 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL.
HARPER'S Weekly, Leslie's Paper, and other weekly papers are received by
oct 14 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,
HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of
COFFINS AND CASKETS,
as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

CREAM ALE.
THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.
Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, ATkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC
We defy any one to produce a better.
One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,
WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!
For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

THE PIANO FORTES

THAT have attracted so much attention of late, and are so much admired on account of their SPLENDID FULL, RICH, MELLOW TONE, and GRAND FRENCH ACTION, are for sale only at the Office of the Agent,
218 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
where reference may be had to many who have purchased. Other Piano Fortes also, are for sale, varying in price from $180 upwards. Please call.
Mch 11 6m S. MACKINTIRE, Agent.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.
THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.
FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

OATS.
2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO. Phillips Wharf.

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.
For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Passengers by this route can take the 4.45 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.
Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.
☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & F. R. Railroad Station.
GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, September 23, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,
Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO.,
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

FRANKLIN COAL.
JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.50, 7, 8½, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2¼ 5½, 7½, p. m.
Beverly, 8½ am., 1, 3½, 3½, 5½, 6.55, 7½ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8½ a m., 1, 5½ p m.
Portsmouth, 8½ a m., 3½, 5½ p m.
Portland, 8½ a m., 3½ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM
Portland, 8½ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7½, †11½ a m., †5½ p m.
Amesbury, 7.35, 9.40 a m., 5.30 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m., 6½ p m.
Ipswich, 7.25, 8.25, 10.25 a m., 12.25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8 50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7.05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, *9 05, 11 05 a m., 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *3 35, *4 35, 5.35, *6.20, 5½, *7 35, * 6.05 p m.
Boston, 7½, *8½, 10½ a m., 12½, 2½, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9½.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†Or on arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10½ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.
Marblehead for Salem, 6½, 7½, 8½, 9½ a m., 12½, 1½, 5½, 6½, 7½ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7½, 8½, 9.25, 11½ a m., 1, 3½, 5½, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.
Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6½, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5½ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.
Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11½ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40, 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8.40 a m., 1.20, 6.40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7½ a m., 12½, 3½, 6½ p m.
J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:
Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9.40 a m. and 5.55 p m.
Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.
*Freight Train with passenger car attached.
F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Thursdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. P. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPID LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 25 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on
Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,
And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass.
Capital and Assetts—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.
WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphereotypes, Melainotypes, and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

CROUT & MUNROE'S
SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON
RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at	10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " " at	5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at	3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at	4 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.
Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street.
Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.
Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.
Smallest favors thankfully received.
South Danvers, august 26—tf

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
— TO —
LYNN & BOSTON
— BY —
OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.
W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily.
Leave South Danvers at 7 30 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M.
Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.
Horse Cars leaving Scollay's Building, Court Street, at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.
Sunday Arrangements.
Leave S. Danvers at 7.50 a.m., and 4.50 p.m.
Leave Lynn at 9.40 a.m., and 6.40 p.m.
Cars leave Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston, to meet the Omnibuses in Lynn for South Danvers, at 8 15 A. M., and 5 15 P. M.

Tickets to Lynn,	15 cents.
Through to Boston,	30 cents.

Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.
Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.
EXPRESS BUSINESS
Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.
Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.
South Danvers, 1863

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m
Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM EXPRESS.
Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.
OFFICES:
In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office.
Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible points in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1-6-tf

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express
WILL leave South Danvers at 7½ and 11

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1863. N

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

HEIMSTREET'S
INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,

But restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty,

promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 Broadway, N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary article ever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face and hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing beauty, imparting the marble purity of youth, and the distingue appearance so inviting in the city belle of fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness from the skin, leaving the complexion fresh, transparent and smooth. It contains no material injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses and Opera Singers. It is what every lady should have. Sold everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedent in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover-buds, Orange peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Coriander, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, public speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties.

Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find in these Bitters what they have so long looked for.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer.

The following startling and emphatic statements can be seen at our office.

Letter of Rev E. F. CRANE, Chaplain of the 107th New York Regiment:

NEAR ACQUIA CREEK, March 4th, 1863.

Owing to the great exposure and terrible decomposition after the battle of Antietam, I was utterly prostrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepared by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise they gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost allowed me to join my regiment. * * * * * I have since seen them used in many cases, and am free to say, for hospital or private purposes I know of nothing like them. REV. E. F. CRANE, Chaplain.

Letter from the Rev. N. E. GILDS, St. Clairsville, Pa.:

GENTLEMEN:—You were kind enough, on a former occasion to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for $3 50. My wife having derived so much benefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to continue them, and you will please send us six bottles more for the money inclosed.

I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. GILDS, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

SOLDIERS' HOME, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
CINCINNATI, OHIO, Jan. 15th, 1863.

* * * * * * *

I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who step here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvelous and gratifying.

Such a preparation as this is I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field. C. W. ANDREWS, Superintendent.

Dr. W. A. CHILDS, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

WILLARD'S HOTEL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22d, 1863.

GENTLEMEN:—We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.

Respectfully, SYKES, CHADWICK & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c., &c.

Be sure that every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate label, with our private stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Sold by all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, and country dealers.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY:

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Medicine, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; Its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because which seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is a keel to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

Selected.

☞ Editing a Paper now is a very pleasant business. If it contains too much political matter, people won't have it. If it contains too little, they won't have it. If the type is large, it takes up too much room. If too little, they can't read it. If we publish telegraph reports, folks say they are nothing but lies. If we omit them, they say we have no enterprise, or suppress them for political effect. If we have in a few jokes, folks say we are nothing but a rattle head. If we omit jokes, they say we are an old fossil. If we publish original matter, they censure us for not having selections. If we publish selections, folks say we are lazy for not writing more, and giving them what they have read in some other paper. If we give a man complimentary notices, we are censured for being partial. If we do not, all hands agree we are a greedy hog. If we speak well of the President, folks say we dare not do otherwise. If we censure, they call us a traitor. If we remain in the office and attend to business, folks say we are too proud to mingle with our fellows. If we go out, they say we never attend to business. If we don't pay all bills promptly, folks say we are not to be trusted. If we do pay promptly, they say we steal the money. If we wear poor clothes, they say our business is poor. If we wear good ones, they say we are a spendthrift. Now what is a poor fellow to do?

SCANDALVILLE.—Reader, have you ever rusticated in Scandalville? It is a valuable village, located nowhere in particular, and as like a dozen other villages we could name as one pea is like another. Being blessed with three churches and only one tavern, it ought of course to be the abode of Christian charity and all the social virtues. But alas! the Prys, the Grundys, the Cantwells, the Backbites, and a few other families of the same kidney in Scandalville, contrive to keep the little community in hot water from years' end to years' end. Scandalville takes a great interest in the affairs of temporary sojourners within its borders. The stranger within its gates is under strict surveillance. The head of the Pry family and the Dowager Grundy 'reckon him up,' as Mr. Buckett would say. If his antecedents are enveloped in mystery, the Scandalvillians find no difficulty in fitting him with a biography. They are chiefly interested about two things—his soul and his pocket. Has he 'got religion' and plenty of the root of all evil? If bountifully endowed with both, things will be made pleasant; but if he has neither a long face nor a long purse, is neither a financial person nor a fanatic, though as pure as snow, he shall not escape calumny in Scandalville.

HARD TIMES.—A correspondent at Shelburne Falls writes: "No news—times are awful here—factories stopped—bank don't discount—nobody pays anything—peanut stands bankrupt—children got the mumps—hens stopped laying—cows have dried up—and all nature is in a state of universal suspension."

☞ A young lady recently blown off some high cliffs on the coast of England was preserved from death by her crinoline, which alighted her, blushing, but unhurt, on the sands eighty feet below.

THE WIDOW AND I.

'Do you take sugar in your tea, Mr. Cranky?' inquired Mrs. Dunshaw, as we sat down to supper on the first night of my arrival at her house.

'Yes, ma'am,' looking across the table to where Mrs. Dunshaw sat, with a smile upon her countenance as insinuating as a corkscrew.

Mrs. Dunshaw was a widow lady, rather beautiful to look upon. The man with the glass eye and cork leg that sat at the foot of the table said she was rich, or at least had too much property to be sneezed at. But then people are liable to be mistaken about such things.

But he that as it may be she was quite pretty and agreeable and as she seemed to take quite an interest in me, I couldn't see why I shouldn't be as affable as possible, for who could tell what might happen?—I was unmarried.

Mrs. Dunshaw's late husband had taken an underground tenement about three years before I had the pleasure of making her acquaintance. The black mourning dress had grown gradually more subdued, until she came out at last like a pale lilly in white. It was very becoming, giving her a decidedly ethereal appearance.

After tea I retired to my room; but the attraction of gravitation, or something else that I never could account for, drew me down to the parlor, where sat the widow in all her glory.

The old gentleman with the glass eye, who I do believe had designs on the widow, took his hat and departed when I entered, thinking doubtless that I was a fearful rival.

I do think I am rather charming—quite a 'nice young man;' and I would describe my personal and intellectual beauties, did I not think you would set me down as rather more egotistical than wise.

'A very pretty little village,' said I, looking down the 'summer shaded street'

'Yes, it is, at this season of the year; but it is lonely here in the winter, locked up amid those mountains.'

The widow's voice was soft as a dove's; and now there was a tinge of sadness about it that was almost eye moistening.

'It didn't seem so lonely,' she continued fixing her orbs upon me quite meltingly—'before David left me.'

'Ah, I suppose you refer to Mr. Dunshaw?'

'Yes. I never knew his worth till he was lost to me. It is a sad thing to be alone in the world, but it is vastly more sad to have known such a love as I have known, and then have that love taken away from you.'

Mr. Mullen, the man with glass eye had come in while she was speaking.

'No, Mr. Dunshaw, I don't think you ever realized what he was to you until it was everlasting too late,' said he, taking a pinch of snuff and passing the box to me.

There was a queer smile lighting up his rough dilapidated countenance, like sunshine on a ruined castle. He had doubtless known the widow before David had bid adieu to the scenes of this earth, and his opinion of the widow was perhaps somewhat different from mine. I believed her to be as good as she seemed, and of course felt very angry with Mr. Mullen for his unkind remark, which almost brought the tears to the fair creature's optics.

I have got a very large heart I believe, for I never can bear to see any thing suffer—a pretty woman in particular. My nature is very sympathetic. If Mr. Mullen had not been there I do not doubt but that I should have folded the widow in my arms and cried with her for the loss of her dear David. As it was, I cast a glance highly surcharged with thunder and lightning at Mr. Mullen, and said something very low and fierce about pistols, distance, etc., which caused that gentleman to take his cork leg and perambulate.

What a smile beamed forth from her blue eyes when the door closed after him. I felt then that I could have fought, bled and died for such a dear woman.

'I do not like to say any thing against any one but I must confess to you, Mr. Cranky, that Mr. Mullen is exceedingly disagreeable to me. I do not know how I can repay you for your kindness to me already.'

'I ask no thanks, Mrs. Dunshaw; I only ask that you may be my friend,' I replied.

I might have said that I only asked that she would be to me what she had been to the defunct David; but I thought that would be rather premature, and so I kept back from my lips what my heart would have said.

The widow seemed too much overcome to speak for some time; but at length she laid her hand on my arm, very softly, very tenderly, and looking up at me like the maid in the ballad—'all forlorn,' she whispered:

'I will be your friend, indeed I will, Mr. Cranky.'

There was a mournful tenderness in the words, as when

'Winds and harpstrings meet,' that sunk into my heart as the dew upon the drooping flowers.

Neither of us spoke. Language could not express my feelings and I think the widow was troubled with the same complaint.

At length I arose and bade her 'good night,' and went to my room feeling that my life was bound forever to another who was dearer to me than all earth beside.

Days passed on. The more I saw of the widow the more I thought that if matches were made in Heaven, she was intended for me. Our tasts were so much alike. The books that pleased me were her delight; and in beautiful summer evenings we would sit and read together feeling only that we were together and that no power on earth could divide us.

Mr. Mullen had not troubled the widow or myself since the night when my look banished him, although I very often saw that queer smile upon his face; but one evening as I sat in the parlor alone—the widow having gone out to spend the evening with a friend—he came in and took a seat beside me.

'Mr. Cranky,' said he, 'I suppose you know that I'm older than you?'

'I am aware of it?'

'Well it is possible, if not probable, that I know more about human nature than you do.'

'Go on—what if you do?'

'Can't you see what Mrs. Dunshaw is about?'

'Yes, she is about the most agreeable woman I ever met.'

'Well, don't you know that she is bound to marry you?'

'I don't know it, but I hope she is.'

'Perhaps you are engaged already?'

'That is my business.'

'Oh, yes—certainly; but if you knew what was best for yourself, you would take my advice.'

'How can I take it when I do not know what it is?'

'Would you take it if you did?'

'Perhaps so.'

'Well, Mr. Cranky, I'm an old bird, and, and I tell you this because I know woman better than you do. This widow tried to catch me, but she couldn't come it. She don't care that for you,' said he, snapping his fingers, 'and if you'll take my advice you'll leave her to whistle.'

'An old bird!—you're an old fool!—You had an idea that she would marry you?'

'I know she would.'

'I think I understand you perfectly.—You think if you can get me out of the way, that she will be yours. I don't think I am quite as green as you imagine. I don't intend to bite at your bait; and more than that Mr. Mullen, you had better keep clear of the widow, or I'll—here I put my fist in rather too close proximity with his nasal organ and he left me without stopping to say, 'good-night.'

The widow was delighted when I told her what had happened, or my part of it, for I didn't dare to speak of matrimony then. I knew that she still mourned for her lost David, and I felt that I should be more than a brute to ask her to transfer her love to me upon so short an acquaintance.

Mr. Mullen left the house the next day, bag and baggage, and I did not see him for a long time afterwards. Perhaps he thought that I was rather dangerous, and having a longing desire to die a natural death, he undertook to remove out of harm's way.

I was thankful when he had gone, for then there was no one to break in upon our delightful tete-a-tetes, as he had done so many times.

One evening I was reading 'The Love's of the Angels,' while the widow sat beside me, her hand resting upon my shoulder. When I came to that passage where it says:

'A boat at midnight sent alone,
To drift upon the moonless sea,
A lute whose leading chord is gone,
A wounded bird, that hath but one
Imperfect wing to soar upon,
Are like what I am, without thee!'

The widow burst into tears and her head fell upon my shoulder.

'Darling, what ails thee?' said I, forgetting in my confusion that I had applied a name to her, which I had never dared breathe before.

'Oh, Cranky, that verse is what I would sing to you! Oh, I do, I do—love you!' she cried between her sobs.

It was overpowering. I wanted to go out and swing my hat for very joy, but the dear creature clung to me as if she would never let me go.

'My dear,' said I, 'I have long wished for an opportunity to ask you to share my lot with me.' I should have said more, but something like the cracking of a whip sounded through the room, which I found was caused by the meeting of two pair of lips, and those sounds are generally more expressive than language, we carried on most of the conversation for some time in that delightful dialect.

'Shall we be married in the church?' I asked at length.

'No. We will have a quiet wedding here at the house,' was the reply.

At that moment Mrs. Badon came into the room. The widow plunged from my lap into a chair, while I tried to smooth my hair, which had become somewhat ruffled, looking at the same time as cool as circumstances would permit.

Mrs. Badon seemed more confused than either the widow or myself. It was evident that she did not think of stumbling upon a pair of lovers when she opened the door.

'Mrs. Badon,' said I, 'perhaps after what you have seen, it would be as well to tell you that Mrs. Dunshaw and your humble servant have concluded to go to housekeeping as soon as we can conveniently get ready, and obtain a parson to tie the knot.'

'Law sakes! ain't that delightful!' cried the old lady, throwing up her hands.

'What's up?' inquired that lady's husband, a very small man with a very long nose.

'Why, bless your soul, we're going to have a marriage in the house,' replied the old lady.

'I'll give away the bride,' cried Mr. Badon.

'Oh, deary me!' exclaimed the old lady, still in raptures, 'when is it going to be?'

'As soon as possible.'

Then they left us.

I will confess that I was not agreeably surprised when the widow told me that all the property that the late David left her, with the exception of a few hundred dollars, had been expended. I own that I had thought a great deal about the easy life I should live when I once got hold of the widow's property. But the widow was a prize if she had nothing but her own dear self, and I was satisfied.

That night I sat down and wrote a long letter to my sister Sue, telling her that I had won the heart of one of 'Earth's fairest daughters,' and that two weeks from date, we would leap from the cliff of single blessedness into the abyss of matrimony. I concluded by inviting her and all my friends and relations to the wedding, and wishing that they all might be as happy as I was at the time of writing, through all the years of their lives.

Preparations were going on with great rapidity for the wedding. More dressmakers than I ever thought this world could boast, were kept busy day and night.

Little time had I with my loved one then. Did we start for a walk, some one would come for her to try on a dress, or some other woman fixing.

'Oh, that it was all over, and you were mine now, dear Polly,' for I had learned to call her Polly after the declaration of my love. I did not like the name formerly; but now it seemed the embodiment of all sweetness.

'Yes, dear Mig,' my name is Miguel, 'I cannot bear to be away from you a moment.'

The wedding day grew near. Brother Albert arrived the day but one before the wedding was to be.

'It is needless for me to wish you a happy married life,' said he, as we sat in my room enjoying our cigars after supper, 'for with such a woman you cannot be otherwise than happy.'

'Then you approve of my choice?'

'I do, indeed. I almost wish I could change places with you, Mig, you lucky dog. Well, you was born to luck.'

'I hope I was.'

'Why she is perfectly charming, Mig! Such a face!'

'Take care, Bert, I shall be jealous. I have annihilated one rival. I hope you will not be the next.'

'Never fear. There is a pretty little lady at home that has too strong a claim upon me.'

The wedding day! If you are a married man you can imagine what my feelings were upon that blissful morning. Never did the sun shine brighter; never did the birds sing sweeter to my ear, than upon that bright, cloudless morning.

Sister Sue had arrived the night before. I had reason to be proud of my intended bride from the praise she received from Sue, alone.

'I think you made a slight mistake in the letter you wrote to me, Miguel.'

'How so?'

'Why, you said 'one of Earth's fairest daughters.' You should have said, Earth's fairest daughter.'

The house was full of invited guests. All my relations, even to the fourteenth cousin, came.

I knew that all the male portion of the company were filled with envy. I had never seen Polly look more lovely than she did when we took our places to await the fastening of the nuptial knot.

I remember little about the ceremony. I think I made some kind of an answer to the parson, but what, I cannot tell for the life me. I only awoke from the delightful trance to receive the congratulations of my friends. Mullen came forward among the rest. The same strange smile was upon his countenance. I imputed it to envy then.

"A taste of cake; a sip of wine;
Some kissing—and the scene was over."

I was married. The carriage which was to convey us to the depot, on our way to Boston, was at the door. Our trunks were strapped on behind; and then, after bidding adieu to my friend, we took our seats and started.

The weather had been fair all day. Was not that an augury of a happy life before us? I felt that it was.

'Mine, only,' I whispered, as I took the little gloved hand in mine and pressed it to my lips.

'Yes, dearest,' was the softly breathed response.

We took the cars and were soon speeding away toward the city of Boston. Polly had an aunt there, whom she intended to visit before we returned. A maiden aunt, very wealthy and very eccentric, who would doubtless leave her property mostly to my wife. Was not that a bright future to be looked forward to?

Out of the noise and bustle of the Boston depot, we drove to the P——— House. We took the best suit of rooms. Nothing of inferior quality was good enough for my beautiful bride.

After we had made ourselves comfortable in our new and transient abode, Polly put her arms around my neck and kissing me, said:—

'Husband, I ought not to have any secrets now. I should keep nothing from you.'

'No, dearest' I replied, giving an answering kiss.

'You will blame me, perhaps, a little, but I know your kind heart will forgive me all. I have deceived you, Miguel, but it was from my great love for you—I could not bear the thought of giving you up.'

'Oh, dearest Polly!' do not speak of our being separated! You may have deceived me but, I cannot give you up—what would life be without you?'

Her little arms were twined around my neck, and the tears were falling from her sweet blue eyes upon my cheek. No, I could not give her up!

'But, dearest, what is this secret? Do not fear but that I will forgive you, as I as I hope to be forgiven hereafter.'

Still the tears fell, as softly as the evening dews; but she did not answer. I tried to comfort her, and last succeeded.

She withdrew her arms around my neck and placing he hands to her head, raised the glossy curls and threw them at my feet, exposing a poll as bare as a brass tea-kettle.

'Good heavens! what does this mean?' I cried, starting from my seat.

'Wait a moment, dearest,' she replied, placing her fingers in her month and taking therefrom those pearly teeth that had shone so brightly among the roses of her mouth.

'Ho old are you madam?'

'Wait a moment, dear,' was the soft reply as she removed her cork leg.

'Now, darling, you wish to know how old I am?'

'Yes, madam!' I cried, pacing the room in a fury of despair.

'Well, my cream-tarter-of-delight, I believe I am not over forty.'

'Oh! you bundle of falsehood dare you speak to me?'

'Will you not forgive me? I am beautiful—when painted. See, vinegar can remove the bloom from my cheeks.'

'Talk not to me, base woman!'

'But, dearest, what would you do without me?'

I threw myself into a chair, completely exhausted. I had 'caught a Tartar,' and there seemed no help for it.

We made up and became friends at length; but in the 'still night' I stole softly out from the companionship of the cork leg of my beautiful owner, and it is my pride to say that I shall not return to Boston over, as I have enlisted and am now on leaves for Washington next week.

HOW GHOSTS ARE

As the manifestations at [illegible] are attracting a considerable attention just now, the following from the American Journal of Photography for Aug. 15, will be of interest to our readers:

On the raising of the curtain for the ghost scene, the lights of the theatre are mostly extinguished, the footlights entirely, while the stage was dimly lighted from above and at the sides. Another starts up out of a trouble-some dream of ugly sights, rends the pasteboard waters, a la Bowery, when ghost appears. This ghost is simply a man which the murderer takes to be the ghost claiming him for a victim, and when the murderer begs to be excused Death disappears, and shortly the ghost of a lady deceased in a previous act of the play, fully arrayed in ornaments and jewels, comes on the scene. This ghost No. 2 talks, of course, in the sepulchral tones of ghosts. Ghost No 3 takes the place of No. 2, in the form of the old man who has been lately murdered, and who plays his gaping wounds. Sometimes three ghosts appear at the same time, when the climax is reached, and the audience is on the harrowing scene. Then the audience are all in terror, and sometimes men raise a loud encore, but the ghosts refuses to move.

We proceed to give a more scientific description. The ghosts are of the natural size of humanity, and the illusion on the stage is definitely seen to be of human form, color and action, they appear to move like mortals. That they are not such, however, is evident from the fact that they appear and disappear without coming from the spot where they disappear. Moreover, their bodies are in some cases and sometimes objects behind them can be seen through them; the magician attacks them with his "trusty sword," severing them from head to heel, without disturbing them in the least. The magic lantern and concave mirror the ghosts are placed away before the facts were known, and in the absence of a screen, the lifesized figure is illuminated the natural manner, the lips, eyes, and hands, were consistent with such explanation.

We went away the first night somewhat mystified; here were things that had not been dreamed of in our philosophy. We began to feel sympathy for the man who said they smelt sulphur, and when we noticed they had seen a ghost. The rappings and table-tippings were somewhat awkward and distant approximations to the genuine ghost phenomena.

Yet the manner of raising the ghost is ridiculously simple; a little thought and reflection and the thing is accomplished. Thus at the front of the stage is erected a large sheet of plate glass, inclined towards the audience, at an angle of about forty-five degrees with the floor. This glass is invisible to the audience, and it does not obstruct the view of objects behind it. In front of the glass and under its inclination there is an opening in the floor of the stage, through which the person who acts the ghost descends. Now when the light is turned down on the actor, the image of him is seen by reflection from the glass; the plate glass acting like a looking-glass. Nothing is reflected to the spectators but the image, and by varying the position of the glass the image or ghost is brought to appear as desired, is made to advance, recede, disappear, and by varying the intensity, and by varying the position of the light, other interesting effects are obtained. This explanation will probably be sufficient to enable many of our readers, if so disposed, to raise the ghost for their private use.

☞ Four bushels of double cherries—two on a stem—grew this season on a tree in Lenox, Mass.

The Wizard.

NESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1863.

WAR MEETING!

Meeting for the Promotion of Enents in the Service of the United es will be held this (Wednesday) ning, Oct. 28th, at the Town Hall, th Danvers, commencing at 7 1-2 ck.

olonel FRANKLE, of the 2d Heavy llery, will be present, accompanied his Regimental Band, consisting of nty-four pieces.

Hon. A. A. ABBOTT, A. A. PUTNAM, ., Rev. Mr. BARBER, Rev. Mr. SAFRD, and others, are expected to adss the meeting.

The Army must be filled, or the Cause andoned. Which shall it be!

HE WAR MEETING IN DANVERS.

The meeting at Danvers last Wednesy evening, held for the purpose of enuraging enlistments, was probably the rgest meeting ever held in the town. It estimated that as many as two thousd people were present in and about the all. The Band of the 2d Heavy Artilry, announced to be present, came own from Boston in the afternoon, and y its stirring music on the Square and hrough the streets of the Plains, had ell enlisted the interest and feelings of he people of the town; but the multiude, as we were glad to observe, was uite largely composed of people from Wenham, Middleton and Topsfield.

Hon I. W. Andrews presided, and introduced as the first speaker Col. Frankle of the above named regiment, now being recruited. The Colonel, on stepping forward, was received with cordial applauses. He made a short, but spirited, stirring, and it would appear effective, speech. He spoke of the deep interest felt by the friends of America abroad in this our great struggle for Constitutional Freedom, and urged the importance of speedily recruiting the army, to the end that free institutions might be vindicated and this glorious Republic preserved. It was not a war for the establishment of military power or the aggrandizement of military men. It was waged to give ascendency to the arts of peace, as against the designs of slave-aggression. When the war was over, shoulder-straps should pale into insignificance, but in order to this the war should be carried on vigorously, and with an eye single to the triumph of the Union cause. The remarks of the speaker were perhaps the more impressive coming from an accomplished officer, who has already done good service for the country, and is likely to do greater service still at the head of the regiment he is now so industriously raising.

The speeches of Dr. Briggs and Hon. Mr. Phillips of Salem, were of a high order, eloquent, earnest, and convincing. Dr. Briggs expressed it as his opinion that if the 300,000 now called for were quickly raised, they would, as an accession to the army, be sufficient for the suppression of the rebellion and the consequent restoration of the Union. We regret we have no space for a sketch of the speeches of Dr. Briggs and Mr. Phillips. They were in every way worthy of the hour, and will long be remembered by those who heard them. Not less is true of the speech of Rev. J. W. Putnam, who was called upon in place of Rev. Mr. Spaulding, unable to be present by reason of illness.

Several officers of Col. F.'s Regiment were on the platform, and among them Capt. Lull and Lieut. Kinsley. Each of these officers made some very practical remarks. Lieut. K. told the men they might as well come, for if they did not come, they would have to go—by and by. As for the ladies he could not expect them to go, but they could go down to the depot with the men and see them off.

A. A. Putnam being called for, came forward, and began to speak very smartly, but of a sudden found himself—for the first time in his life—flat on his back. The air was bad and the fatigue in getting up such a meeting had been exhausting. He therefore concluded to lie down to rest, and he accordingly did so on platforms, on men's arms, and on sofas for about an hour. He fainted!

"Ambition should be made of sterner stuff."

After some further remarks by Col. Frankle—the Hall being still crowded—the meeting adjourned, the large audience evidently retiring with a deeper sense of duty as owed to the country in this hour of her trial than was felt when they entered the Hall. At intervals during the evening the band discoursed its excellent music, and but for the crowded state of the Hall and the occurrence referred to, this meeting would have ranked the best ever held in the old town of Danvers.

☞ Among those captured by the rebels at the battle of Chickamuga, was the younger brother of Rev. Mr. Barber of this town. He was in the 4th Kentucky Cavalry during the whole campaign.

☞ The nomination tendered to Hon. I. W. Andrews, with such unanimity, for Senator of the 2d Essex District, we regard as a just compliment to that gentleman for the fidelity with which through good report and evil report he has adhered to the great principles now at stake in this crisis of the country. Without disparagement to others, it is not too much to say that no man of the District has, through a long term of years, been truer to the cause of free institutions, and none, according to the measure of his influence, has worked more effectually in their support. With native abilities of no ordinary character, improved by an industrious self-culture, he has been constant in season and out of season to the great idea of Liberty, which, at last triumphing in the election of Mr. Lincoln, brought on this struggle that is to decide the issue presented by the power of Rebellion. Some censure such men as the cause of the war. In our opinion they are to be thanked for the bringing on the contest at a day not too distant.

Mr. Andrews as Senator in the last legislature, was a working rather than a talking member. As Chairman of the Committee on Roads and Bridges he served with much credit, and it has seemed to us that his re-election will secure to the Senate a serviceable and efficient member in these times when good men and true are needed.

Mr. Fenollosa's Grand Army Concert.

This Concert, in behalf of the Sanitary Commission, to be given before the Salem Union League, is announced in our advertising columns. We judge from the Salem papers that this entertainment will fully equal that of a similar character, given under the same auspices, of the 17th of July last, and repeated a few nights later. It is intimated that a favorite voice from Lynnfield will be heard again, and that South Danvers will be charmingly represented on the stage Our people who propose to attend the concert will find tickets for sale at the Horse Railroad Office in the Square, and will reach Mechanic Hall in season for the grand rush, by leaving here either in the 6.25 or 6.40 car. There will be plenty of extras, as well as cars, coming home immediately after the concert.

We gather from the Gazette of yesterday, that the programme includes a chorus from "Moses in Egypt," well worth hearing from such a host of voices; "To God in Heaven be Glory given;" also the popular chorus by Root, called the "Battle Cry of Freedom," and another patriotic chorus arranged for "Scots wha hae;" Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." Another piece for male voices will give an opportunity to some of those returned volunteers who taught the citizens of Newbern that Puritan singing is not all rendered through the nose, even in church psalmody, and the memory of whose vocal accomplishments waked many a sigh, that "The minstrel boy to the war has gone."

The Salem Register states that the tickets for Mr. Fenollosa's last concert were sold a day and one-half before the performance. We therefore recommend to those who would like, as the Salem Gazette says, "to help the Sanitary Commission without feeling it, to buy tickets to this concert if they can get them"—and also that they go early to the hall in Salem, if they would enjoy it with full satisfaction and comfort. The doors open at 7 o'clock. Let them secure tickets here before starting,—they may not get them at the door.

NEW OMNIBUS ARRANGEMENT—Mr. Webster F. Burnham, the enterprising proprietor of the line of omnibuses which connects our town with the thrifty city of Lynn, will commence next Monday to run an omnibus to Lynn, three times daily, through Gravesend and Woodend to the Central Depot, thereby accommodating a great many who have business and friends in that section of the city. The omnibus will run at such hours so as to connect with the trains on the Eastern Railroad. The first trip leaving our town as early as 6 o'clock in the morning, (connecting with the 7.10 train for Boston,) allowing our business men to reach that city at a very early hour. He has also purchased the line running between Salem and our town, and will run coaches from South Danvers to Lynn, via Salem.

☞ We learn that in consequence of the increase of travel on the Horse Rail Road, it is the intention of the Directors, in a few days, to increase the number of trips, so that a car shall leave each end of the road every ten minutes. During the last two weeks the travel has been greater than ever before. It is impossible at once to procure new cars enough to accommodate the increased travel; so that, temporarily, the Directors will be obliged to use some cars which are not satisfactory to them, but are the best to be obtained. New cars are in the process of construction, and will be placed on the road in a few weeks.

The three new cars built of gas pipe, which the contractor was to have furnished in February last, are completed, and will be placed on the road in a few days.

☞ The following gentlemen were chosen a District Committee for the ensuing year at the late Senatorial Convention in Salem:

R. S. Rantoul of Salem,
A. P. Phillips of South Danvers,
Charles P. Preston of Danvers,
James M. Merriam of Middleton,
Henry Hobbs of Wenham,
B. P Adams of Topsfield.

RECRUITING AGENTS.—The following named gentlemen have been approved by the Provost Marshal General as Recruiting Agents for this Congressional District:

Lynn—Col. James Hudson, Jr.
Danvers—James D. Black.
Gloucester—Capt. David W. Lowe.
Marblehead—Lieut. Stewart McClearn.
Newburyport—Lieut. John F. Ricker.
Salem—Lieut. Robert W. Reeves.

THE LADY'S BOOK.—Godey, for November, presents, as usual, many attractive features.—Besides the beautiful Fashion plate, the embellishments embrace seven engravings of the latest styles of capes and mantillas, and a large number of patterns for needle work, &c.

LETTER FROM OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, October 19th, 1863.

MR. EDITOR,—After a battle we have to bury our dead and take care of the wounded. In the political battle that we have fought in Ohio we had none wounded, but our enemy were all killed and none left to tell the tale of their loss. We have not a copperhead left; no one will own that he voted for Vallandigham since Tuesday, the 13th instant.—(the Canadian traitor)—and of course they were all killed. We have been burying the dead the last week. You will of course hurrah with us in this great moral triumph we have achieved. The result of our election is the salvation of our beloved country. If Vallandigham had been elected Governor of Ohio we should have had war and anarchy on the soil of Ohio, and Indiana and Illinois would have followed in the train. But we have buried the copperheads beyond the possibility of a resurrection. You cannot realize how we have escaped from the very jaws of destruction as a nation. Every thing was as solemn as death on the day of election. The stores were closed and the people gave the day to their country. In the evening, when the returns began to come in, the friends of the Union breathed freer and their hopes revived and there went up one universal shout of joy. You of the staid old Bay State know nothing of the fight we have had. I have never witnessed anything to compare with it. It has been more difficult to be a Union man in Ohio than Tennessee. There is more Unionism in Tennessee to-day than Ohio. I have seen men from there and heard them speak. Tennessee to-day would give a larger Union majority than Ohio has done in proportion to her population, and abolish slavery with equally as large a vote when the time comes.

Our Governor has had to send many times armed men to put down armed men in Ohio in rebellion against the laws of Ohio. In many places men have been murdered in cold blood. Who, in the name of God and humanity, wants to save the cursed institution of slavery? Slavery must go down, or our Government. Who prefers slavery to his Government? That Slavery is the cause of the war, is admitted by the South itself. But there will be peace in Ohio now. The copperheads will keep still; they have all gone into "their holes and drawn the hole in after them."

As regards territorial reconstruction by Chas. Sumner, Congress has all control of the seceded States. They must be treated as territories until Congress defines how they shall come back into the Union after they become conquered territory or conquered States. You admit Jeff. Davis and his minions back into Congress—then you have the Constitution as it was. What sane man would do it? Congress must define how they shall come back, and in doing so they must treat them as territories or say how they may exercise State rights. Are traitors in the rebellious States to have the same rights as Union men? The doctine of State rights, or nullification, must be forever set at rest, or there will be no peace to the country. Congress must have something to say in the matter, or we are not a nation. You may call it what you may—territorial government or anything else—it amounts to the same thing. Charles Sumner's views are spreading rapidly. The people see his views, or something similar, must be adopted before this question can be settled, whether we are to continue as a nation or not. Charles Sumner will exercise more power in Congress than any other man in it. He is certainly the best diplomatist in the country, except Seward; and as he is the Chairman of the Committee on our Foreign Relations, he must necessarily have a great influence. He is one of our best scholars and orators. His views are spreading in the West and South. A large number of our most influential papers are coming to his opinion, or something similar. They see, as the war advances, the question of our national existence will depend upon Congress acting in some way on this question, to bring about the permanent establishment of the Union.

Abraham Lincoln's name will go down to posterity as the second Savior of our country. He is good, therefore—he is great. He has not so great an education as Seward and Sumner, but he has got good judgment and common sense. Douglass said he was honest and was the greatest man that he ever debated with in or out of Congress.

Our late election has decided in Ohio three things, viz.: 1st, That Ohio has voted to sustain the Government in crushing out the rebellion and to give the last man and dollar. 2d, No compromise with traitors. 3d, That none but Union men in the rebellious States shall control the State Government or exercise the elective franchise. Gen. Butler says the rebellious States must be treated as if they were foreign States that we have conquered, and of course Congress has all power to say on what terms they shall exercise State rights. We do not trouble ourselves about what the rebels like and what they don't like, out here.

There is great difference between a statesman and a flashy, spouting demagogue. We have got to be for the Government or Jeff. Davis. There are but two classes of men—Loyal and Rebel.

In regard to the Emancipation Proclamation, the rebels think that it is the greatest firebrand ever thrown upon them. Aas they say, it raises h—l with them. Enough is known that the Supreme Court of the United States will declare the Proclamation Constitutional.

You must wake up in the good old Bay State or you will be behind in the rapid progress which the West is making in the march of liberty and freedom. I do not mean that "New England should be left out in the cold;" but New England's sons are revolutionizing the West and carrying out their principles, and it will learn the whole West. New England has to-day seven millions of her descendants west of the Atlantic States. The East, the North, and West will soon have the controlling influence in the South.

Our country must be preserved and we must be one nation; let Jeff. Davis rule and we become slaves to the Southern oligarchy.

CAR FACTORY.—We understand that the stock has been taken for a company in Salem to manufacture iron horse cars, which are now in great demand. The capital is $50,000. It is confidently believed that iron cars will supersede all others, being superior in strength, durability, lightness, and economy. Any and all enlargements of the manufacturing industry of our city will be hailed with pleasure by all our people.—Obs.

☞ The Liverpool "Mercury" boasts of its recent purchase of one of Hoe's rotary six-cylinder printing machines (American though it be,) and pronounces it "a remarkable triumph of mechanical skill."

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

Banquet to the Russian Fleet — Political—"Democratic" Ratification—The Suit against Mr. Seward—Buchanan not in Europe—Public Entertainments—Business and Wealth.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct, 23d, 1863.

The leading event of the week has been the banquet to the officers of the Russian fleet. It was given by the City Common Council on Monday night at the Astor House. It was a magnificent entertainment and seemed to give great satisfaction to the guests. The double headed Eagles of Russia and the symbols of American nationality were significantly grouped in the decorations. Mayor Opdyke presided. The Russian minister and Admiral made brief speeches in reply to toasts, as did also Admiral Paulding and others. Letters were read from Secretary Seward, Archbishop Hughes, and several other distinguished Americans. The festivities were continued until a late hour.

The managers of political nominations have nearly completed their labors. The candidates are now before the electors. As usual in the city we have some very bad nominations.—Among the worst is that of the notorious John H. McCunn at present "City Judge," who is now set up for a Judge of the Supreme Court. He is a wretched copperhead, was active in the riots, was thrust out of Washington by McClellan, and has not the remotest idea of judicial dignity or honor. A "pot house" politician of the Democratic strife he controls votes and hence his nomination. This man has received that nomination from both the Tammany and Mozart factions. This is however, only the legitimate result of the system of electing the Judiciary which is one of the worst evils that can be inflicted upon a free people. But it is by no means certain that he will be elected; on the contrary there are symptoms of a powerful reaction against the whole McCunn, Wood and Seymour stripe of office seekers.

On Wednesday night the "Democracy" held their Ratification meeting at Cooper Institute. It was a tame affair and the conflict between the peace-at-any-price Democrats and the more shrewd and foxy coppery Democrats was open and noisy. The President of the meeting was continually interrupted by cries of "We don't want any War Democrats here," "We are peace men," &c., &c. The "World," alarmed by the crushing defeat of Vallandigham, protests against the peace-at-any-price doctrine, while the Daily News, the Wood organ, prays the peace-at-any-price men to unite just this once with the other kind of Democrats.

The Hon. Wm. H. Seward has been sued in our Supreme Court by Mr. Jones our former minister to Bogota for illegal arrest. The arrest was made by the Secretary under the authority of the President. A motion was lately made by Mr. Seward for the removal of the cause to the U. S. Circuit Court under the late law of Congress. The motion was denied by one of our Supreme Court judges on the ground that the President had no shadow of authority to arrest without a writ or process.

The report which is travelling the rounds of the newspapers to the effect that Ex-President Buchanan is in Europe is without any foundation. He is at his home in Lancaster, Penn., all the London papers to the contrary notwithstanding.

Gottschalk is giving a series of concerts at Irving Hall. Last evening Charlotte Cushman and Edwin Booth played Macbeth at the Academy of Music for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission. The amusements are largely patronized this fall. The pleasure seeking crowds seem larger than ever. The great disbursements by the government have placed money in many pockets hitherto empty. The milliners, the jewelers and the tailors are thriving. Diamonds, emeralds and rubies have doubled in price and are scarce. At the Central Park, the grand rendezvous for equipages, may be seen every pleasant day throngs of elegant carriages with their liveried drivers, and Broadway never looked more prosperous. A. T. Stewart's income last year, upon which he paid the income tax, according to his own statement under oath, was four and one half millions of dollars. The rude alarms of war, so far from terrifying the financiers, are the engines wherewith they coin dollars. And so the metropolis acts and thrives, very sensitive to each pulsation of the battle energies of the Nation, very near to the Treasury, greedy even for the green currency, but by no means thoughtless or careless of the National honor, the national needs or the nation's soldiers.

The City voted $2,000,000, to furnish substitutes for indigent drafted men with families and now the Supervisors have voted some $300 to each volunteer under the new call. The private donations to all the numerous war objects too, have been in accordance with the wealth of the donors. Yours, &c.,

GREGORY.

In the great battle of Gettysburg the color-sergeant of the 6th Vermont, fell mortally wounded. At once a dozen men rushed up to seize the colors and bear them forward. The poor wounded sergeant grasped the staff with both his clenched hands; his eyes were already dimmed with death; he could not see who it was that tried to wrest his charge from him. "Are you friends or enemies?" he cried out. "We are friends," was the reply, "give us the colors." "Then, friends," said he, "I am mortally wounded; let me hold up the flag till I die"—and so saying, he fell back—dead. Surely a nobler soldier than this poor fellow never lived.

☞ When Commissioner Olmstead was at Morris Island to receive the votes of the Ohio troops in Gen. Gilmore's department, the General, although a resident of Ohio, did not vote. In answer to the question why he did not, he said the Commissioner had not asked him.—"Besides that," he added, "I never voted in my life."

☞ J. J. Astor, Jr., of New York, has set a noble example to tax-payers. The assessors having by mistake set the valuation of his house at ten thousand dollars, he voluntarily proposed correcting the valuation to a hundred thousand, and paid the tax accordingly on that sum.

ESSEX.—Mrs. Burnham, aged about 70, broke her hip a few weeks since, by a fall near her dwelling house, and Mrs. Mary Jones met with a similar accident about the same time.

☞ The Ohio soldiers, as far as heard from, voted 16,472 for Brough, and 377 for Vallandigham.

☞ At Philadelphia manmoth floating battery of 3500 tons burden is building.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS.

Last week the Democracy held conventions for county officers, and a Senator to represent District No. 2. The County Convention was presided over by Mr. Charles P. Thompson of Gloucester, who, in assuming the duties, made a short speech, in which, among other things, he said, the country had passed on in a career of glory which the historian had hardly been able to record for its brilliancy, but had now struck on a bar which has thrown us back; lamented the present sad condition of the country, attributing it to the agitation of the negro question which he said had been used as pertinaciously for every national ill, as the Thompsonian sweat had been to every stage of the disease of the sick man who finally found relief in death; attributed the light attendance to a belief that the people at home knew this would not be an assembly actuated by endeavors to secure positions at the public crib, and would be content with the action of those who did come, and who he knew had the Union at heart.

Wm. D. Northend was afterward called upon. He said it gave him pleasure to unite with those in our county whose object was to restore the Constitution as the fathers placed it, and that the Democrats stood upon the platform adopted by the Republicans in the Congressional resolutions adopted in the early stage of the war. He indulged in a hopeful view of the future prospects of the Democratic party, attributing a part of the Republican successes in some of the States to the sending home of selected soldiers to vote. His remarks were brought to a close by the reports of the Committees who had been out.

The Committee on nominations reported the following list of candidates, which was adopted without dissent:—

For Councillor—William Nutting, Jr., of Marblehead.

For County Commissioner—Moses Newell, of Newbury.

For Register of Probate and Insolvency—Geo. R. Lord, of Ipswich.

Edmund Legro of Danvers, and C. F. Holman of South Danvers, are members of the County Committee.

Immediately after the adjournment of the County Convention, the second Essex Senatorial Convention was called to order by Jos. S. Perkins, Esq., of Salem, who, on motion of Mr. Wiley, of South Danvers, was chosen President. Mr. Charles A. Ropes, of Salem, was chosen Secretary. On motion of Mr. Wiley of South Danvers, an informal ballot for a candidate for Senator was taken with the following result,—

Whole number of votes,	18
H. O. Wiley of South Danvers,	8
W. D. Northend of Salem,	4
Chas. A. Ropes of Salem,	2
Rufus H. Brown,	2
F. W. Wilcomb,	1
L. B. Harrington, Salem,	1

Mr. Northend, on the announcement of the vote, declined being considered a candidate, and a formal ballot was then taken with the following result:—

Whole number of votes,	23
Necessary for a choice,	12
H. O. Wiley, of So. Danvers, had	19
All others,	4

The Chairman declared the vote and announced to Mr. Wiley personally, the fact that he had been selected; whereupon the nominee came to the platform and accepted the nomination, saying it was an honor to be thus remembered by men of the intelligence of those who constituted the Democratic party, and that he wished he was more worthy of representing such a class of men.

A committee of three having been previously appointed for the purpose, the Senatorial Committee was reported and accepted as follows:—John S. Jones, of Salem; H. C. Poor, of South Danvers; H. W. S. Cleveland, of Danvers; and Francis Dodge, of Wenham.—Gazette.

FORT WORSTED.—This is the name of a formidable fortification in one of the elegant show windows of BROWNING & LONG. It is made of bales of German Worsted, and is mounted with ten guns, in casemate, charged with Zephyr. It displays considerable ingenuity and attracts great attention. Messrs. B & L. deserve great credit for their usual magnificent displays, but from the crowds going in and out, they must be well repaid.

HAIR DRESSING NOTICE.—Mr. J. J. HEYLINGBERG having secured a good, steady workman, his shop will now be open at all hours of the day. He and his assistant, Mr. HILL, will do all in their power to accommodate the public, and expect thereby to merit a liberal patronage. Although the Salem barbers have raised their prices, Mr. H. still adheres to his present advertised rates.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.—The Republicans of South Danvers, and all others who are in favor of the present National and State Administrations, are requested to meet at the Town Hall, on THURSDAY Evening, Oct. 29th, at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative to the next General Court.

Also to consider the expediency of forming a Union League.

☞ $16,000.00 worth of Men's and Boys' Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats and Caps, at 240 Essex street.

☞ Clothe your Boys at 240, and save your money.

CARPETS.—A great trade is carried on through these times of high prices, by the New England Carpet Company, of Boston. See their advertisement in to-day's paper.

Musical.

The South Danvers Musical Association will hold a meeting on MONDAY Evening next, at 7 o'clock, in the vestry of the South Church.

A full attendance is requested.

So. Danvers, Oct 28th, '63.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.

The members of this Corporation are hereby notified that the Annual meeting will be holden at the Warren Bank Rooms, on Wednesday, Nov. 4th, at 7 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Officers for the year ensuing, and for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

Per Order
FRANCIS BAKER, Sec'y.

So. Danvers, Oct. 14, 1863.

[From the Beverly Citizen.]

A PARODY.

Have you seen the great Emporium,
Where the richest Gloves and Laces,
Ever view'd or worn by Ladies,
Flash upon the ravished vision?
'Tis the store called Ladies' Furnishing,
Kept by PEABODY at Two-Twenty,
Where all Hoods, Sontags and Nubias,
Such as beauty wraps around her,
Hoods of yarn and Hoods of Worsted,
Skating Hats and Sleeves and Gaiters,
All that fashion yet has offered,
To delight the eye and please it,
In the way of Knitted Worsteds,
Seek them at the store of PEABODY'S.

The largest stock of German Zephyrs
Ever shown in Salem City—
All the choicest shades and colors
Used by any one for knitting;
And his prices are the lowest,
Lower than the other dealers,
Lower than the Wholesale Houses,
Lowest prices ever heard of;—
Clearly 'tis to your advantage,
You who wish to save your money,
You who wish to buy the cheapest,
Have the largest stock to buy from,
Have the latest styles and fashions,
In all kinds of Goods for Ladies,
Buy them at the store of PEABODY'S.

From the early hours of morning,
To the twilight dim and ghastly,
Yea, and far into the Gas light,
Ladies throng the store of Peabody's;
Collars and sleeves of Lace and Muslin,
Embroideries such as all are needing,
And they rush to get the bargains,
Bargains such as he can offer,
Bargains truly always found there,
Always found at J. P. PEABODY'S.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 20th, sch Ada Herbert, New York; 22d, Br sch H O Warren, Clemantsport; schs Boxer; California, and Majestic, Bangor; 23d, Pearl, Rockland.

Marriages.

In this town, Oct. 23d, by Rev Mr Barber, Mr Isaac A Munroe to Miss Emeline Claxton, both of Beverly.

Oct. 21st, by Rev J M Bacon of Essex, Mr I B Little of West Amesbury, to Miss Susan, daughter of N M Horton Esq of So. Danvers.

In Salem, Oct 14th, by Rev Mr Spaulding, Mr Joseph Gilbert of Marblehead, to Mrs Mira L Sherburne of Salem; 22d, by Rev Mr Leonard of Chelsea, assisted by Rev Dr Briggs of Salem, Mr James S Green of Chelsea, to Miss Mary H, daughter of the late Mr Isaac Pinkham of Salem.

Deaths.

In this town, Oct 9th, John P, son of John and Elizabeth Linehan, 20 months.

21st, Lewis S, son of Edward and Eliza A Fuller, 11 years 1 month 8 days

22d, Mary Ellen, daughter of Augustus and Mary Ann Mead, 2 yrs 3 mos.

In Danvers, Oct 23d, Mary E daughter of Nathaniel Hills, Esq., (Principal of the High School,) 15 yrs 1 mo 27 days; 24th, Mr Henry Buxton, aged 41; 25th, Mr Daniel P Clough 44 yrs; Mr Timothy G Haley, formerly of Alfred, Me., 26 yrs 11 mos 3 days.

In Salem, Oct 20th, Minnie, daughter of George W and Ceeilia L Reed, 2 yrs 10 mos 5 days; 21st, Mrs Ellen Roeko, 34 yrs, wife of Capt Matthew M Rocko; 22d, John, son of the late Mr Thomas Murray, 6 yrs 4 mos; 24th, John, son of Michael and Sarah Dennehy, 3 yrs 6 months.

At Beverly, Oct 11, Mrs Abigail L, widow of the late Samuel D Woodbury, 36; 20th, Mr James T Hitchings, 68 years; 21st, Mrs Mary, widow of the late Capt John Lovett, 62 yrs 8 months.

At Lynnfield Centre, Charlotte A Downing, 17 years.

In Charlestown, Oct 17, Mr George D Arrington, 40 yrs—formerly of Salem.

In Chelsea, Oct 21, Mr John B Wingate, formerly of South Danvers, 31 yrs 3 mos.

At Saratoga Springs, Oct 16, Rev Dr John Wayland, formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church in Salem, Mass. He was installed on the 6th of August, 1834, and remained until Nov. 5, 1841, when he resigned. He subsequently became an Episcopalian.

M. FENOLLOSA'S GRAND ARMY CONCERT,

WILL BE GIVEN BEFORE THE

SALEM UNION LEAGUE,

in aid of the U. S. Sanitary Commission,

AT MECHANIC HALL,

On THURSDAY EVENING, Oct. 29th.

Doors open at 7.....Music at 7½ o'clock.

The Programme will include several new Patriotic Choruses, to be given by the Glee Club, largely augmented as before, together with an original Composition for this Concert, by Mr. FENOLLOSA, and some choice selections, rendered by favorite Amateurs.

TICKETS—25 CENTS EACH, may be had at the usual places.

Extra Horse Cars will leave Beverly and South Danvers, reaching the Hall at 7 o'clock, and returning at the close of the Concert.

An extra train will leave after the Concert for Marblehead. Salem, Oct. 28

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

TO

LYNN & BOSTON

BY

OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.

W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays included.

Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving the office at 14 Brattle Street, at 8 15 A M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.

Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - - 30 cents.

Gravesend, Woodend, and Central Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in addition to the old route, an Omnibus will leave South Danvers for Lynn, to connect with the steam and horse cars, 3 times daily,—Sundays excepted.—running through Gravesend and Woodend, to the Central R R Depot, and Horse Railroad Station, corner of Spring and Broad Streets; leaving South Danvers at 6 A M (connecting with the 7.10 steam cars for Boston), 10 A M (connecting with the 11.10 train), and 4 P M (connecting with the 5.30 train); and returning, leave Lynn from the Spring Street Station and Central R R Depot, at 8 A M, and 1 and 6 P M.

Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by horse cars, 30c.
" " " " steam cars, 35c.

Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.

Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS

Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.

Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.

South Danvers, Salem and Lynn Route.

THE subscriber having purchased of M A Shackley the Omnibus line running from Salem to Lynn, would announce that it will now leave the Stage Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, for Salem, at 7 30 A M, and 2 30 P M, and leave the Stage Office in Central St, Salem, at 8.30 A M, and 3.30 P M for Lynn. Returning will leave Lynn at 10 A M and 5 P M; and Salem for South Danvers at 11½ A M, and 6.15 P M.

Passengers between South Danvars and Salem will be called for by leaving orders at the offices

W. F. BURNHAM.

South Danvers, Oct 28, 1863.

ESSEX INSTITUTE.

THE Course of SCIENTIFIC LECTURES will commence about the middle of November, and be continued on THURSDAY EVENINGS, at the LYCEUM HALL, Salem.—These Lectures will treat on subjects connected with Geology, Astronomy, Botany, Zoology, &c., &c., and may be expected from the following:

Dr. C. T. Jackson, of Boston; Prof. Benjamin Peirce, of Cambridge; Messrs. N. E. Atwood of Provincetown; C. M. Tracy, of Lynn, and others whose names will be announced hereafter.

Tickets for the course $1.00 each. May be had at the Bookstores.

H. WHEATLAND,
Secretary.

Salem, Oct. 28.

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.

WARREN BANK.

U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,

For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.

FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.

South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Oct. 27, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Anny Blanchard	Jona. Osborn
Matt. Ellis	J. P. Pope
J. G. Dervan	Judith D. Peabody
Nicholas Holpin	Joseph Pilky
John Jones	Joshua H. Parke
John Murphy	Sarah E. Smith
James Morris	Ropes & Upton
Edward McCarty	Mrs. W. E. Upton
Emma A. Davis	Julia H. Wadleigh
Eben Osgood

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

M. E. CRANE,

168 ESSEX STREET.

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her Stock of

FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GOODS,

comprising all desirable styles.

Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French Flowers and Laces;

Straw Goods of all descriptions,

Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, latest styles; Ladies Dress Caps;

and all articles usually found in such a Store, at the lowest prices for cash.

Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Collars, &c., constantly on hand.

M. E. CRANE,
Successor to M M FLETCHER.

Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

HEAD-QUARTERS, BOSTON, Oct. 9, 1863

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 26.

It having been represented at these Head Quarters that persons in different parts of Commonwealth are enlisting, or enticing n to serve in regiments in other States; parti lar attention is called to section 1st of "Act to promote enlistments and regulate cruiting," approved March 17, 1863, in wh it is declared, "It shall not be lawful for person, within the territory, or jurisdictio this Commonwealth, to reeruit for or enli Military service, except under the authorit the Governor thereof, or of the President o United States; and every person so offen shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, fined not exceeding one thousand dollars, prosecuted and recovered before any comp Court of the Commonwealth."

Any person violating the requiremen this Act will be held to a strict accountab Information relating to the subject of thi der, if forwarded to these Head-Quarters receive immediate attention.

By order of His Excelleney JOHN A. DREW, Governor and Commander-in-Chie

WILLIAM SCHOULER, Adj't-Ge

☞ The attention of authorized recr agents and City and Town authorities thr out the Commonwealth is called to the going Order, with the request that the give immediate notice to the Adjutant-G of the name of any person violating this

Oct. 21, 1863.—3w.

JUST RECEIVE

AND NOW OPENI

—A—

RICH STOCK

—OF—

Millinery Goo

Consisting of

BONNET HA

RIBBON FLOWERS

FEATHERS, &

—AT—

REITH & CO'

188 Essex Street (No. 2 West Blo Nearly opposite Central Street

Salem, Oct 21, 1863.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA

TEACHER

OF THE

Violin, Piano and Sin

MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central St

SALEM, MASS.

HOW TO COLLECT AND OB INSECTS,

BY A. S. Packard, Jr., from the the Maine Scientific Survey fo Price 25 cents.

oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A S

WHITE WARE.

WHITE Dining and Tea Ware, of est patterns—at

S. C. & E. A. SIMONI

Oct. 24. 32 Fro

FLOWING WARE

FLOWING Blue and Mulberry Te ner Ware—at

S. C. & E. A. SIMON

Oct. 24. 32 Fro

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
...ETS.....PIANO FORTES,
at the lowest rates;
...ELLS .....PIANO FORTES,
at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES,
on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

CARPETS.

☞ The current trade is sure to flow to that house which sells at the lowest prices. Our best English Velvet, Brussels, and Tapestries, will be retailed during the season at importer's prices. Our customers will find our departments for fine goods very complete—comprising the newest and most desirable styles of foreign productions, as well as the favorite home manufactures. NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover St., Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

A NEW CARPET.

☞ Crossley's Improved Electrotype, possessing the appearance and beauty of real Brussels, and quite as durable, for half the price, now opening by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston. Our customers are reminded that this stock of Carpets comprises but 150 pieces, and in consequence of the low price they will last but a few days.

FINE CARPETS.

☞ GET THE MODERN STYLES. Now opening, 1000 pieces of the most splendid English tapestries ever shown in this market, by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

OIL CLOTH CARPETS,

In wide sheets and narrow widths—in the beautiful enameled finish, the most desirable and elegant goods made, for sale at manufacturers' prices by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover street, Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

CARPETS AT WHOLESALE.

☞ Cash purchasers are invited to examine our stock, which is very complete in all its varieties, NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston.

CARPETS AT RETAIL.

☞ We shall continue to supply our customers who are about furnishing or redecorating the floors of their dwellings, with carpets from our departments. The most skillful upholsters on hand to cut, sew, and fit Carpets when desired. NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover street, Boston.

ROYAL VELVET

AND MEDALION CARPETS—the finest things made for Parlors and Drawing Rooms—for sale at the

NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO,
75 Hanover Street, Boston.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss. At the Superior Court begun and held at Newburyport, within and for the County of Essex, on the first Monday of September, A. D. 1863, and by adjournment, at Salem on the 21st day of September, A. D. 1863. PETER G. FOLSOM, of South Danvers in our County of Essex, plaintiff, against JOHN SAFFORD, of Monmouth in the County of Kennebec and State of Maine, administrator with the will annexed of the estate of JOSEPH SAFFORD), late of said South Danvers, deceased, defendant, in an action of contract. And the plaintiff says the defendant owes him four hundred and sixty-six dollars and eighty-eight cents, according to the account annexed to the plaintiff's declaration. Upon the suggestion of the facts in this suit, and appearing to the Court that notice is necessary to be given to the defendant,

IT IS ORDERED, that the action be continued to the next term of this Court, and that notice of the pendency of this suit be given to the defendant by publishing this order in the South Danvers Wizard three weeks successively, the last publication to be thirty days at least before the next term of this Court to be held at Salem within and for said County of Essex, on the first Monday of December next.

Attest. A. HUNTINGTON, Clerk.
South Danvers, Oct. 14, 1863.

Selectmen's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given to the abutters on the following streets, viz.:—Foster street throughout its entire length, Washington street throughout its entire length, and that part of Old Boston road between the Western terminus of Washington street and the Lynnfield boundary line—that a meeting of the Selectmen of South Danvers will be held at the Town House on THURSDAY, Oct. 29, 1863, at two o'clock P. M., at which time and place the Selectmen of said town will fix and determine the location and manner of construction of the track of the Salem and South Danvers Railroad in the streets aforesaid; at which meeting the abutters and other citizens interested may appear and shew cause, if any there be, why said track should not be located and constructed.

JOSEPH POOR, A. W. BANCROFT, DANA WOODBURY, } Selectmen of South Danvers.
South Danvers, Oct. 10, 1863.

BOYS' OVER-COATS!

BOYS' OVER-COATS!

— AT —

COSS' CLOTHING HOUSE,

219

Essex Street, Salem.

N'S OVER-COATS!

MEN'S OVER-COATS!

IMMENSE STOCK!

Salem, Oct 14,—3w

...m and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

ALL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be shut off, in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 4.

By order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

John P. Peabody.

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

Black Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	17 cts
White Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	17 cts
Magenta Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Solferino Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Purple Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Blue Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Perdrix Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Printed Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
All fine colors Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts

Less by the pound.

—AT—

PEABODY'S,

220 Essex Street.

LADIES' UNDER-WEAR,

MERINO VESTS,
PANTS,
CORSETS,
SKIRTS, &c

—AT—

PEABODY'S,

220 Essex Street, Salem.

EMBROIDERIES AND LACE GOODS,
EDGINGS AND INSERTINGS,
RIBBONS AND FLOWERS,
RUCHES AND LACES,
MOURNING VEILS, COLLARS, &c,
WROUGHT SETTS, in variety,
LINEN CAMBRIC HANDKERCHIEFS,
HEAD DRESSES AND NETS,
CORSETS, SKIRTS AND SHAPES,
LEATHER BAGS AND WALLETS,
STEEL & JET PINS & BRACELETS,
TOILET SOAPS AND PERFUMES.

OUR WORSTEDS.

We invite your especial attention to our Stock of Zephyr Worsteds, as we have done all in our power to make it choice and desirable. It is the largest stock in Essex County, and we shall as we always have done, sell them at lower prices than any of our competitors. We have all the fine colors at prices from 17 to 22 cents per ounce. We have also a full stock of hand-knit and machine made Hoods, Sontags, Nubias, Clouds, Sleeves, Mitts, &c.

JOHN P. PEABODY.

TRIMMINGS.

Buttons,	Bindings,
Braids,	Cords,
Whalebones,	Hooks & Eyes,

&c., &c., &c.

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

KID GLOVES—a fresh Stock;
Ladies', Misses', and Children's Hosiery and Gloves in great variety.

LADIES!

We call your attention to our Stock, being fully confident that we can offer you many decided bargains.

Our prices as heretofore will be the very lowest.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

JOHN P. PEABODY.

Salem, Oct. 21, 1863.

Browning & Long

RICH

—AND—

FASHIONABLE

NEW GOODS

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S.

FRENCH KID GLOVES,
(good quality at $1 per pair;)
ALEXANDRE'S REAL CLOTH GLOVES;
FALL GLOVES, in every variety;
NEW STYLES BALMORAL HOSE;
FANCY-WOOLEN HOSE,
FLEECY LINED HOSE;
MERINO HOSIERY;
GENTS' MERINO HOSE,
FLEECED HOSE FOR INVALIDS;
MERINO UNDERVESTS;
MERINO DRAWERS;
MERINO DRESSES;
Hosiery, Gloves, and Under-Garments in every variety, for Ladies, Gents, Misses and Boys.

LACE VEILS;
THREAD VEILS;
BLACK AND WHITE VEILS;
CHIN COL. VEILS;
GAUZE VEILS;
CRAPE VEILS;
LACE VEILS WITH CRAPE FOLDS;
LOVE VEILS.
Receiving many of our Veils direct from the Manufacturers, we are able to show many styles not to be found elsewhere.

PLAIN LINEN HDKFS.;
HEM-STITCHED HANDKERCHIEFS;
NOBBY STYLES HEM-STITCHED;
EMBROIDERED HDKFS.,
TUCKED HDKFS.;
SOLID BORD. HDKFS., (in colors;)
MOURNING HDKFS.;
FANCY EMBROIDERED HDKFS.
Handkerchiefs in all styles, for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children.

POINTE D'ALENCON COLLARS;
GUIPURE LACE COLLARS;
MALTA LACE COLLARS,
THREAD LACE COLLARS;
LACE TRIMMED COLLARS;
EMBROIDERED COLLARS;
EMBROIDERED SETTS.

HAIR NETTS.

A very large assortment, comprising many entirely new Patterns, and the very newest Styles

Lace Sleeves.

New Styles always on hand Any article in Lace made to order at short notice.

Edgings and Insertings,

In every possible kind.

NEW TRIMMINGS AND BUTTONS.

OUR
GERMAN ZEPHYR
WORSTEDS.

They are too well known to need more than a mere passing remark. Our assortment is better this season than ever before—the prices as low as a good article can be sold.

MESSRS BROWNING & LONG

Take great pleasure in informing the Ladies of Salem and Vicinity, that they have now in store the heaviest and best selected Stock of FANCY DRY GOODS ever brought to Salem. Encouraged by the success they have achieved since the opening of their Establishment, they have determined to make special efforts to meet, as far as possible, the wants and demands which may arise, and think they are now, with a large assortment of Goods, able to do so.

BROWNING & LONG,
177 Essex Street.

Salem, Oct. 21, 1863.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

Cloak Opening.

WE SHALL OPEN NEW STYLES

WINTER CLOAKS, SATURDAY, OCT. 25.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO., 188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

FROM NEW YORK.

We have received from New York a large stock of

CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CLOAKS,

comprising Sackings, Meltons, Frosted Beavers, Plush Beavers, Velvet Beavers, Petersham Beavers, Black Castor Beavers, Doeskins, German Broadcloths, Flannels, etc., also Buttons and Trimmings to match.

[These Cloths, comprising the best grades of their kind, we are prepared to make to order from measure in the most workmanlike and tasteful manner.]

We have received also many novelties in SHAWLS, for the Autumn and Winter Trade.—[We offer a special bargain in Shawls, at $4.25.]

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Oct'r 21, 1863.

THE DRAFT IN ESSEX COUNTY!

10,000 Called For!

SOUTH DANVERS QUOTO IS 300 MEN AND 500 BOYS.

WE believe in drafting that number in South Danvers, and fitting them to a good

OVERCOAT,

or a good fitting suit of Clothes at lower prices than can be found at any other store in Essex County. The Draft will take place at 240

ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

October 28th, and continue for 30 days. The first draft will include the able bodied, or those whose pockets are well filled with the needful—nothing personal about that. The second draft will include those whose pockets are not so well filled. We are bound to have the men and Boys well clothed, and 240 is the only place where they can do it in good shape.

Head-Quarters for the drafted men and boys is at

F. S. PECK'S,

Salem, October 28—2m 240 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

ATTRACTIVE!

AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF
New Fall and Winter
CLOTHING,
FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS

IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of
Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics'
WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Variotios, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

GEO. H. LANE,
31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,
BOSTON.

Oct 21, 1863. 2m

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!

ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.

We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.

SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.

oct 14

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers who [illegible]

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

DENTAL NOTICE.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,

FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

Oct. 3—mo.

Settees for Sale.

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURES TO ORDER
WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
At 236 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.

PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN—by the use of

Nitrous Oxide Gas.

GEORGE H. CURRIER, Dentist,
Oct 7—4w 22 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

George S. Walker.

Gentlemen's Goods,
FOR FALL AND WINTER WEAR.

GEORGE S. WALKER respectfully invites the attention of his friends and the public to his Stock of

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,

carefully selected in the New York and Boston markets, embracing the LARGEST STOCK and assortment in the city, of

UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS,
Woolen, Merino and Silk—all qualities and sizes.

HALF HOSE.
Merino, Wool, Cotton, and every seasonable material.

GLOVES.

A great variety of Fall and Winter wear, including the best makes of KID and BEAVER, with a full and superior stock of Shirts, Collars Scarfs, Ties, Stocks, Suspenders, Bosoms, Cuffs, Umbrellas, and a general assortment of Toilet and other Articles for Gentlemen's use.

Buying advantageously, my prices will compare favorably with others in the city.

GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

FALL AND WINTER.

ELEGANT NEW GOODS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
ARE OPENING
MANY NEW STYLES OF
DRESS GOODS,
INCLUDING
Ottoman Reps,
Cashmere Plaids,
Thibet and M. D. Laines,
Rich & Heavy Black Silks,
Plain Colored Silks.
ALSO
SHAWLS
Of every description.

Salem, Sept 16—tf

FLANNELS AND COTTONS.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Have on hand a full supply of

BROWN SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;

BLEACHED SHEETINGS AND SHIRTINGS;

— Also —

GREY TWILLED FLANNELS;
WHITE FLANNELS,

which they offer at the LOWEST PRICES.

Salem, Sept 16—tf.

AUTUMN GOODS.

CLOTHS! CLOTHS!!

A fine assortment of

Cloths, Cassimeres, Doeskins,

— AND —

CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CAPES,

— FOR SALE BY —

A. J. ARCHER & CO.

Sept 16. tf

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at

NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

THE CLOTHES WRINGER.

RHOADES' CELEBRATED

NATIONAL CLOTHES WRINGER,

THE VERY BEST YET INVENTED,
AND REALLY A LABOR SAVING MACHINE.
CALL AND EXAMINE.

For Sale by C. T. SOUTHWICK,
At the EQUITY GROCERY STORE,
South Danvers, July 8, 1863.

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult

JOHN H. CHOATE,
SEWING MACHINE AGENT,
Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.
Second-hand Machines bought and sold.
South Danvers, May 13—tf

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES,
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front street, Salem.

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

FALL AND WINTER GOODS
AT
GEORGE P. DANIELS'S,
No. 238 Essex Street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

Consisting of New Styles
DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS,
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR.
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera;
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

sept 23—tf

VISIT THE PHOTOGRAPH ROOMS
— OF —
T. E. WOOD,
(Over O. F. Batchelder's Store,)
No. 136 Main St., South Danvers,

And get a faithful likeness of yourself and friends while in HEALTH and STRENGTH.

Carte de Visite, Photographs and Ambrotypes taken. Also pictures copied at reasonable prices.

Frames, Albums, Cases, &c., for sale.
South Danvers, Oct 14.

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,
Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,
CIVIL AND MILITARY,
Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No. 5.

J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. MCLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

SECOND HAND BOOKS.

FROM our Circulating Library—duplicate copies for sale at half price.
oct 21 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,
DENTAL SURGEON,
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Sets of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless,

Office Established in 1846.

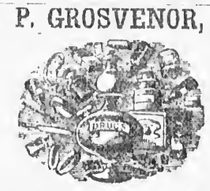
PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by me to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by Infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,



Druggist and Apothecary,

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 · · MAIN ST. · · 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers,
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery Toilet Articles and Stationery.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

37 MAIN STREET.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Locust Mountain, Old Company's Lehigh, Black Heath, Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

A SPIRIT VISION.

night in a bar-room I'd taken my seat,
ped back in an easy arm-chair;
both my eyes open—one the Journal to greet,
hile the other one looked here and there.

ge visages greeted my vision,
d strange words that I'll not here relate,
red that temperance was held in derision,
d religion a thing out of date.

looked thus from one to another,
d then on my paper again,
ught of the wife and the mother,
hose lot had been cast with such men.

the circle of home we'll not enter,
r the "troubles domestic" recite;
our thoughts and our rhymes will center
n the men whom we saw on that night.

re were seven of them gathered together,
nd all birds of one feather and hue, present in all sorts of weather,
hat sickening sameness to view.

t on a sea captain I looked with amaze, ut soon from him my eyes they were turning,
his countenance seemed like a dazzling blaze,
ept up by some internal burning.

trong had his habit of drinking become,
o resist it he didn't feel able;
vessel and cargo he turned into rum nd swallowed his compass and cable.

e next I'll describe is an artist by trade,
Who had a most singular phiz;
in taking the pictures of others, 'tis said,
He had come very near losing his.

y has he this very odd look? you will ask,
Pray tell us how came it to pass?
tell you the cause is no very hard task,
He takes an occasional glass.

e ex-postmaster next claims our attention,
A man full of secession spunk,
d half full of rum—still I'll mention
The fact that he never gets drunk.

w he's just that sort of a fellow
That dresses unusually neat,
d the reason he never gets mellow,
He is waiting for some one to treat.

he representative next comes in the form a man—
He, too, has an ex to his name—ho seems much inclined to boast when he can
Of his former political fame.

st look for one moment in his sorrowful face,
He's a hard drinker, yet still he looks pale;
is looks represent him a very hard case,
With his blood turned to whiskey or ale,

he fifth was a young man of qualities rare,
With spectacles perched on his nose,
While the top of his head was minus the hair,
And his whiskers were red as a rose.

o doubt he has times when he feels rather blue—
But what makes him so red and so bare?
Vhy, 'tis brandy, that gave to his whiskers their hue
And burnt out the roots of his hair.

Ve'll now take a look at the landlord's son,
Who is a little "wee bit" of a thing,
nd, though only nineteen, his race is most run,
For intemperance around him doth cling.

Then last, but not least, was the landlord in slumbers;
We'll just peep at the drowsy "old elf;"
If the size of the man could be taken for numbers,
Then he is a host in himself.

Though he long has sold rum, he's not rich like a "Tudor,"
Or "Lawrence," and many such names as we meet;
But like Asa of old, the third "king of Judah,"
He was terribly cursed with the gout in his feet.

ERNEST.

☞ He that hath no money needeth no purse.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, directions how to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN.
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing
JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,
— ALSO —
GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to
B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

[COMMUNICATED.]
PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!
A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find A SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address
REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh, Kings County,
Sept. 23—4m. New York.

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope. Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two post stage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586
Sept 16—1yr

Advertisements.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 Washington Street, Boston,
(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES
FALL & WINTER
CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,
OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,

In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,

Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,
MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
And PIECE Goods
FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS

In all the most desirable patterns of English German, French, Scotch and American Coatings, Cassimeres & Doeskins,

Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner at
LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 WASHINTON ST., BOSTON,
Five Doors above the Old South.
Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m,

THE FAMILY MOURNING STORE,
20 Winter Street, Boston.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would respectfully call attention to their establishment (the only one of its kind in the city,) where every requisite for Mourning can be obtained.

We have a complete assortment of the following goods, just received:—

English and French Bombazines.
Alpacas, of every width and price.
Alpaca Glace.
7-8 Alpaca.
Bombazine Laine, a new article.
Turin Cloths, Canton Cloths.
French Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths,
Mourning Ginghams and Prints.
Mourning Millinery, in new styles; Mourning Hats and Veils, Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.

S. S. WILLIAMS.
Oct. 7.—2ms.

Fall and Winter Goods.
ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;
ANN R. BRAY.
sept 16

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

Boston Purchasing Agency.

THE special object of this Ageney, is to make known through which non-residents can send to Boston and purchase any articles wanted for individual use, or for dealers' supplies, from a Shawl to a suit of Clothes, a Penknife to a Piano. For particulars of the Purchasing Agency, send for Circular to THOMAS DAVIS & Co., Advertising and General Business Agents, at HAPGOOD'S Gun Store, No. 15 Washington St., Boston. Citizens of Old Essex, try us. Services tendered gratis.

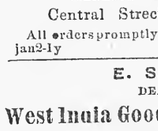
Best City referenee given.
T. DAVIS & CO.
Oct 21—6w.

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st.
South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7 CLARK & CIDDINGS.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

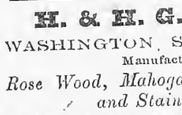
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF. - - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in



Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.

Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.

Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving, - - - - - - - - - 8 cts,
Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.
Hair Cutting, - - - - - - - 15 cts,
Or 8 Tickets for $1 00.
Champooing, - - - - - - - 15 cts.
Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

WHITE WARE.
WHITE Dinner and Tea Ware, of the newest patterns, at oct 14 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st

GILT WARE.
GOLD Band Tea Ware. Also, Lustre China, at S C & E A SIMONDS.

CUT GLASS WARE.
GOBLETS, Champagnes and Wines, Dishes, &c., just opened at
oct 14 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st

PIQUE,
A brilliant new novel
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

WOVEN BOOK MARKS
BEAUTIFULLY made and in brilliant colors. Call and see them.
oct 14 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL.
HARPER'S Weekly, Leslie's Paper, and other weekly papers are received by
oct 14 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of
COFFINS AND CASKETS,
as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.
One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so univer-ally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,
WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
GUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.
THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

OATS.
2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

FOR NEW YORK via FALL
RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.

For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Passengers by this route can take the 4.45 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.

Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.

☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and State-rooms secured at the O. C. & F. R. Railroad Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, September 23, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO.
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

FRANKLIN COAL.
JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

LITTLE RIDING HOOD.
SOMETHING novel in the way of a Picture Book, by Miss L. L. A. Very—price 37 cts.
oct 21 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

LINSEED OIL.
RAW and Boiled constantly for sale by
S C & E A SYMONDS, 32 Front St.

HAMPDEN GREEN.
A supply of Hampden Green in Cans of all sizes, at oct 21 S C & E A SIMODS'.

Eastern Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will leave the Eastern Railroad Station, Washington street, Salem, daily. (Sundays excepted):

For Lynn and Boston, *5.30, 7, 8¼, 9, *10, 11 a m., 1, *2¼ 3¼, 7¼, p. m.
Beverly, 8¼ a.m., 1, 3¼, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55, 7¾ p m.
W. Beach, Man'r, Gloucester, and Rockport, 8¼ a m., 3¼, 5¾ p m.
Ipswich and Newburyport, 8¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 6.55 p m.
Amesbury, 8¼ a m., 1, 5¾ p m.
Portsmouth, 8¼ a m., 3¾, 5¾ p m.
Portland, 8¼ a m., 3¼ p m.

AND FOR SALEM, FROM

Portland, 8¾ a m., 3 p m.
Portsmouth, 7¼ †11¼ a m., †5½ p m.
Amesbury, 7 35, 9.40 a m., 5.50 p m.
Newburyport, 7, 8, 10 a m., 12 m., 6¼ p m.
Ipswich, 7 25, 8.25, 10.25 a m., 12 25, 6.40 p m.
Gloucester, 7, 10, 10 10 a m., 4.40 p m.
Manchester, 7.25, 10.25 a m., 4.55 p m.
Beverly, 6.50, 7.50, 8.50, 10.50 a m., 12.50, 5.20, 7 05 pm.
Lynn, 8.05, *9 05, 11 05 a m, 12 50, *1.35, 3.05, *3 35, *4 35, 5.35, *6.20, 5¾. *7 35, * 8.05 p m.
Boston, 7¼, *8¼, 10¼ a m., 12¼, 2¼, 3, *4, 5, 6.10, *7, *9¼.

*Via Saugus Branch.
†On arrival from the East.
‡On Wednesdays this train leaves Boston at 11½ p m. and on Saturdays at 10½ p m.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Marblehead for Salem, 6¾, 7¾, 8¾, 9¾ a m., 12¾, 1¾, 5¼, 6¾, 7¼ p m.
Salem for Marblehead, 7¼, 8¼, 9.25, 11¼ a m., 1, 3¾, 5¾, 7, 7.50 p m.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston at 6¾, 9.50 a m., 2.55, 4.55 p m
Boston for Salem, 7 a m., 12 m., 3, 5¼ p m.

ESSEX RAILROAD.

Leave Salem for Lawrence and way stations, 7, 11¼ a m., 4.50 p m.
Lawrence for Salem, 8 a m., 12.40. 6 p m.
Danvers for Salem, 8 40 a m., 1.20, 6 40 p m.
South Danvers for Salem, 7¾ a m., 12¾, 3¾, 6¼ p m.

J. PRESCOTT, Superintendent.
Boston, April 6, 1863.

Salem and Lowell Railroad.

ON and after MONDAY, April 6, 1863, Trains will run as follows:
Leave Lowell for Salem, 7.25 a m., and *2.45 p m.
Leave Salem for Lowell, *9 40 a m. and 5 55 p m.

Passengers are not allowed to carry baggage above $50 in value, and that personal, unless notice is given and an extra amount paid. Season tickets do not entitle the holder to take baggage.

*Freight Train with passenger car attached.
F. H. NOURSE, Local Superintendent.
April 6, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street, at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscribor would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y

Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assets—$375,000.

Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D, Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,

Photographs, Sphere otypes, Melainotypes, and patent enamel Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

CROUT & MUNROE'S
SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON
RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at 10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " at 5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at 3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at 4 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.

Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street. Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.

Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.

Smallest favors thankfully received.
South Danvers, august 26—tf

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
TO
LYNN & BOSTON
BY
OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.
W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily.

Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving Scollay's Building, Court Street, at 8 15 A M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.

Sunday Arrangements.

Leave S. Danvers at 7.50 a.m., and 4.50 p.m.
Leave Lynn at 9.40 a.m., and 6.40 p.m.

Cars leave Scollay's Building, Court Street, Boston, to meet the Omnibuses in Lynn for South Danvers, at 8 15 A. M., and 5 15 P. M.

Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - - 30 cents.

Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.

Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS

Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.

Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.
South Danvers, 1863

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, - - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - - - 10a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM EXPRESS.

Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.,
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.

OFFICES:

In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office.
Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.

All business promptly and faithfully attended to.

☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.

☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."

☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible point in the United States, at the usual rates.

P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1-6-tf

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7½ and 11 A M, and 1½ and and 5 P M.

Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and P M.

Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1863. NO. 44.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

A. A PUTNAM,
ASSISTANT EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not know." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we assume "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis , King of France, for the enormous price of its weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, ers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

SCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and dis- of the stomach and bowels.

ANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and sical Affections.

AMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

VENDER FLOWERS. — Aromatic, stimulant and —highly invigorating in nervous debility.

NTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, le and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

o', clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

other wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, ting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to ind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the , and we withhold its name for the present. mbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation 's; but the following is what's the matter, and know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

y particularly recommended to Clergymen, ants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits for delicate females and weak persons who re- a gentle stimulant, free digestion, good appetite ear mental faculties.

by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c. particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile signature on a steel-plate label, with our provernment stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigor Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they e the Morning Glory—look very fine in the g but wilt before the day has past. The Dr en before the public for years; his Dyspepsia

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose: and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Facsimile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

HEAD-QUARTERS, BOSTON, Oct. 9, 1863.
GENERAL ORDERS, No. 26.

It having been represented at these Head-Quarters that persons in different parts of the Commonwealth are enlisting, or enticing men to serve in regiments in other States; particular attention is called to section 1st of "An Act to promote enlistments and regulate recruiting," approved March 17, 1863, in which it is declared, "It shall not be lawful for any person, within the territory, or jurisdiction of this Commonwealth, to recruit for or enlist in Military service, except under the authority of the Governor thereof, or of the President of the United States; and every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not exceeding one thousand dollars, to be prosecuted and recovered before any competent Court of the Commonwealth."

Any person violating the requirements of this Act will be held to a strict accountability. Information relating to the subject of this Order, if forwarded to these Head-Quarters, will receive immediate attention.

By order of His Excellency JOHN A. ANDREW, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.
WILLIAM SCHOULER, Adj't-Gen'l.

☞ The attention of authorized recruiting agents and City and Town authorities throughout the Commonwealth is called to the foregoing Order, with the request that they will give immediate notice to the Adjutant-General of the name of any person violating this law.
Oct. 21, 1863.—3w.

Boston Well Carpeted.

We mean no allusion to the grass on the well-known and much-admired Boston Common; but, the reader who steps into the carpet warehouse of J. H. Pray, Sons & Co., 47 and 49 Summer Street, Boston, will see at once our meaning, and give it a New England or even a universal acceptation. This establishment is such as any city or any country might well be proud of. The store is about one hundred and sixty feet deep. Its arrangements, for purchasers as well as salesmen, are admitted by business rivals to be the most convenient of any in the United States. Not even our New York friends can show such a handsome and complete establishment for the express purpose of the carpet trade. Here may always be found the most attractive and extensive variety of seasonable goods, and always offered at the lowest market rates which large capital and intimate knowledge of the business can confer. There are seven spacious halls (or saloons, more properly speaking,) used as sales-rooms, and these are so admirably arranged that purchasers can stand or sit and have the samples of the entire stock conveniently unfolded for their examination. All who take an interest in observing the equally wonderful textures of carpet fabrics which are now so largely imported, or in observing the equally wonderful strides in our American advancement among that branch of production for household comfort in the climate of New England, should certainly call at this store when opportunity offers, and see what we are doing for the name and fame of American manufactures. We can scarcely imagine an hour or two more agreeably and profitably employed. The carpet knights, who act as salesmen, are all gentlemen who know how to inspire their visitors with the true comfort of feeling at home. We can "speak by the card" on this subject, and we can bear our testimony that the principals of this establishment are the most liberal advertisers in their department of business. Besides the usual articles in their line, one is sure to meet with the most tempting assortment of Savory Wiltons, Velvet and English Brussels, Tapestries, English Velvets, Wilton Medallions, Three-ply Kidderminster, Pictoral Rugs, ment is well known to Boston people, and all persons who visit Boston should contrive to call at 47 and 49 Summer street. Purchasers who send orders by mail will find them punctually and conscientiously filled.

Selected.

AUTUMN WOODS.—How beautiful are our Autumn woods! They tell us that nowhere else, save in a few degrees of latitude in America, do the leaves mature and color as here. The climate of Europe does not permit it; and the kings and nobles of the old world cannot with all their wealth purchase such beauty as here God gives everywhere to the lowliest; and the queens and high born ladies of the old world would rejoice to twine in their head dress, as surpassing the richest jewels, the leaves that the humblest American girl tramples in her pathway. The tropical regions have no such season as this. They have their season of rest, but it comes with burning suns and the dryness of the desert. They have their wet season, too, when they boast of nature's luxuriance; but they have no time when their trees blend in sweet harmony the green, the scarlet, and the orange—when their earth in its best loved moments can put on its coat of many colors and rest itself under such brilliant livery. The Indian Summer and the splendid foliage of Autumn are God's free gifts to us, here upon this hard and rugged soil—a compensation for what we lack in other particulars. Let other lands boast of milder skies, of loftier trees, of fields where sweeter fruits do grow, and hills where the wine-producing vines love more to dwell; we defy them all to present more gorgeous colorings and richer beauties than our oaks, elms, maples, evergreens and beeches put on to-day, when they scatter their leaves as though "Heaven wept rubies in a crimson shower."

—Newburyport Herald.

☞ We have now in the United States at least two hundred and thirty-five general hospitals for the use of the soldiers, containing about 80,000 patients. To show on what a large scale our battles have been fought, as we do everything else, it seems that during four months of 1862 there were treated at our hospitals 20,930 cases of gunshot wounds. The wounded of the whole British Army in the Crimean war was only a little over 12,000, and their entire hospital accommodations in the three years would not have sufficed for the wounded at either of the battles of Shiloah, Antietam, or Gettysburg.

THE NEXT HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—The elections so far have given 90 Republicans to 84 anti-Republicans, and one vacancy by resignation in New York, in a Democratic district, leaving the Republicans a majority of three. Among the Republicans are F. P. Blair, Jr., and James S. Rollins of Missouri, an old Whig, agreeing with Mr. Blair on emancipation; and if they should go with the opposition, against an ultra Republican, there would be one majority on that side. But among the opposition are 14 Border State men, and many war Democrats, so that a peace Democrat would stand no chance of the Speakership.

☞ Danvers has an excellent Farmers' Club, which has been organized for the year. It includes the agriculturalists of other towns in the immediate vicinity, and its lectures and discussions give much important information to the community. No town much interested in agriculture should be without a Farmers' Club.

HORSE RAILROAD.—The Board of Mayor and Aldermen have granted permission for a track of the horse railroad through Front street and Lafayette street to the Marblehead line, with a spur in Central street to point opposite the Commercial Bank.—Salem Observer.

☞ Perhaps if we could listen, we too might hear on this desert world of ours some sound, some whisper borne from afar, to remind us that there is a heaven and a home; and when we sing the hymn upon the shores of earth, perhaps we shall hear its sweet echo breaking in music upon the sands of time, and cheering the hearts of them that are pilgrims and strangers, and look for a city that hath foundations.—Dr. John Cumming.

☞ It is reported that the Turkish Sultan will purchase the rebel rams in

The Rebel Situation in Georgia---A Remarkable Article.

The Rebel a newspaper formerly published at Chattanooga, but now issued inside of Bragg's lines, contains the following remarkable article in its issue of the 9th instant:

Upon reaching the Tennessee river from the field of Chickamauga, Rosecrans addressed his troops. "Fellow soldiers," said he, "the object of our expedition was the possession of Chattanooga, and here we are." Brief, and to the point; forcible and adroit. Thus far the campaign, whose mysterious surges are rolling above us, has no clearer, as it certainly cannot have a more laconic history. The few words from the federal general illuminate the whole page as a ray from a dark lantern, and no man can close his eyes to the somewhat painful glare which they throw full upon him.

Not even General Bragg himself can contradict them, except with his sword, and such strokes as it may please heaven to send us through his hands in the few days of fair weather just before us. Unless we hasten to make hay when the sun shines, the story as thus told, will hold good through all time; the Spring will open untoward dangers to our arms; the cause which now turns upon the pivot of its crisis, will drop like a flower which has been untended; and the end must fade out in a rolling torrent of disasters—in fogs and gloom.—God forbid it.

At present the case stands in about this wise: We have lost the gate to lower East Tennessee, the river, which was our base, and the facilities which these afforded to progressive movements into East Tennessee and Kentucky. We have gained a hand-to-hand fight; we have repelled a powerful invasion; we have preserved Georgia and secured a commanding position around the enemy. Rosecrans, on the other hand, has acquired all we have lost. He has reached Chattanooga and fortified it, taken up the river line as his base, and now prepares quietly to winter in his new quarters, leaving us uncivilly out in the cold to take care of ourselves as best we can or must. Physically, and to all appearances, in the aggregate he is the gainer; for, after the prisoners, standards and artillery taken at Chickamauga are counted, our victory is told, while our deficit, in the long sum total, glory included, does not make up for any result yet achieved.

In a word, we have lost eighteen thousand men without gaining an equivalent in producing territory. The whole question, therefore, turns upon the situation, and what we will do with it. In military circles it is generally believed that Rosecrans has blundered into a position which, improved by an adversary of genius, might be turned in three adroit movements to his eternal ruin. If this be so and the movements speculated, but by no means explained, are made, the victory of Chickamauga will be complete, and the many lives there sacrificed will become as so many trophies to a noble work. But if this opinion be false, and the movements suggested as possible fail to be made, and we of the South continue to gaze listlessly from the bold knobs of Missionary Ridge upon the comfortable barracks of the blue varlets below, then may we tremble for the next campaign; for as sure as there is any surety in the future, the spring of '64 must see us far from the borders of Georgia, or near to the verge of destruction.

☞ They say there are tropical flowers that expand with a perceptible sound. The full opening of the blossom of love is generally audible in a kiss.

☞ Mrs. Warbler, who advertised in Maine for a husband, has received over seventy applications, and still warbles for more.

☞ About ten millions commutation money was had by the last draft. That will do something towards clearing slavery from the Border States at $300 per head.

☞ The London Times is down on Ward Beecher's address on American affairs. Probably he has said something good.

☞ The rebel army in Arkansas are scattering, and a Union spirit prevails. One thousand men have joined the federal army already.

☞ Anybody desiring a roomy pleasure yacht can buy the Great Eastern.—She is for sale at auction.

☞ A bride was shot dead at the altar in a church in Cienfuegos a short time since—by a disappointed suitor probably.

☞ He that cannot strive to endure against the stream, shall hardly attain the point which he proposes to recover.

☞ It is always safe to learn even from our enemies—seldom safe to venture to instruct, even our friends.

☞ Gen. Burnside's position in East Tennessee is said to be impregnable. The loyal men are enlisting in his army.

SHAKERS.—A man who had won a fat turkey at a raffle, and whose pious wife was very inquisitive about his method of obtaining the poultry, satis-

THE GAMING HOUSES.

Another fashionable gaming-house has been temporarily broken up in Broadway. The police entered it about one o'clock Thursday morning, and caught the proprietor, surrounded by his dupes, all absorbed in play. If these raids on the maintainers of a confessedly great public nuisance, actually diminish that nuisance, the community will hail them with eminent satisfaction; but we apprehend that it would be hoping too much to hope for a result so felicitous. Every now and then a gaming-house is invaded by the police, its proprietors arrested, and its visitors dispersed; but cui bono? We have yet to read of the conviction and punishment of one of these proprietors; and we are assured that these "hells," as they are profanely called, are just as numerous in our city to-day as they were five years ago. It is possibly true that the law which interdicts public gambling is still so defective, notwithstanding all the efforts made at Albany to give it potency and distinctness, that convictions cannot well be had under it even in cases of the plainest character; if so, it becomes the duty of our legislators to set aside their railroad and other "jobbing" interests, if only for once, and take counsel of well-informed parties in order that we may have a law of the kind both efficient and intelligible.

How many weak men are ruined; how many families are rendered destitute; how many desperate creatures are driven to the penitentiary and to self-murder every year, through our toleration of these pest-houses, may easily be conjectured from the estimate that in this city alone one hundred thousand dollars a night, at least, change hands within them. Merchants and their clerks, professional men and storekeepers, thriving mechanics and infatuated men of means, married men and single ones, all "mingle, mingle, mingle," in these places to "enjoy" a chance of robbing each other "honorably" and enriching the creature who supplies them with the use of the "tools" for the purpose. Nothing is more seducing to the human mind than the "pleasures" of the gaming table, and the veil of secrecy thrown about it by the brutem fulmen of the law only adds to the piquancy of the temptation. Hence, as every player is permitted to win, at first, in order to whet his appetite for the game, thousands of respectable men are covertly led astray every year, in whose better judgment the outside but ignorant world has implicit confidence, and it is only when they have thus squandered their own money and the money of others entrusted them and they turn out penniless, broken-hearted, worthless beings that we discover the nature of the evil that has degraded them. We owe it to ourselves and to society to put a stop to this mischief if it be at all practicable. If it be not practicable, then it becomes our duty to give it such publicity of action, and to place that action under such constant restraint as to ensure the least possible public and private injury as its consequence. [illegible]

☞ A distinguished clergyman being requested to open the services with prayer, but not having been invited to preach, declined, saying that "as his friend was going to the mowing, he might whet his own scythe."

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1863.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for November is before us. It is the last of the volume, and subscribers will do well to renew their subscriptions at Mr. Wilkinson's, in this town, and at E. B. Waitt's in Danvers, who have it for sale also in single numbers. "Pictures of the Japanese" and "Scenes in the War of 1812," concluded, are the illustrated articles of this number.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY for November is full of racy articles from a score of our best writers. Dr Holmes' account of the Great Music Hall Organ, is a splendid piece of descriptive writing, and Ik Marvel's Wit-Work is anything but dry reading. Longfellow, Agassiz, Frothingham, Sumner and Lowell are among the contributors, as well as other names of eminence in the literary world. R. W. Wilkinson has it at his periodical store.

☞ The November number of the Continental Monthly has come to hand and may be had of Wilkinson. We miss the pen of Hon. Robert J. Walker and some other writers, who have given character to this excellent monthly; but their places are well filled by new and racy contributions. We notice in this number fa-

LIFE IN THE SADDLE.

We publish below an interesting letter from one of our townsmen—a surgeon in the First Massachusetts Cavalry:—

October 10th, 1863.—Broke camp at daylight. Saddled all day. Left Hartwood Church at 5 o'clock. Line of march, our regiment as rear guard, and in Morrisville to Mount Holly Church. Arrived about 1 o'clock. Bivouaced.

October 11. "Boots and Saddles" at 5 o'clock A. M. To horse at 6 o'clock. Crossed Rappahannock River at Kelly's Ford. Line of march, our regiment as advanced guard, via Brandy—and countermarched via Beverly Ford to Warrenton, and arrived at 3 o'clock. At Brandy, or near it, we met the whole army on its line of march (retrograde,) in five columns. A splendid sight!

October 12. An alarm in the night, from our pickets firing on each other. Broke camp about 10 o'clock, and our regiment received orders to picket the river at Sulphur Springs, Fox's and Fants' Fords. Col. Sargent, this forenoon, took leave of the regiment, en route for Louisiana, to join Gen. Banks as his chief of staff. He made a short address to his men. At 12 noon a camp was established and our wagons parked near it. But fighting having commenced on the other side of the river, indicating danger, the wagons were then sent to the rear. The fighting approached nearer, and we had an excellent opportunity to see it. The 10th New York Cavalry crossed over, but were driven back with loss. Our battery, of four guns, then opened, but had no effect in checking them. The enemy consisted of infantry chiefly, with some cavalry. About 4 o'clock they opened a masked battery of 20 guns, and under cover of these approached in force with cavalry and crossed the river without much opposition. Our cavalry held them in check after they had crossed, and retired slowly to Fayettville. I met Dr. Wood, surgeon of the regiment, on the road; he just arrived to report himself. We passed the night at Fayettville. The regiment went on picket at Fox's Ford.

October 13. Joined the regiment and went to Liberty, where we came up with the wagons and obtained forage for the first time since leaving Hartwood Church, now three days, but no rations for us to be had,—nothing but hard tack, and that very scanty. At 3 o'clock, started and proceeded to Auburn's Crossing, on our way to the Warrenton Branch Railroad. Arrived at Auburn about 10 o'clock P. M.

October 14. At daylight had just saddled up, when skirmishing commenced near the camps, and the regiment immediately moved out to support Martin's battery. The air was thick with fog. The fighting continued two hours, then ceased. We then took up the line of march, but had proceeded but a short distance when two squadrons (Capt. Adams' and Capt. Crowningshield's,) were ordered back with two pieces of Martin's 6th New York Battery, in order to cover the retreat of the infantry and their batteries. When returning from this duty, they were obliged to run the gauntlet of a whole line of rebel infantry skirmishers, and three men of our regiment were wounded. The next position for a stand was made near Catlett's Station, but as our artillery here met with no response, the line of march was soon taken up again along the line of the railroad. We accompanied the 2d Corps of Infantry. No interruption until we arrived near Bristow.

Here a big fight took place, in which we captured five pieces of artillery with our infantry skirmishers, and about 540 prisoners. One squadron of our regiment supported Martin's battery, the other two were Col. Gregg's 2d brigade. No casualities in the regiment here, though much exposed. About 7 o'clock again took up the line of march along the railroad, and arrived at Centreville, via Manassas Junction, at 3 A. M. Bivouaced till daylight.

October 15. Remained saddled from daylight till noon waiting orders; which were not received on account of Gen. Gregg being cut off and obliged to retreat by way of Brentsville to Bull Run. We finally received orders from Gen. Pleasanton (whose headquarters were at Centreville) to proceed to Fairfax station. I went on in advance in order to put the battery ambulance, containing two wounded men, with the train ambulances, which were ahead of us, and arrived at the station at 5 o'clock. Here I fell in with the train of led horses and remained with them till morning.

October 16. Joined the regiment at 9 o'clk. It arrived at the station at 10 o'clock last night. At 3 P. M. raining very heavily since morn, proceeded with the battery to Wolf Run, where we joined the rest of the brigade. Regiment went on picket, arrived at the camp of the other two squadrons, from which we had been separated since the morn of the 14th.

October 17. Remained in camp all day on the picket post.

October 18. Remained in camp till 3 P. M. were then ordered to go in from picket to brigade headquarters. On arriving there, the orders were changed and the whole brigade were put under orders to go to Fairfax station.—Capt. Thayer's man came in at this time and reported he had been fired upon by 15 guerillas. He had been thrown from his horse and probably did not see clear. Arrived at Fairfax station, 11 P. M. Regiment received rations and forage—proceeded a mile—bivouaced for the night.

October 19 Saddled at daylight—after waiting some hours went back to the station. Here found Henry Alley of Lynn, and Harry Putnam of Salem, who are connected with the Post Commissary Department of the army of the Potomac. Also met a captain of the 19th infantry on his way home. Requested him to report having seen me. From Fairfax proceeded to Union Mills, thence to about a mile beyond Centreville and encamped at 10 P. M.

cessfully yesterday, and our advance last eve ing at Briston.

October 21. Camped just south of Bull R bridge last night and moved on to Gainesvil this morning. We are taking in rations a forage to go to the front. The wagon trains the army are centred here.

On picket at Sulphur Springs, Va., October 23, 1863.

DEAR TOM,—My last letter to you was sim ply some notes of our line of march from Har wood, (up to the time of our return,) as far Gainesville.

The same day I sent that note, we proceed on through Thoroughfare Gap to Warrente and encamped one night. We passed the I army corps at the Gap and the 6th we found Warrenton. Our camp was in the same po tion as our former camp at Warrenton, the fi of last month. It was very evident that t rebs had occupied the same ground since; f we found large numbers of their wooden ca teens, besides many other evidences of the presence. We remained here but one nigh the next day proceeding to Sulphur Springs. The regiment was immediately placed on pick in the same way as we were 10 days ago, whe we were driven out by the rebel advance. W have therefore occupied the same ground f camp, and even fed our horses with the co fodder which we left so suddenly at that tim I wrote you on that day that we had be placed on picket here. We then supposed th we should remain undisturbed at least one da especially as we knew that two regiments wer ont in advance of us, and would probably r main there a day or two. But hardly had o tents been pitched and the decision made, we were on picket, that the hospital and qua ter-master's wagons should go farther to t rear, when fighting commenced just the oth side of the river. We had previously heard i the morning considerable firing in the directio of Jefferson. I was then on the other side the river at a Mr. Miller's house, but on hea ing the firing I immediately returned to th side and joined the regiment.

I am confident that this Mr. Miller knew th the rebs were advancing in force, for he apol gized to me when I went up to his house fo not inviting me in, saying he had shut up h house and sent the family into the woods, as h thought from our movements, that we were ex pecting a fight. I think he had more positiv knowledge than this.

After joining the regiment we took our din ner in peace and quietness, but had scarcel finished when we heard skirmishing on th other side of the river. Capt. Sargent an myself went out upon a high hill near our cam and watched the fighting for some time.

It was very unsatisfactory, as we had th mortification of seeing one of our cavalry regi ments, the 10th N. Y., of the 2d brigade, cros over the river to meet the enemy and afte skirmishing for a while retire this side again i confusion. On the retirement of this regimen there was no fighting for a couple of hours, ex cept an occasional discharge of a musket. A officer of Gen. Birney's staff, who was on the hill, told us that he knew the enemy were in small force and without artillery. But he wa mistaken; for about 4 o'clock while looking with my glass, I thought I discovered a gun in position and then two and then three on the other side.

I reported this to Capt. Sargent. He took a look, and just as he was deciding that I was right, and was about to send word to General Gregg to that effect, six guns opened directly upon us, and those were soon followed by twelve more, and they kept up a continued cannonade with all these for over an hour. As we had only 4 pieces no effective response could be given.

After this cannonade the rebels made a charge upon the bridge (which our forces had failed to destroy,) and gained possession of it. After they had crossed, our cavalry engaged [illegible] lasting 'till after dark. We were driven away and were obliged to retreat to Fayettville, a part directly to this place, and another portion by way of Warrenton. This result is not surprising, for, as we afterward learned, our single cavalry division had confronted the whole of Ewell's corps of infantry and part of Stuart's cavalry, and this on ground very unfavorable for cavalry fighting, and practically without artillery on our part, as we had but four guns and these of short range. This fight was a very unpleasantly exciting one, for we were obliged to get up, and that very much against our will, and I think contrary to expectations, for I am sure it was the intention to hold the ford if possible. But the rebels were too many. Our regiment was not much engaged, only one squadron (Capt. Sargent's) was on the field, and this not ordered into the fight, but when the Captain found our friends getting the worst of it, he took his squadron from the camp, leaving his dinner, and confronted the rebels, who had charged up to the crest of the hill and fired into him pretty lively; but, to my surprise, only one man of his men was hit. They did not follow us up beyond this hill; so, after waiting their attack for a couple of hours, we retreated to Fayettville by the direct road. The 1st New Jersey Regiment and one other which retreated on the road to Warrenton, were closely followed up and obliged to fight all the way, losing considerably.

Yesterday I walked over the battlefield. Quite a number of dead horses are lying about, with very extensive shell wounds. Unexploded and exploded shells scattered in profusion.

This Sulphur Spring's affair was our defeat, though the loss in killed and wounded was not very heavy. Of two regiments, 4th and 13th Pennsylvania, that went over the river in the morning, the majority were captured. The 1st Maine, however, which was also on the other side, finding itself cut off from Sulphur Springs, went up to Washington and Sperry-the fight at Sulphur Springs. They twice fell in with rebel camps,—the second time near Warrenton, in the night. They supposed it was our camp. The Major of the regiment therefore dismounted and went into the camp, waked up a man and asked, "What regiment is this?" The man replied, "The 12th." The Major asked—"The 12th what?" "Why, the 12th Virginia Cavalry, you fool."

The Auburn and Bristow fights were quite different affairs from the above. I will give you some sort of an account of them in my next.

Yesterday, while watching the rebel pickets on the other side, from the very hill that I saw the fight, I saw one of them come down and exchange newspapers with our picket. This paper acknowledged their defeat at Bristow, and expressed astonishment that a retreating foe should take prisoners, guns, &c.—then says there was a mistake somewhere, etc.

I will try to write again to-morrow. G.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1863.

EDITORIAL.

While yet coming to acquaintance with them, the Assistant Editor takes leave of the readers of the WIZARD—with the feeling, however, that if his connection with the paper and its patrons is short, it has been sufficiently pleasant to him to render it a source of satisfaction in all the future. To his friends in Danvers, as elsewhere, for their encouragement, as also to the newspaporial public for its kindness—greater than anticipated—he returns his heart-felt acknowledgments. With Mr. HOWARD, his principal, to whom he is under many an obligation, he closes this connection with regrets that can arise only from parting with a most agreeable companion, whose success, however great it may be as editor and publisher, can never be greater than merited. Mr. H., in continuing to conduct his paper with his wonted skill and energy, may need no assistant. On the other hand, the Army does need assistance in the accession to its thinned ranks of men, who believe that this war should not end or flag till we have a united country, and constitutional Freedom is securely rescued from the danger with which it is so determinedly threatened by its enemies. Believing it his duty to add one to the number of the army in this war for the sacred rights of man, the assistant editor, with this issue, terminates his more personal interest in the WIZARD, and to his friends of the paper, bids a kind farewell. A. A. PUTNAM.

WATER.

Our neighbors of Salem are becoming alive to the importance of securing to themselves a more ample supply of pure water. They see that the present supply is insufficient for manufacturing uses and domestic purposes, and the people of the city are well stirred up upon the subject. We have seen a petition signed by a long array of most respectable names, whose influence will be most potent in securing the object sought. If this matter is important to the inhabitants of Salem, it is equally so to the people of South Danvers. We need a better supply of good water on account of the facilities it would afford to many branches of business. The recent change of interest in the Bleachery may lead to a large increase of that establishment and the need of a heavy supply of water to feed its boilers. Let not any projected improvement of this kind be hindered from the want of an article so essential and so easily to be supplied as water.

The conveniences of an abundant supply of water are so obvious that there is no necessity of dwelling upon them. Now is a favorable time for our citizens to give their active and united support to any plan which may be adopted by the people of Salem to that desirable end. The mode of doing this is to co-operate with them in asking the Legislature for such ample power as may be requisite to carry the object into early effect.

Suntaug Lake, in Lynnfield, is so far elevated above the highest of our dwellings and places of business, that its water may be forced wherever it will be needed, and in abundant supply. The only opposition to such a public convenience, that can be anticipated, will be from the present Aqueduct Corporation, but it is believed that such an arrangement could be made with those proprietors as would secure to them the value of their property without depreciation. But if the interest of the public is paramount.

☞ The Danvers Farmers' Club have a meeting at Granite Hall this evening. Mr. B. B. Loring will speak of the agricultural shows this fall, to be followed by a discussion on Agricultural Education.

☞ Arthur A. Putnam, our late assistant, has received a commission of second Lieutenant in the Second Artillery Regi-

THE WAR MEETING.

War meetings, like fevers, are catching. They had one in Danvers week before last; we had one in this town last week. Beverly had one, too, on the same evening; and we shall soon hear from old Salem. Father Abraham has called for another 300,000 men; to make up that number Massachusetts must contribute 15,000 men, making the quotas of Danvers and South Danvers 59 men each. And how shall they be had, is the question. We think the answer is by calling the citizens together in masses—as we have done in times past—and by patriotic appeals, and by patriotic acts, urge upon our strong and vigorous youth the necessity of upholding our cause by helping the government to deal heavier and quicker blows on the head of the Rebellion. This is the way we have raised nearly all our men so far. We held public meetings to urge our patriotic citizens to volunteer, never failing thereby to fill our quotas; and we believe this is the way we must now attain our allotted number under the present call.

The meeting in Peabody Institute last Wednesday evening was the carrying out of this principle, which will, we have encouragement to believe, be soon followed by similar gatherings. Like previous meetings held for the same purpose, it was a patriotic assemblage of our citizens to listen to those whose councils they are wont to heed, and to express by their presence that their heart and soul were in the work. There were, at the least calculation, a thousand present—all auditors, (children were excluded); and all will bear us out in saying that a more orderly and well behaved audience never before assembled in Peabody Institute.

At a quarter before 7 the doors were thrown open to the public, and the seats in the body of the hall were soon filled, together with the aisles, entries and stairways. The gallery being reserved for ladies—and why shouldn't it be, for who have been more patriotic than our ladies?—it was so arranged by the Committee that they should be allowed to enter the hall by the side entrance before the main doors were opened. The platform was also set apart for the fine band of music in attendance, and for the speakers and officers of the meeting. J. Amory of Boston, Government Dispatch Agent, and father of Col. Amory of the Seventeenth; Adjutant Merritt, son of the late Lieut. Col. Merritt of Salem; Provost Marshal Johnson of Salem and Rev. Mr. Campbell of Bradford, were on the platform.

At the hour appointed, FRANCIS BAKER, Esq., called the assemblage to order and submitted a list of officers for the the meeting, as follows:—

President:

DR. GEORGE OSBORNE.

Vice Presidents:

Edwin Price.*
Benj. D. Hill.*
Edward Hammond.*
Lewis Allen.
Robert S. Daniels.
Benj. Goodridge.
Henry Poor.
Gen. W. Sutton.
Miles Osborne.
Jos. Poor.
Jona King.
Fitch Poole.
A. P. Phillips.
Wingate Merrill.
Warren M. Jacobs.
Benj. C. Perkins.
Samuel Brown, Jr.
Eben S. Poor.
Stephen Blaney.
Wm. H. Little.
Amos Merrill.
Eben S. Upton.
Franklin Osborne.

Secretaries:

D. Webster King.
Charles D. Howard.

After the announcement of the officers, Dr. OSBORNE came forward and said he had been summoned rather suddenly and therefore he arose with much distrust in himself and reluctance to assume, on an occasion of such magnitude as this, a position with which his well-wishing friends had too highly honored him, viz: the duties of the Chair.

Fellow Citizens, (and in this appellation I include both ladies and gentlemen, for in a call for the cause of the country, most emphatically the female portion deserve the deference, as proved by their works,) I am disappointed, and I well know that you must be to-night. I felt and know that you must have expected that some gentleman would appear in the position which I now occupy, who would have served up to us an exordium commensurate with the great object of the call, and worthy of the character of this large assembly. To explain to you the reason why this happened otherwise, I will say that the Executive Committee did engage for this purpose one of our townsman, a gentleman most eminently fit to adorn this post, and most adequate to meet all its requirements. A gentleman who adorns all he touches, and most especially well such a position as I am now so inadequately endeavoring to fill. My meaning and apology will be fully understood by reading the letter I hold in my hand:

*Dartmoor prisoners in the war of 1812.

Oct. 28, 1863.

To STEPHEN BLANEY, Esq.

My Dear Sir:—Owing to the death of my sister at Andover, I shall be unable to meet with you at the meeting to-night. But even private sorrow can not check the interest I feel in the great cause of our country, and I trust that your gathering will be all that could be desired, and accomplish much in our midst for the cause we have so much at heart.

Very truly yours,
A. A. ABBOTT.

Now having explained to you why I have been emboldened to stand here, I have only further to say that I proffer my thanks to the gentlemen whose friendliness has pushed me so far beyond my merits, by assigning me as a substitute for the gentleman whose letter of declination I have just read to you.

In fine, all that I shall attempt will be the mere technical duties of the chair, but if the gentlemen upon whom I shall call to address, will respond to that call, I feel assured that we shall be fully requited for all matters wherein we have been disappointed.

The Doctor then introduced COLONEL FRANKLE, of 2d Heavy Artillery Regt., who went from Lynnfield about two years ago, as Major of the Seventeenth Regiment, and who is now trying to reerruit his Artillery Regiment up to the maximum standard of eighteen hundred men. Col. F. is a talking as well as a fighting man, and makes a very interesting speech. Among other things he said what we needed now were men of muscle, and not men of three hundred dollars; and spake in high terms of the South Danvers and Danvers Volunteers.

The Rev. Mr. BARBER followed with some remarks on the seriousness of the present aspect of the war. He showed that from the diversity of ends to be secured by the war; from the thoroughness of the test to our patriotism; and from the fact that, as in Israel, the virtue of the populace was the mainstay of the nation, no one could lightly treat the present appeal for an augmented army.

Rev. Dr. BRIGGS of Salem, on being introduced was warmly received, and spoke mainly on the cause of the country as the cause of law, of liberty, and of the best interests of humanity. He illustrated his points with some excellent allusions to the battles of the Revolution, making graceful mention of our monument as a fit thing for the training of heroes. He concluded with an earnest appeal in favor of Volunteering.

A. A. PUTNAM, of Danvers, made a stirring address, well calculated to raise the patriotism in the heart of any man; suiting the actions to the words, he had volunteered, and called on others that evening to follow his example. If Mr. Putnam manifests the same ability with his sword as he does with his pen and and voice, the rebels will find a foe worthy of their steel.

The Rev. Mr SAFFORD was next introduced. He said a gentleman had told him, good-naturedly, that it would be a hard thing for a young man to speak at such a meeting. "Why do you not go yourself?" might be asked. It is a question the speaker had asked himself. He felt that it should be a strong reason that would keep any man at home. He said for himself that he had resolved to follow the path of duty, wherever it might lead.

Are we losing heart or hope in our work? Assuredly, we have lost some of our early enthusiasm. We have not that high-swelling patriotism that was so suddenly ours in the spring of '61. Then every man was ready; the merchant left his counting-room, the husbandman his plow, the professional man his office; old men and young men came forth to the defence of their native land. Nor was it not her offering; her sacrificial gifts did much toward that wonderful regeneration of the people, when the nation awoke with surprise at its own strength and vigor. Has all this noble enthusiasm been lost?

The speaker could not believe it. The nation thus far has been faithful. We need not despair. The river of patriotism was sweeping on. We could not reasonably expect it to remain at the high-water-mark of that early spring freshet. But the springs are not giving out. There were streams that carried to the river dirty and sluggish water, that beslimed its fair surface; nevertheless the river swept on and would sweep, and bear the nation to victory.

He spoke of the trying days of the summer and autumn of '62. The people did not falter then. In the midst of the darkness they hoped for sunlight. Did they not show themselves adequate to to their trials? Instances of steadfastness and devotion were narrated, to show that the early spirit was not lost.

Since a year ago, said he, our skies have brightened. Our hopes are high, and victory seems certain. But our hopes are groundless, unless it is our unfaltering purpose that they shall be realized. Our strength is in our willingness to sustain the government with means and men. Unless we respond to this new call cheerfully and at once, we have no right to expect a speedy termination of the war. He appealed to the business men. He hoped they had American hearts that were not wholly given to the love of gain. Victory must be ours; but we must pay its cost. Every one has some work to do.

Capt. LULL, formerly of the 5th Battery, and now of the 2d Heavy Artillery, was called on for a few remarks. Capt. L. has no mean record to boast of. He enlisted as early as the 20th of May, 1861, in a New York Regiment, and with the exception of about four weeks, has been in the service ever since. He first enlisted in a three months' regiment, and then joined the 5th Battery, which was recruited at Lynnfield. At the battle of Gaines' Mill, before Richmond, the Battery lost four of their pieces, and as the Captain says, "they were immediately turned upon them by the rascals; but they paid their way well before they were taken! If 300,000 men could be raised and put in the field before the first of January, he would guarantee the war would be over in a year."

Lieut. KINSLEY, of the same regiment, made a few remarks which were well received by the audience—the ladies in particular. Looking at the audience, he told them they wanted one hundred men out of this town. Wanted the young men and not the old, and promised them a "bully time" if they would only go. Appealed to the ladies to come to the rescue and use their influence in inducing their "Johnnies" to go to war. "When your Johnny comes to see you Sunday night, lay your hand on his shoulder and say to him, 'Johnny, you know I like you, but I should like you a great deal better if you would go to war;' and when Johnny comes home from the war you will think a great deal more of him than you did before."

This was the "winding up" of the speeches. We should have spoken more in detail in regard to them, but when we consider that they were listened to by nearly every person in town who takes an interest in such affairs, it would merely be repetition to them to give the remarks in full.

The glee club of the band now sang "Speed Along" and "Yankee Boys" with good effect, being heartily applauded, as all of their music had been during the intervals of the speaking. The meeting now adjourned.

We must not close the proceedings of this glorious gathering without saying a word in praise of the fine band in attendance, consisting of twenty-four pieces, which did so much to enliven and inspirit the meeting. They are attached to Col. Frankle's regiment, stationed at Readville, and were mostly recruited from his command, their instruments being presented to them by the citizens of Boston. Their talented leader, ARTHUR HALL, who went out in the band of the Seventeenth Regiment in the same capacity, is a thorough and accomplished instructor of instrumental music; and the perfection to which he has brought this band goes far to prove it, for since the days of "Gilmore's Salem Brass" our citizens have never enjoyed such music as they furnished to us on the Square in the afternoon, in the evening at the hall, and at night-time under a bright silvery moon, on a serenade along our silent streets. The strains of their music lingers in our ears; we wish they might never die out; for we love good music, there is so much in it that is soul-inspiring and ennobling. Who does not love good music?—for

"He that hath no music in his soul
Is fit for treason, stratagem and spoils."

They were quartered while here at W. SIMONDS' Hotel, the landlord thereof, by his endeavors to please and make things comfortable for them, evincing to a certainty that he knew how to keep a hotel.

PRESENTATION.—On Friday afternoon JONAS REED, Esq., who is about to retire from the Superintendency of the Danvers Bleachery, was agreeably surprised by a present of a Silver Pitcher and Salver—beautiful articles—by the operatives in his charge, as a fitting testimonial of their esteem for him.

The pitcher bears this inscription:

Presented to JONAS REED
By the Employees of the Danvers Bleachery,
South Danvers, Mass.,
Oct. 30, 1863.

☞ The death of Dr. D. C. Perkins, announced under our obituary head, makes the third physician we have lost during the year. Dr. Samuel Lord died about a year ago this time, and Dr. Robinson last spring. Dr. Perkins disease was dysentry. He was, at the time of his death, Chairman of our Board of of Health, and a member of our School Committee. As one of our most useful and exemplary citizens, his loss will be deeply felt.

☞ S. Mackintire, 218 Essex street, Salem, has those splendid extra sized Octavo Piano Forts so much admired, for sale.

☞ The funeral of Chas. H. Kimball, yesterday, was largely attended. The members of Co. C. attended in a body.

☞ Something new and useful—the Rubber Soled Balmorals at Coleman's, 10 Front street, Salem

☞ An interesting army letter on the outside.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

A Caucus of the Republicans of South Danvers was held in Town Hall last Thursday evening to nominate a candidate for Representative to the next General Court, and to take action in regard to forming a Union League.

A. P. Phillips, Esq., was elected Chairman.

Hon. Eben S. Poor, submitted the following resolutions to the meeting, in lieu of Mr. Baker's resolution offered at the last caucus, and laid on the table, in order to hear a report from a nominating committee, and by some oversight or neglect not taken up:

Resolved, That the Republicans of South Danvers hereby pledge ourselves anew to maintain and uphold the Constitution and Government of the United States, and to do all that lies in our power to suppress the wicked rebellion which aims to overthrow our republican institutions, and to extend and perpetuate the cause of human slavery.

Resolved, That with heartfelt pleasure we welcome to our ranks the advent of many who have hitherto acted with other parties; but who now are ready to adopt the principles and aid in carrying out the measures of the Republican Parties.

Resolved, That duty, honor, and good faith, require that we should give our hearty support to the regular nominations of the Republican Party; and we hereby sacredly pledge ourselves to use our utmost exertions to secure the election of each and every candidate upon the Regular Republican Ticket.

Some discussion here arose between Messrs. Blaney, Baker and Poor, pertaining to these resolutions and the one offered the other evening, and on motion of Miles Osborn it was voted to proceed to business, and discuss the resolutions afterwards, whereupon it was voted to proceed to an informal ballot, and the result was as follows:

INFORMAL.

Whole number of votes,	69
D. W. King,	1
Dr. Geo. Osborne,	1
Jas. Perkins,	2
Amos Merrill,	10
Wm. H. Little,	55

FORMAL.

Whole number of votes,	69
Jas. Perkins,	3
Amos Merrill,	8
Wm. H. Little.	58

Wm. H. LITTLE, Esq., was declared the nominee, and on being called for, thanked the Republicans of South Danvers for the compliment, and said, if elected, would perform the duties of the office to the best of his ability.

The question of forming a Union League was now taken up, and Mr. Hardy moved that one be formed. Hereupon quite a discussion arose about the kinds of Union Leagues, open and secret, participated in by Messrs. Blaney, Poor, Bancroft, Hardy, Baker and Stevens.—Most of them were in favor of an open Union League, and decidedly adverse to any thing secret, while others thought there was no hurt in either and would as lief belong to one as the other. Mr. Bancroft informed them there was already a nucleus of a secret Union League in town; thought that the people of Massachusetts were adverse to secret Leagues, but that they were very popular in the Border and Western States, and that the late triumphs of the Union Party were principally owing to these kinds of leagues; saw no hurt in either kind.

It was finally voted to form an open Union League and to refer its plan of organization to the Town Committee.

On motion of Mr. Stephen Blaney, it was voted that two or three be added to the committee, and Messrs. Isaac Hardy, Sidney C. Bancroft and Wm. H. Little were selected.

Mr. Poor's resolutions were then taken up, and it was voted to act on each separately. The two first were unanimously accepted, and the third was withdrawn by Mr. Poor, after some considerable debate.

The meeting then dissolved.

THE 39TH REGIMENT. Sergeant HARRISON DODGE, of this regiment, is now at home on a short furlough, looking well. He reports Paul Osborne, Peter M'Arthur, John P. Gibbs, David Powell, Wm. Mayer, Samuel Wiley, James Millikin, John O. Blaisdell, Eli H. Burnham, Wm. J. Moulton, John Otis Taylor, John P. Dodge, as well. James F. Flint has been discharged. Wm. L. Richardson, Benj. F. Butler, Ezekiel B. Durling, Wm. E. Purington, Jacob O. Guilford, Geo. N. Symonds, in hospital,—the latter expected home. Geo. W. Bancroft, Jr., is in convalescent camp. Edward A. Bessom is home on sick list.

The 39th Regiment is now with the army of the Potomac, in the First Corps, second division, under General Newton.

☞ There will be a grand Concert, in Salem, under the auspices of the Salem Temperance League, to-morrow, (Tuesday evening,) by Gilmore's Full Band, assisted by the great artiste, Camilla Urso, etc. See advertisement.

☞ There will be a grand war meeting in Mechanic Hall, Salem, next Friday evening, similar to the one held here last week. The band of the 2d Heavy Artillery Regiment will be in attendance.

ELECTION.

We had an unusually quiet election yesterday; and, as will be seen by the figures below, a very small vote was cast:

Governor,
John A. Andrew, Rep.	316
Henry W. Paine, Dem.	41
Lieutenant Governor,
Joel Hayden, R.	314
Thos. F. Plunkett, D.	41
Secretary of State,
Oliver Warner, R.	316
F. O. Prince, D.	41
Treasurer,
Henry K. Oliver, R.	315
Nathan Clark, D.	41
Auditor,
Levi Reed, R.	315
Moses Bates, D.	41
Attorney General,
Dwight Foster, R.	314
Theodore H. Sweetser, D.	40
Councillor,
Eben S. Poor, R.	202
William G. Nutting, Jr., D.	38
Amos P. Tapley,	32
A. B. Merrill,	1
Amos Merrill,	1
Eben S. Upton,	1
C. W. Osborne,	1
Fitch Poole,	1
James D. Black,	1
Nathan H. Poor,	1
Thos. H. Stimpson,	1
Wm. Nutter, Jr.,	1
Stephen Blaney,	1
Henry Poor,	1
James P. King,	1
Samuel Q. White,	1
Senator,
Israel W. Andrews,	298
H. O. Wiley,	40
Warren Wilson,	1
George Osborne,	1
Register of Probate and Insolvency,
Abner C. Goodell, Jr.,	313
George B. Lord,	41
County Commissioner,
James Kimball,	314
Moses Newhall,	41
Representative to General Court,
Wm. H. Little,	297
Miles Osborne, Jr.,	44
S. Q. White,	1
W. S. Osborne,	1
Stephen Blaney,	1
Fitch Poole,	1
Amos Merrill,	3

The vote in this town last year was 359 for Andrew, and 156 for Devens; whole number 515. This year 357.

HULL ALL RIGHT.—John A. Andrew 17—Paine 1.

☞ The 19th Massachusetts Regiment was in the battle at Bristow's Station, under the command of Major Edmund Rice, but met with no casualties. The regiment now numbers 475 men. Col. A. F. Devereux, of this regiment, is still on duty at Fort Independence, Boston Harbor, taking charge of the recruits at that post.

☞ In an article of "Harper's" for Nov., entitled "Commencement Week a Yale," giving a description of the festivities of class suppers, etc., the author says toasts were drunk and responded to; that to the memory of the dead drunk in silence. The italics, we admit, are ours.

☞ Photography is now extensively applied to Astronomy. A photograph of the moon has been taken on a scale of about seventy miles to an inch. This is a vast stride in Science, and would seem to be a great advance towards the settlement of the much disputed question about the "Man in the Moon."

☞ It has been believed that Suwarrow, during his retreat in 1799 flung an iron box of money into the Lake of Klöenthal, in Switzerland. A company having been organized to fish it up, two divers have been down. "They found—it was not what they sought—an old stove."

☞ The cars on the Horse Railroad between Beverly and Salem commenced running on Wednesday. A car leaves every 30 minutes through the day, and the road seems to be well patronized.

☞ Five millions of acres are devoted in France to the cultivation of the vine. The product of wine is said to be but two gallons per acre.

☞ The muskrats in Minnesota have double-lined their nests, and the trout have already left the small creeks for deep holes—sure indications, says the St. Paul Press, of as severe a Winter as that of 1857, when the same occurrences were observed.

CHAS. P. PRESTON, Esq., has been elected to the Legislature from Danvers. A good man in the right place.

CARPETS.—A great trade is carried on through these times of high prices, by the New England Carpet Company, of Boston. See their advertisement in to-day's paper.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO. will close their store at 6 P. M. during the Fall and Winter months. Nov. 4, 1863.

LETTER FROM BOSTON

PROPELLER ADVERTISING AGENCY
No. 15 Washington St.,
Boston, Oct. 30th, 1863.

THE ADVANCE IN PRICES.

The days of cheap living are over. There is no such thing. The ordinary comforts cost more than its luxuries cost two years ago. Groceries have advanced from 50 to 100 per cent. Such a coat as you could buy in 1860 for twenty-five dollars, is now worth forty. A Guernsey shirt, then sold for one dollar, now brings two, and "shilling" shirting now sells at forty cents a yard. Every housekeeper suffers from that "Consummation of all human ills,

The inflamation of his weekly bills."

So also does the boarder, for the caravansaries whereto the people who have no "residence" are invited by advertisement to "enjoy all the comforts of a home," have increased their charges while they curtailed their dietaries. To parody the words of Burke, the age of economical enjoyment has passed; the age of shinplasters, high prices and heavy taxes has succeeded, and the glory of the man of moderate income is extinguished—for the present. The mere hand-to-mouth consumers are consumedly; for hawk-eyed retail traders are not slow to make every rise in the wholesale market a plea for unwarrantable action. Of course with the present high taxes on imports and domestic manufactures we must expect to pay considerably more for everything we need than before the war; but there is no just reason why we should pay 50 per cent more. An average increase of 50 per cent would fully compensate dealers for the additional burdens imposed upon them, and the balance is therefore so much added to their legitimate profits. This evil may in time reform itself through the agency of competition, but it now presses onerously upon people with small incomes, and particularly upon the salaried class, whose remuneration has not been augmented in proportion to the vast increase in their expenses. There never was a finer opportunity for men of capital to secure for themselves an unlimited amount of business by liberality and fair dealing. They could easily swamp the pettifogging extortionists, and in so doing reap a golden harvest for themselves while they rendered an inestimable service to the public. We are fleeced to the quick under false pretences.

THE RISE IN COAL AGAIN.

Coal has gone up to $11 per ton; this, I believe, is the result of a pure monopoly, or combination among the dealers—in other words, downright swindle upon the public. Coal was never more abundant in Boston than at present, and it is arriving in great abundance every day; and there is still a large stock that remained over last Spring. Yet we hear the dealers talk about the advanced cost in mining, transportation, &c. Freights are only $2. from Port Richmond, and captains say there is plenty to be had for about $5.50 by the cargo. Everybody now is ferocious for making great speculations, and the latest dodge among dealers is to meet and agree upon advanced rates, and so, when all are against him, the poor consumer can't help himself. I understand that in some places the coal dealers refuse to sell. Probably waiting for another rise. The public we think would be perfectly justified in seizing upon the stocks of all such, and disposing of the same at a reasonable profit. I do not believe in lawless acts, but this is the only way to bring such heartless speculators to their senses.

A CARD.

Having been the recipient of a very valuable present from the employers of the Danvers Bleachery, I wish, renewedly, to express to them my most sincere and heartfelt thanks for this tangible proof of their kind regards for me.

The little incident of presentation was, to me, one of the most pleasing events of my experience in that establishment, and will long be remembered by me with pleasurable emotions.

J. REED.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR CROCKERY.—First quality of White Granite Ware, marked down and selling at 20 per cent less than cost, by C. T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 Lowell Street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers.

EASTERN RAILROAD—Fall and Winter Arrangement.—The usual change of hours for the Fall Arrangement, commenced on Monday last. Trains leave Salem for Boston at 6.15, 7.15, 8.15, 9, 10, 11, A. M. 1, 2.30, 4.40, 6.45, P. M.

Boston for Salem at 7.30, 8.30, 10.30, A. M. 12 M., 2.30, 4, 5, 6, 6.45, 9.30, P. M.

A PARODY.

In Salem ere the sun was low,
Before the earliest fall of snow,
Tremendous was the steady flow,
Of Fashion's tide to Peabody's.

But Salem saw another sight,
The Dealers all looked puzzled quite,
And lay awake at dead of night,
Trying to solve the mystery.

Behind their desks they looked aghast,
As fashion's throng went sweeping past,
The tide of trade was setting fast
Towards the store of Peabody's.

But soon the cause was plain indeed,
So even he who ran could read,
The Ladies went with quickening speed
To buy their goods at Peabody's.

His styles and fabrics are the best
In all the land from East to West,
And Ladies that are neatly dressed
All buy their goods at Peabody's.

The choicest stock you there will meet,
Comprising all that's new and neat;
The store you'll find on Essex street,
The famous store of Peabody's.

On Essex Street—two twenty call,
Ye young and old both great and small,
We give this kind advice to all—
Go buy your goods at Peabody's.

The largest Stock can there be found,
Enough for all the country round,
At prices that will suit—we're bound
To buy our Goods at Peabody's.

HAIR DRESSING NOTICE.—Mr. J. J. HEYLINGBERG having secured a good, steady workman, his shop will now be open at all hours of the day. He and his assistant, Mr. HILL, will do all in their power to accommodate the public, and expect thereby to merit a liberal patronage. Although the Salem barbers have raised their prices, Mr. H. still adheres to his present advertised rates.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

☞ Clothe your Boys at 240, and save your money.

☞ $16,000.00 worth of Men's and Boys' Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats and Caps, at 240.

Marriages.

In South Reading, Oct 28, by Rev Mr Bliss, Mr Edw M Usher to Miss Elizabeth T Nourse, both of Marblehead.

In Portsmouth, N H, Mr Charles Merrill to Miss Sarah M Bradbury, both of Wenham.

Deaths.

In this town, Oct 31st, Mr Charles H Kimball, 27 years 5 mos—a member of Co. C, 5th Mass Regt.

Oct 31, Hannah Murphy 25 years.

Nov 1, Horace R Stone 21 yrs 11 mos.

Nov 3, Dr D C Perkins, aged 38 yrs 11 mos 23 days. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of Abel Proctor on Sewall St. Relatives and friends are invited.

In Salem, Nov 24th, Mr George A Hodges, 39 years 38 days; 27th, Mrs Lydia A, wife of Mr Frank Tufts, and daughter of Mr Samuel Nourse, 29 yrs; 28th, Mr Patrick Collins, 42; 29th, John, son of William H and Martha E Nichols, 33 mos; 30th, Benjamin W Peach, 47; Charles Lovett, son of Charles and Caroline A Pepper, 4 years 8 mos; Owen Doland, 68; 31st, Mrs Johanna, wife of Mr John O'Neil, 27 yrs; Mrs Hannah, wife of Mr Patrick Callahan, 34 yrs; Henry Peirce Esq.

Nov 1, Mr Ephraim Parker Dodge, 49 yrs.

In Beverly, Oct 26, Mrs Huldah, widow of the late George W Lampson, 64 yrs; Alice P, daughter of Seth Jr and Emma P Friend, 18½ mos. The little child, while attempting to climb upon a chair fell and struck her head and was so badly injured that death ensued on the following day.

In Marblehead, Oct 26, Mr John Lefavour, 79 years.

28th, Rebecca W, wife of Samuel S Trefrey, aged 42 years; Thomas Sparkawk, aged 71 yrs.

Nov 1st, Mrs Sarah widow of the late John Trail, 74 years 10 days.

In Wenham, Oct 23, Mrs Sally, wife of Dea Abraham Patch, 63 yrs 7 mos.

In Rowley, Oct 27, Mrs Lydia, widow of the late Dr. David Plummer, 69 yrs.

Advertisements.

MECHANIC HALL - - - - SALEM.

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 6, 1863.

GRAND CONCERT,

under the auspices of the

SALEM TEMPERANCE LEAGUE,

BY GILMORE'S FULL BAND,

assisted by the great Artiste

CAMILLA URSO,

and the celebrated Soloists, M. ARBUCKLE, the Brothers FRITZ and FERDINAND ZOEHLER; also the popular Vocalist, W. AINSLEY SCOTT.

PROGRAMME.

PART I.

1 Overture—Poet and Farmer, Suppe.
ORCHESTRA.
2 Grand Aria—from "The Magic Flute," Mozart.
W. AINSLEY SCOTT.
3 Pot Pourri—from "Lucrezia Borgia." Donizetti.
MILITARY BAND.
4 Solo for Violin—"Fantasie Caprice," Vieuxtemps.
CAMILLA URSO,
With Accompaniment for Full Orchestra.
5 Song—"The Standard Bearer." Lindpaintor, adapted for Cornet a Piston, and performed by M. ARBUCKLE.
6 "Soldier's Return March," P. S. Gilmore.
Introducing the popular Song "When Johnny comes Marching Home."
MILITARY BAND.

PART II.

7 Double Concerto for Flutes, on subject from Norma, Furstenau.
THE BROTHERS FRITZ & FERDINAND ZOEHLER,
With Accompaniment for Orchestra.
8 Song—"Man the Life Boat." Russell.
W. AINSLEY SCOTT.
9 Solo for Violin—Fantasie sur la Somnambula. Artot.
CAMILLA URSO.
10 Divertimento, on Airs de Ballet, from "Il Profeta," Meyerbeer.
MILITARY BAND.
Finale—Marche Militaire—"Brightest Eyes," Stigelli.
MILITARY BAND.

Conductor, - - - - P. S. GILMORE.

Tickets 25 cents—to be had at the Bookstores and at the Door. A limited number of reserved seats, at 50 cents, may be had by application at Creamer's Bookstore.

Doors open at 6½—Performances commence at 7½.

The Galleries will be reserved for parties holding Course Tickets.

The other reserved seats will be taken from the floor of the house.

P. S. No. 1 of the Course Tickets will admit to the Concert.

Nov. 4, 1863.

PIANO FORTES.

I HAVE those splendid Extra-Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Manner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melodeons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every particular.

P. MACKINTIRE, General Agent.

No. 218 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

Executor's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of ANNA BUXTON, late of South Danvers, in the County of Essex, widow, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

WILLIAM WOLCOTT, Executor.

South Danvers, Nov. 4, 1863

SOMETHING NEW AND USEFUL.

JUST received from the Manufacturers, N. HAYWARD & Co., Ladies' and Children's warranted—at less prices than all leather, and better than any other Shoes.

RUBBER SOLED BALMORALS,

Also, Bailey & Sayles's Large WRINGER, on a Bench—suitable for a large family.

Also, 400 doz Brown Windsor Soap, at 50 cents per doz.

B. COLMAN,

Nov. 4, 1863. 10 Front S., Salem.

John P. Peabody.

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

Black Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	17 cts
White Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	17 cts
Magenta Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Solferino Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Purple Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Blue Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Perdrix Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
Printed Zephyr Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts
All fine colors Worsteds, per oz.	22 cts

Less by the pound.

—AT—

PEABODY'S,

220 Essex Street.

LADIES' UNDER-WEAR.

MERINO VESTS,
PANTS,
CORSETS,
SKIRTS, &c

—AT—

PEABODY'S,

220 Essex Street, Salem.

EMBROIDERIES AND LACE GOODS,
EDGINGS AND INSERTINGS,
RIBBONS AND FLOWERS,
RUCHES AND LACES,
MOURNING VEILS, COLLARS, &c,
WROUGHT SETTS, in variety,
LINEN CAMBRIC HANDKERCHIEFS,
HEAD DRESSES AND NETS,
CORSETS, SKIRTS AND SHAPES,
LEATHER BAGS AND WALLETS,
STEEL & JET PINS & BRACELETS,
TOILET SOAPS AND PERFUMES.

OUR WORSTEDS.

We invite your especial attention to our Stock of Zephyr Worsteds, as we have done all in our power to make it choice and desirable. It is the largest stock in Essex County, and we shall as we always have done, sell them at lower prices than any of our competitors. We have all the fine colors at prices from 17 to 22 cents per ounce. We have also a full stock of hand-knit and machine made Hoods, Sontags, Nubias, Clouds, Sleeves, Mitters, &c.

JOHN P. PEABODY.

TRIMMINGS.

Buttons,	Bindings,
Braids,	Cords,
Whalebones,	Hooks & Eyes,

&c., &c., &c.

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

KID GLOVES—a fresh Stock; Ladies', Misses', and Children's Hosiery and Gloves in great variety.

LADIES!

We call your attention to our Stock, being fully confident that we can offer you many decided bargains.

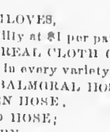
Our prices as heretofore will be the very lowest.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

JOHN P. PEABODY.

Salem, Oct. 21, 1863.

Browning & Long



R I C H

—AND—

FASHIONABLE

NEW GOODS

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S.

FRENCH KID GLOVES,
(good quality at $1 per pair;)
ALEXANDRE'S REAL CLOTH GLOVES;
FALL GLOVES, in every variety;
NEW STYLES BALMORAL HOSE;
FANCY WOOLEN HOSE,
FLEECY LINED HOSE;
MERINO HOSIERY;
GENTS' MERINO HOSE,
FLEECED HOSE FOR INVALIDS;
MERINO UNDERVESTS;
MERINO DRAWERS;
MERINO DRESSES;

Hosiery, Gloves, and Under-Garments in every variety, for Ladies, Gents, Misses and Boys.

LACE VEILS;
THREAD VEILS;
BLACK AND WHITE VEILS;
CHIR COL. VEILS;
GAUZE VEILS;
CRAPE VEILS;
LACE VEILS WITH CRAPE FOLDS;
LOVE VEILS.

Receiving many of our Veils direct from the Manufacturers, we are able to show many styles not to be found elsewhere.

PLAIN LINEN HDKFS,;
HEM-STITCHED HANDKERCAIEFS;
NOBBY STYLED HEM-STITCHED;
EMBROIDERED HDKFS.;
TUCKED HDKFS;
SOLID BORD. HDKFS., (in colors;)
MOURNING HDKFS.;
FANCY EMBROIDERED HDKFS.

Handkerchiefs in all styles, for Ladies, Gentlemen and Children.

POINTE D'ALENCON COLLARS;
GUIPURE LACE COLLARS;
MALTA LACE COLLARS,
THREAD LACE COLLARS;
LACE TRIMMED COLLARS;
EMBROIDERED COLLARS;
EMBROIDERED SETTS.

HAIR NETTS.

A very large assortment, comprising many entirely new Patterns, and the very newest Styles

Lace Sleeves.

New Styles always on hand. Any article in Lace made to order at short notice.

Edgings and Insertings,

In every possible kind.

NEW TRIMMINGS AND BUTTONS.

OUR

CERMAN ZEPHYR

☞ WORSTEDS. ☜

They are too well known to need more than a mere passing remark. Our assortment is better this season than ever before—the prices as low as a good article can be sold.

MESSRS. BROWNING & LONG

Take great pleasure in informing the Ladies of Salem and Vicinity, that they have now in store the heaviest and best selected Stock of FANCY DRY GOODS ever brought to Salem. Encouraged by the success they have achieved since the opening of their Establishment, they have determined to make special efforts to meet, as far as possible, the wants and demands which may arise, and think they are now, with a large assortment of Goods, able to do so.

BROWNING & LONG,

177 Essex Street.

Salem, Oct. 21, 1863.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

Cloak Opening.

WE SHALL OPEN NEW STYLES

WINTER CLOAKS, SATURDAY, OCT. 25.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

188 Essex, opposite Central Street.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO., 188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

FROM NEW YORK.

We have received from New York a large stock of

CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CLOAKS,

comprising Sackings, Meltons, Frosted Beavers, Plush Beavers, Velvet Beavers, Petersham Beavers, Black Castor Beavers, Doeskins, German Broadcloths, Flannels, etc., also Buttons and Trimmings to match.

[These Cloths, comprising the best grades of their kind, we are prepared to make to order from measure in the most workmanlike and tasteful manner.]

We have received also many novelties in SHAWLS, for the Autumn and Winter Trade.—[We offer a special bargain in Shawls, at $4.25.]

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Oct'r 21, 1863.

THE DRAFT IN ESSEX COUNTY!

10,000 Called For!

SOUTH DANVERS QUOTO IS 300 MEN AND 500 BOYS.

WE believe in drafting that number in South Danvers, and fitting them to a good

OVERCOAT,

or a good fitting suit of Clothes at lower prices than can be found at any other store in Essex County. The Draft will take place at 240

ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

October 28th, and continue for 30 days. The first draft will include the able bodied, or those whose pockets are well filled with the needful—nothing personal about that. The second draft will include those whose pockets are not so well filled. We are bound to have the men and Boys well clothed, and 240 is the only place where they can do it in good shape.

Head-Quarters for the drafted men and boys is at

F. S. PECK'S,

Salem, October 28—2m 240 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.

The members of this Corporation are hereby notified that the Annual meeting will be holden at the Warren Bank Rooms, on Wednesday, Nov. 4th, at 7 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Officers for the year ensuing, and for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

Per Order
FRANCIS BAKER, Sec'y.

So. Danvers, Oct. 14, 1863.

JUST RECEIVED,

AND NOW OPENING,

—A—

RICH STOCK

—OF—

Millinery Goods,

Consisting of

BONNET HATS,

RIBBON FLOWERS,

FEATHERS, &C.,

—AT—

REITH & CO'S.,

188 Essex Street (No. 2 West Block),
Nearly opposite Central Street.

Salem, Oct 21, 1863. 3m

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,

188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.

Oct. 7.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!

ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.

We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.

SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.

oct 14

PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN—by the use of

Nitrous Oxide Gas.

GEORGE H. CURRIER, Dentist,

Oct 7—4w 22 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

M. FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

LETS .....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS .....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;

At Rooms No. 7 Central street,

feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

DENTAL NOTICE.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,

FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

Oct. 3—no.

M. A. PORTER,

MANUFACTURES TO ORDER

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,

At 236 Essex Street,

A few doors from Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANAC,

FOR 1864, with beautiful and colored illustrations. It contains much valuable information.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Nov. 4.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER

OF THE

Violin, Piano and Singing,

Music Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,

SALEM, MASS.

George S. Walker.

WINTER GLOVES,

THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT in the city—at

GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
nov 4 228 Essex st., Stearns' Block.

Gentlemen's Underwear,

IN every seasonable materiel, for sale at the Lowest Prices, by

GEORGE S. WALKER,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
228 Essex st., Stearns' Building.

SCARFS AND NECK TIES.

THE BEST QUALITIES! The most choice styles can be found at

GEO. S. WALKER,

Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

A. J. ARCHER & CO,

WILL OPEN THIS MORNING

A LARGE STOCK OF

CLOAKS AND SACKS.

Price from $7 to $25 00.

Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.

Blacks and Colors

IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES.

Which we are prepared to make into garments per order, in the very best manner, and at

LOWEST PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Nov 4

Hood Skirts at Cost.

WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,

—BY—

C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at

NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,

ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.

South Danvers, July 29, 1863,

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult

JOHN H. CHOATE,

SEWING MACHINE AGENT.

Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.

Second-hand Machines bought and sold.

South Danvers, May 13—tf

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.

Salem, Sept 22, 1863

M. E. CRANE,

168 ESSEX STREET.

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her Stock of

FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GOODS

comprising all desirable styles.

Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French Flowers and Laces;

Straw Goods of all descriptions,

Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, latest styles; Ladies Dress Caps;

and all articles usually found in such a Store, at the lowest prices for cash.

Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Collars, &c., constantly on hand.

M. E. CRANE,
Successor to M M FLETCHER.

Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

ESSEX INSTITUTE.

THE Course of SCIENTIFIC LECTURES will commence about the middle of November, and be continued on THURSDAY EVENINGS, at the LYCEUM HALL, Salem.—These Lectures will treat on subjects connected with Geology, Astronomy, Botany, Zoology, &c., &c., and may be expected from the following:

Dr. C. T. Jackson, of Boston; Prof. Benjamin Peirce, of Cambridge; Messrs. N. E. Atwood of Provincetown; C. M. Tracy, of Lynn, and others whose names will be announced hereafter.

Tickets for the course $1.00 each. May be had at the Bookstores.

H. WHEATLAND,
Salem, Oct. 28. Secretary.

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.

WARREN BANK.

U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,

For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.

FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.

South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

Settees for Sale.

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,

Sept. 23. Equity Store.

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front street, Salem.

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.

Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

FALL AND WINTER GOODS

AT

GEORGE P. DANIELS'

No. 238 Essex Street,

(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

Consisting of New Styles

DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

sept 23—tf

VISIT THE

PHOTOGRAPH ROOMS

—OF—

T. E. WOOD,

(Over O. F. Batchelder's Store,)

No. 136 Main St., South Danvers.

And get a faithful likeness of yourself and friends while in HEALTH and STRENGTH.

Carte de Visite, Photographs and Ambrotypes taken. Also pictures copied at reasonable prices.

Frames, Albums, Cases, &c., for sale.

South Danvers, Oct 14.

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,

Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,

CIVIL AND MILITARY,

Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No.

J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. MCLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.

Salem, Aug 29, 1863.

SECOND HAND BOOKS.

FROM our Circulating Library—duplicate copies for sale at half price.

oct 21 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

TEETH ON VULCANITE

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, MASS.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them as to Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless,

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY

NEW YORK.

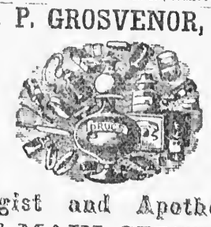
This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,

aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,



Druggist and Apothecary

33 MAIN STREET.

Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in

DRUGS & MEDICINES,

Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c

126 · · MAIN ST · · · 126

Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary

37 Main St., So. Danvers,

DEALER IN

Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery, Toilet Articles and Stationery.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

37 MAIN STREET.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,

(Successors to M. Black)

DANVERS-PORT,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your per mission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Bare Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant Hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN.
aug 5—3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Incompetency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, actuated by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing

JOHN B. OGDEN,
aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,

— ALSO —

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility and impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
No. 7 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586
sept 16—1yr

[COMMUNICATED.]

CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find A SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address
REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
oct. 23—4m. New York.

Advertisements.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,

NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

Would call and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the fashionable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Dress Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Cashmere and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Hosiery styles at equally low prices;
Calico styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Scarlet and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
Also offer Bargains in Hem-stitched Hdkfs;
oct 16 ANN R. BRAY.

THE FAMILY MOURNING STORE,
20 Winter Street, Boston.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would respectfully call attention to their establishment, (the only one of its kind in the city,) where every requisite for Mourning can be obtained.

They have a complete assortment of the following goods, just received:—

English and French Bombazines.
Alpacas, of every width and price.
Alpaca Glace.
Silk Alpaca.
Bombazine Laine, a new article.
Plain Cloths, Canton Cloths.
Bleached Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths.
Mourning Ginghams and Prints.
Mourning Millinery, in new styles; Mourning Hats and Bonnets, Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.

WILLIAMS & CO.
oct. 7.—2ms.

JOHN FARRELL,
PAPER AND TAILOR,

HAVING removed to his old place of business, 138 MAIN ST., South Danvers Depot, (Batchelder's Grocery Store), is prepared to Cut, Make, Repair, or furnish Garments, for Men and Youths at short notice.

South Danvers, April 1. tf

ATTRACTIVE

AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF

New Fall and Winter

CLOTHING,

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS

IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of

Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics' WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

GEO. H. LANE,

31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,

BOSTON.

Oct 21, 1863. 2m

L. D. BOISE & CO.,

154 Washington Street, Boston,

(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES
FALL & WINTER
CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,

OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,

In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,

Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
And PIECE Goods
FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS

In all the most desirable patterns of English German, French, Scotch and American Coatings, Cassimeres & Doeskins,

Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner at

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,

154 WASHINTON ST., BOSTON,

Five Doors above the Old South.

Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m,

Salem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

ALL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be stopped, in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 5.

Per order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,

IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.

PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.

18 Summer Street., Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.

Oct. 7.

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7 CLARK & CIDDINGS.

CARPETS.

☞ The current trade is sure to flow to that house which sells at the lowest prices. Our best English Velvet, Brussels, and Tapestries, will be retailed during the season at importer's prices. Our customers will find our departments for fine goods very complete—comprising the newest and most desirable styles of foreign productions as well as the favorite home manufactures. NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover St., Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

A NEW CARPET.

☞ Crossley's Improved Electrotype, possessing the appearance and beauty of real Brussels, and quite as durable, for half the price, now opening by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston. Our customers are reminded that this stock of Carpets comprises but 150 pieces, and in consequence of the low price they will last but a few days.

FINE CARPETS.

☞ GET THE MODERN STYLES. Now opening, 1000 pieces of the most splendid English Tapestries ever shown in this market, by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

OIL CLOTH CARPETS,

In wide sheets and narrow widths—in the beautiful enameled finish, the most desirable and elegant goods made, for sale at manufacturers' prices by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover street, Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

CARPETS AT WHOLESALE.

☞ Cash purchasers are invited to examine our stock, which is very complete in all its varieties, NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston.

CARPETS AT RETAIL.

☞ We shall continue to supply our customers who are about furnishing or redecorating the floors of their dwellings, with carpets from all our departments. The most skillful upholsterers on hand to cut, sew, and fit Carpets when desired. NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover street, Boston.

ROYAL VELVET

AND MEDALION CARPETS—the finest things out for Parlors and Drawing Rooms—for sale by the

NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO.,
75 Hanover Street, Boston.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

A. A. PUTNAM,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
DANVERS.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence--No. 37 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods,
Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers square, opp. Congregational Church.
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feh13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

Boston Purchasing Agency.

THE special object of this Agency, is to make known through which non-residents can send to Boston and purchase any articles wanted for individual use, or for dealers' supplies, from a Shawl to a suit of Clothes, a Penknife to a Piano. For particulars of the Purchasing Agency, send for Circular to THOMAS DAVIS & Co., Advertising and General Business Agents, at HAPGOOD'S Gun Store, No. 15 Washington St., Boston. Citizens of Old Essex, try us. Services tendered gratis.

Best City reference given.

T. DAVIS & CO.
Oct 21—6w.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.

Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.

Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.

dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - - Salem.

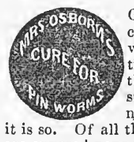
T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, Jannary 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st.

South Danvers, June 17. 1863. 3m

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.

South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	8 cts,
Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.
Hair Cutting,	15 cts,
Or 8 Tickets for $1.00.
Champooing,	15 cts.

Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

NEW PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,
FROM the best makers in the country—some very desirable and beautiful styles, and made in the strongest and best manner.
Also—French Albums, at low prices.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S
Remains in Verse and Prose, of Arthur Henry Hallam, with a preface and memoir; Reminiscences of Amherst College, by D. Hitchcock; Broken Columns; Pique, an English Novel; all the Weekly Papers.

FRANKLIN COAL.
JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.

He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.

He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.

All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late CattleShow. Prices reasonable.

BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.

ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,

SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.

OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.

Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.

Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.

For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.

☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & F. R. Railroad Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, September 23, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO,
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem
EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.

Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.

Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

WALKING MADE EASY.

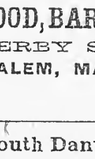
DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,

Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block

Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.

☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may



THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.

Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.

Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

HOW TO COLLECT AND OBSERVE INSECTS,
BY A. S. Packard, Jr., from the Report of the Maine Scientific Survey for 1862.—Price 25 cents.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

WHITE WARE.
WHITE Dining and Tea Ware, of the newest patterns—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
Oct. 24. 32 Front street.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.

And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,

And for sale by

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, ATKINSON'S Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street, at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, Jr., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co. 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George B. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y

Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assetts—$375,000.

Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej 620-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,

Photographs, Sphereotypes, Melainotypes, and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.
— TO —
LYNN & BOSTON
— BY —
OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.
W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays included.

Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving the office at 14 Brattle Street, at 8 15 A M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.

Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - 30 cents.

Gravesend, Woodend, and Central Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in addition to the old route, an Omnibus will leave South Danvers for Lynn, to connect with the steam and horse cars, 3 times daily,—Sundays excepted.—running through Gravesend and Woodend, to the Central R R Depot, and Horse Railroad Station, corner of Spring and Broad Streets; leaving South Danvers at 6 A M (connecting with the 7 10 steam cars for Boston), 10 A M (connecting with the 11.10 train), and 4 P M (connecting with the 5.30 train); and returning, leave Lynn from the Spring Street Station and Central R R Depot, at 8 A M, and 1 and 6 P M.

Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by horse cars, 30c.
" " " " steam cars, 35c.

Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.

Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS

Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.

Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.

South Danvers, Salem and Lynn Route.

THE subscriber having purchased of M A Shackley the Omnibus line running from Salem to Lynn, would announce that it will now leave the Stage Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, for Salem, at 7 30 A M, and 2 30 P M, and leave the Stage Office in Central St, Salem, at 8.30 A M, and 3 30 P M for Lynn. Returning will leave Lynn at 10 A M and 5 P M; and Salem for South Danvers at 11½ A M, and 6.15 P M.

Passengers between South Danvers and Salem will be called for by leaving orders at the offices

W. F. BURNHAM.
South Danvers, Oct 28, 1863.

CROUT & MUNROE'S
SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON
RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at 10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " " at 5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at 3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at 4 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.

Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street.
Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.

Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.

Smallest favors thankfully received.

South Danvers, august 26—tf

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM
EXPRESS.

Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.

OFFICES:
In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office. Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So. Danvers—Francis Daue & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible point in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1s8-tf

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7½ and 11 A M, and 1½ and 5 P M.

Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.

Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.

Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.

July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1863. NO.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD

Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square.

TERMS—Two Dollars a year.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

H. L. HADLEY,
LOCAL EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

HEIMSTREET'S
INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE.

But restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty,

promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 Broadway, N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary article ever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face and hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing beauty, imparting the marble purity of youth, and the distinguo appearance so inviting in the city belle of fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness from the skin, leaving the complexion fresh, transparent and smooth. It contains no material injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses and Opera Singers It is what every lady should have. Sold everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedent in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover-buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Coriander, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, public speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties.

Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find in these Bitters what they have so long looked for.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
Mhey cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer.

The following startling and emphatic statements can be seen at our office.

Letter of Rev E. F. Crane, Chaplain of the 107th New York Regiment:

Near Acquia Creek, March 4th, 1863.

Owing to the great exposure and terrible decomposition after the battle of Antietam, I was utterly prostrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepared by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise they gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost allowed me to join my regiment. * * * * * * I have since seen them used in many cases, and am free to say, for hospital or private purposes I know of nothing like them. Rev. E. F. Crane, Chaplain.

Letter from the Rev. N. E. Gilds, St. Clairsville, Pa.:

Gentlemen:—You were kind enough, on a former occasion to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for $3 50. My wife having derived so much benefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to continue them, and you will please send us six bottles more for the money inclosed.

I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. Gilds, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

Soldiers' Home, Superintendent's Office,
Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 15th, 1863.

* * * * * * *

I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvelous and gratifying.

Such a preparation as this is I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field.

G. W. Andrews, Superintendent.

Dr. W. A. Childs, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

Willard's Hotel,
Washington, D. C., May 22d, 1863.

Gentlemen:—We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.

Respectfully, Sykes, Chadwick & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c., &c.

Be sure that every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate label, with our private stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Sold by all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, and country dealers.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigor

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY.

☞ They should have Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test

Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.

George B. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.

For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.

Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, NOV'R 11, 1863.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Head-Quarters, Boston, Oct. 29, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 30.

The President of the United States, under date of October 17, 1863, has issued a call for 300,000 volunteers, to serve for three years or the War, but not exceeding three years; and the quota assigned to Massachusetts under this call amounts to 15,126. If this number is not raised by voluntary enlistment, a draft will be ordered to supply the deficiency, which draft will commence on the fifth day of January next.

The time for action is short, and the greatest activity and promptitude will be necessary to fulfil the demand of the Government before the time prescribed for commencing the draft. The Mayor and Aldermen of Cities, and the Selectmen of Towns, are again urgently requested to use their official and personal influence, and obtain the energetic co-operation of all whose hearts are in the work, to furnish their proportion of volunteers; to call public meetings, and adopt other efficient measures, to draw forth and stimulate the public interest in the cause.

The men to be raised under this call are to be enlisted into the United State service, for the various companies and regiments now in the field. The bounties will be the same as published in previous orders, namely, $50 from the State, and, in addition, $302 from the United States to new recruits, and $402 to those who have served at least nine months, and who shall enlist, either into old regiments or companies in the field, or into the veteran regiments or battalions now forming in this State.

The numbers which are assigned to each town, city and sub-district, according to the enrollment made by the U. S. Provost Marshals, are given below. If a draft should become necessary in January next, it will be likely to be made in the same proportions; and information has been received from the War Department that credits will be allowed, against such draft, for all enlistments which shall be made under the present call; and also for enlistments in the veteran regiments which are now organized for recruiting.

Major Clarke, U. S. A., (Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for Massachusetts, Headquarters at Boston,) is authorized to and will appoint the Mayors of Cities and Chairmen of Selectmen of Towns to act as recruiting officers for their several cities and towns, to recruit the quotas assigned to their several municipalities.

They will receive their authority from Major Clarke, and will be subject to such orders and regulations for the performance of their duties as he may issue. They will be entitled to all the privileges and subject to all the liabilities of other recruiting officers appointed by him under orders from the Provost Marshal General of the United States. The Mayors of Cities and Selectmen of Towns will cause to be made a Weekly Report on Saturday to the Adjutant General of the Commonwealth of the number of men enlisted in their respective Cities and Towns during each week.

To those who have been in the military service for at least nine months the opportunity is offered by the Commonwealth. The veteran organizations are—

The Second Regiment of Heavy Artillery, commanded by Colonel Franklo, headquarters at Readville;

The Twelfth Unattached Company of Heavy Artillery, commanded by Captain James M. Richardson, stationed at Salem and Beverly;

The First Battalion of Veteran Cavalry;

The New Battalion for the First Regiment of Massachusetts Cavalry, under the command of Colonel Horace B. Sargent, to take the place of the battalion at Port Royal, which has been permanently detached;

The First Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Sixth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be commanded by Colonel Griswood, headquarters at Readville, to be raised in Boston and vicinity;

The Second Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Seventh Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in Worcester and the four Western Counties, and to be commanded by Colonel William F. Bartlett, late of the Forty-Ninth Regiment;

The Third Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Eighth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in South Eastern Massachusetts, including the Old Colony, to be commanded by Col. Silas P. Richmond, late of the Third Regiment;

The Fourth Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Ninth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in the Counties of Essex and Middlesex, and to be under the command of Col. Gould, late Major of the Thirteenth Regiment.

To veterans enlisting, one month's pay will be paid in advance, on being mustered into service. The bounty and premium, in addition to the monthly pay, will be $62, on being mustered in, (making $75 paid in advance, besides the State bounty of $50;) $50 more in two months; $50 more in six months, $50 more after one year, $50 more after eighteen months, $50 more after two years, $50 more after two years and a half, and $40 more at the expiration of three year's service. And if the war should not last three years from the present time, still the whole bounty will be paid to those who shall have served to the end; and if they die in the service, their heirs will receive it.

To those who have never been in service, or who have served for less than nine months, and who shall enlist into old regiments in the field, $302 bounty will be paid in addition to the State bounty of $50, as follows:

One month's pay will be paid in advance on being mustered into service. The bounty and premium, in addition to the monthly pay will be $27 on being mustered in, (making $40 paid in advance, besides the State bounty of $50;) $40 more in two months, $40 more in six months, $40 more after one year, $40 more after eighteen months, $40 more after two years, and $75 more at the expiration of three years' service. And if the war should not last three years from the present time, still the whole bounty will be paid to those who shall have served to the end; and if they die in the service their heirs will receive it.

This Order does not change the provisions of General Order No. 27, current series from these headquarters, which Order was issued in regard to the enlistment of veteran organizations.

The Governor confidently expects that Massachusetts will, as she has ever done, furnish with exemplary promptness her contingent of troops in obedience to this, the latest call of the President. Let the whole people unite with fervid devotion to a cause sacred as all our hopes, and secure to the National Armies a reinforcement which will render them invincible, and assure them of victory, whenever and wherever they meet an enemy.

By order of His Excellency John A. Andrew, Governor and Commander-in-Chief, WILLIAM SCHOULER, Adj't-Gen'l.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Sub-District.
No. 1—Town of Edgartown,		30
1 " Tisbury,		20
1 " Chilmark,		11— 61
2 " Nantucket,		58
3 " Eastham,		10
3 " Wellfleet,		32
3 " Truro,		28
3 " Provincetown,		43—104
4 " Harwich,		50
4 " Chatham,		39
4 " Orleans,		19—108
5 " Yarmouth,		37
5 " Dennis,		52
5 " Brewster,		22—111
5 " Barnstable		— 62
6 " Sandwich,		48
7 " Falmouth,		33— 81
7 " Plymouth,		70
8 " Plympton,		10— 80
8 " Duxbury,		30
9 " Kingston,		18
9 " Halifax,		10
9 " Pembroke,		14— 72
9 " Freetown,		16
10 " Middleboro',		51
10 " Lakeville,		20— 87
10 " Wareham,		34
11 " Carver,		12
11 " Marion,		15
11 " Rochester,		23— 86
12 " Fairhaven		33
12 " Acushnet,		10
12 " Mattapoisett,		12— 55
13 City of Fall River, Wards 1, 2, and 3,		101
14 City of Fall River, Wards 4, 5, and 6,		101
15 City of New Bedford, Ward 1,		42
16 " " " " 2,		37
17 City of New Bedford, Wards 3, and 4,		66
18, City of New Bedford, Wards 5, and 6,		70
19 Town of Dartmouth,		51
20 " Westport,		26

DISTRICT No. 2.

Sub-District.
No. 1—Town of Taunton,		167
2 " Attleboro',		60
3 " Berkley,		8
4 " Dighton,		18
4 " Easton,		38
11 " Somerset,		24
12 " Swanzey,		17
13 " Braintree,		39
14 " Canton,		34
15 " Cohasset,		24
16 " Dorchester,		128
17 " Milton,		21
18 " Quincy,		49
19 " Randolph,		55
20 " Sharon,		14
21 " Stoughton,		60
22 " Weymouth,		121
23 " Abington,		91
24 " Bridgewater,		40
25 " East Bridgewater,		41
26 " West Bridgewater,		20
27 " N. Bridgewater,		93
28 " Hingham,		50
29 " Hanover,		22
30 " Hanson,		16
31 " Marshfield,		19
32 " Scituate,		28
33 " South Scituate,		21
34 " Hull,		4

DISTRICT No. 3.

Sub-District.
No. 1—City of Boston, Ward 4,		286
2 " " " 7,		200
3 " " " 8,		323
4 " " " 10,		223
5 " " " 11,		341
6 " " " 12,		488
7 " Roxbury, Ward 1,		110
8 " " " 2,		86
9 " " " 3,		102
10 " " " 4,		56
11 " " " 5,		66
12, Town of Brookline,		72

DISTRICT No. 4.

Sub-District.
No. 1—City of Boston, Wards 1, 2, 3, 5, 6 and 9,		1,539
2—City of Cambridge,		372
3—City of Chelsea, Town of North Chelsea, and Town of Winthrop,		187

DISTRICT No. 5.

Sub-District.
No. 1—Town of Amesbury,		44
2 " Beverly,		40
3 "		33
4 " Danvers,		59
5 " Essex,		23
6 " Georgetown,		27
7 " Gloucester,		59
8 "		83
9 " Groveland,		32
10 " Hamilton,		10
11 " Ipswich,		33
12 " Lynnfield,		10
13 " Manchester,		14
14 " Marblehead,		48
15 "		42
16 " Middleton,		12
17 " Nahant,		3
18 " Newbury,		20
19 " Rockport,		47
20 " Rowley,		14
21 " Salisbury,		44
22 " South Danvers,		59
23 " Swampscott,		15
24 " Topsfield,		17
25 " Wenham,		16
26 " West Newbury,		23
27 City of Lynn, Wards 1, 2 and 7,		25
28 " " " 3,		49
29 " " " 4,		74
30 " " " 5,		64
31 " " " 6,		52
32 City of Newburyport, Ward 1,		24
33 " " " 2,		19
34 " " " 3,		17
35 " " " 4,		21
36 " " " 5,		17
37 " " " 6,		19
38 City of Salem, Ward 1,		28
39 " " " 2,		28
40 " " " 3,		23
41 " " " 4,		27
42 " " " 5,		30
43 " " " 6,		24

DISTRICT No. 6.

Sub-District.
No. 1—City of Charlestown, Ward 1,		84
2 " " " 2,		99
3 " " " 3,		110
4 Town of Somerville, East of Central street,		70
5 Town of Somerville, West of Central street,		22
6 Town of Malden, East of Main street,		44
7 Town of Malden, West of Main street,		28
8 Town of Saugus,		25
9 " Melrose,		24
10 " Medford,		48
11 " West Cambridge,		22
12 " Belmont,		18
13 " Waltham,
14 " Woburn, (See No. 17,)
15 " Burlington and Lexington,		32
16 " Winchester,		17
17 " Woburn, (with No. 14, viz.: 29,)		52
18 " Stoneham,		57
19 " South Reading,		31
20 " Reading,		24
21 " North Reading,		14
22 " Wilmington,		10
23 " Billerica,		20
24 " Tewksbury,		38
25 " Andover,		22
26 " North Andover,		27
27 City of Lawrence, Wards 2, 3, and 5,		51
28 City of Lawrence, Wards 1, 4, and 6,		76
29 Town of Metuhen,		30
30 " Boxford,		13
31 " Bradford,		20
32 " Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 1,		122
33 " Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 2,		22
34 " Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 3,		17

DISTRICT No. 7.

Sub-District.
No. 1—Town of Acton,		17
2 " Ashby,		11
3 " Ashland,		22
4 " Bedford,		6
5 " Boxboro',		5
6 " Brighton,		43
7 " Carlisle,		6
8 " Chelmsford,		19
9 " Concord,		19
10 " Dracut,		22
11 " Dunstable,		6
12 " Dedham,		53
13 " Dover,		3
14 " Framingham,		52
15 " Groton,		34
16 " Holliston,		36
17 " Hopkinton,		50
18 " Lincoln,		11
19 " Littleton,		9
20 City of Lowell, Ward 1,		35
21 " " " 2,		48
22 " " " 3,		51
23 " " " 4,		62
24 " " " 5,		63
25 " " " 6,		31
26 " Natick,		24
27 " Needham,		23
30 " Needham,		28
31 " Pepperell,		18
32 " Sherburne,		14
33 " Shirley,		16
34 " Stow,		10
35 " Sudbury,		15
36 " Townsend,		30
37 " Tyngsboro',		7
38 " Watertown,		43
39 " Wayland,		10
40 " Weston,		16
41 " Westford,		12
42 " West Roxbury,		85
43 " Feltonville,		24

DISTRICT No. 8.

Sub-District.
No. 1—City of Worcester, Ward 1,		43
2 " " " 2,		42
3 " " " 3,		19
4 " " " 4,		44
5 " " " 5,		43
6 " " " 6,		45
7 " " " 7,		60
8 " " " 8,		51
9 Town of Blackstone,		55
10 " Auburn,		13
11 " Leicester,		26
12 " Shrewsbury,		18
13 " Boylston,		7
14 " West Boylston,		36
15 " Holden,		14
16 " Rutland,		7
17 " Paxton,		8
18 " Oakham,		10
19 " New Braintree,		7
20 " Brookfield,		35
21 " West Brookfield,		18
22 " North Brookfield,		28
23 " Warren,		24
24 " Spencer,		34
25 " Oxford,		39
26 " Charlton,		23
27 " Sturbridge,		19
28 " Dudley,		16
29 " Southbridge,		27
30 " Webster,		37
31 " Grafton,		43
32 " Millbury,		44
33 " Sutton,		22
34 " Northbridge,		33
35 " Milford,		129
36 " Upton,		25
37 " Northboro',		15
38 " Southboro',		17
39 " Westboro',		32
40 " Mendon,		15
41 " Uxbridge,		47
42 " Douglas,		23
43 " Walpole,		21
44 " Wrentham,		31
45 " Foxborough,		31
46 " Bellingham,		16
47 " Franklin,		22
47 " Medway,		28

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Sub-District.
No. 1—Town of Amherst,		44
2 " Ashburnham,		32
3 " Ashfield,		16
4 " Athol,		33
5 " Barre,		39
6 " Belchertown,		31
7 " Berlin,		14
8 " Bernardston,		11
9 " Bolton,		23
10 " Buckland,		28
11 " Charlemont,		10
12 " Chesterfield,		9
13 " Clinton,		44
14 " Colrain,		22
15 " Conway,		16
16 " Cummington,		13
17 " Dana,		7
18 " Deerfield,		41
19 " Easthampton,		32
20 " Enfield,		10
21 " Erving,		11
22 " Fitchburg,		120
23 " Gardner,		37
24 " Gill,		6
25 " Goshen,		3
26 " Granby,		13
27 " Greenfield,		44
28 " Greenwich,		7
29 " Hadley,		35
30 " Hardwick,		19
31 " Harvard,		17
32 " Hatfield,		22
33 " Hawley,		8
34 " Heath,		8
35 " Hubbardston,		18
36 " Huntington,		16
37 " Lancaster,		14
38 " Leominster,		39
39 " Leverett,		12
40 " Leyden,		8
41 " Lunenburg,		15
42 " Middlefield,		9
43 " Monroe,		4
44 " Montague,		14
45 " New Salem,
46 " Northampton,		109
47 " Northfield,		22
48 " Orange,		23
49 " Pelham,		11
50 " Petersham,		13
51 " Phillipston,		7
52 " Plainfield,		6
53 " Prescott,		9
54 " Princeton,		13
55 " Rowe,		6
56 " Royalston,		14
57 " Shelburne,		20
58 " Shutesbury,		8
59 " South Hadley,		26
60 " Southampton,		14
61 " Sterling,		22
62 " Sunderland,		6
63 " Templeton,		33
64 " Ware,		33
65 " Warwick,		11
66 " Wendell,		10
67 " Whately,		21
68 " Westhampton,		6
69 " Westminster,		14
70 " Williamsburg,		22
71 " Winchendon,		41
72 " Worthington,		10

DISTRICT. No. 10.

Sub-District.
No. 1—Town of Williamstown,		28
2 " New Ashfield,		2
3 " Lanesborough,		19
4 " Hancock,		10
5 " Adams,		95
6 " Clarksburg,		4
7 " Cheshire,		18
8 " Florida,		6
9 " Savoy,		9
10 " Pittsfield,		128
11 " Dalton		12
12 " Windsor,		8
13 " Hinsdale,		24
14 " Peru,		5
15 " Becket,		17
16 " Washington,		9
17 " Lenox,		23
18 " Richmond,		12
19 " Stockbridge		22
20 " West Stockbridge,		18
21 " Lee,		42
22 " Tyringham,		7
23 " Great Barrington,		38
24 " Monterey,		10
25 " Sandisfield,		16
26 " Otis,		13
27 " Alford,		7
28 " Egremont,		13
32 " Brimfield,		116
33 " Monson,		2
34 " Holland,		9
35 " Wales,		37
36 " Palmer,		22
37 " Wilbraham,		17
28 " Longmeadow,		62
39 City of Springfield, Ward 1,		166
40 Ward 2 & 3, S. of Main St.,		92
41 " 4 & 3, N. of Main St.,		62
42 " 5, Springfield,		94
43 " 6, 7 & 8, Springfield,		101
44 Town of Chicopee,		16
45 " Ludlow,		69
46 " Holyoke,		32
47 " West Springfield,		20
48 " Agawam,		17
49 " Southwick,		18
50 " Granville,		7
51 " Tolland,		72
52 " Westfield,		16
53 " Blandford,		6
54 " Montgomery,		9
55 " Russell,		17
56 " Chester,

[The acceptance with which our articles entitled "Life in the Saddle" and letters from other authors, have been received by many of our readers, who take an interest in the every day life of our young fellow sons who are in the army, makes the occasion for us to return our thanks to the different friends who receive these letters, for their favors in loaning us copies of them. They are written merely as plain narrations of exciting events as they transpire at the hour and on the spot of the observers and participators in them, for the eye and information alone of intimate friends, of course without that preparation and care, except in truthfulness, had the authors intended them for the public press.

As such, unadorned, they are received here with the greater interest, as being the naked truth of single and individual facts and incidents. The aggregation and combinations of such facts construct generalities, these generalities make history. Possibly therefore they may be of use to the future. Presenting to-day another of these letters from a gentleman who has expressed to his friends some chagrin or reluctance at their being published, we feel bound to say this much in justice of apology to him.—Ed.]

LIFE IN THE SADDLE.

On Picket at Sulphur Springs, Va.,
October 31st, 1863.

My Dear Tom,—As you see we are on picket again, after having had four days very comfortable rest in camp since our last duty of this kind. With our usual luck we had a heavy storm of rain last night, which has now, 12 M. cleared, and we again are cheered by the genial warmth of the sun. We came out from camp yesterday, relieving the 1st Penn. For the sake of the ride and observation I went with Capt. Adams, who has charge of the lower fords, Tant's and Fox's, where he was posting his men. On our return, we took a road which follows the course of the river (Rappahanock) only two or three rods from the river-bank.—When we had nearly reached Fox's ford we saw quite a number of the enemy, about 20 in all, whom we concluded to be their picket reserve; they were evidently cooking their dinner, their horses saddled, but wandering about the field, [illegible] This show that for lack of oats and corn they were obliged to adopt this course to keep their horses up. Although nearly within speaking distance they paid but little attention to us and did not offer to molest us. There is no hostile demonstration made now on either side, as both parties feel that they are posted merely for observation and guard and not to fight.

I will now, as I promised, give you some account of the part our regiment took in the Bristow fight. On Tuesday, the day after the Sulphur Springs affair, the regiment was drawn in from picket and rejoined the brigade at Liberty or four miles east of Fayetteville. Here forage and rations were obtained, and about 3 o'clock the whole brigade moved off, marching, with an occasional halt, until 12 o'clock. Where we were then I knew not. The only point I recognized was, at 5 o'clock, when we crossed the Pike road from Warrenton to Falmouth; and about 8 o'clock we crossed the R. R. branch to Warrenton. The last four or five miles of that march was most singular in its appearance; about a quarter of a mile to our right apparently, there was another column marching, probably infantry and their wagon train. The former had stopped by the side of the road and built fires; and for miles in advance and to the rear could be seen a long line of flame on our left also; far off in the distance another line of flame could be distinguished, which I think we rightly took to be the rebel camp fires. To add to this far reaching and circumambient illumination, the men in our line of march shall now forget the peculiar app and glariness presented on this n

About 11 or 12 at night we h welcome order to go into cam be ready at daylight to proce march. In the morning the c astir before daylight; but th none too early, for the momen was fairly light, musket firing w close to our camp in front an left, with very soon after heav work. Our regiment was or support Martin's battery, wh parked close by us, just outsi woods in which we were. Th had stealthily got so near to u battery did not move more th or thirty rods from the camp b took up a position and shelled on our left. In about two hou ing slackened, and it was ev rebels had given up the attack
During this interval the batter up, and with our regiment, mo the road, leading, as I then through a one-horse town—"A to Catlett's Station. After adv this road about two miles, two the battery, and two squadro regiment as support, were se manœuvre, whilst the infantry artillery were withdrawn. On turn march from this duty, threw out a line of skirmish belt of woods running parall road, a hundred yards from kept up a constant fire upon they passed along the road, was that the men in our regi wounded. However they wer in getting off so easily. O men received a hit by a bal its immediate effect to the m quence to the ball, was s wonderful, rather. He was solid shot, the force of whic partially spent by hitting se before reaching him. The be him from his horse, crushin badly, apparently without fur as he got up and mounted with some assistance, and rod curious part is, that he stopp and it fell with him to the gr

On reaching a point about Catlett's, a line of battle was cavalry, infantry, and artille attack of the enemy awaite invited, by our artillery occasi ing upon them. But they tack, and after about an hou first the artillery (with the our battery, Martin's,) then next our battery, and last alry, moved away and proc
the line of the railroad un five hours. It was about 10 we left Catlett's. The marc fantry was conducted as i
there is danger of attack, flankers on either side, stron side of the expected attack, of railroad. Then came the of infantry, then the artill cavalry bringing up the rear.
six miles we marched along without interruption. Dr. W ed me to go forward to th in which our wounded men and see if they required any just reached them, when was heard in front and skir menced quite close to us, striking quite near us. Th infantry near by immedi making ready for the att once turned the ambulan drove them back, but, we find that our column had
It proved that it had been the railroad to the right; s come up to the point of att of a belt of woods. Wh to this turn-off, our regi turning, and, I at once jo proceeding about a quarte hind the woods, we again road, and the battery w into position, and our regi
Capt. Sargent's squadron, behind to support it.
squadrons had been detac with Col. Gregg's briga which guarded the left fla battle. Our battery at o this point became immedi centre of the fight,—the the infantry fighting be west side of the railroad front of our battery, and the five field pieces wer the rebels, then brought just behind us. The rebe pieces so suddenly that the rammer left in

...nnued for about two hours very briskly, the ...emy having been driven from their first posi... with the loss of one battery of five field ...ces and about five hundred men, our prison... For an hour there was a lull; when just ... sunset the rebs got another battery in posi...n and opened as suddenly and fiercely as ...ey did before at Sulphur Springs. At this ...ne it was reported they were making a flank ...ovement on the left and rear, and our guns ...hich were before pointing West, were wheeled ...out and pointed South East, and so remained ...aiting an attack for an hour. During this ...me it seemed to us as though we were sur...ounded; but no attack was made and the or...er soon came to move off by the road which ...llows the line of the railroad. We did so ...nd continued on the line of march steadily ...ntil 2 o'clock in the morning when we reached ...entreville and went into camp. Our regiment ...ffered no loss in these last engagements, not...withstanding they were so much exposed to ...hot and shell. Most of the latter, however, ...urst to our right and rear.

During the fight the hospital which was es...ablished in a barn east of the railroad had to ...e moved in a great hurry on account of the ...ank movements that were attempted, the reb...l skirmishers coming in sight just as the am...bulances had got loaded and were moving off. They were sent to Brentsville. Having no ...wounded in my own regiment, I assisted some...what in loading the infantry wounded into the ...ambulances, picking them up on the field; in ...oing which I met my friend John Perry, who ...you will recollect came out nearly the same ...time that I did, as assistant surgeon in the 20th ...infantry. He was very sad at the loss of Col. ...Mallon who had been killed in this fight. The ...Colonel was acting commander of the brigade ...to which the 20th is attached. The prisoners ...who were taken in this fight were said to have ...given themselves up most readily, particularly ...those who belonged to the battery, for it was ...taken by our infantry line of skirmishers, and ...those men who remained by two guns made no ...defence whatever, and were said even to have ...assisted our men in bringing the guns in.—...These prisoners were wretchedly clad and dis...gustingly dirty. The notes I have already sent ...you I think give you a sufficient idea of our ...movements since the above fight. It was the ...best thing in shape of a battle that I have been ...in or seen; and I think that the newspaper ac...counts of the skill and coolness, both of officers ...and men, with which it was conducted are not ...exaggerated accounts. The letters for mailing ...are called for, and I must stop.

Your affectionate brother,

G.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, NOV'R 11, 1863.

PROGRESS.

In going back to our school days and marking the change in the general condition of things, which has transpired in certain localities since those halcyon days, we discover what improvement and industry has produced in the way of progress in business and wealth in our immediate vicinity. We have in our eye a certain locality which has wonderfully changed since the days when we plodded daily through Dark Lane or Paradise, to the old North ...MONARY Sch'm. Blessed old schoolhouse, and blessed old master, who therein gave instruction and excellent advice to those scholars who went in and out before him, and received information which has done much to advance them since those days. Alas! alas! those happy days have passed, and our kind old Teacher stands at a ripe old age, surrounded with those honors, and ennobled and blessed by those reflections which naturally arise from a life well spent. May his last days be as happy as his former have been useful, in a particular manner, to those scholars who received instruction at his hand in the old North School, Salem. The humble writer will ever remember him with gratitude, as one of his best friends. May the good old man pass away from this transitory and troublous state of being, with as little of pain and suffering as possible, when it shall please Heaven to take him from this world, and may his soul rest in perfected bliss through the endless ages of eternity.

What a lesson is taught those of us who have passed half a century on earth, when we recur to the days when we attended school. How many have since passed "to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returns?" How many sleep beneath the foaming billows of the main? How many sleep upon the battle-field ... Archangel shall summon them to judgment? and then what an almost infinite variety of conditions to those who still linger on this earthly ball! Thanks to the good city of Salem for rearing on the same spot another splendid structure for the education of the children of the location. May God prosper and extend its blessings, and may the same halo of blessedness to the young continue, as of yore, to associate itself with this sacred old spot "to the last syllable of recorded time."

In those days we write of, as we plodded daily to school over Fry's Bridge, through Dark Lane, we passed no single dwelling house until we arrived within stone's throw of the schoolhouse at the foot of School street. How changed the scene! Passing by to-day many snug and commodious dwelling places and striking improvements in the land bordering upon old Dark Lane, we at length arrive at the neat and beautiful homestead of Mr. WILLIAM MALOON, at the head of School street, on the left. We are not well enough acquainted with all the improvements surrounding Mr. M.'s house, and shall therefore pass it by with the observation, that all he has done there redounds to his own credit and sheds benefit to his neighborhood.

On the opposite side, upon a slight eminence, which was but a profitless stubble in the days we passed it to Master DODGE's school, is now situated the homestead of General GEORGE DEVEREUX. This and its improvements does also credit to its owner, and the change in the situation of the locality is strikingly for the better, since our days of childhood. We soon pass Hon. WM. D. NORTHEND's dwelling place on the left, which is both neat and commodious and is a great improvement to olden times. But away over to the Northwest from here, stands the beautiful establishment of Hon. ERRN S. POOR. We begun this, not to describe but only to imperfectly notice, hence we will not attempt to do more than to say that everything around and associated with Mr. P.'s homestead is neat and excellently adapted to the purposes for which they were calculated, and all do great credit to their generous owner, and that the change thus effected reflects not only credit on Mr. P., but extends many advantages to the neighborhood around.

We have passed now as far as the old North School by the old Dark Lane. We will now start again from Fry's Bridge, by the way of Paradise. We soon come to the great tanning and currying establishment of Mr. THOMAS LOOBY, on the right, even before you leave the bridge, and then his house upon the hill as you bend towards the Paradise road, now called Mason street. Mr. L. carries on a great business in tanning and currying, and employs many workmen. But before we go farther, let us say that when we went to school through Paradise, there was only a small house, which now stands opposite D. C. HASKELL's currying shop on the left, going east; another a little farther on on the left, and then the old Ropes' House a little farther on still, on the same side; these, we believe, were all to Buffum St.

We will now very imperfectly pass in review what a change has transpired in this region since our school days. What was then only a pasture for the Friends' horses (everybody, old enough, remembers Quaker Pasture,) is now become a thriving and prosperous settlement under the name of Carltonville, which name it derives from the enterprising and persevering gentleman who first put that ball in motion which has produced the great change in this vicinity which now shows itself in comparison to its condition forty-five years ago.

Beside the dwelling houses, the stores and the mechanic shops about this location, we see, among the others, one very extensive tanning and currying establishment—that of Mr. JOHN GINNEY. We know not how many, but are aware that he has in his employ a large number of hands. This is one of the largest establishments of the kind in the vicinity. Mr. G. is one of those generous, enterprising, public spirited and liberal persons who never undertakes anything but what he carries through, and whose business course sheds a good influence among his neighbors and extends in its good effects to the whole region around about. Mr. G.'s house, nearly opposite his business establishment, is really beautiful. Everything about it is neatly arranged and does credit to its owner.

We must now leave Carltonville and go back on to Mason street a moment or two. We do not leave because there is nothing more to write about, but that we find we have undertaken too much for one article and must consequently cut this short.

On Mason street, just east from GINNEY's, we find D. C. HASKELL's tanning and currying establishment. Here are employed a goodly number of men, and here, too, we find an excellent and whole-souled owner and employer, who stands ever ready to aid the worthy and enhance the public good. To this truth can we attest upon personal knowledge and experience. He has associated with him in business another whole-souled, jovial, genial and generous friend to all good fellows, L. B. MORSE. This gentleman never spoils a joke for relation's sake, and never looks upon misfortune but with pity and frequently with generous and substantial aid.

A few rods to the east of Mr. HASKELL's, on the right, stands an extensive establishment, used at this time as a manufactory of Kerosene oil. This establishment was built originally for the manufacture of resin oil and progressed with success until the commencement of the war, which cut off the means of procuring resin from the South. One of our associates of the old North School holds a prominent position at this place, and is a faithful, capable and honest employee for the interest of those worthy gentlemen who constitute the management of the manufactory, and with integrity to all who have dealings with him.

We must close this for to-day, asking the public indulgence for so far trespassing upon its patience upon a theme which may not (however proper) take fast hold enough of the public interest to command very general attention in the present unsettled condition of our common country.

H.

CHAS. HENRY KIMBALL.

MR. EDITOR,—Permit us to occupy a small space in your columns, for the purpose of recording the demise of a most estimable young man.

When death enters a neighborhood, the people mourn; especially when the most lively,—those who have been its brightest ornaments, are stricken down.

Charles Henry Kimball is no more.—He has lived among us from boyhood. We have known him long and well. We ... with close attention. We have noticed his aim has always been upwards. He has always striven to shun those places of dissipation and vice, into which thousands of young men so recklessly plunge. He established a character worthy of imitation.

An ardent love of country caused him to enlist in the ranks of those who were willing to sacrifice their lives, rather than see the Union dissevered. Being exposed to the inclemency of the weather, while on an expedition, he took a severe cold, which ended in consumption and death. On account of sickness he received his discharge, and came home in advance of his regiment. Relatives and friends bid him a cordial welcome, hoping that a change of climate and rest from military duty, might restore him to perfect health. But alas! they were doomed to see their brightest anticipations blasted. The best medical assistance was obtained, but of no avail. He gradually grew weaker, retaining his senses to the end.

In his departure, society has lost one of its brightest ornaments. An extensive circle of relatives and friends mourn his early death.

Rest, soldier, in thy narrow house!! The thunder of battle may break above thy head but it cannot disturb thy long repose. Thy toils of war are all ended; thy days of labor are all over; thou hast gone

"to join
The innumerable caravan, that moves
To the pale realms of shade, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of death."

Affectionate son, kind brother, true friend, farewell!!

OBITUARY.

The recent decease of two gentlemen, citizens of this place, Dr. DANIEL C. PERKINS and JOHN B. PEABODY, Esq., both of whom have occupied prominent social and official positions in the community in which they lived, seems to demand something more than a passing notice in the columns of this paper. We think we cannot better meet the expectations of their friends and acquaintances, than by giving a short sketch of the early history and professional career of each.

Dr. Perkins was born in Royalston, in Worcester County, and was the second son of Rev. Ebenezer Perkins, for many years a settled clergyman of that place. It being the intention of his father to give him a liberal education, he was placed, in the Spring of 1842, at the Academy in Keene, N. H., where he remained until, in September, 1844, he was admitted to the Freshman Class of Amherest College. Here he continued to pursue his studies with some interruptions for about two years, when impaired health compelled him to leave college. His ardent nature could not endure the delay which he thus suffered in preparing himself to enter upon the active duties of life; so that, as soon as he became able, he resolved to enter at once upon the study of medicine, his chosen profession. He attended his first course of lectures at one of the smaller institutions of New England, but finally entered the Medical School connected with Harvard University. Determined to make the most of his opportunities, he devoted himself to study with unusual assiduity. So close was his application, says a relative, that he scarcely gave himself time to learn the current news of the day. In due time he received his degree as Doctor of Medicine, his diploma bearing date March 8th, 1850. For a short time he resided as a physician at Springfield, but, a favorable opening occurring, he soon removed to Enfield. Here he endured the fatigues of a most laborious practice until November, 1854, when circumstances induced him to seek a wider and more lucrative sphere. Enthusiastically fond of his profession, he could not think of doing this until he had availed himself of all the aids which the country could afford. Rather against the advice of his friends, he concluded to attend an additional course at Philadelphia, that great centre of medical instruction and practice. He then, in August, 1855, took up his residence in this place.

Modest and unassuming, the profession also being already ably filled, his progress was slow, and he often chafed at his forced inaction. But if his progress was slow, it was none the less sure, his admirable qualities of head and heart were steadily making their way into the good graces of our citizens. In the fall of 1860 he was happily married, and now he began to reap the reward of all his laborious preparation. His practice had largely, and of late rapidly increased, the world seemed bright before him for a brilliant career of usefulness, when he was suddenly cut off by the untimely hand of Death, with scarcely a warning to his friends. At the time of his decease he was filling the offices of Chairman of the Board of Health and member of the School Committee. He was a firm friend of Education, and his associates on the latter board will miss in him a wise counsellor, who faithfully and ably performed its duties.

It would ill become one not of Dr. Perkins's profession to judge of his skill as a physician, but we have high testimony of eminent cotemporaries of his, who had learned to love and respect him. At Philadelphia he had devoted himself especially to the study of surgery, and in repeated instances has given proofs of high attainments in this department of his art. But he did not seem to take a mere mercenary view of his profession; he regarded it as a great science, adapted to the alleviation of human suffering, and fit to occupy the attention of the keenest intellect. Therefore he faithfully kept up with the literature of this and kindred sciences, and continued studiously, to the last, to enrich his own mind out of its treasuries of knowledge.

We turn now to one whom we can claim as a native townsman. Mr. PEABODY was born at Danversport, but very early in life removed, with his parents, to this village. His father, Mr. John Peabody, will be well remembered as a most estimable citizen, of decided force of character. We knew Mr. Peabody as a boy at school of most brilliant parts, so as to be marked among his fellows and the favorite of his teachers. As he grew up his intellectual superiority showed him to be one eminently well filled to finish his education in the higher seminaries of learning. This induced his parents to send him away from home, at an early age, to a school, where he he commenced acquiring the rudiments of a classical education. He had made considerable progress, and was, as we learn, destined to enter college, when the sickness and death of his father caused a change in the plans of his life. The motives which decided him to this were most honorable. He could not think of being so long dependent on the assistance of others, though offers of assistance were pressed upon him; much less could he consent to see a widowed mother deprived of any of the comforts of life for his sake. He turned his attention to business, and when quite a young man entered into a partnership with Mr. A. P. Phillips.

In this sphere of life, with his education and business capacity, he might undoubtedly have acquired wealth and an honorable name, but after a few years it was manifest that the decided bent of his mind was toward more intellectual pursuits. Accordingly he gladly embraced a flattering offer made him, and in the fall of 1850 commenced the study of the law in the office of Messrs. Northend and Choate, in Salem, was admitted to practice at the November term, 1853, of the Supreme Judicial Court, for this county, and soon after formed a partnership in the practice of his profession, which continued during the remainder of his life. At the Bar, Mr. Peabody fully justified the expectations that had been formed of him. His mind easily grasped the great principles of Law, and he acquired at once a respectable position among his brethren. His business experience and his well known integrity enabled him to secure a large share of those employments which usually fall to the younger members of the profession, affording him a stepping-stone to more profitable practice. The resolutions of the Essex Bar upon the occasion of his death, which are appended to this article, well and honorably show in what estimation he was held by them.

Having married, and surrounded by a large circle of friends, Mr. Peabody's social qualities led him to take a large interest in whatever concerned his native town. He was frequently called upon to fill offices of trust and responsibility, was repeatedly a member of the School Committee, and of the Committee and Trustees of the Peabody Institute. He also acted for several years as the legal adviser of the town. Generosity formed a most prominent and noble trait in his character, and none in need of assistance ever applied to him in vain. But that friendly voice is hushed, and that manly form will be seen by us no more.

Not the least interesting circumstance in regard to these two men, is their firm friendship for each other in life, and in death they were not divided. Their early departure, in the prime of life, will be deeply felt in this community—it has left an aching void in many hearts which time only can replace.

The following are the resolutions above referred to:—

Whereas, Mr. JOHN B. PEABODY, of South Danvers, a member of this bar, has been suddenly taken from the scene of his earthly labors;—now, in memory of the more than fraternal relations he bore to us as a lawyer, and in token of our appreciation of his character and worth as a man,

Resolved, That we have been deeply pained at the tidings of his death; cut off as he has been in the full maturity of his power, and before he had reached the meridian of life. We had hoped long to have seen him at this bar, of which he was a useful and respected member; to have long enjoyed his pleasant companionship and judicious counsel; but an allwise Providence has ordered otherwise; and while we sincerely mourn our loss, we humbly submit to its decree.

Resolved, That we knew our deceased brother as a laborious, accurate, and faithful lawyer, high-minded, honorable, and true in his practice; an upright and honest man, a genial and manly companion, and a warm and sincere friend. Not only in the walks of professional life will his death be felt, but the community in which he lived and illustrated the virtues of a good citizen, have cause to mourn his untimely death.

Resolved, That we tender to the family of our deceased brother, our heartfelt sympathy in ... hours of distress; and that the Supreme Judicial Court, now in session, be requested to enter these resolutions upon the records of the Court.

☞ We invite attention to the card, published in another column, of Dr. J. M. GROSVENOR. Dr. Grosvenor is a recent graduate of the medical college at Hanover, N. H., and son of Dr. D. A. GROSVENOR of Danvers, whose long and successful practice in that town is well known to the public. The young Doctor has taken high rank as a student, and has already, in a few instances, evinced skill in his profession and given promise of future success. Our town, so unfortunate the last year in the loss of its physicians, affords a field for the labors of "A wise physician skilled our wounds to heal," and we sincerely hope, as we can scarcely doubt, that Dr. Grosvenor, who has cast his lot among our people, may prove the friend and physician we need.

LADIES' OYSTER SALOON.—R. W. Wilkinson is now prepared to open an oyster saloon, (similar to Rogers' in Salem). This will be good news for our citizens, who have long wished for such a place in this town.

☞ Don't forget the Methodist Festival which takes place to-night. A good place to invest a quarter, for when you get there you will find good quarters.

☞ Dr. S. F. Batchelder as will be seen by his card, has taken up his abode with us. Dr. B comes well recommended, and we wish him success.

☞ A good chance is offered to purchase some wood and timber land, situated in Pilfershire, in this town. See advertisement.

VOTE OF MASSACHUSETTS.—In three hundred and twenty towns the result of the vote for Governor is as follows: Andrew, 69,342; Paine, 28,590. Plurality for Andrew, 40,752.

COUNTY OF ESSEX.

	Andrew.	Paine.
Amesbury,	257	106
Andover,	446	81
Beverly,	411	87
Boxford,	84	29
Bradford,	133	70
Danvers,	270	47
Essex,	181	29
Georgetown,	194	79
Gloucester,	481	96
Groveland,	142	31
Hamilton,	56	14
Haverhill,	685	202
Ipswich,	193	96
Lawrence,	617	367
Lynn,	1038	261
Lynnfield,	65	14
Manchester,	112	36
Marblehead,	507	517
Methuen,	186	96
Middleton,	71	7
Nahant,	19	9
Newbury,	67	25
Newburyport,	685	380
North Andover,	110	74
Rockport,	328	140
Rowley,	94	73
Salem,	1226	421
Salisbury,	218	35
Saugus,	155	70
South Danvers,	316	41
Swampscott,	101	26
Topsfield,	90	49
Wenham,	68	4
West Newbury,	126	56
Total, 34 towns,	9743	3668

ESSEX COUNTY REPRESENTATIVES.

Essex county sends thirty-one Representatives to the Legislature, and they are all Republicans. They are as follows:—

Dist. 1—Amesbury, Salisbury, Newburyport, 6th ward, 2. James D. Pike and Aaron Morrill, Jr.
2—Andover, 1. George Foster.
3—Beverly, Wenham, Topsfield. Benj D. Grant and Nathaniel Conant.
4—Danvers, 1. Charles P. Preston.
5—Essex and Manchester. Nehemiah Burnham.
6—Georgetown, Groveland, 1. Rev. Charles Beecher.
7—Gloucester, 2. Benj. H. Smith and Charles Fitz.
8—Haverhill, 2. F. J. Stevens and Charles G. Burnham.
9—Ipswich, Hamilton, 1. William Heard.
10—Lawrence, 3d ward, 4th ward, 1. Thomas A. Parsons.
11—Lawrence, 1st ward, 2d ward, 6th ward, 1. Lemuel A. Bishop.
12—Lynn, 2d ward, 5th ward, 1. Stephen. N. Richardson.
13—Lynn, 1st ward, 6th ward, 7th ward, 1. John F. Brown.
14—Marblehead, Salem 5th ward, 2. Charles W. Palfray and George W. Patch.
15—Methuen, Lawrence, 5th ward, 1. J. Emerson, Jr.
16—Nahant, Lynn, 4th ward, 1. S. J. Roney.
17—Newbury, W. Newbury, Rowley, 1. Eben P. Stanwood.
18—Newburyport, 1st ward, 2d ward, 1. George Goodwin.
19—Newburyport, 3d ward, 4th ward, 5th ward, 1. Albert W. Stevens.
20—Bradford, North Andover, Boxford, 1. Jefferson Kimball.
21—Rockport, 1. ——Baker.
22—Salem, 1st ward, 3d ward, 1. Thomas H. Prime.
23—Salem, 2d ward, 4th ward, 6th ward, 2. Nathaniel J. Holden and George F. Brown.
24—Saugus, Lynnfield, Middleton, 1. Charles W. Newhall.
25—South Danvers, 1. William H. Little.

☞ The results of the fall elections should be sufficient for all parties. They should teach the Democrats that their organization is dead. It long since became demoralized, and has now been routed and driven from the field. It has no platform of principles upon which it can look for guidance; and in its every limb is paralyzed beyond recovery. If those who belonged to that party accept the fact of its death, and reorganize on a basis that shall aim at undeviating loyalty to the government, determined adherence to the Union, continued support of the rights of the States, and the adoption of broad American principles—the protection of the continent from European encroachments, and its full redemption from slavery and despotism, they may have a resurrection. If not, they have passed to the shades, where lie in death the wrecks of the Federal, the Whig, and the American parties; and all future voting of their ticket will be as senseless as was the voting for Daniel Webster in 1852, after he was dead.—Newburyport Herald.

THE EMPRESS EUGENIE has lately been skirting the Mediterranean in her yacht, stopping here and there to visit her friends or gratify her curiosity. She went as far as Lisbon, where she arrived on the 6th of October, to congratulate the young king of Portugal upon the birth of an heir to his throne. The yacht was visited by the king, Don Luis, and his father, Don Fernando. Her Majesty landed in the evening, and went for a short time to the palace of Ajuda. Two days after, on arriving at Cadiz, Her Majesty went to Seville, as has been mentioned, and visited the cathedral, the Alcazar, the ruins of Italica, and several quarters of the town, both Moorish and Andalusian.—Her Majesty preserved the strictest incognito, refusing all official escort, and wore the Spanish costume of that part of the country, the long black veil, high comb, long gold pins with large knobs at the end in the hair, embroidered corsage, wide skirt and fan.

IPSWICH—Railroad Project.—We understand that a movement is on foot for a branch railroad from Ipswich to Topsfield to connect with the Boston and Maine, and the legislature will be petitioned to grant a charter to that effect.—Some $20,000 is already pledged towards the stock.—Beverly Citizen.

THE HORSE CARS.

MR. EDITOR,—Perhaps you do not know it, but it is true that there is a great deal of complaint about the cars recently put upon the street railroad.—They are narrow and contracted every way. It seems to the passengers that they have all the disadvantages, without the advantages of the old omnibuses.

It is very likely that these cars were procured from laudable motives on the part of the company, as they probably intended to save money to the corporation. If so we fear they will find it a false economy, as they will lose by the non-payment of fares more than they will gain by dispensing with a conductor.—None of the cars put upon the road have given so good satisfaction as Nos. 12 and 13. These cars must be profitable to the road on account of their capacity to take a large number of passengers. They are roomy, and at a time of a rush of passengers they seem sufficient to take all that come. The increase of travel on the road, which is sure to come, will require more of such cars as these. The interest of the road is the affair of the proprietors, but we believe this will be best promoted by the use of large cars and accommodating conductors. Perhaps the government of the corporation will see things in the same light before Thanksgiving Day.

AN AGED CITIZEN DEPARTED.—In our obituary column will be found the death of Deacon JOHNATHAN PERLEY, who died in this city on Saturday last, in the 86th year of his age. Deacon Perley was a man of the strictest honesty and integrity of character, faithful to all of the numerous trusts which have from time to time been reposed in him, and universally respected and esteemed in this community where he lived so long without reproach.—For 35 years he held the office of Assessor, commencing his duties in this capacity, in 1821, (fifteen years before the town government changed to the city organization,) and discharging them till the spring of 1856. During the earlier part of his labors in this capacity he performed the writing of the board, which, with his very legible and handsome signature of that time, may still be seen among the Assessors' records.—Gaz.

☞ The Army and Navy Journal gives, in tabular form, a statement of the volunteers furnished by all the Free States, except California, and by Missouri and Kentucky, for the Union armies up to this time. The tables are made up from official returns. Sixteen Free States and two Slave States have sent to the field 1,276 246 volunteers; of these, 1,068.769 were three years men. New York has furnished 222,836 volunteers, of which 30,131 were two years and 15,922 three months men. Illinois has sent out 135,440 volunteers; Massachusetts, 71,038. Kentucky has contributed 43,098 men, and Missouri 37,947.

☞ A London correspondent of the New York Herald says that Nathaniel Hawthorne has made himself everlastingly hated in England by his severe pictures of English women. He has but paid the first instalment on the debt that we owe them for their carricatures of American society—the slanders of the Trollones and Dickenses.

☞ President Lincoln has decided that payment of $300 commutation fee exempts the person from draft for three years. This is contrary to the opinion of Provost Marshal General Fry, but exactly according to Hon Caleb Cushing's written opinion, who proved to be correct on every point.

☞ We would direct attention to General Order, No. 30, published on the first page of this issue. The government needs men; and everything which the proper authorities of Danvers and South Danvers can do between now and the 6th of January to promote volunteering, ought to be done, and no doubt will be.

☞ The latest returns from New York show more than thirty thousand majority for the Union ticket, with a prospect of its reaching fifty thousand. The World newspaper says the democratic party has lost a political Chickamauga but hopes to retain Chattanooga.

NEW MILLINERY STORE.—REITH & Co. have opened a new millinery store at 188 Essex street, (this side of James F. Almy's,) and are now opening a beautiful stock of rich Millinery Goods, consisting of bonnet hats, ribbon flowers, etc., in the latest styles.

☞ Maryland has declared in her election for the administration. Three representatives out of five, and possibly more, are Union men; among them are Winter Davis and Frank Thomas, who are full Republicans, earnest emancipationists.

☞ Hon. John B. Alley has our thanks for a full supply of Congressional documents.

☞ Gen. Butler voted the entire Republican ticket, at Lowell, on Tuesday.

RESULTS OF THE DRAFT.—Provost Marshal, Capt. D. H. Johnson Jr., has made a statement showing the results of the draft in our District, the Fifth, as follows:—

Drafted men who responded personally,	169
Paid commutation money,	357
Furnished substitutes,	245
Enlisted in Navy since draft,	21
Result of the draft,	792
At sea, and in foreign countries,	61
Deserters,	78
Exemptions under Sec. 2 of the Enrolment Act, together with physical disabilities	1,846
	2,777

Of those who failed to report 10 were from Danvers, 6 of whom enlisted in the navy since the draft, and 1 at sea; 9 from South Danvers, 1 at sea and 1 enlisted in the navy.

The Provost Marshal enlisted 245 substitutes and delivered them at Long Island, Boston Harbor, without losing a man.

☞ The Horse Railroad is now completed as far as Elliot street in Beverly, which, for the present, will be the terminus, where connection may be had with South Danvers without much trouble. These cars are very convenient, as we had occasion to personally demonstrate the other evening, when we left Salem at half past seven o'clock in the evening, heard Miss Emily Shaw read, in her fine style, one or two selections at the Town Hall in Beverly, and were comfortably seated at home shortly after nine o'clock, reading the evening papers. The travel on the Beverly line is good, averaging 75 per day.—Salem Gazette.

☞ The fourteen cities of Massachusetts all went Republican on Tuesday, and all the towns did the same but six. Marlboro' and Holliston were unanimously Republican; Groton, which has had the honor of furnishing one of the very few democratic governors the Massachusetts ever had, give but one democratic vote, while Natick, the residence of Senator Wilson, elects one of the dozen democrats who will grace the Representative hall whether as pall bearers for the past, or apostles for the future, it is not yet determined.—Newburyport Herald.

LUXURY.—To stop into Heylingberg's Hair Dressing Saloon, when the proprietor and his assistant are always on hand to do their work with neatness and dispatch. As to dyeing the hair and whiskers, they connot be beat; in few words they are the best barbers in town.

STOLEN.—Mr. F. K. Pemberton of this town had a valuable wolf skin robe stolen from his buggy, while visiting Marblehead recently.

CARPETS.—Those wanting to furnish or decorate their dwellings with Carpets, should read the advertisement in our paper of the New England Carpet Company.

LOWELL is to build a granite monument to the memory of the first two men from that city who fell in this war—Ladd and Whitney, who were killed in Baltimore in passing through there, on the 19th April, 1861 on their way to defend the capital.

☞ At the Boston Theatre, Edwin Booth is in the middle of a highly successful engagement. He is ably supported by the excellent company there.

The people's favorite, John E. Owens, is at the Howard. His impersonations are unequalled.

☞ The new car factory, to which we ... before alluded, is to be located (as the Observer states,) on Bridge street, near Osgood's mill. The heretofore unoccupied lands of that vicinity afford good facilities and convenience for manufacturing purposes, and we have heard that the establishment of other manufactories there has received and is receiving the consideration of capitalists.

☞ It is announced in English papers that the Princess of Wales is expected to become a mother in the month of March.

☞ The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong nor riches to men of understanding.

☞ Just received a beautiful assortment of Ball Back Combs, in amber, Brazilian shell and horn, of a superior quality, also Cuir Colored Neck Ties for Ladies, Leather Bags, Scarf Pins in "Ocenite of Silver." These goods were purchased expressly for us in Boston and are entirely new. Also open to-day "Coat Sleeves" of entirely new patterns and design. Also a fine lot of White Kids, just received at BROWNING & LONG'S.

Festival!

The Ladies connected with M. E. Church and Congregation in South Danvers, will hold a SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT in the Vestry of the M. E. Church, this (Wednesday) evening, November 11th.

Brief interesting addresses will be delivered by Rev. Wm. M. Barber of So. Danvers, Rev. G. F. Cox of Salem, Rev. S. Kelley of Lynn, and Rev. N. E. Cobleigh, D. D., of Boston, Editor of Zion's Herald and Journal.

The C. O. Glee Club have engaged for the present, and will entertain the audience with excellent singing.

The tables will be supplied with oysters, poultry, tea, coffee, ice cream, fruit, confectionery, &c. The Ladies will also offer for sale, a variety of useful and fancy articles.

Cards of admission can be obtained at the door for 25 cents. Children under fifteen years of age, will be admitted for 15 cents.

Doors will be opened at 6 o'clock. If the weather should be stormy, the Festival will be deferred till the first fair evening.

Warren Five Cents Savings Bank

At the annual meeting of this corporation held Nov. 4, 1863, the following list of officers were elected for the ensuing year:

PRESIDENT, George Osborne.

VICE PRESIDENTS, Kendall Osborn, A. King, Lewis Allen, Henry Cook, Poor, E. W. Upton.

TRUSTEES, Franklin Osborn, Ruf... Brown, Alonzo P. Phillips, John I. ... John A. Lord, Nathan H. Poor, Willia... Lord, Alex. B. Merrill, Wm. H. Little, ... W. Warren, Francis Dane, Amos ... Stephen Blaney, Benj S. Wheeler.

Francis Baker, Secre...

South Danvers, Nov. 11th, 1863.

MES F. ALMY & CO. will close their at 6 P. M. during the Fall and Winter hs. Nov. 4, 1863.

W IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR CROCKERY.— quality of White Granite Ware, marked and selling at 20 per cent less than cost, T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 ll Street.

Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes gers, before purchasing elsewhere. For t the Equity Store, South Danvers.

A CARD.

ving been the recipient of a very valuable it from the employees of the Danvers hery, I wish, renewedly, to express to my most sincere and heartfelt thanks for angible proof of their kind regards for little incident of presentation was, to e of the most pleasing events of my exce in that establishment, and will long membered by me with pleasurable emo- J. REED.

Visit OSBORNE's Store, and look at the al variety of new styles in HATS and —191 Essex street.

Clothe your Boys at 240, and save your $16,000.00 worth of Men's and Boys' ing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats and at 240, F. S. PECKS.

Port of Danvers.

31st, Br sch Three Brothers, Cumberland, via Salem; 5th, sch Oscar F Hawley, delphia; Laura M Mangum, New York; Louisa Gray, Philadelphia; Alexander n, New York.

Marriages.

this town, Nov. 5, by Rev Mr Barber, Mr L Winchester Jr., to Miss Martha N son.

Salem, Nov. 5th, at the First Church, by Dr Briggs, Capt John P Reynolds jr, 19th Mass Vol, to Mary Ellen Henville, both lem; at St. Peters Church, by Rev Mr aan, Mr Richard Price to Miss Mary Eliz- daughter of Joshua Phippen Esq, both lem.

Marblehead, Oct 1, Thomas Barry to Miss Shean; Oct 25, Samuel Knight 2d, to Maria Louisa Brown; Oct 29, Joseph F r te Miss Mary E Thrasher; John O Child ampscott to Mrs Caroline Carroll of Mar- ad.

Deaths.

this town, Nov. 4th, John B Peabody, 40 years.

Salem, Nov 1, Patrick, son of Timothy Ellen Duggan, 19 yrs 9 mos; 2d, George ifant son of Israel S and Elizabeth B Lee; Capt. Benj Balch, 59 yrs 9 mos 11 days; daughter of Thomas and Mary Callahan, s; 6th, Joseph, son of Edward and Mary , 18 mos; 7th, Jonathan Perley Esq, 85 mos 24 days; 8th, Mary Elizabeth, daugh- James Jr, and Lucy W Fairfield, 6 yrs 5 2 days.

Danvers, Nov 2, Mrs Harriet Putnam, of the late Israel Adams Esq., aged 75 5 months.

Advertisements.

F. BACHELDER, M. D.,

YSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office and Residence at

No. 15 Main Street,

rst door south of Warren Bank Building, h Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.*

R. J. M. CROSVENOR,

ctfully announces to the citizens of South Dan- vers that he has located himself in said town; his office may be found in RASK'S BUILDING, ON MAIN STREET, ence No. 66 Main Street, next house be- low the Peabody Institute. h Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.

H. L. HADLEY,

ttorney and Counsellor at Law, CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST., Danvers.

ns against the Government for Bounty, Back nd Pensions, promptly attended to.

. W. WILKINSON,

DEALER IN

vspapers, Periodicals, and ionery of every Description.

EIGN and DOMESTIC FRUITS, con- sting of Oranges, Lemons, Dates, Figs, s, &c., &c.

ces, Pickles and Preserves; Castana, Na- nd English Walnuts; Hard, Soft and Pa- elled Almonds; choice brands of Tobac- d Cigars; also a general assortment of ctionery of every description.

o a large and well selected stock of Toys, le for children and the Holiday Gifts.

Cream furnished to parties at short no- nd in quantities to suit. Wedding Cake very variety of nice cake furnished to s or families.

ORE—WARREN BANK BUILDING.

th Danvers, Nov'r 11, 1863.

STANDING OOD & TIMBER —AT— AUCTION!

LL be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, THE 16TH INSTANT, tanding Wood on about Twenty Acres of belonging to C. B. Farley. Said Wood s of Oak, Pine and Maple; and part of heavily timbered, and will be offered in o suit Purchasers.

above is situated in Pilfershire, so called, uth Danvers, and is easy of access from ynnfield Road by the Alms-House, and he Brookdale Road near the residence of mes Marsh; and there are paths running h the lot, in various directions. It is d off in lots, and numbered, so that it can iently be examined at any time previous sale.

further particulars enquire of Mr. Eben So. Danvers. Conditions at the Sale.

Sale will commence on the Grounds, at ck A. M.

ie 16th instant should be a stormy day, le will take place the first fair day fol- at same hour.

JOEL A. ABBOTT, Auctioneer. Danvers, Nov. 11th.

ROUGH PAPERS,

Letters and Notes—the fashionable le Envelopes to match. Look at them.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Nov. 10, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Mrs. Alfred W. Bacon, Lewis P. Clark, Chas. G. Currier, Daniel R. Davis, Ezra L. Guile, Chas. H. Gould, Lucy E. Legro, Clara A. Johnson, John H. Lovett, Mrs. Nichols Lincoln, Elizabeth Kanada, Henry Mugford, B. H. Millett, Helen Mason, Mary Osborn, Hannah Osborne, Maria M. Rhodes, Geo. W. Simonds, Chas. H. Richardson, Maurice Ring, Clarissa H. Richardson, D. Alonzo Small, Anna Welch.

N. B. Those letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

TWO NEW BOOKS.

IN War Time, and other Poems by John Greenleaf Whittier;

Mental Hygiene, by J Ray, M D. Both of them are in Ticknor's best style.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ROBBUT LEE AND GEORGE THE MEADE.

PHERNANDIWOOD and See more are told of in the Second Book of The New Gospel of Peace. Price 15 cents.

nov 11 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

M. FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

LETS .....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS .....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;

At Rooms No. 7 Central street,

feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, 100 Bbls. XX FAMILY FLOUR, of the BEST BRANDS, direct from the manufacturers, which will be sold at the

LOWEST CASH PRICES.

E. F. OSBORN, Sutton's Building, Main St.

South Danvers, Sept 9, 1863.

DENTAL NOTICE.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,

FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

Oct. 3—mo.

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS.

M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURER TO ORDER

SALEM, MASS.

At 236 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street.

ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANAC,

FOR 1864, with beautiful and colored illustrations. It contains much valuable information.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Nov. 4.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER OF THE

Violin, Piano and Singing,

MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central Street, SALEM, MASS.

OUR WORSTEDS.

We invite your especial attention to our Stock of Zephyr Worsteds, as we have done all in our power to make it choice and desirable. It is the largest stock in Essex County, and we shall as we always have done, sell them at lower prices than any of our competitors. We have all the fine colors at prices from 17 to 22 cents per ounce. We have also a full stock of hand-knit and machine made Hoods, Sontags, Nubias, Clouds, Sleeves, Mittens, &c.

JOHN P. PEABODY.

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS. ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

TRIMMINGS.

Buttons,	Bindings,
Braids,	Cords,
Whalebones,	Hooks & Eyes,
&c., &c., &c.

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

KID GLOVES a Specialty,

Ladies', Misses', and Children's Hosiery and Gloves in great variety.

LADIES!

We call your attention to our Stock, being fully confident that we can offer you many decided bargains.

Our prices as heretofore will be the very lowest.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

JOHN P. PEABODY.

Salem, Oct. 21, 1863.

JUST RECEIVED,

AND NOW OPENING,

—A—

RICH STOCK

—OF—

Millinery Goods,

Consisting of

BONNET HATS,

RIBBON FLOWERS,

FEATHERS, &C.,

—AT—

REITH & CO'S.,

188 Essex Street (No. 2 West Block), Nearly opposite Central Street.

Salem, Oct. 21, 1863. 3m

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,

188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.

Oct. 7.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!

ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.

We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.

SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.

oct 14

PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

TEETH EXTRACTED WITHOUT PAIN— by the use of

Nitrous Oxide Gas.

GEORGE H. CURRIER, Dentist,

Oct 7—4w 22 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO., 181 Essex St., Salem.

Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

SECOND HAND BOOKS.

FROM our Circulating Library—duplicate copies for sale at half price.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

John P. Peabody.

A PARODY.

In Salem ere the sun was low,
Before the earliest fall of snow,
Tremendous was the steady flow,
Of Fashion's tide to Peabody's.

But Salem saw another sight,
The Dealers all looked puzzled quite,
And lay awake at dead of night,
Trying to solve the mystery.

Behind their desks they looked aghast,
As fashion's throng went sweeping past,
The tide of trade was setting fast
Towards the store of Peabody's.

But soon the cause was plain indeed,
So even he who ran could read,
The Ladies went with quickening speed
To buy their goods at Peabody's.

His styles and fabrics are the best
In all the land from East to West,
And Ladies that are neatly dressed
All buy their goods at Peabody's.

The choicest stock you there will meet,
Comprising all that's new and neat;
The store you'll find on Essex street,
The famous store of Peabody's.

On Essex Street—two twenty fall,
Ye young and old both great and small,
We give this kind advice to all—
Go buy your goods at Peabody's.

The largest Stock can there be found,
Enough for all the country round,
At prices that will suit—we're bound
To buy our Goods at Peabody's.

LADIES' UNDER-WEAR.

MERINO VESTS,
PANTS,
CORSETS,
SKIRTS, &c

—AT—

PEABODY'S,

220 Essex Street, Salem.

EMBROIDERIES AND LACE GOODS,
EDGINGS AND INSERTINGS,
RIBBONS AND FLOWERS,
RUCHES AND LACES,
MOURNING VEILS, COLLARS, &c,
WROUGHT SETTS, in variety.
LINEN CAMBRIC HANDKERCHIEFS,
HEAD DRESSES AND NETS,
CORSETS, SKIRTS AND SHAPES,
LEATHER BAGS AND WALLETS,
STEEL & JET PINS & BRACELETS,
TOILET SOAPS AND PERFUMES.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

Cloak Opening.

WE SHALL OPEN NEW STYLES

WINTER CLOAKS, SATURDAY, OCT. 25.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

188 Essex, opposite Central Street.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO., 188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

FROM NEW YORK.

We have received from New York a large stock of

CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CLOAKS,

comprising Sackings, Meltons, Frosted Beavers, Plush Beavers, Velvet Beavers, Petersham Beavers, Black Castor Beavers, Doeskins, German Broadcloths, Flannels, etc., also Buttons and Trimmings to match.

[These Cloths, comprising the best grades of their kind, we are prepared to make to order from measure in the most workmanlike and tasteful manner.]

We have received also many novelties in SHAWLS, for the Autumn and Winter Trade.—[We offer a special bargain in Shawls, at $4.25.]

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Oct'r 21, 1863.

THE DRAFT IN ESSEX COUNTY!

10,000 Called For!

SOUTH DANVERS QUOTO IS 300 MEN AND 500 BOYS.

WE believe in drafting that number in South Danvers, and fitting them to a good

OVERCOAT,

or a good fitting suit of Clothes at lower prices than can be found at any other store in Essex County. The Draft will take place at 240

ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

October 28th, and continue for 30 days. The first draft will include the able bodied, or those whose pockets are well filled with the needful—nothing personal about that. The second draft will include those whose pockets are not so well filled. We are bound to have the men and Boys well clothed, and 240 is the only place where they can do it in good shape.

Head-Quarters for the drafted men and boys is at

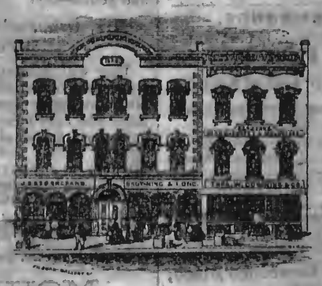
F. S. PECK'S,

Salem, October 28—2m 240 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS.

RICH AND ELEGANT

LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS,



☞ THE MOST EXTENSIVE STOCK ☜

Ever Brought to Salem,

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S,

177 Essex Street.

FIRST CLASS GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES!

NOW OPEN

A MAGNIFICENT ASSORTMENT OF

HAND KNIT WOOLEN GOODS.

November 11, 1863.

PIANO FORTES.

I HAVE those splendid Extra-Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Manner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melodeons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every particular.

S. MACKINTIRE, General Agent,

No. 218 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Executor's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of ANNA BUXTON, late of South Danvers, in the County of Essex, widow, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

WILLIAM WOLCOTT, Executor.

South Danvers, Nov. 4, 1863

SEWING MACHINES.

PERSONS about purchasing SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to consult

JOHN H. CHOATE,

SEWING MACHINE AGENT.

Over Newman & Symonds' Store, Lowell St.

Second-hand Machines bought and sold.

South Danvers, May 13—tf

George S. Walker.

WINTER GLOVES,

THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT in the city—at

GEORGE S. WALKER'S.

nov 4 228 Essex st., Stearns' Block.

Gentlemen's Underwear.

IN every seasonable material, for sale at the LOWEST PRICES, by

GEORGE S. WALKER,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
228 Essex st., Stearns' Building.

SCARFS AND NECK TIES.

THE BEST QUALITIES! The most choice styles can be found at

GEO. S. WALKER,

Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

WILL OPEN THIS MORNING

A LARGE STOCK OF

CLOAKS AND SACKS.

Price from $7 to $25 00.

Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.

Blacks and Colors

IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES.

Which we are prepared to make into garments per order, in the very best manner, and at

LOWEST PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Nov 4

Hoop Skirts at Cost.

WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,

—BY—

C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at

NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,

ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.

South Danvers, July 29, 1863,

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.

Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,

(Successors to M. Black)

DANVERS-PORT,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE---No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

ESSEX INSTITUTE.

THE Course of SCIENTIFIC LECTURES will commence about the middle of November, and be continued on THURSDAY EVENINGS, at the LYCEUM HALL, Salem.—These Lectures will treat on subjects connected with Geology, Astronomy, Botany, Zoology, &c., &c., and may be expected from the following:

Dr. C. T. Jackson, of Boston; Prof. Benjamin Peirce, of Cambridge; Messrs. N. E. Atwood of Provincetown; C. M. Tracy, of Lynn, and others whose names will be announced hereafter.

Tickets for the course $1.00 each. May be had at the Bookstores.

H. WHEATLAND,

Salem, Oct. 28. Secretary.

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.

WARREN BANK.

U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,

For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.

FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.

South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

SOMETHING NEW AND USEFUL.

JUST received from the Manufacturers, N. HAYWARD & Co., Ladies' and Children's warranted—at less prices than all leather, and better than any other Shoes.

RUBBER SOLED BALMORALS,

Also, Bailey & Sayles's Large WRINGER, on a Bench—suitable for a large family.

Also, 400 doz Brown Windsor Soap, at 50 cents per doz.

B. COLMAN,

Nov. 4, 1863. 19 Front S., Salem.

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 19 Front treet, Salem.

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,

34 Front Street.

Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

ON SATURDAY NEXT, at 9½ o'clock, will be sold at No. 34 Front street:

A QUANTITY OF FURNITURE, Sofas, Sofa Bedsteads, 1 Chamber Set, Feather Beds, Mattrasses, Carpets, Parlor and Cooking Stoves.

SHOES—An invoice of Women's and Children's Boots and Shoes

DRY GOODS — An invoice of Cassimeres, Satinets, &c.

Also—7 Boxes Pepper in half and quarter lb. papers; 9 Cases Cream Tartar in Cans.

FALL AND WINTER GOODS

AT

GEORGE P. DANIELS'S,

No. 238 Essex Street,

(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

Consisting of New Styles

DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS,
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR,
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera;
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

sept 23—tf

M. E. CRANE,

168 ESSEX STREET.

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her Stock of

FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GOODS comprising all desirable styles.

Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French Flowers and Laces;

Straw Goods of all descriptions,

Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, latest styles; Ladies Dress Caps;

and all articles usually found in such a Store, at the lowest prices for cash.

Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Collars,

&c., constantly on hand.

M. E. CRANE,

Successor to M M FLETCHER.

Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

VISIT THE PHOTOGRAPH ROOMS

—OF—

T. E. WOOD,

(Over O. F. Batchelder's Store,)

No. 136 Main St., South Danvers,

And get a faithful likeness of yourself and friends while in HEALTH and STRENGTH.

Carte de Visite, Photographs and Ambrotypes taken. Also pictures copied at reasonable prices.

Frames, Albums, Cases, &c., for sale.

South Danvers, Oct 14.

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,

Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,

CIVIL AND MILITARY,

Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No. 5.

J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. MCLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless.

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.

NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for the public. We caution Dentists and Patentees that have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,

aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary,

38 MAIN STREET.

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 20, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in

DRUGS & MEDICINES,

Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c

126 MAIN ST. 126

Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary

37 Main St., So. Danvers,

DEALER IN

Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign and Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery, Toilet Articles and Stationery.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

37 MAIN STREET.

R OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your per
I wish to say to the readers of your paper ll send by return mail to all who wish it, Recipe, with full directions for making and simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freck-all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same ar, smooth and beautiful.
also mail free to those having Bald Heads or ces, simple directions and information that ble them to start a full growth of luxuriant hiskers, or a Monstache, in less than thirty
All applications answered by return mail charge.
Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
-3m No. 831 Broadway, New York.

NTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Inency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, by a desire to benefit others, will be happy sh to all who need it (free of charge) the recidirections for making the simple remedy used se. Those wishing to profit by his experience ossess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the y return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing
JOHN B. OGDEN,
3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

ew Jersey Lands for Sale.

—ALSO—

DEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

ble for Grapes: Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, rries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, acres each, at the following prices for the
, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5
r $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Paya-ne dollar a week.
good Cranberry lands, and village lots in WOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by llar a week. The above land and farms are l at Chetwood, Washington Township, Bur-
New Jersey. For further information, apply
P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to
B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

RIBLE DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR HILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful tion. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored ings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an l and popular treatise on Man and Woman, hysiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long nd still is, unbounded, but at the earnest soon of numerous persons, he has been induced nd his medical usefulness through the medium
"Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should he hands of every family in the land, as a pre-of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviа-one of the most awful and destructive scourr visited mankind. One copy, securely envewill be forwarded free of postage to any part United States for 50 cents in post office stamps bles for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUN
No. 3 Division Street, New York. je 3—ly

MANHOOD;

LOST! HOW RESTORED!

ust Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

ECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT d RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Semikness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debili-Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervous-consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—
BY J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Book, &c.
world-renowned author, in this admirable Lec-clearly proves from his own experience that the consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually ed without medicine, and without dangerous al operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or s, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain ectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what ndition may be, may cure himself cheaply, priand radically. This lecture will prove a boon sands and thousands.
nnder seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by
ing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586
16—1yr

[COMMUNICATED.]

ONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a eks, by a very simple remedy, after having suf-several years with a severe lung affection, and ead disease, Consumption—is anxious to make to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.
all who desire it, he will send a copy of the pre-ion used (free of charge,) with the directions for ring and using the same, which they will find A CERTAIN for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS,
HS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser ding the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, spread information which he conceives to be in-ble; and he hopes every sufferer will try his y, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a ng.
dies wishing the prescription will please address
REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
t. 23—4m. New York.

Advertisements.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,

O. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

and friends to her stock of FALL and NTER GOODS, which comprise all the rable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and dren's Wear.
n Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
n Thibets—all the desirable shades;
ed Thibets—for children;
Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
d and Striped Shawls;
k and White Plaid Shawls;
er styles at equally low prices;
d styles Prints;
ull assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
and Blue Twilled Flannels;
ull stock of Domestic Goods;
ached and Brown Cottons of every grade,
the lowest Cash prices;
offer Bargains in Hem-stitched Hdkfs;
pt 16 ANN R. BRAY.

THE

MILY MOURNING STORE,

20 Winter Street, Boston.

ESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would respectfully call attention to their establish-nt (the only one of its kind in the city,) ere every requisite for Mourning can be ained.
We have a complete assortment of the foling goods, just received:—
nglish and French Bombazines.
lpacas, of every width and price.
lpaca Glace.
-8 Alpacas.
ombazine Laine, a new article.
arin Cloths, Canton Cloths.
rench Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths.
Mourning Ginghams and Prints.
Mourning Millinery, in new styles; Mourning Hat
Veils, Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.

S. S. WILLIAMS.

Oct. 7.—2ms.

JOHN FARRELL,

RAPER AND TAILOR,

AVING removed to his old place of business, 138 MAIN ST., South Danvers er Batchelder's Grocery Store), is prepared Cut, Make, Repair, or furnish Garments, for n and Youths at short notice.
South Danvers, April 1. tf

ATTRACTIVE

AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF

New Fall and Winter

CLOTHING,

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS

IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of

Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics'
WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

GEO. H. LANE,

31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,

BOSTON.

Oct 21, 1863. 2m

L. D. BOISE & CO.,

154 Washington Street, Boston,

(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES

FALL & WINTER

CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,

OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,

In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,

Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,

And PIECE Goods

FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS

In all the most desirable patterns of English German, French, Scotch and American Coatings, Cassimeres & Doeskins,

Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner at

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,

154 WASHINTON ST., BOSTON,

Five Doors above the Old South.

Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m,

Salem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

ALL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be stopped, in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 5.

Per order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

GROVER & BAKER'S

CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,

IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.

PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.

18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.

Oct. 7.

PATTERSON'S

LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

CARPETS.

☞ The current trade is sure to flow to that house which sells at the lowest prices. Our best English Velvet, Brussels, and Tapestries, will be retailed during the season at importer's prices. Our customers will find our departments for fine goods very complete—comprising the newest and most desirable styles of foreign productions as well as the favorite home manufactures. NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover St., Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

A NEW CARPET.

☞ Crossley's Improved Electrotype, possessing the appearance and beauty of real Brussels, and quite as durable, for half the price, now opening by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston. Our customers are reminded that this stock of Carpets comprises but 150 pieces, and in consequence of the low price they will last but a few days.

FINE CARPETS.

☞ GET THE MODERN STYLES. Now opening, 1000 pieces of the most splendid English Tapestries ever shown in this market, by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

OIL CLOTH CARPETS,

In wide sheets and narrow widths—in the beautiful enameled finish, the most desirable and elegant goods made, for sale at manufacturers' prices by the NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover street, Boston. One price and cash systems strictly adhered to.

CARPETS AT WHOLESALE.

☞ Cash purchasers are invited to examine our stock, which is very complete in all its varieties, NEW ENGLAND CARPET COMPANY, 75 Hanover street, Boston.

CARPETS AT RETAIL.

☞ We shall continue to supply our customers who are about furnishing or redecorating the floors of their dwellings, with carpets from all our departments. The most skillful upholsterers on hand to cut, sew, and fit Carpets when desired. NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO., 75 Hanover street, Boston.

ROYAL VELVET

AND MEDALION CARPETS—the finest things out for Parlors and Drawing Rooms—for sale by the

NEW ENGLAND CARPET CO,
75 Hanover Street, Boston.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,

Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,

Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD

Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,

SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Marke
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—ly

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,

DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods,
Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,

DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,

DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH

No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,

HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash,
mch6-tf

Boston Purchasing Agency.

THE special object of this Agency, is to make known through which non-residents can send to Boston and purchase any articles wanted for individual use, or for dealers' supplies, from a Shawl to a suit of Clothes, a Penknife to a Piano. For particulars of the Purchasing Agency, send for Circular to THOMAS DAVIS & Co., Advertising and General Business Agents, at HARGOOD'S Gun Store, No. 15 Washington St., Boston. Citizens of Old Essex, try us. Services tendered gratis.
Best City reference given.
T. DAVIS & CO.
Oct 21—6w.

Settees for Sale.

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'

RESTAURANT,

18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,

MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES;
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,

WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.

dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,

GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,

—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,

Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,

DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

Mothers—Take Heed!

MRS. OSBORN'S CURE FOR PIN WORMS

GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st. South Danvers. June 17. 1863. 3m

MOULTON'S

NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

HEYLINGBERG'S

Hair Dressing Saloon,

24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	6 cts,
Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.
Hair Cutting,	15 cts,
Or 8 Tickets for $1 00.
Champooing,	15 cts.

Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

NEW PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,

FROM the best makers in the country—some very desirable and beautiful styles, and made in the strongest and best manner.
Also—French Albums, at low prices.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

NEW BOOKS,

AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S
Remains in Verse and Prose, of Arthur Henry Hallam, with a preface and memoir; Reminiscences of Amherst College, by D. Hitchcock; Broken Columns; Pique, an English Novel; all the Weekly Papers.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,

FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,

Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,

Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,

SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.

Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

FOR NEW YORK via FALL

RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.
For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Passengers by this route can take the 4.45 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.
Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.
☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & F. R. Railroad Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.

No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, September 23, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,

NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863.

R. C. MANNING & CO.

Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers,	7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem,	10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Roed's in the Market, Salem.

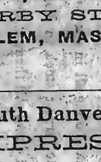
PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.
Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.
Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating like Pins, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, (Downing's Block
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may



THOMAS PINNOCK,

SLATER,

SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

HOW TO COLLECT AND OBSERVE INSECTS,

BY A. S. Packard, Jr., from the Report of the Maine Scientific Survey for 1862.—Price 25 cents.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

WHITE WARE.

WHITE Dining and Tea Ware, of the newest patterns—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
Oct. 24. 32 Front street.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

ANDERSON'S

Spring Bed Bottom.

(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, ATKINSON'S Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.

Norwich Steamboat Train.

The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.
WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will remove the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.
General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass.
Capital and Assets—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,

18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej h20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

WINTER ARRANGEMENT

—TO—

LYNN & BOSTON

—BY—

OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR

W. F. BURNHAM'S.

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays included.
Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12.50 and 4 50 P. M.
Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9.40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.
Horse Cars leaving the office at 14 Brattle Street, at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.

Tickets to Lynn,	15 cents.
Through to Boston,	30 cents.

Gravesend, Woodend, and Central Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in addition to the old route, an Omnibus will leave South Danvers for Lynn, to connect with the steam and horse cars, 3 times daily,—Sundays excepted.—running through Gravesend and Woodend, to the Central R R Depot, and Horse Railroad Station, corner of Spring and Broad Streets; leaving South Danvers at 7.25 A M (connecting with the 11.10 train), and 4 P M (connecting with the 4.50 train); and returning, leave Lynn from the Spring Street Station and Central R R Depot, at 8 A M, and 1 and 6 P M.

Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by horse cars, 30c.
" " " " steam cars, 35c.

Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.
Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS

Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.
Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.

South Danvers, Salem and Lynn Route.

THE subscriber having purchased of M. A. Shackley the Omnibus line running from Salem to Lynn, would announce that it will now leave the Stage Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, for Salem, at 7 30 A M, and 2 30 P M, and leave the Stage Office in Central St., Salem, at 8.30 A M, and 3 30 P M for Lynn. Returning will leave Lynn at 10 A M and 5 P M; and Salem for South Danvers at 11 A M, and 6.15 P M.
Passengers between South Danvars and Salem will be called for by leaving orders at the office.

W. F. BURNHAM.
South Danvers, Oct 28, 1863

CROUT & MUNROE'S

SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at		10 12 a. m.
Freight	" " at	5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at		3 4 p. m.
Freight	" " at	4 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.

Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street.
Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.

Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.

Smallest favors thankfully received.
South Danvers, august 26—tf

MARSHALL'S

DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM EXPRESS.

Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.

OFFICES:
In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible point in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1-6 tf

WEBBER'S

South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7½ and 11 A M and 1½ and and 5 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.
Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.
Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood,

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1863. NO. 46.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD

Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Building, South Danvers Square.

TERMS—Two Dollars a year.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable ratos.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

H. L. HADLEY,
LOCAL EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregularities. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not know." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assume "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Lovers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and Dropsical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS.—Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits. Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test

Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Mascom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, NOV'R 18, 1863.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

HEAD-QUARTERS, BOSTON, Oct. 20, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 30,

The President of the United States, under date of October 17, 1863, has issued a call for 300,000 volunteers, to serve for three years or the War, but not exceeding three years; and the quota assigned to Massachusetts under this call amounts to 15,126. If this number is not raised by voluntary enlistment, a draft will be ordered to supply the deficiency, which draft will commence on the fifth day of January next.

The time for action is short, and the greatest activity and promptitude will be necessary to fulfil the demand of the Government before the time prescribed for commencing the draft. The Mayor and Aldermen of Cities, and the Selectmen of Towns, are again urgently requested to use their official and personal influence, and obtain the energetic co-operation of all whose hearts are in the work, to furnish their proportion of volunteers; to call public meetings, and adopt other efficient measures, to draw forth and stimulate the public interest in the cause.

The men to be raised under this call are to be enlisted into the United State service, for the various companies and regiments now in the field. The bounties will be the same as published in previous orders, namely, $50 from the State, and, in addition, $302 from the United States to new recruits, and $402 to those who have served at least nine months, and who shall enlist, either into old regiments or companies in the field, or into the veteran regiments or battalions now forming in this State.

The numbers which are assigned to each town, city and sub-district, according to the enrollment made by the U. S. Provost Marshals, are given below. If a draft should become necessary in January next, it will be likely to be made in the same proportions; and information has been received from the War Department that credits will be allowed, against such draft, for all enlistments which shall be made under the present call; and also for enlistments in the veteran regiments which are now organized for recruiting.

Major Clarke, U. S. A., (Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for Massachusetts, Headquarters at Boston,) is authorized to and will appoint the Mayors of Cities and Chairmen of Selectmen of Towns to act as recruiting officers for their several cities and towns, to recruit the quotas assigned to their several municipalities.

They will receive their authority from Major Clarke, and will be subject to such orders and regulations for the performance of their duties as he may issue. They will be entitled to all the privileges and subject to all the liabilities of other recruiting officers appointed by him under orders from the Provost Marshal General of the United States. The Mayors of Cities and Selectmen of Towns will cause to be made a Weekly Report on Saturday to the Adjutant General of the Commonwealth of the number of men enlisted in their respective Cities and Towns during each week.

To those who have been in the military service for at least nine months the opportunity is presented of enlisting either in one of the old regiments now in the field, or in either of the veteran organizations named below, and of entitling themselves to the bounty of $402 each, which is offered by the General Government in addition to the bounty of $50 which is offered by the Commonwealth. The veteran organizations are—

The Second Regiment of Heavy Artillery, commanded by Colonel Frankle, headquarters at Readville;

The Twelfth Unattached Company of Heavy Artillery, commanded by Captain James M. Richardson, stationed at Salem and Beverly;

The First Battalion of Veteran Cavalry;

The New Battalion for the First Regiment of Massachusetts Cavalry, under the command of Colonel Horace B. Sargent, to take the place of the battalion at Port Royal, which has been permanently detached;

The First Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Sixth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be commanded by Colonel Griswood, headquarters at Readville, to be raised in Boston and vicinity;

The Second Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Seventh Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in Worcester and the four Western Counties, and to be commanded by Colonel William F. Bartlett, late of the Forty-Ninth Regiment;

The Third Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Eighth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in South Eastern Massachusetts, including the Old Colony, to be commanded by Col. Silas P. Richmond, late of the Third Regiment;

The Fourth Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Ninth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in the Counties of Essex and Middlesex, and to be under the command of Col. Gould, late Major of the Thirteenth Regiment.

To veterans enlisting, one month's pay will be paid in advance, on being mustered into service. The bounty and premium, in addition to the monthly pay, will be $302, on being mustered in, (making $75 paid in advance, besides the State bounty of $50;) $50 more in two months; $50 more in six months, $50 more after one year, $50 more after eighteen months, $50 more after two years, $50 more after two years and a half, and $40 more at the expiration of three year's service. And if the war should not last three years from the present time, still the whole bounty will be paid to those who shall have served to the end; and if they die in the service, their heirs will receive it.

To those who have never been in service, or who have served for less than nine months, and who shall enlist into old regiments in the field, $302 bounty will be paid in addition to the State bounty of $50, as follows:

One month's pay will be paid in advance on being mustered into service. The bounty and premium, in addition to the monthly pay will be $27 on being mustered in, (making $40 paid in advance, besides the State bounty of $50;) $40 more in two months, $40 more in six months, $40 more after one year, $40 more after eighteen months, $40 more after two years, and $75 more at the expiration of three years' service. And if the war should not last three years from the present time, still the whole bounty will be paid to those who shall have served to the end; and if they die in the service their heirs will receive it.

This Order does not change the provisions of General Order No. 27, current series from these headquarters, which Order was issued in regard to the enlistment of veteran organizations.

The Governor confidently expects that Massachusetts will, as she has ever done, furnish with exemplary promptness her contingent of troops in obedience to this, the latest call of the President. Let the whole people unite with fervid devotion to a cause sacred as all our hopes, and secure to the National Armies a reinforcement which will render them invincible, and assure them of victory, whenever and wherever they meet an enemy.

By order of His Excellency JOHN A. ANDREW, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

WILLIAM SCHOULER, Adj't-Gen'l.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of	Edgartown,	30
1	"	Tisbury,	20
1	"	Chilmark,	11—61
2	"	Nantucket,	58
3	"	Eastham,	10
3	"	Truro,	28
3	"	Provincetown,	43—104
4	"	Harwich,	50
4	"	Chatham,	30
4	"	Orleans,	19—108
5	"	Yarmouth,	37
5	"	Dennis,	62
5	"	Brewster,	22—111
6	"	Barnstable	— 62
7	"	Falmouth,	48
7	"	Falmouth,	33—81
8	"	Plymouth,	70
8	"	Plympton,	10—80
9	"	Duxbury,	30
9	"	Kingston,	18
9	"	Halifax,	10
9	"	Pembroke,	14—72
10	"	Freetown,	10
10	"	Middleboro',	51
10	"	Lakeville,	20—87
11	"	Wareham,	34
11	"	Carver,	12
11	"	Marion,	15
11	"	Rochester,	23—85
12	"	Fairhaven	33
12	"	Acushnet,	10
12	"	Mattapoisett,	12—55
13	City of	Fall River, Wards 1, 2, and 3,	101
14	City of	Fall River, Wards 4, 5, and 6,	101
15	City of	New Bedford, Ward 1,	42
16	"	" " " 2,	37
17	City of	New Bedford, Wards 3, and 4,	56
18	City of	New Bedford, Wards 5, and 6,	70
19	Town of	Dartmouth,	51
20	"	Westport,	26

DISTRICT No. 2.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of	Taunton,	167
2	"	Attleboro',	60
2	"	Berkley,	8
3	"	Dighton,	18
4	"	Easton,	38
5	"	Mansfield,	22
6	"	Norton,	19
7	"	Raynham,	25
8	"	Rehoboth,	21
9	"	Seekonk,	10
10	"	Somerset,	24
11	"	Swanzey,	17
12	"	Braintree,	39
13	"	Canton,	34
14	"	Cohasset,	24
15	"	Dorchester,	128
16	"	Milton,	21
17	"	Quincy,	49
18	"	Randolph,	55
19	"	Sharon,	14
20	"	Stoughton,	60
21	"	Weymouth,	121
22	"	Abington,	91
23	"	Bridgewater,	40
24	"	East Bridgewater,	41
25	"	West Bridgewater,	20
26	"	N. Bridgewater,	93
27	"	Hingham,	50
28	"	Hanover,	22
29	"	Hanson,	16
30	"	Marshfield,	19
31	"	Scituate,	28
32	"	South Scituate,	21
33	"	Hull,	4

DISTRICT No. 3.

Sub-District.

No. 1	City of	Boston, Ward 4,	286
2	"	" " 7,	200
3	"	" " 8,	323
4	"	" " 10,	223
5	"	" " 11,	341
6	"	" " 12,	438
7	"	Roxbury, Ward 1,	110
8	"	" " 2,	86
9	"	" " 3,	102
10	"	" " 4,	55
11	"	" " 5,	66
12	Town of	Brookline,	72

DISTRICT No. 4.

Sub-District.

No. 1	City of	Boston, Wards 1, 2, 3, 5, 6 and 9,	1,530
2	City of	Cambridge,	372
3	City of	Chelsea, Town of North Chelsea, and Town of Winthrop,	187

DISTRICT No. 5.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of	Amesbury,	44
2	"	Beverly,	40
3	"	"	33
4	"	Danvers,	59
5	"	Essex,	23
6	"	Georgetown,	27
7	"	Gloucester,	59
8	"	"	83
9	"	Groveland,	22
10	"	Hamilton,	10
11	"	Ipswich,	33
12	"	Lynnfield,	10
13	"	Manchester,	14
14	"	Marblehead,	48
15	"	"	42
16	"	Middleton,	12
17	"	Nahant,	3
18	"	Newbury,	20
19	"	Rockport,	47
20	"	Rowley,	14
21	"	Salisbury,	44
22	"	South Danvers,	59
23	"	Swampscott,	15
24	"	Topsfield,	17
25	"	Wenham,	16
26	"	West Newbury,	23
27	City of	Lynn, Wards 1, 2 and 7,	25
28	"	" " 3,	49
29	"	" " 4,	74
30	"	" " 5,	94
31	"	" " 6,	52
32	City of	Newburyport, Ward 1,	24
33	"	" " 2,	19
34	"	" " 3,	17
35	"	" " 4,	21
36	"	" " 5,	17
37	"	" " 6,	10
38	City of	Salem, Ward 1,	28
39	"	" 2,	28
40	"	" 3,	23
41	"	" 4,	27
42	"	" 5,	30
43	"	" 6,	24

DISTRICT No. 6.

Sub-District.

No. 1	City of	Charlestown, Ward 1,	84
2	"	" " 2,	99
3	"	" " 3,	110
4	Town of	Somerville, East of Central street,	70
5	Town of	Somerville, West of Central street,	22
6	Town of	Malden, East of Main street,	44
7	Town of	Malden, West of Main street,	28
8	Town of	Saugus,	26
9	"	Melrose,	24
10	"	Medford,	48
11	"	West Cambridge,	22
12	"	Belmont,	18
13	"	Waltham,	27
14	"	Woburn, (See No. 17,)
15	"	Burlington and Lexington,	32
16	"	Winchester,	17
17	"	Woburn, (with No. 14, viz.: 20,)	52
18	"	Stoneham,	57
19	"	South Reading,	31
20	"	Reading,	24
21	"	North Reading,	14
22	"	Wilmington,	10
23	"	Billerica,	20
24	"	Tewksbury,	8
25	"	Andover,	38
26	"	North Andover,	27
27	City of	Lawrence, Wards 2, 3, and 5,	51
28	City of	Lawrence, Wards 1, 4, and 6,	76
29	Town of	Metuhen,	36
30	"	Boxford,	13
31	"	Bradford,	20
32	"	Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 1,	122
33	"	Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 2,	22
34	"	Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 3,	17

DISTRICT No. 7.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of	Acton,	17
2	"	Ashby,	11
3	"	Ashland,	22
4	"	Bedford,	6
5	"	Boxboro',	5
6	"	Brighton,	43
7	"	Carlisle,	6
8	"	Chelmsford,	19
9	"	Concord,	19
10	"	Dracut,	22
11	"	Dunstable,	6
12	"	Dedham,	53
13	"	Dover,	3
14	"	Framingham,	52
15	"	Groton,	34
16	"	Halliston,	36
17	"	Hopkinton,	50
18	"	Lincoln,	11
19	"	Littleton,	9
20	City of	Lowell, Ward 1,	35
21	"	" 2,	46
22	"	" 3,	51
23	"	" 4,	62
24	"	" 5,	63
25	"	" 6,	31
26	Town of	Marlboro',	95
27	"	Medfield,	11
28	"	Natick,	81
29	"	Newton,	79
30	"	Needham,	23
31	"	Pepperell,	18
32	"	Sherburne,	14
33	"	Shirley,	16
34	"	Stow,	19
35	"	Sudbury,	15
36	"	Townsend,	30
37	"	Tyngsboro',	7
38	"	Watertown,	43
39	"	Wayland,	10
40	"	Weston,	16
41	"	Westford,	12
42	"	West Roxbury,	85
43	"	Feltonville,	24

DISTRICT No. 8.

Sub-District.

No. 1	City of	Worcester, Ward 1,	43
2	"	" " 2,	42
3	"	" " 3,	19
4	"	" " 4,	44
5	"	" " 5,	43
6	"	" " 6,	45
7	"	" " 7,	60
8	"	" " 8,	51
9	Town of	Blackstone,	55
10	"	Auburn,	13
11	"	Leicester,	26
12	"	Shrewsbury,	18
13	"	Boylston,	7
14	"	West Boylston,	36
15	"	Holden,	14
16	"	Rutland,	7
17	"	Paxton,	8
18	"	Oakham,	10
19	"	New Braintree,	7
20	"	Brookfield,	35
21	"	West Brookfield,	18
22	"	North Brookfield,	28
23	"	Warren,	24
24	"	Spencer,	34
25	"	Oxford,	39
26	"	Charlton,	23
27	"	Sturbridge,	19
28	"	Dudley,	16
29	"	Southbridge,	27
30	"	Webster,	57
31	"	Grafton,	43
32	"	Millbury,	44
33	"	Sutton,	22
34	"	Northbridge,	33
35	"	Milford,	129
36	"	Upton,	25
37	"	Northboro',	16
38	"	Southboro',	17
39	"	Westboro',	32
40	"	Mendon,	15
41	"	Uxbridge,	47
42	"	Douglas,	23
43	"	Walpole,	21
44	"	Wrentham,	31
45	"	Foxborough,	31
46	"	Bellingham,	16
47	"	Franklin,	22
47	"	Medway,	28

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of	Amherst,	44
2	"	Ashburnham,	32
3	"	Ashfield,	16
4	"	Athol,	33
5	"	Barre,	39
6	"	Belchertown,	31
7	"	Berlin,	14
8	"	Bernardston,	11
9	"	Boiton,	23
10	"	Buckland,	28
11	"	Charlemont,	10
12	"	Chesterfield,	9
13	"	Clinton,	44
14	"	Colrain,	22
15	"	Conway,	16
16	"	Cummington,	13
17	"	Dana,	7
18	"	Deerfield,	41
19	"	Easthampton,	32
20	"	Enfield,	10
21	"	Erving,	11
22	"	Fitchburg,	120
23	"	Gardner,	37
24	"	Gill,	6
25	"	Goshen,	3
26	"	Granby,	13
27	"	Greenfield,	44
28	"	Greenwich,	7
29	"	Hadley,	35
30	"	Hardwick,	19
31	"	Harvard,	17
32	"	Hatfield,	22
33	"	Hawley,	8
34	"	Heath,	8
35	"	Hubbardston,	18
36	"	Huntington,	16
37	"	Lancaster,	14
38	"	Leominster,	30
39	"	Leverett,	12
40	"	Leyden,	8
41	"	Lunenburg,	15
42	"	Middlefield,	9
43	"	Monroe,	4
44	"	Montague,	14
45	"	New Salem,	10
47	"	Northfield,	22
48	"	Orange,	23
49	"	Pelham,	11
50	"	Petersham,	13
51	"	Phillipston,	7
52	"	Plainfield,	6
53	"	Prescott,	9
54	"	Princeton,	13
55	"	Rowe,	6
56	"	Royalston,	14
57	"	Shelburne,	20
58	"	Shutesbury,	8
59	"	South Hadley,	26
60	"	Southampton,	14
61	"	Sterling	22
62	"	Sunderland,	6
63	"	Templeton,	33
64	"	Ware,	33
65	"	Warwick,	11
66	"	Wendell.	10
67	"	Whateiy,	21
68	"	Westhampton,	6
69	"	Westminster,	14
70	"	Williamsburg,	22
71	"	Winchendon,	41
72	"	Worthington,	10

DISTRICT No. 10.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of	Williamstown,	28
2	"	New Ashfield,	9
3	"	Lanesborough,	19
4	"	Hancock,	10
5	"	Adams,	95
6	"	Clarksburg,	4
7	"	Cheshire,	18
8	"	Florida,	6
9	"	Savoy,	9
10	"	Pittsfield,	128
11	"	Dalton	12
12	"	Windsor,	8
13	"	Hinsdale,	24
14	"	Peru,	5
15	"	Becket,	17
16	"	Washington,	9
17	"	Lenox,	23
18	"	Richmond,	12
19	"	Stockbridge	22
20	"	West Stockbridge.	18
21	"	Lee,	42
22	"	Tyringham,	7
23	"	Great Barrington,	38
24	"	Monterey,	10
25	"	Sandisfield,	16
26	"	Otis,	18
27	"	Alford,	7
28	"	Egremont,	13
29	"	Mt. Washington,	2
30	"	Sheffield,	31
31	"	New Marlborough,	16
32	"	Brimfield,	16
33	"	Monson,	34
34	"	Holland,	2
35	"	Wales,	0
36	"	Palmer,	37
37	"	Wilbraham,	22
28	"	Longmeadow,	17
39	City of	Springfield, Ward 1,	62
40	Ward	2 & 3, S. of Main St.,	166
41	"	4 & 3, N. of Main St.,	92
42	"	5, Springfield,	62
43	"	6, 7 & 8, Springfield,	94
44	Town of	Chicopee,	101
45	"	Ludlow,	16
46	"	Holyoke,	69
47	"	West Springfield,	32
48	"	Agawam,	20
49	"	Southwick,	17
50	"	Granville,	18
51	"	Toliand	7
52	"	Westfield,	72
53	"	Blandford,	16
54	"	Montgomery,	6
55	"	Russell,	9
56	"	Chester,	17

THREE WEEKS AT GETTYSBURG.

This unpretending sketch of the labors of two ladies among the wounded, after the battle of Gettysburg, was originally printed for private distribution among a few of the Soldiers' Aid Societies. It is now, by request, reproduced for a more general circulation among the friends and contributors to the SANITARY COMMISSION, in the belief that it cannot fail to stimulate and encourage them in their work:—

July, 1863.

DEAR ———:

WHAT WE DID AT GETTYSBURG, for the three weeks we were there, you will want to know. "W," are Mrs. ———, and myself, who, happening to be on hand at the right moment, gladly fell in with the proposition to do what we could at the Sanitary Commission Lodge, after the battle. There were, of course, the agents of the Commission, already on the field, distributing supplies to the hospitals, and working night and day among the wounded. I cannot pretend to tell you what was done by all the big wheels of the concern, but only how two of the smallest ones went round, and what turned up in the going.

Twenty-four hours we were in making the journey between Baltimore and Gettysburg, places only four hours apart in ordinary running time; and this will give you some idea of the difficulty there was of bringing up supplies when the fighting was over, and the delays in transporting wounded. Coming toward the town at this crawling rate, we passed some fields where the fences were down and the ground slightly tossed up: "That's where Kilpatrick's cavalry men fought the rebels," some one said, "and close by that barn a rebel soldier was found day before yesterday, sitting, dead;" no one to help, poor soul, "near the whole city full." The railroad bridge broken up by the enemy, Government had not rebuilt as yet, and we stopped two miles from the town, to find that, as usual, just where the Government had left off the Commission had come in. There stood their temporary lodge and kitchen, and here hobbling out of their tents came the wounded men who had made their way down from the Corps hospital expecting to leave at once in the return cars.

This is the way the thing was managed at first: the surgeons left in care of the wounded three or four miles out from the town, went up and down among the men in the morning, and said, "Any of you boys who can make your way to the cars, can go to Baltimore." So off start all who think they feel well enough, anything being better than the "hospitals," so called, for the first few days after a battle. Once the men have the surgeons' permission to go, they are off; and there may be an interval a day, or two days, should any of them be too weak to reach the train in time, during which [illegible] pital at one end, the railroad at the other, with far more than chance of falling through between. The Sanitary Commission knew this would be so of necessity, and coming in, made a connecting link between these two ends.

For the first few days the worst cases only, came down in ambulances from the hospitals; hundreds of fellows hobbled along as best they could in heat and dust, for hours, slowly toiling, and many hired farmers' wagons, as hard as the farmers' fists themselves, and were jolted down to the railroad, at three or four dollars the man. Think of the disappointment of a soldier, sick, body and heart, to find, at the end of this miserable journey, that his effort to get away, into which he had put all his remaining stock of strength, was useless; that "the cars had gone," or "the cars were full;" that while he was coming others had stepped down before him, and that he must turn all the weary way back again, or sleep on the roadside till the next train "to-morrow!" Think what this would have been, and you are ready to appreciate the relief and comfort that was. No men were turned back. You fed and you sheltered them just when no one else could have done so; and out of the boxes and barrels of good and nourishing things, which you people at home had supplied, we took all that was needed. Some of you sent a stove (that is, the money to get it,) some of you, the beef stock, some of you the milk and fresh bread; and all of you would have been thankful that you had done so, could you have seen the refreshment and comfort received through these things.

As soon as the men hobbled up to the tents, good hot soup was given all round, and that over, their wounds were dressed,—for the gentlemen of the Commission are cooks, or surgeons, as ocasion demands,—and, finally, with their blankets spread over the straw, the men stretched themselves out and were happy and contented till morning, and the next train.

On the day that the railroad bridge was repaired we moved up to the depot, close by the town, and had things in perfect order; a first rate camping ground, in a large field directly by the track, with unlimited supply of delicious cool water. Here we set up two stoves, with four large boilers, always kept full of soup and coffee, watched by four or five black men, and sang (not under our direction) at the tops of their voices all day,

"Oh darkies hab you seen my Massa."

"When this CRUEL war is OVER."

Then we had three large hospital tents, holding about thirty-five each, a large camp-meeting supply-tent, where barrels of goods were stored, and our own smaller tent fitted up with tables, where jelly-pots and bottles of all kinds of good syrups, blackberry and black currant, stood in rows. Barrels were ranged round the tent walls; shirts, drawers, dressing-gowns, socks, and slippers (I wish we had had more of the latter,) rags and bandages, each in its own place on one side; on the other, boxes of tea, coffee, soft crackers, tamarinds, cherry brandy, etc. Over the kitchen, and over this small supply-tent we women rather reigned, and filled up our wants by requisitions on the Commission's depot. By this time there had arrived, a "delegation" of just the right kind from Canandalgua, N. Y., with surgeon dressers and attendants, bringing a first-rate supply of necessities and comforts for the wounded, which they handed over to the Commission.

Twice a day the trains left for Baltimore or Harrisburg, and twice a day we fed all the wounded who arrived for them. Things were systematized now, and the men came down in long ambulance trains to the cars; baggage-cars they were, filled with straw for the wounded to lie on, and broken open at either end to let in the air. A government surgeon was always present to attend to the careful lifting of the soldiers from ambulance to car. Many of the men could get along very nicely, holding one foot up, and taking great jumps on their crutches. The latter were a great comfort; we had a nice supply at the lodge, and they travelled up and down from the tents to the cars daily. Only occasionally did we dare let a pair go on with some very lame soldier, who begged for them; we trusted them to help the new arrivals each day, and trusted to the men being supplied at the hospitals at the journey's end. Pads and crutches are a standing want, pads particularly. We manufactured them out of the rags we had, stuffed with saw dust from brandy boxes, and with half a sheet and some soft straw, Mrs. ——— made a poor dying boy as easy as his sufferings would permit. Poor young fellow, he was so grateful to her for washing, and feeding, and comforting him He was too ill to bear the journey, and went from our tent to the church hospital, and from the church to his grave, which would have been coffinless but for the care of ———, for the Quarter Master's Department was overtaxed, and for many days our dead were simply wrapped in their blankets and put into the earth. It is a soldierly way after all, of lying wrapped in the old war-worn blanket, the little dust returned to dust.

When the surgeons had the wounded all placed, with as much comfort as seemed possible under the circumstances, on board the train, our detail of men would go from car to car, with soup made of beef-stock or fresh meet, full of potatoes, turnips, cabbage, r we felt ourselves in having the immense satisfaction of distributing these things, which all of you, hard at work in villages and cities, were getting ready and sending off, in faith.

Canandaigua sent cologne with its other supplies, which went right to the noses and hearts of the men. "That is good, now;"—"I'll take some of that;"—"worth a penny a sniff;"—"that kinder gives one life;"—and so on, all round the tents, as we tipped the bottles up on the clean handkerchiefs some one had sent, and when they were gone, over squares of cotton, on which the perfume took the place of hem,—"just as good, ma'am." We varied our dinners with custard and baked rice puddings, scrambled eggs, codfish hash, corn starch, and always as much soft bread, tea, coffee, or milk as they wanted. Two Massachusetts boys, I especially remember, for the satisfaction with which they ate their pudding. I carried a second plateful up to the cars, after they had been put in, and fed one of them till he was sure he had had enough. Young fellows they were, lying side by side, one with a right and one with a left arm gone.

The Gettysburg women were kind and faithful to the wounded and their friends, and the town was full to overflowing of both. The first day, when Mrs. ——— and I reached the place, we literally begged our bread from door to door—but the kind woman who at last gave us dinner would take no pay for it. "No, ma'm, I shouldn't wish to have that sin on my soul when the war is over." She, as well as others, had fed the strangers flocking into town daily, sometimes over fifty of them for each meal, and all for love and nothing for reward; and one night we forced a reluctant confession from our hostess that she was meaning to sleep on the floor that we might have a bed, her whole house being full. Of course we couldn't allow this self-sacrifice, and hunted up some other place to stay in. We did her no good, however, for we afterwards found that the bed was given up that night to some other stranger who arrived late and tired:—"An old lady, you know, and I couldn't let an old lady sleep on the floor." Such acts of kindness and self-denial were almost entirely confined to the women.

Few good things can be said of the Gettysburg farmers, and I only use Scripture language in calling them "evil beasts." One of this kind came creeping into our camp three weeks after the battle. He lived five miles only from the town, and had "never seen a rebel." He heard we had some of them, and came down to see them. "Boys," we said, marching him into the tent which happened to be full of rebels that day waiting for the train; "Boys, here's a man who never saw a rebel in his life, and wants to look at you;" and there he stood with his mouth wide open, and there they lay in rows, laughing at him, stupid old Dutchman, "And why haven't you seen a rebel?" Mrs. ——— said; "why didn't you take your gun and help to drive them out of your town?" "A feller might'er got hit!"—which reply was quite too much for the rebels, they roared with laughter at him, up and down the tent.

One woman, we saw, who was by no means Dutch, and whose pluck helped to redeem the other sex. She lived in a little house close up by the field where the hardest fighting was done, a red-cheeked, strong, country girl.—"Were you frightened when the shells began flying?" "Well, no; you see we was all a baking bread round here for the soldiers, and had our dough a rising. The neighbors they ran into their cellars, but I couldn't leave my bread. When the first shell came in at the window and crashed through the room, an officer came and said, 'you had better get out this,' but I told him I could not leave my bread, and I stood working it till the third shell came through, and then I went down cellar, but (triumphantly) I left my bread in the oven." "And why didn't you go before?" "Oh, you see, if I had, the rebels would a come in and daubed the dough all over the place." And here she had stood, at the risk of unwelcome plums in her loaves, while great shells, which we saw, were made by shot and shell through and through the room in which she was working.

The streets at Gettysburg were filled with the battle. People thought and talked of nothing else; even the children showed their little hostes by calling to each other, "Here, you rebel," and mere scraps of boys amused themselves with percussion caps and hammers. Hundreds of old muskets were piled on the pavements, the men who shouldered them a week before lying under ground now, or helping to fill the long trains of ambulances on their way from the field. The private houses in the town were, many of them, hospitals; little red flags hung from the upper windows. Besides our own men at the Lodge, we had soldiers scattered about whom we could help from our supplies; and nice little puddings and jellies, or an occasional chicken, were a great treat to men condemned by their wounds to stay in Gettysburg and obliged to live on what the empty town could provide. There was a colonel in a shoe-shop, a captain up the street, and a private round the corner, whose young sister had possessed herself of him, overcoming the military rules in the way, and carrying him off to a little inn, all by himself, where I found her doing her best with very little. She came afterward with our tent and got for him clean clothes, and food, and all he wanted, and was perfectly happy in being his cook, washerwoman, medical cadet and nurse. Beside such as these, I occasionally carried from our supplies something to the churches, which were filled with sick and wounded, and where men were dying—men whose strong patience it was very hard to bear—dying with thoughts of the old home far away, saying, as last words, for the one watching there and waiting with a pathos equal in its strength, "Tell her I love her."

One afternoon, too late for the cars, a train of ambulances arrived at our Lodge, with about one hundred wounded rebels, to be cared for through the night. Only one among them seemed too weak and faint to take anything. He was badly hurt, and failing. I went to him after his wound was dressed, and found him lying on his blanket stretched over the straw—a fair-haired, blue-eyed young lieutenant, a face innocent enough for one of our own New England boys. I could not think of him as a rebel, he was too near Heaven for that. He wanted nothing, had not been willing to eat for days, his comrades said; but I coaxed him to try a little milk gruel, made nicely with cream and brandy, and one of the satisfactions of three weeks is the remembrance of the look and cup I took away afterward, and his perfect enjoyment of that supper. "It was so good, the best thing he had had since he was wounded," and he thanked me so much, and talked about his "good supper" for hours. Poor creature, he had had no care, and it was a surprise and pleasure to find himself thought of; so, in a pleased, childlike way, he talked about it till midnight, the attendant told me, as long as he spoke of anything, for at midnight the change came, and from that time he only thought of the old days before he was a soldier, when he sang hymns in his father's church. He sang them now again, in a clear, sweet voice. "Lord, have mercy upon me;" and then songs without words—a sort of low intoning. His father was a Lutheran clergyman in South Carolina, one of the rebels told us in the morning, when we went into the tent, to find him sliding out of our care. All day long we watched him, sometimes fighting his battles over, oftener singing his Lutheran chants, till in at the tent door, close to which he lay, looked a rebel soldier, just arrived with other prisoners. He started when he saw the lieutenant, and quickly kneeling down by him, called, "Henry! Henry!" But Henry was looking at some one a great way off, and could not hear him. "Do you know this soldier?" we said. "Oh, yes, ma'am; and his brother is wounded and a prisoner, too, in the cars now." Two or three men stared after him, found him, and half carried him from the cars to our tent. "Henry" did not know him, though; and he threw himself down by his side on the straw, and for the rest of the day lay in a sort of apathy, without speaking, except to assure himself that he could stay with his brother, without the risk of being separated from his fellow-prisoners. And there the brothers lay, and there we strangers sat watching and listening to the strong, clear voice, singing, "Lord, have mercy upon me." The Lord had mercy, and at sunset I put my hand on the lieutenant's heart to find it still. All night the brother lay close against the coffin, and in the morning went away with his comrades, leaving us to bury Henry, having "confidence," but first thanking us for what we had done, and giving us all that he had to show his gratitude, the palmetto ornament from his brother's cap and a button from his coat. Dr. W. read the burial service that morning at the grave, and ——— wrote his name on the little head-board: "Lieut. Rauch, 14th Regt., S. Carolina Vol.

In the field, where we buried him, a number of colored freedmen, working for Government, on the railroad, had their camp, and every night they took their recreation after the heavy work of the day was over, in prayer meetings. Such an "inferior race," you know! We went over one night and listened for an hour, while they sang, collected under the fly of a tent, a table in the middle, where the leader sat, and benches all round the sides for the congregation, men only,—all very black and very earnest. They prayed with all their souls, as only black men and slaves can: for themselves and for the dear, white people who had come over to the meeting, and for "Massa Lincoln," for whom they seemed to have a reverential affection, some of them a sort of worship, which confused Father Abraham and Massa Abraham in one general call for blessings. Whatever else they asked for, they must have strength and comfort and blessing for "Massa Lincoln." Very little care was taken of these poor men. Those who were ill, during our stay, were looked after by one of the officers of the Commission. They were grateful for every little thing. Mrs. ——— went into the town and hunted up several dozen bright handkerchiefs, hemmed them, and sent them over to be distributed the next night after meeting. They were put on the table in the tent, and one by one, the men came up to get them. Purple, and blue, and yellow, the handkerchiefs were, and the desire of every man's heart fastened itself on a yellow one; they politely made way for each other, though, one man standing back to let another pass up first, although he ran the risk of seeing the particular pumpkin color that riveted his eyes taken from before them. When the distribution was over, each man tied his head up in his handkerchief and sang one more hymn, keeping time, all round, with blue and purple and yellow nods, and thanking and blessing the white people, in "their basket and in their store," as much as if the cotton handkerchiefs had all been gold leaf. One man came over to our tent, next day, to say: "Missus, was it you who sent me that present; I never had anything so beautiful in all my life before;" and he only had a blue one, too.

Among our wounded soldiers, one night, came an elderly man, sick, wounded and crazy, singing and talking about home. We did what we could for him, and pleased him greatly with a present of a red flannel shirt, drawers, and red calico dressing-gown, all of which he needed, and in which he dressed himself up, and then wrote a letter to his wife, made it [illegible] gave it to one of the gentlemen to mail for him. The next morning he was sent on with the company from the Lodge, and that evening two tired women came into our camp—his wife and sister, who hurried on from their home to meet him, arriving just too late. Fortunately we had the queer little gingham book to identify him by, and when some one said, "It is the man, you know, who screamed so," the poor wife was certain about him. He had been crazy before the war, but not for two years, now, she said. He had been fretting for home since he was hurt, and when the doctor told him there was no chance of his being sent there, he lost heart, and wrote to his wife to come and carry him away. It seemed almost hopeless for two lone women, who had never been out of their own little town, to succeed in finding a soldier among so many, sent in so many different directions, but we helped them as we could, and started them on their journey the next morning, back on their track, to use their common sense and Yankee privilege of questioning.

A week after, Mrs. ——— had a letter full of gratitude, and saying that the husband was found and secured for home. That same night we had had in our tents, two fathers, with their wounded sons, and a nice old German mother with her boy. She had come in from Wisconsin, and brought with her a patch-work bed quilt for her son, thinking he might have lost his blanket, and there he laid all covered up in his quilt, looking so homelike, and feeling so, too, no doubt, with his good old mother close at his side. She seemed bright and happy, had three sons in the army—one had been killed—this one wounded, yet she was so pleased with the tents, and the care she saw taken there of the soldiers, that while taking her tea from a barrel head as table, she said, "Indeed, if she was a man, she'd be a soldier, too, right off."

For this temporary sheltering and feeding of all these wounded men, Government could make no provision. There was nothing for them if too late for the cars, except the open field and hunger, in preparation for their fatiguing journey. It is expected when the cars are ready that the men will be promptly sent to meet them, and Government cannot provide for mistakes and delays, so that but for the Sanitary Commission's Lodge, and comfortable supplies, for which the wounded are indebted to the hard workers at home, men, badly hurt, must have suffered night and day, while waiting for the "next train." We had on an average sixty of such men each night for three weeks under our care, sometimes one hundred, sometimes only thirty, and with the "delegation," and the help of other gentlemen volunteers, who all worked devotedly for the mens the whole thing was a great success, and you, and all of us can't help being thankful that we had a share, however small, in making it so.—Sixteen thousand good meals were given; hundreds of men kept through the day, and twelve hundred sheltered at night, their wounds dressed, their supper and breakfast secured, rebel, and all. You will not, I am sure, regret that these most wretched men, these "enemies," "sick and in prison," were helped and cared for, through your supplies, though, certainly, they were not in your minds when you packed your barrels and boxes. The clothing we reserved for our own men, except now and then, when a shivering rebel needed it, but in feeding them, we could make no distinctions. It was curious to see, among our workers at the Lodge, the disgust and horror felt for rebels, giving place to the kindest feeling for wounded men.

Our three weeks were coming to an end; the work of transporting the wounded was nearly over; twice daily we had filled and emptied our tents, and twice fed the trains before the long journey. The men came in slowly at the last, a Lieutenant, all the way from Oregon, being among the very latest. He came down from the Corps Hospitals (now greatly improved,) having lost one foot, poor fellow, dressed in a full suit of the Commission's cotton clothes, just as bright and as cheerful as the first man, and all the men that we received had been.—We never heard a complaint. "Would he like a little nice soup?" "Well, no, thank you, ma'am;" hesitating and polite. "You have a long ride before you, and had better take a little; I'll just bring it and you can try." So the good, thick soup came. He took a very little in the spoon to please me, and afterwards the whole cupful to please himself. He "did not think it was this kind of soup I meant.—He had some in camp, and did not think he cared for any more; his 'cook' was a very small boy, though, who just put some meat in a little water and stirred it round." "Would you like a handkerchief?" and I produced our last one, with a hem and cologne too. "Oh, yes; that is what I need; I have lost mine, and was just borrowing this gentleman's." So the Lieutenant, the last man, was made comfortable, thanks to all of you, though he had but one foot to carry him on his long journey home.

Four thousand soldiers, too badly hurt to be moved, were still left in Gettysburg, cared for kindly and well at the large, new Government hospital, with a Sanitary Commission attached.

Our work was over, our tents were struck, and we came away after a flourish of trumpets, from two military bands who filed down to our door and gave us a farewell, "Red, white and blue."

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, NOVR 18, 1863.

☞ We are glad to inform our readers in Danvers that we have secured the services of H. L. HADLEY, Esq., who will take particular pains to furnish for our columns reports of all matters of local interest occurring in that and the towns of Wenham, Topsfield and Middleton. Mr. HADLEY is a young member of the bar and has taken the office of our late Assistant Editor, now 1st Lieutenant in the 2d Artillery.

U. S. SANITARY COMMISSION.

By the following letter, written to Mrs. H. COOK, President of the South Danvers Ladies' Soldiers' Aid Society, from the United States Sanitary Commission, it appears that our patriotic ladies are still pursuing their noble work with the same assiduity that has characterized their efforts during the past two or three years:

BOSTON, Oct. 30, 1863.

MRS. COOK:—Dear Madam,—I have much pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of a barrel of hospital clothing, etc., from your Ladies' Soldiers' Aid Society. The contents are most welcome. We shall send part of them to Washington and part to New Orleans, from which place we have just received a long list of articles needed. We find now that as cold weather is advancing, the call is principally for flannel underclothing, quilts, socks, dressing gowns and such warm, comfortable articles.

I enclose a small pamphlet called "Three Weeks at Gettysburg"—[see first page—ED.]—which I think your ladies will find interesting. It is a private letter, written by a New York lady who has devoted herself to the service of the sick and wounded ever since the beginning of the war.

Respectfully yours,
HARRIET APPLETON,
Executive Committee.

UNION LEAGUE.—The committee on the formation of an open Union League in this town, have so far attended to their duties as to prepare a series of resolutions and by-laws pertaining to its organization and government. These are now in the hands of the printer, and they will soon be laid before the public. We see no reason why South Danvers cannot have a Union League as efficient as the one in the neighboring city of Salem.

WAR MEETING.—It has been decided to have another war meeting in this town soon after the Legislature settles the bounty business. A committee of arrangements, consisting of Wm. H. Little, Isaac Hardy and C. D. Howard have been appointed to make all the necessary arrangements. This meeting will probably be followed up by others.

P. S.—The meeting will probably take place next Monday Evening.

WAR MEETINGS.

A very enthusiastic war meeting was held in the vestry of the Congregational Church in Hamilton, on Thursday evening last. The meeting was called to order by Mr. DANIEL SAFFORD, who, after making some appropriate remarks upon the object of the meeting, nominated the Hon. ALLEN W. DODGE for President.

Mr. DODGE, on taking the chair, addressed the audience for a few minutes in his usual earnest and eloquent style, and then introduced H. L. HADLEY, Esq., who made a short but patriotic speech upon the importance of immediately furnishing the volunteers now called for by the President, that the rebellion may be brought to a speedy and successful issue.

The Hon. I. W. ANDREWS was the next speaker. He spoke at considerable length upon the necessity of preserving the Union, which he said could only be done by raising such a force as would be sufficient to at once crush the rebellion and aid in the enforcement of the Constitution and Laws. His speech was highly interesting, and much applauded.

The next and last speaker was Lieut. A. A. PUTNAM. He gave an encouraging view of the progress of the war, and made a forcible appeal to the young men to come forward to the rescue of their country, showing them that their social happiness and civil liberties depended wholly upon our success in this great contest for freedom. He thought that if we could put 300,000 men immediately into the field, the days of the rebellion would be numbered. His speech was finished, eloquent, and received with great enthusiasm.

On Friday evening there was also a war meeting in Topsfield. There was a very large attendance, and it is hoped that much good will result from it. A part of the regimental band, belonging to the 2d Regiment of Heavy Artillery, were present, and their excellent music added much to the interest of the occasion. The speakers from out of town were Messrs. ANDREWS, HADLEY, and Lieut. PUTNAM of Danvers, and Capt. LULL of the 2d Heavy Artillery.

Notwithstanding the rain storm of Monday night, the war meeting appointed to take place at Wenham, was held, and the Town Hall was filled, every available spot being occupied, and the audience quite largely composed of ladies. A part of the band of the 2d Artillery came down in the afternoon and entertained the citizens of the village with their fine music, and in the evening Col. FRANKLE, accompanied by some of his officers, arrived.

RUFUS DODGE, Esq., Chairman of the Selectmen, presiding, made some appropriate remarks, and afterwards introduced as speakers, Col. FRANKLE, Hon. I. W. ANDREWS, Mr. CHAS. PAGE, Lieut. PUTNAM, Capt. LULL and H. L. HADLEY, Esq., who made stirring addresses which elicited much applause.

Hon. Mr. BENSON, ex-member of Congress from Maine, who happened to be in the audience, was, towards the close of the meeting, called upon, and made a very eloquent and patriotic speech.

The meeting was highly satisfactory to those present, as was evident from the attention and interest manifested to the close.

DEATH OF LIEUT. JAMES HILL, OF DANVERS.—A telegraphic despatch received Monday night, the 2d inst., announced the death of Lieut. JAMES HILL, of Danvers. He was killed at the battle of Chattanooga, Oct. 29th. Lieut. Hill was a fine young man, a brave officer and leaves many friends who will deeply mourn his death. He served as a private in the Salem Mechanic Light Infantry during the first three months of the war—enlisted in the 33d Regiment, was in a short time made Orderly Sergeant, and last June promoted to a 2d Lieutenancy. His career as a soldier has been most honorable to him, and as a young man of sterling character and decided ability, his death is a loss to the regiment and the army. Lieut. Hill was an orphan and leaves an only sister. He was the adopted son of his uncle, Mr. William Green, of Danvers.

THE GREAT ORGAN.—The Boston papers are enthusiastic in their accounts of the formal inauguration of the Great Organ at the Boston Music Hall. This organ is the largest in the world, except one at Ulm, in Germany, and inferior in quality or compass to none yet built.—The audience is declared to have been without exception, the most thoroughly select—embracing more of the solid strength, power, wealth, fashion and beauty of "our society," than any ever before gathered within four public walls in Boston.

RETURNED.—C. A. Gardner, of Saunders' Sharp shooters, and N. C. Harris of the Nineteenth Regiment. Mr Gardner is, we believe, discharged, and Mr. Harris is on a sick furlough. Both of them have rendered good service to their country.

☞ The quota of New York, under the new call, is 35,000.

INTERESTING RELICT.—In the old Washington Lodge room, at Alexandria, Va., where the "Father of his country" used to engage in Masonic labor, is a relict which every son of New England may feel proud of. It consists of a model of a three decker., its broadsides contrived to run out upon touching a concealed spring. Upon the attached card is the following inscription:

"THE AMERICA. Model of a ship of the line, being the first that was built in the United States. During the Revolution, Congress resolved that each State should build a ship of 74 guns, and New Hampshire was the only State which carried that order into complete effect. Toward the close of the war, a French 74, while nobly aiding the American cause, was accidentally lost on a shoal off Cape Cod, Massachusetts, and Congress, gratified for past services, reinstated their loss, by giving the 74, (of which this model is a representation,) to the French Government. The ship was built and equipped at the highly loyal and patriotic town, Portsmouth, the Capital of New Hampshire, and the war having ended, she sailed for France; however, previous to her departure, the Viscount de Barras, an officer on boarp, made this miniature and sent it to Gen. George Washington Parke Custis, Esq., and by the latter it was presented to this Museum, January 5, 1812."

RUTH'S SACRIFICE, OR LIFE ON THE RAPPAHANNOCK.—This interesting work, written by Mrs. EMILY C. PEARSON, of Newburyport, has already passed through five editions, and the author is now engaged in preparing a sixth for the press. The story is one of Southern life, the scenes being laid in Virginia, in localities full of interest at the present time. Those who have read this book speak in high terms of its many points of excellence as a truthful and not overdrawn picture of slave life, by one who has witnessed the scenes she depicts, and paints from reality and not her imagination. The agent will soon be in town to canvass.

☞ Dr. Cumming, the celebrated English divine, who sees signs of the physical destruction of the earth in everything, is again predicting the end of the world in 1867, before which the final great battle of the nations is to be fought near Jerusalem, in which France, Russia and England are to be combatants.

COAL.—The Boston Courier says,—"A public sentiment in favor of removing the duty on coal is rapidly gaining strength;" and the New York World is "informed by dealers in coal, that the high price of the article is not due to the extravagant rates the workmen charge, but to a combination among the leading coal companies."

☞ The books of Adjutant General Schouler show that eighty-three thousand nine hundred men have gone forth from this Commonwealth, to fight the battles of the country, since the first gun was fired at Sumter. This is exclusive of the persons enlisted in the Navy, which would swell the aggregate to nearly one hundred thousand.

☞ The 6th Ohio Cavalry voted unanimously for Brough, and this in the face of the enemy under Gen. Lee. They stuck up a placard on a tree to the following effect, leaving it for the information of the rebels who were following them: "The 6th Ohio Cavalry vote for Brough; nary vote for Vallandigham."

☞ The Richmond people say that when they go to market they have to take their money in their baskets and carry home their beef in their pocket books. The currency is so depreciated that the market men will not exchange meat for money, bulk for bulk.

☞ Ten thousand Irishmen recently held a meeting on the mountains of Tipperary, and declared their determination to continue to agitate for a seperate nationality, and pledged themselves not to vote again for members of the English Parliament.

☞ Capt. J. M. Richardson has enlisted 102 men for his company of Heavy Artillery, which will be stationed in the forts now being built for the defence of Salem, and the company will probably be transferred to Winter Island Barracks early next week.

☞ "I honor the reverence to noble tombs too implicitly to believe that any living great man can equal a dead great man. A dead great man is a shrined ideal of excellence; a living great man is a struggling fellow mortal."

☞ The Unionists and Emancipationists carried the Maryland election by 25,000 majority. Four of the Congressmen are for the administration and one is a secessionist.

☞ The milkmen of Springfield, Lynn, Hartford, Philadelphia, and other places, have raised tneir prices to six cents a quart. Alas! for the infantry corps.—Ex.

☞ The number of rebel prisoners taken in Virginia within a week is 2500. If we could do that every week for a year we should make such a hole as to let daylight through their ranks.

GEN. BANKS' expedition has landed safely on the Texas shore of the Rio Grande, after losing one or two vessels in a norther, but no lives.

A boat's crew and seven soldiers were, however, drowned while disembarking.—The rebels evacuated Fort Brown, setting fire to the works there.

Brownsville was also set fire to by a few rebel cavalry, but the Union men turned out and extinguished it, when the rebel cavalry were joined by secessionists in the town and a terrific street fight was going on, the houses burning around them.

The 15th Maine regiment was immediately ordered to march on the place. A Maine regiment was the first to land on the Texas shore, an Iowa regiment almost immediately after, and then their regimental flags were raised almost simultaneously.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—There will be a course of Scientific Lectures under the auspices of the Essex Institute, at Lyceum Hall, Salem, commencing tomorrow evening.

Browning & Long are opening goods purchased for their establishment in Vienna.

The Salem and South Danvers Horse Railroad Company are issuing proposals for a large quantity of hay.

The Salem Temperance League have made arrangements with Mr. Gilmore of the Boston Brass Band for a course of three more concerts, similar to the last one, provided sufficient encouragement is given. A subscription paper will be left in this town.

Dr. Kittredge publishes a card.

John H. Choate announces that he is agent for the unrivalled Singer Sewing Machines; he is also general agent for other kinds.

Mr. E. F. Osborn has a new lot of choice brands of flour.

Mr. F. S. Peck, Clothing Dealer, has an advertisement.

☞ Information has been received of the death of Peter Dodge, of Wenham, who went out in Co. B, 22d Regiment. He was killed at the Battle of Gaines' Hill, June 27th, 1862. This is the first definite account that has been received from him since he was reported missing. He was a very worthy citizen and good soldier—and leaves a little daughter and many friends to mourn his loss.

☞ The exclamation of the country girl when she saw the bridal loaf her intended had bought, was quite as expressive as elegant: "O, John!" she exclaimed, "ain't that a lunker?"

☞ A London girl, seven years old, died recently with passion. She had quarreled with her little sister, and became so enraged as to bring on a fit of appoplexy.

☞ All the girls with pretty feet and ankles are in favor of the new fashion of short dresses. All those neat enough to like clean stockings are in favor of the same fashion.

☞ At a spiritual circle the other evening, a gentleman requested the medium to ask what amusement was most popular in the spiritual world. The reply was, "Reading our own obituary notices."

☞ A man in California has a pack of dogs which he sends out in the morning to forage. They visit the neighbor's premises and bring back hens, ducks and geese.

☞ Several gentlemen in Boston have subscribed ten thousand dollars for a marble statue of Edwin Forrest, in the character of Coriolanus. It is to be of the heroic size.

☞ Grace Greenwood in a lecture on children, says, "we know by babies crying for the moon, that heaven is nearer to them than to us."

☞ "Man," said Adam Smith, "is an animal that makes bargains. No other animal does this—no dog exchanges bones with another."

☞ The story of the destruction of Calhoun's statute in Charleston by one of Gilmore's shells seems to be confirmed.

☞ A firm in Chicago did not discover a trifling mistake of $250,000 in their income until an officer called their attention to it.

☞ There are 8,000 teams connected with the Army of the Potomac. If placed in a single line they would extend over 60 miles.

☞ The Salem people propose to devote Winter Island to summer residences, and the city authorities are laying it out to be leased for that purpose.

☞ Eleven million dollars were expended by the Sanitary Commission, from June to October.

☞ One town in Vermont has elected a Mormon to represent it in the Legislature.

ESCAPE FROM FIRE.—On Tuesday last, one o'clock in the afternoon, as Mr. Ed Rea the Tyler of Essex Lodge of Masons, to the hall in Asiatic Bank building, to preparations for a meeting that evening discovered smoke in the entry of the story, and by his exertions in ascertaining cause, probably saved the building fro truction by fire. The smoke proceeded fr room occupied by Mr. Osgood, which door being opened was found densely with smoke, the door of the stove having out and firebrands lying on the floor.—Ga 19th inst.

☞ Chickamauga Creek, which g name to the recent battle, is an In name, signifying "river of death."

☞ Gen. Sickles says there will s be one hundred thousand African sold in the Union army.

ESSEX INSTITUTE.

The Course of SCIENTIFIC LECTUR will commence on THURSDAY EVENIN Nov. 19th, at 7.30 o'clock, and be continu on Thursday Evenings at the Lyceum Hall.

These Lectures will treat on subjects c nected with Geology, Astronomy, Botany, ology, &c.

1st Lecture by Dr. C. T. JACKSON of B ton, on "The Science and Art of Mining." Other lectures may be expected from the f lowing gentlemen:

Prof. BENJAMIN PIERCE of Cambrid
CHARLES W. TUTTLE, Esq., of Bost
Messrs. N. E. ATWOOD of Provincetow
C. M. TRACY of Lynn;
and others, whose names will be announc hereafter.

Tickets for the course $1.00 each. May had at the Bookstores.

H. WHEATLAND,
Salem, Nov. 18. Secretary

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—This popular mont ly, claimed to be the best and cheapest in t world, has already been received for Decemb The next number commences a new volum and is the time when subscriptions should co mence. In 1864 it will have nearly 1000 pag of letter press that will interest every lady 25 to 30 steel plates—12 colored patterns, an 900 wood engravings—and all for the smal pittance of $2, or one dollar less than maga zines of its class. Aside from ordinary mag zine matter, it has a department entitled "Ou New Cook Book," in which are published, i each number, a dozen or more original House hold Receipts, every one of which is tested be fore publishing. It also gives new and fashion able music, hints on horticulture, equestrianis and all matters interesting to ladies. Send t the publisher, Charles J. Peterson, Philadel phia, for a specimen copy.

SCIENTIFIC LECTURES.—The course of le tures under the direction of the Essex Institu will commence at the Lyceum Hall, on Thurs day evening next, at 7½ o'clock, by Dr. C. T Jackson, on the Science and Art of Mining.—See advertisement.

WHERE GO THE LADIES?

Where go all the Ladies now?
The answer's very plain, I trow,
They go where goods are cheap and nice,
Where much is bought for little price,
By all who call, both high and low,
And that's the place where Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies, friend?
I'll tell you where they're apt to wend,
With tripping feet or in the cars—
By light of day or moon and stars,
To Peabody's they constant flow,
And that is where the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? Sure
They go where choicest things allure,
Where Hose and Gloves are cheaply sold
And Worsted goods protect from cold,
And Breakfast Shawls are wondrous low,
And that's where all the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? True
They go to find what's scarce and new,
They seek for Ribbons rich and rare
At Peabody's with greatest care,
And then they make a splendid show,
And that's where all the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? Where?
They seek the place where trade is fair,
And go betimes at eve or morning,
To Peabody's for their adorning,
So surely now you ought to know
The place where all the Ladies go.

FROM VIENNA,
AND OPEN TO-DAY
—AT—
BROWNING & LONG'S.

CHOICE AND ELEGANT ARTICLES.

BRONZE CARD RECEIVERS;
GRECIAN ASH BOXES;
BRONZE CANDLESTICKS;
BRONZE CIGAR STANDS;
CANDLESTICKS with MATCH RECEIVERS;
BRONZE WATCH STANDS;
BRONZE INKSTANDS;
ANTIQUE CUPS;
CUIR BELTS with BAGS;
CUIR WATCH POUCHES;
CUIR BARS;
Oxynile of Silver SLEEVE BUTTONS;
CORAL BRACELETS;
CORAL COMBS;
CORAL SCARF PINS;
INITIAL SLEEVE BUTTONS;
GENT'S SCARF RINGS;
AMBER BALL COMBS;
HORN BALL COMBS;
BRAZILIAN BALL COMBS.

These goods were purchased by a friend of our Establishment in Vienna, and were received by last steamer. Being from the first hands, we are enabled to offer them much lower than the usual rates.

We cordially invite the Ladies to call and examine the same.

Nov. 18. BROWNING & LONG.

☞ Our thanks are due to WRIGHT & PORTER, State printers, for a copy of Governor Andrew's address before the two branches of the Legislature, Nov. 11th.

FLOWERS.—New Flowers in nice styles at our usual low prices opened to-day.
JOHN P. PEABODY.

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS.—New styles, opened to-day at PEABODY'S.

FLOWERS.—New flowers, at PEABODY'S.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR CROCKERY.—First quality of White Granite Ware, marked down and selling at 20 per cent less than cost, by C. T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 Lowell Street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 9th, schs Francis, Conant, Bangor; Pearl, Robinson, Rockland; 13th, Nelly Potter, Sheppard, and R G Porter, Smith, Philadelphia; Ada Herbert, Linnehan, and Niger, Thompson, New York

Marriages.

In this town, Nov. 13th, by Rev Mr Barber, Mr Sebut F Taylor to Miss Elizabeth J Sillers, both of South Danvers.

In Salem, Nov. 12th, by Rev Dr Mills, Mr Cyrus H Emery to Miss Sally A Fifield, both of Salem.

In Danvers, by Rev Mr Lerned, Mr David M Seates to Mrs Caroline R Bavard.

In Marblehead, Oct 10th, by Rev Mr Allen, Mr Frank Graves to Miss Martha A Lemon.

Deaths.

In this town, Nov 13, Mrs Mary Ann, wife of the late John Allen of Salem, aged 37 yrs.

14th, Harriet Augusta, daughter of Wentworth Winchester, aged 18 years.

16th, Mary E, daughter of John C Dalton, 19 years.

16th, Jennie, daughter of C. Leonard and Ellen Peirce, aged about 2 months.

In Danvers, Nov. 9, James Russell Esq., of Haverhill, 64 years.

In Salem Nov 8th, Samuel A, son of George W and Ann Maria Allen, 2 yrs 10 mos; 9th, Margaret, daughter of the late Mr Erastus Lloyd, 5 yrs 5 mos; 10th, Charles Henry, son of Jonathan R and Mary Church, 5 yrs 1 mo 19 days; 11th, Mr Henry McIntire, 50 yrs 9 mos 8 days; Bryan, son of Bryan and Julia O'Conner, 16 months; 12th, Charlotte Anna, daughter of Thomas D, and Mary Halley, 2 yrs 3 mos 12 days; 13th, Miss Love Rawlings Pickman, 77 yrs 7 mos 3 days; 14th, Mrs Hannah, widow of the late Mr James Holland, 74 years; Mr William McCormich, 52 yrs; 15th, Mrs Caroline L, wife of Mr Charles F Pinkham 28 yrs 8 mos 8 days.

In Beverly, Nov 5, Mr John Shackley, 31 yrs 6 mos—a member of Co E, Heavy Artillery and formerly of the 17th Mass Regt.

Jordan Lodge.

Meeting to elect officers this (Wednesday) Evening, November 18, at 7½ o'clock.
JOHN O. POOR, Sec'y.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS .....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS ..... PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES... PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

Proposals for Hay.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the subscriber till Saturday, Nov. 28th, at 12 o'clock, M. for supplying 200 tons of the best quality English Hay, and 80 tons of Meadow Hay, to be delivered at the stable of the Salem and South Danvers Rail road Co. during the ensuing year in such quantities and at such times as the subscriber may designate, all to be delivered prior to Nov. 1st, 1864. Proposals will be received for the whole or a part of the quantity.
MOSES H. HALE,
Superintendent S. & S. D. R. R. Co.
Salem, Nov. 16th. 1863. 2w

A Card.

NUMEROUS applications having been made for a Course of FIRST CLASS CONCERTS in this City, the managers of the SALEM TEMPERANCE LEAGUE take pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been made with Mr. GILMORE for a course of THREE CONCERTS, provided sufficient encouragement shall be given.

The Concerts to be of the same character as that given recently under the auspices of the League.

Subscription papers at $1 00 for the Course, may be found at the Bookstores of Messrs. George Creamer, Henry P. Ives, Whipple & Smith, and D. B. Brooks & Brother.

Salem, November 18, 1863.

DR. E. F. KITTREDGE,
From Lowell, formerly of New Ipswich, N. H., Has removed his office and residence to
NO. 42 MAIN STREET,
SOUTH DANVERS, MASS.
Dr. K., from an extensive and successful professional experience of upwards of twenty years, feels justified in saying that he can treat diseases to the satisfaction of his patients, and to the credit of himself.
Office hours from 7 to 9 A. M., and from 6 to 9 P. M.
South Danvers, Nov 13, 1863.

S. F. BACHELDER, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office and Residence at
No. 15 Main Street,
First door south of Warren Bank Building.
South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.*

DR. J. M. CROSVENOR,
Respectfully announces to the citizens of South Danvers that he has located himself in said town; his office may be found in
TRASK'S BUILDING,
ON MAIN STREET,
Residence No. 66 Main Street, next house below the Peabody Institute.
South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.

H. L. HADLEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
Danvers.
Claims against the Government for Bounty, Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to.

Gentlemen's Gloves,
ON HAND every kind and quality of Gloves suitable for dress, driving and working, at the VERY LOWEST PRICES—at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
228 Essex street, Stearns' Block.

Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods.
NEW STYLES receiv daily. Just opened a choice lot of Scarfs and Ties. Also, Gloves of every kind, Collars, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, &c, to which I invite the attention of all in want.
GEORGE S. WALKER,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
No. 228 Essex st, Stearns' Building.

Gentlemen's Underwear.
POSITIVELY the Largest Assortment to be found in the County—at the Lowest Prices at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Dealer in Gent's Furnishing Goods & Toilet Articles, opposite Eastern Railroad Station.

The Singer Manufacturing Co's
LETTER A SEWING MACHINE
For Family Use and Light Manufacturing Purposes, is on exhibition and for sale
AT ASHLAND HALL,
SOUTH DANVERS SQUARE,
—BY—
JOHN H. CHOATE,
Agent for the sale of
SEWING MACHINES,
SILK, THREAD, NEEDLES, COTTONS, &c., &c.
—Also—
Paraffine Sewing Machine Oil,
The best oil for all kinds of light machinery.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

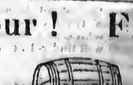
List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Nov. 17, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Hiram Allen	John T. Mulrenin
Mary A. Carter	Owen Mullane
Sarah Forbes	D W Putnam
Mary B Galeucia	J Redmond
Sarah E Graves	W F Trask
Michael Jordan	Patrick Tumy
Peter Joll	Jos Taylor
Sarah N Larrabee	Benj H Taylor
John Lithgow	Levi P Whitney
N. P. Merriam	Dan'l M Wescott
James Murphy	Eunice B Wells
Harriet R Marston

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.
DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

NEW STORE!
Flour! Flour!



JUST RECEIVED, a fresh supply of CHOICE BRANDS, direct from the Mills, for sale, wholesale and retail, at LOWEST PRICES, by
E. F OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

BLACKS GENERAL ATLAS
OF the World—new edition containing the new boundaries, all the latest discoveries, and a complete index of sixty-five thousand names, bound in half English morocco, price $15. G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX.
THE session of Congress, commencing Dec. 1st, will probably be the most interesting session we have had since the war of 1812. It will contain a report of all the Debates of the session, revised by the speakers; the Messages of the President of the United States; the Reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments; the Laws passed during the session, and copious indexes to all. Published weekly or at short intervals, in Quarto form, the session making about 4000 pages. Price to subscribers $6 00 for the session, payable in advance, postage free.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH, 190 Essex St., are agents for the above, for Salem and vicinity. Also agents for the Daily Globe newspaper. Price $6 00 in advance. nov 18

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,
Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,
CIVIL AND MILITARY,
Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No. 5.
J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. P. MCLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

R. W. WILKINSON,
DEALER IN
Newspapers, Periodicals, and Stationery of every Description.
FOREIGN and DOMESTIC FRUITS, consisting of Oranges, Lemons, Dates, Figs, Prunes, &c., &c.
Sauces, Pickles and Preserves; Castana, Naples and English Walnuts; Hard, Soft and Paper-shelled Almonds; choice brands of Tobacco and Cigars; also a general assortment of Confectionery of every description.
Also a large and well selected stock of Toys, suitable for children and the Holiday Gifts.
Ice Cream furnished to parties at short notice and in quantities to suit. Wedding Cake and every variety of nice cake furnished to parties or families.
STORE—WARREN BANK BUILDING.
South Danvers, Nov'r 11, 1863.

ROUGH PAPERS,
FOR Letters and Notes—the fashionable style. Envelopes to match. Look at them.
nov 11 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SECOND HAND BOOKS.
FROM our Circulating Library—duplicate copies for sale at half price.
oct 21 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

WOODEN WARE.
WOOD Bowls and Trays; Rolling Pins; Past Boards; Sieves; Mortars; and every description of Wooden Ware, for sale by
S C & E A SIMONDS.

KNIVES AND FORKS.
IVORY, Rubber, Bone, and Horn Handled Knives and Forks of the best quality—at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

John P. Peabody.

Ladies' Furnishing Goods.

LADIES—We wish to call your attention to our stock of Ladies' Furnishing Goods, feeling confident that we have many desirable goods not to be found at any other store. We have many decided bargains to offer, as we have bought our goods for Cash, which in these times will buy much cheaper than the best of credit. While we have saved in buying, we have always been satisfied with a smaller profit for the cash, than those who sell on credit. The advantages are,—

1st. We buy with Cash and buy cheaper.
2d. We sell for Cash at a smaller profit.
3d. We do not have to charge our paying customers a large per cent. to make up for those who do not pay.
4th. The Cash enables us to buy where ever they have the best styles, not being confined to a few houses where they will give us credit.
5th. With your Cash you can buy from 20 to 25 per cent. less than you can with credit.

EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND SEE IF THESE ARE TRUE STATEMENTS.

We invite a comparison of quality and prices. JOHN P. PEABODY.

Hand Made Worsted Goods in every variety.
SHAWLS, SONTAGS,
HOODS,
CAPS,
SLEEVES,
GAITERS,
MITTENS, &c.

LADIES' UNDER-WEAR.
MERINO VESTS,
PANTS,
CORSETS,
SKIRTS, &c
—AT—
PEABODY'S,
220 Essex Street, Salem.

OUR WORSTEDS.
We invite your especial attention to our Stock of Zephyr Worsteds, as we have done all in our power to make it choice and desirable. It is the largest stock in Essex County, and we shall as we always have done, sell them at lower prices than any of our competitors. We have all the fine colors at prices from 17 to 22 cents per ounce. We have also a full stock of hand-knit and machine made Hoods, Sontags, Nubias, Clouds, Sleeves, Mittens, &c.
JOHN P. PEABODY.

TRIMMINGS.
Buttons, Bindings,
Braids, Cords,
Hooks & Eyes
&c., &c., &c.

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.
KID GLOVES—a fresh Stock;
Ladies', Misses', and Children's Hosiery and Gloves in great variety.

LADIES!
We call your attention to our Stock, being fully confident that we can offer you many decided bargains.
Our prices as heretofore will be the very lowest.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,
JOHN P. PEABODY.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

Cloak Opening.
WE SHALL OPEN NEW STYLES
WINTER CLOAKS, SATURDAY, OCT. 25.
JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO., 188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.
FROM NEW YORK.
We have received from New York a large stock of
CLOTHS FOR LADIES' CLOAKS,
comprising Sackings, Meltons, Frosted Beavers, Plush Beavers, Velvet Beavers, Petersham Beavers, Black Castor Beavers, Doeskins, German Broadcloths, Flannels, etc., also Buttons and Trimmings to match.
[These Cloths, comprising the best grades of their kind, we are prepared to make to order from measure in the most workmanlike and tasteful manner.]
We have received also many novelties in SHAWLS, for the Autumn and Winter Trade.—[We offer a special bargain in Shawls, at $4.25.]
JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.
Oct'r 21, 1863.

Men's Clothing.
In this department can be found the Latest Styles, the Best Goods, and the Largest Assortment in Essex County. We have our best Goods made to our order. Gentlemen in want of a
GOOD OVERCOAT,
or a good fitting suit of Clothes, are invited to call and examine and decide for themselves whether it is for their interest to get a suit made or buy at F. S. PECK'S and save money. 240 is the place.

Three Small Boys Lost! Their father found them at 240, and fitted them to a good suit of Clothing. If your boys should be missing at any time, 240 is the place to find them or clothe them at low prices.

Boys' Clothing.
We have fitted up a large room expressly for Boys' CLOTHING, where can be found a large assortment of the latest styles Over-Coats, Under-Coats, Pants, Vests, Jackets and Suits. We have our best goods made to our order, and have pieces saved so that customers can have a small piece with the suits. 240 is the only store in Essex County where you can find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing. Call at 240 and decide whether the above is true. F. S. PECK.

We don't believe in letting the boys go to Boston to buy their Clothing, and pay more than the same goods are sold for at PECK'S, 240 Essex Street.

240

TWO BOYS RUN OVER.—A Lady and two Boys were seen to get out of the Horse Cars, and the Boys started and run right over into 240, and were fitted to a good suit of clothes at low prices. 240 is the place.

Furnishing Goods.
The Latest Styles in this department can be found and as large an assortment of as Good Goods as in any store in Salem. Men's and Boys' Under [illegible] and Drawers, all sizes; Men's and Boys' Gloves and Socks, all sizes and prices, from 15c to $2 50; Braces 15 cts to $2 25; White and Fancy Shirts, Stocks, Ties, Collars, Bosoms. Also, a large assortment of FANCY GOODS. You can save money by purchasing your Furnishing Goods at
F. S. PECK'S, 240.

☞ Visit the Boys' Clothing Department, at 240, if you wish to find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing, all prices.

Hats and Caps.
In this department can be found the Latest Styles and the best quality of Goods, which will be sold at a small profit.
We sell you a Coat or a pair of Pants or a suit of Clothes, and make a small profit, thus enabling us to afford to sell you a Hat or Cap low, and we are GOING TO DO IT. That's What's the Matter.
☞ 240 is the place to buy Hats and Caps.

The public are respectfully invited to call and examine the assortment, and see if what we say is true.
F. S. PECK,
240 Essex street, Salem.

DENTAL NOTICE.
NITROUS OXIDE GAS,
FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.
IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.
Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.
Oct. 3—mo.

M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURER TO ORDER
WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
At 236 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street.
SALEM, MASS.

ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANAC,
FOR 1864, with beautiful and colored illustrations. It contains much valuable information.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.
Nov. 4.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
MUSIC ROOMS, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

JUST RECEIVED,
AND NOW OPENING,
—A—
RICH STOCK
—OF—
Millinery Goods,
Consisting of
BONNET HATS,
RIBBON FLOWERS,
FEATHERS, &C.,
—AT—
REITH & CO'S.
188 Essex Street (No. 2 West Block),
Nearly opposite Central Street.
Salem, Oct 21, 1863. 3m

PIANO FORTES.

I HAVE those splendid Extra-Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Manner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melodeons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every particular.
S. MACKINTIRE, General Agent.
No. 218 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

Co-Partnership Notice.
I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. HIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)
JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!
ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.
We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.
SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.
oct 14

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.
APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.
181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

George S. Walker.
WINTER GLOVES,
THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT in the city—at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
nov 4 228 Essex st., Stearns' Block.

Gentlemen's Underwear.
IN every seasonable material, for sale at the LOWEST PRICES, by
GEORGE S. WALKER,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
228 Essex st., Stearns' Building.

SCARFS AND NECK TIES.
THE BEST QUALITIES! The most choice styles can be found at
GEO. S. WALKER,
Dealer in Men's Furnishing Goods and Toilet Articles, Opp. Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co
CLOAKS! CLOAKS!
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
WILL OPEN THIS MORNING
A LARGE STOCK OF
CLOAKS AND SACKS.
Price from $7 to $25 00.
Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.
Blacks and Colors
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES.
Which we are prepared to make into garments per order, in the very best manner, and at
LOWEST PRICES.
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Nov 4

Hoop Skirts at Cost.
WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost. A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
—BY—
C. T. SOUTHWICK.
FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

Horse Railroad Notice.
SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.
ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.
SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.
From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.
M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL
OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand
Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Red and White Ash.
Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.
OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 10—tf

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.
WARREN BANK.
U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,
For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.
FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.
South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

SOMETHING NEW AND USEFUL.
JUST received from the Manufacturers, N. HAYWARD & Co., Ladies' and Children's RUBBER SOLED BALMORALS,
warranted—at less prices than all leather, and better than any other Shoes.
Also, Bailey & Sayles's Large WRINGER, on a Bench—suitable for a large family.
Also, 400 doz Brown Windsor Soap, at 50 cents per doz.
B. COLMAN,
Nov. 4, 1863. 10 Front S., Salem.

Executor's Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the will of ANNA BUXTON, late of South Danvers, in the County of Essex, widow, deceased, testate, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to
WILLIAM WOLCOTT, Executor.
South Danvers, Nov. 4, 1863

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY when purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, 10 Front street, Salem.

Auction Sale
WILLIAM ARCHER,
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Stock bought and sold on Commission.
ON SATURDAY NEXT, will be sold at No. 34 Front
A QUANTITY of new and furniture: Sofas, Cane Seat Beds, Stoves, 1 Fairbanks' weighs 1600 lbs.
Also—An invoice of Clothing and Vests.
Also—20 dozen silver plated silver plated tea spoons.
Also—3 boxes Baker's break pound papers, 4 cases Cream of tin cans, 6 boxes "Upper ten" to Powhattan do, 6 boxes ground clocks, warranted.

FALL AND WINTER
AT
GEORGE P. DAN
No. 238 Essex St
(Three Doors West of the Consisting of New S
DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADI
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND B
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fa
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPI
PRINTS, BALMORAL SK
UMBRELLAS—every des
HOOP SKIRTS, GLO
HOSIERY, &c.
☞ All the above Goods wi
CASH, at Low Prices.
sept 23—tf

M. E. CRAN
168 ESSEX STR
WOULD call the attention of and friends to her Stock of FALL & WINTER MILLINE comprising all desirable
Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers,
ers and Laces;
Straw Goods of all descri
Ladies and Children's FELT styles; Ladies Dress C and all articles usually found in at the lowest prices for cash.
Mourning Bonnets, Veil
&c., constantly on hand.
M. E.
Successor to M M
Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

VISIT TH
PHOTOGRAPH
—OF—
T. B. WOO
(Over O. F. Batchelder's
No. 136 Main St., South
And get a faithful likeness of y friends while in HEALTH and Carte de Visite, Photographs types taken. Also pictures copie ble prices.
Frames, Albums, Cases, &c., for
South Danvers, Oct 14.

TEETH ON VULCA
DR. J. H. BATCH
DENTAL SURG
No. 20 Washington St., (near E road Depot), SALEM, Ma
Is Licensed to make the New Pa
HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, a experience confidently recommend Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to other kinds of teeth,—are sure to fit t much cheaper and better, being about of teeth on Gold. All fitting Sets of can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at pense. Specimens seen at Office. Te Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Childre gulated—all with such care and gentl nearly painless.
Office Established in PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL
NEW YORK.
This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelo thorized by us to manufacture the PA
CANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear P
The public are cautioned against em tists who have no license to manufactur and Gums, as patentees using such Dent infringers, are equally liable for dam maker or vender.
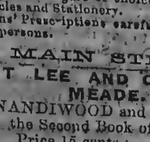
AMERICAN HARD RUBBE
aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, Gen



Druggist and Apot
88 MAIN STRE
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Che
Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Me
Personal attention to Physician
tions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861.

GEO. E. MEAC

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICI
Fancy & Toilet Articl
126 MAIN ST.
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So
T. A. SWEETS

Druggist & Ap
87 Main St., So
DEALER
Drugs, Medicines,
Foreign Leeches,
Herbs, Dye Stuffs
Acids, Sponges,
ders Braces, Tru
and Genuine Paten
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brand
Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully pre perienced persons.
87 MAIN STREE
ROBBUT LEE AND GEORG
MEADE.
PHERNANDIWOOD and See mo of in the Second Book of The A of Peace. Price 15 cents.
nov 11 G M WHIPPLE & A A

MODERN ECONOMY OF TIME.—The Scientific American thus shows how time has been economized by the application of machinery:—

COTTON. One man can spin more cotton-yarn now than four hundred men could have done in the same time in 1796, when Arkwright, the best cotton-spinner, took out his first patent.

FLOUR. One man can make as much flour in a day now, as a hundred and fifty could a century ago.

LACE. One woman can now make as much lace in a day, as a hundred women could a hundred years ago.

SUGAR. It now requires only as many days to refine sugar, as it did months thirty years ago.

LOOKING-GLASSES. It once required six months to put quicksilver on a glass; now it needs only about forty minutes.

ENGINES. The engine of a first-rate iron clad frigate will perform as much work in a day as forty-two thousand horses.

☞ There are ties which never should be severed, as the ill-used wife said when she found her brute of a husband hanging in the hay loft.

☞ To escape trouble from noisy children, send them to your neighbors visiting.

EDITOR OF WIZARD.—Dear Sir—With your permission I wish to say to the readers of your paper that I will send by return mail to all who wish it, (free) a Recipe, with full directions for making and using a simple Vegetable Balm, that will effectually remove, in 10 days, Pimples, Blotches, Tan, Freckles, and all Impurities of the Skin, leaving the same soft, clear, smooth and beautiful.

I will also mail free to those having Bald Heads or Smooth Faces, simple directions and information that will enable them to start a full growth of luxuriant hair, Whiskers, or a Moustache, in less than thirty days. All applications answered by return mail without charge.

Respectfully yours,
THOS. F. CHAPMAN,
Aug 5—3m No. 631 Broadway, New York.

A GENTLEMAN, cured of Nervous Debility, Impotency, Premature Decay and Youthful Error, induced by a desire to benefit others, will be happy to furnish to all who need it (free of charge) the receipt and directions for making the simple remedy used in his case. Those wishing to profit by his experience and possess a Valuable Remedy—will receive the same, by return mail (carefully sealed) by addressing
JOHN B. OGDEN,
Aug 12-3m No. 60 Nassau Street, New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

—ALSO—

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the cheapest, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable only one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply by a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
July 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR A MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their perfect cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to send his medical usefulness through the medium of the "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or bills for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Division Street, New York. je 3—1y

MANHOOD;

HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—BY J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author in this admirable lecture clearly demonstrates from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually cured without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain, effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two p ostage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586
Aug 16—1yr

[COMMUNICATED.]

CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Those wishing the prescription will please address
EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
Aug 8—4m. New York.

Advertisements.

Lynn and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

All persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be shut off in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 4.

By order of the Directors,
Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

ATTRACTIVE

AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF

New Fall and Winter

CLOTHING,

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS

IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of

Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics'
WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS,

GEO. H. LANE,

31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,

BOSTON.

Oct 21, 1863. 2m

L. D. BOISE & CO.,

154 Washington Street, Boston,

(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES

FALL & WINTER

CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,

OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,

In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,

Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,

And PIECE Goods

FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS

In all the most desirable patterns of English German, French, Scotch and American Coatings, Cassimeres & Doeskins,

Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner.

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,

154 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON,

Five Doors above the Old South.

Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m,

THE FAMILY MOURNING STORE,

20 Winter Street, Boston.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would respectfully call attention to their establishment (the only one of its kind in the city,) where every requisite for Mourning can be obtained.

We have a complete assortment of the following goods, just received:—

English and French Bombazines.
Alpacas, of every width and price.
Alpaca Glace.
7-8 Alpacas.
Bombazine Laine, a new article.
Turin Cloths, Canton Cloths.
French Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths.
Mourning Ginghams and Prints.
Mourning Millinery, in new styles; Mourning Hat and Veils. Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.

S. S. WILLIAMS.

Oct. 7.—2ms.

TWO NEW BOOKS.

IN War Time, and other Poems by John Greenleaf Whittier;
Mental Hygiene, by J Ray, M D. Both of them are in Ticknor's best style.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
Jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

Boston Purchasing Agency.

THE special object of this Agency, is to make known through which non-residents can send to Boston and purchase any articles wanted for individual use, or for dealers' supplies, from a Shawl to a suit of Clothes, a Penknife to a Piano. For particulars of the Purchasing Agency, send for Circular to THOMAS DAVIS & Co., Advertising and General Business Agents, at HARGOOD'S Gun Store, No. 15 Washington St., Boston. Citizens of Old Essex, try us. Services tendered gratis.
Best City reference given.
T. DAVIS & CO.
Oct 21—6w.

Settees for Sale.

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 22. Equity Store.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.
Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,

IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

PATTERSON'S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.
may 7 ICLARK & GIDDINGS.

JOHN FARRELL,
DRAPER AND TAILOR,

HAVING removed to his old place of business, 138 MAIN ST., South Danvers (over Batchelder's Grocery Store), is prepared to Cut, Make, Repair, or furnish Garments, for Men and Youths at short notice.
South Danvers, April 1. tf

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.
INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.
ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.
Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
july 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON.
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.
MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.
Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufactnrers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST,
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

Mothers—Take Heed!

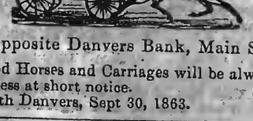
DR. OSBORNE'S CURE FOR PIN WORMS

GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit [illegible] but obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st. South Danvers, June 17. 1863. 3m

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,



Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.
J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving, - - - - - - 8 cts,
Or 4 Tickets for 25 Cents.
Hair Cutting, - - - - - 15 cts,
Or 8 Tickets for $1.00.
Champooing, - - - - - 15 cts.
Quarterly customers same as before.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Sep 16, 1862.

NEW PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,
FROM the best makers in the country—some very desirable and beautiful styles, and made in the strongest and best manner.
Also—French Albums, at low prices.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S
Remains in Verse and Prose, of Arthur Henry Hallam, with a preface and memoir; Reminiscences of Amherst College, by D. Hitchcock; Broken Columns; Pique, an nglish Novel; all the Weekly Papers.

FRANKLIN COAL.
JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.
FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.
For steamer METROPOLIS, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Passengers by this route can take the 4.45 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.
Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.
☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and State-rooms secured at the O. C. & F. R. Railroad Station.
GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, September 23, 1863.

THOMAS. DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,
Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO.
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
188 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem EXPRESS.
Leave South Danvers, - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - 10 a m, 4 p m
Orders left at Teel & Monilton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

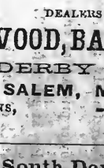
PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.
Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.
Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Dagnerreotype. Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may



THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

HOW TO COLLECT AND OBSERVE INSECTS,
BY A. S. Packard, Jr., from the Report of the Maine Scientific Survey for 1862.—Price 25 cents.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

WHITE WARE.
WHITE Dining and Tea Ware, of the newest patterns—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
Oct. 24. 32 Front street.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.
WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or ITS ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to sell the public they use uuknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate disease. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as Obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 25 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass.
Capital and Assets—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS,
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes, and patent Leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

WINTER ARRANGEMENT
TO
LYNN & BOSTON
BY
OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR
W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays included.
Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 M, and 4 50 P. M.
Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.
Horse Cars leaving the office at 14 Brattle Street at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.
Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents
Through to Boston, - - 30 cents

Gravesend, Woodend, and Central Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in addition to the route, an Omnibus will leave South Danvers for Lynn, to connect with the steam and horse cars, 3 times daily,—Sundays excepted,—running through Gravesend and Woodend, to the Central R R Depot and Horse Railroad Station, corner of Spring and Broad Streets; leaving South Danvers at 8 A M (connecting with the 7 25 steam cars for Boston), 10 A M (connecting with the 11.10 train), and 4 P M (connecting with the 4.50 train); and returning, leave Lynn from the Spring Street Station and Central R R Depot, at 8 A M, and 1 and 6 P M.
Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by horse cars, 30 cts
" " " " steam cars, 35 cts
Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.

South Danvers, Salem and Lynn Route.

THE subscriber having purchased of M A Shackley the Omnibus line running from Salem to Lynn, would announce that it will now leave the Store Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, for Salem, at 7 30 A M, and 2 30 P M, and leave the Stage Office in Central St, Salem, at 8.30 A M, and 3 30 P M for Lynn. Returning will leave Lynn at 10 A M and 5 P M; and Salem for South Danvers at 12 M, A M, and 6.15 P M.
Passengers between South Danvers and Salem will be called for by leaving orders at the offices.
Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS
Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.
Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.
W. F. BURNHAM.
South Danvers, Oct 28, 1863

CROUT & MUNROE'S
SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON
RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at 10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " at 5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at 3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at 7 p. m.
OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.
Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street.
Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.
Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.
Smallest favors thankfully received.
South Danvers, august 26.—tf

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM
EXPRESS.
Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.
OFFICES:
In Danvers,—At E B Waite's and the Post Office. Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores. In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible points in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1e3-tf

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express
WILL leave South Danvers at 7½ and 11 A M, and 1½ and and 5 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8 45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.
Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E P & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.
Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impetency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Rumors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1863. NO. 47.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD

Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Building, South Danvers Square.

TERMS—Two Dollars a year.

ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

H. L. HADLEY,
LOCAL EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

HEIMSTREET'S
INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,

But restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty,

promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 Broadway, N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary article ever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face and hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing beauty, imparting the marble purity of youth, and the distingue appearance so inviting in the city belle of fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness from the skin, leaving the complexion fresh, transparent and smooth. It contains no material injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses and Opera Singers It is what every lady should have. Sold everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedent in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover-buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Carnway, Coriander, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, public speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties.

Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find in these Bitters what they have so long looked for.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
Mhey cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer.

The following startling and emphatic statements can be seen at our office.

Letter of Rev E. F. CRANE, Chaplain of the 107th New York Regiment:

NEAR ACQUIA CREEK, March 4th, 1863.

Owing to the great exposure and terrible decomposition after the battle of Antietam, I was utterly prostrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepared by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise they gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost allowed me to join my regiment. * * * * * I have since seen them used in many cases, and am free to say for hospital or private purposes I know of nothing like them. REV. E. F. CRANE, Chaplain.

Letter from the Rev. N. E. GILDS, St. Clairsville, Pa.:

GENTLEMEN:—You were kind enough, on a former occasion to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for $6 50. My wife having derived so much benefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to continue them, and you will please send us six bottles more for the money inclosed.

I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. GILDS, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

SOLDIERS' HOME, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
CINCINNATI, OHIO, Jan. 15th, 1863.

* * * * * * *

I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvelous and gratifying.

Such a preparation as this is I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field. G. W. ANDREWS, Superintendent.

Dr. W. A. CHILDS, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

WILLARD'S HOTEL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22d, 1863.

GENTLEMEN:—We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.

Respectfully, SYKES, CHADWICK & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c., &c.

Be sure that every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate label, with our private stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Sold by all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, and country dealers.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY!

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy,
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, NOV'R 25, 1863.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

HEAD-QUARTERS, BOSTON, Oct. 29, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 30,

The President of the United States, under date of October 17, 1863, has issued a call for 300,000 volunteers, to serve for three years or the War, but not exceeding three years; and the quota assigned to Massachusetts under this call amounts to 15,126. If this number is not raised by voluntary enlistment, a draft will be ordered to supply the deficiency, which draft will commence on the fifth day of January next.

The time for action is short, and the greatest activity and promptitude will be necessary to fulfil the demand of the Government before the time prescribed for commencing the draft. The Mayor and Aldermen of Cities, and the Selectmen of Towns, are again urgently requested to use their official and personal influence, and obtain the energetic co-operation of all whose hearts are in the work, to furnish their proportion of volunteers; to call public meetings, and adopt other efficient measures, to draw forth and stimulate the public interest in the cause.

The men to be raised under this call are to be enlisted into the United State service, for the various companies and regiments now in the field. The bounties will be the same as published in previous orders, namely, $50 from the State, and, in addition, $302 from the United States to new recruits, and $402 to those who have served at least nine months, and who shall enlist, either into old regiments or companies in the field, or into the veteran regiments or battalions now forming in this State.

The numbers which are assigned to each town, city and sub-district, according to the enrollment made by the U. S. Provost Marshals, are given below. If a draft should become necessary in January next, it will be likely to be made in the same proportions; and information has been received from the War Department that credits will be allowed, against such draft, for all enlistments which shall be made under the present call; and also for enlistments in the veteran regiments which are now organized for recruiting.

Major Clarke, U. S. A., (Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for Massachusetts, Headquarters at Boston,) is authorized to and will appoint the Mayors of Cities and Chairmen of Selectmen of Towns to act as recruiting officers for their several cities and towns, to recruit the quotas assigned to their several municipalities.

They will receive their authority from Major Clarke, and will be subject to such orders and regulations for the performance of their duties as he may issue. They will be entitled to all the privileges and subject to all the liabilities of other recruiting officers appointed by him under orders from the Provost Marshal General of the United States. The Mayors of Cities and Selectmen of Towns will cause to be made a Weekly Report on Saturday to the Adjutant General of the Commonwealth of the number of men enlisted in their respective Cities and Towns during each week.

To those who have been in the military service for at least nine months the opportunity is presented of enlisting either in one of the old regiments now in the field, or in either of the veteran organizations named below, and of entitling themselves to the bounty of $402 cash, which is offered by the Commonwealth. The veteran organizations are—

The Second Regiment of Heavy Artillery, commanded by Colonel Frankle, headquarters at Readville;

The Twelfth Unattached Company of Heavy Artillery, commanded by Captain James M. Richardson, stationed at Salem and Beverly;

The First Battalion of Veteran Cavalry;

The New Battalion for the First Regiment of Massachusetts Cavalry, under the command of Colonel Horace B. Sargent, to take the place of the battalion at Port Royal, which has been permanently detached;

The First Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Sixth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be commanded by Colonel Griswood, headquarters at Readville, to be raised in Boston and vicinity;

The Second Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Seventh Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in Worcester and the four Western Counties, and to be commanded by Colonel William F. Bartlett, late of the Forty-Ninth Regiment;

The Third Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Eighth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in South Eastern Massachusetts, including the Old Colony, to be commanded by Col. Silas P. Richmond, late of the Third Regiment;

The Fourth Veteran Regiment, (the Fifty Ninth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry,) to be raised in the Counties of Essex and Middlesex, and to be under the command of Col. Gould, late Major of the Thirteenth Regiment.

To veterans enlisting, one month's pay will be paid in advance, on being mustered into service. The bounty and premium, in addition to the monthly pay, will be $62, on being mustered in, (making $75 paid in advance, besides the State bounty of $50;) $50 more in two months; $50 more in six months, $50 more after one year, $50 more after eighteen months, $50 more after two years, $50 more after two years and a half, and $40 more at the expiration of three year's service. And if the war should not last three years from the present time, still the whole bounty will be paid to those who shall have served to the end; and if they die in the service, their heirs will receive it.

To those who have never been in service, or who have served for less than nine months, and who shall enlist into old regiments in the field, $302 bounty will be paid in addition to the State bounty of $50, as follows:

One month's pay will be paid in advance on being mustered into service. The bounty and premium, in addition to the monthly pay will be $27 on being mustered in, (making $40 paid in advance, besides the State bounty of $50;) $40 more in two months, $40 more in six months, $40 more after one year, $40 more after eighteen months, $40 more after two years, and $75 more at the expiration of three years' service. And if the war should not last three years from the present time, still the whole bounty will be paid to those who shall have served to the end; and if they die in the service their heirs will receive it.

This Order does not change the provisions of General Order No. 27, current series from these headquarters, which Order was issued in regard to the enlistment of veteran organizations.

The Governor confidently expects that Massachusetts will, as she has ever done, furnish with exemplary promptness her contingent of troops in obedience to this, the latest call of the President. Let the whole people unite with fervid devotion to a cause sacred as all our hopes, and secure to the National Armies a reinforcement which will render them invincible, and assure them of victory, whenever and wherever they meet an enemy.

By order of His Excellency JOHN A. ANDREW, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

WILLIAM SCHOULER, Adj't-Gen'l.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of Edgartown,		30
1	" Tisbury,		20
1	" Chilmark,	11—	61
2	" Nantucket,		58
3	" Eastham,	10
3	" Wellfleet,	20
3	" Truro,	28
3	" Provincetown,	43—104
4	" Harwich,	50
4	" Chatham,	30
4	" Orleans,	19—108
5	" Yarmouth,	37
5	" Dennis,	52
5	" Brewster,	22—111
6	" Barnstable	— 62
7	" Sandwich,	48
7	" Falmouth,	33— 81
8	" Plymouth,	70
8	" Plympton,	10— 80
9	" Duxbury,	30
9	" Kingston,	18
9	" Halifax,	10
9	" Pembroke,	14— 72
10	" Freetown,	10
10	" Middleboro',	51
10	" Lakeville,	20— 87
11	" Wareham,	34
11	" Carver,	13
11	" Marion,	15
11	" Rochester,	28— 85
12	" Fairhaven	33
12	" Acushnet,	10
12	" Mattapoisett,	12— 55
13	City of Fall River, Wards 1, 2, and 3,		101
14	City of Fall River, Wards 4, 5, and 6,		101
15	City of New Bedford, Ward 1,		42
16	" " " " 2,		37
17	City of New Bedford, Wards 3, and 4,		50
18	City of New Bedford, Wards 5, and 6,		70
19	Town of Dartmouth,		51
20	" Westport,		26

DISTRICT No. 2.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of Taunton,		107
2	" Attleboro',		60
3	" Berkley,		8
4	" Dighton,		18
5	" Easton,		35
6	" Mansfield,		22
7	" Norton,		19
8	" Raynham,		25
9	" Rehoboth,		21
10	" Seekonk,		10
11	" Somerset,		24
12	" Swanzey,		17
13	" Braintree,		39
14	" Canton,		34
15	" Cohasset,		24
16	" Dorchester,		128
17	" Milton,		21
18	" Quincy,		49
19	" Randolph,		55
20	" Sharon,		14
21	" Stoughton,		60
22	" Weymouth,		121
23	" Abington,		91
24	" Bridgewater,		40
25	" East Bridgewater,		41
26	" West Bridgewater,		20
27	" N. Bridgewater,		93
28	" Hingham,		50
29	" Hanover,		22
30	" Hanson,		16
31	" Marshfield,		19
32	" Scituate,		28
33	" South Scituate,		21
34	" Hull,		4

DISTRICT No. 3.

Sub-District.

No. 1	City of Boston, Ward 4,		286
2	" " " 7,		200
3	" " " 8,		323
4	" " " 10,		223
5	" " " 11,		341
6	" " " 12,		438
7	" Roxbury, Ward 1,		110
8	" " " 2,		86
9	" " " 3,		102
10	" " " 4,		50
11	" " " 5,		66
12	Town of Brookline,		72

DISTRICT No. 4.

Sub-District.

No. 1	City of Boston, Wards 1, 2, 3, 5, 6 and 9,	1,539
2	City of Cambridge,	372
3	City of Chelsea, Town of North Chelsea, and Town of Winthrop,	187

DISTRICT No. 5.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of Amesbury,	44
2	" Beverly,	40
3	"	33
4	" Danvers,	59
5	" Essex,	23
6	" Georgetown,	27
7	" Gloucester,	59
8	"	83
9	" Groveland,	32
10	" Hamilton,	10
11	" Ipswich,	33
12	" Lynnfield,	10
13	" Manchester,	14
14	" Marblehead,	48
15	"	42
16	" Middleton,	12
17	" Nahant,	3
18	" Newbury,	20
19	" Rockport,	47
20	" Rowley,	14
21	" Salisbury,	44
22	" South Danvers,	59
23	" Swampscott,	15
24	" Topsfield,	17
25	" Wenham,	16
26	" West Newbury,	23
27	City of Lynn, Wards 1, 2 and 7,	25
28	" " 3,	49
29	" " 4,	74
30	" " 5,	64
31	" " 6,	52
32	City of Newburyport, Ward 1,	24
33	" " 2,	19
34	" " 3,	17
35	" " 4,	21
36	" " 5,	17
37	" " 6,	19
38	City of Salem, Ward 1,	28
39	" " 2,	28
40	" " 3,	23
41	" " 4,	27
42	" " 5,	30
43	" " 6,	24

DISTRICT No. 6.

Sub-District.

No. 1	City of Charlestown, Ward 1,	84
2	" " " 2,	99
3	" " " 3,	110
4	Town of Somerville, East of Central street,	70
5	Town of Somerville, West of Central street,	22
6	Town of Malden, East of Main street,	44
7	Town of Malden, West of Main street,	28
8	Town of Saugus,	26
9	" Melrose,	24
10	" Medford,	48
11	" West Cambridge,	22
12	" Belmont,	18
13	" Waltham,	82
14	" Woburn, (See No. 17,)
15	" Burlington and Lexington,	32
16	" Winchester,	17
17	" Woburn, (with No. 14, viz.: 29,)	52
18	" Stoneham,	57
19	" South Reading,	31
20	" Reading,	24
21	" North Reading,	14
22	" Wilmington,	10
23	" Billerica,	20
24	" Tewksbury,	8
25	" Andover,	38
26	" North Andover,	27
27	City of Lawrence, Wards 2, 3, and 5,	51
28	City of Lawrence, Wards 1, 4, and 6,	76
29	Town of Metuhen,	36
30	" Boxford,	13
31	" Bradford,	20
32	" Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 1,	122
33	" Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 2,	22
34	" Haverhill, Valuation Dist. 3,	17

DISTRICT No. 7.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of Acton,	17
2	" Ashby,	11
3	" Ashland,	22
4	" Bedford,	6
5	" Boxboro',	5
6	" Brighton,	43
7	" Carlisle,	6
8	" Chelmsford,	19
9	" Concord,	19
10	" Dracut,	22
11	" Dunstable,	6
12	" Dedham,	53
13	" Dover,	8
14	" Framingham,	52
15	" Groton,	34
16	" Holliston,	36
17	" Hopkinton,	50
18	" Lincoln,	11
19	" Littleton,	9
20	City of Lowell, Ward 1,	35
21	" " 2,	40
22	" " 3,	51
23	" " 4,	62
24	" " 5,	63
25	" " 6,	51
26	Town of Marlboro',	95
27	" Medfield,	11
28	" Natick,	31
29	" Newton,	79
30	" Needham,	23
31	" Pepperell,	18
32	" Sherburne,	14
33	" Shirley,	16
34	" Stow,	19
35	" Sudbury,	15
36	" Townsend,	30
37	" Tyngsboro',	7
38	" Watertown,	43
39	" Wayland,	10
40	" Weston,	16
41	" Westford,	12
42	" West Roxbury,	85
43	" Feltonville,	24

DISTRICT No. 8.

Sub-District.

No. 1	City of Worcester, Ward 1,	43
2	" " " 2,	42
3	" " " 3,	19
4	" " " 4,	44
5	" " " 5,	43
6	" " " 6,	45
7	" " " 7,	60
8	" " " 8,	51
9	Town of Blackstone,	55
10	" Auburn,	13
11	" Leicester,	26
12	" Shrewsbury,	18
13	" Boylston,	7
14	" West Boylston,	36
15	" Holden,	14
16	" Rutland,	7
17	" Paxton,	8
18	" Oakham,	10
19	" New Braintree,	7
20	" Brookfield,	35
21	" West Brookfield,	18
22	" North Brookfield,	28
23	" Warren,	24
24	" Spencer,	34
25	" Oxford,	39
26	" Charlton,	23
27	" Sturbridge,	19
28	" Dudley,	15
29	" Southbridge,	27
30	" Webster,	37
31	" Grafton,	43
32	" Millbury,	44
33	" Sutton,	22
34	" Northbridge,	33
35	" Milford,	129
36	" Upton,	25
37	" Northboro',	15
38	" Southboro',	17
39	" Westboro',	32
40	" Mendon,	15
41	" Uxbridge,	47
42	" Douglas,	23
43	" Walpole,	21
44	" Wrentham,	31
45	" Foxborough,	31
46	" Bellingham,	16
47	" Franklin,	22
47	" Medway,	28

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of Amherst,	44
2	" Ashburnham,	32
3	" Ashfield,	16
4	" Athol,	33
5	" Barre,	39
6	" Belchertown,	31
7	" Berlin,	14
8	" Bernardston,	11
9	" Bolton,	23
10	" Buckland,	28
11	" Charlemont,	10
12	" Chesterfield,	9
13	" Clinton,	44
14	" Colrain,	22
15	" Conway,	16
16	" Cummington,	13
17	" Dana,	7
18	" Deerfield,	41
19	" Easthampton,	32
20	" Enfield,	10
21	" Erving,	11
22	" Fitchburg,	120
23	" Gardner,	37
24	" Gill,	6
25	" Goshen,	8
26	" Granby,	13
27	" Greenfield,	44
28	" Greenwich,	7
29	" Hadley,	35
30	" Hardwick,	19
31	" Harvard,	17
32	" Hatfield,	22
33	" Hawley,	8
34	" Heath,	8
35	" Hubbardston,	18
36	" Huntington,	16
37	" Lancaster,	14
38	" Leominster,	39
39	" Leverett,	12
40	" Leyden,	8
41	" Lunenburg,	15
42	" Middlefield,	9
43	" Monroe,	4
44	" Montague,	14
45	" New Salem,	109
46	" Northampton,	22
47	" Northfield,	28
48	" Orange,	11
49	" Pelham,	13
50	" Petersham,	7
51	" Phillipston,	6
52	" Plainfield,	9
53	" Prescott,	13
54	" Princeton,	6
55	" Rowe,	14
56	" Royalston,	20
57	" Shelburne,	8
58	" Shutesbury,	26
59	" South Hadley,	14
60	" Southampton,	22
61	" Sterling,	6
62	" Sunderland,	33
63	" Templeton,	33
64	" Ware,	11
65	" Warwick,	10
66	" Wendell,	21
67	" Whately,	6
68	" Westhampton,	14
69	" Westminster,	22
70	" Williamsburg,	41
71	" Winchendon,	10
72	" Worthington,

DISTRICT No. 10.

Sub-District.

No. 1	Town of Williamstown,	28
2	" New Ashfield,	2
3	" Lanesborough,	19
4	" Hancock,	10
5	" Adams,	95
6	" Clarksburg,	4
7	" Cheshire,	18
8	" Florida,	6
9	" Savoy,	9
10	" Pittsfield,	128
11	" Dalton	12
12	" Windsor,	8
13	" Hinsdale,	24
14	" Peru,	6
15	" Becket,	17
16	" Washington,	9
17	" Lenox,	23
18	" Richmond,	12
19	" Stockbridge,	22
20	" West Stockbridge,	18
21	" Lee,	42
22	" Tyringham,	7
23	" Great Barrington,	88
24	" Monterey,	10
25	" Sandisfield,	16
26	" Otis,	18
27	" Alford,	7
28	" Egremont,	13
29	" Mt. Washington,	2
30	" Sheffield,	31
31	" New Marlborough,	16
32	" Brimfield,	16
33	" Monson,	34
34	" Holland,	2
35	" Wales,	9
36	" Palmer,	37
37	" Wilbraham,	22
38	" Longmeadow,	17
39	City of Springfield, Ward 1,	62
40	Ward 2 & 3, S. of Main St.,	166
41	" 4 & 3, N. of Main St.,	92
42	" 5, Springfield,	62
43	" 6, 7 & 8, Springfield,	94
44	Town of Chicopee,	101
45	" Ludlow,	16
46	" Holyoke,	69
47	" West Springfield,	32
48	" Agawam,	20
49	" Southwick,	17
50	" Granville,	18
51	" Tolland,	7
52	" Westfield,	72
53	" Blandford,	16
54	" Montgomery,	6
55	" Russell,	9
56	" Chester,	17

Original Poetry.

INS AND OUTS.

I'm out of cash, and so of course
I've pocket room to let;
I'm out of patience, just because
I'm never out of debt.

Besides I'm dreadfully in love,
And more than half in doubt;
Which is the greater evil—that
Of being in or out?

I'm deeply in my tailor's books,
But I don't mind a dun,
And if I wasn't out of funds,
I'd pay him out of fun.

He always gave me fits, he said,
But Heaven bless his eyes,
'Twould put him in a fit, I guess,
He'd be in such surprise.

I'm out at elbows, in distress,
Ah! mine's a sorry tale,
I'm out of favor, out of sorts,—
But then I'm out of jail.

My landlord says my time is out,
And thinks I'd better shin;
I'm such an out and outer, he Won't have me in his inn.

I'm out of office, but in hopes
To get put in some day;
If I don't run for something soon,
I'll have to run away.

I'm out of spirits, and I'm out
Of more than I can think;
I'm out of temper—hang the pen!—
Ye gods! I'm out of ink!

MY LIFE IS AS A SHADOW.

Hastening on, hastening on
In life's early day—
The morning's beam lights up the stream
That bears us on our way.

Hastening on, hastening on
With the flight of time,
'Mid hopes and fears, and hurrying years,
Toward a better clime.

Hastening on, hastening on—
How fast the seasons roll!
The glowing west, at eve of rest,
Speaks to the parting soul.

Hastening on, hastening on,
Oh! Father, guide our ways—
And then, at last, death's portals past,
We'll sing the Saviour's praise. T.

THE AGE OF MAN.—Few men die of age. Almost all persons die of disappointment, passional, mental, or bodily toil, or accident. The passions kill men [illegible] The common expression, "choked with passion," has little exaggeration in it, for even though not suddenly fatal, strong passion shorten life. Strong bodied men often die young—weak men live longer than the strong for the strong use their strength, and the weak have none to use. The latter take care of themselves, the former do not. As it is with the body, so it is with the mind and temper. The strong are apt to break, or, like the candle, run; the weak burn out. The inferior animals which live temperate lives have generally their prescribed term of years. The horse lives twenty-five years; the ox fifteen or twenty; the lion about twenty; the hog ten or twelve; the rabbit eight; the Guinea-pig six or seven. The numbers all bear proportion to the time the animal takes to grow in full size. But man, of all animals, is one that seldom comes up to the average. He ought to live a hundred years, according to the physiological law, for five times twenty are one hundred; but instead of that he scarcely reaches an average of four times the growing period. The reason is obvious—man is not only the most irregular and the most intemperate, but the most laborious and hardworking of all animals, and there is reason to believe, though we cannot tell what an animal secretly feels, that more than any other animal, man cherishes wrath to keep it warm, and consumes himself with the fire of his own reflections.

☞ The latest Paris fashion for the season is "feminine whiskers"—They can not be very unpleasant to the faces of many females.

[For the Wizard.]

A VISIT TO THE DENTIST'S.

Reader, did you ever have the toothache?—Ever have it jump, so that you have to put your finger in your mouth to know if it had not jumped out? and then feel a pang of disappointment at finding it still there, and thinking that you must be on the watch for another jump that you may have control enough to keep from screaming and frightening the folks to death. Then, after all your intended control and watching, you have it jump so hard as to conquer the strongest will, and even if you have grit sufficient to keep the tongue still, the sharp sudden pain will draw your head involuntarily towards the affected side, although the bump of approbativeness was the largest, and the face usually wreathed with smiles, will be furrowed all over with crow's feet and wrinkled from the top of the brow, naturally calm and smooth, to the quivering chin. Isn't it just as much as you can endure? If there is anything that will make a man swear, it is the toothache, and profanity is readily excused in him in such a case;—but pray tell me what a woman is to do when thus afflicted? She must not swear; it is not polite or fashionable and besides, of what use are such expletives to her?

I know very well what your advice will be, go to the Dentist's and have the offending tooth extracted. How provokingly calm you who never had the toothache, in giving that direction! How aggravating to the poor sufferer, when she knows all the time that that is the only remedy! 'Tis easier said than done; however, I put the best face possible on the matter and betake myself to Dr. B——'s. I put on my most fascinating smile (for mind you the pain almost stops as I reach the office door,) and beseech the good doctor, with all manner of flattery, to give me chloroform, gracefully acknowledging my cowardly weakness to bear pain. Now judge of my surprise when the usually good natured Dentist ventures to say "No." Of course I coax and plead—every one of Eve's daughters are good for that—but you can fancy my indignation when, after the second trial, he impolitely says, "You would not ask for it if you knew how you would act under its influence." In human monster, insinuating that I should not know how to behave myself! I really believe it was all through his own selfish dislike to administer it that he refused my request. I found, I could gain nothing, so laid aside my gentle coaxing air, and assuming a tragical look, declared myself ready for operation. Isn't it a pleasing sensation to feel that sharp knife cleaving the flesh from the bit of ivory that will be so troublesome? Then the preparatory bit of cotton dipped in ether and placed somewhere in the vicinity of the tooth to ease the pain? But all that is nothing, only the first link in the chain of torments; the grand crash [illegible] grasping the tooth with almost invincible determination, and then the strong, steady pull—it seems ages before it ends—and the tooth is—broken off. Yet at the instant I scarcely know whether the tooth is out, or the whole jaw shattered, but am soon undeceived by having the instruments again thrust into my mouth before I am fully conscious whether I am dead or alive. That unlucky circumstance fully testifies that life is not extinct, and rouses ire so strong that the remaining fangs close remorsely on the steel. "Be quiet; 'tisn't quite out. I yield, and resighedly wait the final issue, clasping my hands till the nails grew into the flesh to keep from screaming.

Eureka, it is out at last, and with feelings of disgust, I look at the particle of discolored bone, and am indignant that they should have caused me so much pain, yet I can look up thankfully to the Dentist and congratulate myself that that tooth is where it won't ache any more. Better be a toothless crone than one with nerves all racked with continued suffering. PRINCESS.

☞ There was a deacon of a church of the name of Day, by trade a cooper. On Sabbath morning he heard a number of boys who were playing in front of his house, and he went out to check the Sabbath profanation. Assuming a grave countenance he said to them: "Boys, do you remember what day this is?" "Yes, sir," replied one of the boys, "Deacon Day the cooper."

☞ Look not a gift horse in the mouth

The Wizard.

ONESDAY. NOV'R 25, 1863.

HAT WILL BE THE END?

w often we hear it asked, In what he present rebellion end? And it strange that, in so critical a mo- as the present, people should look rd with much anxiety to the day this cruel war shall be numbered the things of the past. And h we are anxious to have the end y come, yet we are unwilling to any but an honorable peace and a ete restoration of the Constitution ws. In short, we can be satisfied nothing less than a perfect re-union e States, which can only be effected tting down, not only the rebellion lso that rebellious spirit of the ern people, so that it may never be the cause of another war like resent. Can this be done? We e, however doubtful some may be our success in this great contest for iberties, that none, except a few are but little better than traitors, say we cannot succeed, and had fore better yield to the terms of the . But on the contrary, even the ful are still hopeful; but very few illing to give up the fight until the vestige of treason shall have been , out and every stain from our na- banner removed. We are glad to o many of our best and most intel- citizens manifesting so great a e of courage and patriotism; it is what is now needed, for our success ds wholly upon the will and forti- of the people.

th all the free States united and mined, as were our fathers of the lution, it cannot be otherwise than ve shall have an immediate peace, order will again reign throughout land. Let all party prejudices be n aside; let our love of country n our actions, instead of our love ney; in a word, let our object be the rvation of our Constitution, our and institutions, and we need not t but that this war will have a glori- and happy end—an end which will e to us and our posterity the bless- f peace, virtue and liberty, forever.

LATE DR. D. C. PERKINS

a recent meeting of the Board of l Committee, the announcement g been made of the decease of Dr. INS, the following resolutions, of- by Rev. Mr. BARROWS, were unan- ly adopted.

ereas, By a mysterious Providence, we een called to mourn the sudden death of DANIEL C. PERKINS, a member of this ; and whereas, we cherish his memory, ould pay him a tribute of respect, olved, That we have ever found in him a and sympathizing friend, a sincere lover atron of education, a wise counsellor and coadjutor in promoting the interests of instruction in the town; that with him embers of this Board have always sus- the most pleasant and harmonious rela- and have acted with him in all their rations and doings in the most cordial fraternal spirit; that in his death they n able and interested fellow-laborer, the unity a friend of education and morality, he town a faithful and efficient public olved, That in his decease we recognize and of the Supreme Ruler and Disposer nts, and that we are admonished, in ad- to our other acquirements, to seek the t wisdom, without which all other learn- ncomplete.

d friends, in this season of bereavement rrow, our condolence and heartfelt sym-

ABODY INSTITUTE LECTURES.—The ductory to the course of lectures season before the Institute was de- d on Tuesday evening last by Rev. OHN TODD of Pittsfield. His sub- as the improvement of the mind. ight be expected from one who has n so muuh and so well upon intel- l and moral improvement, the sub- was well treated, aptly illustrated nade interesting by familiar maxim anecdote. The lecture was emi- practical and was entertaining as s instructive.

s to be regretted that, owing to the ency of the weather, the hall was ell filled to hear from one so dis- shed, in the highest sense, as an tor, a discourse which could scarce- listened to without both pleasure rofit.

TURNED. — Sergeant Winsor M. , of Wentworth's Sharpshooters, is mong us. His right arm is badly red from the effects of a minnie ceived at the battle of Gettysburg, was his nineteenth fight. In all any hard fought battles he has himself to be a brave soldier, and untry cannot afford to lose his val- services.

ward Meacom, of the 24th Massa- tts Regiment, who returned some s ago sick with chronic diarrhea, een discharged. Mr. Meacom was f the original members of the regi- and has shared all its victories.

ssett F. Gould, of the 14th Regi-

DEATH OF CORPORAL BUXTON.

It will be seen, by the subjoined letter, that we have lost another of our gallant sons—Corporal PHILIP O. BUXTON—who fell, pierced by two balls, in the recent brilliant and successful attack on the enemy's redoubts in Lookout Valley, near Chattanooga. When the call came a year ago last summer for "300,000 more," Mr. BUXTON (then at Stoneham,) joined the 33d Regiment, which was in Lynnfield under Colonel Maggi, and remained with it to the last, helping to fight its battles on the Rappahannock and Tennessee:

LOOKOUT VALLEY, TENN., November 8, 1863.

MRS. GEORGE BUXTON:

Madam,—I feel it my duty to write you a line in regard to the death of your son, Corporal P. O. BUXTON. He was hit by two balls, the first passing through his arm, and while going to the rear, another shot passed through his heart, killing him instantly. He is buried at the foot of the hill where we fought, and I have caused a board to be put at the head of his grave, with the following inscription cut in the board:—

"PHILIP O. BUXTON, Co. D, 33d Regt., Mass. Vols."

I cannot conclude without expressing my heartfelt sympathy for you in your severe bereavement, but while you mourn his loss, it must be a consolation to you to know that he fell nobly doing his duty, and died as he had lived, beloved by all his comrades. Always clean and neat, with his rosy cheeks; always pleasant, but quiet; always ready and willing to do his duty; addicted to none of the soldiers' vices—such a man he died, and as such we mourn his loss

I remain, Madam,
Very respectfully, yours,
JAMES F. CHIPMAN,
Capt. Co. D, 33d Regt.,
Mass. Vols.

NEW SLAUGHTER HOUSE.—Mr. J. B. THOMAS is now erecting a new and capacious slaughter house next to the one he now occupies, in this town. It will be two stories high, 72 feet long, 36 feet wide, and will have a cellar under the whole 20 feet deep, divided into three equal compartments, two for ice, and the center one to lower fresh meat in during the hot summer months. The ice cellars will be capable of holding 800 tons, which will create a temperature frigid enough for all practical purposes. This will probably be a model slaughter house, for the ice arrangement will not only greatly facilitate the business, especially in warm seasons, but will prevent a great deal of meat from spoiling, soon after it is killed, as we learn has been the case heretofore. During the last year Mr. Thomas killed nearly 3000 head of cattle.

☞ The Volunteer Bounty Bill has passed both branches of Legislature and received the sanction of the Governor. The bill provides for the payment of a bounty of $325 in hand, and $20 monthly to each new recruit who may enlist under the call of the President made October 17th last, and the same sums to every citizen of Massachusetts serving in the volunteer force of any other State, or in any of the regiments, companies or batteries of our own three years' troops who shall re-enlist for three years.

All this is in addition to the General Government bounty, making the total amount paid to veteran volunteers, $727. New recruits receive $627. Surely if money is any inducement for men to enlist, there can be no lack of volunteers. All that is now needed is a little enthusiasm to rouse up the people, and there will be no trouble about getting our quota.

RUINED, YET DEFIANT.—A correspondent of the Baltimore American, writing from South Carolina, says of Sumter, "that it is no longer a fort, but as the French would say, an idea. It is typical of the rebellion—ruined, yet defiant. The enemy hold on to it as a point of pride, as the birthplace of the rebellion, and so long as they can plant a flag there they believe their cause is not hopeless. It is still valuable to them as a romantic incentive to renewed endeavor, and so long as our flag does not float over it, Charleston believes herself impregnable."

A NEW PROJECT.—The present high price of coal is suggesting many expedients for economizing its use. Mr. Harper, of the Philadelphia City Councils, proposes a committee to enquire into the feasibility of warming houses from a central source, and supplying the citizens with heat as gas is now supplied. The committee to make the inquiry into the matter was appointed.

☞ The losses in fifteen Massachusetts nine months regiments, during there campaigns, were 779. Of this number 117 were killed or died of wounds, and 662 died from disease. The 53d Regiment suffered the most, losing 131 by disease and 26 by battle. The 4th came next, losing 114 from disease and 4 by battle. Those that suffered the least were the 5th and 8th Regiments, the former losing none by battle and 13 from disease, the latter none by battle and 10 by disease.

☞ The Legislature of Missouri have

UNION LEAGUE.

At a Caucus of the Republican Party of South Danvers, held at the Town Hall on Thursday evening, October 29th, 1863, a committee was chosen to make the necessary arrangements for an open Union League. Pursuant to this vote, they have unanimously agreed to the following preamble and resotutions as embodying a suitable declaration of principles and plan of organization, and respectfully lay them before the citizens of the town, hoping that every loyal man will feel it his duty to encourage the movement by subscribing the same:

WHEREAS, In these solemn hours of peril to the Republic, which is menaced by a rebellion of unparalleled magnitude and atrocity, it is the duty of all citizens to support, cordially and unswervingly, the measures adopted for the maintenance of the Government, in all its departments, by those who have been chosen to administer its offices; and whereas, there are persons in the Northern States who manifest a spirit of hostility to the Government and sympathy with the rebellion, now, therefore,

Resolved, That we denounce such persons as guilty of a reckless, insolent and wanton approval of the greatest crime in history; and believing such persons to be dangerous to the well-being of the Republic, and to the cause of civil liberty throughout the world, we unite in declaring that we will not knowingly countenance, aid or support any person who shall in any manner encourage the present rebellion.

Resolved, That whereas it is at all times magnanimous conduct, but now, especially, the solemn duty of all patriots to bear cheerfully the public burdens; to aid and encourage the ministers of the government in the performance of their responsible and often painful duties; and to exhibit a spirit of liberality and fraternity towards all honest and patriotic political opponents; now, therefore, we invite all good citizens to join with us in the earnest efforts which we pledge ourselves to make to promote the patriotic objects set forth in these resolutions; and to that end we constitute ourselves an Association, to be called THE SOUTH DANVERS UNION LEAGUE, to be organized as follows:

ARTICLE 1. The organization shall consist of a President, five Vice-Presidents at large, and one from each School District, a Treasurer and an Executive Committee, consisting of the President, Treasurer, Secretary, and one member from each School District.

ARTICLE 2. It shall be the object of the association to encourage and disseminate patriotic sentiments in our social intercourse, by public addresses and by printed publications.

ARTICLE 3. The conditions of membership shall be unqualified loyalty to the Constitution of the United States, and unwavering support of the Federal Government in whatever efforts it may use for the suppression of the rebellion, and subscription to these resolutions and Articles, with the annual payment of one dollar towards defraying the expenses of the League.

1172 DOLLARS FOR VETERANS!—By referring to the advertisement of the Chairman of the Selectmen, it will be seen that, if the monthly pay offered by the State is accepted, the pay for three years will amount to 1172 dollars for veterans, and 1072 dollars for raw recruits.

In addition to the bounties of the Government, and State, will be the monthly pay of the Government of 13 dollars per month, amounting to 468 dollars, which will raise the whole amount received for three years served to the sum of 1640 dollars for veterans, and 1540 dollars for raw recruits.

☞ Thanksgiving cannot be enjoyed without remembering the soldiers, especially those of them denied the pleasure of tasting

Turkey "sassed" in cranberry,
Chicken, squash, and other pie,
Cheese and apples, nuts of dough,
Grapes and guesses,
Best of all, the loving glow
Of cheeks and kisses.

They can be directly aided through the Christian Commission, for the funds of which a [illegible] Thursday at the Old South. Go and give citizen Dinewell, or send your quota.

☞ Dr. George Osborne, of this town, is detailed as Inspecting Surgeon, under the call of the President of the United States for 300,000 volunteers, for South Danvers, Danvers and Middleton.

Dr. G. A. Perkins, for Salem.

Dr. H. H. F. Whittimore, for Marblehead.

Dr. J. L. Robinson, for Wenham, Hamilton, Topsfield and Rowley.

Dr. Charles Haddock, for Beverly.

☞ A letter recently received at the Danvers Post Office was directed as follows:—

For Boston, Lowell,
State of Massachusetts,
No. Danvers,
New Hampshire,
For Ann Lowney,
No. Danvers,
America.

SOCIAL PARTY AT SUTTON HALL.—The Volunteer Engine Company will hold their semi-annual party at Sutton Hall to-morrow (Thanksgiving) night. A limited number of tickets can be had of the managers.

☞ Of the original 101 belonging to Capt. Cogswell's company—recruited in Salem—40 only now remain on the rolls. Twenty-two members have been killed in battle.

☞ Rev. Mr. BARROWS will preach on the work of the Christian Commission next Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock.

☞ The Legislature of Missouri have

MISCELLANEOUS.

Salem has commenced recruiting in earnest.

The Prince of Prussia is by trade a printer.

Sumter is ruined, yet defiant.

General Burnside's health is greatly impaired.

General D. A. Hill denounces Bragg as a coward.

Egypt in Illinois was redeemed at the late election, giving a Union majority of 579.

Maine is aroused and is filling her quota with alacrity.

Returns from sixty-two counties in Illinois show a Union majority of 21,788.

Vallandigham is urging the French to recognize his brother rebels.

Several trials for capital offences are to commence in Boston on the 15th proximo.

The same bounty is paid in Connecticut to white and colored recruits.

Recent elections in the loyal States are very exciting to the rebels.

It looks as though the quota of New Hampshire would have to be filled by draft.

If a pretty woman asks you what you will bet, answer that you will lay your head to hers.

The officially declared vote of Ohio is 247,216 for Brough, and 185,464 for Vallandigham.

The thirty-eighth Congress assembles on the 7th of December.

Rev. Asa D. Smith was inaugurated President of Dartmouth College on Wednesday.

The Cambridge (Md.) Intelligencer says that on the 1st inst., Col. Birney had enlisted 1738 colored soldiers in the State.

A child in New York was "kept in" for neglecting her studies, and became so frightened that she fainted and died.

A party of 300 rebel prisoners arrived at Louisville a day or two since in which were five girls in male attire.

Maryland has emancipated herself from the slave-holders, and the next step will be to emancipate her slaves. Liberty begets liberty.

Brigham Young says that the secession war is a "visitation from heaven upon the people because they killed the prophet of God, Joseph Smith, Jr."

Governor Sprague has bought the trotting mare "California Damsel" for eleven thousand dollars, as a present, it is said, for his betrothed, Miss Kate Chase.

Several prisoners taken from late captured blockade runners have arrived at New York. Among them are two British army officers and the Belgian Consul.

The Legislature was prorogued by the Governor on Wednesday at eleven o'clock. The soldiers' Bounty Bill has received His Excellency's signature and has become a law.

The number of slaves run into Alabama and Georgia, is upwards of three-quarters of a million, a fact that shows how severely our armies have encroached upon secession territory.

The estate of William Sturgis, who recently died in Boston, will amount to nearly $2,000,000. Contrary to the usages of wealthy Boston merchants, Mr. Sturgis leaves not a farthing for public charities.

Mr. George Bryant being on a visit to St. Louis, took up a newspaper and saw himself reported the victim of a foul murder. Mr. Bryant immediately telegraphed to his wife and family that he was still kicking.

Vallandigham, who came within a hundred thousand votes of being elected Governor of Ohio, is reported to be in a sad state of impecuniosity. The Canadian editor is decidedly impertinent, adding that he is out of funds and that mine host is solicitous.

Four school girls in Boston took it into their heads to run away. One of them stole money enough from her mother to pay the cost and they all started in the cars for New York. On arriving at Worcester, their thoughts turned toward Boston, they became homesick, and went back to see their mammas.

It is proposed in some of the large cities to have a Telegraph in every house. The plan is to establish a central office, to each section of which bundles of insulated wires, laid under ground, shall radiate; and from these, single wires are to extend to the residents of those employing them. This would be very accommodating to the sick Romeos and Juliets.

THE VOICES OF THE BATTLE FIELD.—In his report of the Chickamauga battle, B. F. Taylor records the following fact:

"If anybody thinks that, when our men are [illegible] the field, they rend the air with cries and groans, till it shivers with such evidences of agony, he greatly errs. An arm is shattered, a leg carried away, a bullet pierces the breast, and the soldier sinks down silently upon the ground, or creeps away, if he can, without a murmur or complaint—falls as the sparrow falls, speechlessly, and, like that sparrow, I earnestly believe, falls not without note by the Father. The dying horse gives out his fearful utterance of almost human suffering, but the mangled rider is dumb. The crash of musketry, the crack of rifles, the roar of guns, the rebel whoop, the federal cheers, and that indescribable undertone of grinding, rumbling, splintering sound, make up the voices of the battlefield."

☞ B. F. Taylor, of the Chicago Journal, who has been campaigning with the Western army, says nothing will catch a soldier's eye quicker, than a patch of velvet moss, or a fresh little flower, and many a letter leaves the camp enriched with faded souvenirs of these expeditions. I am wrong; a dirty, ragged baby will. I have seen a thirteen dollar man expend a dollar for trinkets to hang about the dingy neck of an urchin that at home and three years ago he would hardly have touched with the tongs. Do you say, it is for the mother's sake? You have only to see the bedraggled, coarse, lank, tobacco-chewing dam—is it wicked for me to use that word in such a fashion?

☞ We again call the attention of our readers to the course of concerts by Gilmore's Band; the course is meeting with good success. A subscription paper may be found at the store of B. F. Stevens.

Of the 160 men whose names were on the active list of the Salem Cadets in March, 1861, 148 have been or are now in the service.

☞ It is found by investigation that the HORSE CARS—Increased Accommodation.—We understand that it is the intention of the Horse Railroad Co. to furnish our people with greater facilities for travel over their road. A turn-table is to be placed at Elliott Street, and every car which leaves Beverly will be run through to South Danvers and back, so that one wishing to visit that place will be carried as far as North Street, Salem, for a single ticket, or 5 cents, while the South Danvers people will be able to ride to Beverly Bridge without an increase of fare. Under the new arrangement the cars will make about twenty trips each way. The travel on the road seems to be on the increase, and we learn that since we made what some people thought to be a wild statement in relation thereto, that more than nine hundred passengers have been carried in a single day.

We visited the Company's stable in Salem a few days since and must say that for accommodation, convenience and neatness, they surpass anything of the kind we have ever seen, the ground where the horses are kept being paved, and covered with a coating of tan. Suitable accommodations are furnished for sick horses, only one of which out of the whole number is now ailing, which speaks well of their use and treatment. We believe the Company have the right man in the right place in the person of Superintendent Eveleth.—Beverly Citizen.

WAR ITEMS.—Four large steamers, engaged in running the blockade of Wilmington, have been captured within the past three days. One of them was laden with 30,000 Enfield rifles, ammunition, clothing, &c.; another with sulphur and saltpetre and lead, and the others with assorted cargoes. The original cost of one was $200,000. They are the most valuable prizes of the war.

It is related that a short time since some two hundred mules, packed near Gen. Hooker's lines, broke loose and charged furiously across the field toward where a Georgia regiment was stationed. Thinking it was cavalry, or something else, the regiment broke in confusion and ran, leaving one thousand Enfield rifles of the best description behind them, which General Hooker has to show in proof of the incident.

General Longstreet crossed the Tennessee river on the 14th and was attacked by General Burnside, who drove the advanced guard back. On Sunday the enemy advanced in force, when Gen. Burnside fell back to Lenoir, the rear guard skirmishing heavily with the enemy during the day. Three charges made during Sunday night were handsomely repulsed. On Monday forenoon Burnside evacuated Lenoir, when, the enemy pursuing, he gave them battle. The fight was desperate, but the rebels were finally driven back to the river.—The enemy were reinforced in the afternoon and renewed the battle. At night our forces were in possession of their own ground. On Monday night Burnside fell back, and reached Knoxville.

VOLUNTEER RALLYING COMMITTEE. At a meeting of the Union League Committee, held last Monday evening, the following named gentlemen were nominated as a Volunteer Rallying Committee, and are earnestly requested to act as such:

M. A. Shackley,	James P. King,
John G. Walcott,	George C. Pierce,
Wm. Wolcott,	Edward W. Jacobs,
Henry M. Osborn,	William P. Clark,
Wm. H. Baldwin,	John Pinder,
Alonzo P. Raddin,	William S. Osborn,
Bowman Viles,	B. B. Humphrey,
N. M. Horton,	William Sutton, Jr.,
C. W. Osborn,	A. A. Messer,
—— Blake,	Thos. M. Stimpson.

Alexander B. Merrill.

☞ Richmond is once in a while startled by a Yankeeism. Two privates of the 1st. Vt. Cavalry arrived back to their regiment on the 13th, having effected their escape on this wise. They were confined in an upper story in the prison, from the window of which by the aid of a lightning rod, they lowered themselves upon an adjoining roof, and then broke into the upper stories of several stores along the street and finally got out of the city without exciting the suspicion of any one whom they met.—Four days they suffered much from want of food, and constant fear of being discovered and taken back to the vile den in which they had been imprisoned.

MASSACHUSETTS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.—The Trustees of the Massachusetts Agricultural College met on Wednesday last for the purpose of organization, in accordance with the law passed at the last session of the Legislature.—His Excellency Governor Andrew was chosen President, Hon. Allen W. Dodge of Hamilton, Vice President, and Charles L. Flint of Boston, Secretary.

GOOD FOR BEN.—Gen. Butler in his first walk at Fortress Monroe was astonished at meeting a rebel officer looking at a parade of our troops. It was Gen. Fitz Hugh Lee. On being told that he enjoyed the liberty of Old Point, Gen. Butler sharply expressed his disapproval of such reprehensible courtesy; the next day Lee made a voyage to Fort Lafayette.

☞ Miss Sarah Briggs, a school ma'am in Dutchess county, New York, displayed a copperhead emblem in school, which excited a spirit of loyalty in the boys and girls so that they raised the national flag over the front door of the building. Whereupon Miss Briggs dismissed the school, sine die, and, to avoid passing under the flag climbed out of the window.

☞ A Pennsylvania democrat being asked to vote for Judge Woodward for governor, wisely said: "To send my son to the war to kill rebels, and to stay at home myself to vote against the government, is like hitching a team of oxen to one end of a wagon and a team of horses to the other, when the only result will be pulling the wagon to pieces."

☞ The best shots among the English riflemen are said to be blue-eyed men, from which it is inferred that blue eyes are superior to black eyes in practical usefulness as well as in moral qualities. Blue-eyed people will now hold up their heads accordingly!

☞ The Mass. 55th Regiment were opposite London, Tenn., on the 26th ult., having arrived at that place on the 23d, after a severe march from Crab Orchard, Ky., to Knoxville, whence they proceeded by railroad to London.

THE COAL TRADE.—In an article on the coal trade the New York Post expresses the opinion that prices will not go any higher. It says:—"While it is undoubtedly true that coal is not now plenty, and that prices will remain comparatively high during the winter, our readers are cautioned against giving heed to the statements constantly made, that there is a deficiency which is likely to end in disaster to the poorer classes, or even in the establishment of rates materially in advance of those ruling now. There are reasons why these prices cannot be kept permanently so high; but the best judges are inclined to believe that, while there is no sufficient occasion for the present excitement, the prices will yet, in all probability, remain at or about ten dollars. It is thought they cannot be permanently higher. One of the largest companies in the city is taking orders for future delivery, at nine dollars, and does not expect to advance that rate. The panic-makers who insist that the value of coal cannot be less than fifteen dollars, make their calculations in some cases on information known to be false, and in other instances on wilful mis-statements. Only some accident or unforeseen circumstance, which would have the effect of cutting off the supply or a large proportion of it, could produce any such result."

THE TRUE MOTTO.—The motto on the lips of every true man should be, "Push on the war! No compromise with traitors! The nation shall not die!" Brave men and women of the nation, sound this aloud and press on in the struggle with renewed vigor.

☞ Late Richmond papers are full of disappointment and bitter invective at what they acknowledge to be a complete defeat on the Rappahannock. They pertinently inquire—"What nation in three years of war ever had its flag lowered eleven times in surrender?"—and adds that such is the fact with the rebel cause.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY FOR DECEMBER.—The last number of the 12th volume is before us, and it is well freighted with good things in science and literature. We will not enumerate the articles, as they are known to be from the best pens and minds in the country, and we prefer to call attention to the work for the coming year. Its conductors are laying out for advancing it to even a higher standard than ever. This is indeed a bold effort, but we think they will attain to. When we consider that many of the best books in our libraries (we had almost said in the language,) had their first publicity in this magazine, and the best talent and genius of this country has been enlisted for its pages, it must be a herculean task to improve it. But its watchword from the first has been "progress," and we can safely believe in its future advancement. We trust the large patronage it now has among our people will be greatly increased by beginning with the January number, the first of the thirteenth volume.

THE CONTINENTAL for December lies on our table. We can safely recommend this publication as a live magazine, which keeps fully up to the times on all the great questions which now agitate the country. This number closes the volume, and now is the time for subscribers to renew their subscriptions and for those who are not, to give their names to Mr. R. W. Wilkinson, who is the selling agent for the work in this place. Its patrons may expect to find fresh blood infused into it by some of the ablest and most popular writers of the day.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—This favorite periodical comes to us as the first of the 28th volume, and is, as usual, rich in matters of interest and profusely illustrated by the best of wood engravings. The last volume contained 300 engravings for only six months! This volume will probably contain as many. It may be had of E. B. Waitt, Danvers.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK for December contains two extension fashion plates, one containing seven figures, among which are dresses for bride and bridesmaids, a beautiful steel engraving, The Daily Governess, an opera hood printed in colors, with many other novelties, a Christmas Tale by Marion Harland, and other stories for the season by popular writers. Now is the time to secure Godey's Unrivalled for the next year.

SOUTH DANVERS UNION LEAGUE.

There will be a meeting of our citizens at Town Hall, next Friday evening, at 7½ o'clock, to organize a Union League. A full attendance is requested. Per order of Committee,

F. BAKER, Chairman
CHAS. D. HOWARD, Sec'y.
Nov. 25, 1863.

☞ To our readers who are in want of UNDER SHIRTS, DRAWERS, HOSIERY, GLOVES, and GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, we would recommend them to call upon GEO. S. WALKER, 228 Essex Street, as he makes this business a especially, he is enabled to attend closely to the wants of customers, and keeps fully posted in the latest styles of STAPLE and FANCY GOODS, as they appear in the market, which may always be found upon his counter.—Gazt

Marriages.

In South Danvers, by Rev O F Safford, Joel Reed, Esq., of Toledo, Ohio, to Miss Leonora Reed of S D.

In Danvers, Nov 14, by Rev Mr Chase, Mr William Jones of West Cambridge, to Miss Helen, daughter of Mr Jona. Harwood of D.

In Salem, Nov 11th, Mr Timothy Tucker to Miss Ann C McManns; 12th, Mr Edward Hyland to Miss Jonnna Hagerty; 15th, Jeremiah Creamer to Miss Mary Colbert; 18th, Mr Daniel McDonald to Miss Louisa K Andrews; 17th, Mr George E Colburn of Temple, N. H., to Miss Harriet M, daughter of Mr Benjamin Stone of Salem; 18th, Mr Silas A Smith of South Danvers, and Miss Emily S Fabens of Salem; Mr James S Nelson to Miss Mary W, daughter of Silas Burbank Esq, both of Salem; 19th, Mr Patrick Brady to Miss Mary Ann Connor.

Deaths.

In Danvers, Nov. 22, Catherine Matilda, daughter of Col. Jesse Tapley, 22 years.

In Salem, Nov 16, Mr Joseph G Porter, 56 yrs; 17th, Miss Eunice Phippen, 67 yrs 9 mos; 18th, Mr Theodore A Thorndike, 19 yrs 9 mos 18 days; Patrick F, son of Patrick and Mary Ryan 1½ months; 19th, Julia, daughter of Thomas and Joanna Shea, 21 mos; Mrs Caroline Bailey, 23 yrs; 20th, Mr William Getchell 63 years; Mr John Parsons, 45 years; Minnie P, daughter of John H and M E Page, 9 mos 28 days; Mrs Mary A, widow of the late Corporal Colin Shaw (11th Mass. Regt.) 32 yrs 9

☞ "Traveller," will appear in our next.

FLOWERS.—New Flowers in, nice styles at our usual low prices opened to-day.
JOHN P. PEABODY.

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS.—New styles, opened to-day at PEABODY'S.

FLOWERS.—New flowers, at PEABODY'S.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR CROCKERY.—First quality of White Granite Ware, marked down and selling at 20 per cent less than cost, by C. T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 Lowell Street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

Thanksgiving Services.

Public worship on THURSDAY in the OLD SOUTH CHURCH at ten o'clock.

A collection will be taken up in aid of the Christian Commission, to forward supplies to the prisoners at Richmond.

RALLY FOR THE OLD FLAG!

$1172 FOR VETERANS, and
$1072 FOR RAW RECRUITS.

59 MEN WANTED

TO FILL THE QUOTA OF

SOUTH DANVERS,

To whom Bounties will be paid as follows:

To Veterans (those who have been at least nine months in the service and been honorably discharged for other cause than disability,) the Government bounty of 402 dollars each.

To all other recruits 302 dollars each.

In addition to the above, each recruit will receive from the State, as follows: 325 dollars down, or 50 dollars down and 20 dollars per month, as the soldier may elect, making in all 727 dollars for Veterans, and 627 dollars for raw recruits.

If the monthly pay offered by the State is received, the pay for three years will amount to 1172 dollars for Veterans, and 1072 for raw recruits.

In addition to the bounties of the Government, and State, will be the monthly pay of the Government of 13 dollars per month, amounting to 468 dollars, which will raise the whole amount received for three years served to the sum of

$1640 FOR VETERANS, AND
$1540 FOR RAW RECRUITS.

☞ The families of Volunteers will be entitled by law to State Aid on the same terms as heretofore.

All further information required in regard to recruiting, bounties, &c., may be obtained at the office.

JOSEPH POOR,
RECRUITING AGENT.
Office in Allen's Building, on the Square.
South Danvers, Nov. 25, 1863.

ESSEX INSTITUTE.

The Course of SCIENTIFIC LECTURES will commence on THURSDAY EVENING, Nov. 19th, at 7.30 o'clock, and be continued on Thursday Evenings at the Lyceum Hall.

These Lectures will treat on subjects connected with Geology, Astronomy, Botany, Zoology, &c.

1st Lecture by Dr. C. T. JACKSON of Boston, on "The Science and Art of Mining."—Other lectures may be expected from the following gentlemen:

Prof. BENJAMIN PIERCE of Cambridge;
CHARLES W. TUTTLE, Esq., of Boston;
Messrs. N. E. ATWOOD of Provincetown;
C. M. TRACY of Lynn;
and others, whose names will be announced hereafter.

Tickets for the course $1.00 each. May be had at the Bookstores.

H. WHEATLAND.
Salem, Nov. 18. Secretary.

FROM VIENNA,
AND OPEN TO-DAY
—AT—
BROWNING & LONG'S.

CHOICE AND ELEGANT ARTICLES.

BRONZE CARD RECEIVERS;
GRECIAN ASH BOXES;
BRONZE CANDLESTICKS;
BRONZE CIGAR STANDS;
CANDLESTICKS with MATCH RECEIVERS;
BRONZE WATCH STANDS;
BRONZE INKSTANDS;
ANTIQUE CUPS;
CUIR BELTS with BAGS;
CUIR WATCH POUCHES;
CUIR BARS;
Oxynite of Silver SLEEVE BUTTONS;
CORAL BRACELETS;
CORAL COMBS;
CORAL SCARF PINS;
INITIAL SLEEVE BUTTONS;
GENT'S SCARF RINGS;
AMBER BALL COMBS;
HORN BALL COMBS;
BRAZILIAN BALL COMBS.

These goods were purchased by a friend of our Establishment in Vienna, and were received by last steamer. Being from the first hands, we are enabled to offer them much lower than the usual rates.

n Lodge.

AR MEETING this evening.

JOHN O. POOR, Sec'y.

M. FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

.....PIANO FORTES,
at the lowest rates;

..... PIANO FORTES,
at the Manufacturers Prices;

ES....PIANO FORTES,
on the easiest terms;

t Rooms No. 7 Central street,

SALEM, MASS.

dvertisements.

List of Letters

NING in the Post Office at South ers, Nov. 24, 1863. [Persons calling etters will please say they are adver-

Bean,	Darby Loftus,
B. Bryant,	Mary F. Merrill,
. J. Bowers,	Peter McSmith,
I. Buxton,	Huldah Robbins,
n Collius,	Daniel A. Small,
a Cook,	Jona. Smith,
A. Donovan,	Seth H. Tozer,
r Fuller,	John Wheben,
V. Downs,	Hannah Wilson,
Johnson,	Gilman Webster.
Logan,

These letters are subject to an ad-postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

OATS.

0 BUSHELS Bright and Sweet
Northern OATS—for sale by GAYLE & CO., Phillips Wharf.

HEYLINGBERG'S

r Dressing Saloon,

MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

EYLINGBERG would announce to his pat s and the public generally, that on and after R 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

, - - - - - - - - -	8 cts,
utting, - - - - - - -	15 cts,
ooing, - - - - - - -	15 cts.

dar attention paid to dying hair and whis-one preparation, without washing or scrubuarterly customers must pay in advance.

Danvers, Nov. 15, 1862.

EW STORE!

Flour! Flour!

RECEIVED, a fresh supply of OHIOH
ANDS, direct from the Mills, for sale, ale and retail, at LOWEST PRICES, by

E. F OSBORN.

Sutton's Building, Main St.

h Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

Proposals for Hay.

LED PROPOSALS will be received at e office of the subscriber till Saturday, 28th, at 12 o'clock, M, for supplying 200
f the best quality English Hay, and 80 f Meadow Hay, to be delivered at the of the Salem and South Danvers Rail-
o. during the ensuing year in such quan-nd at such times as the subscriber may ire, all to be delivered prior to Nov. 1st, Proposals will be received for the whole art of the quantity.

MOSES H. HALE,
Superintendent S. & S. D. R. R. Co.
em, Nov. 16th, 1863. 2w

A Card.

MEROUS applications having been made or a Course of FIRST CLASS CON-
TS in this City, the managers of the SA-TEMPERANCE LEAGUE take pleasure in ancing that arrangements have been made
Mr. GILMORE for a course of THREE CERTS, provided sufficient encourage-shall be given.

e Concerts to be of the same character as given recently under the auspices of the ue.

bscription papers at $1 00 for the Course,
be found at the Bookstores of Messrs.
rge Creamer, Henry P. Ives, Whipple &
th, and D. B. Brooks & Brother, Salem;
P. Stevens, South Danvers.

alem, November 18, 1863.

DR. E. F. KITTREDGE,

om Lowell, formerly of New Ipswich, N. H.,
Has removed his office and residence to

. 42 MAIN STREET,

SOUTH DANVERS, MASS.

. K., from an extensive and successful profes l experience of upwards of twenty years, feels fied in saying that he can treat diseases to the faction of his patients, and to the credit of him fice hours from 7 to 9 A. M., and from 6 to 9 P. M. outh Danvers, Nov 13, 1863.

S. F. BACHELDER, M. D.,

HYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Office and Residence at

No. 15 Main Street,

First door south of Warren Bank Building.

South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.*

DR. J. M. CROSVENOR,

espectfully announces to the citizens of South Danvers that he has located himself in said town; his office may be found in

TRASK'S BUILDING,

ON MAIN STREET,

esidence No. 66 Main Street, next house below the Peabody Institute.

South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.

SILVER PLATED KNIVES,

IVORY handle Knives with Silver Plated
Blades by the dozen. Also, Silver Plated Forks of the best quality at nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

IVORY HANDLE KNIVES,

DINNER and Desert Knives only by the dozen. Carving Knives and Forks and Steels, at
nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

TIMOTHY TITCOMB'S

NEW BOOK, Letters to the Joneses; Peculiar, a Tale of the Great Transition, by Epes Sargent; Good Society, or Contrasts of Character, by Mrs Gray, by
nov 25 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

TWENTY-ONE NEW BOOKS

HAVE gone into our Circulating Library within ten days. There is no other way so easy and so cheap for getting reading matter.
Subscriptions begin at any time
nov 25 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

BALMORAL SKIRTS---AT BARGAINS.

6-Threaded Blue Yarn, nice quality;
Blue Socks for the Soldiers' wear;
—At Reduced Prices.—
nov 25 ANN R BRAY, 76 Federal st

ANN R. BRAY 76 Federal Street, Salem,— —has received—
Styles Cotton Wool Delaines—very
—at very low prices.
selling out at Cost some of our best SS GOODS.
ing out all our SPRING SKIRTS

The Singer Manufacturing Co's

LETTER A SEWING MACHINE

For Family Use and Light Manufacturing
Purposes, is on exhibition and for sale

AT ASHLAND HALL,

SOUTH DANVERS SQUARE,

—BY—

JOHN H. CHOATE,

Agent for the sale of

SEWING MACHINES,

SILK, THREAD, NEEDLES, COTTONS, &c., &c.

—Also—

Paraffine Sewing Machine Oil,

The best oil for all kinds of light machinery.

South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

Men's Clothing.

In this department can be found the Latest Styles, the Best Goods, and the Largest Assortment in Essex County. We have our best Goods made to our order. Gentlemen in want of a

GOOD OVERCOAT,

or a good fitting suit of Clothes, are invited to call and examine and decide for themselves whether it is for their interest to get a suit made or buy at F. S. PECK'S and save money. 240 is the place.

Three Small Boys Lost! Their father found them at 240, and fitted them to a good suit of Clothing. If your boys should be missing at any time, 240 is the place to find them or clothe them at low prices.

Boys' Clothing.

We have fitted up a large room expressly for Boys' CLOTHING, where can be found a large assortment of the latest styles Over-Coats, Under-Coats, Pants, Vests, Jackets and Suits. We have our best goods made to our order, and have pieces saved so that customers can have a small piece with the suits. 240 is the only store in Essex County where you can find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing. Call at 240 and decide whether the above is true.

F. S. PECK.

We don't believe in letting the boys go to Boston to buy their Clothing, and pay more than the same goods are sold for at PECK'S, 240 Essex Street.

240

TWO BOYS RUN OVER.—A Lady and two Boys were seen to get out of the Horse Cars, and the Boys started and run right over into 240, and were fitted to a good suit of clothes at low prices. 240 is the place.

Furnishing Goods.

The Latest Styles in this department can be found and as large an assortment of as Good Goods as in any store in Salem. Men's and Boys' Under Shirts and Drawers, all sizes; Men's and Boys' Gloves and Socks, all sizes and prices, from 15c to $2 50; Braces 15 cts. to $2 25; White and Fancy Shirts, Stocks, Ties, Collars, Bosoms. Also, a large assortment of FANCY GOODS. You can save money by purchasing your Furnishing Goods at

F. S. PECK'S, 240.

☞ Visit the Boys' Clothing Department, at 240, if you wish to find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing, all prices.

Hats and Caps.

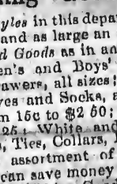
In this department can be found the Latest Styles and the best quality of Goods, which will be sold at a small profit.

We sell you a Coat or a pair of Pants or a suit of Clothes, and make a small profit, thus enabling us to afford to sell you a Hat or Cap low, and we are DOING TO DO IT. That's What's the Matter.

☞ 240 is the place to buy Hats and Caps.

The public are respectfully invited to call and examine the assortment, and see if what we say is true.

F. S. PECK,
240 Essex street, Salem.



ROBBUT LEE AND GEORGE THE MEADE.

PHERNANDIWOOD and See more are told of in the Second Book of The New Gospi of Peace. Price 15 cents.

John P. Peabody.

WHERE GO THE LADIES?

Where go all the Ladies now?
The answer's very plain, I trow,
They go where goods are cheap and nice,
Where much is bought for little price,
By all who call, both high and low,
And that's the place where Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies, friend?
I'll tell you where they're apt to wend,
With tripping feet or in the cars—
By light of day or moon and stars,
To Peabody's they constant flow,
And that is where the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? Sure
They go where choicest things allure,
Where Hose and Gloves are cheaply sold
And Worsted goods protect from cold,
And Breakfast Shawls are wondrous low,
And that's where all the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? True
They go to find what's scarce and new,
They seek for Ribbons rich and rare
At Peabody's with greatest care,
And then they make a splendid show,
And that's where all the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? Where?
They seek the place where trade is fair,
And go betimes at eve or morning,
To Peabody's for their adorning,
So surely now you ought to know
The place where all the Ladies go.

Hand Made Worsted Goods in every variety.

SHAWLS, SONTAGS,
HOODS,
CAPS,
SLEEVES,
GAITERS,
MITTENS, &c.

LADIES' UNDER-WEAR.

MERINO VESTS,
PANTS,
CORSETS,
SKIRTS, &c

—AT—

PEABODY'S,

220 Essex Street, Salem.

OUR WORSTEDS.

We invite your special attention to our Stock of Zephyr Worsteds, as we have done all in our power to make it choice and desirable. It is the largest stock in Essex County, and we shall as we always have done, sell them at lower prices than any of our competitors. We have all the fine colors at prices from 17 to 22 cents per ounce. We have also a full stock of hand-knit and machine made Hoods, Sontags, Nubias, Clouds, Sleeves, Mittens, &c.

JOHN P. PEABODY.

TRIMMINGS.

Buttons,	Bindings,
Braids,	Cords,
Whalebones,	Hooks & Eyes,
&c., &c., &c.

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

KID GLOVES—a fresh Stock;
Ladies', Misses', and Children's Hosiery and Gloves in great variety.

LADIES!

We call your attention to our Stock, being fully confident that we can offer you many decided bargains.

Our prices as heretofore will be the very lowest.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,

JOHN P. PEABODY.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

CLOAKS, DRESS GOODS, &c.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

We have now in Stock a great variety of LADIES' CLOAKS, made in the best manner from our own Cloths.

These garments arse in all Plush, Chinchilla and heavy Beavers, hand made,—and our prices for them are very low.

We are also making to order from measure a great many elegant Cloaks.

RICH DRESS GOODS.

We invite attention to our Stock of LADIES' DRESS GOODS. It is unusually complete in Thibets, Ottomans, Repps, Germania Cloths, Alpaccas, Plaids, M. De Laines, etc., etc.

We have a very large Stock of BEST AMERICAN PRINTS. (Merrimack and Pacific's, Manchester's, Dunnell's, etc. etc.,)—at Lowest Prices.

We would invite special attention to our Stock of Plain Black and Fancy DRESS SILKS.

We have elegant PLAIN COLORED SILKS at a Bargain.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' CASHMERE MANTLES.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' UNDER-CLOTHING.

We have a splendid Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS—from $2.00 up.

We have a fine Stock of SHAWLS.

We have a fine Stock of Gent's SHIRT-FRONTS, LINENS, WHITE GOODS, KID GLOVES, HOSIERY, etc.

We have a large Stock of COTTONS, white and colored SHAWLS, Draper's QUILTS, Hand Loom Damasks, for TABLE COVERINGS, etc.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

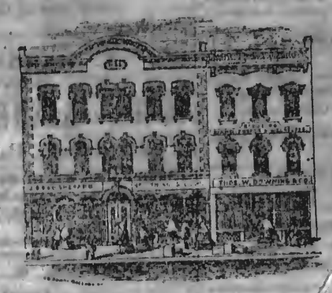
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Nov. 27, 1863.

LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS.

RICH AND ELEGANT

LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS.



☞ THE MOST EHTENSIVE STOCK

Ever Brought to Salem,

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S,

177 Essex St., Salem.

FIRST CLASS GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES!

NOW OPEN

MAGNIFICENT ASSORTMENT OF

HAND-KNIT WOOLEN GLOVES.

DENTAL NOTICE.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,

FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

Oct. 3—mo.

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,

M. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURER TO ORDER
A few doors from Washington Street,
At 236 Essex Street,
SALEM, MASS.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,

Music Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,

SALEM, MASS.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!

ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.

We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.

SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.

oct 14

R. W. WILKINSON,

DEALER IN

Newspapers, Periodicals, and Stationery of every Description.

FOREIGN and DOMESTIC FRUITS, consisting of Oranges, Lemons, Dates, Figs, Prunes, &c., &c.

Sauces, Pickles and Preserves; Castana, Naples and English Walnuts; Hard, Soft and Paper-shelled Almonds; choice brands of Tobacco and Cigars; also a general assortment of Confectionery of every description.

Also a large and well selected stock of Toys, suitable for children and the Holiday Gifts.

Ice Cream furnished to parties at short notice and in quantities to suit. Wedding Cake and every variety of nice cake furnished to parties or families.

STORE—WARREN BANK BUILDING.

George S. Walker.

Gentlemen's Gloves,

ON HAND every kind and quality of Gloves suitable for dress, driving and working, at the VERY LOWEST PRICES—at

GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
223 Essex street, Stearns' Block.

Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods.

NEW STYLES received daily. Just opened a choice lot of Scarfs and Ties. Also, Gloves of every kind, Collars, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, &c, to which I invite attention of all in want.

WALKER,
GEORGE, Furnishing Store,
Gent, Stearns' Building.

No. 228 E

Gentlemen's Underwear.

POSITIVELY the Largest Assortment to be found in the County—at the Lowest Prices at

GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Dealer in Gent's Furnishing Goods & Toilet Articles, opposite Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

A. J. ARCHER & CO,

WILL OPEN THIS MORNING

A LARGE STOCK OF

CLOAKS AND SACKS.

Price from $7 to $25 00.

Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.

Backs and Colors

IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES.

Which we are prepared to make into garments to order, in the very best manner, and at

LOWEST PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Nov 4

Hoop Skirts at Cost.

WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,

—IN—

C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at

NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,

ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.

South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.

Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,

(Successors to M. Black)

DANVERS-PORT,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE---No. 6 Allen's Building.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 10—tf

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.

WARREN BANK.

U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,

For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.

FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.

South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

ROUGH PAPERS,

FOR Letters and Notes—the fashionable style. Envelopes to match. Look at them.

nov 11 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SECOND HAND BOOKS.

FROM our Circulating Library—duplicate copies for sale at half price.

oct 21 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

WOODEN WARE.

WOOD Bowls and Trays; Rolling Pins; Past Boards; Sieves; Mortars; and every description of Wooden Ware, for sale by

S C & E A SIMONDS.

KNIVES AND FORKS.

IVORY, Rubber, Bone, and Horn Handled Knives and Forks of the best quality—at

S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

H. L. HADLEY,

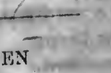
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,

Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty, Back Pay and Pensions promptly attended to.

PIANO FORTES.



I HAVE those splendid Extra-Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep-mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Manner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melodeons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every particular.

S. MACKINTIRE, General Agent.

No. 218 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANAC,

FOR 1864, with beautiful and colored illustrations. It contains much valuable information.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Nov. 4.

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.

☞ If you want to SAVE MONEY, in purchasing Goods, go to COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front treet, Salem.

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker
Auctioneer, Real Front Street.

...k, Railroad and Manufacturing
Real Estate bought and sold on Commissions.
S...

FALL AND WINTER GOODS

AT

GEORGE P. DANIELS'S,

No. 238 Essex Street,

(three Doors West of the Tunnel.)

Consisting of New Styles

DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLOTHS,
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WEAR.
FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & Opera;
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.

☞ All the above Goods will be sold for CASH, at Low Prices.

sept 23 tf

M. E. CRANE,

168 ESSEX STREET.

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her Stock of

FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GOODS

comprising all desirable styles.

Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French Flowers and Laces;

Straw Goods of all descriptions,

Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, latest styles; Ladies Dress Caps;

and all articles usually found in such a Store, at the lowest prices for cash.

Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Collars, &c., constantly on hand.

M. E. CRANE,
Successor to M M FLETCHER.

Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

VISIT THE

PHOTOGRAPH ROOMS

—OF—

T. E. WOOD,

(Over O. F. Batchelder's Store,)

No. 136 Main St., South Danvers,

And get a faithful likeness of yourself and friends while in HEALTH and STRENGTH.

Carte de Visite, Photographs and Ambrotypes taken. Also pictures copied at reasonable prices.

Frames, Albums, Cases, &c., for sale.

South Danvers, Oct 14.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Sets of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless.

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.

NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 R. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

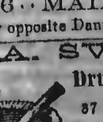
Druggist and Apothecary,

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 20, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM



Dealer in

DRUGS & MEDICINES,

Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c

126 MAIN ST 126

Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary

87 Main St., So. Danvers.

DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemica
Foreign Leaches, Shakurs'
Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums,
Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses,
and Genuine Patent Medicines

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery, Toilet Articles and Stationery.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

87 MAIN STREET.

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,

Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,

CIVIL AND MILITARY,

Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No. 5.

J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. MCLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

BLACKS GENERAL ATLAS

OF the World—new edition containing the new boundaries, all the latest discoveries, and a complete index of sixty-five thousand names, bound in half English morocco, price $15. G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

TABLE CUTLERY.

A Full assortment of Knives and Forks, Carvers, Mincing and Bread Knives, just opened at

nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

Miscellaneous.

A PRETTY GOOD STORY.—A tolerably good story is told us of a couple of raftsmen, based upon an occurrence during the late big flood and storm, in which so many rafts were swamped and so many steamboats lost their sky riggings. A raft was caught in a dangerous place just as the squall came. In an instant the raft was pitching and writhing as if suddenly dropped into Charybdis, while the waves broke over it with tremendous uproar; and expecting instant destruction, one raftsman dropped on his knees and commenced praying with a vim equal to the emergency. Happening to open his eyes an instant, he observed his companion, not engaged in prayer, but pushing a pole into the water at the side of the raft. "What's that your doin', Mike?" said he; "get down on yer knees, now, for there isn't a minit between us and purgatory!" "Be aisy, Pat," said the other, as he continued to punch the water with his pole; "be aisy now; what's the use of praying when a fellow can tech bottom with a pole!" Mike's a pretty good specimen of a large class of Christians, who prefer to omit prayer as long as they can "tech bottom."

☞ A jolly fellow had an office next door to a doctor's shop. One day a gentleman, of the old fogy school, blundered into the wrong shop.

"Is the doctor in?"

"Don't live here," said the lawyer, who was in full scribble over some old documents.

"Oh! I thought this was his office?"

"Next door."

"Pray, sir, can you tell me if he has many patients?"

"Not living."

The old gentleman told the story in the vicinity, and the doctor threatened the lawyer with a libel suit.

☞ The following is sharp:—First party—"You'll come to the gallows some day." Second, or addressed party—"Yes, the day you're hanged."

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

— ALSO —

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chotwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St. New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je2—1y

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Marriage Book, &c.

It clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually cured without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586
mar 16—1yr

[COMMUNICATED.]

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!
A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Those wishing the prescription will please address

EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
New York.
ja1—4m.

Advertisements.

and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

Persons using the water of the Salem South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby that the water rents, for the six months Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that required to pay the same, at the office mpany, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st Nov. next. Should the bills remain r thirty days, the water will be n conformity to the regulations of the ours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2

r of the Directors,
Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

ATTRACTIVE

AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF

New Fall and Winter

CLOTHING,

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS

IN BOSTON UNDER THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS of the season, consisting in PARVELTIES of Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics'
WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

GEO. H. LANE,
31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,
BOSTON.
Oct 21, 1863. m

L. D. BOISE & CO.,

154 Washington Street, Boston,
(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES
FALL & WINTER
CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,

OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,

In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,

Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
And PIECE Goods
FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS

In all the most desirable patterns of English German, French, Scotch and American Coatings, Cassimeres & Doeskins,

Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner at

LOW PRICES FOR CASH.

L. D. BOISE & CO.,

154 WASHINTON ST., BOSTON,
Five Doors above the Old South.
Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m.

THE
FAMILY MOURNING STORE,
20 Winter Street, Boston.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would respectfully call attention to their establishment (the only one of its kind in the city,) where every requisite for Mourning can be obtained.

We have a complete assortment of the following goods, just received:—

English and French Bombazines,
Alpacas, of every width and price,
Alpaca Glace,
7-8 Alpacas,
Bombazine Laine, a new article,
Turin Cloths, Canton Cloths,
French Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths,
Mourning Ginghams and Prints,
Mourning Millinery, in new styles; Mourning Hat and Veils, Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.

S. S. WILLIAMS.
Oct. 7.—2ms.

TWO NEW BOOKS.

IN War Time, and other Poems by John Greenleaf Whittier;
Mental Hygiene, by J Ray, M D. Both of them are in Ticknor's best style.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St. So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
STEPHEN D. IVES, jr. JOHN. B. P. BODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No. 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market)
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 261 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

Boston Purchasing Agency.

THE special object of this Agency, is to make known through which non-residents can send to Boston and purchase any articles wanted for individual use, or for dealers' supplies, from a Shawl to a suit of Clothes, a Penknife to a Piano. For particulars of the Purchasing Agency, send for Circular to THOMAS DAVIS & Co., Advertising and General Business Agents, at HARDOON'S Gun Store, No. 15 Washington St., Boston. Citizens of Old Essex, try us. Services tendered gratis.
Best City reference given.
Oct 2—6w. T. DAVIS & CO.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX

THE session of Congress, commencing Dec. 1st, will probably be the most interesting session we have had since the war of 1812. It will contain a report of all the Debates of the session, revised by the speakers; the Messages of the President of the United States: the Reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments; the Laws passed during the session, and copious indexes to all. Published weekly or at short intervals, in Quarto form, the session making about 4000 pages. Price to subscribers $6 00 for the session, payable in advance, postage free.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH, 190 Essex St., are agents for the above, for Salem and vicinity. Also agents for the Daily Globe newspaper. Price $6 00 in advance. nov 18

Settees for Sale.

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.
Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S

Remains in Verse and Prose, of Arthur Henry Hallam, with a preface and memoir; Reminiscences of Amherst College, by D. Hitchcock; Broken Columns; Pique, an English Novel; all the Weekly Papers.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists, for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, Salem.

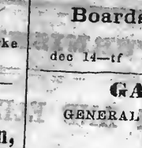
T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Require and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st. South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.
Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

PATTERSON'S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.
may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,

IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

NEW PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,

FROM the best makers in the country—some very desirable and beautiful styles, and made in the strongest and best manner.
Also—French Albums, at low prices.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central Street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.

OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.

Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.

Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Newport Railway, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.
For steamer BAY STATE, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Passengers by this route can take the 4.15 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.
Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.
☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and State-rooms secured at the O. C. & Newport R. R. Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, November 16, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office.)
City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO.
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem
EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, . . . 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, ... 10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.
Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.
Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,

Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Callosities, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block

Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype—Photograph, and Stereoscope process—finished in Indian Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.

Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

HOW TO COLLECT AND OBSERVE INSECTS,

BY A. S. Packard, Jr., from the Report of the Maine Scientific Survey for 1862.—Price 25 cents.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

WHITE WARE.

WHITE Dining and Tea Ware, of the newest patterns—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
Oct. 24. 32 Front street.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESSEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street, at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which, before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River, will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.
WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the bleod to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 82 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Mescom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$500,000. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Amos W. Prentice, Pres.
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$260,000. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
James F. Whitney, Pres.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital—$150,000. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres.
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assets—$373,000. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
Caleb Rice, Pres.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
19 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS,
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,

Photographs, Sphereotypes, Melainotypes and Patent Leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken in the best manner and at reasonable prices.

WINTER ARRANGEMENT
TO
LYNN & BOSTON
BY
OMNIBUS & HORSE CARS
W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, Sou vers, passing down Main street, through Wash Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays included.
Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M. and 4 50 P. M
Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.
Horse Cars leaving the office at 14 Brattle at 8 15 A M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the buses at Lynn, at the above named hours, passengers to South Danvers.
Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 c
Through to Boston, - 30 c

Gravesend, Woodend, and Cen Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in addition to route, an Omnibus will leave South Danv Lynn, to connect with the steam and horse times daily,—Sundays excepted.—running th Gravesend and Woodend, to the Central R R and Horse Railroad Station, corner of Sprin Broad Streets, leaving South Danvers at 6 A M necting with the 7.25 steam cars for Boston, (connecting with the 11.10 train), and 4 P M (co ing with the 4.50 train); and returning, leave from the Spring Street Station and Central R pot, at 8 A M, and 1 and 6 P M.
Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by horse car " " " " steam car Through Tickets to and from Boston may be the Drivers and Conductors.

South Danvers, Salem and L Route.

THE subscriber having purchased of M A Sl ley the Omnibus line running from Sale Lynn, would announce that it will now leave Stage Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Dan for Salem, at 7 30 A M, and 2 30 P M, and leave Stage Office in Central St, Salem, at 8.30 A M 3 30 P M for Lynn. Returning will leave Lynn A M and 5 P M; and Salem for South Danvers A M, and 6.15 P M Passengers between South Danvars and Salem be called for by leaving orders at the offices.
Passengers called for at reasonable charges if is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINESS

Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly ated to, on reasonable terms.
Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.
W. F. BURNHAM
South Danvers, Oct 28, 1863

CROUT & MUNROE'S
SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTO
RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at 10 1-2 a. m
Freight " " " at 5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at 3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at 4 p. m.

OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, Sou Danvers Square.
Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Stree Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.

Particular attention paid to removing Fu niture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.
Smallest favors thankfully received.
South Danvers, august 26—tf

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALE EXPRESS.

Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.

OFFICES:
In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office. Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores. In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Maple street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible points in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. G. MARSHALL.
dec16-tf

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7½ and 11 A M, and 1½ and 6 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.
Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.
Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abcesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating masrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capottes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. 3 or $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION

TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a very few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1863. NO. 48.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

H. L. HADLEY,
LOCAL EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually. It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not know." * * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that "Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fevers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and Dropsical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS. — Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY:

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Mascom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, DEC'R 2, 1863.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

A PROCLAMATION
TO THE PEOPLE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, November 18, 1863.

FELLOW-CITIZENS:—

Under the Act of the General Court, passed this day, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts offers a bounty of three hundred and twenty-five dollars ($325) to every volunteer who shall enlist and be mustered into the military service of the United States, to serve for three years, or during the war, but not to exceed three years, as a part of the contingent of Massachusetts, under the last call of the President. This bounty, however, will not be paid to any minor without the consent of his parents or guardians, if he has any in the State.

Any volunteer who wishes, can deposit his bounty, or any part of it, with the Treasurer of the Commonwealth, subject to his own order, and receive interest on it at five per cent. a year. Thus, for such part of his money as he does not wish to use immediately, he can make the treasury of the State his savings bank, and it will be earning him interest as a safe investment. Or, if he wishes to use it from time to time, it can be sent to the treasurer of his own town or city, and there paid out to the volunteer's own order. Or he can draw out a part of it, and leave the remainder to accumulate on interest, and be drawn for when wanted.

Persons entitled to State aid, under the laws of the Commonwealth, may receive it, notwithstanding the payment of this bounty.

This bounty is payable equally to veteran soldiers, who have served nine months or more, and to new recruits; and is in addition to the bounty paid by the United States.

Those volunteers who prefer, may, instead of the larger bounty in hand, receive fifty dollars upon enlisting, in addition to the seventy-five dollars paid in advance by the United States, and afterwards receive a monthly additional pay of twenty dollars per month, making, with the regular monthly pay from the United States, thirty-three dollars per month. And this is in addition to the instalments of bounties offered by the United States. This monthly pay of twenty dollars per month will be payable at the office of the Treasurer of the Commonwealth, upon the soldier's order; and a system will be devised in relation to drawing such orders, for the purpose of guarding both the soldier and the treasury against fraud.

This monthly pay, if the soldier wishes, or any part of it, may be deposited in the treasury, as a Savings Bank, drawing five per cent. interest, or may be drawn upon the soldier's order, as above mentioned.

In case of the volunteer's choosing to receive the increased monthly pay instead of the larger bounty in hand, he will receive the same pay of twenty dollars per month for six months after his honorable discharge for disability after six months' service; and if he dies in service, his widow or heirs will receive the same additional six months' pay after his death; with the limitation, that it will not continue more than three years in the whole.

If residents of one town, or one ward of a city, enlist in another, they will, nevertheless, be counted in the quota of the town or ward where they reside, until that quota is full.

Whoever enlists, knowing he is physically disqualified for military duty, with the fraudulent intent of obtaining the bounty and then getting discharged for such disability, is liable to imprisonment in the State prison not exceeding ten years, or fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in jail not more than two years.

Massachusetts soldiers now in service, and having not exceeding one year or more of their present enlistment to serve, may re-enlist, and receive the same bounties with those above mentioned; with the same privilege of choosing to receive the $325 down, or $50 down and $20 additional monthly pay instead; and with the same privilege of making the State treasury their Savings Bank, and receiving interest; and of having their six months' pay continued after discharge, or in the event of death, to their widows or heirs, on the terms above mentioned.

Soldiers in old regiments may re-enlist in their own regiments; and veterans, (that is, returned soldiers who have served at least nine months,) may enlist in either of the following new organizations, namely, the 2d Regiment of Heavy Artillery, commanded by Colonel Frankle; the 56th Regiment of Infantry, commanded by Colonel Griswold; the 57th, commanded by Colonel Bartlett; the 58th, commanded by Colonel Richmond; the 59th, commanded by Colonel Gould; (the latter four being also called the 1st, 2d, 3d, and 4th Veteran Regiments respectively;) or in the Battalion of Veteran Cavalry now recruiting at Readville, or they may join any existing regiment or company.

In addition to the above bounties, offered by the Commonwealth, bounties will also be paid by the United States, as follows:—

To every recruit who is a veteran volunteer, that is, every able-bodied man, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, who has heretofore been enlisted, and has served for not less than nine months, and can pass the surgical examination required by the mustering regulations of the United States, one month's pay in advance, and a bounty and premium amounting to $402, as follows:—

1. At the general rendezvous, and before leaving the same to join his regiment or company, one month's pay in advance,	$13 00
First instalment of bounty,	60 00
Premium,	2 00
Total pay before leaving general rendezvous,	$75 00

[This will be paid in cash, or checks for transmittal, in whole or in part, as the man may desire.]

2. At the first regular pay-day, or two months after muster in, an additional instalment,	$50 00
3. At the first regular pay day after six months' service, an additional instalment of bounty,	50 00
4. At the first regular pay-day after the end of the first year's service, an additional instalment of bounty,	50 00
5. At the first regular pay-day after eighteen months' service, an additional instalment of bounty,	50 00
6. At the first regular pay-day after two years' service, an additional instalment of bounty,	50 00
7. At the first regular pay-day after two and a half years' service, an additional instalment of bounty,	50 00
8. At the expiration of three years' service, or to any soldier who may be honorably discharged after two years' service, the remainder of the bounty will be paid,	40 00

All of the above payments of bounty will be in addition to the regular monthly pay of thirteen dollars per month.

To all other recruits, not veterans, accepted and enlisted as aforesaid, one month's pay in advance, and in addition, a bounty and premium amounting to $302, will be paid, as follows:—

1. At the general rendezvous and before leaving the same to join his regiment or company, the recruit will be paid one month's pay in advance,	$13 00
First instalment of bounty,	60 00
Premium,	2 00
Total pay before leaving general rendezvous,	$75 00

[To be paid in cash or checks for transmittal, in whole or in part, as the recruit may desire.]

2. At the first regular pay-day or two months after muster-in, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid,	$40 00
3. At the first regular pay-day after six months' service, in addition to his pay, he shall be paid an additional instalment of bounty,	40 00
4. At the first regular pay day after the end of the first year's service, in addition to his pay, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid,	40 00
5. At the first regular pay-day after eighteen months' service, in addition to his pay, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid,	40 00
6. At the first regular pay-day after two years' service, in addition to his pay, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid,	40 00
7. At the expiration of three years' service, or to any soldier who may be honorably discharged after two years' service, the remainder of the bounty will be paid,	40 00

If the government shall not require these troops for the full period of three years, and they shall be honorably mustered out of the service before the expiration of their term of enlistment, they will receive, upon being mustered out, the whole amount of bounty remaining unpaid, the same as if the full term had been served. The legal heirs of recruits who die in service will be entitled to receive the whole bounty remaining unpaid at the time of the soldier's death.

If the recruit continues in service for three years, the monthly pay of $13, and the bounty received as aforesaid, will amount, when averaged over the whole term of service:

For veteran volunteers, per month, to	$24 90
For other soldiers, not veterans, per month,	21 30

If discharged at the end of two years, the pay and bounty received will be at the following rates:—

For veteran volunteers per month,	$29 70
For other soldiers, not veterans, per month,	25 50

If honorably mustered out in less than two years, as not being required, the monthly rate of compensation will become increased, as the term of service is diminished.

In addition to this, the volunteer is furnished with his rations, clothing, and medical attendance, and is paid in cash for such part of his allowance of clothing, as he does not draw.

Men enlisted under this Order will be permitted to select their own regiments, which, however, must be old regiments in the field, excepting in the cases of those veterans who enlist in veteran organizations, and with the further exception that other new recruits, while they may, if they choose to do so, enlist in the veteran regiments, the provisions of this Order in respect to bounties will not be enjoyed by them.

Veterans may enlist in either of the above five veteran regiments or veteran battalion, or in any old regiment or company, and receive the veteran bounty of $402, from the United States. Other new recruits may enlist in either of the old regiments in the field, and receive the bounty of $302, from the United States above mentioned; and on enlisting in the new battalion of cavalry, at Readville, recruiting for the First Regiment of Massachusetts Cavalry, commanded by Colonel Sargent, will also receive the bounty of $302, from the United States.

The comparative advantage to the soldier of the alternative offers made by the Commonwealth may be stated thus, viz.:

1st. By accepting the $50 and monthly pay of $20, he will have received $330, from the State at the end of fourteen months; i. e., $5 more than the bounty of $325. And for every month's additional service he will have $20 more, and if honorably discharged for disability after six months' service, he will receive six months' pay thereafter, i. e., $120 besides,—the whole monthly pay however, not to be for more than three years. The total received from the State for the $50 bounty and $20 per month would in three years be $770.

2d. By accepting the bounty of $325, he makes sure of that sum, and he waives his chances of more.

Let the soldier elect according to his best judgment of his own interest, and let him, at all events, unless he knows precisely what to do with his money now for the advantage of his family and himself, leave his money in the treasury, where it will draw interest and remain while he is absent without any risk of loss. There can be no better investment for him on the whole and in the long run, except paying his debts, if he owes any.

I know that the people of Massachusetts do not fight for money nor vulgar glory. They fight for their country, to subdue the enemies of her rights and their own liberties, under the better impulses of duty, patriotism and manly honor. But the purpose of the State is to provide for the comfort and protection of the soldier's household, so that the highest duties of patriotism may be found consistent with those of domestic affection. I am directed, therefore, to tender to Volunteers, under the New Call, their alternative, Bounty or State Pay.

The offers of the Commonwealth come alike to the new recruit, the returned veteran, and to the old soldier still in the field.

The offers of the United States are alike to all these classes, saving only that recruits, (not being discharged soldiers of nine months' experience,) will receive from the United States $100 instead of $300, if they select a regiment not now in the field.

A General Order will soon issue from the Office of the Adjutant-General, containing any details needed in addition to those of Order No. 30.

FELLOW-CITIZENS:—I have endeavored with clearness and simplicity to present the offers made by our governments, State and National, to render convenient the military service.

In the spirit of men worthy of the name and the blood of Massachusetts, worthy to bear in their charge the fortunes of a Nation, its civilization, its liberties, and its life. Your country proposes the opportunity of duty crowned with [illegible] dying gratitude. Humanity offers you the blessings of them who are ready to perish!

JOHN A. ANDREW, GOVERNOR.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

HEAD-QUARTERS, BOSTON, Nov. 20, 1863.

RECRUITING SYSTEM FOR MASSACHUSETTS.

GENERAL ORDER, No. 32.

I. Recruiting in the State of Massachusetts, under the call of the President of the United States, of October 17, 1863, will be conducted under regulations from these Head-Quarters.—Selectmen of Towns and Mayors of Cities are appointed recruiting officers; except in cases where otherwise specially ordered.

II. A recruiting officer will be appointed by the Governor, in each county, who will be styled Superintendent of Recruiting for that county, except that some of the smaller counties will be united under one Superintendent. All needful guards and orderlies for his assistance will be detailed by the Commandant of Camps, who will report all such details to the office of the Adjutant-General, with the regular morning reports. An Acting Adjutant will be detailed for each Superintendent on application to these Head-Quarters, either from the commissioned line officers of volunteer regiments at home on recruiting duty, or from line officers of new organizations in progress. The compensation of Superintendents will be $5 per day for the time actually occupied on duty. The Quartermaster-General is authorized to arrange with the Superintendents for the allowance of reasonable expenses of office rent, fuel, stationery, transportation, and travelling on duty.

The Superintendents of Recruiting will receive from the municipal authorities the recruits which may be raised by them, and forward them immediately to the nearest camp of rendezvous. The head-quarters of each will be established at a place most convenient to the majority of the inhabitants of the county.

The municipal recruiting officers will furnish, twice in each week, to the Superintendent of Recruiting for their county, a Descriptive List of the men enlisted by them, upon blanks furnished by the Adjutant-General.

The Superintendent of Recruiting will make a consolidated report to the Adjutant-General on Saturday of each week, and state therein the camp of rendezvous, and the date when each recruit was reported by him at such camp. He will also send to the camp of rendezvous, accompanying each squad of recruits, Descriptive Lists, in duplicate, upon blanks to be furnished by the Adjutant-General, one of which will be signed by the Commandant of the Camp and returned to the Superintendent for the county.

III. There are two camps only under the recruiting system of this State, one at Readville and one at Worcester. Recruits for regiments and batteries in the field, reported at either of these camps, will be sent daily from them to Major Clarke, the Assistant Provost-Marshal-General for Massachusetts, to be taken to Long Island in Boston Harbor, where they will be mustered into the service of the United States and sent forward to their destinations.

Recruits for the new veteran organizations will remain in the camps and be mustered according to the orders of the War Department, when their respective companies are up to the minimum strength.

IV. It is arranged with the Department of War that the premiums of fifteen dollars each for raw recruits and twenty-five dollars each for veterans, shall be paid through and under the direction of the Governor of this Commonwealth and not otherwise, in order that the same may be so used as to promote enlistments only, and in no way for private emolument.—And it is therefore ordered by the Governor as touching such premiums,—

1. That the same are hereby constituted and declared a special fund for the promotion of recruiting the quota of volunteers of each city and town respectively.

2. Each city and town respectively shall be paid, from time to time, as the funds may be provided therefor by the War Department, such premiums as it may have earned, which will be according to the number of accepted recruits it shall have furnished under the new call.

3. The payments will be made to the city or town treasurer to be used only for the reimbursement to the town or city of such expenditures as it shall have incurred or may hereafter incur, under the direction of the municipal government or any duly appointed committee of such town or city, in and about the work of recruiting its contingent.

4. The compensation of the local recruiting officer or officers in each city or town shall be fixed, and their expenses shall be audited by the mayor and city councils of cities, and the inhabitants of towns in town meetings, respectively, or by committees duly appointed and authorized by such municipal governments for that purpose.

5. The compensation of the local recruiting officer in each town, unless otherwise ordered by the town, shall be the per diem compensation usually allowed in such town to the Chairmen of Selectmen, when on duty; but such recruiting officer shall only be paid for the time when he is actively employed [illegible]

6. [illegible] premiums shall cover all charges for local subsistence and transportation to the County Superintendent of Recruiting.

7. The policy of the Legislature being to make bounties uniform throughout the Commonwealth, no part of these premiums can be added to bounties offered to recruits; but any portion of the premium fund unexpended by any town in the actual service or recruitment will be the subject of a future Order.

The success of recruiting, as well as justice, forbid the offering of increased bounties by private or local subscriptions. The system ought to be undisturbed, equal and uniform throughout the Commonwealth. If it is not so, competition between places will breed injustice; and it will delay the recruitment, encouraging men to hold back for larger bids.

The whole subject of bounties having received the most deliberate consideration, has been finally settled in General Court, for Massachusetts. The system will not be altered, and the government policy of equality and uniformity ought not to be disturbed. The old soldiers in the field, or those disabled, and their families, deserve all the bounty private munificence has to offer.

V. A list of examining surgeons is in preparation, and will be announced immediately.

VI. Detailed instructions will be issued to the recruiting officers and the superintendents of recruiting, and all blanks will be furnished from these head-quarters, which alone must be used.

VII. The payment of bounties will form the subject of a separate Order. They will be surely and diligently paid.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SUPERINTENDENTS OF RECRUITING SERVICE.

I. You will receive all recruits who may be delivered to you by the selectmen of the towns and the mayors of cities within your district, and will provide for their subsistence while they remain under your care, for which thirty cents per day for each recruit will be allowed.

II. Whenever recruiting officers deliver recruits to you, you will require that they deliver also the three copies of the enlistment contract of each recruit, filled out and certified according to their instructions.

III. You will as often as practicable forward to the nearest camp of rendezvous all the recruits under your charge and with them two copies of the enlistment contract of each recruit. You will also send duplicate descriptive lists, giving a full description of each recruit, one of which lists will be delivered to the officer commanding the rendezvous: the other will be receipted by said officer and returned to you by the officer in command of the squad.

IV. At the expiration of each week you will send to the Adjutant-General of the State a descriptive list of all recruits received by you since your last report, also the retained copy of each recruit's enlistment contract which you have sent to the camp of rendezvous.

V. You will visit occasionally the several towns and wards in your district for the purpose of supervising and promoting the recruitment therein.

INSTRUCTIONS TO MUNICIPAL RECRUITING OFFICERS.

The Mayor and Aldermen of cities and the Selectmen of the several towns of this State in performing the duty assigned to them under General Order No. 32 from these head-quarters, will be governed by the following regulations:—

I. You will not allow any man to be deceived or inveigled into service by false representations, but will in person explain the nature of the service, the length of the term, the pay, clothing, rations and other allowances to which a soldier is entitled by law, to every man, before he signs the enlistment.

II. The conditions of enlistment will be such as are prescribed by the Army Regulations. You will enlist no person under the age of (21) twenty-one years, without the written consent of his parent or guardian, which written consent must be produced when the recruits are mustered into the service of the United States. You will enlist no man whose age shall exceed forty-five years, or be less than eighteen years, and none but able-bodied men—being precise in your inquiries in this respect; but the regulation in respect to age and height does not extend to musicians. (State the height.)

III. Enlistments must in all cases be made in triplicate. Three copies must be delivered to the Superintendent of Recruiting Service for your District, at the principal depot for recruits, whenever recruits are sent there by you.

IV. Enlistments must be filled up in a fair and legible hand. The real name of the recruit must be ascertained and correctly spelled; and the Christian name must not be abbreviated.

V. The filling on the back of the enlistment papers, when folded, need to be filled up.—That will be done at the Adjutant-General's office.

VI. You will report to the Superintendent of Recruiting for your district, once in three days, the names and number of men enlisted by you under each quota, since the last report. These reports must be made whether there have been any enlistments or not.

VII. Each recruit must be carefully examined by a surgeon, and the proper certificate must be signed by the surgeon and recruiting officer. After the recruit has signed the enlistment papers, the oath will be administered to him, according to the form in the enlistment paper, by a justice of the peace, who will also sign the proper certificate in the enlistment paper.

VIII. The pay and subsistence of recruits will commence on the day of their enlistment.

IX. No conditional enlistments must be made.

X. All recruits must be sound and active, free from all malformation, defect of sight or hearing, ulcers, piles, rupture, fracture, dislocation, and disease of any kind. But the lack of [illegible] will not reject a man.

XI. In filling the description of the recruit, upon the contract of enlistment, if he is unmarried, insert the word not before the word "married," as printed. If he is a married man, draw a line across the space before the word "married." Carelessness in stating whether men are married or not, will result in embarrassment in drawing their State aid.

XII. The medical examination must be strict and thorough. No desire to obtain a recruit can justify the enlisting of a man who is physically unsound.

XIII. The triplicate enlistment contracts must be completed at the time of the enlistment of the recruit. The name of the recruit must be written distinctly in the contract.—Recruiting officers must sign the contract with their full first names. If the recruit cannot write his name, it must be written, as usual in such cases, the recruiting officer witnessing the signature.

XIV. Consent for the enlistment of minors must be taken in triplicate upon the blanks on the back of each contract.

XV. If the recruit has heretofore served in the army of the United States, for a period not less than nine months, the company and regiment in which he last served, and the date of his discharge, must be entered in the appropriate blank, under the filling on each of the three copies of the enlistment contracts.

XVI. Recruits are to be forwarded, as fast as enlisted, to the Superintendent of Recruiting Service for your county, and whenever a recruit is delivered to such superintendent, the three copies of the enlistment contract are also to be delivered to him.

XVII. The recruiting officers will in all cases endorse upon the margin of the enlistment contract, the company and regiment to which the recruit wishes to be assigned.

By order of His Excellency JOHN A. ANDREW, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

WILLIAM SCHOULER, Adj't-Gen'l.

☞ Why is rheumatism like a glutton? Because it attacks the joints.

THE CLERGYMAN AND THE BURGLAR.

The world of fiction hardly contains more thrilling chapter than an incide which marked the life of the Rev. M Lee, who was recently cut down in h prime while pastor of the Presbyteri church in the village of Waterford, Y. The adventure, says the Troy Time occurred on the night before Thanksgi ing. a few weeks previous to the co mencement of the sudden illness whi resulted so sadly and fatally. Mr. L was sitting in his study about one o'clo in the morning, preparing a discourse his congregation when assembled Thanksgiving worship, when he hear noise behind him, and became conscic that somebody was in the room. S posing that a neighbor had dropped on some unforeseen errand, Mr. Lee sa

"What is the matter?" and turn around in his chair. He beheld the gr face of a burglar, who was pointin pistol at his breast. The ruffian had tered the house by a side window, s posing that all the occupants were wr ped in slumber, and burst upon presence of Mr. Lee before he was aw that the study contained an occupant.

"Give me your watch and mone said he, "and make no noise or I fire."

Mr. Lee said:

"You may as well put down y weapon, for I shall make no resistan and you are at liberty to take all the uables I possess."

The burglar withdrew his menac pistol, and Mr. Lee said:

"I will conduct you to the place w my most precious treasures are plac He opened a door and pointed to the where his two children lay slumbering the sweet sleep of innocence and pe "These," said he, "are my choi jewels. Will you take them?" proceeded to say that as a ministe the gospel he had few earthly poss sions, and that all his means were voted to but one object—the educa of the two children that were repo in the adjoining room The burglar deeply and visibly affected by these marks. Tears filled his eyes, and expressed the utmost sorrow at the which he had been about to com After a few remarks from Mr. Lee, would-be criminal consented to k down and join with him in prayer there, in that lonely house, amid the lence of midnight, the offender po forth his penitence and remorse, w the representative of a religion of p and good will told him to "go and no more." Such a scene has few pa lels.

On the conclusion of the prayer, burglar attempted to take his depar by the broken window through whic had entered

"Why not go by the front do said Mr. Lee.

"There are confederates there would shoot either you or me."

He opened the door and pointed to the Holy Scriptures never to revea particulars of this singular inter Mr. Lee said it was unnecessary, had the kindest feelings toward him he should never divulge aught he seen or heard. The next day Mr. [illegible] with his wife, met man in the streets of Waterford, a subsequent occasions saw him from to time.

One or the actors in this sin episode fills an early grave; bu means that we are not at liberty t close, the event did not die with What must be the feelings of the party to this mysterious meeting, ever he reflects upon the lonely sonage and the memorable scene t witnessed on the night before Th giving, 1862.

NEGRO SERMON.—"There are, a sable orator, addressidg his bre "two roads from dis world—de o broad an' narrow road dat leads t dition; an' de oder a narrow and road dat leads to destruction." "I' dat?" said one hearer; "say it a "I say, my brethren, dere are two tro dis world—de one am a bro narrow road dat leads perdition; d a narrow an' broad road dat leads struction." "If dat am de case, his sable questioner, "dis delu dividual takes to de woods."

☞ "I say, boy, is there anyth shoot here?" inquired a sportsma boy he met. "Well," was the "nothing just here, but the school is down the hill yonder—you c him over."

The Wizard.

EDNESDAY, DEC'R 2, 1863.

War Meeting.

ere will be a war meeting at TOWN L, next THURSDAY Evening, Dec. 3d, Per Order, War Com.

. Danvers, Dec. 2, 1863.

HE SECOND WAR MEETING.

otwithstanding the stormy weather Tuesday evening, the war meeting Peabody Institute was well attended. favorite Band of the 2d Heavy Ar- ry Regiment was in attendance, and rtained the audience with their splen- music.

ev. Mr. BARBER was the presiding er, and opened the meeting with e patriotic remarks. He was fol- d by Col. FRANKLE of the 2d Heavy llery Regiment; Mr. WOODMAN, of acia Plains, a soldier of the war of 2; Chaplain DENNISON, who went in the 1st New York Regiment; t. A. A. PUTNAM, who set forth the ntages of enlisting in a heavy ar- y regiment; Mr. JAMES PERKINS, of Company C, who signified his ntion of enlisting again if the young did not rally and fill our quota; and VARD TRASK, recently a graduate of High School, who made his mark, as as on other occasions. The speeches e all spirited, and the audience was arently well pleased with the even- s entertainment.

he influence of the meeting, we think, decidedly good. Our young men find at such meetings something to k of. They are the ones designated ill the ranks of our army. To them we to look for aid in quelling the ellion. They enjoy the privilege of ing themselves known and respected he world. By manfully battling for right and their country, they can e for themselves a name that shall onorably remembered by generations nborn.

☞ We invite the attention of all our ers to the Proclamation of Governor rew, printed on our first page, set- forth the inducements to volunteer ending the war.

n General Order No. 32, issued by Governor, this passage occurs:

he success of recruiting, as well as justice, d the offering of increased bounties by ate or local subscriptions. The system nt to be undisturbed, equal and uniform ughout the Commonwealth. If it is not ompetition between places will breed in- ce; and it will delay the recruitment, en- aging men to hold back for larger bids.

We would call especial attention to passage, says the Boston Evening ette, for its suggestions are important. al ward pride or the ambition of ns to gain the questionable honor of ng their quotas in the shortest space ime, may induce those who can afford o raise their men by offering addi- al bounties. While such a scheme ld no doubt insure success in some ances, it would delay recruiting else- re and prove detrimental to the in- sts of the many for the gratification he few.

ROMOTED. — Sergeant Winson M. d, of South Danvers, has been pro- ed First Lieutenant in the Second pany of Sharpshooters, his commis- dating back to May 19th, 1863.

ieut. Charles W. Hanson, of South vers, is now First Lieutenant in the Regiment, his commission dating 8, 1863.

eut. Wallace A. Putnam of Danvers, ow a captain in the 56th Regiment, commission dating Nov. 21, 1863.

pt. Francis M. Smith, of Lynn, (of 48th Regt.,) has been transferred to Fourth Veterans," or the old 9th ment.

☞ It is reported that one wing of the [illegible] army" has been cut This, if true, is a good beginning. to be hoped that the other will be ily sliced, and the work continued e legs, so that Lee may sing with Watts:—

"My soul can neither fly nor go
To reach immortal joys."

☞ According to the latest accounts Charleston, Gen. Gilmore has been ing his shells into the holy city some- freely. These unwelcome visitors ar to create considerable alarm and mfort among the Palmettos. "So it be."

☞ The rebel Gen. Bragg has been ged, since his late defeat, in "con- ating" his army. Grant will be y to assist him in that operation and entrate it so fine as to render it in- le to the naked eye.

☞ Any telegraphic dispatch or letter nquiry after condition of soldiers in army of the Cumberland, will be ptly and thoroughly attended to, by essing "Rev. J. C. Hoblit, Sanitary mission, Nashville, Tenn."

☞ The rebel General John H. Mor- has escaped into Canada.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF LIEUTENANT HILL.

The funeral services of Lieut. JAMES HILL were held at the Episcopal Church, in Danvers, yesterday, at 12 1-2 o'clock. An appropriate and impressive discourse was preached by the Rev. E. R. CHASE. A large number of relatives and friends of the deceased were present. The Salem Brass Band, and also the Salem Mechanic Light Infantry, were in attendance and performed escort duty. The ceremonies were all well conducted, and were of such a character as to do honor to the brave officer who has fallen in defence of his country.

At the commencement of the war, under the call of the President for three months' volunteers, Lieut. HILL enlisted and served as a private in the company above mentioned. Not being satisfied with so short a term of service in the army, he resolved to again be a soldier in the great and good cause, and accordingly re-enlisted in the 33d Massachusetts Regiment. Soon after his enlistment he was appointed sergeant; he was next appointed orderly sergeant, and upon taking this position he was presented with a sword, sash, and belt, by the company of which he was a member. In June last he was commissioned second lieutenant, which position he honorably filled until the time of his death, which occurred at the battle at Lookout Mountain, on the 29th of October last.

In this connection we cannot but allude to Mr. WILLIAM GREEN of Danvers, an uncle of Lieut. HILL, and with whom he lived until he enlisted in the service of his country. Mr. Green, upon hearing of the death of his nephew, immediately set out to recover his body. To do this was a task, not only arduous, but hazardous. He was obliged to make a journey of nearly two thousand miles, a great part of which was through a portion of the country which at the present time is quite unsafe for travellers. Upon his arrival at Nashville he was told he could go no farther, except by procuring a pass as one of the Sanitary Committee. With much difficulty, delay and expense, he succeeded in procuring such a pass, and then went to the battle ground on which his nephew had fallen. He had the body disinterred, put into a metalic coffin, and forwarded to Danvers.

We believe that but few men would have undertaken, and so successfully accomplished this mission, as did Mr. Green. And nothing but a true patriotism, a lavish generosity, and the profound regard he had for his valiant nephew could have prompted him to undertake it.

The following sympathetic letters, announcing the death of the deceased, were forwarded to Mr. Green:

CAMP 33D MASS. VOLS.,
NEAR LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN,
November 1st, 1863.

WILLIAM GREEN, Esq:

Dear Sir,—It is our painful duty to inform you of the death of Lieut. JAMES HILL, your adopted son, of Co. F. 33d Regt. Mass. Vols., who fell nobly dicharging his duty, cheering on his men, in the desperate charge our regiment was ordered to make against the intrenched lines of the enemy on the summit of Racoon Mountain. He was shot through the heart, and died a true soldier's death, with the look of a hero cast on his face by the death blow, and we gave him a soldier's burial by the side of our beloved Adjutant MUDGE and Lieut. BURRAGE, who were also killed in the same charge.

We send to his mourning friends the love and sympathy of brothers. Lieut. HILL was indeed a brother to us, a true and noble soldier, and his memory is enshrined for all time in our hearts.

Yours in sympathy and affection,
Sergt. GEORGE A. PICKERING,
Sergt. JAMES E. HILL,
Corp. CHARLES H. GALE, } Committee,
DANIEL FOSTER, Chaplain.

ORDNANCE OFFICE,
HEADQUARTERS 9th DIV., 11TH CORPS,
November 2d, 1863.

WM. GREEN, Esq.

Dear Sir,—You will ere this have been made [illegible] I say ours, for you have lost and will mourn one who was a son in all but the name. He was a true and sincere friend, one who seemed to be almost too good to be lost; but he fell firmly and nobly doing his duty. Oh, this cruel war, what thousands of homes it reaches! How many hearts it pierces! When will the pitying angels say "enough!"

I cannot write you in the strain I wish; it is too severe a blow for me to sit down and think over here, as I must perform other duties. The heart must bleed in secret! I should consider it a lasting favor if you would send me one of his pictures. I shall always be anxious to hear from you, and will answer any letters, or find out any particulars you want to know relating to his death. My feelings will not allow me to write more, but accept my warmest sympathy, and remember me to all who loved him. I remain,

Yours sincerely,
A. P. WOOD,
Clerk Ordnance Office,
Head-Quarters, 2d Division, 11th Corps.

WAR RALLYING COMMITTEE.—The following is the list of the War Rallying Committee, as adopted at a meeting of our citizens last Saturday evening:

Isaac Hardy, Chairman.

M. A. Shackley,	James P. King,
John G. Walcott,	George C. Pierce,
Wm. Wolcott,	Edward W. Jacobs,
Henry M. Osborn,	William P. Clark,
Mark M. Merrow,	John Pinder,
Alonzo P. Raddin,	William S. Osborn,
Bowman Miles,	B. B. Humphrey,
N. M. Horton,	William Sutton, Jr.,
C. W. Osborn,	A. A. Messer,
Stephen Blaney,	Thos. M. Stimpson,

Alexander B. Merrill.

GEORGE H. TUCKER.

We are pained to be obliged to record the decease of this soldier, which took place at Annapolis, Md. Young TUCKER has seen much service and been taken prisoner three times—once at the retreat of Gen. Banks in the Shenandoah Valley, once at Gaines' Mills, and at the fight at Fredericksburg under Gen. Burnside. The following letter is an honorable testimonial to the character and worth of our young townsman:—

CAMP PAROLE HOSPITAL,
ANNAPOLIS, MD., Nov. 23, 1863.

MR. NATHAN H. POOR,

Sir,—It becomes my painful duty to inform the family and friends of GEORGE H. TUCKER, private in Co. C, 2d Regt. Mass. Vols., of his death this evening at half past eight o'clock. And as he has requested that his letters to his wife be directed to your care, I have thought best to write to you directly, thinking, perhaps, you could break the sad intelligence to her more gently than I can in a letter.

Mr. Tucker was admitted to the hospital and placed under my care, the 11th of November. He was very sick at the time, had had several attacks of chills and fever, and was suffering with a very severe pain in his right side, which did not leave him until two or three days ago. For the last few days he has seemed to be better, and we hoped the worst of his sickness was over and he would soon be around. This afternoon he did not appear as well, and his mind seemed to wander at times. Towards night he asked me if I would write a letter for him. He wanted me to tell his wife how he was, and tell her that if he died, he should die with a firm faith in Christ; said he had no fears of death, but felt that he was prepared to meet his God. He says, "Tell my wife to bring up the children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

He seemed to think he should not live long and felt perfectly reconciled to the will of his God, whatever it might be. About 7 o'clock this evening he began to be worse, seemed to be hard work to breathe, and soon I knew by the rattle in his throat that he was dying. Nothing could be done, death had laid his icy hands upon him, and at half past eight he fell asleep as quietly as a wearied child. He died without a struggle. I never saw a more pleasant looking corpse,—his eyelids closed as if asleep, and his face bearing no marks of the suffering he has endured, excepting that he has grown somewhat thinner than when he was brought in. His calm trust in Jesus, took from death its "sting," and from the grave its "victory." O, what a blessing to possess such a hope! The world cannot give it, nor death take it away.

If there is anything farther that you or his family wish to know, that I can tell you, I shall be most happy to do so.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
MILTON M. WOODWARD,
Ward Master Ward No. 2 Hospital,
Camp Parole, Annapolis, Md.

SOUTH DANVERS UNION LEAGUE.—This league was duly organized last Monday evening, by the choice of the following officers:

President—A. A. Abbott.

Vice Presidents—A. P. Phillips, Stephen Blaney, Isaac Hardy, A. L. Pierson, Charles P. Low.

Dist. No. 1—John Pinder.
2—James P. King.
3—Henry M. Osborne.
4—Lewis Brown.
5—Joseph S. Needham.
6—Charles H. Whipple.
7—Stephen A. Osborne.
8—Henry Saltonstall.

Treasurer—Amos Merrill.

Secretary—Oscar Phillips.

Executive Committee.

Dist. No. 1—George C. Pierce.
2—Francis Baker.
3—Joseph Poor.
4—Lewis Brown.
5—John G. Walcott.
6—Charles H. Whipple.
7—Stephen A. Osborn.
8—H. D. Twist.

The above are requested to meet at the Town Hall, on Wednesday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

WAR MEETING IN MIDDLETON.—An excellent war meeting was held in Middleton on Monday evening last. Dr. PHELPS was chosen chairman. The principal speakers were I. W. ANDREWS, Lieut. A. A. PUTNAM and H. L. HADLEY. Remarks were made by some of the citizens, which were quite interesting. They say that Middleton has as good a record, thas far, in the war, as any town in the State, and that it must be kept good. We think, from the spirit manifested upon the part of the people, that Middleton will soon fill her quota, which is but 12 men, we understand.

AMITY LODGE, DANVERS.—The officers of this lodge for the ensuing year are,—

W. M. George Tapley.
S. W. Albert W. Howe.
J. W. B. R. Tebbets.
Treas. Dean Kimball.
Sec'y. T. C. Everett.
J. D. Jos. W. Le Gro.
S. D. Wm. L. Hyde.
S. S. E. P. Davis.
J. S. R. B. Hood.
Mar'l. J. Q. A. Batchelder.
Tyler. Chris'r Hammond.

☞ Gen. Lee's chief tipple is said to be mead, an unpleasant beverage to him, and which he takes, not for the delectation of his appetite, but for medicinal purposes.

☞ Gen. Longstreet, who lately "sat down" before Knoxville, has got up and walked off, probably finding the damp ground too cold for his comfort.

☞ Gold has declined since the rebel defeat at Lookout Mountain, and "copper" also.

☞ It is said the "nine months' men" are to be included in the next draft.

BATTLE OF CHATTANOOGA.

Our National Thanksgiving, like our last Fourth of July, was made a day of joyful Thanksgiving by the great victory of Gen. GRANT over the rebel BRAGG. It was one of the most decisive battles of the war and one of the most brilliant in history. The fruits of the battle are 6000 prisoners, 58 pieces of artillery, and 7000 stand of arms. Our casualties are officially stated at 3200. Gen. Grant, says the Newburyport Herald, has established his claims beyond dispute, as the first commander of the American army. It has not been mere bulldog fighting, but he has exercised strategy and skill. He took the army after defeat, and organized it thoroughly; he out-generaled the enemy on their own ground, flanked them in their chosen retreat, cut off and burned their supply train of from five to seven hundred wagons in their very sight, drove them from Lookout Mountain where they ought to have stood against the world, unless from policy they moved, recovered the river after it had been lost, and so restored the only practical line of communication, and has now at last forced them from entrenchments they deemed impregnable, routed them at the point of the bayonet, seized their cannon, captured their flags, made prisoners of thousands of terror stricken rebels, and sent the broken remnants of that miserably disorganized army rolling back upon the State of Georgia, without means or spirit to defend themselves, and forced to plunder their own people for bread to eat. The story of this war does not present a parallel to this, and nothing in Napoleon's most brilliant campaigns excels it.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—Thanksgiving morning the army of the Potomac began to move in the direction of Richmond, advancing in three columns. The fine weather of the few days past has dried the roads, making good travelling, and the army is in the highest spirits. They have heard of Grant's victory and cheer as they march on.—They are well supplied with pontoon bridges to cross the rivers, have rations for a week, and are determined to beat Lee and be in Richmond soon. They are already crossed the Rapidan, the enemy retreating before their advancing lines. The whole army is impatient for a decisive struggle. Some severe skirmishing took place last Saturday between the enemy and the 3d corps, resulting in capturing some 1000 rebels.

RETURNED.—We see that Lieutenant MOSES SHACKLEY has returned home, having, as the Boston Herald says, been discharged on account of absence without leave. Lieut. S. was one of the earliest to enlist in the army from this place and has done good service, having been in many battles while with the Army of the Potomac, and particulary distinguished himself at the great fight at Gettysburg. Such services in the foremost positions in actual warfare deserve honorable mention, and it is only for those who have done more in the great cause of the country, to speak in terms of disparagement.

THANKSGIVING DISCOURSE.—Rev. Mr. BARBER preached an excellent Thanksgiving sermon at his church, and before a larger audience than we remember ever to have seen there on such an occasion. He took for his text the appropriate words—Hear now, ye rebels; must we fetch you water out of this rock? We regard this production as one of his happiest efforts, being full to overflowing of the genuine national spirit, and its rhetoric was as faultless as its sentiment. We dare not attempt to give from memory even the leading points of the discourse, which needs to be heard to have a right appreciation. We have heard the desire expressed from more than one source, that it should be repeated.

DANVERS.—We learn from Marshall's Express, that some time during Thursday last, some scoundrels smashed in the front windows in the store of Mr. Wi[illegible] Green, on Maple Street, but nothing else in the shop was injured. It would seem that this was a clear piece of mischief, as the proprietor is not known to [illegible]

On Saturday night, the premises of Mr. Benjamin Joy were entered, and some fowls stolen.

☞ Those guns that were heard last Saturday evening, causing so much excitement among our patriotic citizens, were fired in Malden, on the occasion of having her quota nearly filled.

WATTS' Juvenile class of singers attracted quite a crowd last Thanksgiving afternoon and evening, at Mechanic Hall, Salem. The singing by Capt. Lucy Eveleth, of the Essex Zouaves, was enthusiastically received, especially in "Matrimonial Jars," where she was assisted by Mr. Watts. The drill of the Zouaves was perfect, and we hope that at the close of Mr. Watts' school in this town he will favor us with one of his inimitable concerts.

SHOE BUSINESS.—As is usual at this season of the year, this branch of business is quite dull, although some of our manufacturers are filling orders which keep them pretty busy.—The high price of stock will prevent a large supply of goods from being manufactured, although it may be found that the present call for volunteers will take so many workmen that it will be difficult, at the right time, to find sufficient help to make up the usual assortment. During the month of October, over $325,000 worth of boots and shoes were sold in Haverhill, which is a little more than the average monthly sales.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The U. S. Naval squadron of the Mississippi river consists of eighty-six vessels, with a complement of over 1600 officers, and 40,000 effective men. Many of these vessels are of the most formidable class, and heavily armed.

THANKSGIVING.

I hold, Mr. Editor, that everybody is in duty bound to keep Thanksgiving, if he has any money to keep it with, or any patriotism. Some people ask, with their eyes rolled up, what have we to be thankful for, when this wicked war is raging and destroying the land? Now, let me tell you, you unthankful copperhead, that you are, if you hold such language as this, there is no use in trying to reason with you to show how great and how many blessings we have to enjoy—if your heart can't feel all this springing up in your bosom, then it can't be perceived or felt by you at all. These feelings of gratitude and of patriotism and of love, too, are all sentiments, and reason has precious little to do with them. It is a great mistake some public speakers make when they set to work to prove that we ought to have such and such sort of feelings, instead of showing the feelings animating their own words and actions. The way to move others, is just to be moved yourself. And so, too, I sometimes think, the way to persuade others to enlist, is to enlist first yourself and then say, "Come, boys, let us join hearts and hands in striking a blow at the rebels for the good old flag."

If anybody was fool enough to dine on pork and potatoes last Thursday—Old Abe's Thanksgiving Day—the good Lord bless him—instead of turkey and plum-pudding, providing he could get it, I pity him from the bottom of my heart. It shows a miserable skiver-flint, griping, seceish sort of a spirit, any how you can fix it, not to give the Union a good shove off, when you have a chance, and when Uncle Abe asked everybody to help him in giving thanks for mercies received.

For one, I had a jolly good time at table—and so I had a good time at church—but our minister made too long a story about the children of Israel getting through the Red Sea, and I didn't see either as they got through at all according to his showing—but he kept at it so long I thought for certain our turkey would be all spoilt, but they hurried through the Anthem, afore they got through the Red Sea, and the turkey was just right when we got home. My stars! didn't we let into him though he was a two year old one and rather toughish, but we made a spread of him and he went down, with a little new cider, just as tender as a kitten. But I must stop; the thought of it—not the kitten—revives all my patriotic sentiments, and so I close with blessings on President Lincoln and his Thanksgiving.

Yours,
JOHNNY ROEBUCK.

☞ Ordway's Patent Tree Protector, is a valuable and cheap invention by Thomas L. Ordway, for the protection of trees against grubs. It was patented in August, and we understand that the committee of the Essex County Agricultural Society are so well satisfied with its efficacy that he will unquestionably obtain the reward they offered for the discovery of such protection.

☞ The 35th Regiment, now in Burnside's army, were at Lenoire, in East Tennessee, 7th. Their march from Crab Orchard was 200 miles over roads terrible beyond description—the mud knee deep the greater part of the way.—Since then they have fared hard, being on half rations, on account of the difficulty of obtaining supplies.

☞ The veteran Democrat, Hon. Daniel S. Dickinson, has made a speech in New York which produces a remarkable point. He declared that in the war of 1812 Mr. Madison made ten mistakes where Abraham Lincoln has made one, yet the democratic party sustained the executive then, and made their fortunes as a party by their patriotic course.

☞ The President in his Gettysburg speech said that four-score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal; and it was for us now to determine that the nation shall have a new birth of freedom.

☞ A correspondent of the London Times at Warsaw writes, "it asserted that for every Polish life destroyed by execution at the citadel or elsewhere, a Russian life is to be exacted, and the experience of the past few days sadly testifies to the truth of the rumor."

☞ To the Dutch the ladies of all nations are indebted for the invention of the thimble. The Dutch achieved this great invention about the year 1690. But to whom are we indebted for the thimble-rigger?

☞ The reports from Poland give sickening details of Russian atrocities. All through the country, seizures and confiscations, executions and [illegible] occurrence.

☞ London now covers an area of 120 square miles, and has a population of three million souls. Its increase is a thousand a week, so that it promises in the course of another century to be a big place.

☞ Mrs. Todd of Kentucky, the mother of Mrs. Lincoln, arrived in Richmond Thursday night from City Point, on the way to Georgia, on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Gen. Helm.

☞ Provost Marshal General Fry has decided that those districts that furnish their quotas by volunteering, are exempt from the draft, should the quota of the State, as a whole, not be made up.

☞ All the towns and cities of this Commonwealth are actively engaged in obtaining volunteers to complete the quota of the State, and genhrally with much success.

☞ The rebels have no idea of abandoning Sumter. They are building a bomb proof in the ruins. While Sumter waves her traitor flag Charleston feels safe.

☞ Dr. George Winship has succeeded in lifting 2,600 pounds, and is continuing his experiments to raise 3,000 pounds.

☞ The city of Alexandria is described as bad and low as Washington, every third house being of ill fame.

☞ The Governor of Kentucky declares in a letter, that the war will be the death of slavery.

☞ One pork house in Indianapolis packs three thousand hogs daily.

HORSE RAILROAD.

The exigencies and the fashion of the time demand horse railroads in our densely populated towns and cities to facilitate communication and shorten the time required in passing from one part of the city to another, over coaches.

We have such an institution. Does it come up to the mark? Do the cars make their appointed time? Let those that leave them at North street, and walk to the depot to be in time to take the trains for Boston, answer.

The Legislature has vested rights to the company to lay their rails in our highways, which is a great inconvenience to all carriage travel, even if they are of the most approved pattern—yet those vested rights are hemmed around with prior rights, and one of those is—that after one year's trial, the people of the town may order the company to take up their rails and discontinue the road.

It appears that it would be for the interest of the company to court the good will and wishes of the people, by running their cars on time and keeping their irons in such a condition that carriages may pass over them with ease from one side of the street to the other.

Tenants at will ought to come up to agreements—ejectments are unprofitable.

No citizen objects to all improvements that may be for his convenience; but those improvements ought not to injure the rights of private travel.

It is a fact, patent to all who travel Main street, that it is, and has been ever since July in a very bad condition, caused by having all the travel thrown upon the sides. The travel cannot go in the track, because it cannot get out if it meets a car, owing to the lowness of the grade on the sides, consequently one-half of the street has to take all the wear and waste that all should bear, and where the turnouts are gutters, take the place of streets.

All practical men agree that, in narrow streets, or streets that bear a great travel, two tracks are almost indispensable—then all parties take right and move along in the current, no turning out to wait for cars, no blocking up of the streets, and the travel can use the whole street, providing proper rails are laid and kept paved.

Less crossing flags are needed with two tracks than one, for passengers will take the cars on the side nearest the sidewalk.

Snake-head rails are obsolete—pig-iron is patent. TRAVELLER.

[We think our correspondent has stated his case fairly, but we think some of the evils of which he complains will have their remedy when the railroad company pave between the rails and succeed in having their double track laid in Essex street, for which they are making every effort.—ED.]

☞ At the Boston Theatre, Miss Maggie Mitchell appeared on Monday last as Fanchon. She is the most popular actress that appears in Boston. Her stay is limited.

☞ At the New Tremont, a new comedy combination have appeared. The well known names of Mrs. Barrow, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Smith and others appear in the company.

☞ San Francisco is again in revolution.—It has formed a Vigilance Committee and hanged five men.

☞ Gilmore's guns reach Charleston, but not effectively. They burst after a few rounds, and fall short almost after the first shot.

☞ Hon. John B. Alley has purchased a princely residence in Washington, where his family will reside this winter.

☞ More has been done within two years, to elevate the character of the man of color, than for whole generations before.

LITTLE THINGS.—People who are unaccustomed to studying economy in their little arrangements, have little idea how easily money may be saved, and at the same time comfort secured by a little attention to a little economy in little things. In illustration, take the little article of metal tips worn on the toes of little shoes. It is asserted that by this article alone, the snug little sum of over six million dollars is annually saved to those who use them, and at the same time not a little amount of comfort and protection added to some three million pair of little feet. So with many other little things. Tribune.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 27th, schs J Warren, Grant, and Wm A Dubusque, Crowell, Bangor.

Marriages.

In Salem, Nov. 26th, Mr George E Chase to Miss Mary, daughter of Mr Samuel S Williston; Mr Francis Kittredge to Mrs Hannah Carroll, both of Beverly; 25th, Mr Owen Kearn to Miss Catharine Leason, both of Marblehead; 26th, Mr David Kelly to Miss Mary Hennessey.

In Beverly, Nov 26, Mr Wm W Brown to Miss Celia Thorn.

In Manchester, Nov 26, Mr T Alvah Hardy to Miss Louisa R Wheeler, both of Salem.

In Wenham, Nov 22, Mr Chestor Hobbs, Jr, to Miss Elizabeth Stanley, both of Beverly.

In Norton, Nov 25, Mr George H Howison, Principal of the Salem Classical and High School, to Miss Lois T Caswell, both of Salem.

Deaths.

In Lynn, Dec. 1st, Mrs Caroline N, wife of Henry C Smith, 33 years 4 mos and 20 days.

Funeral on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the residence of D. N. Stoddard, Lowell St. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

In Salem, Nov 26, Miss Eliza Sanderson, 72 years; Mrs Serena A, widow of the late Mr Nath'l A Kimball, 30 yrs; Mr Patrick Madden 41 yrs; Willie Emery, son of Joseph and Elizabeth Francis, 18 mos 20 days; 27th, Capt Thomas Oliver Holmes, 56 yrs; Mrs Priscilla Barr Curwen, 75 yrs 7 mos 27 days; 29th, Mr Zenas Stoddard, 81 years 10 mos 6 days; Mrs Mary A, wife of Mr William T Dalton, 31 yrs 7 mos 21 days; Mr John F Walsh, 19 yrs 2 mos, son of Mr Wm F Walsh.

In Beverly, Nov 22, Miss Emeline A Ober, 31 years—daughter of Samuel S and Hannah Ober.

In Lynnfield Centre, Nov 26, Mr Edward D Langley, 59 yrs 7 months.

In Manchester, Nov. 24, Mrs Mary, wife of Edward Lee, 73 yrs 9 months.

In Topsfield, Nov 27, Mrs Lucy H, wife of Mr Robert Lake, and daughter of the late Mr Noah Hobart of Salem, 71 yrs 9 mos.

In Middleton, Nov 14, Mr Samuel Flint, 70 years 4 months.

At Annapolis, Md., Nov. 23d, George H Tucker, 31 years 6 months 18 days. (See news columns.)

So. Danvers Horticultural Society.

A Quarterly meeting will be held at the Exchange Room, MONDAY Evening, Dec. 7th, 1863. A full attendance of the members is requested.

M. O. STANLEY, Sec'y.

Fair for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission at Music Hall Boston.

Ladies of South Danvers who are preparing articles for this Fair, are requested to send them to Sutton's Hall, next Wednesday P. M., Dec. 9th, that the Committee may approve and arrange them.

On Friday, P. M., the work for the Fair will be exhibited at Sutton's Hall, and articles may be engaged at the valuation. Admission ten cents. Per Order of the Committee.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR CROCKERY.—First quality of White Granite Ware, marked down and selling at 20 per cent less than cost, by C. T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 Lowell Street.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

ESSEX INSTITUTE.

The Course of SCIENTIFIC LECTURES will commence on THURSDAY EVENING, Nov. 19th, at 7.30 o'clock, and be continued on Thursday Evenings at the Lyceum Hall.

These Lectures will treat on subjects connected with Geology, Astronomy, Botany, Zoology, &c.

1st Lecture by Dr. C. T. JACKSON of Boston, on "The Science and Art of Mining."—Other lectures may be expected from the following gentlemen:

CHARLES W. TUTTLE, Esq., of Boston;
Messrs. N. E. ATWOOD of Provincetown;
C. M. TRACY of Lynn;
and others, whose names will be announced hereafter.

Tickets for the course $1.00 each. May be had at the Bookstores.

H. WHEATLAND,
Salem, Nov. 18. Secretary.

Advertisements.

L. MERRILL & SON,
DEALERS IN
DRUGS, MEDICINES,
Fancy and Toilet Articles,
Perfumery, Stationery, Cutlery, &c.
VILLAGE BANK BUILDING,
DANVERS, MASS.
Particular attention paid to Physicians' Prescriptions.
LEVI MERRILL,
W. S. MERRILL.
Danvers, Dec 2—6m

[BY THOMAS TRASK, AUCTIONEER.]

Auction Sale of WOOD and TIMBER on the stump.

ON FRIDAY, Dec. 4th, at 9 o'clock, A. M., will be sold at Auction the Wood and Timber, standing on situated in South Danvers and Lynn, lying south of Bartholomew's Pond, and running to the Lynn line, formerly known as the Goodhue Lot. Entrance to the same by a way leading from the old Boston road near the Pound.

FIFTY ACRES OF LAND,

It will be sold in lots to suit purchasers, and ample time given to cut and dry the same.

Sale will commence on the north line.

South Danvers, Dec. 2—1w

LOST.

TWO notes bearing even dollars and even dates signed as follows:

One payable to P. R. Basford and endorsed by Daniel Haskell, and the other payable to Lemuel Haskell, and endorsed by P. R. Basford, have both been lost. The public are notified that neither have been used and the parties did nor do not owe each other one cent.

DANIEL HASKELL,
P. R. BASFORD.

So. Danvers, Dec. 2, 1863.

OVERCOATS, &C.
AT COLMAN'S,
NO. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

I WILL sell all OVERCOATS on hand at the actual cost (to close), at prices from $3.50 to $15.00. Business Coats, Pants and Vests, at small advance. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Balmoral Boots, with Rubber Soles, at the lowest prices.

Men's, Boy's and Women's leather Boots and Shoes; Best Table Cutlery; Plated Table and Tea Spoons; Plated Forks;—500 dozen Brown Windsor Soap at 50 cents per dozen; Painted Carpeting, Umbrellas, Clocks, Looking Glasses, Trunks, Bags, Work Boxes, Stove Polish, Blacking, &c. Furnishing Goods—50 dozen Buck and other Gloves; 20 doz Mittens, Leather and Woolen, (cheaper than can be had at any other place.)

20 Dozen Under Shirts and Drawers; Boy's and Men's Comforters; Hats and Caps; Window Curtains; Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Picture and Bell Cord, &c, &c.

Is a dollar worth saving? If so, call at COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front St., Salem, as he is determined to sell.

Dec 2—6w R O BC

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Dec. 1, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Francis Bennett	Joseph W. Moody
Mary Brown	Henry B. Morgan
Mary Baringer	Alfred McKenzie
Harriet Brown 2	John O'Brien
Harriet Brigham	Mrs. J. W. Poor
Mary Crooks	Wm. B. Peart
Spencer Fuller	J. W. Sanger
Wm. W. Freeze	Green Sanborn
J. Gleason	Dennis Shehan
Joseph W. Home	Dan'l. W. Wescott
Eliza S. Hammond	Hannah S. Wheeler
Catherine Harnon	Thomas T. Herrick

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

DR. J. M. GROSVENOR,

Respectfully announces to the citizens of South Danvers that he has located himself in said town; his office may be found in

TRASK'S BUILDING,
ON MAIN STREET,

Residence No. 66 Main Street, next house below the Peabody Institute.

South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.

M. FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,

LETS .....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS .....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;

At Rooms No. 7 Central street,

feb 11

...Y FOR THE OLD FLAG!

...172 FOR VETERANS, and
$1072 FOR RAW RECRUITS.

... MEN WANTED

...O FILL THE QUOTA OF

...OUTH DANVERS,

...hom Bounties will be paid as fol-

... Veterans (those who have been at least ...onths in the service and been honorably ...ged for other cause than disability,) the ...ernment bounty of 402 dollars each.
... all other recruits 302 dollars each.
...ddition to the above, each recruit will ...e from the State, as follows: 325 dollars ... or 50 dollars down and 20 dollars per ..., as the soldier may elect, making in all ...llars for Veterans, and 627 dollars for ...ruits.
...the monthly pay offered by the State is ...ed, the pay for three years will amount to ... dollars for Veterans, and 1072 for raw ...ts.
...addition to the bounties of the Govern- ...and State, will be the monthly pay of ...Government of 13 dollars per month, a- ...ing to 468 dollars, which will raise the ... amount received for three years served ...he sum of

...640 FOR VETERANS, AND $1540 FOR RAW RCRUITS.

☞ The families of Volunteers will be en- ...led by law to State Aid on the same terms ...heretofore. ☜

All further information required in regard to ...cruiting, bounties, &c., may be obtained at ...he office.

JOSEPH POOR,
RECRUITING AGENT.
Office in Allen's Building, on the Square.
South Danvers, Nov. 25, 1863.

HEYLINGBERG'S
Hair Dressing Saloon,
24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his pat- ...rons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

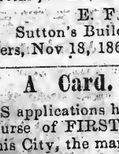
TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	8 cts,
Hair Cutting,	15 cts,
Champooing,	15 cts.

Particular attention paid to dying hair and whis- kers, in one preparation, without washing or scrub- bing.
New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Nov. 25, 1862.

NEW STORE!

Flour! Flour!



JUST RECEIVED, a fresh supply of CHOICE BRANDS, direct from the Mills, for sale, wholesale and retail, at LOWEST PRICES, by
E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

A Card.

NUMEROUS applications having been made for a Course of FIRST CLASS CON- CERTS in this City, the managers of the SA- LEM TEMPERANCE LEAGUE take pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been made with Mr. GILMORE for a course of THREE CONCERTS, provided sufficient encourage- ment shall be given.
The Concerts to be of the same character as that given recently under the auspices of the League.
Subscription papers at $1 00 for the Course, may be found at the Bookstores of Messrs. George Creamer, Henry P. Ives, Whipple & Smith, and D. B. Brooks & Brother, Salem; B. F. Stevens, South Danvers.
Salem, November 18, 1863.

DR. E. F. KITTREDGE,
From Lowell, formerly of New Ipswich, N. H., Has removed his office and residence to
NO. 42 MAIN STREET,
SOUTH DANVERS, MASS.

Dr. K., from an extensive and successful profes- sional experience of upwards of twenty years, feels justified in saying that he can treat diseases to the satisfaction of his patients, and to the credit of him- self.
Office hours from 7 to 9 A. M., and from 6 to 9 P. M.
South Danvers, Nov 13, 1863.

S. F. BACHELDER, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office and Residence at
No. 15 Main Street,
First door south of Warren Bank Building.
South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.*

IVORY HANDLE KNIVES,
DINNER and Desert Knives only by the dozen. Carving Knives and Forks and Steels, at
nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

TIMOTHY TITCOMB'S
NEW BOOK, Letters to the Joneses; Pecu- liar, a Tale of the Great Transition, by Epes Sargent; Good Society, or Contrasts of Character, by Mrs Gray, by
nov 25 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

TWENTY-ONE NEW BOOKS
HAVE gone into our Circulating Library within ten days. There is no other way so easy and so cheap for getting reading matter. Subscriptions begin at any time
nov 25 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

BALMORAL SKIRTS---AT BARGAINS.
3-Threaded Blue Yarn, nice quality;
Blue Socks for the Soldiers' wear;
—At Reduced Prices.—
nov 25 ANN R BRAY, 76 Federal st

ANN R. BRAY 76 Federal Street, Salem,—has received—
New Styles Cotton Wool Delaines—very neat styles—at very low prices.
We are selling out at Cost some of our best styles of DRESS GOODS.
We are selling out all our SPRING SKIRTS at Cost. nov 25

SILVER PLATED KNIVES,
IVORY handle Knives with Silver Plated Blades by the dozen. Also, Silver Plated Forks of the best quality at
nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

The Singer Manufacturing Co's
LETTER A SEWING MACHINE
For Family Use and Light Manufacturing Purposes, is on exhibition and for sale
AT ASHLAND HALL,
SOUTH DANVERS SQUARE,
—BY—
JOHN H. CHOATE,
Agent for the sale of
SEWING MACHINES,
SILK, THREAD, NEEDLES, COTTONS, &c., &c.
—Also—
Paraffine Sewing Machine Oil,
The best oil for all kinds of light machinery.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

Men's Clothing.

In this department can be found the Latest Styles, the Best Goods, and the Largest Assortment in Essex County. We have our best Goods made to our order. Gentlemen in want of a
GOOD OVERCOAT,
or a good fitting suit of Clothes, are invited to call and examine and de- cide for themselves whether it is for their interest to get a suit made or buy at F. S. PECK'S and save mon- ey. 240 is the place.

Three Small Boys Lost! Their father found them at 240, and fitted them to a good suit of Clothing. If your boys should be missing at any time, 240 is the place to find them or clothe them ot low prices.

Boys' Clothing.

We have fitted up a large room ex- pressly for Boys' CLOTHING, where can be found a large assortment of the lat- est styles Over-Coats, Under-Coats, Pants, Vests, Jackets and Suits. We have our best goods made to our or- der, and have pieces saved so that cus- tomers can have a small piece with the suits. 240 is the only store in Essex County where you can find a good as- sortment of Boys' Clothing. Call at 240 and decide whether the above is true. F. S. PECK.

We don't believe in letting the boys go to Boston to buy their Clothing, and pay more than the same goods are sold for at PECK'S, 240 Essex Street.

240

TWO BOYS RUN OVER.—A Lady and two Boys were seen to get out of the Horse Cras, and the Boys started and run right over into 240, and were fitted to a good suit of clothes at low prices. 240 is the place.

Furnishing Goods.

The Latest Styles in this department can be found and as large an assort- ment of as Good Goods as in any store in Salem. Men's and Boys' Under Shirts and Drawers, all sizes; Men's and Boys' Gloves and Socks, all sizes and prices, from 15c to $2 50; Braces 15 cts to $2 25; White and Fancy Shirts, Stocks, Ties, Collars, Bosoms, Also, a large assortment of FANCY Goods. You can save money by pur- chasing your Furnishing Goods at
F. S. PECK'S, 240.

☞ Visit the Boys' Clothing Department, at 240, if you wish to find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing, all prices.

Hats and Caps.

In this department can be found the Latest Styles and the best quality of Goods, which will be sold at a small profit.
We sell you a Coat or a pair of Pants or a suit of Clothes, and make a small profit, thus enabling us to af- ford to sell you a Hat or Cap low, and we are GOING TO DO IT. That's What's the Matter.
☞ 240 is the place to buy Hats and Caps.

The public are respectfully in- vited to call and examine the as- sortment, and see if what we say is true.
F. S. PECK,
240 Essex street, Salem.

ROBBUT. LEE AND GEORGE THE MEADE.
DHERNANDIWOOD and See more are told ...the Second Book of The New Gospl

John P. Peabody.

NEW GOODS.

Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Sontags.
Hand Knit Zephyr Breakfast Shawls.
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Hoods.
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Caps;
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Mittens;
Patti Nubias—the finest clouds made;
Clouds—in all sizes—colors and prices;
Childrens Gaiters—Mittens—Sleeves—Tippets;
An Invoice of our Best Paris Kid Gloves;
Best Kid Gloves—Wrought Backs only $1.25.
Ladies, Misses & Childrens Gloves—full stock;
Ladies Woolen Hosiery—all sizes.
Ladies Merino Hosiery—all sizes.
Ladies Fleecy Lined Hosiery—all sizes;
Ladies Cotton and Wool Hose—Ribb'd, 25 cts.
Misses Hosiery—Woolen—Merino and Cotton.
Infant's Bootees—Socks—and Half Hose;
Ladies Merino Pants and Vests—bargains;
Infants Knit Shirts—fine and nice;
Hand Knit Scarfs and Tippets—new styles;
Sontags in all prices—from $1.00 up;
Hoods in all prices—from 75 cts to $1.75;
Knit Caps in all prices—from 75 cts to $1.25;
Breakfast Shawls—the best made—only $1.75.
Misses' Hoods—from 25 cts up to 1.00.
Clouds—the finest Patti Novelties—only $1.05.

WHERE GO THE LADIES?

Where go all the Ladies now?
The answer's very plain, I trow,
They go where goods are cheap and nice,
Where much is bought for little price,
By all who call, both high and low,
And that's the place where Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies, friend?
I'll tell you where they're apt to wend,
With tripping feet or in the cars—
By light of day or moon and stars,
To Peabody's they constant flow,
And that is where the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? Sure
They go where choicest things allure,
Where Hose and Gloves are cheaply sold
And Worsted goods protect from cold,
And Breakfast Shawls are wondrous low,
And that's where all the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? True
They go to find what's scarce and new,
They seek for Ribbons rich and rare
At Peabody's with greatest care,
And then they make a splendid show,
And that's where all the Ladies go.

Where go the Ladies? Where?
They seek the place where trade is fair,
And go betimes at eve or morning,
To Peabody's for their adorning,
So surely now you ought to know
The place where all the Ladies go.

BREAKFAST SHAWLS,
At PEABODY'S.

HAND-KNIT SONTAGS,
At PEABODY'S.

Worsteds---22 cents per ounce,
At PEABODY'S.

RIBBONS AND FLOWERS,
At PEABODY'S.

HOODS AND CLOUDS,
At PEABODY'S.

OUR WORSTEDS.

We invite your especial attention to our Stock of Zephyr Worsteds, as we have done all in our power to make it choice and desirable. It is the largest stock in Essex County, and we shall as we always have done, sell them at lower prices than any of our competitors. We have also a full stock of hand-knit and ma- chine made Hoods, Sontags, Nubias, Clouds, Sleeves, Mittens, &c.

JOHN P. PEABODY.
220 ESSEX ST., SALEM,
JOHN P. PEABODY.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

CLOAKS, DRESS GOODS, &c.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

We have now in Stock a great variety of LADIES' CLOAKS, made in the best manner from our own Cloths.
These garments arse in all Plush, Chinchilla and heavy Beavers, hand made,—and our prices for them are very low.
We are also making to order from measure a great many elegant Cloaks.

RICH DRESS GOODS.

We invite attention to our Stock of LADIES' DRESS GOODS. It is un- usually complete in Thibets, Ottomans, Repps, Germania Cloths, Alpaccas, Plaids, M. De Laines, etc., etc.

We have a very large Stock of BEST AMERICAN PRINTS, (Merrimack and Pacific's, Manchester's, Dunnell's, etc. etc.,)—at Lowest Prices.

We would invite special attention to our Stock of Plain Black and Fancy DRESS SILKS.

We have elegant PLAIN COLORED SILKS, at a Bargain.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' CASHMERE MANTLES.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' UNDER-CLOTHING.

We have a splendid Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS—from $2.00 up.

We have a fine Stock of SHAWLS.

We have a fine Stock of Gent's SHIRT FRONTS, LINENS, WHITE GOODS, KID GLOVES, HOSIERY, etc.

We have a large Stock of COTTONS, white and colored FLRNNELS, DIA- PERS, QUILTS, HAND LOOM DAMASKS for TABLE COVERINGS, etc.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.
Nov. 25, 1863.

LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS.

RICH AND ELEGANT
LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS.

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

☞ THE MOST EHTENSIVE STOCK ☜
Ever Brought to Salem,
—AT—
BROWNING & LONG'S,
177 Essex St., Salem.

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

FIRST CLASS GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES!

NOW OPEN
MAGNIFICENT ASSORTMENT OF
HAND-KNIT WOOLEN GLOVES.

DENTAL NOTICE.
NITROUS OXIDE GAS,
FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administer- ed, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sick- ness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.
Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.
Oct. 3—mo.

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
M. A. POTTER,
MANUFACTURER'S ORDER
At 186 Essex Street,
A few doors from Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
Music Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!
ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.
We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirt- ings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.
SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.
oct 14

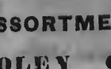
R. W. WILKINSON,
DEALER IN
Newspapers, Periodicals, and Stationery of every Description.

FOREIGN and DOMESTIC FRUITS, con- sisting of Oranges, Lemons, Dates, Figs, Prunes, &c., &c.
Sauces, Pickles and Preserves; Castana, Na- ples and English Walnuts; Hard, Soft and Pa- per-shelled Almonds; choice brands of Tobac- co and Cigars; also a general assortment of Confectionery of every description.
Also a large and well selected stock of Toys, suitable for children and the Holiday Gifts.
Ice Cream furnished to parties at short no- tice and in quantities to suit. Wedding Cake and every variety of nice cake furnished to parties or families.

STORE—WARREN BANK BUILDING.
South Danvers, Nov'r 11, 1863.

JUST RECEIVED,
AND NOW OPENING,
—A—
RICH STOCK
—OF—
Millinery Goods,
Consisting of
BONNET HATS,
RIBBON FLOWERS,
FEATHERS, &C.,
REITH & CO'S.,
188 Essex Street (No. 2 West Block),
Nearly opposite Central Street.
Salem, Oct 21, 1863. 3m

PIANO FORTES.



I HAVE those splendid Extra- Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Man- ner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melo- deons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every par- ticular.
S. MACKINTIRE, General Agent.
No. 218 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

Co-Partnership Notice.
I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)
JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANAC,
FOR 1864, with beautiful and colored illus- trations. It contains much valuable in- formation.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.
Nov. 4.

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.
APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO., 181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 20, 1863. tf

George S. Walker.

Gentlemen's Gloves,
ON HAND every kind and quality of Gloves suitable for dress, driving and working, at the VERY LOWEST PRICES—at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
228 Essex street, Stearns' Block.

Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods.
NEW STYLES received daily. Just opened a choice lot of Scarfs and Ties. Also, Gloves of every kind, Collars, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, &c, to which I invite the atten- tion of all in want.
GEORGE S. WALKER,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
No. 228 Essex st, Stearns' Building.

Gentlemen's Underwear.
POSITIVELY the Largest Assortment to be found in the County—at the Lowest Prices at GEORGE S. WALKER'S.
Dealer in Gent's Furnishing Goods & Toilet Articles, opposite Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
WILL OPEN THIS MORNING
A LARGE STOCK OF
CLOAKS AND SACKS.
Price from $7 to $25 00.
Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.
Blacks and Colors
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES.
Which we are prepared to make into garments per order, in the very best manner, and at
LOWEST PRICES.
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Nov 4

Hoop Skirts at Cost.
WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost.
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,
—BY—
C. T. SOUTHWICK.
FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

Horse Railroad Notice.
SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.
ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.
SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.
From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.
M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL
OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin,	Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain,	Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 19—tf

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.
WARREN BANK.
U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,
For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.
FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.
South Danvers, Oct 23th, 1863. tf

ROUGH PAPERS,
FOR Letters and Notes—the fashionable style. Envelopes to match. Look at them.
nov 11 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

SECOND HAND BOOKS.
FROM our Circulating Library—duplicate copies for sale at half price.
oct 21 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

WOODEN WARE.
WOOD Bowls and Trays; Rolling Pins; Past Boards; Sieves; Mortars; and every description of Wooden Ware, for sale by
S C & E A SIMONDS.

KNIVES AND FORKS.
IVORY, Rubber, Bone, and Horn Handled Knives and Forks of the best quality—at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

H. L. HADLEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
Danvers.
Claims against the Government for Bounty, Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to.

RUBBER SOLED SHOES
GENERAL Depot, No. 10 Front Street, Salem
dec 2—3m O R and

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, J
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broke
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufactu
Stock bought and sold on Commission

FALL AND WINTER GOO
AT
GEORGE P. DANIELS
No. 238 Essex Street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel.)
Consisting of New Styles
DRESS GOODS,
SHAWLS,
LADIES' CLO
CLOTHS FOR MEN'S AND BOY'S WE FLANNELS—White, Grey, Fancy & O
DOMESTIC & HOUSEKEEPING GO
PRINTS, BALMORAL SKIRTS,
UMBRELLAS—every description,
HOOP SKIRTS, GLOVES,
HOSIERY, &c.
☞ All the above Goods will be so
CASH, at Low Prices.
sept 23—tf

M. E. CRANE,
168 ESSEX STREET.
WOULD call the attention of her cust and friends to her Stock of FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GO
comprising all desirable styles.
Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French ers and Laces;
Straw Goods of all descriptions, Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, styles; Ladies Dress Caps; and all articles usually found in such a at the lowest prices for cash.
Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Col
&c., constantly on hand.
M. E. CRANE
Successor to M M FLETC
Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

VISIT THE PHOTOGRAPH ROO
—OF—
T. E. WOOD
(Over O. F. Batchelder's Store,)
No. 136 Main St., South Dan
And get a faithful likeness of yourself friends while in HEALTH and STREN Carte de Visite, Photographs and types taken. Also pictures copied at r ble prices.
Frames, Albums, Cases, &c., for sale. South Danvers, Oct 14.

TEETH ON VULCANIT
DR. J. H. BATCHELI
DENTAL SURGE
No. 20 Washington St., (near Easter road Depot), SALEM, MASS.,
Is Licensed to make the New Patent HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and fro experience confidently recommends th Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far s other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mo much cheaper and better, being about half of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Sets of Teeth can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very panes. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth fi Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's T gulated—all with such care and gentlenes nearly painless.
Office Established in 1846

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL A
NEW YORK.
This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is thorized by us to manufacture the PATE CANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLA Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Paten The public are cautioned against employ tists who have no license to manufacture su and Gums, as patients using such Dentures infringers, are equally liable for damages maker or vender.
AMERICAN HARD RUBBER
aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General

D. P. GROSVENOR,

Druggist and Apoth
33 MAIN STREE
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemi
Personal attention to Physicians' tions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861.

GEO. E. MEAC

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICIN
Fancy & Toilet Articl
126 MAIN ST.
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So.

T. A. SWEETS

Druggist & Ap
37 Main St., So.
DRALER
Drugs, Medicines, Foreign Leeches, Herbs, Dye Stuff Acids, Sponges der Braces, Tr and Genuine Pater
Also, Imported Cigars of choice bran Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully pr perienced persons.

---

37 MAIN STRE
DEVEREUX & McLEL
Attorneys and Counsellors
CIVIL AND MILITARY
Browne's Block, Essex street—Re
J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. MCLELLAN, Washingto
Oct. 21.

BLACKS GENERAL A
OF the World—new edition co new boundaries, all the latest and a complete index of sixty-f names, bound in half English m $15. G M WHIPPLE & A A

TABLE CUTLERY
A Full assortment of Knives Carvers, Mincing and Bread opened at nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS'

Miscellaneous.

"Ma," said a five-year-old young to her mother, the other day, "do make men the same as they make ings?" "How absurd you are, —of course not." "Then what you say this morning, ma, that r Spanker was a remarkably well nan?"

"Gentlemen," said an engineer, ay of settling a dispute as to the ve speed of the engines, "the last I rode the 'Blowhard' from Syra- we went so fast that the telegraph along the track looked like a fine comb."

Franklin, when he was ambassa- to France, being at a meeting of a ry society, and not well understand- the French when declaimed, deter- d to applaud when he saw a lady of acquaintance express satisfaction.— n they had ceased, a little child who rstood French said to him, "grand- ou applauded the loudest when they praising you."

A man who lived much in society, that his acquaintance would fill a edral, but that the pulpit would hold riends.

People generally think their evils by being common, but their enjoy- ts greater by being exclusive.

Modesty in a woman is like color er cheek—decidedly becoming, if not on.

ONUNDRUMS.—What tune can make y one glad? Fortune.
Vhat machine is sometimes seen in ball-room? A spinning-jenny.
Vhy have ladies discarded streamers? ause they prefer beaux (bows.)
Vhy should men always trust to their es? Because they can't err (canter.)
Vhat kind of money is liked best by and women? Matri-mony.
Vhy is whispering a breach of good ners? Because it is not aloud.

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

— ALSO —

RDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

uable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, rberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 20 acres each, at the following prices for the nt, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Paya- y one dollar a week.

o, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in TWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by dollar a week. The above land and farms are ed at Chetwood, Washington Township, Bur- n, New Jersey. For further information, apply a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
16, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

ERRIBLE DISCLOSURES — SECRETS FOR MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful ication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored avings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an nal and popular treatise on Man and Woman, Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of y kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their dy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long , and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest so- ation of numerous persons, he has been induced tend his medical usefulness through the medium is "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should n the hands of every family in the land, as a pre- lve of secret vices, or as a guide for the allevia- of one of the most awful and destructive scour- ver visited mankind. One copy, securely enve- d, will be forwarded free of postage to any part e United States for 50 cents in post office stamps opies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUN No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

MANHOOD;
W LOST! HOW RESTORED!
Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorroea or Semi- Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debili- nd Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervous- Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and sical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.— ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the n Book, &c.

e world-renowned author, in this admirable Lec- clearly proves from his own experience that the ved without medicine, and without dangerous ical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or ials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, pri- y, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon ousands and thousands.

nt under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, e receipt of six cents, or two p ostage stamps, by ressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,

[COMMUNICATED.]

MONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!
A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

e undersigned having been restored to health in a weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suf- several years with a severe lung affection, and dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make wn to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

all who desire it, he will send a copy of the pre- tion used (free of charge,) with the directions for aring and using the same, which they will find A CURE FOR CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, MS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser ending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, spread information which he conceives to be in- able; and he hopes every sufferer will try his dy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a ing.

rties wishing the prescription will please address REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh, Kings County, New York.
pt. 23—4m.

Advertisements.

lem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

LL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby fied that the water rents, for the six months ing Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that are required to pay the same, at the office he Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st of Nov. next. Should the bills remain aid for thirty days, the water will be ped, in conformity to the regulations of the pany.

ffice hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2

er order of the Directors, alem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

ATTRACTIVE
AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF
New Fall and Winter
CLOTHING,
FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made
STOCK OF GOODS
IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of
Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVER-COATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics' WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

CEO. H. LANE,
31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,
BOSTON.
Oct 21, 1863. 2m

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 Washington Street, Boston,
(Five Doors above the Old South.)

NEW STYLES
FALL & WINTER
CLOTHING.

Over Sacks,
Surtouts,
Business Coats,
Dress Coats,
Sack Coats,
Pants, Vests, &c,
OF OUR OWN MANUFACTURE,

In great variety of elegant style and fit, faithfully made, from fabrics the most desirable—Foreign and Domestic,

Are now ready for sale, at Wholesale or Retail.

ALSO,
MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
And PIECE Goods
FOR CUSTOM GARMENTS
In all the most desirable patterns of English German, French, Scotch and American Coatings, Cassimeres & Doeskins.

Which we are prepared to make in a superior manner at

L. D. BOISE & CO.,
154 WASHINTON ST. BOSTON,
Five Doors above the Old South.
Boston, Oct 7, 1863. 2m,

THE
FAMILY MOURNING STORE,
20 Winter Street, Boston.

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO. would respectfully call attention to their establishment (the only one of its kind in the city,) where every requisite for Mourning can be obtained.

We have a complete assortment of the following goods, just received:—

English and French Bombazines.
Alpacas, of every width and price.
Alpaca Glace.
7-8 Alpaca.
Bombazine Laine, a new article.
Turin Cloths, Canton Cloths.
French Wool Poplins, Empress Cloths.
Mourning Ginghams and Prints.
Mourning Millinery, in new styles; Mourning Hat and Veils, Crape and Grenadine Collars and Sets.

S. S. WILLIAMS.
Oct. 7.—2ms.

TWO NEW BOOKS.

IN War Time, and other Poems by John Greenleaf Whittier;
Mental Hygiene, by J Ray, M D. Both of them are in Ticknor's best style.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

IVES & PEABODY,
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law,
Have removed their Office to
Rooms formerly occupied by Hon. Otis P. Lord,
NO. 27 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,
STEPHEN B. IVES, jr. JOHN B. PEABODY

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

Boston Purchasing Agency.

THE special object of this Agency, is to make known through which non-residents can send to Boston and purchase any articles wanted for individual use, or for dealers' supplies, from a Shawl to a suit of Clothes, a Penknife to a Piano. For particulars of the Purchasing Agency, send for Circular to THOMAS DAVIS & Co., Advertising and General Business Agents, at HAPGOOD'S Gun Store, No. 15 Washington St., Boston. Citizens of Old Essex; try us. Services tendered gratis.
Best City reference given.
T. DAVIS & CO.
Oct 21—6w.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND

THE session of Congress, commencing Dec. 1st, will probably be the most interesting session we have had since the war of 1812. It will contain a report of all the Debates of the session, revised by the speakers; the Messages of the President of the United States; the Reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments; the Laws passed during the session, and copious indexes to all. Published weekly or at short intervals, in Quarto form, the session making about 4000 pages. Price to subscribers $6 00 for the session, payable in advance, postage free.
G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH, 190 Essex St., are agents for the above, for Salem and vicinity. Also agents for the Daily Globe newspaper. Price $6 00 in advance. nov 18.

Settees for Sale.

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.
Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem-stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

NEW BOOKS,
AT G. M. WHIPPLE & A. A. SMITH'S
Remains in Verse and Prose, of Arthur Henry Hallam, with a preface and memoir; Reminiscences of Amherst College, by D. Hitchcock; Broken Columns; Pique, an English Novel; all the Weekly Papers.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.
INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.
J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.
J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES;
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.
Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, Salem.

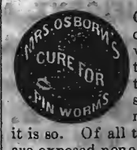
T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING FINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.,
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, and low-priced articles, affording more profit to themselves. Beware of Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st. South Danvers, June 17, 1863. 3m

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.
Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

PATTERSON'S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.
may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

NEW PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS,

FROM the best makers in the country—some very desirable and beautiful styles, and made in the strongest and best manner.
Also—French Albums, at low prices.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
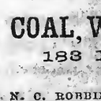
He keeps as good an assortment of
COFFINS AND CASKETS,
as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUCHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

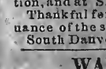
THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf.

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.



We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.
FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3



FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Newport Railway, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.
For steamer BAY STATE, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
Passengers by this route can take the 4.10 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.
Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.
☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & Newport R. R Station.
GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, November 16, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,
Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO.
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem
EXPRESS.
Leave South Danvers, . . . 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, ... 10 a m, 4 p m
Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Read's in the Market, Salem.

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.
Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.
Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St. Boston.
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotypo. Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

HOW TO COLLECT AND OBSERVE INSECTS,

BY A. S. Packard, Jr., from the Report of the Maine Scientific Survey for 1862.—Price 25 cents.
oct 28 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH

WHITE WARE.

WHITE Dining and Tea Ware, of the newest patterns—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
Oct. 24. 32 Front street.

OATS.

2 CARS bright and sound Oats, rec'd this day by rail from Canada, for sale by
aug 18 GAYLE & CO, Phillips Wharf.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESSEY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.
We defy any one to produce a better.
One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,
WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!
For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for
FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.
Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, ATkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street, at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.
Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.
Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston. WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TONIFIED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the invigorating Spirit; some have sold it for years, and which well the reputation, it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee to give satisfaction in every instance.
General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on
Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,
And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:
Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assets—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D, Medical Examiner.
WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes, and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

WINTER ARRANGEMENT
TO
LYNN & BOSTON
BY
OMNIBUS & HORSE CAR.
W. F. BURNHAM'S

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn and Boston Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main Street, through Washington Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays included.
Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, A. M., 12 50 and 4 50 P. M.
Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West Lynn) at 9 40 A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.
Horse Cars leaving the office at 14 Bradlee Street, at 8 15 A M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, at the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.
Tickets to Lynn, - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - - 30 cents.

Gravesend, Woodend, and Central Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in addition to the old route, an Omnibus will leave South Danvers for Lynn, to connect with the steam and horse cars, 3 times daily,—Sundays excepted.—running through Gravesend and Woodend, to the Central R R Depot, and Horse Railroad Station, corner of Spring and Broad Streets; leaving South Danvers at 6 A M (connecting with the 7 25 steam cars for Boston), 10 A M (connecting with the 11.10 train), and 4 P M (connecting with the 4.50 train); and returning, leave Lynn from the Spring Street Station and Central R R Depot, at 8 A M, and 1 and 6 P M.
Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by horse cars, 30c.
" " " " steam cars, 25c.
Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.

South Danvers, Salem and Lynn Route.

THE subscriber having purchased of M A Shackley the Omnibus line running from Salem to Lynn, would announce that it will now leave the Stage Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, for Salem, at 7 30 A M, and 2 30 P M, and leave the Stage Office in Central St, Salem, at 8.30 A M, and 3 30 P M for Lynn. Returning will leave Lynn at 10 A M and 5 P M; and Salem for South Danvers at 12 A M, and 6.15 P M.
Passengers between South Danvers and Salem will be called for by leaving orders at the offices.
Passengers called for at reasonable charges if notice is given at the office.
EXPRESS BUSINESS
Between South Danvers and Lynn promptly attended to, on reasonable terms.
Extra Coaches furnished at short notice.
W. F. BURNHAM.
South Danvers, Oct 28, 1863.

CROUT & MUNROE'S
SOUTH DANVERS & BOSTON
RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves South Danvers at 10 1-2 a. m.
Freight " " at 5 p. m.
Express leaves Boston at 3 1-2 p. m.
Freight " " at 4 p. m.
OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPOT, South Danvers Square.
Express Office in Boston, 3 Washington Street. Freight Office, 48 Kilby St.
Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c.
Smallest favors thankfully received.
South Danvers, aug 22—tf

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS & SALEM
EXPRESS.
Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A M.
" SALEM at 1½ P. M.
OFFICES:
In Danvers—At E B Waitt's and the Post Office. Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren's Stores.
In So Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, and No 2 Main street.
In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 Essex st, and 17 Derby Square.
All business promptly and faithfully attended to.
☞ Our patrons are particularly requested to write their orders.
☞ Packages, left at the office, should be marked "Marshall's Express."
☞ Being connected with the RAILROAD we are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts and Bills for collection, and small packages, to all accessible points in the United States, at the usual rates.
P. G. MARSHALL.
dec1-8-tf

WEBBER'S
South Danvers & Salem Mail Express

WILL leave South Danvers at 7½ and 11 A M, and 1½ and and 5 P M.
Leaves Salem at 8.45 A M and 12 M, and 2½ and 6 P M.
Slates will be found in South Danvers at the Post Office, and at Blake & Holman's store at the Monument, and in Salem at the Coach Station, 13 Central Street, and at E F & J W Roberts', corner of Front & Washington Streets.
Any packages or business entrusted to this Express will have prompt attention and care. A share of public patronage is solicited.
July 29, 1863 PARKER WEBBER.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venerea, and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Tumors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.
Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. 3 or $1 and a red stamp.

C

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1863.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

H. L. HADLEY,
LOCAL EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

HEIMSTREET'S
INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,

But restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty,

promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 Broadway, N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary article ever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face and hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing beauty, imparting the marble purity of youth, and the dazzling appearance so inviting in the city belle of fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and roughness from the skin, leaving the complexion fresh, transparent and smooth. It contains no material injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses and Opera Singers. It is what every lady should have. Sold everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.,
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedent in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health-restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover-buds, Orange peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Coriander, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, public speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties.

Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find in these Bitters what they have so long looked for.
They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhœa, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer.

The following startling and emphatic statements can be seen at our office.

Letter of Rev. E. F. Crane, Chaplain of the 107th New York Regiment:

NEAR ACQUIA CREEK, March 4th, 1863.

Owing to the [illegible] this decomposition after the battle of Antietam, I was utterly prostrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain medicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepared by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give me strength and an appetite. To my great surprise they gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost allowed me to join my regiment. * * * * * I have since seen them used in many cases, and am free to say, for hospital or private purposes I know of nothing like them.

E. F. CRANE, Chaplain.

Letter from the Rev. N. E. Gilds, St. Clairsville, Pa.:

GENTLEMEN:—You were kind enough, on a former occasion to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for $3 50. My wife having derived so much benefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to continue them, and you will please send us six bottles more for the money inclosed.

I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. GILDS, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

SOLDIERS' HOME, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
CINCINNATI, OHIO, Jan. 15th, 1863.

* * * * * * *

I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvelous and gratifying.

Such a preparation as this is I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field.

G. W. ANDREWS, Superintendent.

Dr. W. A. CHILDS, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

WILLARD'S HOTEL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22d, 1863.

GENTLEMEN:—We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.

Respectfully, SYKES, CHADWICK & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c., &c.

Be sure that every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate label, with our private stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Sold by all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, and country dealers.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for every body.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY.

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose; and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

Original Poetry.

THE YANKEE SCHOOL TEACHER IN A TUB OF SUDS.

A good old farmer and his wife
Lived out in Pennsylvania—
So free from sorrow, care and strife
'Twas said they ne'er had any.

This good old man, of Dutch descent,
Whose name was Van Degroot,
In worthy deeds much money spent,
And paid his debts to boot.

Farmer Degroot a daughter had,
And she was very fair,
And he was cautious whom she wed
For she would be his heir.

But Katy Jane she had a beau—
A noble hearted fellow—
She dared not let her father know,
Because he once got mellow.

The district schoolhouse stood near by,
And it become a rule
That the old farmer should supply
A teacher for the school.

His board contain'd substantial food,
Its linen clean and fine,
And in a cupboard always stood
A demi-john of wine.

A pedagogue, from 'way down East,
Who did much learning claim,
But green and harmless as a priest—
(Elnathan was his name.)

And he could pray, and he could preach,
And lead the choir to boot,
And through the week profess to teach
The young ideas to shoot.

Elnathan was much pleas'd to find
That he the school could teach—
And every Sabbath 'twas design'd,
A sermon he should preach.

He liked the farmer's wine and meat,
He also liked his daughter—
Yet when he did sit down to eat,
Profess'd to like cold water.

But Mrs. Degroot did not respect
The long-faced Yankee preacher—
And Katy Jane could not effect
To like her Yankee teacher.

Elnathan woo'd most manfully
With all his power of——
But Hans Van Horn he held the key
That locked up Katy's heart.

"Then," said Elnathan to himself,
"If I must Kate resign,
I'll get that bottle on the shelf
And have some currant wine."

At ten o'clock Elnathan rose,
Nor in the kitchen stop'd,
And slipping on but half his clothes,
He in the pantry popp'd.

But in his haste to get therein
He overthrew a platter,
Which made his toes crimp under him
To hear the horrid clatter!

And then he heard light tripping feet—
And when they came more near
He heard a voice that sounded sweet
Say—"Step quickly in, my dear."

Degroot heard something falling flat
Down in the room below—
Cried Mrs. Degroot, "O dear, what's that?
There's robbers round, I know!"

Kate heard the bouncing out of bed,
And footsteps on the stair—
"Quick to the pantry, Hans," she said,
"For I must hide you there."

Nath' heard a quick step on the floor
Which sounded like a knell,
For Hans came bolting through the door,
And both were in one cell!

"Why, Katy Jane," her father said—
Why are you up so late?"
"Father, to-morrow's washing day;
I must be up," says Kate.

"Now father leave me here to fill
This big tub full of water;"
Said he, "I'll help you with good will,
Just as a father oughter."

When this was done then up he rose
And kindly words he spoke—
"Now go to bed, dear, leave the clothes
In other tubs to soak."

'Tis only ten o'clock," he said,
"The clothes wash better soap'd;
Then leave them here and go to bed—
Law, me—the clock has stopp'd!"

When Katy found he'd have his way—
Just like a loving daughter,
Went, when she found she could not stay,
And left her tub of water.

When Hans could hear no footsteps lurk,
He bolted like a Jew
Out of the pantry with a jerk,
And jerked Elnathan too.

And when he saw the Yankee priest,
Whispered—"Oh! now I've caught her;
Two beaux at once, and one at least,
Must take a drink of water."

"O Hans," he cried, "your rage restrain,
Mercy with love combine;
I was not after Katy Jane,
But after currant wine."

"Aye, aye," says Hans, "if that's your trim,
And wine is what your arter,
I think you'd better learn to swim,
'Twill make you love cold water."

Then with a squeeze and with a rub
That made the Yankee squizzle,
He pitched him headlong in the tub
And left him there to sizzle.

Degroot ran down with rusty gun,
And Mrs. Degroot and daughter,
And there they found the preacher man
Half drown in soap and water.

The farmer seized him by the britch
And drew him from the water—
Cries—"Here's the devil or a witch,
Which of 'em, 'tis no matter."

Says Mrs. Degroot—"It is too bad,
In my good tub to drown him;
I'm sure, my dear, I am so glad,
Before he died we found him."

Kate laughing, said—"'Tis right, I think
He's drunk with wine, dear father,
When o'er the tub he stoop'd to drink,
He tumbled in the lather."

"I beg your pardon," Nath' replies—
"True as I hope to win it,
And true as mortal ever dies,
'Twas Hans that threw me in it!"

Farmer Degroot then mused awhile,
As though some new plan seized him,
And through his gray beard play'd a smile,
As though twas 'something pleased him.

Then with a twinkle of his eye,
Which nought but death could limit,
Says he, "We've baked a dirty pie,
With all our fingers in it.

"Now we'll forget and we'll forgive,
And in this way we'll test it—
Correct our faults and better live—
Remember, we've professed it.

"And now," says he, "'tis my design
To take thinks as I oughter—
Nathan shall have the currant wine,
But Hans shall have my daughter."

S. MIXER.

Wells, Me., December, 1863.

Selected.

A THANKSGIVING LEGEND.

Among the customs prevailing on the great festival of New England there is one to which every genuine native, old or young, rich or poor, who enters into the rejoicings of the day in a becoming manner, feels obliged to conform. Its [illegible] persons, be attributed simply to the weakness of human nature, or to the influence of the abundant jollity and good cheer of the day. But we have long been convinced that, as almost every custom prevalent among the people of this earth may be traced to some legendary source, the habit of universal stuffing which obtains on Thanksgiving day may be found to have a subtle connection with some event which happened long ago in that famous country whose history has been handed down to us through the enchanting medium of tradition and fable. Diligent research in this direction has brought to light the following legend, which, while it may not be a satisfactory solution of the problem, may serve to direct the minds of others to channels which may lead them to the truth.

Once on a time it happened that a member of one of the numerous tribes of fairies which then existed, made his appearance in the country we have spoken of above. The date of his coming, and the locality in which he was first seen, have been long forgotten, if indeed anybody ever knew precisely. He was a curious looking chap, only three feet high, with long, spindling legs and arms, lean, bony fingers, of immense length, like spider's claws, and the smallest sort of a belly, but round as a pumpkin. He had a monstrous head, crowned with a bushy shook of bright yellow hair, cheeks as brilliant as a cardinal flower, and puffed out to a fearful degree, so that they always appeared ready to burst like a rubber baloon. His eyes were small and piercing, and when the sunlight fell upon them they flashed all sorts of colors, like veritable diamonds. His mouth extended far towards either ear, crowding up his cheeks, and when it opened it displayed two immense rows of such wonderful teeth that the dentists of those days signally failed to induce him to part with them for love or money. His ears lay down close to his head, and when he wished to listen to any sound they lifted up like the leaves of a table. His dress we can not fully describe, as the fashion plates of that time have by some means been lost, and the particulars have slipped from our memory. He wore, however, a comical cap which came to a peak, and was ornamented with a tuft of corn silk on the top, and a pair of red-topped, rusty-looking boots, several sizes too large for his feet. These articles of dress were far more valuable than they appeared, for, you see, they possessed certain magic qualities which were of great advantage to the wearer. The cap had the rare power of rendering the wearer invisible, when it was pulled firmly over the head and face, and could moreover transport him in an instant to any place he wished, provided travelling was not impeded by martial law, to prevent people from running away from a draft. By means of the boots one could stride over the country at the rate of seven leagues a step, for aught we know; at all events, the topographical engineers of that country were several years trying to measure one of the straddles achieved by these wonderful boots, and they never made a report, after all, although they spent an immense sum for engravings of parrots to ornament it with.

Altogether the little fairy was a strange and frightful object to look upon; and the people passed laws to prevent him from frequenting crowded streets, for fear his uncouth presence might disturb the soberness and placidity of the good people. He went, nevertheless, in his invisible cap. But in spite of his looks, he was as kind-hearted and benevolent a creature as ever breathed, and was almost always laughing or singing, and dancing; and his name was Plutoforz.

Where Plutoforz came from nobody took the trouble to inquire, and indeed nobody cared. He was permitted to wander about over the country without hindrance or molestation, except in the crowded streets of towns, as has been before mentioned, and wherever he went the most wonderful events took place.—As he strode over the fields, grain of all kinds sprung up in his footsteps, so that you might have thought from the rustling that thousands of invisible fairies were trooping after him. As he passed through the orchards the apple trees blossomed and blushed at the warmth and radiance of his cheeks, and caught the fragrance of his breath and tossed it to the four winds; and wherever he lay down to rest there was found afterwards a field of clover or a flower garden, filled with all manner of delicious scents. Whenever he took off his cap, and the shadow of his brilliant hair fell upon the ground, pumpkin flashed out, as if some photographic process unknown in our time had developed and fixed it there. Then Plutoforz would laugh in an undertone a [illegible] chuckle, and the echo would come back from all the neighboring woods and hills; only the echo would never cease, and when the people went to look after it they would discover tiny streams giggling and gurgling away as they were never known to do before.—And all other brooks and streams have kept up the echo of this strange laughter ever since.

But the fairy would cry at times, as well as laugh, and wherever his tears fell upon the ground, immense beds of red onions were found growing shortly afterwards; and such was the magic power of those tears that even to this day no one can peel a red onion without weeping. But when his smiles burst out again through the tears, ho, ho! what a jolly time there was of it! One of those tear drops could not fall upon the veriest old stick, but it sprouted and blossomed and staggered about with as many clusters of grapes as would make you wine for a lifetime. And whichever way Plutoforz turned his face, there all over the hills and fields would be heard the light laughter of grain and fruits ripening up in a hurry under the warmth of his smiles; and the old farmers would look at their thermometers, and some of the laziest of them would forthwith fall to snoozing in the shadiest and coolest places they could find. Then Plutoforz would tickle the summits of their noses with blue bottle flies, and put travelling straws up their sleeves, and instigate earwigs to make raids into their ears, till he got them thoroughly waked up, and fairly sweating at the harvest, when he would whisk away after other laborers who needed stirring up.

It was wonderful how Plutoforz set everybody furiously to work. Just a breath of his, blown through the window as he passed, would create such a humming and whizzing among the spinning wheels and looms as if a girdle had been ordered for the earth, and the contract time had almost expired. He would set the carpenters' hammers to rattling, and the anvils to ringing, so you would have thought such a thing as wages by the day was unknown. Plutoforz's magical boots contributed not a little to these strange results. Their lightest touch inspired the workmen more than the biggest bag full of nitrous oxide; and the most indolent man in the whole country, after one of these boots had been administered to him, with a moderate propulsive force behind it, was seen to fall to work as if he were crazy. Plutoforz had the power, when he wished to exercise it, of turning everything he touched into gold. In those days it was no uncommon thing for hens to lay golden eggs; and even the feathers of the poultry were often of solid gold. There was little dispute then, you may believe, as to whether a feather and a guinea would fall to the ground in the same time, even out of a vacuum.

Plutoforz continued to roam the country over during the entire spring and summer, and till well into the fall, and never was such a season before known to mortal man. The newspapers of the period never got tired of it, and their columns were crowded so full of statistics that they had to enlarge, and raise their prices; whereupon many people stopped their papers, as they have foolishly continued to do ever since. But the land was overflowing with wealth and abundance. The people were thoroughly sated with prosperity. Many of the largest storehouses in the country actually fell asunder with the weight of the harvest which had been thrust into them; whence the figure of barns bursting with plenty took its rise. The ground, for miles around, was covered with the unstored crops. The good people began to tire of such luxuriance, and cast suspicious glances at the fairy.

One day Plutoforz, having sent his magic boots secretly to a shoemaker in the neighborhood to be tapped and heeled, for they were sadly worn by his summer's frolic, laid him down to await their return, and fell soundly asleep. Then a sudden impulse seized all the people.—They first surrounded the slumbering fairy with "poppy and mandragora, and all the drowsy syrups of the world," to prevent his waking, and then they held a caucus. After a hasty consultation, a solemn resolution was taken that all the surplus of the harvests, and of the flocks and herds, and of the poultry coops, ought forthwith to be devoured to save it from spoiling. And then arose such [illegible] and frying and baking as never had been heard of or recounted in the columns of the daily Herald of that time, or even by the telegraph. Then the stuffing began! The good people swallowed and swallowed till they were gorged, and then rested, and then gormandized and gorged again; and the overplus of their stores, most of it, lay snugly crammed away in their ample interiors, when Plutoforz awoke.

A sunbeam struck his eye, and it flashed sapphire. He sneezed a great sneeze of real pearls. He looked about, and at a glance saw what had been going on.—He gave a huge sigh, and all the fruit trees in that vicinity blossomed a second time. He sat a few moments in silent grief, and then, raising himself from the bed of myrtle which had sprung up under him, he sadly despatched a boy for his magical boots. He then felt for his hat, but the good people had been too shrewd for him. An old lady took it from his head while he was snoring on the ground, and departed with it to her own dwelling. While on the way, suddenly and to her great surprise the magic cap began to pour forth an inexhaustible stream of riches. Gold and silver, corn, coal, wonderful garments, kerosene oil, and other costly goods, tumbled out in wonderful profusion, till the old lady released her hold, from astonishment, and a puff of wind carried the cap forever away. The woman's husband, who was an artist, drew a picture of the miraculous performance of the cap, from memory, in chalk on the barn door. This sketch was preserved, woman and all, and copies of it are known even to this day, under the title of the horn of plenty.

Great was the indignation of Plutoforz when he learned the loss of his cap; but his rage knew no bounds when the boy returned from the cobbler's with only the tops of the magic boots, the artist having cut off the feet, with the intention of replacing them with new ones. The fairy leaped forward upon the foremost man of the bystanders, a prominent citizen, and dealt him a furious blow on that portion of his person in front where the tension of his pantaloons was greatest. Immediately his interior was turned to solid gold, and he expired in a very few moments.

But the wrath of Plutoforz was soon changed again to grief. So he borrowed a pair of leather gloves to prevent his fingers from creating any more gold for the ungrateful people, bought him a new straw hat, stuffed his boot tops into his pocket, and started away. Probably he left the country, though he disdainfully refused the postage stamps which were offered him to pay his passage. In after years the people used to say, when the harvest was unusually plentiful, "Plutoforz has been here again," and they always kept up the custom which they originated on the occasion of his first visit.

In this legend we may possibly discover the origin of the custom to which we alluded at the outset. One singular coincidence must have some weight in establishing the correctness of our theory. The name of the old gentleman who was so summarily doubled up by Plutoforz has been handed down to us; and it has a curious relation to that untoward event which not unfrequently consigns some member of the family circle, on Thanksgiving night, to an ignominious seclusion up stairs, in company with sundry disagreeable elements and engines of healing. The old man's name was Khollick.

Perilous Adventure--Desperate Courage of a Lady.

The Alta Californian narrates an instance of a perilous adventure and remarkable courage of a lady, formerly from Cleaveland, and the story has been confirmed by a private letter from a sister of the lady, written from Denver City to her friends in Cleaveland.

The heroine is Mrs. Gerrish, formerly Miss Fannie Miles, daughter of Mr. A. H. Miles, who, some years since, lived in Newburg, but who has moved his family to Denver City.—The husband of the lady lives in Oregon, and she was on her way to rejoin him after a visit to her friends in the Atlantic States. About the middle of May, she, with her baby, were travelling in the Overland Mail stage-coach, between Denver and San Francisco. The only persons composing the party were herself and baby inside the coach, and one passenger and the driver on the front seat.

About eight miles out from Carson station, the stage was attacked by Indians, who fired into it, killing the two men on the outside.—The passenger fell off the coach, and the driver tumbled back on the seat, quite dead, but retaining his hold on the lines and whip.

The horses dashed off wildly, and the Indians continued to fire at the coach, the bullets passing through and through it, but providentially not touching Mrs. Gerrish or her child. With extraordinary [illegible] her child under the seat, covering it up with cushions to protect it from the bullets. Then she crawled out of the coach on to the driver's seat—though how this was safely accomplished amid the whistling of bullets and [illegible] mysterious. Taking the reins and whip from the cold and stiffened hands of the driver, she got the horses under control, and drove them about a mile, when one of them fell dead from loss of blood.

Here seemed a crisis in her fate. Jumping down from the seat, she commenced cutting loose one of the surviving horses, with the purpose of mounting it and galloping off with her baby. She had nearly accomplished her task, when the Eastern coach came up over the hill, and the driver, seeing the struggling horses and a woman among them, whipped up his team and drove rapidly to her relief.

The coach that came up was full of men, and the Indians retreated. Mrs. Gerrish was taken back to the station from which she had come. There she begged the agent to send her forward with an escort, but he did not dare to do it, as it was against positive orders. Finding, after a while, that she was the wife of a Free Mason, the agent, who was himself a Mason, said he would give her a proper escort if he swung for it, and thus she reached San Francisco in safety, and afterwards joined her husband in Oregon.

☞ At the Buckleys, constant changes produce crowded houses nightly, and no troupe deserve them better, for their endeavors to please are untiring.

☞ Do one thing at a time—that's the rule. When you have done slandering your neighbor begin to say your prayers.

FLIGHT OF EAGLES.—A curious observation respecting the rapidity of eagles in their flight has just been made by a traveller crossing the Grison Alps. An eagle in flying from one mountain peak to another, at a height of 8000 or 9000 feet, performed the distance of five miles in five minutes.

AN UNEXPECT

Old Governor Sal cut, who flourished ago, was a man of
as perseverance, in desired. Among ot him by the New Lon
where he resided, is

Of the various sec
ed for a day, and was one known as t ed from their found or some other Roger ing tenet of the se
the propriety of the
tic. They believed for a man to be alon wife only should clea
but then this should ment merely, and the together, and live a pensing with all form nant. The old Gov visit Rogers, and ta with him, and seek the impropriety of
he did. But neithe would give up the a matter of conscience were very happy as use could a mere form did thereby invite s not bound to take up according to the w
The Governor's logi convince them.

'Now, John,' said
a debate of the point, marry Sarah? Have to be your lawful wife
'Yes, certainly, rep conscience will not her in the forms of th
'Very well. But y
'Yes.'
'And respect her?
'Yes.'
'And cherish her bone, and flesh of yo
'Yes, certainly I do
'And will?'
'Yes.'
Then turning to S
said:
'And you love and
'Yes.'
'And respect and c
'Certainly I do.'
'Then,' said the G
the name of the laws
Commonwealth of C claim you man and wi
The rage of John no avail. The knot highest authority of t

☞ Gold promises dant from American m declared to be as r
Brigham Young says door in Utah and se mountains about him

West writes from Ariz ritory "will yet startle
as ever did California mineral wealth."

☞ A veteran chur
by the presiding eld commandments are t was the reply. "Sis
the elder, reprovingly
under the gospel eigh and don't know how ments there are?"
was the answer, "Th
but I broke one of the
there ain't but nine lef

☞ The Princess
vergne, who went up baloon, sent home th sage: "Tell them not not be at home to-ni
to-morrow—perhaps ne

☞ Ice is having a is claimed to be a ce diptheria, having been in France and this c
used in sea sickness.

☞ The most desira educated woman,—to
of one husband, and th
der mother of many chi

☞ Indian meal is per bushel, which will cattle to the butchers a

☞ What is the bes
a maid from despairing

☞ Can any one d width of a narrow esca

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, DEC'R 9, 1863.

WAR MEETINGS.

The war meeting in Town Hall, last Thursday evening, was well attended, and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. Hon. A. A. ABBOTT presided with his usual ability, and good speeches were made by Rev. Mr. SAFFORD, Capt. R. S. DANIELS, jr., Corp. JAS. PERKINS, ISAAC HARDY and Dr. GEORGE OSBORNE. A detachment of the Salem Brass Band furnished music for the inside, and Wilkinson's cannon for the outside. Although there were no recruits obtained that evening, yet we think the meeting had a good influence and has led to good results. We hope this one will be followed up by another.

The citizens of North Andover held their first war meeting Friday evening last in Union Hall. The meeting was large and spirited, and exhibited a determination on the part of the town to promptly fill their quota of 27 men. The speakers from abroad were Mr. TARBOX of Lawrence, and Lieut. PUTNAM of Danvers. It is proposed by the citizens of the town to raise, by subscription, the sum of $2,700, so as to give to each man who may enlist and count on the town quota $100, it being thought that this will not be against the recent order of the Governor, more than the private presentation to an enlisted man of a coat, revolver or anything else. $1,150 of the above amount was subscribed in few hours after opening the paper.

OUR QUOTA.—It will be seen, by looking into our advertising columns, that Capt. ROBERT S. DANIELS, Jr., has been appointed recruiting officer for South Danvers, and taken an office in the Warren Bank Building, where can be found all the particulars of the inducements offered by the government for new recruits.

Here is a fine opportunity for our young men to enlist for the war (which promises now to be a very short one,) and at the same time put a little fortune into their pockets by way of bounty. It will do them no harm to call at Captain Daniels' office and see the advantages offered.

It looks now as if there would be a great rush at the close of the month for whatever vacancies may be left on the enlistment rolls.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Last Thursday noon, while Messrs. B. M. Hills of this town, and James Moore and ——— Kimball of Salem, were at work on Mr. Thomas' new slaughter house, the staging, on which they were, suddenly gave way, precipitating Messrs. Moore and Kimball to the ground at a distance of twenty feet, injuring them so much by the concussion that they have not as yet been able to resume their labors. Mr. Hill, in his descent, caught his foot between two projecting boards, and hung by them, head downwards, till rescued by one of the workmen.

SKATING.—We may do the recreating public a service by announcing the fact that excellent skating can now be had at Bancroft's Pond. This is a new pond of about twenty acres, made by damming up Tapley Brook, about a mile from the Square, on the Lynn road.

CONCERT.—The Danvers Musical Union will give a concert on Wednesday evening, December [illegible], consisting of choruses, solos and songs, under the direction of Prof. Marshall of Boston. The class will be assisted by singers from abroad.

KITCHEN UTENSILS.—Jackson, at his Kitchen Furnishing Rooms under Mechanic Hall, Salem, has for sale full and complete outfits for the kitchen. We never saw a better assortment in a Boston store.

☞ The "So. Danvers Union League" have rented the store in Warren Bank building for their head-quarters, and have fitted it up with stove, tables and settees. Persons wishing to join this patriotic institution can do so by applying to Mr. Oscar Phillips, the secretary, in Allen's Building.

☞ The National Union League holds its annual convention in Washington, D. C., Wednesday (this day,) December 9th. Hon. Eben S. Poor, of this town, is delegate for this Congressional District.

☞ The December (civil) term of the Superior Court commenced its session in Salem yesterday, Judge Ames presiding. The jurors from South Danvers are—Benjamin Hutchinson, Alexander B. Merrill.

☞ The Richmond papers are in "doleful dumps" over the defeat of Bragg at Chattanooga. Their lamentations are nearly as affecting as those of Jeremiah.

☞ Gen. Grant has captured since the war begun 472 cannon and 90,000 prisoners.

FROM CHARLESTON.

We are permitted to copy the following extract from a letter written to his friends by a young man from here, whose station is at Folly Island, Charleston harbor:

FOLLY ISLAND, S. C.,
November 26th, 1863.

DEAR PARENTS.—To-day being a holiday, a friend and myself procured a pass from headquarters and started in the ambulance for Morris Island. Arriving at the Inlet, we left the ambulance and crossed to Morris Island in the steamer Nantasket, and started up the beach for the front, which is about three miles from the landing. The whole blockading fleet lies off the Island, including the New Ironsides, monitors and mortar schooners. The wreck of the rebel steamer Ruby, sunk by our gunboats while attempting to run the blockade several months ago, lies about a hundred yards from the shore. All along the beach were solid shot, fragments of shells, etc., which told of the furious bombardment that took place there during the months of July, August and September. About a mile and a quarter this side of Wagner, we passed the Beacon House, an old, dilapidated building, which was used by Colonel (now Brigadier General) J. W. Turner, General Gilmore's chief of staff and chief of artillery, as a lookout to observe the effects of our shot on Forts Wagner and Gregg. The building is completely riddled by shot and shell, many of which passed through while Colonel Turner was in the building taking observations with the aid of his glass. Just beyond the Beacon House the famous parallels that compelled the evacuation of Wagner commenced. They are five in number, and cost him many weeks of hard labor with the pick and shovel. The last one is not more than a hundred yards from the fort, so that when it was completed, not a man could show his head above the ramparts without being popped off by our sharpshooters. Then of course the fort had to be evacuated. All around the fort the shot and shell are literally heaped up, which shows what a terrible fire was poured into it from our batteries and iron-clads. The fort itself is the most admirably constructed earthwork I have ever seen, far ahead of any of the forts around Washington. We went all through the bomb-proof, where the rebel garrison lived most of the time, as our fire was so heavy that they dared not expose themselves to it in the fort. The bomb-proof is capable of accommodating a thousand men, is very strongly built and was evidently the work of an accomplished engineer. The fort itself has been strengthened and almost rebuilt as our batteries had knocked it into a shapeless mass of sand. The guns in the fort are the same that the rebels used against us; they left in such a hurry that they didn't have time to spike them. We stayed in the fort over an hour, and were only about a mile and three quarters from Sumter, so we had a grand view of it.

It is, as the papers say, "a shapeless mass of ruins." Not a gun has been fired from it for over two months; they are all dismounted. We could also see, very plainly, Sullivan's Island, Fort Johnson, Fort Moultrie, Moultrieville, the rebel batteries on James' Island, and the doomed city of Charleston. It can be seen as plainly from Wagner as Salem from Ship Rock, and looks no farther off. We could see Castle Pinckney, the famous floating battery, now anchored near the wharves, which the rebels used to boast would protect the city from our fleet, but which is a big sham, equal to Castle Pinckney, which has not fired a gun. We could also see the vessels at the wharves of Charleston, the churches and public buildings. We saw the Swamp Angel Battery which threw the Greek Fire into the city. Battery Gregg, and the 300 pounder battery near it, were shelling the rebel forts, and were answered by Forts Johnson and Moultrie on Sullivan's Island and the batteries on James Island. The firing was quite brisk, and we could hear the screaming of the shells as they came whir-r-ring through the air. Several struck within a quarter of a mile of us, and we could see the pieces fly in every direction. It was real sport to see them strike; some would strike Sumter with a solid thunk! others the James Island batteries, sending a cloud of sand into the air, and still others striking in the harbor and sending up a jet of water several feet high. We were rather tired, or we should have gone down to Gregg. It would have been real exciting there, as the shells explode directly over it. A little after three o'clock we started for Light House Inlet and arrived there pretty tired, having walked about eight miles, but well satisfied with our Thanksgiving. It was [illegible] quite a pleasant. crossed over to the Folly on the steamer, and found our ambulance which had been waiting for us over two hours.

A. P. P.

☞ The man of many deeds and few words, Gen. Banks, is having good success in his far off field of operations. He appears to be taking what the French general called a "conquering walk," along the Texan coast.

☞ The grand rebel hunt in Tennessee grows exciting. The Federal hounds are in full cry and hot on the trail of the old fox Longstreet, who, with his tail down, is making tracks, with all his might, for some hole in Virginia.

☞ The Virginia Cavaliers, mounted on black horses, struck terror into the Union ranks at the beginning of the war. It is hoped that horses with black riders will be equally effective against the rebels in finishing it up.

☞ Our government now holds Lookout Mountain, a very important point. We hope they will "lookout" and keep hold of it.

☞ The wet, boggy meadow encountered by Gen. Meade in his late advance, was a damp place enough, no doubt, but his sudden retreat was a damper.

☞ The old saying, "that there are many ups and downs in this world," ought to be amended so as to read, "there are many ups and downs in Virginia."

☞ The business of recruiting is dull in Boston.

GRATITUDE ACKNOWLEDGED.

DANVERS, December 7th, 1863.

MR. EDITOR,—Having lately, from a sense of duty, had occasion to visit the country through from Danvers to Lookout Mountain Valley, I propose to give a brief sketch of the kind sympathy and generous feeling manifested towards me in procuring passes, and giving me other facilities on my way.

Before starting I was aware it was necessary to procure all the protection I could, and also to get letters of recommendation to assist me in passing through the lines.—I consequently applied to Gov. ANDREW, who very kindly gave me a letter, desiring that I might have all the assistance, consistent with the military orders, to pass the lines—at the same time, advising me to apply to the Sanitary Commission.

A letter from the Sanitary Commission of Boston, to the Rev. J. H. HEYWOOD of Louisville, of the same fraternity, secured me a pass from Louisville to Nashville. There I had a letter to the Rev. J. C. HOBLIT, of the Sanitary Commission. But at this place, the order had been so positive, for a few days past, that there seemed to be no hope for a citizen to get to the front. And to relinquish the object of my journey, was something my feelings would not consent to do. Therefore I endeavored to enlist the sympathy of Mr. HOBLIT and Dr. REED, and the other friends of the Sanitary Commission. I soon found these men to be some of Nature's noblemen, for they were in possession of kind and generous hearts; and although not promising to succeed, they were willing to try.

The good the Sanitary Commission has done for the soldiers when either sick, wounded, or in want of information, has given them great influence with the generals in front, therefore, after telegraphing, and using all their kind influence for near a week, they succeeded in procuring me a pass from Gen. Hooker.

Rejoicing at my success, and fortified, as I thought, with letters from sanitary friends, I started for Bridgeport, Alabama. There the Sanitary Commission done their best, but the military barrier was raised so high that I could not get a permit to pass on the steamboat that was going down the river, as every pound the boat could carry was wanted to carry rations for the men. I had seen the commander of the post, who was very kind, but his orders were too positive to let me go. I had travelled about sixteen hundred miles of my journey, and had about fifty to go.

Imagine yourself full of sorrow and sadness, in a dreary, rough and rugged country, not a house to be seen, nor a person you knew—hungry, weary, and wet through, standing among a group of refugees from the mountains, waiting to take the oath of allegiance at the Provost Marshal's office—there I am waiting to plead my cause, when the Marshal steps out and speaks to the guard, and then recognizes me, puts his hand on my shoulder and calls me by name. How my heart leaps for joy when I look in his face and discovered it to be HENRY O. WILEY (brother of H. O. Wiley, Esq., of South Danvers,) late of Danvers, then Captain in a New York Regiment, and acting as Provost Marshal at this post! He took me into his tent. I told my story; his heart warmed up in sympathy for me, and he welcomed me to the best his tent could afford. I stayed with him during the day, and was very much gratified to hear him trying cases and settling disputes, which he done in a very gentlemanly and judicious manner. During the day his kind influence secured me a pass on the boat, and 3 o'clock on Sunday morning found me lying on the deck with Major General Hunter and General Sherman, who were going to the front. We landed at Kelly's Ferry, and were kindly refreshed with hard tack and potatoes at the sanitary tent, where hundreds of poor soldiers are fed gratuitously every day.

I then wended my way about ten miles through the mountains until I found the Massachusetts 33d, whose little white tents were pitched at the base of that famed Lookout Mountain. My errand was soon discovered and I was warmly greeted by all, both officers and men. The hospitality of the camp was generously tendered, and we sat round the camp-fire at night, whilst the shells whistled over our heads, and talked of home and its friends, and also of that pride of the regiment, the brave Adjutant MUDGE and his other noble comrades who had fell by his side in that late desperate charge on the mountain.

Before the sun had peered over that lofty peak in the morning, Col. Ryder, Capt. Prescott, Lieut. Thompson and Sergt. Walker, with a number of their men, were devising the best means to procure the remains of that comrade, for which I had travelled so far to obtain. kind, sympathizing men, they attended to. But I must draw a veil over this scene, and say that, having consigned the remains of their [illegible] in sorrow.

My object in claiming your indulgence, sir, to insert this letter, is to let the public know what kind friends we can meet on our way, and also to encourage their noble example in others, as well as to publicly acknowledge the gratitude I feel to all and every one who sympathized or assisted me on my way; and also in regard to those who aided me in carrying out the funeral arrangements.

Yours very truly.

WILLIAM GREEN.

NEW YORK ELECTION.—The city election, Tuesday, resulted in the choice of C. Godfrey Gunther, fur merchant, for mayor. The result is a smashing up of the "Ring," and the democratic machine, which ran Boole, Tammany and Mozart Halls uniting on him. Gunther was taken up by the McKeon and Brady democracy, and elected, to the surprise of nearly everybody, as an honest man. The total vote of the city was 70,989, or 4,030 larger than at the state election.—Gunther had 28,938, Boole 22,347, Blunt (republican) 19,485. Blunt's vote was a decrease of 4,124 from Opdyke's vote. The republicans evidently voted for Gunther as the only way to defeat Boole.

☞ The President has recommended that a fitting observance of the grand failure of the rebels to repossess East Tennessee, be observed, by the assembling of the people at their places of worship; there rendering special homage and gratitude to Almighty God for this great advancement of the National cause.

BATTLE OF LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN.

This important battle was fought in the last days of October, and was important in its results as it was to show the bravery of our troops. It will be remembered that Corporal BUXTON of this town, and Lieut. HILL of Danvers, lost their lives in this engagement. All honor to their memories! The 33d Massachusetts performed an active and important part in the battle, and reflected honor upon the old Bay State.

We present below an important document relating to the history of this important battle. It is the original congratulatory General Order issued two days after the fight, and read to the troops. It has never before been published. It is a just and handsome tribute to the brave officers and soldiers who took part in this hard fought battle:

Head-Quarters 2d Division, 11th Corps.
Church of John the Baptist,
October 31st, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS:—

The General commanding Division desires to express to his troops his appreciation of the valor shown by them in the actions of the 28th and 29th inst. This Division formed the advance during the march from Bridgeport to this place, the 1st Brigade, under Col. A. Buschbeck, leading. Their movements were marked by calmness and resolution. Whatever resistance was made by the enemy was quickly borne down.

During the night of the 28th to the 29th instant, the rebels made a fierce attack upon the command of Gen. Geary. Our corps was ordered out for his support. The Division moved forward on the double quick, the 2d Brigade, under Col. Smith, in advance. On the left of the road, by which the Division must pass to support Gen. Geary, a high hill commanding the way was found occupied by two rebel brigades. The 2d Brigade was ordered to take and hold this position. The 73d Ohio and 33d Massachusetts formed line of battle, and with the greatest determination scaled the precipitous slope, moving over almost impassable ground in the face of rapid volleys.

The 136th New York was now ordered to support the left of the two advancing regiments, and advanced with heroic bravery, as did the 55th Ohio which was to support the right. On the crest a fierce hand to hand contest ensued. The enemy, although well fortified in a position almost impregnable by nature, could not withstand this extraordinary bayonet attack, and were forced to inglorious flight, leaving many arms and entrenching tools behind their parapets. The storming of this hill against such stupendous odds is a brilliant episode of this war—a feat of arms rarely surpassed in history.

Officers and soldiers—by your courage you have gained your badge a proud distinction. Let your valor preserve unsullied the honor of the White Crescent.

By command of
Brig. Gen. A. VON STEINUEHL.
(Signed) FRED. W. STONE, A. A. G.

☞ Our gun-boats are having great success in picking up the English blockade runners. This is what Cromwell would have called a "goodly spoiling of the Egyptians."

☞ It is now supposed that the Federal prisoners in Richmond have received the clothing and provisions sent them. Doubted.

☞ In a caucus in New York city, on Monday evening, Mr. Boole, one of the democratic candidates for Mayor, declared himself in favor of giving the same rights to colored people as were accorded to white persons. He said the blacks were more intelligent than the Irish; and while he favored an increase of the rights of colored, he went for diminishing the power of the latter. His platform could be given in few words—up with the negro and down with the foreigners. It was a queer declaration for a candidate in a city where a majority of the population are foreigners or their immediate descendants. He was defeated.

☞ Some of the old soldiers are re-enlisting. In the Third Army Corps it has been ascertained that sixteen regiments have agreed to re-enlist, in consideration of retaining their present organization. Fifteen regiments, whose ranks have been greatly reduced by casualities, have agreed to re-enlist and be consolidated.

☞ The fall in the price of coal is noted in the Pennsylvania journals with exultation, and they recommend that purchases should be as limited as possible, as the price must decline under the various influences at work to break up the speculators. The Philadelphia journals predict that the price will fall to a comparatively low figure, as the supply is immense.

☞ The army of the Potomac has fallen back and occupies its former position, having accomplished its purpose in the recent advance, which was to prevent Lee from sending reinforcements to Longstreet at Knoxville. The army will go into winter quarters.

☞ London papers complain that nothing has yet been done toward applying Mr. Peabody's gift of $600,000 for the improvement of the poorer classes of dwellings. The committee having the money in charge are strongly denounced in some quarters.

PRICE FOR A KISS.—A young man named James Santorage, a clerk in a store in Cincinnati, was fined $29,54, on Tuesday of last week, for kissing a married lady against her will.

☞ The estate of the late Senator Douglas—Cottage Grove—near Chicago, was sold last week, under a mortgage of $83,160. Douglas was in about the same pecuniary condition of Webster, when he died. The estate did not pay the mortgage by nearly $1000.

☞ Curran said of the liberty of the Press: "That great sentinel of the State, that grand detector of public imposture; guard it, because when it sinks, there sinks with it, in one common grave, the liberty of the subject, and the security of the crown."

☞ From Texas, we learn that Gen. Banks is pushing forward his plans of redeeming that State with great despatch, and it will not be long before he will have accomplished the work laid out for him to do in that section.

☞ It was on the 4th of July that Grant reported the capture of Vicksburg, and on Thanksgiving that he reported his victory at Chattanooga. It is hoped that he may be able to announce the surrender of Atlanta on Christmas.

☞ A New York baker made a mammoth loaf, 12 feet long, and presented it to the large family of hungry little folks at the Five Points on Thanksgiving day. The loaf contained one barrel of flour.

☞ George Thompson, the eminent abolitionist, and friend of the American cause in England, proposes to visit this country again, on or before the first of January next.

☞ Hon. Isaac Davis, always a democrat, in a speech at Worcester, on Saturday evening, said of slavery—"It is an institution I abhor and loathe." "Them's our sentiments exactly!".

☞ The boys have began to look up their skates, but parents and teachers should be careful that they do not try the ice too soon. The drowning cases in the first part of winter are always numerous.

☞ The Federal Generals rank thus: Grant, far ahead, No. 1; Banks next, No. 2; and a half dozen claiming the third place, but much behind Banks, and hardly in sight of Grant.

☞ The war democrats of the West adopted a platform at their late meeting in Chicago, denouncing the rebellion and calling upon the administration to use all the power of the nation to suppress it.

☞ The Secretary of War has decided that the nine months volunteers who were called out under the first section of the act of July 17, 1862, are not entitled to the $25 bounty.

☞ The Duke of Clarence in 1825 told the Duke of Weimar that steam-vessels could not possibly succeed, because the friction of the sea-water would necessarily ignite the paddles!

☞ The total Democratic vote of the free States, as shown by the last elections, is 1,488,000, which is a hundred thousand more than was cast for Douglas in 1860.

☞ Fernando Wood in a speech in New Jersey last week, denounced the war democrats and urged his friends neither to accept their friendship, influence or votes.

☞ The Freshmen of Yale College had a meeting the other night, and seventy-four signed a pledge to abstain from [illegible] course.

☞ Last Wednesday, December 2d, will be memorable in the history of this country, as the day on which John Brown was hanged at Charlestown, Va.

☞ In the State of Connecticut, this year, 40,000 sewing machines have been manufactured. Bridgeport is the chief seat of the business.

☞ The heads of a number of our soldiers were found on the Chicamauga battle field severed from their bodies and stuck up on stumps and poles.

☞ In Grant's recent battle some of the regiments suffered severely. In the 7th Ohio, only one commissioned officer escaped uninjured.

☞ The quota of the town of Ipswich has been filled by re-enlistments of men in the 14th Mass. Regiment, Heavy Artillery.

☞ Weston, Winchester, Lexington and a few other towns have filled their quotas, most of the men sent to camp being aliens.

☞ The army shoes for colored soldiers range in size from No. 11 to No. 15. They will be the fellows to occupy the South.

☞ By the new constitution of Venezuela, slavery is forever abolished in that country.

☞ President Lincoln's bilious attack proves to be the varioloid.

☞ Gen. Francis Meagher was captured during the late engagement, and is now in the hands of the rebels. He was not on duty, but was visiting the army in civilians' dress.

☞ Mr. Colfax, Republican, has been elected Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives, by a vote of 101 to 91.

☞ The Russian officers have subscribed $4,500 to furnish fuel for the poor of New York City.

☞ Russia is continuing her preparations for war, which is expected in the spring.

☞ The Lindell Hotel, just completed in St. Louis is the largest hotel save one, in the world.

☞ President Lincoln's health is better. He is busy finishing his message.

☞ The ring of the skater's steel begins to be heard on our ponds.

☞ The number of colored soldiers in our army is not far from 40,000.

☞ The sunflower was brought from Peru.

☞ Six inches of snow fell at Albion, N. Y. on Monday.

☞ Grant's victory knocked down cotton goods one cent a yard.

☞ The claims of Gen. Banks to the Presidency are being urged by his friends.

☞ Spain has declared for Maxamilian, the Emperor of Mexico.

"CHRIST BLESSING LITTLE CHILDREN."—Eastlake's great painting of Christ blessing little children is a gem for every Christian household. It is sold only to subscribers, at $2.50 per copy, and the ugent is now with us to secure subscriptions. The picture (engraved by the distinguished SARTAIN, of Philadelphia, from a painting of Sir Charles Eastlake, President of the Royal Academy of London,) is a delightful conception and most elegantly executed. Says the Rev. Edward G. Taylor of Cincinnati:—"The exquisite grouping of the twenty-two figures, with the varied and speaking expressions of their faces, the freshness and confiding innocence of childhood, the serene dignity and loving look of our Saviour, the anxious yet happy expressions of the mothers, together with the contending emotions of the disciples, are brought out with a vividness and distinctness such as make the picture life-like and real. The subject of the picture is one of the most interesting interesting incidents in the life of Christ. Eastlake's painting has been justly celebrated, and the engraving of it by Sartain is so admirable as to justify President Eastlake's efforts to have engravers admitted to the highest honors of the Royal Academy."

BOSTON—Amusements.—Miss Maggie Mitchell is still at the Boston Theatre, attracting crowded houses nightly in her masterpiece as Fanchon. Manager Marshall well deserves success in his endeavors to please the public. Every one should see her.

Miss Avonia Jones appears at the Howard this week. She is an excellent actress in her role.

Fair for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission at Music Hall Boston.

Ladies of South Danvers who are preparing articles for this Fair, are requested to send them to Sutton's Hall, next Wednesday P. M., Dec. 9th, that the Committee may apprise and arrange them.

On Friday, P. M., the work for the Fair will be exhibited at Sutton's Hall, and articles may be engaged at the valuation. Admission ten cents.

Per Order of the Committee.

☞ Try one of Rhoades' National Clothes Wringers, before purchasing elsewhere. For sale at the Equity Store, South Danvers.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

ESSEX INSTITUTE.

The Third Lecture will be on THURSDAY EVENING, by C. T. JACKSON, of Boston, at Lyceum Hall, commencing at 7½ o'clock.

H. WHEATLAND,
Salem, Dec 9. Secretary.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 1st, schs Counsellor, Whitmore, Philadelphia; 2d, Moro, Neville, Boston; 3d, Majestic Wentworth, and Pierce, Tapley, Bangor; 6th, Jos I Day, Baker, Philadelphia.

Marriages.

In Salem, Nov 26, Mr Geo W Bailey to Miss Sarah J Barnard; Mr Robert Brown to Miss Mary Burke; 28th, Mr Daniel Shine of Salem, to Miss Mary Corcoran of Marblehead; Mr Matthew Mahoney to Miss Margaret Lahey; Mr Timothy Connor to Miss Ellen Crowley; 27th, Mr Felix M'Carty of So. Danvers to Miss Catharine Roche of Salem; 28th, Mr Harrison Drew to Miss Elizabeth M'Nally; Dec 1st, Mr John M Morton of Bristol, Me, to Miss Hortense L Gavett of Salem; Mr Geo B Melcher to Miss Louisa J Knight; 3d, Mr Stillman C Symonds to Miss Mary E Humphreys

---

Deaths.

In Salem, Nov 27, Mr Stephen Towne, 79 yrs; Dec 1, Mrs Catherine, wife of Mr Dennis Haley, 30 yrs; Miss Hannah Hobart, 75 yrs—daughter of the late Mr Noah Hobart; 3d, Mrs Nancy, wife of Mr Richard Muchmore, 63 yrs 8 mos; Mrs Hannah, wife of Mr Silas Berry, 39 yrs 9 mos; 4th, Mr Jonathan Ropes Jr, 34 yrs 8 mos 15 days; Mrs Ellen, widow of the late Mr John Gorman, 33 yrs; Mr Benjamin Trask, 62 yrs 9 mos 7 days; 5th, Gilbert G Newhall Esq, 62 yrs 3 mos 26 days.

In Beverly, Dec 1, Mrs Hannah, widow of the late Capt Josiah Raymond, 69 yrs; 5th, Capt Jones Hatfield, aged 40 years.

In Andover, Dec 2, Mrs Jane M, wife of Hon Franklin Pierce, ex-President of the United States, and daughter of Rev Dr Appleton, the second President of Bowdoin College.

On board ship Sooloo, Dec 1, on the passage from Manila to Boston, Wilbur Fisk Bacheller, of Lynn, 36 years.

☞ A gentleman of undoubted ability who was present, writes that the country knows nothing of the situation when Grant reached Chattanooga. Our communications were soon cut off. Grant had to ride his horse back on the roughest road known, strewn all the way with horses and mules—dead of absolute starvation. At Chattanooga the men were living upon one quart of corn per day, and the men on quarter rations, and some even upon one ear of corn per day. The artillery forces were so exhausted that not a gun could be moved. Grant reached there after dark, and in an hour his plans were matured. By daylight his troops were in motion to execute his plan. The next night crowned his enterprise—the enemy completely surprised, his position captured, and our communications open and full rations flowing to the almost starved soldiers.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.—Our returns of last elections were held in several towns of this Commonwealth for mayor, resulting as follows:—Zebina L. [illegible] Mayor of Cambridge; Eustace [illegible] Mayor of Chelsea; Dr. A. J. [illegible] Mayor of Lawrence; and Henry [illegible] ander, Jr., Mayor of Springfield.

Advertisements

HOUSEKEEPERS, ATTENTION!

JACKSON'S KITCHEN FURNISHING [illegible]

Under MECHANIC HALL,

Parties about commencing Housekeeping will find this the only place in Salem where a complete assortment of House-keeping Goods can be found. Dec

GEORGE TAPLEY
(DANVERS),
AGENT FOR THE
John Hancock Life Insurance Co.
Office, 41 State Street, Boston.

SELLING OFF

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS

For a few days previous to taking account of stock, at

REDUCED PRICES

GEORGE P. DANIELS,
No. 238 Essex Street,
(Three Doors West of the Tunnel)
Salem, Dec 9—tf

COME IN OUT OF THE DRAFT!

Recruiting Office for Artillery, Infantry and Cavalry.

The subscriber having been appointed Recruiting Officer for

SOUTH DANVERS

has opened an office in

WARREN BANK BUILDING,

Where all interested in filling the Quota of South Danvers are invited to call.

Capt. R. S. DANIELS,
South Danvers, Dec. 9th, 1863.

Assignee's Notice.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Essex ss. Before Hon. [illegible] F. Choate, Judge of Probate and Insolvency for said county: The subscriber hereby gives notice that he has been duly appointed assignee of [illegible] of BENJAMIN C. OSBORNE of So. Danvers in said county, tanner and currier, an insolvent debtor:

The second meeting of the creditors of said insolvent debtor will be held at the County Court House, Insolvency, at Salem, in said county, on the twenty-eighth day of December current, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting the creditors may [illegible] their claims.

EBEN S. POOR, Assignee.
December 9, 1863.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of [illegible] LY VERY, late of South Danvers, in said county, widow, deceased: Greeting:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by HARRIET VERY, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed, may be issued to her, the executor named in said will having declined to accept the trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause if any you have, against the same.

And said Harriet Very is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the South Danvers Wizard, printed at So. Danvers, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this second day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three.

A. C. GOODELL, Register.
December 9, 1863. 3w

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Dec. 8, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Mrs C A Batchelder	Denis Lines
Lucy E Brown	Geo. W Morse
Isaac M Allen	Cate Miller
Mashall J Bird	Mary E Osborne
Geo. W. Buxton	Julia A Putnam
Mary A Connelly	Francis L Robbins
Spencer Fuller	Robert B Simonds
Wm. B Graves	Maggy J Rowan
Eliza S Hammond	Eunice S Trask

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR CROCKERY.— quality of White Granite Ware, marked and selling at 20 per cent less than cost,
C. T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 ell Street.

LLY FOR THE OLD FLAG!

$1172 FOR VETERANS, and $1072 FOR RAW RECRUITS.

59 MEN WANTED

TO FILL THE QUOTA OF

SOUTH DANVERS,

o whom Bounties will be paid as fol-
ws:

To Veterans (those who have been at least ne months in the service and been honorably scharged for other cause than disability,) the overnment bounty of 402 dollars each.
To all other recruits 302 dollars each.
In addition to the above, each recruit will ceive from the State, as follows: 325 dollars wn, or 50 dollars down and 20 dollars per onth, as the soldier may elect, making in all 27 dollars for Veterans, and 627 dollars for w recruits.
If the monthly pay offered by the State is ceived, the pay for three years will amount to 72 dollars for Veterans, and 1072 for raw cruits.
In addition to the bounties of the Govern-nt, and State, will be the monthly pay of e Government of 13 dollars per month, aounting to 468 dollars, which will raise the hole amount received for three years served the sum of

1640 FOR VETERANS, AND $1540 FOR RAW RCRUITS.

☞ The families of Volunteers will be en-led by law to State Aid on the same terms heretofore. ☜
All further information required in regard to ruiting, bounties, &c., may be obtained at e office.

JOSEPH POOR,

RECRUITING AGENT.

ffice in Allen's Building, on the Square.

South Danvers, Nov 25, 1863.

KEROSENE LAMPS.

FULL assortment of Kerosene Lamps, at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS.

pure and powerful Tonic, corrective and alrative of wonderful efficacy in disease of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

es Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Headache, ebility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits,
Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers,
Cramps and Spasms, and all Complaints of either Sex, arising from Bodily Weakness whether inherent in the system or produced by special causes.

othing that is not wholesome, genial and rative in its nature enters into the compon of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BIT-
S. This popular preparation contains no eral of any kind, no deadly botanical ele-t; no fiery excitant: but it is a combination [illegible] of rare balsamic herbs and plants the purest and [illegible] exclusive ulants.
is well to be forearmed against disease, so far as the human system can be protect-by human means against maladies engend by an unwholesome atmosphere, impure
r and other external causes, HOSTET-
'S BITTERS may be relied on as a safed.
districts infested with [illegible] styles, it been found infallible as a preventive and istible as a remedy and thousands who re-to it under apprehension of an attack, pe the scourage; and thousands who net to avail themselves of its protective qualin advance, are cured by a very brief course his marvelous medicine. Fever and Ague nts, after being plied with quinine for ths in vain, until fairly saturated with dangerous alkaloid, are not unfrequently red to health within a few days by the use
OSTETTER'S BITTERS.
he weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and appetite restored by this agreeable Tonic, hence it works wonders in cases of DISPEPind in less confirmed forms of INDIGESTION.
ng as a gentle and painless apperient, as as upon the liver, it also invariably res the CONSTIPATION superinduced by irregaction of the digestive and secretive ns.
rsons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous At- , Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, prompt and permanent relief from the Bit-
The testimony on this point is most con-ve, and from both sexes.
e agony of BILIOUS COLIC is immediately ged by a single dose of the stimulant, and occasionally resorting to it, the return of omplaint may be prevented.
S a General Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BIT-
S produce effects which must be experi-d or witnessed before they can be fully eciated. In cases of Constitutional Weak- Premature Decay and Debility and De-itude arising from OLD AGE, it exercises electric influence. In the convalescent s of all diseases it operates as a delightful orant. When the powers of nature are ed, it operates to re-enforce and re-estabthem.
st, but not least, it is The Only Safe Stim-
, being manufactured from sound and uous materials, and entirely free from the elements present more or less in all the ory tonics and stomachics of the day.
family medicine has been so universally,
it may be truly added, deservedly popular the intelligent portion of the community,
OSTETTER'S BITTERS.
epared by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pitts-h, Pa.
ld by all Druggists, Grocers and Store-

The Singer Manufacturing Co's

LETTER A SEWING MACHINE

For Family Use and Light Manufacturing Purposes, is on exhibition and for sale

AT ASHLAND HALL,

SOUTH DANVERS SQUARE,

—BY—

JOHN H. CHOATE,

Agent for the sale of

SEWING MACHINES,

SILK, THREAD, NEEDLES, COTTONS, &c., &c.

— Also —

Paraffine Sewing Machine Oil,

The best oil for all kinds of light machinery.

South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

Men's Clothing,

In this department can be found the Latest Styles, the Best Goods, and the Largest Assortment in Essex County. We have our best Goods made to our order. Gentlemen in want of a or a good fitting suit of Clothes, are invited to call and examine and decide for themselves whether it is for their interest to get a suit made or buy at F. S. PECK'S and save money. 240 is the place.

GOOD OVERCOAT,

Three Small Boys Lost! Their father found them at 240, and fitted them to a good suit of Clothing. If your boys should be missing at any time, 240 is the place to find them or clothe them ot low prices.

Boys' Clothing,

We have fitted up a large room expressly for Boys' CLOTHING, where can be found a large assortment of the latest styles Over-Coats, Under-Coats, Pants, Vests, Jackets and Suits. We have our best goods made to our order, and have pieces saved so that customers can have a small piece with the suits. 240 is the only store in Essex County where you can find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing. Call at 240 and decide whether the above is true. F. S. PECK.

We don't believe in letting the boys go to Boston to buy their Clothing, and pay more than the same goods are sold for at PECK'S, 240 Essex Street.

240

TWO BOYS RUN OVER.—A Lady and two Boys were seen to get out of the Horse Cras, and the Boys started and run right over into 240, and were fitted to a good suit of clothes at low prices. 240 is the place.

Furnishing Goods.

The Latest Styles in this department can be found and as large an assortment of as Good Goods as in any store in Salem. Men's and Boys' Under Shirts and Drawers, all sizes; Men's and Boys' [illegible], all sizes and prices, from 15c to $2 50; Braces 15 cts to $2 25; White and Fancy Shirts, Stocks, Ties, Collars, Bosoms. Also, a large assortment of FANCY GOODS. You can save money by purchasing your Furnishing Goods at

☞ Visit the Boys' Clothing Department, at 240, if you wish to find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing, all prices.

Hats and Caps,

In this department can be found the Latest Styles and the best quality of Goods, which will be sold at a small profit.

We sell you a Coat or a pair of Pants or a suit of Clothes, and make a small profit, thus enabling us to afford to sell you a Hat or Cap low, and we are GOING TO DO IT. That's What's the Matter.

☞ 240 is the place to buy Hats and Caps.

The public are respectfully invited to call and examine the assortment, and see if what we say is true.

F. S. PECK,
240 Essex street, Salem.

LOST.

TWO notes bearing even dollars and even dates signed as follows:

One payable to P. R. Basford and endorsed by Daniel Haskell, and the other payable to Daniel Haskell, and endorsed by P. R. Basford, have both been lost. The public are notified that neither have been used and the parties did nor do not owe each other one cent.

DANIEL HASKELL,
P. R. BASFORD.

So. Danvers, Dec. 2, 1863.

John P. Peabody.

MILLINERY GOODS.

Bonnet Ribbons in great variety;
Trimming Ribbons in great variety;
Taffetta and Lustring Ribbons—all colors;
Artificial Flowers—pretty new styles;
Velvet Flowers—in new patterns—bargains;
Bonnet Ruches and Tubs—in all qualities;
Joined Blonde and Silk Laces for Bonnets;
Steel and Jet and plain Jet Pins and Buckles;
Illusion and Bobbinet Laces—all prices;
Black English Crapes and Silk Laces;
All at the very lowest prices, at

PEABODY'S, 220 Essex Street.

A nice Brown Ribbon—new shade—29 cts;
A nice Brown Ribbon—new shade—29 cts;
A nice Brown Ribbon—new shade—29 cts;
42 and 50 cent Flowers—only 35 cts;
34 and 38 cent Flowers—only 25 cts;
42 and 50 cent Ruches—only 35 cts;
34 and 42 cent Ruches—only 25 cts.

Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.

Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Sontags.
Hand Knit Zephyr Breakfast Shawls.
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Hoods.
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Caps;
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Mittens;
Patti Nubias—the finest clouds made;
Clouds—in all sizes—colors and prices;
Childrens Gaiters—Mittens—Sleeves—Tippets;
An Invoice of our Best Paris Kid Gloves;
Best Kid Gloves—Wrought Backs only $1.25.
Ladies, Misses & Childrens Gloves—full stock;
Ladies Woolen Hosiery—all sizes.
Ladies Merino Hosiery—all sizes.
Ladies Fleecy Lined Hosiery—all sizes;
Ladies Cotton and Wool Hose—Ribb'd, 25 cts.
Misses Hosiery—Woolen—Merino and Cotton.
Infant's Bootees—Socks—and Half Hose;
Ladies Merino Pants and Vests—bargains;
Infants Knit Shirts—fine and nice;
Hand Knit Scarfs and Tippets—new styles;
Sontags in all prices—from $1.00 up;
Hoods in all prices—from 75 cts to $1.75;
Knit Caps in all prices—from 75 cts to $1.25;
Breakfast Shawls—the best made—only $1.75.
Misses' Hoods—from 25 cts up to 1.00.
Clouds—the finest Patti Novelties—only $1.05.
White Checked Cambrics—all qualities;
Nainsook—Swiss and Book Muslins;
White Linens—Linen Lawns and Cambrics;
Wrought Setts—in all prices—from 75 cts up;
Wrought Collars—in all prices—from 25 cts up;
Wrought Waists and Robes—for Infants;
Wrought Edgings and Insertings—new styles;
Saxony—Smyrna & Cotton Edgings—all prices;
Real Laces, in Guipure—English Thread, &c;
Black Lace Veils—from 50 cts to $5 00;
Color'd Grenadine Veils—bargains;
Crape and Lace Veils—for mourning;
Mourning Hdkfs—in neat patterns;
Gent's Linen Hdkfs—Hem'd ready for use;
Gent's Linen Hdkfs—plain and fancy borders;
Gent's Cotton Hdkfs—in variety;
Ladies' Linen Hem Stitched Hdkfs—25 cts;
Hem Stitched Hdkfs—with border—35 cts;
Hdkfs—fine French Needle Work—all prices;
Children's Cotton Hdkfs—with col'd borders;
Ladies' Linen Hdkfs—col'd borders—pretty;
Best French Corsets—white and col'd;
Shapes—Corset Steels—Bones—Skirts, &c, &c;
Toilet Powders—Puffs—Combs—Brushes, &c;
Soaps—Pomades—Hair Oils—Powders, &c;
Rose, Brown Windsor, Honey & Glycerine Soaps
Yankee and Barber's Soaps—for shaving;
Rose Union Soap—two cakes for 5 cents;
Honey Soap—large cakes—only 5 cents;
Glycerine Amber Soap—only 8 cts;
Davis's Bar Soap—transparent—only 5 cts;
Large Bars—fine Soap—for families—12 cts;
Toilet Boxes—Powders, rums, Brushes, &c;
Hair Brushes—from 25 cts to $1 25;
Tooth Brushes—from 6 cts to 83 cts;
Leather Bags—from 75 cts to $5 00;
Leather Wallets—from 12 cts to $1 00;
A good Leather Wallet to close—at 12 cts;
Ladies' Rubber Pages—with hook—8 cts;
Elastic Braids—Cords—Clasps, &c, &c;
Crochet Cotton—Needles, &c, all sizes;
Sewing Silks—Twists, &c, Spools and Skeins;
Sewing Needles—our own importation;
Knitting and Tidy Needles—all kinds.
Brown Worsteds—22 cts;
Purple Worsteds—22 cts;
Blue Worsteds—22 cts;
Magenta Worsteds—22 cts;
Green Worsteds—22 cts;
Wine Color Worsteds—22 cts;
Pink Worsteds—22 cts;
Drab Worsteds—22 cts;
Maroon Worsteds—22 cts;
Slate Worsteds—22 cts;
Chinchilla Worsteds—22 cts;
Perdrix Worsteds—22 cts;
Mottled Worsteds—22 cts;
Black Worsteds—17 cts;
White Worsteds—17 cts;
The largest Stock of Worsteds in Salem;
The largest Stock of Worsteds in Salem;
The largest Stock of Worsteds in Salem;
Worsted Goods made to Order;
Worsted Goods made to Order;
Worsted Goods made to Order;
Hand Knit Skating Hats—very pretty, $1 25;
Very nice Worsted Hand made Hats—$1 25;
A nice Skating Hat—new styles—75 cts;
The best Breakfast Shawls made—only $1 75;
The best Hand made Sontags—only $1 75;
Nice Hand made Worsted Hoods—$1 25;
The largest and choicest stock of Worsted Goods ever shown in Salem, at prices that will defy competition.

ONE PRICE ONLY!

JOHN P. PEABODY.

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

CLOAKS, DRESS GOODS, &c.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

We have now in Stock a great variety of LADIES' CLOAKS, made in the best manner from our own Cloths.

These garments arse in all Plush, Chinchilla and heavy Beavers, hand made,—and our prices for them are very low.

We are also making to order from measure a great many elegant Cloaks.

RICH DRESS GOODS.

We invite attention to our Stock of LADIES' DRESS GOODS. It is unusually complete in Thibets, Ottomans, Repps, Germania Cloths, Alpaccas, Plaids, M. De Laines, etc., etc.

We have a very large Stock of BEST AMERICAN PRINTS, (Merrimack and Pacific's, Manchester's, Dunnell's, otc. etc.,)—at Lowest Prices.

We would invite special attention to our Stock of Plain Black and Fancy DRESS SILKS.

We have elegant PLAIN COLORED SILKS, at a Bargain.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' CASHMERE MANTLES.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' UNDER-CLOTHING.

We have a splendid Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS—from $2.00 up.

We have a fine Stock of SHAWLS.

We have a fine Stock of Gent's SHIRT FRONTS, LINENS, WHITE GOODS, KID GLOVES, HOSIERY, etc.

We have a large Stock of COTTONS, white and colored FLANNELS, DIAPERS, QUILTS, HAND LOOM DAMASKS for TABLE COVERINGS, etc.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Nov. 25, 1863.

LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

NOW OPEN

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S,

A SPLENDID STOCK OF

NOVELTIES,

SUITABLE FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS.

The most beautiful Goods ever seen in Salem. ENTIRELY NEW STYLES.
The Ladies are most cordially invited to examine this fine display.

ALSO, JUST RECEIVED,

A full line of KID GLOVES, in all sizes, at

BROWNING & LONG'S,

Salem, December 9, 1863. 177 Essex St.

ZEPHER WORSTEDS.

MOSS ZEPHERS.

DENTAL NOTICE.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,

FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

Oct. 8—mo.

L. A. PORTER,
MANUFACTURER TO ORDER
WATCH SPRING SKIRTS,
A few doors from Washington Street,
236 Essex Street,
SALEM MASS.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
Music Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

R. W. WILKINSON,
DEALER IN
Newspapers, Periodicals, and Stationery of every Description.

FOREIGN and DOMESTIC FRUITS, consisting of Oranges, Lemons, Dates, Figs, Prunes, &c., &c.

Sauces, Pickles and Preserves; Castana, Naples and English Walnuts; Hard, Soft and Paper-shelled Almonds; choice brands of Tobacco and Cigars; also a general assortment of Confectionery of every description.

Also a large and well selected stock of Toys, suitable for children and the Holiday Gifts.

Ice Cream furnished to parties at short notice and in quantities to suit. Wedding Cake and every variety of nice cake furnished to parties or families.

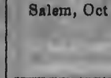
STORE—WARREN BANK BUILDING.

South Danvers, Nov'r 11, 1863.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS ..... PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS ..... PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES .... PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

JUST RECEIVED,
AND NOW OPENING,
—A—
RICH STOCK
—OF—
Millinery Goods,
Consisting of
BONNET HATS,
RIBBONS,
FEATHERS, &C.,
—AT—
REITH & CO'S.,
188 Essex Street (No. 2 West Block),
Nearly opposite Central Street.
Salem, Oct 21, 1863. 3m

PIANO FORTES.



I HAVE those splendid Extra-Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Manner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melodeons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every particular.

S. MACKINTIRE, General Agent.

No. 218 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

L. MERRILL & SON,
DEALERS IN
DRUGS, MEDICINES,
Fancy and Toilet Articles,
Perfumery, Stationery, Cutlery, &c.
VILLAGE BANK BUILDING,
DANVERS, MASS.

Particular attention paid to Physicians' Prescriptions.
LEVI MERRILL,
W. S. MERRILL.
Danvers, Dec 2—6m

KEROSENE LANTERNS
WITHOUT chimneys, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st

HANGING LAMPS.
KEROSENE Hanging Lamps for sale by
S C & E A SIMONDS.

George S. Walker.

Gentlemen's Gloves,

ON HAND every kind and quality of Gloves suitable for dress, driving and working, at the VERY LOWEST PRICES—at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
228 Essex street, Stearns' Block.

Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods.

NEW STYLES received daily. Just opened a choice lot of Scarfs and Ties. Also, Gloves of every kind, Collars, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, &c, to which I invite the attention of all in want.
GEORGE S. WALKER,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
No. 228 Essex st, Stearns' Building.

Gentlemen's Underwear.

POSITIVELY the Largest Assortment to be found in the County—at the Lowest Prices at GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Dealer in Gent's Furnishing Goods & Toilet Articles, opposite Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

A. J. ARCHER & CO,
WILL OPEN THIS MORNING
A LARGE STOCK OF
CLOAKS AND SACKS.
Price from $7 to $25 00.
Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.

Blacks and Colors
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES.

Which we are prepared to make into garments per order, in the very best manner, and at
LOWEST PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Nov 4

Hoop Skirts at Cost.

WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost. A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,

—BY—

C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER July 18—tf

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.

WARREN BANK.

U. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,

For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.

FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.
South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

DR. J. M. CROSVENOR,

Respectfully announces to the citizens of South Danvers that he has located himself in said town; his office may be found in

TRASK'S BUILDING,
ON MAIN STREET.

Residence No. 66 Main Street, next house below the Peabody Institute.

South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.

OVERCOATS, &C.

AT COLMAN'S,

NO. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

I WILL sell all OVERCOATS on hand at the actual cost (to close), at prices from $3.50 to $15.00. Business Coats Pants and Vests, at small advance. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Balmoral Boots, with Rubber Soles, at the lowest prices.

Men's, Boy's and Women's leather Boots and Shoes; Best Table Cutlery; Plated Table and Tea Spoons; Plated Forks;—500 dozen Brown Windsor Soap at 40 cents per dozen; Painted Carpeting, Umbrellas, Clocks, Looking Glasses, Trunks, Bags, Work Boxes, Stove Polish, Blacking, &c. Furnishing Goods—50 dozen Buck and other Gloves; 20 doz Mittens, Leather and Woolen, (cheaper than can be had at any other place.)

20 Dozen Under Shirts and Drawers; Boy's and Men's Comforters; Hats and Caps; Window Curtains; Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Picture and Bell Cord, &c, &c.

Is a dollar worth saving? If so, call at COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front St., Salem, as he is determined to sell.

Dec 2—6w NO NO

Dry Goods Salesman Wanted.

APPLY to A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
181 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, Aug 29, 1863. tf

RUBBER SOLED SHOES!!

GENERAL Depot, No. 10 Front Street, Salem.
dec 2—3m O R and B O

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.,

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.

Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturin Stock bought and sold on Commission.

ON SATURDAY NEXT, at 9½ o'clock will be sold at No. 34 Front street:

The usual variety of new and second hand Furniture, consisting of Sofa, Chairs, Tables, Feather Beds, Stoves, 2 new Carpets, Stair Carpets, &c.

Also—An Invoice of Clothing, Pants, Vests and Coats.

Also—An Invoice of Dry Goods—Prints, Delaines, Shawls, &c.

Also—10 boxes Navy Tobacco; 2 do Cavendish; 6 small boxes do; 2 boxes prime Coffee in 1b. papers;—6 boxes Ground Coffee in half lb. papers; 4 cases of Cream Tartar in cans.

M. E. CRANE,
168 ESSEX STREET.

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her Stock of
FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GOODS
comprising all desirable styles.
Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French Flowers and Laces;
Straw Goods of all descriptions,
Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, latest styles; Ladies Dress Caps;
and all articles usually found in such a Store, at the lowest prices for cash.
Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Collars, &c., constantly on hand.

M. E. CRANE,
Successor to M M FLETCHER.
Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER,

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, Mass.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Sets of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless.

Office Established in 1846.

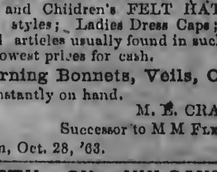
PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY.
NEW YORK.

This gentleman Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
Aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,



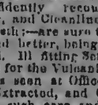
Druggist and Apothecary,
88 MAIN STREET.

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 20, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM



Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 MAIN ST 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary
37 Main St., So. Danvers

DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemica
Foreign Leeches, Shakers'
Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums,
and Genuine Patent Medicine

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

37 MAIN STREET.

NUMEROUS applications having been made for a Course of FIRST CLASS CONCERTS in this City, the managers of the SALEM TEMPERANCE LEAGUE take pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been made with Mr. GILMORE for a course of THREE CONCERTS, provided sufficient encouragement shall be given.

The Concerts to be of the same character as that given recently under the auspices of the League.

Subscription papers at $1 00 for the Course, may be found at the Bookstores of Messrs. George Creamer, Henry P. Ives, Whipple & Smith, and D. B. Brooks & Brother, Salem; B. F. Stevens, South Danvers.

Salem, November 18, 1863.

DR. E. F. KITTREDGE,

From Lowell, formerly of New Ipswich, N. H., Has removed his office and residence to

NO. 42 MAIN STREET,
SOUTH DANVERS, MASS.

Dr. K., from an extensive and successful professional experience of upwards of twenty years, feels justified in saying that he can treat diseases to the satisfaction of his patients, and to the credit of himself.

Office hours from 7 to 9 A. M., and from 6 to 9 P. M.
South Danvers, Nov 13, 1863.

NEW STORE!

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, a fresh supply of CHOICE BRANDS, direct from the Mills, for sale, wholesale and retail, at LOWEST PRICES, by

E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

THE NEW JUVENILES.

DAYS and Nights on the Battle Field;
The Farmer Boy;
Dick Onslow; and a fine and rare stock of English Juveniles, at dec 9 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Miscellaneous.

AN EDITOR'S RETORT.—At a late festival a pretty miss waited upon the editor to a pie plate, of antique manufacture, in the centre of which he espied the following couplet:

"One sweet kiss
Is the price of this."

This excited his naturally amorous disposition, and as soon as an opportunity presented, he motioned the young lady to his side, and pointing with his knife to the lines, said:—"Young lady, your pay is ready whenever you present your bill."

☞ A part blockhead, who thought himself very smart, was once in company with Dean Swift. Rising from his chair, on something he said, he added, "For you must know, Mr. Dean, I set up for a wit." "Do you?" said Swift, very gravely—"well, then, take my advice and sit down again."

☞ A printer named Winn, who died at Rochester, England, recently, was heard to mutter to himself a few moments before his death: "I am on my last stickful; I am coming to a paragraph, and I suppose I shall have to wait for old death to put in a period."

☞ "New playing cards are spoken of, the pictures on which are to be taken from the form and faces of men who have distinguished themselves in the war. Eminent contractors will sit for the knaves."

☞ "Jones has a reverence for truth," said Brown. "So I perceive," was Smith's reply, "for he always keeps a respectable distance from it."

Special Notices.

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS.—WARRANTED IN ALL CASES.—:—Can he relied on! Never fail to cure! Do not nauseate! Are speedy in action! No change of diet required! Do not interfere with business pursuits! Can be used without detection! Upward of 200 cures the past month—some of them very severe cases. Over one hundred physicians have used them in their practice, and all speak well of their efficacy and approve of their composition, which is entirely vegetable and harmless on the system. Hundreds of certificates can be shown.

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS are the original and only genuine Specific Pill. They are adapted for male and female, old or young, and the only reliable remedy for effecting a permanent and speedy cure in all cases of Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, with all its train of evils, such as Urethral and Vaginal Discharges, Gleet, the Whites, Nightly or Involuntary Emissions, Incontinence, Genital Debility and Irritability, Impotence, Weakness or Loss of Power, Nervous Debility, &c., &c., all of which arise principally from Sexual Excesses or Self-Abuse, or some constitutional derangement, and incapacitates the sufferer from fulfilling the duties of married life. In all sexual diseases, as Gonorrhea, Gleet, and Strictures, and in Diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, they act as a charm! Relief is experienced by taking a single box.

Sold by all the principal druggists. Price $1.

They will be sent by mail, securely sealed, and confidentially, on receipt of the money, by

J BRYAN, M. D,
No. 76 Cedar street, New York,
Consulting Physician for the treatment of Seminal, Urinary, Sexual, and Nervous Diseases, who will send, free to all, the following valuable work, in sealed envelope:

THE FIFTIETH THOUSAND.—DR. BELL'S TREATISE on Self-Abuse, Premature Decay, Impotence and Loss of Power, Sexual Diseases, Seminal Weakness, Nightly Emissions, Genital Debility, &c., &c., a pamphlet of 64 pages, containing important advice to the afflicted, and which should be read by every sufferer, as the means of cure in the severest stages is plainly set forth. Two stamps required to pay postage. December 9, 1863—1 yr.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. HARVEY'S FEMALE PILLS have never yet failed in removing difficulties arising from obstruction, or stoppage of nature, or in restoring the system to perfect health when suffering from spinal Affections, Prolapsus, Uteri, the Whites, or other weakness of the Uterine Organs. The Pills are perfectly harmless on the constitution, and may be taken by the most delicate female without causing distress—the same time they act like a charm by strengthening, invigorating and restoring the system to a healthy condition, and by bringing on the monthly period with regularity, no matter from what causes the obstruction may arise. They should, however, NOT be taken during the first three or four months of pregnancy, though safe at any other time, as miscarriage would be the result.

Each box contains 60 Pills. Price $1.

DR. HARVEY'S TREATISE on Diseases of Females, Pregnancy, Miscarriage, Barrenness, Sterility, Reproduction, and Abuses of Nature, and emphatically the Ladies' Private Medical Adviser, a pamphlet of 64 pages, sent free to any address. Six cents required to pay postage.

The Pills and book will be sent by mail when desired, securely sealed, and prepaid, by

J. BRYAN, M. D, General Agent,
No. 76 Cedar street, New York.

☞ Sold by all the principal druggists.
December 9, 1863—1 yr.

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

— ALSO —

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER No. 3 Dvision Street, New York. je 3—1y

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorroea or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing

CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586
Sept 16—1yr

Advertisements.

ATTRACTIVE

AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF

New Fall and Winter

CLOTHING,

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS

IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of

Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics'
WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

CEO. H. LANE,

31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,

BOSTON.

Oct 21, 1863. 2m

Salem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

ALL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be stopped, in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 5.

Per order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

OATS.

6700 BUSHELS Bright and Sweet Northern OATS—for sale by nov 25 GAYLE & CO., Phillips Wharf.

ANN R. BRAY 76 Federal Street, Salem,—has received—

New Styles Cotton Wool Delaines—very neat styles—at very low prices.

We are selling out all our SPRING SKIRTS at Cost. nov 25

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock ant. to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

HEYLINGBERG'S

Hair Dressing Saloon,

24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	8 cts,
Hair Cutting,	15 cts,
Champooing,	15 cts.

Particular attention paid to dying hair and whiskers, in one preparation, without washing or scrubbing.

New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.
South Danvers, Nov. 25, 1862.

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!

ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.

We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.

SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.
oct 14

[COMMUNICATED]

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find A SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
Sept. 23—4m. New York.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and reasonably executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger,
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

H. L. HADLEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
Danvers.
Claims against the Government for Bounty, Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to.

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,
Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,
CIVIL AND MILITARY,
Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No. 5.

J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. McLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX.

THE session of Congress, commencing Dec. 1st, will probably be the most interesting session we have had since the war of 1812. It will contain a report of all the Debates of the [illegible] the Messages, reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments; the Laws passed during the session, and copious indexes to all. Published weekly or at short intervals in Quarto form, the session making about 4000 pages. Price to subscribers $6 00 for the session, payable in advance, postage free.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH, 190 Essex St., are agents for the above, for Salem and vicinity. Also agents for the Daily Globe newspaper. Price $6 00 in advance. nov 18

Settees for Sale.

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem-stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

SILVER PLATED KNIVES,

IVORY handle Knives with Silver Plated Blades by the dozen. Also, Silver Plated Forks of the best quality at
nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

IVORY HANDLE KNIVES,

DINNER and Desert Knives only by the dozen. Carving Knives and Forks and Steels, at
nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'

RESTAURANT,

18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES;
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
july 23 SALEM. tf

E. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - Salem.

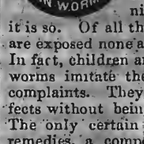
T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

Mothers—Take Heed!



GIVE no more poison to your children. Do you ever think when observing the uneasy actions of your children, that the only cause of the little sufferer's illness is worms? In nineteen cases out of twenty it is so. Of all the diseases to which children are exposed none are so fatal to them as worms. In fact, children are seldom free from them, as worms imitate the symptoms of many other complaints. They often produce alarming effects without being suspected as the cause.—The only certain cure—one of nature's own remedies, a compound of nothing but Roots and Herbs—is

Mrs. Osborne's Universal Worm Powders.

They will eradicate all worms from the system, if the directions are strictly adhered to. No more filthy vermifuge will be used by those who have once used these Powders. The active principle in all other vermifuges, Worm Killers, Syrups and Medicated Lozenges, is Mercury, as any physician will tell you. Many dealers will recommend inferior preparations, to themselves. Be sure and obtain only Mrs. Osborne's Worm Powders. Price 25 cts. per box. Sold by D. P. GROSVENOR, Main st. South Danvers. June 17, 1863. 3m

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

BALMORAL SKIRTS---AT BARGAINS.

3-Threaded Blue Yarn, nice quality;
Blue Socks for the Soldiers' wear;
—At Reduced Prices.—
nov 25 ANN R BRAY, 76 Federal at

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.

He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.

He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.

All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUCHS
GUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.

BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

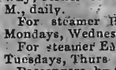
Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.

Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3



FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Newport Railway, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.

For steamer BAY STATE. Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Passengers by this route can take the 4.10 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in New York one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.

Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.

☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and State-rooms secured at the O. C. & Newport R. R. Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent,
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, November 16, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office.)
City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863

R. C. MANNING & CO.
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem
EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers,	7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem,	10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.

Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.

Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,

Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block

Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.

☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.

Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.

Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

TIMOTHY TITCOMB'S

NEW BOOK, Letters to the Joneses; Peculiar, a Tale of the Great Transition, by Epes Sargent; Good Society, or Contrasts of Character, by Mrs Gray, by
nov 25 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

TWENTY-ONE NEW BOOKS

HAVE gone into our Circulating Library within ten days. There is no other way so easy and so cheap for getting reading matter. Subscriptions begin at any time
nov 25 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ROUGH PAPERS,

FOR Letters and Notes—the fashionable style. Envelopes to match. Look at them.
nov 11 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street, at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and State-rooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.

WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprung up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious ascent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the languor caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy; it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of alteration it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health. will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder, Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee it to [illegible] functions. S[illegible] Consumption, &c. The fearful effects of [illegible] are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, [illegible] of ideas, depression of spirits, evil [illegible] aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, [illegible] among the evils produced. Such persons, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Ham's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country with directions for use, on receiving description of cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Pills, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail, or $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION

TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, 7 and 9 Endicott street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, Falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression or Irregularity of menstrual derangements, are all treated on strictly pathological principles, and a speedy relief given in a very few days. So invariably certain is the mode of treatment, that most obstinate cases soon yield under it, and the afflicted person soon restored to perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who wish to stay in Boston a few days under treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his attention to an office practice, for the cure of Chronic Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

IN ALL CASES, OR NO CHARGES

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 a m to 9 p m, as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unremitting attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stand higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon will do well to give him a call. P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the French Secret, which will be sent by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.
April 15, 1863—1y.

TABLE CUTLERY.

A Full assortment of Knives and Forks, Carvers, Mincing and Bread Knives, just opened at
nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32

WINTER ARRANGE
TO LYNN & BOST
BY OMNIBUS & HORSE
W. F. BURNHAM

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lynn Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, vers. passing down Main Street, through Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays included.

Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock, and 4 50 P. M.

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West L A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving the office at 14 Br at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will mee buses at Lynn, at the above named hou passengers to South Danvers.

Tickets to Lynn, - - 1
Through to Boston, - - 3

Gravesend, Woodend, and Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in additi route, an Omnibus will leave South Lynn, to connect with the steam and times daily,—Sundays excepted,—runn Gravesend and Woodend, to the Central and Horse Railroad Station, corner of Broad Streets; leaving South Danvers at necting with the 7.25 steam cars for Bos (connecting with the 11.10 train), and 4 P ing with the 4.50 train); and returning, from the Spring Street Station and Cen pot, at 8 A M, and 1 and 6 P M.

Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by ho " " " " stea

Through Tickets to and from Boston m the Drivers and Conductors.

South Danvers, Salem an Route.

THE subscriber having purchased of ley the Omnibus line running fro Lynn, would announce that it will no Stage Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, Sou for Salem, at 7 30 A M, and 2 30 P M, an Stage Office in Central St, Salem, at 8 3 30 P M for Lynn. Returning will leave A M and 5 P M; and Salem for South Da A M, and 6.15 P M.

Passengers between South Danvers and be called for by leaving orders at the offi Passengers called for at reasonable cha is given at the office.

EXPRESS BUSINES

Between South Danvers and Lynn prom ed to, on reasonable terms.

Extra Coaches furnished at short notice

W. F. BUR
South Danvers, Oct 28, 1863

CROUT & MUNRO
SOUTH DANVERS & B
RAILROAD EXPRE

Express leaves South Danvers at
Freight " " at
Express leaves Boston at
Freight " " at
OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPO
Danvers Square.

Express Office in Boston, 3 Washing
Freight Office, 43 Kilby S

Particular attention paid to reme niture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts

Smallest favors thankfully received.

South Danvers, August 26—tf

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS &
EXPRESS.

Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A M
" SALEM at 1 P. M.

OFFICES

In Danvers—At E B Waite's and the Post Danversport—Richards' and A W Warren In So. Danvers—Francis Dane & Co's, an street.

In Salem—No 7 Washington street, 199 E 17 Derby Square.

All business promptly and faithfully at ☞ Our patrons are particularly re write their orders.

☞ Packages, left at the office, should "Marshall's Express."

☞ Being connected with the RAIL are enabled to forward Notes, Drafts a collection, and small packages, to all point in the United States, at the usu

P. G. MA
dec1-3-tf

WEBBER'S
South

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1863. NO. 5

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
ublished every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Build-South Danvers Square.
ERMS—Two Dollars a year.
VERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

H. L. HADLEY,
LOCAL EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are consideantions worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not kdow." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that "Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular [illegible] in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fevers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic, and diseases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For inflammation of the Loins and Dropsical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS.—Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits. Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a sing'e Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Moacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

Slected Poetry.

THE EAGLE AND THE SERPENT.

We have nowhere seen a happier allegorical illustration of the struggle between Government and the rebellion, than is found in the following stanzas from Shelly's "Revolt of Islam." Divinely inspired prophecy itself could not draw the picture with a bolder hand, nor with greater fidelity, so far as the scene has been unfolded. No loyal man can doubt the final result of the conflict, and will realize to the full the poet's vision.

* * * * * * *

For in the air do I behold indeed
An Eagle and a serpent wreathed in fight;
And now, relaxing its impetuous flight
Before the aerial rock on which I stood,
The Eagle, hovering, wheeled to left and right,
And hung with lingering wings o'er the flood,
And startled with its yells the wild air solitude.

A shaft of light upon its wings descended,
And every golden feather gleamed therein—
Feather and scale inextricably blended.
The Serpent's mailed and many-colored skin
Shone through the plumes; its coils were twined within
By many a swollen and knotted fold, and high
And fair, the neck receding lithe and thin,
Sustained a crested head, which warily
Shifted and glanced before the Eagle's steadfast eye.

Around, around, in ceaseless circles wheeling
With clang of wings and scream, the eagle sailed
Incessantly—sometimes on high concealing
Its lessening orbs, sometimes as if it failed,
Drooped through the air; and still it shrieked and wailed,
And casting back its eager head, with beak
And talon unremittingly assailed
The wreathed Serpent, who did ever seek
Upon his enemy's heart a mortal wound to wreak.

What life, what power, was kindled and arose
Within the sphere of that appalling fray!
For, from the encounter of those wond'rous foes,
[illegible]
Hung gathered; in the void air, far away,
Floated the shattered plumes; bright scales did leap Where'er the Eagle's talons make their way,
Like sparks into the darkness; as they sweep,
Blood stains the snowy foam of the tumultuous deep.

Swift chances in that combat—many a check,
And many a change, a dark and wild turmoil,
Sometimes the Snake around the enemy's neck,
Locked in stiff rings his adamantine coil,
Until the Eagle, faint with pain and toil,
Remitted his strong flight, and near the sea
Languidly fluttered, hopeless so to foil
His adversary, who then reared on high
His red and burning crest, radiant with victory.

Then on the white edge of the bursting surge,
Where they had sunk together, would the Snake
Relax his suffocating grasp, and scourge
The wind with his wild writhings; for to break
That chain of torment, the vast bird would shake
The strength of his unconquerable wings
As in despair, and with his sinewy neck
Dissolve in sudden shock those linked rings
Then soar—as swift as smoke from a volcano springs.

Wile baffled wile, and strength encountered strength,
Thus long, but unprevailing:—the event
Of that portentous fight appeared at length,
Until the lamp of day was almost spent
It had endured, when lifeless, stark, and rent,
Hung high that mighty Serpent; and at last
Fell to the sea, while o'er the continent,
With clang of wings and scream the Eagle past,
Heavily borne away on the exhausted blast.

And with it fled the tempest, so that ocean
And earth and sky shone through the atmosphere.
Only it was strange to see the red commotion
Of waves like mountains o'er the sinking sphere
Of sunset sweep, and their fierce roar to hear.
Amid the calm, down the steep path I wound
To the sea-shore—the evening was most clear
And beautiful, and there the sea I found
Calm as a cradled child in dreamless slumber bound.

Selected.

THE WYNYARD GHOST STORY.

No modern ghost-story has been more talked of in England than one in which the seers were two military officers named Sherbroke and Wynyard. The men occupied conspicuous places in society, and were universally known as persons of honor, as well as good cool sense; the reality of their vision was attested by a remarkable circumstance which afterwards took place; and every effort of their own or on the part of others to give an "explanation" has been vain.

John Copo Sherbroke and George Wynyard appear in the army list of 1785, the one as a captain, the other as a lieutenent in the 33d Regiment—a corps which, some years after, had the honor to be commanded by the Hon. Arthur Wellesley, subsequently Duke of Wellington. The regiment was then on service in Canada, and Sherbroke and Wynyard, being of congenial tastes, had become friends. It was their custom to spend in study much of the time their brother officers devoted to idle pleasures. According to a narration resting on the best authority now attainable, "they were one afternoon sitting in Wynyard's apartment. It was perfectly light, the hour was about four o'clock; they had dined but neither of them had drunk wine, and they had retired from the mess to continue together the occupations of the morning. It ought to have been said, that the apartment in which they were had two doors in it, the one opening into a passage, and the other leading into Wynyard's bedroom. There was no other means of entering into the sitting-room but from the passage, and no other egress from the bedroom but through the sitting-room; so that any person passing into the bedroom must have remained there, unless he returned by the way he entered. This point is of consequence to the story.

"As these two young officers were pursuing their studies, Sherbroke, whose eye happened accidentally to glance from the volume before him towards the door that opened to the passage, observed a tall youth of about twenty years of age, whose appearance was that of extreme emaciation, standing beside it. Struck with the presence of a perfect stranger, he immediately turned to his friend, who was sitting near him, and directed his attention to the guest who had thus strangely broken in upon their studies. As soon as Wynyard's eyes were turned towards the mysterious visitor, his countenance became suddenly agitated. 'I have heard,' says Sir John Sherbroke, [illegible] never saw a living face assume the appearance of a corpse, except Wynyard's at that moment.'

[illegible] before them—for Wynyard, who seemed to apprehend the import of the appearance, was deprived of the faculty of speech, and Sherbroke, perceiving the agitation of his friend, felt no inclination to address it—as they looked silently upon the figure, it proceeded slowly into the adjoining apartment, and, in the act of passing them, cast its eyes with an expression of affection on young Wynyard. The oppression of this extraordinary presence was no sooner removed, than Wynyard, seizing his friend by the arm and drawing a deep breath, as if recovering from the suffocation of intense astonishment and emotion muttered in a low and almost inaudable tone of voice, 'Great God! my brother!' 'Your brother,' repeated Sherbroke, 'what can you mean, Wynyard? there must be some deception—follow me;' and immediately taking his friend by the arm, he preceded him into the bedroom, which as before stated, was connected with the sitting-room, and into which the strange visitor had evidently entered. It has already been said that from this chamber there was no possibility of withdrawing but by the way of the apartment, through which the figure had certainly passed, and as certainly never had returned. Imagine, then, the astonishment of the young officers, when, on finding themselves in the centre of the chamber, they perceived that the room was perfectly untenanted. Wynyard's mind had received an impression at the first moment of observing him, that the figure whom he had seen was the spirit of his brother. Sherbroke still persevered in strenuously believing that some delusion had been practiced.

"They took note of the day and hour in which the event had happened, but they resolved not to mention the occurrence in the regiment, and gradually they persuaded each other that they had been imposed upon by some artifice of their fellow-officers, though they could not account for the reason, suspect the author, nor conceive the means of its execution. They were content to imagine anything possible rather than admit the possibility of a supernatural appearance. But though they had attempted these stratagems of self delusion, Wynyard could not help expressing his solicitude with respect to the brother whose apparition he had seen, or imagined himself to have seen; and the anxiety which he exhibited for letters from England, and his frequent mention of his fears for his brother's health, at length awakened the curiosity of his comrades, and eventually betrayed him into a declaration of the circumstances which he had in vain determined to conceal. The story of the silent and unbidden visitor was no sooner bruited abroad than the destiny of Wynyard's brother became an object of universal and painful interest to the officers of the regiment; there were few who did not inquire for Wynyard's letters before they made any demand after their own—and the packets that arrived from England were welcomed with more than usual eagerness, for they brought not only remembrances from their friends at home, but promised to afford the clue to the mystery which had happened amongst themselves.

"By the first ships no intelligence relating to the story could have been received, for they had all departed from England previously to the appearance of the spirit. At length the long wished-for vessel arrived, all the officers had letters except Wynyard. They examined the several newspapers; but they contained no mention of any death, or of any other circumstance connected with his family that could account for the preternatural event. There was a solitary letter for Sherbroke still unopened. The officers had received their letters in the mess-room at the hour of supper. After Sherbroke had broken the seal of his last packet, and cast a glance on its contents, he beckoned his friend away from the company, and departed from the room. All were silent. The suspense of the interest was now at its climax; the impatience for the return of Sherbroke was inexpressible. They doubted not but that letter had contained the long-expected intelligence. After the interval of an hour, Sherbroke joined them. No one dared be guilty of so great a rudeness as to inquire the nature of his correspondence; but they waited in mute attention, expecting that he would himself touch upon the subject. His mind [illegible] pained, and bewildered, and oppressed him. He drew near to the fireplace, and leaning his hand on the mantle-piece, [illegible] some moments, said in a low voice to the person who was nearest to him, 'Wynyard's brother is no more! He had died on the day, and the very hour, on which the friends had seen his spirit pass so mysteriously through the apartment.'

"It might have been imagined that these events would have impressed the mind of Sherbroke with the conviction of their truth; but so strong was his prepossession against the existence, or even the possibility of any preternatural intercourse with the souls of the dead, that he still entertained a doubt of the report of his senses, supported as their testimony was by the coincidence of vision and events. Some years after, on his return to England, he was walking with two gentlemen in Piccadilly, when, on the opposite side of the way, he saw a person bearing the most striking resemblance to the figure which had been disclosed to Wynyard and himself. His companions were acquainted with the story, and he instantly directed their attention to the gentleman opposite as the individual who had contrived to enter and depart from Wynyard's apartment without their being conscious of the means. Full of this impression, he immediately went over to him and at once addressed the gentleman. He now fully expected to elucidate the mystery. He apologized for the interruption, but excused it by relating the occurrence which had induced him to the commission of this solecism in manners. The gentleman received him as a friend. He had never been out of the country, but was twin-brother of the youth whose spirit had been seen."

FUNERALS.

A correspondent of the "Portsmouth Journal" has expressed some truths which it may be as interesting and important for the people of South Danvers to consider, as for the people of the New Hampshire seaport. He says, "It is an undoubted fact, that many deaths may be traced to exposure at funerals. The solemn rite of interring the dead, should be so conducted as to be least injurious to the living. It is meet and proper to bury from the church, but the practice of placing the coffin beneath the pulpit, when frequently there is an offensive effluvia arising is not only annoying but deleterious to the minister, and to those who occupy the adjacent pews. The corpse placed in the porch, if in a condition to be seen, can be more easily looked upon by all who pass in; and if not in a condition to be seen, had certainly better be left there than borne through the church. Ministers, it is well known, are often out of health, and probably their sickness is sometimes occasioned by their frequent speaking over the dead, inhaling the deadly exhalation.

Another custom, often to be observed, is in the country, where the obsequies are held in a private dwelling, and many stand out of doors while the services are being held within, or the procession is being formed without, perhaps in a cold wind, in early spring, or late in autumn, perhaps doing so after they have been sitting up to watch with the sick or dead, when their systems are better prepared to receive the sickness which this exposure induces. Another custom is that of having a close packed room with the dead in the center, and the services occupying an hour, after a long waiting.

Not one jot or tittle should be omitted in the funeral rites of the dead which can afford consolation to relatives and friends, or give instruction to those who may be left, to lead them to emulate the virtues of the departed, but there seems to be some other improvements of the customs in regard to funerals, needed, as important as dispensing with the glass of old times and the tolling of bells in later days."

A correspondent in the Beverly Citizen adds: "Would that the barbarous and heathenish custom of tolling the bells were indeed WITH US among the things that WERE! Many voices plead for the discontinuance of this custom which sadly affects the mourner, and often injures the sick within hearing, without effecting any corresponding good. If there are any sound arguments in its favor, I would like to know them, but, till, convinced to the contrary, must declare the funeral knell a nuisance, and hope we shall soon dispense with it."

[illegible] Josh, was brought before a country squire for stealing a pig, and three witnesses, being examined, swore they saw him do it. A wag having volunteered as counsel for Josh, knowing the scope of the squire's brain, arose and addressed him as follows:—"May it please your honor, I can establish this man's honesty beyond a shadow of doubt, for I have twelve witnesses ready to swear that they did not see him steal it." The squire rested his head for a few moments on his hand, as if in deep thought, and with great dignity arose, and brushing back his hair, said:—"If there be twelve who did not see him do it, and only three who did, I discharge the prisoner."

☞ At Dromelihy, Ireland, recently, while digging for potatoes, the laborers found a coffer of silver coin, and in digging for more they found a leaden coffin about nine feet long that contained the bones of what had been an Irish giant. The thigh measured two feet eleven inches, and the cranium was half an inch thick, showing how admirably heads were adapted to meet contingencies in the formation of an Irishman in the olden time: no shillaly could get through such a skull as that.

☞ A wicked young man in London lately sold a lady two birds with beautiful blue tails. He said the birds were brought from Africa. The tails dropped off in a few days, having been stuck on with sealing wax, and the birds proved to be common green linches. The young man was arrested.

EARTHLY AND HEAVENLY INTEREST.

Ben Adam had a golden coin one day,
Which he put out at interest with a Jew;
Year after year, awaiting him, it lay,
Until the double coin two pieces grew,
And these two four—so on, till people said,
"How rich Ben Adam is!" and bowed the servile head.

Ben Selim had a golden coin that day,
Which to a stranger asking alms he gave,
Who went rejoicing on his unknown way—
Ben Selim died, too poor to own a grave;
But when his soul reached heaven, angels with pride
Showed him the wealth to which his coin had multiplied.

GENERAL HOOKER.

In the late grand and successful battle at Chattanooga, General Hooker gave to the country a new evidence of his marvellous military skill and power. When this gallant and patriotic officer assumed command of the Army of the Potomac, we were sure, that, with fair opportunities, he would organize victory over the enemy and give hope to the people who are watching for the hour when peace shall have been forced by the hard fighting qualities of our armies. General Hooker had not been long in command, before he made the cavalry arm of great importance, and as soon as he fairly grasped the reins and had been favored with suitable weather, he attempted to execute the best conceived plan of campaign that this war has witnessed. His cavalry corps was first trained for expeditionary service, by occasional operations near headquarters; and when all was ready, he launched upon his grand attempt to overwhelm the rebel army by a bold plan of strategy supported by a magnificent display of force.

Gen. Stoneman, although highly successful in his part of the plan, was a little slow for his impetuous commander, and this, added to the unfortunate and disastrous flight of the eleventh corps made the battle of Chancellorsville half a defeat. But it was not because General Hooker had not demonstrated his preeminent fitness to command a large army that this was regarded by all fair minded men as a partial failure. Not many generals could have brought an army safely across a wide and deep river, plunging and sweeping with its reinforcement of water which a three days' storm had furnished as an obstacle to the success of the campaign. An opposing army with a leader of half the power and skill of Hooker would have annihilated ours under circumstances so favorable as were then and there present. But Gen. Hooker, not hearing from Stoneman as he expected, and being away from his base of supplies, having started with but five days rations to a man, and these in the haversacks, would not so far imperil his army as to trust longer to the chances of his cavalry enterprise. In the absence of intelligence from Stoneman he considered a retreat to the north bank of the Rappahannock the next best thing, and [illegible] back, and there defied Lee to open an attack for weeks. All that transpired about this time is familiar to our readers, and need not be referred to in detail.

Gen. Lee after waiting for a month or longer, finally attempted his invasion of Pennsylvania. As he marched up the valley of Virginia, Hooker kept side by side with him, protecting Washington and waiting for his day of reckoning with the great hero of the Southern Confederacy. The partial disaster at Chancellorsville had aroused the genius of Hooker, and the lying attacks made upon his capacity and character, by those who dreaded the march of a loyal general, made him terribly in earnest. Becoming convinced that Hooker could not be out-generalled, or induced by trickery to uncover Washington, Lee resolved to make a bold dash across the Potomac. When it became certain that the main body of the rebel army had crossed that river, then, and not before, Hooker crossed his army and at once commenced his grand campaign in opposition to the rebel scheme. Arriving in the vicinity of Lee's army, he first ordered the evacuation of Harper's Ferry for the purpose of having the force stationed there to use in a battle that was to crush the rebel forces of Virginia in one grand effort. Meantime he organized his plan for the fight. His order concerning Harper's Ferry was contermanded by General Halleck. Hooker was disheartened and resigned his command. He recommended Meade as his successor, who was appointed. He received from Hooker his plans, and, with the evacuation of Harper's Ferry included, was man enough to receive his honors gracefully and to fight the battle o[illegible] tysburg within two days as Hook[illegible] determined to execute that great w[illegible]

In his speech at Gettysburg, E[illegible] Everett, all honor to him, gave to H[illegible] the credit of this victory. To [illegible] justly belongs, and so history wi[illegible] clare. But history might have had [illegible] to record in honor of Gen. Hooker [illegible] had retained command. For wi[illegible] dash and skill he would have pursu[illegible] beaten and dispirited rebel army [illegible] every man had been killed or cap[illegible] No recrossing of the Potomac wou[illegible] Hooker have suffered the rebels to ac[illegible] after he had beaten them as the[illegible] beaten at Gettysburg. But he [illegible] there, and Gen. Meade was not ye[illegible] ter of his new responsibilities. [illegible] is a brave and accomplished s[illegible] Hooker is a military genius, and [illegible] the difference appears

But we cannot occupy more sp[illegible] recounting the glories achieved by [illegible] Hooker in this war. All that [illegible] while a corps commander in the A[illegible] the Potomac is historical. He was [illegible] defeated. And what he has just d[illegible] the Southwest, will add new hon[illegible] his illustrious name. Vain is the at[illegible] to degrade such a hero by vile sla[illegible] He will outlive them all, and be t[illegible] loved recipient of a nation's gra[illegible] when his revilers will have proved [illegible] selves enemies to the country i[illegible] darkest hours of trial.—Cape Ann

TURKISH PROVERBS.—A little [illegible] can make a great bruise. In [illegible] drawn by oxen you may catch a h[illegible] A foolish friend does more harm t[illegible] wise enemy. It is not by saying h[illegible] honey! that sweets come to the m[illegible] He who expects a friend without [illegible] will never find one. He sells a cr[illegible] a nightingale. A man deceives a[illegible] but once. It is difficult to take s[illegible] by the ears. You can't carry two r[illegible] under one arm. To live quietl[illegible] should be blind, deaf and dumb [illegible] that you give will carry with you. [illegible] fool has his heart on his tongue, th[illegible] man keeps his tongue in his heart. [illegible] wine and handsome women are two [illegible] able poisons. Every event which [illegible] a tear is accompanied by another [illegible] produces a smile. An egg to-day [illegible] ter than a hen to-morrow. Do go[illegible] throw it into the sea—if the fishe[illegible] know it, God will. He who fea[illegible] does not fear man. If your enemy [illegible] bigger than a pismire, fancy him a[illegible] as an elephant. A wife causes the[illegible] perity or the ruin of a house. H[illegible] knows everything is often decei[illegible] More is learned by conversation t[illegible] reading. A friend is more valuabl[illegible] a relative. There are more invisibl[illegible] visible things. He who rides a bo[illegible] horse does not ride often.—Lit. Co

RECEIPE.—Josh Billings, in the [illegible]sian, gives the following "resipee [illegible] making "Berlony sarsage:" "T[illegible] cel-skin and stuff it with a grou[illegible] seain it with scoch snuff and pe[illegible] he, fry it on to a nog pen to d[illegible] then hang it up by the tail in a g[illegible] for eight months for the flies to [illegible] the traid marks. Then it is re[illegible] yes, can be cut into rite lengths a[illegible] for police klubs."

☞ The New York Sunday [illegible] protests mildly against ladies [illegible] wooden hoops, which some have [illegible] for economy's sake. It says: [illegible] member of the gentley gender mus[illegible] a sixteen-banded armadillo of [illegible] let her orbicular surroundings be [illegible] something that will give. Beaut[illegible] barrel is objectionable. Hickory-

☞ One who has evidently [illegible] says: "To reduce the temperatu[illegible] dining room, bring a friend home [illegible] some afternoon when your wife [illegible] to "fix early" to go to the opera [illegible] coolness with which yourself and [illegible] will be received will give a refrig[illegible] tone to the whole house. The rec[illegible] warranted to cure.

☞ The rebel stand at Dalton [illegible] lieved not to be a permanent on[illegible] cannot be considered a good de[illegible] position. In truth the Richmond [illegible] of the 30th have doubts if Bra[illegible] make any stand in Georgia [illegible] Thomas's army, after having been [illegible] from Missionary Ridge.

☞ Jenny June says—"Th[illegible] friendly impulse towards men or [illegible] prompts us to ask them to eat or[illegible] and undoubtedly the habit of [illegible] together constitutes one of the [illegible] among the pleasant associations [illegible] bind a family together."

The Gelizard.

WEDNESDAY, DEC'R 16, 1863.

☞ There will be a WAR MEETING in Town Hall this evening. Let there be a grand rally.

RESTRAINTS ARE VALUABLE.

Sir Isaac Newton, on being asked how he had discovered the true system of the universe, replied, "By continually thinking upon it" In other words, he gave his attention to it, and occupied his thoughts about it. Now, every young man who is about to take upon his shoulders the heavy responsibility of this life, with a desire to steer in that course which shall not only lead to fame, honor, etc., but to a decidedly useful life—a life which shall bring happiness and the promotion of good in those with whom he is associated—must have some fixedness of purpose, some point in view, some end to accomplish, and in this way he toles the mind along, step by step, holding fast each truth which wisdom may develop. The mind which once was narrow, contracted and impure, will then become renovated and enlarged, so as to yearn after those truths which it once cared not to possess; and it matters not what may be the nature of the young man's pursuits, whether mechanical, mercantile, or professional, he will need the same unchanging restraint. They may be restraints fixed there by one's own self, or they may be restraints pressed there by the mother, as had John Q. Adams, Kant, the German philosopher, and many others. Restraints of some kind are requisite, if their efforts are crowned with success. Such restraints will bear upon our hearts, just when and as we need them; useful as a landmark, for we can see just how fair and how fast we are falling into the depth of degradation; or if need be, acting as a guardian, restraining us from our natural inclinations, if evil they are, and well qualifying us to rise in the scale of elevation and usefulness. We need just such restraints for our country's good, town's good, our neighbor's good, and our own personal good.

REV. MR. WHEELER.—We clip the following from the Mirror, published in Manchester, N, H., as it contains an allusion to a reverend gentleman recently of this place, who is greatly respected and beloved by all who are favored with his acquaintance. The good wishes of our people outside as well as within his late parish will attend him wherever he may go:

The Unitarian Society, Locust Street, are without a pastor, Rev. E. M. Wheelock, resigning and accepting the Chaplaincy of the 15th N. H. Regiment, and since then commissioned a Superintendent of Freedmen at New Orleans, with a rank of Major. Rev. Mr. WHEELER, of Cambridge, formerly of South Danvers, Mass., is prominently named in connection with the pastorate. He is a man of fine talents, European travel, pulpit experience, and a most excellent pastor.

☞ There has been a good deal of discussion lately, in various newspapers and magazines, about "reconstruction," or under what condition the rebel States shall again take their places in the Union. All this sort of talk appears to be slightly premature—"in point of fact," as cousin Feenix would say, very like counting our chickens before they are hatched. On the whole, perhaps it would be as well, and look as well, to wait till the rebellion is "crushed" a little finer before these matters are considered.

☞ The Sanitary Commission, opened at Boston Music Hall on Monday last, at six o'clock in the afternoon, by a grand Organ Concert and exhibition of the articles on the tables. Through this week the Fair will open at 11 o'clock A. M., and close at 10 P. M. Tickets, for 25 cents, may be obtained at the ticket office, and at Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, 134 Washington street. A table has been assigned to our South Danvers ladies.

☞ The Charleston people affect to be very jovial about the dropping of Gen. Gilmore's shells in their streets. Their ghastly merriment reminds one very strongly of the unhappy Sampson Brass drinking, with horrible grimaces and with tears of agony, his friend Quilp's red hot rum, and affecting to relish the same. See Old Curiosity Shop, Chap. 62.

☞ The Emperor of Russia has transmitted his commands to his subjects now visiting this country, to eat and drink as much as they possibly can of the good things given them by our people, in order to lay on a good stock of fat against their own frozen region. These are very humane orders indeed for a despotic sovereign to issue.

☞ It is asserted that the National Loyal Union Leagues of the North now number between eight hundred thousand and one million voters. These Leagues are of a secret character and it is understood that President Lincoln is a member.

☞ Illinois has over seventy-five regiments under the immediate command of Gen. Grant.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

We take it for granted, owing to the large number of Boston papers circulated here, that the President's Message has before this been read by all who feel a sufficient interest in the document, and we shall therefore omit the publication of the Message in full, and only present a few comments upon the most important points. The statements concerning our foreign relations are presented in plain and concise terms, and have no special interest beyond recording the gratifying fact that we are in no immediate danger of new complications from abroad. The main matter of interest centres in the proclamation of amnesty, which is characteristic in tone and generous in detail. As we read it we understand the President to favor the return to the Union, with full constitutional powers, of all or any of the revolted States, when one-tenth of the voting population is ready to renew their allegiance to the United States. This proposal is, however, based upon the presumption that the Proclamation of Emancipation is a finality, unless overruled by a decision of the Supreme Court. This broad and eminently constitutional ground can be maintained without violation of the original compact, and we think must be received by conservative men as evidence of the careful consideration of the Chief Magistrate for all the safe-guards of constitutional government.

The President, by this plan, adjusts questions likely to distract Congressional or popular opinion regarding a just and proper solution of the great work of reconstruction or re-union. The policy of obliterating State lines was always extremely awkward to contemplate, and would be a hazardous experiment to attempt. The time will come, and we hope speedily, when the people will be called upon to uphold the Government in the efforts to be made for the restoration of the authority over the Southern States. The shortest road to success in this line, will be the wisest to adopt and the easiest to travel over. We have no doubt that the President's plan meets the point, and in arriving at his conclusions he has doubtless had the ablest counsel that the country affords As a whole we believe in the policy foreshadowed, and hope for a full and ample realization of the best results from its promulgation.

☞ The official vote of this State has been declared by the Governor and Council, from which it appears that John A. Andrew received 70,483; Henry W. Paine, 29,207; all others, 77. Andrew's plurality, 41,276!

In Councillor District No. 2, Eben S. Poor has 9666; Wm. Nutting, Jr, 3400; all others, 261. Poor's plurality, 6,266.

In Senatorial District No. 2, Israel W. Andrews has 2062; H. O. Wiley, 571; all others, 6. Andrews plurality, 1491.

In the vote for Register of Probate and Insolvency, Abner C. Goodell, Jr., lost 782 votes by having the "Jr." omitted, either by the carelessness of Town Clerks in rendering the returns, or by those who had the votes printed.

☞ By Longstreet's failure to repossess East Tennessee, the rebellion is now restricted to the belt that follows the line of the Atlantic from Richmond to Mobile, shut up between the mountains and the sea, flanked on the one hand by the Alleghany and Cumberland Mountains, that bristle with Northern bayonets, and on the other by the ocean, that teems with Northern gunboats. Its present terrritory is represented by the three points of Richmond, Charleston and Mobile. Such FRED M. GALE, formerly of this town, has re-enlisted in Barre, Vermont, under the new call. Mr. Gale, when the nine months' troops were called for, was the very first man to go forward in Barre to enroll his name in the 13th Vermont,—which so distinguished itself at the battle of Gettysburg. He has now added new honors to his name.

☞ The Nashville Union says Conservatism is copperheadism in its Sunday clothes; the devil with his hoofs in his boots and his tail tucked in his breeches; indifferent whisky labelled "extract of Sarsaparilla;" Mrs. Potiphar painted for a street promenade to entrap the verdant. It is as bad an ism as the rheumatism.

☞ Recruiting in this town is progressing, although not so fast as some of the neighboring towns. We have now 20 towards our quota of 59. Danvers has raised her 59; Newburyport has obtained nearly half, and Salem about fifty.

☞ Two women were publicly hung at Talladega, Alabama, on the 13th ult., for refusing to divulge the hiding places of their husbands, who had fled at the approach of the conscripting officers.

☞ Capt. Fred A. Lull, 2d Heavy Artillery, has been detailed as Acting Adjutant for Lieut. Col. Hodges, Superintendent of Recruiting for Essex county. He reports his company as nearly full.

☞ Vicksburg is now held, in great part, by colored soldiers.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

The Secretary of War reports that the successes of our arms during the last year enable him to make a reduction of over two hundred millions of dollars in the war estimates for the ensuing year. Our flag is firmly planted in every State. We hold at this time forty thousand prisoners, against thirteen thousand of ours held by the rebels; and Davis demands that we shall give up all we hold in exchange for the few he has. The enrollment act has produced fifty thousand soldiers and ten millions of dollars; the Secretary calls the attention of Congress to the three hundred dollar exemption clause; testifies, on the authority of commanding generals, that the drafted men make good soldiers; and adds that it is now probable that the force still required to be raised will be got by volunteering. Twenty thousand officers and men are in the Invalid Corps. Over fifty thousand colored men are soldiers in the Union ranks; they have fought bravely, and Congress is recommended to give them the same pay and bounty as other soldiers receive.

During the past year the army has been supplied with 1577 field, siege and seacoast cannon; with carriages, caissons and other implements; 1,082,841 muskets and rifles for foot soldiers; 282,389 carbines and pistols for mounted troops; 1,295,600 cannon balls and shells; 48,719,862 pound of lead and lead bullets; 1,435,046 cartridges for artillery; 250,022,216 cartridges for small arms; 347,276,470 percussion caps; 3,925,369 friction primers; 5,764,768 pounds gunpowder; 919,676 sets of accoutrements for men; 94,679 sets of accoutrements for cavalry horses, and 3281 sets of artillery harness, each set for two horses. These articles cost the nation $42,343,630.21. The Secretary remarks that our manufacturers excel those of Europe so much in arms and ammunition, that our soldiers "are no longer willing to use those which have been imported."

Also, he adds, "the efforts made during the year to extend and improve the manufacture of arms and munitions have resulted in discoveries of great importance to the country, in peace as well as war. Among the arts thus improved is the manufacture of wrought iron, now rivalling the qualities of iron of Sweeden, Norway and England. This country, until the present year, has depended upon those countries for material to make gun barrels, barrel bits, car-wheel tires, and other articles requiring iron of fine quality. Iron of our own production is now superior to that obtained abroad." Thus is even war not without its benefits to a free country.

The seabord and border fortifications have been improved during the year; a competent officer has been sent to the lakes, to report on necessary measures to guard our northern coast from rebel plots. The army has been paid up to the first of November; thirteen and a-half per cent of our troops are in hospitals, of whom eleven per cent are sick and two and a-half per cent wounded. The Surgeon General reports one hundred and eighty-two hospitals with a capacity of 84,472 beds. The military telegraph corps has constructed during the year 1,755 miles of telegraph line, and during the war 5,329 miles; and over these wires twelve hundred thousand messages were sent during the year ending June 30th, 1863. This is at the rate of about three thousand three hundred messages every day.

NEW HORSE CARS.—The managers of our Horse Railroad have placed on the track two beautiful and commodious horse cars, similar, but much nicer to Nos. 12 and 13. We can assure the managers that they give the utmost satisfaction to the travelling public, and praises for them are on every lip. These cars were built in New York city. Three more cars similar to them are nearly completed, and will soon be on the road.

☞ Lieut. Moses Shackley, late of the 19th Mass. Regt., has received some very flattering testimonials in regard to his character and soldierly conduct from his brother officers,—from the Colonel down,—of the 19th Regiment, and also from the officers of the brigade in which he served.

☞ We are sorry to record the loss of the gallant Weehawken,—the conqueror of the rebel pet "Atlanta." She went down in the recent gale off Charleston, taking with her two score of her brave defenders. Efforts will be made to raise her.

☞ The influence of Horse Railroads on the business of a town, is visible in Salem, though their roads are not yet complete. A writer in the Gazette says, "Our trade begins to feel it; and there is hardly a storekeeper on Essex street that has not been benefited."

☞ There is great fright among the contractors in Washington, at the summary punishment of one of their number.

☞ The Great Eastern has run her owners $150,000 in debt. She is a great humbug.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12, 1863.

Washington is now alive—Congress is in session—the hotels and boarding houses are full and running over—old residents have rented their houses at some exorbitant prices and moved to Baltimore, while Congress is here, where they can live much cheaper, besides making room for those that are obliged to live in this city. The hotels have decided to charge four dollars per day, and find plenty of custom.

Colfax is elected Speaker on first ballot; like Banks he is a representative man, having made himself what he is. Born in New York in 1823, is therefore 40 years of age. He has already served faithfully his constituents ten years in Congress. Bred a printer, with no education but that acquired in the common schools and the better experience in a newspaper office, is now editor of a paper in Indiana. Fine manners, a clear ringing voice, cool and quick appreciation of the question under debate, the House and country may be congratulated upon his unanimous election.

Mr. Lincoln has been quite unwell but is now convalescent and about his business; there has been all sort of stories as regards the nature of the disease with which he has been suffering. Some say the report of it being varioloid was circulated so as to keep callers away from the house, so he might have time to attend to the pressing duties, which always devolve upon the President at this time! His youngest son "Fred," has been sick with the scarlatnia, and possibly that can account for his indisposition. The Russian visitors have been shown a great deal of attention since they have been here. They visited the Forts across the Potomac in company with Seward and other officials, a few days ago, and a grand review was had. Last evening they attended the theatre with Seward, Lord Lyons, and other dignitaries, and the building was very elaborately decorated with the flags of Russia, England, and our own star spangled banner. The performance was the Ravel troup, and they all seemed to enjoy the entertainment. Their vessels are now opposite Alexandria and crowds visit them daily. To-day Congress visits them by special invitation, The Message has been read before Congress and there seems to be but one opinion among loyal persons in regard to it; even the National Intelligencer has quite a flattering editorial on it!

At a meeting held at the Union League rooms a few nights ago, among the persons who addressed the meeting, was a brother of John Brown, who stated that four years after he witnessed the execution of his brother in Virginia, he saw the crowning section of the Statue of Freedom raised to its place on the dome of the Capitol. If this coincidence did not enter into the calculations of the architect, it is certainly an interesting one—more anon.

S. K.

PIRACY ON THE HIGH SEAS.—The steamer Chesapeake, Capt. Willett, from New York to Portland, was seized on Sunday night of last week by a band of sixteen outlaws, who had come on board as passengers. Some resistance was offered and the Second Engineer was shot dead. The Captain was put in irons. The First Engineer was kept on board, but the crew and passengers were put into a boat and landed at St. Johns, N. B., on Wednesday morning. Two six-pounders were captured with the Chesapeake, and a large freight. The steamer and cargo were worth $180,000.

The scheme for seizing this vessel was concocted and carried out by disreputable men of St. Johns, N. B., who had confederates in New York. Several armed vessels are in pursuit of her, including the steam frigate Niagara.

This is the boldest piece of piracy that has occurred during the war. The Alabama is called a pirate ship. Technicall she may not be so, since she has papers from the sham government of Richmond, though never within a Southern port. But this is a different case. No authority could be given for the seizure of this vessel, the murdering, wounding and kidnapping that has taken place. Capt. Willett was fired upon nine times but not hit, and was then put in irons. The Second Engineer was killed in attempting to throw hot water upon the BATTLE ABOVE THE CLOUDS.—Gen. Meigs, in his lively account of the three days' conflict [illegible] tions the notable fact that in Gen. Hooker's fight up the slopes of Lookout Mountain, "much of the battle was fought above the clouds, which concealed him from our view, but from which his musketry was heard." There is on record at least one parallel to this in the campaign of Napoleon in the Carnic Alps, in 1797. The battle of the Col de Tarvis, March 22, 1797, was fought above the clouds—the artillery thundering in the very laboratory of storms and arsenal of electric batteries—while the cavalry performed their evolutions and charged on the ice, and the infantry floundered to the attack through snow three feet thick.

FROM THE 17TH REGIMENT.—A correspondent says that the patriotism among the three years soldiers now in the field has not died out, but in that regiment, men are re-enlisting every day, not less than twenty having been sworn in on the 2d of December. He thinks that two thirds of the 17th will re-enlist. It is expected, if such should be the case, that they will be sent North to recruit to the maximum; and the furloughs granted, the bounties offered, and the prospect of remaining North some time for recruiting, will be great inducements to them.

☞ A lady clad in the deepest mourning is a constant attendant of funerals in Philadelphia, where her grief touches the hearts, and her fingers the pockets, of the mourning assembly.

☞ The following is an extract of a letter from one of our townsmen of the 48th New York Regiment:

SEABROOK LANDING, S. C., December 1st, 1863.

DEAR FRIEND,—Old Winter is now upon us, and we expect lively times continually. There is no peace for the soldier. On our scout two weeks ago, we had some narrow escapes, losing three men, but killing and taking prisoners about 14 men. The affair took place on the main land, across from Pinckney Island, on a sort of neutral ground, filled with orange trees. We could have shelled it with gunboats. We took twenty men and one lieutenant with us—I acting in about the same capacity with the latter. Our object was to get some cattle which we did. We also captured six prisoners from secesh. It was a sort of running fight, dodging behind trees and knolls, and sometimes firing from the ground. I had a shot through my cap, slightly grazing my neck; another through my pants, and a small piece of howitzer shell took the heel nearly off of my shoe tearing up the earth from under me. But we shot down the rascals; and as I was getting over a fence I jumped almost on a rebel, who lay concealed in a thicket. He immediately surrendered, and we have him. He said he took deliberate aim at me twice, but I seemed always to be on the move.

Well, we don't like these things much, but such is war; and we have to kill and capture, or else get worsted ourselves. It is a good thing to fight for the old flag, and I am going to stand by it till the last. C. G.

☞ Jeff. Davis's message to Congress is a dolorous tale. It is important in one respect, for it tells the people of the South that their cause is desperate, that he has no hope of aid from France or Great Britain, and suggests that neutral ships may be captured by the Confederate cruisers. He owns up that grave reverses have befel the rebel arms—which is considerable for a rebel to do; says that the "strongholds at Vicksburg and Port Hudson, together with their entire garrisons, capitulated to the combined land and naval forces of the enemy." He Braggs about the "great and brilliant victory at Chickamauga" over Rosecrans; but this drop of comfort is taken from him by his being obliged to own up that his pet general was driven from his entrenchments before Chattanooga. He closes his message by saying:—"The enemy refuses proposals for the only peace possible between us; the only hope for peace is now in the vigor of our resistance." He agrees with George W. Curtis, that the way to peace is by more vigorous war.

☞ The New York Herald says, truthfully: "In holding Knoxville against the superior army of Longstreet, until relieved by reinforcements from below, Gen. Burnside has done that good service to the national cause which may be classed with the most important victories of the war. He has fully redeemed his failure at Fredericksburg, as Hooker, in his brilliant battle 'above the clouds,' has redeemed his failure at Chancellorsville.—If, in their failures, they lost thousands of men to no purpose, in their successes they have saved thousands of men who otherwise would have been sacrificed.—Honor to whom honor is due.

☞ The enrollment list has been posted in town, and persons who know they are physically exempt, if they find their names upon them, can report themselves to the Examining Board at Salem on or before the 20th inst: In the meanwhile those who are able-bodied and wish to avail themselves of the liberal bounties offered had better enlist at once, for if they are drafted they will have to go into the army without any bounty.

☞ Abijah Jenkins, who for a long time was a broker in Boston, is now a Brigadier General in the rebel army under [illegible] politician, and was under great suspicion of receiving stolen goods, and other sharp practice. The Salem Advocate (now deceased,) displayed for a long while a portrait of this Jenkins in their advertising columns.

☞ Government, says the Cape Ann Light, has at last got a boat that can sail. She was built at Portsmouth, and is called the Sassacus. The rebels have had too many sassy cusses running the blockade, and we are glad Uncle Sam has finally obtained a vessel which will catch some of them. The new gunboat is said to make seventeen miles an hour.

☞ We are told that in the battle of Gettysburg there were more killed and wounded than in the battle of Waterloo. In the latter, the losses were about 20,000 on each side, while at Gettysburg, the Union loss in killed and wounded was 16,000; and the rebel loss from the same causes 26,500.

☞ At Gettysburg, on the first three days of July, the regulars, out of 2044 men, lost 1000—by far the heaviest loss, proportionately, suffered by any body of men on that field.

☞ The commerce of the world requires 6,000,000 able bodied men to be constantly travelling the sea; of this number, 7,500 die every year.

☞ The surplus of the Russian ball fund will be devoted to the purchase of coal for the New York poor—about a thousand tons.

FAIR AND CHRISTMAS TREE.—Our readers will notice the advertisement of a Fair and Christmas Tree by the Ladies of Lafayette St. M. E. Church in Salem. The object of this Fair is to relieve the Society of an Embarrassing floating debt. The articles to be offered for sale will be suitable for Christmas presents for all ages, and will be sold at reasonable prices. The Christmas Tree will be a fine affair and well worth the price of admission. The Horse Cars will run to accommodate. A friend has offered an elegant Family Bible to the gentleman who brings the largest number of Ladies to the Fair. The antiquarian bill of fair will be well appreciated—and the Fair will without a doubt be successful.

☞ On the 12th of October, the bodies of six men were found hanging side by side in the woods, near Talladoga, Alabama, at which place there is a large conscript camp. It is supposed these men were hanged for resistance to conscription.

☞ There was a youth to whom a fairy showed three paths that would lead him home. In the first lay a pile of gold, in the second stood a beautiful maiden, in the third there was a lion. The youth said, "The gold may bribe me, the beautiful maiden may bewitch me, but the lion I can kill. I choose the path of the lion."

☞ There is no country in the world where labor is so well paid as in the United States at the present time.

☞ Lately the papers have ceased to discuss the question of whether Gen. Mead's being born in Spain would render him ineligible to the Presidency.

☞ An ancient horn, said to be the gift of King Alfred, is still blown every night at Ripen, England, at the hour of nine. The maintenance of the city charter depends upon keeping up this ancient custom.

☞ Gen. Meade's losses in the recent advance South of the Rapidan foot up 1350.

☞ C. T. Southwick is selling the best St. Louis Family Flour, at wholesale prices. This Flour comes direct from the manufacturers, is new, and of superior quality. Please give it a trial. HOUSE OF EQUITY, Dec. 16, 1863.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.—This is the last week of Maggi Mitchell's engagement at the Boston Theatre. It has been one continued success—a just tribute to merit.

At the Howard, Miss Charlotte Thompson appears as "Clisby the Deserted," a piece in which she excels.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS—191 Essex street.

Fair and Christmas Tree.

The Ladies of the Lafayette street M. E. Church will hold a FAIR and CHRISTMAS TREE, at MECHANIC HALL,

The Night before Christmas,

—ALSO—

Christmas Day and Evening, Dec. 25, 1863.

☞ Admission 15 cents.

The object of this Fair is to pay off the floating debt of the church.

The Entertainment will comprise a "Christmas Tree;" a great variety of Useful and Fancy Articles, suitable for Chistmas Presents; Refreshments in the Antiquarian Style.

☞ An elegant FAMILY BIBLE (the offer of a gentleman for this purpose) will be presented to the gentleman bringing the largest number of ladies.

Salem, Dec. 16, 1863.

ESSEX INSTITUTE.

The Fourth Lecture will be on THURSDAY EVENING, Dec. 17, by Prof. PEIRCE, of Cambridge, at Lyceum Hall, commencing at 7½ o'clock.

H. WHEATLAND, Secretary.

Salem, Dec 16

Marriages.

In this town, Dec. 9th, by Rev Mr Barrows, Mr. Charles A Nevers and Miss Harriet J

In Salem, Dec. 1st, Mr David Phippen of Vermont, to Miss Julia Casey of Salem; 5th, Mr Thomas Heeney, 2d Mass Cavalry, to Miss Bridget Riley; 9th, Mr James G Wilkins to Miss Caroline E Norwood.

Deaths.

In Danvers, Dec 10, Catharine E, daughter of Thomas and Ann Gorman, 3 yrs 8 mos.

In Salem, Dec 7, Mrs Ellen, wife of Capt John C Petry, 38 yrs; 8th, Ellen, 4 yrs 1 mo 10 days, and Jeremiah, 2 yrs 3 mos 28 days, children of William and Abby Kellaher; Nellia P, infant daughter of Charles F and Ellen A Robbins, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; 9th, James, son of Patrick and Margaret Dolan, 6 yrs; Mrs Mary Jane, wife of Mr Thomas Goodwin, 43 yrs 10 mos; William, son of the late Mr William Landergan 3 mos 20 days; 10th, Christopher, son of Peter and Mary M'Cabe, 7 yrs 5 mos 8 days; 11th, Mrs Sarah, widow of the late Isaac S Bullock, 82 yrs; 12th, Benjamin Cox Esq, 84 yrs 3 mos 4 days; 13th, Mr Nathaniel Snow, 75 years 6 months 24 days; Miss Emily E Welteh, daughter of the late Mr Jos W Welteh of Cambridge, 29 yrs 6 mos; 14th, Mr John Creamer, 24 years; Mary Frances, daughter of John and Elizabeth Driscoll, 3 weeks.

In Marblehead, Dec 10th, Mr John Prentiss, 70 years 9 mos—eldest son of the late Henry Prentiss Esq.

Advertisements.

Standing Yellow and White Oak Wood.

ON THURSDAY next, Dec. 17, at 9 o'clock A. M., (if very stormy, sale on FRIDAY, if pleasant; if not, the next day:)

WILL BE SOLD by public auction, at the lot known as Bald Rock, containing 18 acres, situated on the westerly side of Brown's Pond, South Danvers, entrance at the pond, near the Lynn line, on old Boston road,

A valuable lot of WHITE AND YELLOW OAK WOOD, in lots varying from three to ten cords or more. Terms will be made known at the sale. THOMAS TRASK, Auc.

Horse Railroad Notice

On and after T
Dec. 15, the ca
Salem and Sou
vers Railroad Co. will run through fro
Danvers to Beverly,

Leaving South Danvers at 7.00 A.
every half hour until 10.30 A. M., 10.30 A. M. till 10.30 P. M., every minutes.

Leaving Beverly at 7.00 A. M., a half hour until 11.30 A. M.; and fr
A. M. till 10.30 P. M., every twenty

M. H. HALL
dec 16 Sup't. S. & S. D. R.

Commonwealth of Massach

ESSEX, SS. To the Heirs-at-Law a interested in the Estate of LYDI late of South Danvers, in said Count deceased, testate: GREETING:

WHEREAS, JOSEPH MOORE, t tor of the will and testament of ceased has presented for allowance th count of his administration upon the said deceased: You are hereby cited at a Probate Court to be holden at said County, on the first Tuesday in next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon cause, if any you have, why the same s be allowed. And the said executor is serve this Citation by publishing the a week, in the South Danvers Wizard paper printed at South Danvers, thr successively, the last publication to be at least before said Tuesday.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esqui of said Court, this eleventh day of in the year eighteen hundred and sixt

A. C. GOODELL, R
December 16—3w.

Messenger's Notice.

ESSEX, SS. December 11th

A WARRANT has been duly i
Hon. GEORGE F. CHOATE, Judg
Court of Insolvency for said county against the estate of

BENJAMIN H. PALMER, of D in said County, gentleman, an insolve and the payment of any debts, or the of any property belonging to said debtor, to him or for his use, and the t any property by him, are forbidden b

The first meeting of the creditors o solvent debtor will be held at the Cou solvency, at the Court House at Sale county, on the 28th day of Decembe at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debt choice of an assignee or aseignees.

CHARLES H. ADAMS, Dep.
December 16—2w

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office
Danvers, Dec. 15, 1863. [Perso for these letters will please say they tised.]

Nettie C. Brown,	John Manio
Nathaniel Cross,	James O'Ca
Harriet Curtis,	Otis Putnar
Anne Crehan, 2	James O. P
Nathaniel Flint,	Maria S. Pa
Dennis Donovan,	E. W. Powe
E. A. Decatur,	John Stanle
Susey Donovan,	Daniel Swe
Sarah Deland,	Sebut F. T
Caroline B. Hackett,	Susan B. W
Mary E. Hammond,	Sarah Wils
Luther T. Moses,

N. B. These letters are subject ditional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY

COME IN OUT OF THE

Recruiting Office for Artille
fantry and Cavalry.

The subscriber having been appoin cruiting Officer for

SOUTH DANVER
has opened an office in
WARREN BANK BUIL
Where all interested in filling the South Danvers are invited to c

Capt. R. S. DANIELS
South Danvers, Dec. 9th, 1863.

Commonwealth of Massach

ESSEX ss. PROBAT
To the Heirs-at-Law, Next of Kin other persons interested in the estate
LY VERY, late of South Danver county, widow, deceased: Greeting;

WHEREAS, a certain instrument
ing to be the last will and tes said deceased has been presented to s for Probate, by HARRIET VERY, w that letters of administration with th nexed, may be issued to her, the named in said will having declined the trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at Court, to be held at Salem, in said
Essex, on the first Tuesday of Janu at nine o'clock before noon, to show any you have, against the same.

And said Harriet Very is hereby d give public notice thereof, by publi citation once a week, for three weeks, in the newspaper called t
Danvers Wizard, printed at So. Da last publication to be said Witness, George F. Choate, Esqui of said Court, this second day of Dec the year one thousand eight hundred three. A. C. GOODELL, R
December 9, 1863.

SELLING O

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOO

For a few days previous to taking of stock, at

REDUCED PRICES

GEORGE P. DANI
No. 238 Essex Street
Nearly opposite Horse Railroad C
Salem, Dec 9—tf

L. MERRILL & SON
DEALERS IN
DRUGS, MEDICIN
Fancy and Toilet A
Perfumery, Stationery, Cutle
VILLAGE BANK BUILDIN
DANVERS, MASS.
Particular attention paid to Physic scriptions.
LEVI M
W. S. M
Danvers, Dec 2—6m

HOUSEKEEPERS, ATTENT

JACKSON'S
KITCHEN FURNISHING H
Under MECHANIC HALL,

Parties about commencing Hous
will find this the only place in Salem complete assortment of House-keepin can be found. De

Now is the time to buy your Crockery.—First quality of White Granite Ware, marked down and selling at 20 per cent less than cost, by C. T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 Lowell Street.

RALLY FOR THE OLD FLAG!

$1172 FOR VETERANS, and $1072 FOR RAW RECRUITS.

59 MEN WANTED

TO FILL THE QUOTA OF

SOUTH DANVERS,

To whom Bounties will be paid as follows:

To Veterans (those who have been at least nine months in the service and been honorably discharged for other cause than disability,) the Government bounty of 402 dollars each.

To all other recruits 302 dollars each.

In addition to the above, each recruit will receive from the State, as follows: 325 dollars down, or 50 dollars down and 20 dollars per month, as the soldier may elect, making in all 727 dollars for Veterans, and 627 dollars for raw recruits.

If the monthly pay offered by the State is received, the pay for three years will amount to 1172 dollars for Veterans, and 1072 for raw recruits.

In addition to the bounties of the Government, and State, will be the monthly pay of the Government of 13 dollars per month, amounting to 468 dollars, which will raise the whole amount received for three years served to the sum of

$1640 FOR VETERANS, AND $1540 FOR RAW RCRUITS.

☞ The families of Volunteers will be entitled by law to State Aid on the same terms as heretofore. ☜

All further information required in regard to recruiting, bounties, &c., may be obtained at the office.

JOSEPH POOR,
RECRUITING AGENT.
Office in Allen's Building, on the Square.
South Danvers, Nov 25, 1863.

KEROSENE LAMPS.

A FULL assortment of Kerosene Lamps, at S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

A pure and powerful Tonic, corrective and alterative of wonderful efficacy in disease of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Headache, Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Cramps and Spasms, and all Complaints of either Sex, arising from Bodily Weakness whether inherent in the system or produced by special causes.

Nothing that is not wholesome, genial and restorative in its nature enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant: but it is a combination of the Extracts of balmy herbs and plants with the purest and mildest [illegible] stimulants.

It is well to be forearmed against disease, and, so far as the human system can be protected by human means against maladies engendered by an unwholesome atmosphere, impure water and other external causes, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS may be relied on as a safeguard.

In districts infested with Fever and Ague, it has been found infallible as a preventive and irresistible as a remedy and thousands who resort to it under apprehension of an attack, escape the scourage; and thousands who neglect to avail themselves of its protective qualities in advance, are cured by a very brief course of this marvelous medicine. Fever and Ague patients, after being plied with quinine for months in vain, until fairly saturated with that dangerous alkaloid, are not unfrequently restored to health within a few days by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this agreeable Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dispepsia and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Looseness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is most conclusive, and from both sexes.

The agony of Bilious Colic is immediately assuaged by a single dose of the stimulant, and by occasionally resorting to it, the return of the complaint may be prevented.

As a General Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility and Decrepitude arising from Old Age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is The Only Safe Stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

No family medicine has been so universally, and, it may be truly added, deservedly popular with the intelligent portion of the community, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

Prepared by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Singer Manufacturing Co's
LETTER A SEWING MACHINE

For Family Use and Light Manufacturing Purposes, is on exhibition and for sale

AT ASHLAND HALL,
SOUTH DANVERS SQUARE,
— BY —
JOHN H. CHOATE,
Agent for the sale of
SEWING MACHINES,
Silk, Thread, Needles, Cottons, &c., &c.
— Also —
Paraffine Sewing Machine Oil,
The best oil for all kinds of light machinery.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

Men's Clothing.

In this department can be found the Latest Styles, the Best Goods, and the Largest Assortment in Essex County. We have our best Goods made to our order. Gentlemen in want of a

GOOD OVERCOAT,

or a good fitting suit of Clothes, are invited to call and examine and decide for themselves whether it is for their interest to get a suit made or buy at F. S. PECK'S and save money. 240 is the place.

Three Small Boys Lost!—Their father found them at 240, and fitted them to a good suit of Clothing. If your boys should be missing at any time, 240 is the place to find them or clothe them at low prices.

Boys' Clothing.

We have fitted up a large room expressly for Boys' Clothing, where can be found a large assortment of the latest styles Over-Coats, Under-Coats, Pants, Vests, Jackets and Suits. We have our best goods made to our order, and have pieces saved so that customers can have a small piece with the suits. 240 is the only store in Essex County where you can find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing. Call at 240 and decide whether the above is true. F. S. PECK,

We don't believe in letting the boys go to Boston to buy their Clothing, and pay more than the same goods are sold for at PECK'S, 240 Essex Street.

240

Two Boys run over.—A Lady and two Boys were seen to get out of the Horse Cras, and the Boys started and run right over into 240, and were fitted to a good suit of clothes at low prices. 240 is the place.

Furnishing Goods.

The Latest Styles in this department can be found and as large an assortment of as Good Goods as in any store in Salem. Men's and Boys' Under Shirts and Drawers, all sizes; Men's and Boys' [illegible] all sizes and prices, from 15c to $2 50; Braces 15 cts to $2 25; White and Fancy Shirts, Stocks, Ties, Collars, Bosoms. Also, a large assortment of Fancy Goods. You can save money by purchasing your Furnishing Goods at

F. S. PECK'S, 240.

☞ Visit the Boys' Clothing Department, at 240, if you wish to find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing, all prices.

Hats and Caps.

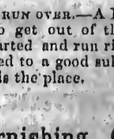
In this department can be found the Latest Styles and the best quality of Goods, which will be sold at a small profit.

We sell you a Coat or a pair of Pants or a suit of Clothes, and make a small profit, thus enabling us to afford to sell you a Hat or Cap low, and we are going to do it. That's What's the Matter.

☞ 240 is the place to buy Hats and Caps.

The public are respectfully invited to call and examine the assortment, and see if what we say is true.

F. S. PECK,
240 Essex street, Salem.



LOST.

TWO notes bearing even dollars and even dates signed as follows:

One payable to P. R. Basford and endorsed by Daniel Haskell, and the other payable to Daniel Haskell, and endorsed by P. R. Basford, have both been lost. The public are notified that neither have been used and the parties did nor do not owe each other one cent.

DANIEL HASKELL,
P. R. BASFORD.

John P. Peabody.

MILLINERY GOODS.

Bonnet Ribbons in great variety;
Trimming Ribbons in great variety;
Taffetta and Lustring Ribbons—all colors;
Artificial Flowers—pretty new styles,
Velvet Flowers—in new patterns—bargains;
Bonnet Ruches and Tabs—in all qualities;
Joined Blonde and Silk Laces for Bonnets;
Steel and Jet and plain Jet Pins and Buckles;
Illusion and Bobbinet Laces—all prices;
Black English Crapes and Silk Laces;
All at the very lowest prices, at
PEABODY'S, 220 Essex Street.

A nice Brown Ribbon—new shade	29 cts;
A nice Brown Ribbon—new shade	29 cts;
A nice Brown Ribbon—new shade	29 cts;
42 and 50 cent Flowers—only	35 cts;
34 and 38 cent Flowers—only	25 cts;
42 and 50 cent Ruches—only	35 cts;
34 and 42 cent Ruches—only	25 cts.

Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.
Bargains all through this department.

Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Sontags.
Hand Knit Zephyr Breakfast Shawls.
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Hoods.
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Caps;
Hand Knit Zephyr Worsted Mittens;
Patti Nubias—the finest clouds made;
Clouds—in all sizes—colors and prices;
Childrens Gaiters—Mittens—Sleeves—Tippets;
An Invoice of our Best Paris Kid Gloves;
Best Kid Gloves—Wrought Backs only $1.25.
Ladies, Misses & Childrens Gloves—full stock;
Ladies Woolen Hosiery—all sizes.
Ladies Merino Hosiery—all sizes.
Ladies Fleecy Lined Hosiery—all sizes;
Ladies Cotton and Wool Hose—Ribb'd, 25 cts.
Misses Hosiery—Woolen—Merino and Cotton.
Infant's Bootees—Socks—and Half Hose;
Ladies Merino Pants and Vests—bargains;
Infants Knit Shirts—fine and nice;
Hand Knit Scarfs and Tippets—new styles;
Sontags in all prices—from $1.00 up;
Hoods in all prices—from 75 cts to $1.75;
Knit Caps in all prices—from 75 cts to $1.25;
Breakfast Shawls—the best made—only $1.75.
Misses' Hoods—from 25 cts up to 1.00.
Clouds—the finest Patti Novelties—only $1.05.
White Checked Cambrics—all qualities;
Nainsook—Swiss and Book Muslins;
White Linens—Linen Lawns and Cambrics;
Wrought Setts—in all prices—from 75 cts up;
Wrought Collars—in all prices—from 25 cts up;
Wrought Waists and Robes—for Infants;
Wrought Edgings and Insertings—new styles;
Saxony—Smyrna & Cotton Edgings—all prices;
Real Laces, in Guipure—English Thread, &c;
Black Lace Veils—from 50 cts to $5 00;
Color'd Grenadine Veils—bargains;
Crape and Lace Veils—for mourning;
Mourning Hdkfs—in neat patterns;
Gent's Linen Hdkfs—Hem'd ready for use;
Gent's Linen Hdkfs—plain and fancy borders;
Gent's Cotton Hdkfs—in variety;
Ladies' Linen Hem Stitched Hdkfs—25 cts;
Hem Stitched Hdkfs—with border—35 cts;
Hdkfs—fine French Needle Work—all prices;
Children's Cotton Hdkfs—with col'd borders;
Ladies' Linen Hdkfs—col'd borders—pretty;
Best French Corsets—white and col'd;
Shapes—Corset Steels—Bones—Skirts, &c, &c;
Toilet Powders—Puffs—Combs—Brushes, &c;
Soaps—Pomades—Hair Oils—Powders, &c;
Rose, Brown Windsor, Honey & Glycerine Soaps
Yankee and Barber's Soaps—for shaving;
Rose Union Soap—two cakes for 5 cents;
Honey Soap—large cakes—only 5 cents;
Glycerine Amber Soap—only 3 cts;
Davis's Bar Soap—transparent—only 5 cts;
Large Bars—fine Soap—for families—12 cts;
Toilet Boxes—Powders, Puffs, Brushes, &c;
Hair Brushes—from 25 cts to $1 25;
Tooth Brushes—from 6 cts to 83 cts;
Leather Bags—from 75 cts to $5 00;
A good Leather Wallet—to close—at 12 cts;
Ladies' Rubber Pages—with hook—8 cts;
Elastic Braids—Cords—Clasps, &c, &c;
Crochet Cotton—Needles, &c, all sizes;
Sewing Silks—Twists, &c, Spools and Skeins;
Sewing Needles—our own importation;
Knitting and Tidy Needles—all kinds.

Brown Worsteds—22 cts;
Purple Worsteds—22 cts;
Blue Worsteds—22 cts;
Magenta Worsteds—22 cts;
Green Worsteds—22 cts;
Wine Color Worsteds—22 cts;
Pink Worsteds—22 cts;
Drab Worsteds—22 cts;
Maroon Worsteds—22 cts;
Slate Worsteds—22 cts;
Chinchilla Worsteds—22 cts;
Perdrix Worsteds—22 cts;
Mottled Worsteds—22 cts;
Black Worsteds—17 cts;
White Worsteds—17 cts;

The largest Stock of Worsteds in Salem;
The largest Stock of Worsteds in Salem;
The largest Stock of Worsteds in Salem;
Worsted Goods made to Order;
Worsted Goods made to Order;
Worsted Goods made to Order;

Hand Knit Skating Hats—very pretty, $1 25;
Very nice Worsted Hand made Hats—$1 25;
A nice Skating Hat—new styles—75 cts;
The best Breakfast Shawls made—only $1 75;
The best Hand made Sontags—only $1 75;
Nice Hand made Worsted Hoods—$1 25;
The largest and choicest stock of Worsted Goods ever shown in Salem, at prices that will defy competition.

ONE PRICE ONLY!

JOHN P. PEABODY.
220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

CLOAKS, DRESS GOODS, &c.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

We have now in Stock a great variety of LADIES' CLOAKS, made in the best manner from our own Cloths.

These garments arse in all Plush, Chinchilla and heavy Beavers, hand made,—and our prices for them are very low.

We are also making to order from measure a great many elegant Cloaks.

RICH DRESS GOODS.

We invite attention to our Stock of LADIES' DRESS GOODS. It is unusually complete in Thibets, Ottomans, Repps, Germania Cloths, Alpaccas, Plaids, M. De Laines, etc., etc.

We have a very large Stock of BEST AMERICAN PRINTS, (Merrimack and Pacific's, Manchester's, Dunnell's, etc. etc.,)—at Lowest Prices.

We would invite special attention to our Stock of Plain Black and Fancy DRESS SILKS.

We have elegant PLAIN COLORED SILKS, at a Bargain.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' CASHMERE MANTLES.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' UNDER-CLOTHING.

We have a splendid Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS—from $2.00 up.

We have a fine Stock of SHAWLS.

We have a fine Stock of Gent's SHIRT FRONTS, LINENS, WHITE GOODS, KID GLOVES, HOSIERY, etc.

We have a large Stock of COTTONS, white and colored FLANNELS, DIAPERS, QUILTS, HAND LOOM DAMASKS for TABLE COVERINGS, etc.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Nov. 25, 1863.

LADIES' FURNISHING GOODS.

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

NOW OPEN
— AT —
BROWNING & LONG'S,
A SPLENDID STOCK OF
NOVELTIES,
SUITABLE FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS.

The most beautiful Goods ever seen in Salem. ENTIRELY NEW STYLES.
The Ladies are most cordially invited to examine this fine display.

ALSO, JUST RECEIVED,

A full line of KID GLOVES, in all sizes, at

BROWNING & LONG'S,
Salem, December 9, 1863. 177 Essex St.

ZEPHYR WORSTEDS.

DENTAL NOTICE.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,
FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 Washington St., Salem.
Oct. 3—mo.

M. A. PORTER,

[illegible], - - - Salem, Mass.,
(Opposite Horse Railroad Office,)
MAKES TO ORDER BEST QUALITIES OF
WATCH SPRING SKIRTS.

A Good Assortment of Dress and Cloak Button, Braids, Spool Cotton, Small Wares, and Thread Store articles generally.

236 Essex Street, - - - Salem, Mass.,
M. A. PORTER.

MANUAL FENOLLOSA
TEACHER
OF THE
Violin, Piano and Singing,
Music Rooms, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

R. W. WILKINSON,

DEALER IN
Newspapers, Periodicals, and Stationery of every Description.

FOREIGN and DOMESTIC FRUITS, consisting of Oranges, Lemons, Dates, Figs, Prunes, &c., &c.

Sauces, Pickles and Preserves; Castana, Naples and English Walnuts; Hard, Soft and Paper-shelled Almonds; choice brands of Tobacco and Cigars; also a general assortment of Confectionery of every description.

Also a large and well selected stock of Toys, suitable for children and the Holiday Gifts.

Ice Cream furnished to parties at short notice and in quantities to suit. Wedding Cake and every variety of nice cake furnished to parties or families.

STORE—WARREN BANK BUILDING.
South Danvers, Nov'r 11, 1863.

M. FENOLLOSA,
TEACHER OF MUSIC,
LETS.....PIANO FORTES, at the lowest rates;
SELLS.....PIANO FORTES, at the Manufacturers Prices;
EXCHANGES....PIANO FORTES, on the easiest terms;
At Rooms No. 7 Central street,
feb 11 SALEM, MASS.

ON HAND!

A LARGE LOT
— OF —
READY TRIMMED BONNETS,
Which will be sold at
REDUCED PRICES,
— AT —
KEITH & CO'S.,
No. 2 WEST BLOCK,
ESSEX STREET,
One door West of J. F. Almy & Co's.
Salem, Dec. 16, 1863. tf

PIANO FORTES.

I HAVE those splendid Extra-Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Manner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melodeons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every particular.

S. MACKINTIRE, General Agent.
No. 218 Essex Street, Salem,
Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

SILVER PLATED CASTERS.

SILVER Plated Forks and Knifes, Ladles and Butter Knives—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'S, 32 Front St.
Dec. 16.

BRITANNIA.

TEA and Coffee Pots of the best quality—at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'S,
Dec. 16 32 Front street.

HANGING LAMPS.

KEROSENE Hanging Lamps for sale by
S C & E A SIMONDS.

THE NEW JUVENILES.

DAYS and Nights on the Battle Field;
The Farmer Boy;
Dick Onslow; and a fine and rare stock of English Juveniles, at dec 9 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

George S. Walker.

Gloves

IN EVERY SEASONABLE MATERIAL. The Largest Assortment in the City, at the Lowest Prices—by
GEORGE S. WALKER,
Gent's Furnishing Store,
No. 228 Essex st, Stearns Building.

ALL WOOL SHIRTS & DRAWERS White and Mixed, Common and Extra Sizes; UNDERGARMENTS and HOSIERY in every seasonable material, selling at the Very Lowest Prices, at
GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
228 Essex street, Stearns' Block.

Gentlemen's Underwear.

POSITIVELY the Largest Assortment to be found in the County—at the Lowest Prices at GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Dealer in Gent's Furnishing Goods & Toilet Articles, opposite Eastern Railroad Station.

A. J. Archer & Co

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

A. J. ARCHER & CO,
WILL OPEN THIS MORNING
A LARGE STOCK OF
CLOAKS AND SACKS.
Price from $7 to $25 00.
Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.

Blacks and Colors
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES.
Which we are prepared to make into garments per order, in the very best manner, and at
LOWEST PRICES.
A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Nov 4

Hoop Skirts at Cost.

WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost. A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,

— BY —
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of
CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. Q. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

OVERCOATS, &C.

AT COLMAN'S,
NO. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

I WILL sell all OVERCOATS on hand at the actual cost (to close), at prices from $3.50 to $15.00. Business Coats, Pants and Vests, at small advance. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Balmoral Boots, with Rubber Soles, at the lowest prices.

Men's, Boy's and Women's leather Boots and Shoes; Best Table Cutlery; Plated Table and Tea Spoons; Plated Forks;—500 dozen Brown Windsor Soap at 40 cents per dozen; Painted Carpeting, Umbrellas, Clocks, Looking Glasses, Trunks, Bags, Work Boxes, Stove Polish, Blacking, &c. Furnishing Goods—50 dozen Buck and other Gloves; 20 doz Mittens, Leather and Woolen, (cheaper than can be had at any other place.)

20 Dozen Under Shirts and Drawers; Boy's and Men's Comforters; Hats and Caps; Window Curtains; Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Picture and Bell Cord, &c, &c.

Is a dollar worth saving? If so, call at COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front St., Salem, as he is determined to sell.

Dec 2—6w R O BC

GEORGE TAPLEY,
(DANVERS),
AGENT FOR THE
John Hancock Life Insurance Co.
Office, 41 State Street, Boston.

KEROSENE LANTERNS

WITHOUT chimneys, for sale at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

RUBBER SOLED SHOES

GENERAL Depot, No. 10 Front Street, Salem
dec 2—3m O and

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, J
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broke
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufactu
Stock bought and sold on Commission.

M. E. CRANE,
168 ESSEX STREET.

WOULD call the attention of her custo and friends to her Stock of FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GOO
comprising all desirable styles.
Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French F ers and Laces;
Straw Goods of all descriptions.
Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, l styles; Ladies Dress Caps; and all articles usually found in such a S at the lowest prices for cash.
Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Colla
&c., constantly on hand.
M. E. CRANE,
Successor to M M Fletche
Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

TEETH ON VULCANITE

DR. J. H. BATCHELDE
DENTAL SURGEON
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern R road Depot), Salem, Mass.,
Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teet HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from a experience confidently recommends them Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpas other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth much cheaper and better, being about half the p of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very smal pense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth gulated—all with such care and gentleness as t nearly painless,
Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGEN
NEW YORK.
This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly thorized by us to manufacture the PATENT V CANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.
The public are cautioned against employing I tists who have no license to manufacture such Pl and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made infringers, are equally liable for damages with maker or vender.
AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. Franklin, General Age

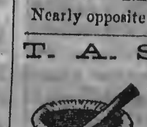
D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecar
33 MAIN STREET.
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, I Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.
Personal attention to Physicians' Presc tions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861.

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 MAIN ST. 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danver

T. A. SWEETSER



Druggist & Apotheca
37 Main St., So. Danvers
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemica Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoul der Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicin
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfume Toilet Articles and Stationery.
Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by perienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

A Card.

NUMEROUS applications having been mad for a Course of FIRST CLASS CON CERTS in this City, the managers of the Sa lem Temperance League take pleasure i announcing that arrangements have been made for a course of THREE CONCERTS, provided sufficient encourage ment shall be given.
The Concerts to be of the same character as that given recently under the auspices of the League.
Subscription papers at $1 00 for the Course may be found at the Counters of Messrs George Creamer, Henry P. Ives, Whipple & Smith, and D. B. Brooks & Brother, Salem; B. F. Stevens, South Danvers.
Salem, November 18, 1863.

DR. E. F. KITTREDGE,
From Lowell, formerly of New Ipswich, N. H., Has removed his office and residence to
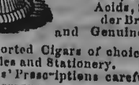
NO. 42 MAIN STREET,
SOUTH DANVERS, MASS.
Dr. K., from an extensive and successful profes sional experience of upwards of twenty years, feels justified in saying that he can treat diseases to the satisfaction of his patients, and to the credit of him self.
Office hours from 7 to 9 A. M., and from 6 to 9 P. M.
South Danvers, Nov 13, 1863.

NEW STORE!

Flour! Flour!



JUST RECEIVED, a fresh supply of choice brands, direct from the Mills, for sale, wholesale and retail, at LOWEST PRICES, by
E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

Assignee's Notice.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Essex ss. Before Hon. George F. Choate, Judge of Probate and Insolvency in and for said county: The subscriber has been duly appointed assignee of the estate of
BENJAMIN C. OSBORNE of So. Danvers, in said county, tanner and currier, an insolvent debtor:
The second meeting of the creditors of said insolvent debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency, at Salem, in said county, on the twenty-eighth day of December current, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.
EBEN S. POOR, Assignee.
December 9, 1863. 3w

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.

WARREN DANFORTH, U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,
FOR Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.
FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.
South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

DR. J. M. GROSVENOR,
Respectfully announces to the citizens of South Danvers that he has located himself in said town; his office may be found in
TRASK'S BUILDING,
ON MAIN STREET.
Residence No. 66 Main Street, next house below the Peabody Institute.
South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.

OVERCOATS, &C.

AT COLMAN'S,
NO. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

I WILL sell all OVERCOATS on hand at the actual cost (to close), at prices from $3.50 to $15.00. Business Coats, Pants and Vests, at small advance. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Balmoral Boots, with Rubber Soles, at the lowest prices.

Men's, Boy's and Women's leather Boots and Shoes; Best Table Cutlery; Plated Table and Tea Spoons; Plated Forks;—500 dozen Brown Windsor Soap at 40 cents per dozen; Painted Carpeting, Umbrellas, Clocks, Looking Glasses, Trunks, Bags, Work Boxes, Stove Polish, Blacking, &c. Furnishing Goods—50 dozen Buck and other Gloves; 20 doz Mittens, Leather and Woolen, (cheaper than can be had at any other place.)

20 Dozen Under Shirts and Drawers; Boy's and Men's Comforters; Hats and Caps; Window Curtains; Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Picture and Bell Cord, &c, &c.

Is a dollar worth saving? If so, call at COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front St., Salem, as he is determined to sell.

Dec 2—6w R O BC

Spritial Notices.

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS.—WARRANTED IN ALL Cases.—Can be relied on! Never fail to cure! Do not vacillate! Are steady in action! No change of diet required! Do not interfere with business pursuits! Can be used without detection! Upward of 200 cures the past month—some of them very severe cases! Over one hundred physicians have used them in their practice, and all speak well of their efficacy, and approve of their composition, which is entirely vegetable and harmless on the system. Hundreds of certificates can be shown.

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS are the original and only genuine Specific Pill. They are adapted for male and female, old or young, and the only reliable remedy for effecting a permanent and speedy cure in all cases of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, with all its train of evils, such as Urethral and Vaginal Discharges, Gleet, the Whites, Nightly or Involuntary Emissions, Incontinence, Genital Debility and Irritability, Impotence, Weakness or Loss of Power, Nervous Debility, &c., &c., all of which arise principally from Sexual Excesses or Self-Abuse, or some constitutional derangement, and incapacitates the sufferer from fulfilling the duties of married life. In all sexual diseases, as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, and Strictures, and in Diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, they act as a charm! Relief is experienced by taking a single box. Sold by all the principal druggists. Price $1.

They will be sent by mail, securely sealed, and confidentially, on receipt of the money, by

J. BRYAN, M. D.,
No. 76 Cedar street, New York,
Consulting Physician for the treatment of Seminal, Urinary, Sexual, and Nervous Diseases, who will send, free to all, the following valuable work, in sealed envelope:

THE FIFTEETH THOUSAND.—DR. BELL'S TREATISE on Self-Abuse, Premature Decay, Impotence and Loss of Power, Sexual Diseases, Seminal Weakness, Nightly Emissions, Genital Debility, &c., &c., a pamphlet of 64 pages, containing important advice to the afflicted, and which should be read by every sufferer, as the means of cure in the severest stages is plainly set forth. Two stamps required to pay postage.
December 9, 1863—1 yr.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. HARVEY'S FEMALE PILLS have never yet failed in removing difficulties arising from obstruction, or stoppage of nature, or in restoring the system to perfect health when suffering from pinal ffection, Prolapsus, Uteri, the Whites, or other weakness of the Uterine Organs. The Pills are perfectly harmless on the constitution, and may be taken by the most delicate female without causing distress—the same time they act like a charm by strengthening, invigorating and restoring the system to a healthy condition, and by bringing on the monthly period with regularity, no matter from what causes the obstruction may arise. They should, however, NOT be taken during the first three or four months of pregnancy, though safe at any other time, as miscarriage would be the result.

Each box contain. 60 Pills. Price $1.

DR. HARVEY'S TREATISE on Diseases of Females, Pregnancy, Miscarriage, Barrenness, Sterility, Reproduction, and Abuses of Nature, and emphatically the Ladies' Private Medical Adviser, a pamphlet of 64 pages, sent free to any address. Six cents required to pay postage.

The Pills and book will be sent by mail when desired, securely sealed, and prepaid, by

J. BRYAN, M. D., General Agent,
No. 76 Cedar street, New York.

☞ Sold by all the principal druggists
December 9, 1863—1 yr.

[COMMUNICATED.]

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh,
Kings County,
Sept. 23—4m. New York.

New Jersey Lands for Sale,

—ALSO—

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER No. 5 [illegible]

MANHOOD;
HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

[illegible] Published [illegible]
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequence of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586
Sept 16—1yr

Salem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

ALL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be stopped, in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 5.

Per order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

Horse Railroad Notice.

SALEM FOR SOUTH DANVERS.

ON and after date, until further notice, cars will leave Webb Street Station for South Danvers from 6 o'clock am, to 1.20 pm, every 20 minutes. From 1.20 to 9 o'clock PM, every 15 minutes, and at 9.30 and 10 o'clock pm.

SOUTH DANVERS FOR SALEM.

From 6.30 am to 2.10 pm, every 20 minutes; from 2.10 to 9.40 pm, every 15 minutes, and at 10.11 and 10.30 pm, passing down Essex to Webb street, and up Bridge, Winter, Brown and Newbury streets.

M. H. HALE, Sup't.
Salem, Sept 23, 1863.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Advertisements.

HELMBOLD'S
GENUINE PREPARATIONS.

COMPOUND FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, a Positive and Specific Remedy for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel and Dropsical Swellings.

This Medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous deposition, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

—:o:—

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

For Weaknesses arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion of Abuse, attended with the following symptoms:—

Indisposition to Exertion,	Loss of Power,
Loss of Memory,	Difficulty of Breathing,
Weak Nerves,	Trembling,
Horror of Disease,	Wakefulness,
Dimness of Vision,	Pain in the Back,
Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System,
Hot Hands,	Flushing of the Body,
Dryness of the Skin,	Eruptions on the Face,
Pallid Countenance.

These symptoms if allowed to go on, which this medicine invariably removes, soon follow

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,

In one of which the patient may expire.

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "Direful Diseases."

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION."

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, BUT NONE WILL CONFESS THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS.

And Melancholy Deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the Truth of the assertion.

The Constitution once effected with Organic Weakness requires the aid of Medicine to Strengthen and Invigorate the system.

Which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A Trial will convince the most skeptical.

—:o:—

FEMALES—FEMALES—FEMALES.

In many Affections peculiar to Females the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated Scirrhous state of the Uterus, Leuchorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or Habits of Dissipation, or in the DECLINE OR CHANGE OF LIFE.

—:o:—

Take no more Balsam, Mercury, or nauseous Medicines for nuplea ant and dangerous diseases.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH CURES

SECRET DISEASES

In all their Stages.	At little Expense.
Little or no change in Diet.	No inconvenience.
And no Exposure.

It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby Removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous, Diseased and worn out Matter.

Thousands upon Thousands who have been the Victims of Quacks, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "POISON" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in an aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

—:o:—

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE or FEMALE, from whatever cause originating and no matter of HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these Organs requires the aid of a DIURETIC. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU IS THE GREAT DIURETIC, and is certain to have the desired effect in all Diseases for which it is Recommended.

Evidence of the most reliable and responsible character will accompany the medicine.

Price $1.00 per bottle, or six for $5.00.

Delivered to any Address, securely packed from observation

Describe Symptoms in all Communications.

Cures Guaranteed! Advice Gratis!!

Address letters for information to

H. B. HELMBOLD, Chemist,
104 South Tenth-st., bel. Chestnut, Phila.

HELMBOLD'S Medical Depot.
HELMBOLD'S Drug & Chemical Warehouse.
594 Broadway, New York.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS AND UNPRINCIPLED DEALERS who endeavor to dispose "of their own" and "other" articles on the reputation attained by

Helmbold's Genuine Preparations.
" " " Extract Buchu.
" " " Sarsaparilla.
" " " Improved Rose Wash.

SOLD BY

ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S. TAKE NO OTHER.

Cut out the Advertisement and send for it.

AND AVOID IMPOSITION AND EXPOSURE.

December 16, 1863.—1 yr.

ATTRACTIVE

AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF

New Fall and Winter

CLOTHING,

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS

IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of

Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

[illegible] OVERCOATS.
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics'
WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

CEO. H. LANE,

31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,

BOSTON.

Oct 21, 1863. 2m

HEYLINGBERG'S

Hair Dressing Saloon,

24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	8 cts,
Hair Cutting,	15 cts,
Shampooing,	15 cts.

Particular attention paid to dying hair and whiskers, in one preparation, without washing or scrubbing.

New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.

South Danvers, Nov. 25, 1862.

Cards.

WILLIAM G. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1863. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to.

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No. 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feh13 SALEM, MASS

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West Inula Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

H. L. HADLEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
Danvers.
Claims against the Government for Bounty, Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to.

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,
Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,
CIVIL AND MILITARY,
Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No. 5.
J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. McLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

Settees for Sale

NEW and Second-hand SETTEES for sale. Apply to C. T. SOUTHWICK,
Sept. 23. Equity Store.

[illegible] Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said [illegible] to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX.

THE session of Congress, commencing Dec. 1st, will probably be the most interesting session we have had since the war of 1812. It will contain a report of all the Debates of the session, revised by the speakers; the Messages of the President of the United States: the Reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments; the Laws passed during the session, and copious indexes to all. Published weekly or at short intervals, in Quarto form, the session making about 4000 pages. Price to subscribers $6 00 for the session, payable in advance, postage free.

G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH, 190 Essex St., are agents for the above, for Salem and vicinity. Also agents for the Daily Globe newspaper. Price $6 00 in advance. nov 18

IVORY HANDLE KNIVES,

DINNER and Desert Knives only by the dozen. Carving Knives and Forks and Steels, at
nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

BALMORAL SKIRTS---AT BARGAINS.

3-Threaded Blue Yarn, nice quality;
Blue Socks for the Soldiers' wear;
—At Reduced Prices.—
nov 25 ANN R BRAY, 76 Federal st

SILVER PLATED KNIVES,

IVORY handle Knives with Silver Plated Blades by the dozen. Also, Silver Plated Forks of the best quality at nov 25 S C & E A SYMONDS', 32 Front st.

OATS.

6700 BUSHELS Bright and Sweet Northern OATS—for sale by
nov 25 GAYLE & CO., Phillips Wharf.

ANN R. BRAY 76 Federal Street, Salem,—has received—
New Styles Cotton Wool Delaines—very neat styles—at very low prices.
We are selling out at Cost some of our best styles of DRESS GOODS.
We are selling out all our SPRING SKIRTS at Cost. nov 25

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.
Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
july 23 SALEM. tf

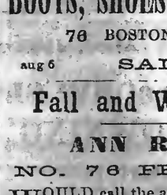
H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.
dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in


Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.
Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.
South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

PATTERSON S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.
may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED FIRST PREMIUM
FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES AND SIZES.
PRICES FROM $45 UPWARD.
18 Summer Street, Boston; 495 Broadway, New York.
Oct. 7.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.
POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

Cottons! Cottons! Cottons!

ANN R. BRAY, 76 Federal street.
We have a large stock of Shirtings; we have a full assortment of Bleached and Brown Shirtings; Blue and Red Twilled Flannels; White Flannels, soft finish; Socks; Blue, White and Drab yarns.
SELLING AT THE LOWEST PRICE.
oct 14

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central Street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.
He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.
He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.
All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.
BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.
ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT. Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Newport Railway, corner of South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M., daily.

For steamer BAY STATE, Capt. W. Brown, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. Brayton, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Passengers by this route can take the 4.10 P. M. Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.

Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.

☞ A hargage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & Newport R. R. Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, November 16, 1863.

THOMAS DAVIS,
NO. 15 CORNHILL, BOSTON,
(Over the Congregational Office,)
City and County Newspaper Agent,

Country Papers who desire an enterprising agent for their papers will please copy our card and forward their paper as above. Our monthly will be sent in exchange.
Boston, Sept 23, 1863.

R. C. MANNING & CO,
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, E. C. MANNING.
oct17

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem
EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers, and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

PINGREE'S JOB WAGON.

THE subscriber is still prepared to do all kinds of Job Work and Teaming, such as removing Furniture and Merchandize of any description about town or to and from the neighboring towns.

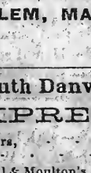
Orders will be received at the Essex Railroad Station, and at S. Flint's store, on the Square.

Thankful for past favors, he would solicit a continuance of the same. W. H. PINGREE.
South Danvers, 1860.

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block
Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype. Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water colors.
☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may



THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.
Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.
Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.
Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

TIMOTHY TITCOMB'S

NEW BOOK, Letters to the Joneses; Peculiar, a Tale of the Great Transition, by Epes Sargent; Good Society, or Contrasts of Character, by Mrs Gray, by
nov 25 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

TWENTY-ONE NEW BOOKS

HAVE gone into our Circulating Library within ten days. There is no other way so easy and so cheap for getting reading matter. Subscriptions begin at any time
nov 25 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ROUGH PAPERS,

FOR Letters and Notes—the fashionable style. Envelopes to match. Look at them.
nov 11 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom
(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)
THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.

And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Squarc, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.
Norwich Steamboat Train.
The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street, at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the train leaves. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.

WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.
Boston, January 7, 1863.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPID LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious assent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the languor caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the years, and [illegible] with the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss Bladder or Urinary Organs, [illegible] in the Kidney, antee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.
Feb 29, 1863 1y

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the

Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass.
Capital and Assets—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D, Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej 520-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,

Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes, and pateut leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

WINTER ARRANGE
TO LYNN & BOST
BY OMNIBUS & HORSE
W. F. BURNHAM

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Lyn Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Buildin vers, passing down Main Street, through Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays include

Leave South Danvers at 7 50 o'clock and 4 50 P. M.

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, West A. M., 2 40 and 6 40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving the office at 14 at 8 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will m buses at Lynn, at the above named h passengers to South Danvers.

Tickets to Lynn, -
Through to Boston, -

Gravesend, Woodend, an Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in addi route, an Omnibus will leave Sout Lynn, to connect with the steam and times daily.—Sundays excepted.—run Gravesend and Woodend, to the Centr and Horse Railroad Station, corner Broad Streets; leaving South Danv

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1863. NO. 51.

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's Building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

H. L. HADLEY,
LOCAL EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

HEIMSTREET'S
INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.
IT IS NOT A DYE,

it restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance. paired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes e composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality d beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no essing. Heimstreet's Inimitable Coloring not only stores hair to its natural color by an easy process, t gives the hair a

Luxuriant Beauty,

omotes its growth, prevents its falling off, eradites dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness the head. It has stood the test of time, being the iginal Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing favor. Used by both gentlemen and ladies. It is ld by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by em of the commercial agent, D. S. Barnes, 202 oadway, N. Y. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM.

This is the most delightful and extraordinary artiever discovered. It changes the sun burnt face d hands to a pearly satin texture of ravishing anty, imparting the marble purity of youth and e distingue appearance so inviting in the city belle fashion. It removes tan, freckles, pimples and ughness from the skin, leaving the complexion sh, transparent and smooth. It contains no matoul injurious to the skin. Patronized by Actresses d Opera Singers It is what every lady should ve. Sold everywhere.

DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.
General Agents,
202 Broadway, N. Y.

The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedt in the history of the world. There is no secret in matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthg health restorer ever discovered. It requires but ngle trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celeated Calisaya Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandelion, amomile Flowers, Lavender Flowers, Wintergreen, ise, Clover-buds, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, riander, Burdock.

S.—T.—1860—X. &c.

They are especially recommended to clergymen, pubspeakers, and persons of literary habits and sedenry life, who require free digestion, a relish for food, d clear mental faculties.
Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find these Bitters what they have so long looked for.
They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
Mhey cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make e weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great storer.

The following startling and emphatic statements can e seen at our office.
Letter of Rev E. F. CRANE, Chaplain of the 107th ew York Regiment:
NEAR ACQUIA CREEK, March 4th, 1863.
Owing to the great exposure and terrible decomposion after the battle of [illegible] utterly prosrated and very sick. My stomach would not retain edicine. An article called Plantation Bitters, prepard by Dr. Drake, of New York, was prescribed to give e strength and an appetite. To my great surprise hey gave me immediate relief. Two bottles almost alowed me to join my regiment. * * * * * I have ince seen them used in many cases, and am free to say or hospital or private purposes I know of [illegible] them.
REV. E. F. CRANE, Chaplain.

Letter from the Rev. N. E. GILDS, St. Clairsville, Pa.:
GENTLEMEN:—You were kind enough, on a former ccasion to send me a half dozen bottles of Plantation Bitters for $3 50. My wife having derived so much enefit from the use of these Bitters, I desire her to ontinue them, and you will please send us six bottles ore for the money inclosed.
I am, very truly, yours,
N. E. GILDS, Pastor Ger. Ref. Church.

SOLDIERS' HOME, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, CINCINNATI, OHIO, Jan. 15th, 1863.
* * * * * * *
I have given your Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our noble soldiers who stop here, more or less disabled from various causes, and the effect is marvelous and gratifying.
Such a preparation as this is I heartily wish in every family, in every hospital, and at hand on every battle field.
G. W. ANDREWS, Superintendent.

Dr. W. A. CHILDS, Surgeon of the Tenth Vermont Regiment, writes:—"I wish every soldier had a bottle of Plantation Bitters. They are the most effective, perfect, and harmless tonic I ever used."

WILLARD'S HOTEL,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22d, 1863.
GENTLEMEN:—We require another supply of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which daily increases with the guests of our house.
Respectfully, SYKES, CHADWICK & Co.
&c., &c., &c., &c., &c.

Be sure that every bottle bears the fac simile of our signature on a steel plate label, with our private stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.,
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.
Sold by all respectable Druggists, Physicians, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, and country dealers.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.
They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief
For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.
They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because with seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Biliousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.
They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.
The confidence of all is asked to test
Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyno.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.
☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.
JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.
George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.
For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.
Apr. 1, 1853—1 y

Elected Poetry.

[From the Newburyport Herald.]

THE LOST ARMS.

BY J. C. PEABODY.

Dressed in silks and jewels rare,
Rocking in her easy chair,
What in the world to her is care?
Dressed in livery of strife,
Trudging on to drum and fife,
What in the world to him is life?

For 'tis whispered in his ear,
She who dwells his heart anear
Is but false and insincere.

Now the battle storm of Hell
Rages over hill and dell—
Morning shall its horrors tell.
Dressed in silks and jewels rare,
Rocking her easy chair,
What in the world to her is care?

Hark! the postman at the door—
Now her idle dream is o'er,
And abundant care in store.
"Soldier's letter!" Thanks to Thee,
Father, that he's spared to me—
What! an unknown hand I see."

With the calmness of despair,
Opened she the missive there;
Read she thus with eyes astare:—

"Early in the bloody fray,
On Antietam's fatal day,
Both his arms were shot away.

"Lying on his pallet low,
He would fain release you, now,
Freely from your early vow.

"For it is not meet, he said,
Such a wreck such charms should wed—
He'll betroth the worm instead."

Flying South on wings of steam,
Wings that all too leaden seem,
Vows she that vow to redeem.

In the gray of morning light
Now the tented city white
Bursts upon her longing sight.
Past the picket, past the guard,
Down the beaten alleys hard,
To the convalescent ward.

To the cot whereon he lies
With the speed of love she hies—
"I will keep my vow," she cries.

"Still are left you heart and brain;
And while they your soul contain,
I deem you sound and whole again."

"I am sound and whole," he said;—
Above the cot his arms he spread,
And on his breast drew down her head.

Startled with a glad surprise,
Scarce believeth she her eyes—
"O, thou fibbing rogue," she cries.

"Nay, 'twas but the truth you heard—
I lost 'both arms,' upon my word—
I lost my pistol and my sword."

☞ Gen. Bragg has been superceded by Hardee.

ST. PAUL'S PERSON.—How little stress is to be laid on external appearances! The prince of apostles seems to hint concerning himself that his bodily presence was not calculated to command respect. St. Chrysostom terms him a little man about three cubits or four and a half feet high. But Neciforous has given us the most circumstantial account of Paul's person. St. Paul was of small stature, stooping and rather inclined to crookedness, pale faced, of an elderly look, and bald on the head. His eyes lively, keen and cheerful, shaded in part by his eyebrows, which hung a little over. His nose rather long and not ungracefully bent. His beard pretty thick with hair, and of a sufficient length, and, like his locks interspersed with gray.

THE ROSELAWN SCHOOL.

BY CLARA AUGUSTA.

"WANTED—By the committee of the Roselawn, District, a young lady to take charge of the Summer term of the Roselawn School. Good wages will be paid to one who can bring the requisite attainments to work. Roselawn is situated in a most delightfully romantic part of the State; near a lake of some extent, and affords every facility for enjoyment usually found in a country place. The church is scarcely a moment's walk from the school house.

Address, for the next two weeks,
COMMITTEE, Roselawn, Vt."

Miss Maud Arabella Whiting read the notice through with a beaming countenance. Then she read it aloud to her mother, in her best style of elocution. Mrs. Whiting scarcely appreciated it, though buried as she was in an easy chair and a novel

"Isn't it charming?" asked Arabella.

Her life had been a strangely uneventful one, and at nineteen she was weary of existence, if one could judge from the die-away sonnets composed in the privacy of her chamber, and exhibited only to her dear friend Matilda Grubb.

Mrs. Whiting was loth to consent to her daughter's project—but Arabella was pertinacious; and after a few days she yielded. Arabella wrote to the "committee," and received a note forthwith, telling her to be at Roselawn Depot the following Saturday afternoon, and Mr. Sawyer, the committee, would be there to meet her with his carriage.

Saturday morning she bade her mother an affecting farewell; and with Pet, her lap dog, and three immense trunks, was soon on her way to Roselawn. She reached there just before sundown. Amid the usual hurry, noise and bustle, she was put off, and there she stood among her trunks and boxes, her lap dog in her arms, her parasol under her arm, her reticule in her hand, and her high-topped bonnet half-way off, and down her back.

The depot was a blackish building, about ten feet square, filled with boxes, rags, and rough-looking men, smoking, spitting and talking politics.

Arabella wanted to scream at the sight of them, but her dog screamed for her—so loudly as to draw the attention of the company to his proprietress.

"Is Mr. Sawyer here?" she ventured to ask, in a trembling voice.

"I'm the chap!" said a tall, shock-headed man in a blue roundabout, rising: "And now, who be you?"

"I am Miss Maud Arabella Whiting ——"

"The new school marm? Why, land sakes! what have you brung your dog for? You don't calkerlate to keep school with him in yer lap, do ye?"

"Pet is my confidential companion, sir; it would have broken his heart to have been separated from me."

"Wall, 'twouldn't a been no great loss! Did you know that dogs is taxed one dollar a head? That's to help on the war, and as I'm a peace man, I knocked my dog over."

"Oh, Mr. Sawyer, how could you? Didn't it hurt him?"

"I 'spect it did, but that warn't my lookout. He was dead when I picked him up. You'd better serve your'n so! I'll finish him for you and welcome."

Arabella clasped Pet still closer, regarding Mr. Sawyer with a look of horror.

"Oh, wall, jest as you say. Of course I don't keer! 'Spose you've kept school afore?"

"No, sir, this is my first attempt."

"Hum! You don't look much as if you'd do to wallop Jinkins's boys; but then you've got red hair, which is a pretty shure sign of grit. Come, jump into the wagin. Where is your baggage?"

Arabella pointed it out.

"The land say!" ejaculated Mr. Sawyer, "what do you calkerlate to have in them ere trunks? Must 'a brung your bedding! Needn't 'a done that; we've got plenty of comfortables in the foreroom closet. What have you got in that box?" indicating a guitar-case; "it looks like a junk bottle with a long handle to it."

"That is my guitar."

"Gittar! land say! that is what my wife had in her head, last year. Stopped her nose up so 'twas wuss than no nose at all! She took snuff for it. Yes, 'twas the gittar for sartin. Same kind, I'll bet. She won't be willing for you to bring it into the house, but you've got it boxed up, 'twont be likely to do much hurt."

"Where is your carriage?" inquired Arabella, anxious to escape from the curious glances of the crowd about the depot, each one of whom had taken a complete inventory of everything about her person.

"Right here," pointing to a tall, antiquated horse-cart, with a board across the sides for a seat—the whole concern painted a flaming red, with the wheels. The hoss is jest as steady as sheep! Don't be afeared!"

"Goodness gracious!" cried Arabella, in dismay, "you don't expect me to get up there? Why, I couldn't do it to save my life!"

"Ho! you ain't used to climbing, I guess. Why, my darter Bets would go right into that wagin' without touchin' a hand. Sam!" to one of the crowd, "go in and bring out a shoe box."

Sam did as directed, and Arabella mounted the box and from thence reached the wheel of the cart. She tumbled in with so much force as to dislodge poor Pet, (who brought up in a neighboring mud puddle,) and crushed in the brim of her bonnet, till it bore a strong resemblance to an old fashioned chaise top.

Sam rescued the dog, wiped him on a piece of newspaper, and restored him to his agonized mistress.

The trunks were already in; Mr. Sawyer seated himself up in front—cracked his whip—jerked out, "Glang!" and away they went.

The ride was good exercise to both mind and body. Arabella was obliged to exert herself to the utmost to keep from pitching out of the cart, and poor little Pet trembled like a poplar leaf, and groaned bitterly.

They drew up at last, at Mr. Sawyer's front door. Mrs. Sawyer, a black-eyed angular woman, came out to meet them.

"Deary me! is this the school marm? Why, she looks eggsactly like Marion Scriggins, don't she, Eben? Polly Marion's a ter'ble trial to her poor ma!—so proud, and full of vanity! What's happenee to her bunnit? I do hate the sight of them bunnits! they look like a hod with a flower garding in front of it. Whose dog is that are? Deary me! how ugly he is! Come in, do! Ben will hist yer down. Here, Ben, come and hist the school marm down."

Ben, a broad-shouldered, handsome young fellow in his shirt sleeves, advanced and performed the delicate operation, as politely as could have been expected under the circumstances.

"Where am I to board?" asked Arabella, seating herself in the best rocking-chair in the corner of the fore-room.

"Round! that is the fashion here—you'll stay with me a week, and then you'll go to Peavey's. I pity you when you get there. Peavey's folks is the awfulest nastiest folks on the footstool! Mrs. Peavy don't wash her face nor her hands only once a week, and then she only scares them with water. She throws her dish-water and 'tater peeling out of the front door, and the hens is just as much to hum in her setting room as they be in the barn. Lawful hunt! there's that apple sass a biling all over the stove!"

And Mrs. Sawyer abruptly left the room.

We must pass over the interesting examination through which our heroine passed before receiving her certificate of capability to teach. It is well worth chronicling, but space forbids.

Monday morning at nine o'clock the school commenced.

There was a crowd of children of all sizes around the door of the school house, when Arabella came in sight of the edifice. It was a brownish building, destitute of glass in most of the windows; a stove pipe stuck through the roof, from which the wind and the fingers of time had torn most of the shingles. It was delightfully situated on the shores of a frog pond, even now vocal with the long drawn strains of the green coated inhabitants.

"Here comes school marm!" yelled the boys in chorus, as Arabella appeared—"that's she! Golly! see the ruffles on her gownd! She's got a red head! Bully for her!"

"Brother Sam seed her over to the depot last night," said Tommy Taylor, "and he sed she had the funniest thing on her head, and a lap dog, and a patent Gererybaldwin jacket over her shoulders!"

"What's that she's got in her hand?" exclaimed Bill Jenkins, narrowly scrutinizing Arabella's portfolio. "It's got a lock into it jest like marm's chist of drawers! who ever heard of bringing a bureau to school?"

These and a score of other like exclamations saluted Arabella as she came up the lane. She was duly horrified, of course, but she would not let the children perceive it. She intended to be as self-possessed as the most experienced veteran.

She entered the school house, and they followed her, making more noise than a flock of sheep. Alas! for the blue eyes and the rosy cheeks! dirty faces abounded; evidently the price of molasses had not come up in Roselawn. Some of the little darlings sucked their thumbs, some chewed spruce gum, and some were too much absorbed looking at the "school marm," to keep their mouths otherwise employed than standing wide open.

"Come to order!" said Arabella, with dignity, rapping on the high desk.

"Come to what?" asked Bill Jenkins.

"Hold your tongue, sir," returned the teacher.

Bill thurst out his lingual member, took it between his thumb and finger, to the great amusement of the whole school.

Classifying and ascertaining names and ages occupied most of the forenoon.

"May I go out?" asked Bill Jenkins, rising in his seat.

"No, you may sit down!" said Arabella, her patience fast giving out.

Bill seized his hat, and jumped out of the window without ceremony.

"School marm, Susan Grey spit on my dinner pail!" cried a small voice in the corner.

"And Allie Diggs eat up my turnover!" cried the aforesaid Susan Grey.

"May I leave my seat? I want some water," yelled Susan Sykes.

"My nose bleeds! I want to go out," remarked Tommy Taylor.

"Sarah Jane Styles has got my ingy rubbers rubbin' her cheeks with 'em to make 'em red!" screamed Miss Patty Primweed.

Arabella was trying to get silence, when the door opened, and in walked a full grown animal of the grunting and snuffing species.

Arabella screamed, and jumped for the desk, tucking up her skirt, and struck at the bristly quadruped with her parasol.

The children scampered from the house, but Arabella was afraid to get down and follow them, lest she should be attacked by his swineship, which she took for a white bear.

At length Bill Jenkins appeared and drove him out, and Arabella got down and went to dinner. That afternoon Bill persisted in talking aloud and whispering when he felt like it. Arabella believed in governing by love and kind words, so she tried the doctrine on Bill.

"William," she said kindly, "you are a good boy, and will make a good man. Will you please to stop that very annoying noise?"

"No, I won't please!" remarked Bill, imitating her voice. "You told two stories in one breath. You said I was a fine boy, and should make a good man—tain't so! by jinky, tain't!" and with that he let fly an apple core at Arabella's head, which hit its mark, and broke her hair [illegible] twenty pieces.

Still our heroine kept her temper.—She reasoned and remonstrated, and Bill laughed and whistled.

"I ain't going to mind no sich red-haired chit as you be!" exclaimed he—"not by two chalks! I allers hated red-hair, 'specially when it went with a freckled face and a turned up nose!"

This was a little too much. Arabella reddened—seized the stove poker, and gave Bill a blow that he had cause to remember many a day. He fled screaming from the house, and the other children snatched their dinner pails and fled likewise.

Arabella went back to the city the next day. She was taken suddenly ill, she said; teaching did not agree with her.—Peterson's Magazine.

☞ The lightning recently produced a curious effect upon the Church of St. Aphrodise, in the south of France. It struck the roof and went through it.—No great damage was done to the roof; but it lighted all the wax candles placed in the choir, and at the altar; and when the attendent as the church opened it in the morning he found all the candles at the altar lighted just as they are when grand mass is celebrated.

☞ "I have always been astonished," said Mrs. Smith, "at the anxiety of young ladies for beaux; but I never pitied a female more than when Miss Mountfathers left my school. Seeing her gazing towards the sky, I asked her what she was looking for. 'That beau,' said she, 'which is told of in Genesis as being set in the cloud. I wish he'd come down.'"

BEGINNING TO WALK.

He's not got his sea-legs, the darling;
He's been in our ship but a year;
He isn't yet versed in our lingo—
Knows nothing of sailing, I fear.

But he soon will hear more of the billows,
And learn the salt taste of the wave;
One voyage, though it's short, is sufficient,
When our ports are the cradle and grave.
—Chamber's Journal.

GEN. N. B. SANDERS,

Who was wounded in an engagement between Burnside's and Longstreet's forces, in East Tennessee, and died soon after, was a native of Kentucky, but went to West Point from Mississippi; graduating in the class of 1856. He received a commission in the United States cavalry, and served in that branch of the army in this war. It was he that made the celebrated raid into East Tennessee, in advance of Burnside, preparing the way before him. In the battle where he received his death-wound, the enemy had been repulsed several times, and his command was staggering under a final charge of a whole brigade, led by one of the most courageous of the rebel officers. There was a hand-to-hand fight. SANDERS, when he was leading his men, himself foremost in the contest, was struck by a minnie ball, which passed through the cavity of the abdomen, lacerating the spleen and large intestines. He was removed to the rear and conveyed immediately to Knoxville.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says:—After his wound had been examined, the General asked, "Tell me, Doctor, if my wound is mortal?"

The Doctor replied—"Sanders, it is a fearful wound, and mortal. I am very sorry to say it, my dear fellow, but the odds are against you."

The General calmly replied, "Well, I am not afraid to die; I have made up my mind upon that subject. I have done my duty, and have served my country as well as I could."

He lingered until the next day, remaining perfectly conscious during the whole time. During the morning he explained certain symptoms to the Doctor, and asked him what they meant.

The Doctor replied, "General, you are dying."

"If that be so," he said, "I would like to see a clergyman."

The Rev. Mr. Hayden, Chaplain of the post, was sent for, who came, and in the presence of General Burnside, with some of his Staff, Captain Harris, a classmate, and several others, he was baptised. "It was always the desire of my friends that I should be baptized," he said.

The minister then joined in fervent prayer, General Burnside and all present reverently kneeling beside the bed of the dying hero. It was a scene never to be forgotten. He shook hands with his chief, who stood tearfully over him, as if loth to witness the flight of the brave spirit. While preparations were making to administer to him the sacrament, his spirit took its flight. In the beautiful words of Dr. Jackson, "he went to sleep [illegible] passed away one of the bravest, yet one of the most unassuming men whom God has raised up to battle in the cause of good government.

COFFEE IN THE ARMY.—A correspondent writes the following truthful words about coffee in the army: "Some wise man proposed in Congress the substitution of tea for coffee in the army, and told the people that the soldiers would welcome the change. A tolerably fair specimen of the theoretical, stay-at-home wisdom, but not worth a Sabbath day's journey of the Queen of Sheba to look at. Why, coffee is their true acqua vitae; their solace and mainstay. When a boy cannot drink his coffee you may be sure he has done drinking altogether.—On a march, no sooner is a halt ordered than the little fires begin to twinkle along the line; they make coffee in five minutes, drink it in three, take a drill at hard cracker, and are refreshed. Our comrades from "der Rhine" will squat phlegmatically anywhere, even in line of battle. No sooner has the storm swept to some other part of the field than the kettles begin to boil, and amid stray bullets and shattered shell they take great swallows of heart and coffee together.—It is Rhine wine, the soul of Gambrinus, "Switzer" and "Limberg" in one."

☞ A country editor, praising a successful politician, called him "one of the cleverest fellows that ever lifted a hat to lady, or a boot to a blackguard."

ADVANTAGES OF CRYING.

A French physician is out in a long dissertation on the advantages of groaning and crying in general, and especially during surgical operations. He contends that groaning and crying are the two grand operations by which nature allays anguish; that those patients who give way to their natural feelings, more speedily recover from accidents and operations than those who suppose it unworthy a man to betray such symptoms of cowardice as either to groan or to cry. He tells of a man who reduced his pulse from one hundred and twenty-six to sixty, in the course of two hours, by giving full vent to his emotions. If people are at all unhappy about anything, let them go into their rooms and comfort themselves with a loud bohoo, and they will feel a hundred per cent. better afterwards.

In accordance with the above, the crying of children should not be too greatly discouraged. If it is systematically repressed, the result may be St. Vitus's Dance, epileptic fits, or some other disease of the nervous system. What is natural is nearly always useful; and nothing can be more natural than the crying of children when anything occurs to give them either physical or mental pain.

Probably most persons have experienced the effect of tears in relieving great sorrow. It is even curious how the feelings are allayed by their free indulgence in groans and sighs. Then let parents and friends show more indulgence to noisy bursts of grief, on the part of children as well as older persons—and regard the eyes and the mouth as the safety valves through which nature discharges her surplus steam.

DOUBTFUL THEOLOGY.—A friend, whom we shall call Pat, "for short," tells the following good story of himself:

When but an idle boy he was called in country school, and the question suddenly propounded by the pedagogue:

"Patrick, how many Gods are there?"

Pat was not a very distinguished theologian then, and the years have made him "no better very fast" in such matters, but he promptly responded:—

"Three, sir."

"Take your seat!" thundered the master; "and if, in five minutes you don't answer correctly, I'll welt you."

The probationary period passed, and Patrick taking the floor hesitatingly, stated the number of Gods at,

"Five, sir."

He received the promised "welting," and a remand to his seat ten minutes for consideration.

Ten minutes up, Pat was up too, and, satisfied that he had not fixed the matter sufficiently high before, he shouted:

"There's ten, sir."

He saw the ferule descending, and bolting out of the door, he cleared a five-rail fence, and broke like a quarter horse across the field. Panting with exertion, he met a lad with a book under his arm, and with a look of one desiring the pursuit of knowledge under difficulties.

"Where are you going?" said Pat.

[illegible] reply.

"You are, are you?" said Pat, quietly. "How many Gods are there?"

"One," answered the boy.

"Well, you'd better not go down there. You'll have a good time with your one God. I've just left there with ten, and that was not enough to save me from the darndest licking that you ever heard of!"

CANTEEN.—The word canteen has had a curious history. It is perhaps the only word in our language, which, originally English, passed into a foreign tongue, and was afterwards taken back in a modified form. As originally spoken by the Saxon it was simply tin can, but the Gaul, as is his wont, placing the noun before the adjective, and pronouncing the i as e, brought it out as tin can pronounced canteen. Adopting a thousand other French military terms, the dull Englishman took back his own original word in a new shape, without any inquiries on the subject, and hence we now say canteen instead of tin can.

☞ "Abinidab, who is Cupid?"—"One of the boys. He is said to be as blind as a bat; but if he's blind, he'll do to travel. He found his way to Aunt Nan's affections, and I wouldn't have thought any critter could have worked his way into such narrow arrangements with eyes open."

PIETY.—Chasing the almighty dollar six days in the week, and mourning over the depravity of the soul on the seventh.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, DEC'R 23, 1863.

TERRIBLE BOILER EXPLOSION!

One Man Killed and Two Seriously Wounded.

At a few minutes before six o'clock, yesterday morning, the boiler in the morocco establishment of Messrs. W. M. Jacobs & Son, blew up with a tremendous explosion, shaking the dwellings of our citizens for a wide distance around and suggesting to many persons the idea of an earthquake. Almost simultaneously with the shock, an alarm of fire was raised, occasioned by the light from burning coals.

Upon resorting to the premises, the boiler room was found to be a mass of ruins, and the building in its vicinity severely shattered by the explosion. The lifeless body of Mr. John Cutler, who was known to have been in front of the boiler, was discovered at a distance of eighty feet from the spot where he had been last seen alive, and the report of his sudden death by this melancholy fatality spread a gloom over our whole community. Mr. Charles Andrews, the Engineer, and Mr. John Cummings were also found among the ruins, seriously if not fatally injured. The two latter sufferers were quickly released from their painful positions and proper medical attendance immediately summoned. Mr. Andrews was found to have had a leg broken, a shoulder injured, and his face severely bruised. Mr. Cummings was badly wounded in the head, and may have sustained more serious internal injury.

Mr. Cutler had long been a resident of Danversport, and was much respected by all who knew him, for his intelligence, uprightness and his kindly sympathies with his fellow beings. He was fifty years of age and leaves a wife, and a sister who has been an invalid twenty-five years, to mourn his loss.

The cause of the melancholy disaster which we have briefly related is not fully understood. Mr. Andrews as engineer, had long enjoyed the fullest confidence of his employers, and was considered careful and attentive to his duties.

The explosion is represented by those in the vicinity, who witnessed some of its effects, as absolutely terrific. The sudden and simultaneous report and flash of fire, with the fragments of iron and bricks flying through the air in every direction, seemed as if a meteor had burst and scattered the fragments all around. Some of the heavy pieces of iron and brick work were sent clean over the houses and trees to the opposite side of the street. One of the iron missiles weighing 75 lbs. struck near Gen. Sutton's store, a distance of more than a hundred rods. These fragments appeared in the air like globes of fire, and retained their luminous appearance after they struck the ground. The report and jar were heard and felt in Salem and the neighboring towns.

The funeral of Mr. Cutler will take place this (Wednesday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from his late residence at Danversport.

The War Meeting last Wednesday evening at Town Hall was addressed by Rev. Mr. Spaulding, Hon. Henry K. Oliver (State Treasurer), Rev. Dr. Worcester, and Major Oliver of the Second Heavy Artillery. The speeches of these gentlemen were listened to with the closest attention throughout, save at intervals when the audience gave way for applause at the eloquence of the speakers. The meeting was presided over by Hon. A. A. Abbott, and a detachment of the Salem Brass Band furnished the music. In point of numbers and enthusiasm this meeting will well compare with its predecessors.

The next meeting will be held at the Peabody Institute next Monday evening, and will be addressed by Gen. Devens and Col. Gould.

The meeting announced to take place at Rockport last Thursday evening, was postponed on account of the weather. It will probably be held some time next week.

☞ The Concert of the Danvers Musical Union, under the direction of Prof. Leonard Marshall of Boston, took place at Gothic Hall, Wednesday evening, Dec. 16th. The house was well filled; and the selection of pieces was fully appreciated by the audience. The Choruses were well sustained, and many of the Solos were admirably executed. The Duetts by Misses Nellie and Augusta Smith, of Boston, "Johnny Schmoker," sung by a Quartette of male voices, and a Solo, entitled, "Why don't the men propose, mamma," finely rendered by Prof. Marshall, were enthusiastically applauded. Miss Rankin, of Danvers, presided at the piano. Altogether it was one of the best concerts we have attended for some time, and reflects great credit upon the musical talent of Danvers, and upon Prof. Marshall, its efficient conductor.

☞ Read our Army Letters.

THE SANITARY FAIR.

The Fair for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission opened on Monday evening at the Music Hall, in a brilliant and most successful manner. The hall presented a most magnificent appearance and exceeds all former efforts in this field of enterprise. Flags, pennants, banners, paintings, fabrics of gorgeous hues, articles of rare and curious manufacture, met the eye in all directions.

In the center of the platform in front of the organ, was the first tent pitched by the Sanitary Commission, mounted by battle flags and banners that have been borne upon many a sanguinary field. Within were trophies of war of every conceivable variety. Near the tent were two brass field-pieces, mounted.

Upon either side of the hall, running nearly the whole length, were ranges of tables laden with choice products of taste and art. In the first balcony, opposite the platform, were ranges of tables, and in the upper balcony were a series of decorations in the form of festoons, flags, banners, etc., relieved by paintings and other works of art. In front of the side upper balconies were suspended from standards, the flags of various nations. At all points there was brilliancy, beauty and taste.

Many of the most valuable articles were disposed of by raffles, and among those announced we find that Thomas E. Proctor drew a painting of a Rigolette prized at $150.00; Mrs. George Upton drew a doll prized at $20.00; Mrs. E. W. Upton drew a piece of embroidery prized at $25.00; Mrs. Levi Elliot drew an Affghan prized at $75.00; Mrs. J. O. Poor, formerly of this town, drew a work table prized at $65.00.

We shall publish next week the results of the efforts of our Ladies' Aid Society in connection with this fair.

Rev. O. S. Butler.

It gives us pleasure to publish the following extracts, which we take from the Newburyport Herald, relating to a former townsman who has, by industry and laborious self culture attained a more than respectable rank among the clergy of his denomination, and by his pleasant social qualities endeared himself to the people of every parish with which he has become connected. Mr. Butler possesses just the qualities which best serve to build up a religious society:

"Rev. O. S. Butler of Byfield, at the request of the young men belonging to his Society, will give a course of lectures on the subject of temperance. The first was delivered last Sunday evening, to a crowded house. It was happy in conception, thrilling in interest, and eloquent in its delivery, and has certainly never been surpassed by the speaker's best efforts.

"Last Friday evening the members of Mr. Butler's parish, Byfield, made their annual visit to the parsonage, which as usual was a perfect success. The house was literally thronged with all classes, ages and sects, and all 'brought their welcome with them' in the shape of bountiful supplies for the physical wants of life, to which ministers are subject in the present state of existence in common with the rest of the race. After the store room and all available corners were filled to their utmost capacity, the contributions were continued in the shape of greenbacks and scrip, so that the commissary department is now perfectly supplied for the winter campaign. Mr. and Mrs. Butler were in their happiest mood, and did not seem at all to object to the liberties taken with them in calling so unceremoniously, but on the contrary, as they so well know how to do, made everybody feel 'th at it was good to be there.

"It is unnecessary to say that the singing was superb, for a finer glee club has not existed since the days of Orpheus and his school than enlivens the social gatherings of Byfield. The evening passed pleasantly and rapidly away in conversation and various recreations, and resulted in accessions to the host of friends which Mr. Butler has gained during his labors there, [illegible] known and in cementing still closer the bonds of friendship between himself and the society, and among the members themselves."

Danvers Volunteers.—We present below the names of the Danvers Volunteers, who have enlisted under the last call. The list does not include any who have re-enlisted in the old regiments, amounting to about 18 or 20 in number, nor any who have enlisted within the past week. We have no doubt that the quota of Danvers is full, and perhaps there is a surplus of four or five:

W. H. Chadwick,	Amasa L. Ross,
John A. Roberts,	J. F. Pillsbury,
Henry F. Briggs,	James M. Collins,
Joshua Goss,	E. W. Watson,
Douglas Wilson,	Robert Tough,
James Finikin,	F. A. Wentworth,
Thomas McKealy,	Chas. H. Adams, Jr.,
Solomon B. Lane,	Eben J. Griffin,
Albert Woodbury,	A. A. Rackliff,
Ira D. Kimhall,	Warren B. Foster,
Everson Hall,	A. J. Goodwin,
Charles McGill,	Albert J. Spaulding,
A. W. C. Gould,	John G. Harris,
Charles R. Brown,	Albert A. Fowler,
A. A. Putnam,	Henry F. Allen,
D. P. Clough,	Nathan Tyler,
Orion W. Clough,	William Brady,
Frank Johnson,	Charles Lion,
Charles T. Moser,	H. Gould,
George W. Jellison,	James Crawford.

Rubber Soled Shoes.—We saw at Colman's on Front street, Salem, the other day some boots and shoes with vulcanized rubber soles. We think they would be just the article to keep the feet warm and dry during the winter season. Mr. C. is sole agent for them in Salem and vicinity.

THE LECTERS.

Mr. Edetur.—I want you to hlow up the managers of the Lecters for trying to keep children out. My Dolly Ann Adelia goes every night with me and I should like to see them stop her. I should like to know why other folks cant hear the lecters just as well if my Dolly Ann Adelia is there. She is a good scholler and goes to the gramar school if she isn't fifteen, and the darling shall go to the lecters. I can pull her in with the croud and git a good seat and then they cant git her out. What kind of free lecters is they if Dolly Ann Adelia cant go? If they make eny more fuss about it I will rite to Mr. Pebody I will. I know a good many other gals go and mine shall go to. She sets close to me and hehaves as well as enybody. There's Miss Gill's gall three months younger than Dolly Ann Adelia and she goes and eats pea-nuts to which is all a wulgar error. Her father isn't so rich neether as my husband and as for Miss Gill, I know she is ignoranter than I be.

Now Mr. Edetur they may have as menny kunstables as they please, my Dolly Ann Adelia is a going to all the lecters and have a good seat to. Other folks may grumbel as much as they like and they can stand up in the entry, but my gall shall set down and that's all about it.

P. S.—My son John ain't so old as Dolly Ann Adelia and he goes on his own hook and stands up in the garrelys or walks round. They cant ketch Johnny.

Tabitha Smart.

☞ We have the pleasure of publishing the following letter received from Col. Frank E. Howe, acknowledging the receipt of thirty-eight dollars from Miss. Evelyn A. Fellows.

The above named amount having been raised by Miss. Fellow's own exertions and through her patriotic efforts; her age is only twelve years. We can only ask such spirit and patriotism from others, young or old:

New England Soldiers' Relief Association,
No. 194 Broadway, New York,
December 3d, 1863.

Miss Evelyn A. Fellows, Danvers, Mass.

Your favor of Nov. 16th, with the generous enclosure of thirty-eight dollars, the products of your young labor in behalf of the cause of soldiers' relief, has been most gratefully received. Its receipt at this time was most opportune and kindly, as the necessities of our association were never greater than at present time, nor the demands upon us for assistance more numerous. Accept, through me, the heartfelt thanks of our sick and wounded men, together with my earnest wish and hope, that this early consecration of your time and services to the cause of your afflicted country and its noble but suffering defenders, may meet its sure reward in the perpetnity of those blessed institutions which have been bequcathed to us by our fathers.

I am, very truly, your friend,

Frank E. Howe, Superintendent.

An Honest Insolvent.—Some two years ago, Israel H. Putnam, an extensive shoe manufacturer in Danvers, having met with many losses, became insolvent. He gave up the whole of his estate to his creditors, which paid about fifty cents on a dollar. But being determined that no one should lose by his misfortunes, he has since paid his creditors the balance of their demands, together with interest, from the time of his failure. Would it not be well for all insolvents to imitate, as far as possible, the example of this honest man.

Bloodhounds.—In former days bloodhounds were used to chase defenceless negroes; but now they are used against our soldiers. Instead of fastening their teeth in human flesh they clinch them against sharp bayonets run down their throats. Col. Higginson has sent home the skin of a bloodhound recently killed by one of his party, and it was exhibited at the Sanitary Fair last week.

Christmas Entertainment.—Don't forget the Fair and Christmas Tree Festival at [illegible] Hall Christmas Eve, also Christmas Day and Evening. The object is a laudable one, and we have no doubt it will be successful. See special notice.

Christmas.—Our neighbor Flint (a second Santa Claus,) has his Christmas presents now ready for delivery. His store is open at all hours of the day and evening, where either he or Veteran Lunt will be on hand to deal with all that call.

Curious.—The first negro soldier killed in this war was named John Brown, and the first rebel officer whose official duty it became to recognize officers commanding negro troops, was named John C. Calhoun.

Dividend.—The Lynn and Boston Horse Railroad Co., have declared a dividend of 4 per cent, payable Jan. 1st, and also voted to increase its capital stock to $200,000.

Singing School.—Mr. A. W. Trask will open a singing school at the Town Hall, Danvers, on Tuesday evening next. Terms—$2.00 for gentlemen, and $1 for ladies.

Capt. Robert S. Daniels, Jr., left town last week to visit those places at the seat of war, where we have men from this town, with instructions from our town authorities to enlist veterans to help fill our quota.

☞ Don't fail to read the letters from our Washington correspondent. They are quite interesting, and will be followed by others.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, Dec. 19, 1863.

Massachusetts is well represented in this session of Congress on the important committees. In the Senate, Sumner is chairman of Foreign Relations, and Wilson of Military Affairs. In the House, Dawes is chairman on Elections, Alley on Post Offices and Post Roads, and Rice on Naval Affairs. The Bay State is also represented in the Committee on Ways and Means by Hooper, Foreign Affairs by Gooch, Judiciary by Boutwell, Commerce by Eliott, etc., showing conclusively that the present administration do not contemplate leaving Massachusetts "out in the cold!" but, on the contrary, her talent is appreciated.

The President has entirely recovered, and is again receiving visitors. Mr. Hackett, the great actor of Falstaff, called on him and had a pleasant interview. You remember Mr. H. presented Mr. Lincoln a copy of his Works on Shakespeare, some time ago, and in his acknowledgement, he gave his opinion on some of Shakespeare's Plays in such a plain matter-of-fact and common sense way, it called forth many flattering editorials both in this country and in Europe. Mr. Lincoln attended the Theatre on Monday evening to hear Mr. Hackett in his favorite character.

The country has lost another of its noble defenders in General Buford—he died in this city on Thursday afternoon, of typhoid fever and dysentery. He was born in Kentucky, and entered West Point in 1844, and was Captain of the 2d Dragoons on the frontier when the rebellion broke out. He has been General Stoneman's right hand man all through the various battles of the army of the Potomac.—On the day he died the President promoted him to the rank of Major General. A short time before he died, General Stoneman showed him his commission and said to him, "John do you see this? you are a Major General." A smile of satisfaction lit up his pale face and he said, "Is the President then in earnest?" and on being assured of the fact, he said, as if conscious the hand of death was upon him, "Oh I wish I was well again." These were his last words, and he passed quietly away to that realm where "wars are heard no more." More anon.

S. K.

WAR CORRESPONDENCE.

In Camp near Kelly's Ford, Va.,
December 14th, 1863.

Friend Howard,—Did you ever see a Run! I don't mean a handicap on the Saugus Course, a streak of luck at a "quiet game," or an exodus into Canada to keep out of the draft, but a Virginia Run of the [illegible] description. If your eyes are as yet unblessed with the sight, you are ignorant of a feature of natural scenery, the remembrance of which even now, makes me involuntarily "tread water." Among our other travelling adventures, our brigade seems to have had a peculiarly ripe experience in crossing Runs. There are about six Runs to every degree of latitude in the State of Virginia, and our weary feet have stirred up the muddy depths of a majority of them. The programme for crossing a Run is invariably as follows:—An Aide gallantly gallops to the head of the column, plunges through the stream to show that mud and water are only contained therein, shouting at the fullness of his lungs, "Forward, like men," as if it was a peculiar attribute of men to slip down, and muddy their new trousers. The rest of his duty seems to consist of frantic gymnastic and oratorical efforts. If an unlucky private is detected in impeding the onward course of the Union army, by halting to remove his gunboats and roll up his trousers' legs, the Aide charges upon him, settles him into the water, and if the current don't carry him away to some other Run, he soon emerges, slimpsy and "dishclothy" on the other side, like a man. Well, after our marching and countermarching, using up Hardee's Tactics and the Army Regulations in our evolutions, we have at last gone into winter quarters. Weary and heavy-laden, but not with rations, we returned from the last "Onward to Richmond" scrape, fully convinced that John has not died in the last ditch yet, but is still a lusty youth, who is bound that the neighbor's boys shan't slide on his cellar doors. I have learned to respect John, since I have looked into his face, and satisfied myself that he is not all legs, but has his full proportion of teeth and fists. A fortnight ago this morning things began to look a little mixed for the 39th. All the day before, in a pouring rain, companies E. and C., flank companies, had been thrown out in front as skirmishers without fires or food, each man hugging the wet ground [illegible] where Minnie introduced himself to me, in his usual lively and brisk style, and I bowed him [illegible] as quickly as possible. Our two companies deployed as skirmishers, cooler than veterans would have dared to be, and elicited praise from high sources for their conduct in this respect. We rejoined the regiment after dark, and had a glorious supper on ancient recollections, pulled our waist belts up, one hole, and turned in. In the morning we were marched about two miles to the right, understanding that the grand assault was at once to be made by a portion of the 5th corps, and that we were to be a support, to be used as occasion might require. We filed into the woods, stacked our knapsacks, and as the ball opened, and the shells screamed around our heads, began to think if we owed anybody, and how far they expected us to charge on one square cracker.

But as our guns belched forth their appeal for notice, no answer was returned. Perfect silence reigned along the rebel earthworks, and the more mysterious, the more apprehensive we became. At last the order came to sling knapsacks, and we marched out of the woods towards the front. Here we formed a regimental line facing the enemy, on a side-hill, partly concealed by a growth of young pines. In our rear was the 16th Maine, which has become by the aid of conscripts, larger than the 39th.—Here we lay all day and the following night, expecting every moment to be called upon to attempt the forlorn hope, but mercifully for us the order did not come. In the morning, before daylight, we marched back to our former position, and at 8 o'clock P. M. were noiselessly pursuing our way towards the Rapidan.—The men were very impatient when they found the expected order to assault, so long delayed, and there is no doubt in my mind that we could have carried the works, but it must have been at a fearful sacrifice of life.

So ends the fall campaign of the army of the Potomac; not entirely a bloodless one, and though outwardly, unproductive of important results, who can say at this early day, what ends have been accomplished by the movement.

I am not disposed to complain about short fare or other necessary contingencies of a soldier's life, but, I must say that the withholding of rations from the men upon our last tramp was as unaccountable, as it was cruel. They must have had souls not only above bread and butter, but way up, above hard tack, and everything else, when they showed so much willingness and eagerness to be led to the rebel works: at this time, there were cases to my knowledge of men who had eaten nothing for 36 hours except some corn, picked up from the leavings of some cavalry horses.

But, speaking at this time of the gallant 59 whom we expect soon to help fill up our thinned ranks in the 39th, I would not have them think for an instant that we are living in any such niggardly style at present. No, gentlemen, we have our pork and soft bread, our beans, rice, molasses, potatoes, onions, and everything that a sensible man could ask for, including sometimes a ration of commissary whiskey. Are South Danvers people making too much money, or are they losing their ancient reputation for patriotism. The old monument has a story inscribed upon it that some of us may not be able to tell to our children with a good grace, when this later and greater struggle for freedom and right has been decided.—This rebellion, that began small, has steadily increased its proportions, and has become a death struggle between two mighty forces. At the time I enlisted, I was not overrunning with fight or much interested in the concern any way, but now I say, when people at home see how surely we have been tightening our hold upon the monster, and how very few strong, well-directed blows it will take to end him, and will go on unconcernedly with their merchandise, their manufacturing, their farming and their thousand other ways of filling their pockets, and will not so much as send a God-speed to us, much less come out, and put their shoulder to the wheel by our side, that such men deserve no part nor lot in the country after we have saved it; but deserve instead, a draft that will spare no able-bodied man, rich or poor. Men, is what is wanted, and men must be had, before what has been so well begun can be successfully finished. This is how we all feel in the army.

When we see, as we often do, chances for successful blows, lost for the want of a few thousands of men, in the right place, we don't feel exactly like calling down benedictions on a man with fourteen diseases who still can drive a brick team at home the year round, or one who takes his mother from a ten years sojourn in the work-house, that she may become dependent on him for support. I hope that a considerable number will decide to enlist, and that we may have them with us soon.

Capt. Nelson's Company is one of the best in the service, though sadly reduced in numbers since we left Boston on Sept 6th, 1862.—Very few of the South Danvers boys are present with the company. Serg't. Dodge has not rejoined the regiment yet, but is still sick in Washington. His place as 1st Sergeant is now filled by Serg't. Port. Dodge, who is a general favorite. Simonds, who went to Washington sick, is I understand at present in charge of one of the hospitals there. Our boys who are sick will miss his gentle touch, and womanly management, for he was made for a nurse.—Bessom is also away, and is probably getting well as fast as possible among you at home.—John Blaisdell, I don't think has seen a sick day since he came out. Quiet and reserved, but always found at his post of duty. Charley Saunders is cook for the Colonel, and all of us who ever partook of one of his inimitable clam-chowders at home, know how to envy the Colonel. Tyler couldn't stay away from his dear mules, and he has got them down so fine that they look like very thin shingles. Their voices, too, are all spoiled, from being out so much in the night air.

The Captain is now convalescent after his sickness, and has resumed the running of the machine.

Adjutant Moulton is probably in town before now, so he can speak for himself; nothing consumptive there.

Send us out strong reinforcements, and we will flatten this thing out so that its best friends won't know it. Yours truly, C. W. H.

LETTER FROM NEWBERN, N. C.

Thanksgiving—Chasing a Greased Pig—Sack Performance—Blindfold Race—Foot Race—Climbing a Greased Pole—Black Sack Race.

Newbern, N. C., Nov. 27th, 1863.

Dear Friend,—Thanksgiving Day came along bright and early—just as nice as though it was made on purpose for the occasion. A clear blue sky, a bright shining sun, whose rays lighted up this benighted land, also made [illegible] which in turn warmed the blood of the soldier of the frozen North, and put him in trim to enjoy the sights. At an hour when many slumber, the soldiers were wide awake for [illegible] began to gather at the Fair Grounds, near the outskirts of the town. (By the way, the skirts of the town are not so large in proportion as those which encircle some of our dears at the North.) The cause of the gathering was an announcement that there would be divers funny things to see there, in the shape of greasy pigs, and poles, (not the Poles that trouble Mr. Napoleon at this time,) blindfold races, etc., "free gratis for nothing," niggers and children half price. A great many citizens were assembled with the soldiers and negroes, and in all probability more of them would have been present if they had taken the trouble to walk there; but as they did not, of course they didn't come. The citizens in Uncle Samuel's service here had put down the sufficiency of "greenbacks" to purchase numerous prizes, which were to be awarded to the successful competitor in the various games proposed. The judges, referees, and other prominent members of society, stood up in an army wagon, to which were attached two "mules," who seemed to be "alive" to the times, although they looked as if they would be behind time on some occasions; but as it was not necessary to move the wagon after it was in position, they answered their purpose remarkably well—it being that of holding up the pole of the wagon, so that Cuffy should not break his shins against it, which arrangement showed great foresight on the part of the managers. The preliminaries being all arranged, the performance opened with a race for a greasy "porker," as one of the managers announced it to be, which was a very wise performance, as the aforesaid "porker" did not resemble anything human or inhuman, and would most probably have caused a stampede among the crowd. Why he was greased puzzled many, but one of U. S.'s suggested that, as it required some fat to cook the lean, the managers had very kindly laid it on the outside. When Mr. Porker was brought forth he evidently was not aware what his duty was, as he looked much surprised, but concluded the best thing he could do was to get out of that crowd, and accordingly he proceeded to make tracks quite fast, followed by all who were inclined to race, among whom were many "American gents of African descent," who were ambitious to catch, hold, and otherwise claim this specimen of Jewish abomination. Stonewall Jackson never exhibited more tact, strategy and energy than did Porker on this occasion; and if it had not been for a combination of unforseen circumstances, the determination and gallantry of his opponents, and the treachery of all other porkers in not coming to his "support," he would have, in all probability, achieved a success that would have shed lustre and honor on his name and race. By his superior abilities he often caused confusion in the ranks of his pursuers, and in some cases caused a retirement from the pursuit. Numerous collisions occurred, especially in the colored brigade; and numerous attempts to "gobble" him up, he frustrated in the most scientific and skilful manner. One colored gemman surrounded his "train," but as his forces were inadequate, Porker easily eluded the grasp, when Mr. Colored Gemman seemed confounded at the failure of his plan. He looked at his hand—rubbed it with the other—placed it to his nasal organ, and very deliberately announced that "Dar's grease on dat are tail!" Like Binners, that tail "continued" and was run after until one of U. S. boys compelled him to halt. Sam's boys are always winners in the end.

Performance No. 2 commenced with some ten or a dozen white men, encased in sacks reaching from the feet to the shoulders, and tied tightly around the neck. These were drawn up in line one hundred yards from the judges' wagon. At the word "Go," they all started, but did not all go ahead,—some very gently laying down, because "they had nothing else to do,"—and some concluded it was a better place to lay down a little nearer the judges. Different ones picked different places to lay, and very few concluded they were not tired. One ahead of the rest "gave out" suddenly, and in coming to the perpendicular again, shoved a boot through the sack, but was first at the wagon. As he had torn the sack, the judges decided to give the prize to another subject in a whole sack.

The "next thing on the Papergram" was a blindfold race, with wheelbarrows "in hand." Ten were entered. The runners were blinded with a handkerchief around the head, placed in line, faced from the judges' wagon. At the word "Go" they were to turn around and run between the wagon and pole, some three rods from the wagon. There was some calculation and some real strategy. Those who depended on their own powers, ran wild among the crowd of spectators, who had to spread themselves in all directions to escape being run down. One smart young man had a "pointer"—another man to run beside him and direct his course. Of course he won the prize—and of course he deserved it. Another race of the "same kind" followed with similar results. Soldiers and citizens next pulled off boots and brogans for a foot race, which was short and exciting. The winning man was the one who took the prize in this case without dispute.

The managers next announced a grand performance on the greasy pole, about thirty feet high and ten inches in diameter, slushed on the upper half, which made it very "slick and smooth." As a very nice turkey was depended here, the African gents, with families, thought it a "slick" chance to get some very fine eating very cheap. Some gems of the "second edition," reduced in size, seemed to love "dat pole," judging by the manner in which they hugged it. If all the race exhibits these qualities, some people are to be pitied. As none of the performers raised themselves high enough to be seen over the heads of the crowd, the managers very kindly furnished a ladder to help the aspirants about half way to glory and reward, and also gave the spectators a chance to see the very affecting struggles of those who did not want to give up. It is not very ridiculous to see a man walk up a ladder, but it is extremely so to see him slide down a greasy pole. Some of the fast colors went up the ladder, success written all over them in the white of their eyes, in the stock of ivory, and every individual "wool" seemed to say—"Bress de Lor, if I don't hev dat turkey;" but "Sad was the change that came o'er their dreams" when the supporting ladder was removed from under them. Niggers went down, in market phrase. All visions of turkey had faded, and Sambo, in "sorrow and in grief," "left it be dar." After numerous trials, the turkey was disputed for by two small white boys, and the referee decided [illegible] between the two was necessary. The larger lad tries first, makes his mark, and comes sliding down, when the smaller lad goes to the work in earnest, makes a mark higher than the other, waves his hand to the spectators, slides down the pole, amid the cheers of the crowd.—"What's your name, sonny?" asked one of the judges. "Thomas Hall, sir," he replied, as the crowd lifted him up. "Well, Tommy, you made a good haul that time," and Thomas was hauled into the wagon, and that was hauling Hall up to receive his haul.

As the sliding was over, something more "arter." Ten darkies were tied up in the sacks for a race, and while waiting, some of the officers and men proceeded to train some of the racers, and with very good success, a Danvers boy having the winning man in his charge. As they were in line, they presented a scene for "our artist on the spot." Ten round, woolly heads; ten rows of shining ivory, and twenty very large visual organs were prominent. At the word "Go," away they went, the ten gems, some rolling in the sand, some landing on dat "wool," and a portion of them doing some of the greatest jumping that ever was done in a bag. The crowd seemed to think this a time to help the darkies along. They gathered around the hopping sables, giving them a lift this, that and the other way. When one of them fell, he was soon righted, and away he had to "trabel." One who got out of line and some ways ahead, was "shoved, pushed, and poked" along,—all he having to do was simply to jump up, as some one was ready to lend a hand. He could not fall, and would have won, if he had not unfortunately been helped outside the pole. As there was some dispute on the first heat, the gems arranged themselves for another trial, and this time the spectators remained spectators; but as two came in so near together, it was necessary for them to "try again," which resulted in a very stout and middle aged gemman, in charge of our Danvers boy, winning. As one of the racers lay on the ground an officer commenced to rub the racer's woolly head rather briskly, which caused the owner of that head to look rather black at said officer. But Mr. Sambo could not help himself, therefo[illegible] body else helped him.

G. H. Mo[illegible]

The Chesapeake.—The s[illegible] which was taken possession of b[illegible] of pirates on board, off Cape Co[illegible] before last, we are gratified to lea[illegible] re-captured on Thursday morni[illegible] Sambro harbor, N. S., about [illegible] miles from Halifax, by the steam[illegible] and Anna. The Dacotah arriv[illegible] after the capture and ordered t[illegible] and Anna into Halifax that the s[illegible] of the authorities might be rece[illegible] Three of the crew only were ca[illegible] and these were violently releas[illegible] their arrival at Halifax by "neutral[illegible] lishmen.

Murder and Bank Robbery.—[illegible] Malden Bank was visited by some[illegible] on Tuesday noon, Dec. 15th, wh[illegible] the President's son, a young [illegible] years old, in charge of the Ban[illegible] then carried off $5,000. The dee[illegible] affected only about half an hour[illegible] the discovery was made, and al[illegible] the murderer is not known, it is[illegible] the prompt measures taken will ev[illegible]ly result in his arrest. The murd[illegible] robbery was one of the boldest wh[illegible] ever occurred in this part of the c[illegible]

Singular Accident.—Yesterd[illegible] ternoon, as the 4 o'clock train fro[illegible] ton for Salem, was leaving the [illegible] Depot, a shackling bar broke, and [illegible] ment flew into the door of the c[illegible] somehow made a circuitous motion [illegible] bound, and struck the eye of Mr. [illegible] of Lynn, who was seated on the en[illegible] with his back to the door. The [illegible] understand, was destroyed. Mr. [illegible] is a saloon keeper in Lynn.—Gaz.

☞ The latest reports from the [illegible] mac Army are to the effect that [illegible] not gone into winter quarters as [illegible] by correspondents, and is not lik[illegible] do so in its present location.

☞ Senator Sumner has given n[illegible] in the Senate, of a bill to repeal all [illegible] providing for the rendition of fu[illegible] slaves.

☞ The newspaper men in Was[illegible] ton have given to Colfax, the [illegible] Speaker of the House, a hand[illegible] "spread"—as he is the first edito[illegible] elected Speaker.

☞ Capt. Albert M. Gammell, [illegible] Massachusetts regiment, and his [illegible] were killed at a crossing of the E[illegible] Railroad, in Chelsea, last Wedn[illegible] morning.

☞ The National Union Leagu[illegible] asked the President to dismiss M[illegible] Bates of Missouri, and Blair of [illegible] land, from his Cabinet.

☞ Gen. Halleck's report is do[illegible] the Generals. It censures eight of [illegible] —all commanders of departmen[illegible] corps.

Suitable Presents.—For Ladies or G[illegible] men, Rich Roman Scarfs, some choice [illegible] just received at

GEORGE S. WALKER'S
dec 23 228 Essex Str[illegible]
[See his Holiday Advertisement.]

---

29 Cents.—We have marked a lot of [illegible] cent Ribbons down to 29 cents per yard [illegible] der to close them out—they are bargains.

JOHN P. PEABOD[illegible]

A Card.

Hall of Eagle Engine Co.
South Danvers, Dec. 20th, 1863.

At a Special Meeting of the Company [illegible] this day, the following [illegible] were unanimously adopted:—

Whereas, Death's mysterious hand h[illegible] entered our midst and taken one of our [illegible] esteemed and worthy Members, it becom[illegible] as Firemen, as well as Friends, to take su[illegible] notice of this sad event; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of our be[illegible] Member, Richard W. Jacobs, the Com[illegible] has lost one of its most able and active [illegible] here.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize [illegible] the parents of the deceased, who are [illegible] called so suddenly to mourn the death of [illegible] oldest son.

Resolved, That as it is the last respe[illegible] can pay the deceased, we will attend [illegible] Funeral in a body.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolu[illegible] be sent to the parents of deceased. Also, [illegible] a copy be printed in the South Dan[illegible] Wizard.

THOMAS S. TRASK, Forema[illegible]
E. E. Roche, Clerk.

☞ C. T. Southwick is selling the be[illegible] Louis Family Flour, at wholesale prices. [illegible] Flour comes direct from the manufacture[illegible] new, and of superior quality. Please give [illegible] trial. House of Equity, Dec. 16, 18[illegible]

Fair and Christmas Tree.

The Ladies of the Lafayette street M[illegible] Church will hold a FAIR and CHRISTM[illegible] TREE, at Mechanic Hall,

The Night before Christmas

—also—

Christmas Day and Evening, Dec. 25, [illegible]

☞ Admission 15 cents.

The object of this Fair is to pay off [illegible] floating debt of the church.

The Entertainment will comprise a "Ch[illegible] mas Tree;" a great variety of Useful [illegible] Fancy Articles, suitable for Chistmas Prese[illegible] Refreshments in the Antiquarian Style.

☞ An elegant FAMILY BIBLE (the [illegible] fer of a gentleman for this purpose) wil[illegible] presented to the gentleman bringing the la[illegible] number of ladies.

Salem, Dec. 16, 1863.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR CROCKERY.—First quality of White Granite Ware, marked down and selling at 20 per cent less than cost, by C. T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 Lowell Street.

☞ SHAKE AND BURN! Shake and Burn!! Shake and Burn!!!

This is the life of agony endured by the sufferer from Fever and Ague. He wanders like an uncertain shadow, never knowing what moment he may be prostrated, and therefore disinclined to give any serious attention to business. Such is the condition of thousands in town and country. It is no exaggeration to say that Fever and Ague kills more people than any twenty diseases in America. For a sure and safe cure of this terrible affliction, we take pleasure in recommending HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which have obtained a wide reputation for rapid and magical effects in renovating the system when shaken by this disease.

For sale by Druggists and dealers generally, 1 mo dec 9th.

CROSBY'S STORE, and look at the large variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS, Essex street.

Marriages.

In Dec. 17, Mr Charles A Fisher to Miss F Allen.

In Dec. 15th, Mr. Joseph Wheeler of Va., to Mrs Mary Jane Moulton of Salem. No cards.

In Sheffield, Dec 15, Mr Helon R Wiley to Miss E Bancroft.

Deaths.

In this town, Dec 18, of lung fever, Richard Hobbs, aged 28 years.

In Salem, of consumption, John O'Regan, aged 28 years.

In Salem, Dec. 13th, Mr James Marston, 73 yrs; 14th, Mrs Lovicy C, wife of Mr Joseph Hodge, 36 years; 16th, Miss Ruth Lambert, 3 yrs 4 mos; 18th, Mr William Dowst, 71 yrs 6 mos; 19th, Thomas Trask Esq., 72 years 7 mths; 21st, Mr Edward B Symonds, 45 years 8 mths; Richard H Wheatland, M D, 33 yrs.

In Portland, Me., Miss Hannah Martin, formerly of South Danvers, aged 73 years.

In Beverly, Dec 16, Capt Henry Morgan, 71 years.

In South Malden, Dec 18, Mr John S Moreland, formerly of Danvers, 76 years 4 months.—W. H. papers please copy.

In New Brunswick, N. J., Dec 14, Mrs Mary Agge, formerly of Salem, 82 yrs 8 mos.

In Marysville, Cal., Dec 13, Mrs Lucy A, wife of Mr Joseph F Smith, and daughter of Mr X. H. Shaw of Salem, 30 yrs 10 months.

Advertisements.

Christmas and New Year.

JUST RECEIVED AT

COLMAN'S,

10 FRONT ST., SALEM, 10.

BLACK Walnut and other Writing Desks, and Working Boxes;
Drums, Sleds, Wheelbarrows,
Photograph Albums, Fancy Scarfs,
Gloves and Mittens,
Rubber Soled Boots, for Men and Boys;
Also, Leather Soled Boots,
—with a great variety of other—

FANCY GOODS.

☞ Call and be paid for calling—No. 10 Front Street.
Dec. 23. BENJ. COLMAN.

THE BEST GAMES;

THE NICE BOOKS;
CHOICE BOOKS FOR CHILDREN;
FINE WOOD CARVINGS;
FANCY ARTICLES;
BIBLES AND PRAYER-BOOKS;
—and a great variety of articles suitable for

PRESENTS.

At G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

RICH VASES.

LAVA and Terra Cotta Vases; Parian Vases; Gilt China Vases in great variety, at dec 23 S C & E A SIMOND'S, 32 Frot st.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Dec. 22, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Alfred Briggs,	Maria McDermot,
Esther Ferren,	Howes Nourse,
Eben P. Dole,	John H. Sullivan,
Margaret Flynn,	Andrew R. Sears,
William Jervis,	Mary S. Wiggin,
Charles W. Kimball,	Susan R. Wood,
Mary [illegible]	Ada E. Waverly.

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

Horse Railroad Notice.

On and after TUESDAY, Dec. 15, the cars of the Salem and South Danvers Railroad Co. will run through from South Danvers to Beverly,

Leaving South Danvers at 7.00 A. M., and every half hour until 10.30 A. M., and from 10.30 A. M. till 10.30 P. M., every twenty minutes.

Leaving Beverly at 7.00 A. M., and every half hour until 11.30 A. M.; and from 11.30 A. M. till 10.30 P. M., every twenty minutes.

M. H. HALE,
dec 16 Sup't. S. & S. D. R. R. Co.

SELLING OFF

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS

For a few days previous to taking account of stock, at

REDUCED PRICES.

GEORGE P. DANIELS,
No. 238 Essex Street,
Nearly opposite Horse Railroad Office.

Salem, Dec 9—tf

L. MERRILL & SON,
DEALERS IN
DRUGS, MEDICINES,
Fancy and Toilet Articles,
Perfumery, Stationery, Cutlery, &c.
VILLAGE BANK BUILDING,
DANVERS, MASS.
Particular attention paid to Physicians' Prescriptions. LEVI MERRILL, W. S. MERRILL.

Danvers, Dec 2—6m

The Singer Manufacturing Co's
LETTER A SEWING MACHINE
For Family Use and Light Manufacturing Purposes, is on exhibition and for sale
AT ASHLAND HALL,
SOUTH DANVERS SQUARE,
—BY—
JOHN H. CHOATE,
Agent for the sale of
SEWING MACHINES,
SILK, THREAD, NEEDLES, COTTONS, &c., &c.
—Also—
Paraffine Sewing Machine Oil,
The best oil for all kinds of light machinery.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

Men's Clothing.

In this department can be found the Latest Styles, the Best Goods, and the Largest Assortment in Essex County. We have our best Goods made to our order. Gentlemen in want of a

GOOD OVERCOAT,

or a good fitting suit of Clothes, are invited to call and examine and decide for themselves whether it is for their interest to get a suit made or buy at F. S. PECK'S and save money. 240 is the place.

Three Small Boys Lost! Their father found them at 240, and fitted them to a good suit of Clothing. If your boys should be missing at any time, 240 is the place to find them or clothe them ot low prices.

Boys' Clothing.

We have fitted up a large room expressly for Boys' CLOTHING, where can be found a large assortment of the latest styles Over-Coats, Under-Coats, Pants, Vests, Jackets and Suits. We have our best goods made to our order, and have pieces saved so that customers can have a small piece with the suits. 240 is the only store in Essex County where you can find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing. Call at 240 and decide whether the above is true. F. S. PECK.

We don't believe in letting the boys go to Boston to buy their Clothing, and pay more than the same goods are sold for at PECK'S, 240 Essex Street.

240

TWO BOYS RUN OVER.—A Lady and two Boys were seen to get out of the Horse Cars, and the Boys started and run right over into 240, and were fitted to a good suit of clothes at low prices. 240 is the place.

Furnishing Goods.

The Latest Styles in this department can be found and as large an assortment of as Good Goods as in any store in Salem. Men's and Boys' Under Shirts and Drawers, all sizes; Men's and Boys' Gloves and Socks, all sizes 15 cts to [illegible] prices, from 15c to $2 50; Braces 15 cts to $2 50; [illegible] and Fancy Shirts, Stocks, Ties, Collars, Bosoms. Also, a large assortment of FANCY GOODS. You can save money by purchasing your Furnishing Goods at
F. S. PECK'S, 240.

☞ Visit the Boys' Clothing Department, at 240, if you wish to find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing, all prices.

Hats and Caps.

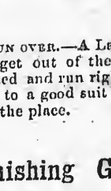
In this department can be found the Latest Styles and the best quality of Goods, which will be sold at a small profit.

We sell you a Coat or a pair of Pants or a suit of Clothes, and make a small profit, thus enabling us to afford to sell you a Hat or Cap low, and we are GOING TO DO IT. That's What's the Matter.

☞ 240 is the place to buy Hats and Caps.

The public are respectfully invited to call and examine the assortment, and see if what we say is true.

F. S. PECK,
240 Essex street, Salem.



HOUSEKEEPERS, ATTENTION!

JACKSON'S
KITCHEN FURNISHING ROOMS,
Under MECHANIC HALL, Salem.

Parties about commencing House-Keeping will find this the only place in Salem where a complete assortment of House-keeping articles can be found. Dec 9—6w

John P. Peabody.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c., &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce.
Worsteds, Black or white, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 ESSEX STREET.
dec 23

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce.
Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
dec 23

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce.
Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
dec 23

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce.
Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
Dec. 23.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce.
Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
dec 23

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce.
Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
dec 23

NEW GOODS—AUTUMN SEASON, 1863.

CLOAKS, DRESS GOODS, &c.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

We have now in Stock a great variety of LADIES' CLOAKS, made in the best manner from our own Cloths.

These garments arse in all Plush, Chinchilla and heavy Beavers, hand made,—and our prices for them are very low.

We are also making to order from measure a great many elegant Cloaks.

RICH DRESS GOODS.

We invite attention to our Stock of LADIES' DRESS GOODS. It is unusually complete in Thibets, Ottomans, Repps, Germania Cloths, Alpaccas, Plaids, M. De Laines, etc., etc.

We have a very large Stock of BEST AMERICAN PRINTS, (Merrimack and Pacific's, Manchester's, Dunnell's, etc. etc.,)—at Lowest Prices.

We would invite special attention to our Stock of Plain Black and Fancy DRESS SILKS.

We have elegant PLAIN COLORED SILKS, at a Bargain.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' CASHMERE MANTLES.

We have a fine Stock of LADIES' UNDER-CLOTHING.

We have a splendid Stock of BALMORAL SKIRTS—from $2.00 up.

We have a fine Stock of SHAWLS.

We have a fine Stock of Gent's SHIRT FRONTS, LINENS, WHITE GOODS, KID GLOVES, HOSIERY, etc.

We have a large Stock of COTTONS, white and colored FLANNELS, DIAPERS, QUILTS, HAND LOOM DAMASKS for TABLE COVERINGS, etc.

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,
188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Nov. 25, 1863.

Christmas and New Year's Remembrances.

ELEGANT GOODS
—AT—
BROWNING & LONG'S.

Bronze Figures, Swiss Carved Bracelets, Ornamental Ash Stands,	Swiss Thermometers, Vienna Bronze Articles, Carved Wood Ornaments,	Cigar Cases, Fancy Combs, Party Fans,
Coral Pins and Ear Rings, Gent's Scarf Pins and Rings, Oxedye Sleeve Buttons,	Leather Belts and Pockets, Turkey Morocco Bags, Portmonnaies,	Steel Jewelry, Paris Cravats, French Ruffled Hdkfs.
Initial Hdkfs., Lace Barbes, Lace Veils,	Malta Lace Collars, Embroidered Collars and Cuffs, Real Point Collars, Embroidered Slippers.	Real Thread Veils, Lace Sleeves, Hdkfs.,

☞ Also—An unusual rich variety of Hand-Knit WOOLEN GOODS, of entirely new styles, very suitable for Holiday Gifts.

THE ASSORTMENT CONSISTS OF
ALL NEW GOODS,
IN RICH AND ELABORATE DESIGNS.

BROWNING & LONG,
Salem, December 23, 1863. 177 Essex St.

DENTAL NOTICE.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,
FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.
Oct. 3—mo.

M. A. PORTER,

236 Essex Street, - - - Salem, Mass.,
(Opposite Harsa Railroad Office.)
MAKES TO ORDER BEST QUALITIES OF

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS.

A Good Assortment of Dress and Cloak Button, Braids, Spool Cotton, Small Wares, and Thread Store articles generally.

236 Essex Street, - - - Salem, Mass.,
M. A. PORTER.

R. W. WILKINSON,

DEALER IN
Newspapers, Periodicals, and Stationery of every Description.

FOREIGN and DOMESTIC FRUITS, consisting of Oranges, Lemons, Dates, Figs, Prunes, &c., &c.

Sauces, Pickles and Preserves; Castana, Naples and English Walnuts; Hard, Soft and Paper-shelled Almonds; choice brands of Tobacco and Cigars; also a general assortment of Confectionery of every description.

Also a large and well selected stock of Toys, suitable for children and the Holiday Gifts.

Ice Cream furnished to parties at short notice and in quantities to suit. Wedding Cake and every variety of nice cake furnished to parties or families.

STORE—WARREN BANK BUILDING.
South Danvers, Nov'r 11, 1863.

Messenger's Notice.

ESSEX, SS. December 11th, 1863.

A WARRANT has been duly issued by Hon. GEORGE F. CHOATE, Judge of the Court of Insolvency for said county of Essex, against the estate of

BENJAMIN H. PALMER, of Danvers, in said County, gentleman, an insolvent debtor, and the payment of any debts, or the delivery of any property belonging to said insolvent debtor, to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law.

The first meeting of the creditors of said insolvent debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency, at the Court House at Salem, in said county, on the 28th day of December current, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debts, and the choice of an assignee or assignees.

CHARLES H. ADAMS, Dep. Sheriff.
December 16—2w

ON HAND!

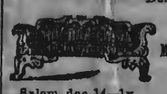
A LARGE LOT
—OF—
READY TRIMMED BONNETS,
Which will be sold at
REDUCED PRICES,
—AT—
REITH & CO'S.,
No. 2 WEST BLOCK,
ESSEX STREET.
One door West of J. F. ALMY & Co's.
Salem, Dec. 16, 1863. tf

PIANO FORTES.

I HAVE those splendid Extra-Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Manner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melodeons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every particular.

S. MACKINTIRE, General Agent.
No. 218 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

CURRIER & MILLETT,
Dealers in



Furniture, Chairs,
MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &
259 & 261 ESSEX ST.
Salem, dec 14—1y

GEORGE TAPLEY,
(DANVERS),
AGENT FOR THE
John Hancock Life Insurance Co.
Office, 41 State Street, Boston.

FRENCH CHINA.

FRENCH China Tea Ware; Cake Baskets; Custard Stands; Mustards and Salts; Mugs; Candlesticks, etc, at dec 23 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

George S. Walker.

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

TO THE GENTLEMEN.

SUITABLE AND USEFUL PRESENTS can be selected from my choice stock of
GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,
Comprising the most desirable styles of
SCARFS, Roman, English and French STOCKS and TIES;
All Wool Travelling and Army SHIRTS;
Warm UNDER GARMENTS;
HOSIERY—all kinds;
UMBRELLAS and CANES;
Linen and Silk HDKFS.;
CALF MITTS—Lamb Lines;
Also—every style of WINTER GLOVES, lined and unlined, in Buck, Calf, Kid, Cloth, Beaver, &c., with a good variety of

FANCY GOODS,

Such as:—
POCKET BOOKS, RAZORS,
RAZOR STROPS, CLOTH BRUSHES,
TOOTH BRUSHES &., &c.
ALL AT FAIR PRICES.

GEORGE S. WALKER'S,
Dealer in Gent's Furnishing Goods & Toilet Articles, opposite Eastern Railroad Station.
dec 23

A. J. Archer & Co

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
WILL OPEN THIS MORNING
A LARGE STOCK OF
CLOAKS AND SACKS.
Price from $7 to $25 00.
Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.

Blacks and Colors
IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES.

Which we are prepared to make into garments per order, in the very best manner, and at
LOWEST PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
Nov 4

Hoop Skirts at Cost.

WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost. A. J. ARCHER & CO.,
nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,

—BY—
C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,
Constantly on hand at
NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,
ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.
South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,
(Successors to M. Black)
DANVERS-PORT,
DEALERS IN
WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Old Company's Lehigh,
Locust Mountain, Black Heath,
Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.
OFFICE—No. 6 Allen's Building.
Order Box at post office, South Danvers, an post office, Danvers.
G. W. POTTER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. July 19—tf

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.

WARREN BANK.

U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,

For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.

FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.
South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

DR. J. M. CROSVENOR,
Respectfully announces to the citizens of South Danvers that he has located himself in said town; his office may be found in
TRASK'S BUILDING,
ON MAIN STREET,
Residence No. 66 Main Street, next house below the Peabody Institute.
South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.

OVERCOATS, &C.

AT COLMAN'S,
NO. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

I WILL sell all OVERCOATS on hand at the actual cost (to close), at prices from $3.50 to $15.00. Business Coats, Pants and Vests, at small advance. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Balmoral Boots, with Rubber Soles, at the lowest prices.

Men's, Boy's and Women's leather Boots and Shoes; Best Table Cutlery; Plated Table and Tea Spoons; Plated Forks;—500 dozen Brown Windsor Soap at 40 cents per dozen; Painted Carpeting, Umbrellas, Clocks, Looking Glasses, Trunks, Bags, Work Boxes, Stove Polish, Blacking, &c. Furnishing Goods—60 dozen Buck and other Gloves; 20 doz Mittens, Leather and Woolen, (cheaper than can be had at any other place.)

20 Dozen Under Shirts and Drawers; Boy's and Men's Comforters; Hats and Caps; Window Curtains; Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Picture and Bell Cord, &c, &c.

Is a dollar worth saving? If so, call at COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front St., Salem, as he is determined to sell.
Dec 2—6w BO BO

RUBBER SOLED SHOES!
GENERAL Depot, No. 10 Front Street, Salem.
dec 2—3m O R and B

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.
Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker,
34 Front Street.
Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

ON SATURDAY NEXT, at 9½ o'clock, will be sold at No. 34 Front street:

A QUANTITY of new and second hand Furniture, Sofa, Lounges, 2 Black Walnut Marble Top Tables, Feather Beds, Mattresses, Carpets.

BOOTS AND SHOES—An assortment of Women's and Children's Boots and Shoes.

DRY GOODS—An invoice of Dry Goods, Cassimeres, Satinets, Prints, DeLaines, Cotton Cloth, Shawls, Hosiery, &c.

CROCKERY WARE—The balance of an invoice of Crockery Ware, 11 dozen Canton Custard Cups.

TOBACCO—6 Boxes prime Tobacco, 4 Cases Cream of Tartar, 3 Cases Ground Pepper in ½ and ¼ lb Papers.

M. E. CRANE,
168 ESSEX STREET.

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her Stock of
FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GOODS,
comprising all desirable styles.
Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French Flowers and Laces;
Straw Goods of all descriptions,
Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, late styles; Ladies Dress Caps;
and all articles usually found in such a Store at the lowest prices for cash.
Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Collars, &c., constantly on hand.
M. E. CRANE,
Successor to M M FLETCHER.
Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER
DENTAL SURGEON,
No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, MASS.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass all other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; are much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless.

Office Established in 1840.

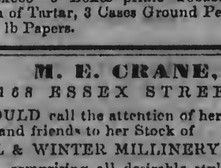
PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY
NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license to manufacture such Plates and Gums, as patients using such Dentures made by Infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

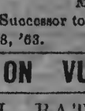
AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19 B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,



Druggist and Apothecary,
88 MAIN STREET,
Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.
Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.
South Danvers, May 29, 1861. 1y

GEO. E. MEACOM



Dealer in
DRUGS & MEDICINES,
Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c
126 · · MAIN ST · · 126
Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers.

T. A. SWEETSER,

Druggist & Apothecary,
37 Main St., So. Danvers
DEALER IN
Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.
Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands. Perfumery. Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.
37 MAIN STREET.

A Card.

NUMEROUS applications having been made for a Course of FIRST CLASS CONCERTS in this City, the managers of the SALEM TEMPERANCE LEAGUE take pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been made with Mr. GILMORE for a course of THREE CONCERTS, provided sufficient encouragement shall be given.

The Concerts to be of the same character as that given recently under the auspices of the League.

Subscription papers at $1 00 for the Course, may be found at the Bookstores of Messrs. George Creamer, Henry P. Ives, Whipple & Smith, and D. B. Brooks & Brother, Salem; B. F. Stevens, South Danvers.

Salem, November 18, 1863.

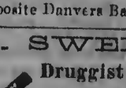
DR. E. F. KITTREDGE,
From Lowell, formerly of New Ipswich, N. H., Has removed his office and residence to
NO. 42 MAIN STREET,
SOUTH DANVERS, MASS.

Dr. K., from an extensive and successful professional experience of upwards of twenty years, feels justified in saying that he can treat diseases to the satisfaction of his patients, and to the credit of himself.

Office hours from 7 to 9 A. M., and from 6 to 9 P. M.
South Danvers, Nov 13, 1863.

NEW STORE!

Flour! Flour!



JUST RECEIVED, a fresh supply of CHOICE BRANDS, direct from the Mills, for sale, wholesale and retail, at LOWEST PRICES, by
E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

BAND CHINA.

GOLD Band China Tea Ware, at
S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

Special Notices.

[COMMUNICATED.]

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find A SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh, Kings County, New York.

Sept. 23—4m.

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

—ALSO—

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

Suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 or 20 acres each, at the following prices for the present, viz: 20 acres for $200, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable by one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in CHETWOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by one dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Chetwood, Washington Township, Burlington, New Jersey. For further information, apply with a P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

B. FRANKLIN CLARK,
feb 18, 1863 No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS—WARRANTED IN ALL CASES.—Can be relied on! Never fail to cure! Do not nauseate! Are speedy in action! No change of diet required! Do not interfere with business pursuits! Can be used without detection! Upward of 200 cures the past month—some of them very severe cases. Over one hundred physicians have used them in their practice, and all speak well of their efficacy, and approve of their composition, which is entirely vegetable and harmless on the system. Hundreds of certificates can be shown.

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS are the original and only genuine Specific Pill. They are adapted for male and female, old or young, and is the only reliable remedy for effecting a permanent and speedy cure in all cases of Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, with all its train of evils, such as Urethral and Vaginal Discharges, Gleet, the Whites, Nightly or Involuntary Emissions, Incontinence, Genital Debility and Irritability, Impotence, Weakness or Loss of Power, Nervous Debility, &c., &c., all of which arise principally from Sexual Excesses or Self-Abuse, or some constitutional derangement, and incapacitates the sufferer from fulfilling the duties of married life. In all Sexual diseases, as Gonorrhea, Gleet, and Strictures, and in Diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, they act as a charm! Relief is experienced by taking a single box.

Sold by all the principal druggists. Price $1.

They will be sent by mail, securely sealed, and confidentially, on receipt of the money, by

J. BRYAN, M. D,
No. 76 Cedar street, New York.

Consulting Physician for the treatment of Seminal, Urinary, Sexual, and Nervous Diseases, who will send, free to all, the following valuable work, in sealed envelope:

THE FIFTIETH THOUSAND.—DR. BELL'S TREATISE on Self-Abuse, Premature Decay, Impotence and Loss of Power, Sexual Diseases, Seminal Weakness, Nightly Emissions, Genital Debility, &c., &c., a pamphlet of 64 pages, containing important advice to the afflicted, and which should be read by every sufferer, as the means of cure in the severest stages is plainly set forth. Two stamps required to pay postage. December 9, 1863—1 yr.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. HARVEY'S FEMALE PILLS have never yet failed in removing difficulties arising from obstruction, or stoppage of nature, or in restoring the system to perfect health when suffering from spinal affections, Prolapsus, Uteri, the Whites, or other weakness of the Uterine Organs. The Pills are perfectly harmless on the constitution, and may be taken by the most delicate female without causing distress—the same time they act like a charm by strengthening, invigorating and restoring the system to a healthy condition, and by bringing on the monthly period with regularity, no matter from what causes the obstruction may arise. They should, however, NOT be taken during the first three or four months of pregnancy, though safe at any other time, as miscarriage would be the result.

Each box contains 60 Pills. Price $1.

DR. HARVEY'S TREATISE on Diseases of Females, Pregnancy, Miscarriage, Barrenness, Sterility, Reproduction, and Abuses of Nature, and emphatically the Ladies' Private Medical Adviser, a pamphlet of 64 pages, sent free to any address. Six cents required to pay postage.

The Pills and book will be sent by mail when desired, securely sealed, and prepaid, by

J. BRYAN, M. D., General Agent,
No. 76 Cedar street, New York.

☞ Sold by all the principal druggists.

December 9, 1863—1 yr.

TERRIBLE DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR THE MILLION!—A most valuable and wonderful publication. A work of 400 pages, and 30 colored engravings. DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an original and popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Physiology, Functions, and Sexual Disorders of every kind, with Never-Failing Remedies for their speedy cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been, and still is, unbounded, but at the earnest solicitation of numerous persons, he has been induced to extend his medical usefulness through the medium of his "Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of secret vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of one of the most awful and destructive scourges ever visited mankind. One copy, securely enveloped, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or 3 copies for $1. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 9 Dutch Street, New York. ie 3—1y

MANHOOD;

HOW LOST! HOW RESTORED!

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.

Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.—By ROBT. J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,

127 BOWERY, NEW YORK, POST OFFICE BOX, 4586

Sept 16—1yr

Salem and Danvers Aqueduct Co'y.

ALL persons using the water of the Salem and South Danvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that the water rents, for the six months ending Nov. 1, 1863, are now due, and that they are required to pay the same, at the office of the Company, No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st day of Nov. next. Should the bills remain unpaid for thirty days, the water will be stopped, in conformity to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours, from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 5.

Per order of the Directors,
Salem, Oct. 1. WM. JELLY, Collector.

Co-Partnership Notice.

I HAVE admitted as partners in my business from date Sept. 1st, 1863, SAMUEL E. STACY and WALTER K. BIGELOW,—said partnership to be known as JAMES F. ALMY & CO., and to expire, by limitation, in three years. (Sept. 1st, 1866.)

JAMES F. ALMY,
188 Essex, opposite Central St., Salem, Mass.
Oct. 7.

THE NEW JUVENILES.

DAYS and Nights on the Battle Field;
The Farmer Boy;
Dick Onslow; and a fine and rare stock of English Juveniles, at dec 9 G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Advertisements.

HELMBOLD'S
GENUINE PREPARATIONS.

COMPOUND FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, a Positive and Specific Remedy for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, and Dropsical Swellings.

This Medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excite the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Watery or Calcareous deposits, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

—:o:—

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

For Weaknesses arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion of Abuse, attended with the following symptoms:—

Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power.
Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing.
Weak Nerves, Trembling,
Horror of Disease, Wakefulness,
Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back,
Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System,
Hot Hands. Flushing of the Body,
Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions on the Face,
Pallid Countenance.

Those symptoms, if allowed to go on, which this medicine invariably removes, soon follows

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,—

In one of which the patient may expire.

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "direful Diseases."

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION."

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, BUT NONE WILL CONFESS THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS.

And Melancholy Deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the Truth of the assertion.

The Constitution once effected with Organic Weakness requires the aid of Medicine to Strengthen and Invigorate the system,

Which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A Trial will convince the most skeptical.

—:o:—

FEMALES—FEMALES—FEMALES.

In many Affections peculiar to Females the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated Scirrhous state of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from Indiscretion or Habits of Dissipation, or In the

DECLINE OR CHANGE OF LIFE.

—:o:—

Take no more Balsam, Mercury, or unpleasant Medicines for unpleasant and dangerous diseases.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH CURES

SECRET DISEASES

In all their Stages, At little Expense
Little or no change in Diet, No inconvenience.
And no Exposure.

It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby Removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous, Diseased and wormout Matter.

Thousands upon Thousands who have been the Victims of Quacks, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "POISON" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been shut up in the system, to break out in an aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

—:o:—

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE or FEMALE, from whatever cause originating and no matter of HOW LONG STANDING. Diseases of these Organs requires the aid of a DIURETIC. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU IS THE GREAT DIURETIC, and is certain to have the desired effect in all Diseases for which it is recommended.

Evidence of the most reliable and responsible character will accompany the medicine.

Price $1.00 per bottle, or six for $5.00.

Delivered to any Address, securely packed from observation

Describe Symptoms in all Communications.

Cures Guaranteed! Advice Gratis!!

Address letters for information to

H. B. HELMBOLD, Chemist,
104 South Tenth-st., bel. Chestnut, Phila.

HELMBOLD'S Medical Depot.
HELMBOLD'S Drug & Chemical Warehouse.
594 Broadway, New York.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS AND UNPRINCIPLED DEALERS who endeavor to dispose "of their own" and "other" articles on the reputation attained by

Helmbold's Genuine Preparations.
" " Extract Buchu.
" " Sarsaparilla.
" " Improved Rose Wash.

SOLD BY

ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S. TAKE NO OTHER.

Cut out the Advertisement and send for it.

AND AVOID IMPOSITION AND EXPOSURE.

December 16, 1863—1 yr.

ATTRACTIVE

AND UNRIVALLED STOCK OF

New Fall and Winter
CLOTHING,

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

The Largest, The Cheapest, The Best Made

STOCK OF GOODS

IN BOSTON OR THE UNION,

Containing all the WONDERS and NOVELTIES of the season, consisting in part of

Moscow Beaver SACKS and FROCKS.

OVERCOATS.

English Pilot OVERCOATS.
" Melton "
Chinchilla "
German Castor Cloth OVERCOATS.
Fine French Cloth "
Petersham, Kersey and Union Beaver OVERCOATS.

Making together one of the most attractive and desirable Stocks to select an OVERCOAT from that can be found.

Fine Cloth SACKS,
UNDERCOATS,
BUSINESS FROCKS,
ENGLISH SACKS,
Farmers' and Mechanics'
WORKING COATS.

PANTALOONS AND VESTS.

More than Five Hundred New Patterns and Varieties, of every color, hue, grade and fabric.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

A Very Large and Elegant Assorted Stock which we believe CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

To all who may be about visiting Boston in search of anything in our line, we would call attention to the

Head-Quarters for BARGAINS.

GEO. H. LANE,

31 & 32 DOCK SQUARE,

BOSTON.

Oct 21, 1863. 2m

HEYLINGBERG'S

Hair Dressing Saloon,

24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	8 cts,
Hair Cutting,	15 cts,
Champooing,	15 cts.

Particular attention paid to dying hair and whiskers, in one preparation, without washing or scrubbing.

New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.

South Danvers, Nov. 25, 1862.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED
STOMACH BITTERS.

A pure and powerful Tonic, corrective and alterative of wonderful efficacy in disease of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Headache, Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Cramps and Spasms, and all Complaints of either Sex, arising from Bodily Weakness whether inherent in the system or produced by special causes.

Nothing that is not wholesome, genial and restorative in its nature enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant: but it is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

It is well to be forearmed against disease, and, so far as the human system can be protected by human means against maladies engendered by an unwholesome atmosphere, impure water and other external causes, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS may be relied on as a safeguard.

In districts infested with Fever and Ague, it has been found infallible as a preventive and irresistible as a remedy and thousands who resort to it under apprehension of an attack, escape the scourage; and thousands who neglect to avail themselves of its protective qualities in advance, are cured by a very brief course of this marvelous medicine. Fever and Ague patients, after being plied with quinine for months in vain, until fairly saturated with that dangerous alkaloid, are not unfrequently restored to health within a few days by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this agreeable Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of DISPEPSIA and in less confirmed forms of INDIGESTION. Acting as a gentle and painless apperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the CONSTIPATION superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is most conclusive, and from both sexes.

The agony of BILIOUS COLIC is immediately assuaged by a single dose of the stimulant, and by occasionally resorting to it, the return of the complaint may be prevented.

As a General Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility and Decrepitude arising from OLD AGE, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is The Only Safe Stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

No family medicine has been so universally, and, it may be truly added, deservedly popular with the intelligent portion of the community, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

Prepared by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and Storekeepers everywhere.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the Estate of LYDIA DAY, late of South Danvers, in said County, widow, deceased, testate: GREETING:

WHEREAS, JOSEPH MOORE, the Executor of the will and testament of said deceased has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said County, on the first Tuesday in January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And the said executor is ordered to serve this Citation by publishing the same once a week, in the South Danvers Wizard, a newspaper printed at South Danvers, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Tuesday.

[illegible] Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of December, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-three.

A. C. GOODELL, Register.

December 16—3w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of SALLY VERY, late of South Danvers, in said county, widow, deceased: Greeting:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by HARRIET VERY, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed, may be issued to her, the executor named in said will having declined to accept the trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Tuesday of January next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same.

And said Harriet Very is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the South Danvers Wizard, printed at So. Danvers, the last publication to be two days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this second day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty three.

A. C. GOODELL, Register.

December 9, 1863. 3w

Assignee's Notice.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Essex ss. Before Hon. George F. Choate, Judge of Probate and Insolvency in and for said county: The subscriber has been duly appointed assignee of the estate of

BENJAMIN C. OSBORNE of So. Danvers, in said county, tanner and currier, an insolvent debtor:

The second meeting of the creditors of said insolvent debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency, at Salem, in said county, on the twenty-eighth day of December current, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.

EBEN S. POOR, Assignee.

December 9, 1863. 3w

Cards.

WILLIAM G. CHOATE,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD
Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, So. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,
SURGEON DENTIST,
No, 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
Jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,
DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
febl3 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.
jan2-1y

E. S. FLINT,
DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Poduce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH
No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aueroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,
HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

F. POOLE
INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

H. L. HADLEY,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
Danvers.
Claims against the Government for Bounty, Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to.

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,
Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,
CIVIL AND MILITARY,
Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No. 5.
J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. MCLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

WM. C. HENDERSON,
MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
NO. [illegible] DERBY STREET,
Sign of "Nest of Boxes,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,
WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufacturers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.

dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,
GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,
—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

MORRIS'
RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.
Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game, Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.
Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.
Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,
FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.

He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.

He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.

All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,
Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS
CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND
PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince-Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.

BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.

ap 29 ANN R. BRAY.

E. F. BURNHAM,
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.
Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

R. C. MANNING & CO.
Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS.
N. C. ROBBINS, R. C. MANNING.
oct17

WALKING MADE EASY.

DR. P. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

AARON T. LOWE,
DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

THOMAS PINNOCK,
SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.

Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.

Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.

Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST,

WOULD and friends to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem-stitched Hdkfs;
sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

MOULTON'S
NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.

South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

PATTERSON'S
LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL—the best in the world for domestic use.

POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

ANDERSON'S
Spring Bed Bottom

(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.

August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,

And for sale by

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for

MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in

LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPED LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find relief in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprang up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its glorious ascent. Some come out and claim to tell the public they use unknown Barks from South America, with any quantity of rum from the West Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the langour caused by weakness and debility; it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting natnre to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co, 25 Tremont Street, G. G. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.

Feb 29, 1863 1y

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.

Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block

Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype, Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water Colors. ☞ Particular attention paid to restoring old Daguerreotypes, and other pictures—and making enlarged copies, highly finished. may

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection.

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn.
Capital—$500,000.
Amos W. Prentice, Pres. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital and Surplus—$260,000.
James F. Whitney, Pres. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston.
Capital—$150,000.
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass.
Capital and Assets—$375,000.
Caleb Rice, Pres. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.
William Mack, M. D., Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
oct b20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes and patent leather Pictures, of varous sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views taken when desired. jan 11

WINTER ARRANG
TO LYNN & BOS
BY OMNIBUS & HORS
W. F. BURNHA

Line of Omnibuses will leave the L Omnibus Office, No 6 Allen's Build vers passing down Main Street, thro Street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays incl Leave South Danvers at 7.50 o'cl and 2.50 P. M.

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, We A. M., 2.40 and 5.40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving the office at 1 at 8.15 A. M., 1.15 and 5.15 P. M., will buses at Lynn, at the above named passengers to South Danvers.

Tickets to Lynn,
Through to Boston,

Gravesend, Woodend, a Depot Route.

ON and after Monday, Nov 2, in ad route, an Omnibus will leave Sou Lynn, to connect with the steam an times daily,—Sundays excepted,—re Gravesend and Woodend, to the Cen and Horse Railroad Station, corner Broad Streets leaving South Danvers necting with the 7.25 steam cars for B (connecting with the 11.10 train), and ing with the 4.50 train); and returni from the Spring Street Station and C pot, at 8 A M, and 1 and 6 P M.

Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by " " " "

Through Tickets to and from Boston the Drivers and Conductors.

South Danvers, Salem & Route.

THE subscriber having purchased ley the Omnibus line running Lynn, would announce that it will Stage Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, S for Salem, at 7.30 A M, and 2.30 P M. Stage Office in Central St, Salem, at 3.30 P M for Lynn. Returning will lea A M and 5 P M; and Salem for South D A M, and 6.15 P M.

Passengers between South Danvers a be called for by leaving orders at the Passengers called for at reasonable is given at the office

EXPRESS BUSINE

Between South Danvers and Lynn pe ed to, on reasonable terms.

Extra Coaches furnished at short not

W. F. BU

South Danvers, Oct 28, 1863.

CROUT & MUNR
SOUTH DANVERS & B
RAILROAD EXPR

Express leaves South Danvers at
Freight " " at
Express leaves Boston at "
Freight " " at
OFFICE at FREIGHT DEPO
Danvers Square.

Express Office in Boston, 3 Washing
Freight Office, 48 Kilby S

Particular attention paid to remo niture, collecting Bills, Notes, Draf

Smallest favors thankfully received.

South Danvers, august 26—tf

MARSHALL'S
DANVERS, SO. DANVERS &
EXPRESS.

Leave DANVERS (daily) at 9 A. M.

South Danvers Wizard.

VOL. IV. SOUTH DANVERS, MASS., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1863. NO

THE SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD
Is published every WEDNESDAY, at Allen's building, South Danvers Square.
TERMS—Two Dollars a year.
ADVERTISEMENTS inserted at reasonable rates.

CHARLES D. HOWARD,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

H. L. HADLEY,
LOCAL EDITOR, DANVERS.

Special Notices.

S—T—1860—X.

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea, Cholera and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They are the best Bitters in the world. They make the weak man strong, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are made of pure St. Croix Rum, the celebrated Calisaya Bark, roots and herbs, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage, without regard to age or time of day. Particularly recommended to delicate persons requiring a gentle stimulant. Sold by all Grocers, Druggists, Hotels and Saloons. P. H. Drake & Co., 202 Broadway, New York.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

This delightful article for preserving and beautifying the human hair is again put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill and attention, which first created its immense and unprecedented sales of over one million bottles annually! It is still sold at 25 cents in large bottles. Two million bottles can easily be sold in a year when it is again known that the Kathairon is not only the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but that it cleanses the scalp of scurf and dandruff, gives the hair a lively, rich luxuriant growth, and prevents it from turning gray. These are considerations worth knowing. The Kathairon has been tested for over twelve years, and is warranted as described. Any lady who values a beautiful head of hair will use the Kathairon. It is finely perfumed, cheap and valuable. It is sold by all respectable dealers throughout the world.

D. S. BARNES & CO.,
New-York.

[From the Richmond Whig.]

The Charleston Courier makes a timely suggestion in recommending the attention of our government to the naturalization and cultivation of Calisaya, for the preservation of the health of our soldiers. This article has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is said that the great success of the Plantation Bitters of Dr. Drake, which, previous to our unhappy difficulties was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of its principal ingredients.—"In confirmation of this, we have heard one of our most distinguished physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by Plantation Bitters. Now that these Bitters cannot be obtained, a substitute should be prepared.—We understand our government has opened negotiations with Dr. Drake, through a secret agent, but with what truth we do not kdow." * * * * *

We are exceedingly obliged to the Richmond Whig for its remembrance of "Auld Lang Syne," but we can assure "Our Government" that the Plantation Bitters are not for sale to any "secret agents," North or South. There is probably several other things that "Our Government" will yet want.

We know that we have the best and most popular medicine in the world. We are not afraid to show what it is composed of.

Physicians are compelled to recommend it.

CALISAYA BARK has been celebrated for over two hundred years, and was sold during the reign of Louis XVI, King of France, for the enormous price of its own weight in silver. It is remarkable for Dyspepsia, Fevers, Weakness, Constipation, &c.

CASCARILLA BARK.—For Diarrhea, Colic and all cases of the stomach and bowels.

DANDELION.—For Inflammation of the Loins and Dropsical Affections.

CHAMOMILE FLOWERS.—For enfeebled digestion.

LAVENDER FLOWERS.—Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.

WINTERGREEN.—For Scrofula, Rheumatism, &c.

ANISE.—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.

Also, clove-buds, orange, caraway, coriander, snake root, &c.

S.—T.—1860—X.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present.

Humbugs and quacks howl about the Plantation Bitters; but the following is what's the matter, and they know it:

PLANTATION BITTERS WILL CURE
Cold Extremities and Feverish Lips.
Sour Stomach and Fetid Breath.
Flatulency and Indigestion.
Nervous Affections.
Excessive Fatigue and Short Breath.
Pain over the Eyes.
Mental Despondency.
Prostration, Great Weakness.
Sallow Complexion, Weak Bowels.
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.

Very particularly recommended to Clergymen, Merchants, Lawyers, and persons of sedentary habits. Also for delicate females and weak persons who require a gentle stimulent, free digestion, good appetite and clear mental faculties.

Sold by all respectable Physicians, Druggists, Grocers, Hotels, Saloons, Country Stores, &c.

Be particular that each bottle bears the fac-simile of our signature on a steel-plate label, with our private government stamp over the cork.

P. H. DRAKE & CO.
202 BROADWAY, N. Y.

☞ The extraordinary success of Dr. Ham's Invigorating Spirit, seems to stir up an army of Tonics, Bitters, and Cure Alls; but as a general thing they are like the Morning Glory—look very fine in the morning but wilt before the day has past. The Dr. has been before the public for years; his Dyspepsia Remedy has been tested and not found wanting; it acts on the Liver, Stomach, Head and the whole system; it is good at all times and for everybody.

Hunnewell's Great Remedies.

WHAT EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE IN THE HOUSE AND WHY;

☞ They should have HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY, because it effectually cures Colds, Whooping and Common Coughs Sore Throat, Hoarseness, and is the most simple and perfect Soothing Syrup in the world. For old and young, by day and night, it may be used with the greatest freedom, and three-fourths of the deaths by Consumption stopped.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S TOLU ANODYNE, because it is a perfect remedy for Neuralgia, Nervous or Sick Headache, Tooth, and Earache, Pain in Stomach, or Bowels, Genuine Cholera Morbus, Rheumatism, Distress after Eating, Nervousness, Hysteria, and the chief of all causes of disease, and Insanity, Loss of Sleep. Its character, though active, is simple; its action in perfect conformity to nature; its end cure, or relief.

For the pains in Monthly Menstruation a perfect relief, while nature's after work is not disturbed, and one of the most important points in Medicine.

They should have HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS, because wish seldom but a single Pill for a dose all derangements of the Stomach and Bowels are cured. They cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, when caused by foul stomach, Loss of Appetite, Billousness, so often and so erroneously treated with Mercurials, Jaundice. For Worms a sure cure.

They act simple, assist nature, do not make a Pill Box of the stomach, as is the most fatal error of taking so many Pills at a dose and then, what is important to every Family and every Purse, one bottle goes as far as two or three of what is ordinarily sold.

The confidence of all is asked to test

Hunnewell's Universal Cough Remedy.
Hunnewell's Tolu Anodyne.
Hunnewell's Eclectic Pills.

☞ Fac-simile of J. L. Hunnewell's signature over corks of genuine only.

JOHN L. HUNNEWELL, proprietor,
9 Commercial Wharf, Boston, Mass.

George E. Meacom, Agent for Danvers.

For sale by all dealers in Salem and vicinity.

Apr. 1, 1863—1 y

Selected Poetry.

[From Harper's New Monthly.]

OUR CHRISTMAS-TREE.

BY FITZ-JAMES O'BRIEN.

Oh, Madam Millionaire,
So wealthy and so fair,
I know how rich and rare
Is your Christmas-tree.
There the ruddy apples swing,
And the gilded bonbons cling,
And 'tis gaudy as a king
In some Indian sea.

A hundred tapers shine
In the foliage of the pine,
And gifts of rare design
Make the branches gay.
And in the outer room,
Decked with satin and with plume,
Like roses in their bloom,
Sweet children play.

But this very Christmas night,
When your home's so warm and bright,
And your children's hearts are light
As the thistle's down,

I am sitting by my hearth,
With not a ray of mirth,
But a feeling as of dearth,
And I fear a frown.
For I'm very poor,
And the wolf is at my door.
And a shadow's on my floor
That will not pass by;

But I do not envy you,
For my heart at least is true,
And, thank God, there are so few
As poor as I!

The weary mother sits
On a little stool and knits,
While across her face there flits
Look sad to see.
Our eldest gravely sighs
With a face of sad surprise,
And our youngest darling cries
For "her Christmas-tree."

So I hush them
And talk cheerly to my son,
And try to make some fun
Out of Christmas-trees;

And I tell them how I've planned
A tree more fine and grand
Than ever grew on land
Or by distant seas.

My tree is very high,
In fact reaches to the sky,
And sweet birds passing by
There fold their wings.

Its leaves are ever green,
With a wondrous glossy sheen,
And the summer wind serene
Around it sings.

And I've hung upon my tree
A myriad gifts you see,
And all the world is free
To come and take.

There is love and gentle mirth,
There's a happy home and hearth,
And "Peace to all on Earth,"
For the Christ-child's sake.

There are sweet and soothing words
Melodious as the birds,
There is charity that herds
With the poor forlorn.

There are pardons for all wrongs,
And cheerful peasant songs,
And the virtue that belongs
To the country born.

There are merry marriage bells,
There's the noble heart that swells
When first young nature tells
Of great manly hopes.

And underneath, alas!
A tinny wreath we pass,
That once withered on the grass
Of Greenwood's slopes.

So, Madam Millionaire,
Your tree, I know, is fair,
But it can not quite compare
With this I see.

For Heaven has blessed the shoots,
And Fancy riped the fruits,
And my heart is round the roots
Of our Christmas-tree.

Selected.

A DETECTIVE'S STORY.

The following is a true story, by a late well-known member of the detective service, and, with the exception of some names of persons and places, is given precisely as he himself related it:—

Late one Friday afternoon, in the latter part of November, 18—, I was sent for by the chief of the New York Police, and was told there was a case for me. It was a counterfeiting affair. Notes had been forged on a Pennsylvania bank; two men had been apprehended, and were in custody. The first, Springer, had turned State's evidence on his accomplice; who, according to his account, was the prime mover in the business. This man, Daniel Hawes by name, had transferred the notes to a third party, of whom nothing had been ascertained except that he was a young man, wrote a beautiful hand, and had been in town the Monday before. He was the man I was to catch.

It was sundown when I left the superintendent's office. I had not much to guide me; there were hundreds of young men who wrote a beautiful hand, and had been in town last Monday. But I did not trouble myself about what I did not know; I confined myself to what I did know. Upon reflection I thought it probable that my [illegible] relations with Hawes for the last few days, probably since Monday last, although it was not known that he had been in town since that day. He might not be a resident in the city; but I decided to seek him here—since, if he had not left town before the arrest of Springer and Hawes, he would not just now run the risk of falling into the hands of the police by going to any railroad station or steamer wharf.

I determined, therefore, to follow up the track of Hawes, and thereby, if possible, strike that of his confederate—which was, in fact, all that could be done.

Hawes was a small broker. He lived in Eighteenth street, and had an office in Wall street.

He lived too far up town, I thought, to go home every day to his dinner; he went, then, most probably, always to the same eating house, and one not far from his office.

After inquiring at several restaurants near by, I came to one in Liberty street, where, on asking if Mr. Hawes was in the habit of dining there, the waiter said yes.

"Have you seen a young man here with him lately?" I inquired.

"No—no one in particular," replied the waiter.

"Are you sure of it? Come, think."

After scratching his head for a moment, he said:

"Yes, there has been a young man here speaking to him once or twice."

"How did he look?"

"He was short, and had black hair and eyes."

"Who is he? What does he do?"

"He is clerk to Mr. L———, the linen importer"

"Where does Mr. L——— live?"

The waiter did not know. Looking into a Directory, I ascertained his residence to be in Fourteenth street. The stores by this time were closed; so I went immediately to Mr. L———'s house, and asked to see him. He was at dinner.

"I am sorry to disturb him," said I to the servant, "but I wish to speak with him a moment on a matter of importance, and cannot wait."

Mr. L——— came out evidently annoyed at the intrusion.

"Have you such a person in your employment?" said I, describing him.

"No, sir, I have not."

"You had such a person?"

"I have not now."

"Did you discharge him?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"What business is that of yours?" he asked, rather huffily.

"My name is M———, of the police. I am after this fellow, that's all. Tell me, if you please, why you discharged him?"

"O, I beg your pardon," said Mr. L———, I took you for one of his rascally associates. I discharged him a week or ten days ago. He was a dissipated, good-for-nothing fellow."

"Was he your book-keeper?"

"No; he was a junior clerk."

"Have you any of his handwriting that you can show me?"

He fumbled in a side pocket and drew out a pocket-book from which he took a memorandum of agreement, or some paper of the sort, to the bottom of which a signature was attached as witness.

"That's his writing," said he.

It was a stiff schoolboy's scrawl.

This was not my man then. I apologized to Mr. L——— for the trouble I had given him, and withdrew.

Lost time, said I to myself. I am on the wrong track. I must back to the eating house, and begin the chase again from the point where I left off. I saw the same waiter.

"I want you to think again," said I. "Try hard to remember whether there was never any other man here with Hawes on any occasion."

After reflecting for a little while, he said he thought he recollected his going up stairs not long ago with another man to a private room.

"Did you wait on him yourself at the time you speak of?" I asked.

"No—most likely it was Joe Harris."

"Will you send for him if you please?"

Joe Harris came.

"You waited on Mr. Hawes a few days ago, when he dined with another gentleman in a private room up stairs, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who was that other man?"

"He is a young man who is clerk in a livery stable in Sullivan street."

"What are his looks?"

"He is tall and light haired."

"Do you know his name?"

"His name is Edgar."

I hurried up to Sullivan street, went into the first livery stable I came to, inquired for the proprietor, and asked him if he had a young man in his stable of the name of Edgar.

He said he had.

"Does he keep your books?"

"Yes, he takes orders for me."

"Let me see some of his handwriting, if you please?"

He stepped back into the office and took from a desk a little order book. I opened it; there were some orders, hastily written, no doubt, but in a hand almost like beautiful copperplate.

This was my man—I felt nearly certain of it. I asked where he lived, and was told, with his mother, a widow woman, at such a number in Hudson street. I started for the place. It was now nine o'clock. Arriving at the house, I rang the bell. It was answered by a servant girl.

"Does Mr. Edgar live here?" I inquired.

"Yes, sir."

"Is he at home?"

"No, sir."

"When will he come home?"

"I don't know."

"Does he sleep here?"

"Sometimes he does, and sometimes he does not."

"Where is he likely to be found? I should like to see him."

She said she really did not know, unless, perhaps, he might be at a billiard saloon not far off. I went there. A noisy crowd was around the bar. I looked around the room and closely scrutinized every face. No tall, light-haired young man was there. I asked the bar keeper if Mr. Edgar had been there that evening. He said no, he had not seen anything of him for two or three days. I asked him if there was any other place he knew of that Edgar frequented, and was told he went a good deal to a bowling alley in West Broadway, near Duane street. Not much yet, I thought, as I hurried on to West Broadway. Descending a few steps into a basement, I entered a sort of vestibule or office to the bowling saloon. "Has Mr. Edgar been here this evening?" I inquired of the man in attendance.

"He is here now," was the reply, "in the other room, through that door."

I passed through the door indicated into the bowling alley, and accosted the marker:

"Is Mr. Edgar here?"

"He has just gone—fifteen minutes ago."

"Do you know where he went to?"

"Seems to me some of them said something about going to the Lafayette Theatre."

I am on his track now—I said to myself—only fifteen minutes behind him. I bent my steps to the theatre—taking with me a comrade in the police service, whom I encountered as I was leaving the saloon. We hurried on with the utmost rapidity, but on reaching the theatre, found, to my disgust, what I had already feared, that the play was over, and the theatre just closed.

"Better give it up for to-night," said my companion; "we know enough about him now, and can take up the search again to-morrow."

"It won't do, Clark," said I, "we have inquired for him at [illegible] a notion he may be heard of at some of these oyster cellars hereabouts."

I went down into one of them, and [illegible] with light hair had been there that evening. A tall young man with light hair and moustache had come in from the theatre with a lady, and had just left. I asked my informant if he knew the lady. She was a Miss Kearney, he answered.

"What?" I continued, "didn't her sister marry the actor Livison?"

"Yes, the same person."

"He lives in Walker street, near the Bowery, I believe?"

"Yes, I think so," replied the man.

I considered a moment. Of course no one could tell me where Edgar had gone to; but I was tolerably certain he had gone home with the girl. Where she lived I did not know, but I thought it probable the actor could tell me. So we started on to Walker street. There are—or were at the time I speak of—several boarding houses in Walker street. We passed one or two three story houses with marble steps. "Shall I ask along here?" said Clark. "No," I answered; "poor actors don't board there; we must look for him farther on." We kept on, and after a little while we found one that seemed to be likely to be the house we were looking for. I rang the bell and inquired for Mr. Livison. He had gone to bed. It was now twelve o'clock. I desired the man that opened the door to tell him that some one was below who wished to see him immediately. He soon returned, saying that Mr. Livison was in bed, and could not be disturbed; I must leave my business or call next day.

I thought it was necessary to frighten him a little; so I sent up word that I was an officer of police, and he must come down instantly, or I should go up and fetch him. In a few moments the actor made his appearance, terribly frightened. Before I could say anything he began to pour out such a flood of questions and asseverations that I could not get a word in. What did I want of him? I had come to the wrong man; he hadn't been doing anything, etc., etc. "I don't want you," I began—but it was of no use, I could not stop him; his character was excellent, anybody would vouch for him; I ought to be more sure what I was about before I roused people from their beds at midnight, etc., etc. His huddled words and apprehensive looks made me suspect there was something wrong with him; but it was no concern of mine then. I seized him by the shoulder and ordered him to be quiet.

"Don't you utter another word," said I, "except to answer my questions, or I'll carry you off and lock you up. I have not come to arrest you. I only want to ask you a few questions. Haven't you a sister-in-law named Miss Kearny?"

"Yes, what do you want with her?"

"I am not going to do her any harm. I only want to know where she lives."

"Oh, she lives in —— street."

"Do you know the number?"

"Goodness, yes; it is number 34. I have boarded there until only a little while ago."

"Indeed!"

"Yes; I have got a dead-latch key somewhere about."

"The deuce you have! Give it to me; it is just what I want."

"Give you the dead-latch key—a pretty notion! I wouldn't give it to any man—not to all the detective squad in New York."

"Look here, my friend, I am M———, pretty well known in this town. I have a good many opportunities in the course of my business to do people good turns, and not a few to do them ill turns. It is a convenient vocation to pay off scores, particularly to persons of your sort. If you will give me that key, I'll make it worth your while the first chance I have. If you don't you'll be sorry, that's all."

I gave him a significant look as I concluded. He looked me in the face a minute, as if to see how much I meant, or if I suspected anything; then turned and run up stairs. In a few [illegible] came down and handed me the key. I took it with satisfaction.

"Now," said I, "you'll have no objections to telling me where your sister-in-law's room in the house is."

"Third story, back room, second door to the left from the head of the stairs."

"Thank you, good night."

We walked rapidly to —— street, and reaching the house, I stopped a moment to examine my pistols, by the street lamp, and then softly opened the door. Clark and I stepped in, and I shut the door.

Leaving my comrade in the hall, I crept noiselessly up stairs, and tapped at the door of the room.

"Who is there?" called out a woman's voice.

"Open the door," I replied, "and I'll tell you what I want."

"You can't come in. I have gone to bed."

"Oh, well, I am a married man; I'll do you no harm; but you must let me in, or I shall force the door."

After a moment's delay the door was opened by a young woman in a morning wrapper, who stood as if waiting for an explanation of the intrusion. I passed by her, and walked up to a young man sitting in a low chair by the fire, and tapping him on the shoulder, said: "You are my prisoner." He raised his head and looked up. "Why, Bill," I exclaimed, "Is this you? I have been looking for you all night under a wrong name. If I had known it was you, I'd have caught you in an hour." And so I would.

It was only necessary to say further, that he was the man I was set to catch. I may add, however, that a large amount of the counterfeit notes, and the plates on which they were printed, were secured, and the criminal sent to Sing Sing in due course of law.—Continental Monthly.

MAJOR GENERAL U. S. GRANT.

Ill., one of the transparencies contained the following:

Major General U. S. Grant.
Unconditional Surrender Grant.
Uncle Sam Grant.
United States Grant.
Unparalleled Success Grant.
Unabridged Seizure Grant.
Union Saver Grant.
Undeniably Superior Grant.
Unflinching Surmounter Grant.
Undaunted Soldier Grant.
Understanding Secession Grant.
Use Sambo Grant.
Unshackle Slave Grant.
Ultimate Subjugation Grant.
Uncommon Smart Grant.
Unequaled Smasher Grant.
Utterly Solid Grant.
Utmost Safety Grant.
Unrivaled System Grant.
Unexceptionable Scientific Grant.
Undertake Sure Grant.
Unbounded Spunk Grant.
Universal Sanative Grant.
Unadulterated Saltpetre Grant.
Uniform Succeeder Grant.
Undisputed Sagacity Grant.
Unabated Siege Grant.
Unbending Superexcellence Grant.
Unexampled Skill Grant.
Undoubtedly Spunky Grant.
Unusually Sober Grant.

☞ A Richmond paper says that of the 30,000 prisoners held in Richmond since the 1st of January, 1862, 671 have died, which it considers a very small proportion.

☞ Maine this year has raised 6,698,348 bushels of potatoes.

REBEL RHYMES.

Under the head of "Poetical," the Rockingham Register, published at Harrisonburg, Virginia, publishes the following rhythmical piece of abuse of the universal Yankee nation:—

"Call All! Call All!"

Whoop! the Doodles have broken loose,
Roaring round like the very deuce!
Lice of Egypt, a hungry pack,
After 'em, boys, and drive 'em back.

Bull-dog, terrier, cur and hen,
Back to the beggardly land of ice;
Worry 'em, bite 'em, scratch and tear
Everybody and every where.

Old Kentucky's carved from under,
Tennessee is split asunder,
Alabama awaits attack,
And Georgia bristles at her back.

Old John Brown is dead and gone!
Still his spirit is marching on,
Lantern-jawed, and legs, my boys,
Long as an Ape's from Illinois!

Want a weapon? Gather a brick!
Club or cudgel, or stone or stick,
Anything with a blade or butt,
Anything that can cleave or cut.

Anything heavy, or hard, or keen!
Any sort of slaying machine!
Anything with a willing mind,
And the steady arm of a man behind.

Want a weapon? Why, capture one!
Every Doodle has got a gun,
Belt and bayonet, bright and new,
Kill a Doodle, and capture two!

[illegible] to shoulder, son and sire!
All! call all! to the feast of fire!
Mother and maiden, and child and slave,
A common triumph, or a single grave.

THE LETTER G.

Among all the eloquent and expressive Masonic emblems there is not one more profoundly significant than this. It proves that ancient Masonry always prosecuted its material labors with reference to the grand ideas of Infinity and Eternity. By the letter G—which conveyed to the minds of the brethren at the same time the idea of God and that of Geometry—it bound heaven to earth, the devine to the human, the infinite to the finite. Hence in the ancient lectures, it is said, the candidate "has been admitted into the middle chamber of King Solomon's temple, for the sake of the letter G—which denotes DEITY, before whom we should all bow with reverence, and whom we should worship and adore." It also denotes Geometry the fifth science, by which we may curiously trace nature through all her various windings, and discover the power, the wisdom, and goodness of the Grand Artificer of the Universe, and view with delight the proportions of the vast machine; by it we may discover how the planets move in their different orbits, and demonstrate their various revolutions. Numberless worlds surround us, all joined by the same Divine Architect, which roll through this vast expanse, and all conducted by the same unerring law of nature. A survey of the world and [illegible] proportions first determined man to imitate the divine plan and study symmetry and order.

[illegible] philosophy. Masons are here taught to regard the Universe as the grandest of all symbols, revealing to men in all ages the ideas which are eternally revolving in the mind of the Deity, and which it is their duty to reproduce in their own lives, and in the world of art and industry. Thus God and Geometry, the material world and the spiritual spheres, were constantly united in the speculations of the ancient Masons. They consequently labored earnestly and unwearyedly not only to construct cities and embellish them with magnificent temples, but also to build up a temple of great and divine thoughts and of ever-blooming virtues, for the soul to dwell in.

The symbolic letter, G

"That hieroglyphic
Which none but Craftsmen ever saw,"

and before which every true Mason reverently uncovers and bows his head, is a perpetual condemnation of profanity, impiety and vice. No brother who has bowed before that emblem can be profane. He will never speak the name of the Grand Master of the Universe but with reverence and respect and love. He will learn by studying the mystic meaning of the letter G, to model his life after the divine plan; and, thus instructed, he will strive to be like God in the activity and earnestness of his benevolence and the broadness and efficiency of his charity.

☞ Gen. Grant's victory at Chattanooga attracts the comments of the English press.

LOST ARTS.

In regard to colors we a[illegible] hind the ancients. None of [illegible] in the Egyptian painting of [illegible] years ago are in the least fad[illegible] the green. The Tyrian purp[illegible] entombed city of Pompeii is a[illegible] day as it was three thousand [illegible] Some of the stucco, painted [illegible] before the Christian era, brok[illegible] mixed, revealed its original lus[illegible] yet we pity the ignorance of [illegible] skinned children of ancient Eg[illegible] colors upon the walls of Ner[illegible] vault are as fresh as if painted [illegible] So is the cheek of the Egypti[illegible] who was contemporaneous with [illegible] and Cleopatra, at whose feet C[illegible] the riches of his empire.

And in regard to metals. [illegible] of the statues of obelisks of E[illegible] of the ancient walls of Rome [illegible] sharp as if but hewn yesterd[illegible] the stones still remain so clos[illegible] that their seams, laid with mo[illegible] not be penetrated with the e[illegible] penknife. And their surface [illegible] ingly hard—so hard that when th[illegible] artists engraved two lines upon a [illegible] brought from Egypt, they dest[illegible] the tedious task, many sets of to[illegible] could be manufactured. And [illegible] ancient monuments are trace[illegible] with inscriptions placed [illegible] olden time. This, with other [illegible] striking character, proves that t[illegible] far more skilled in metals tha[illegible] Quite recently, it is recorded, th[illegible] an American vessel was on the [illegible] Africa, a son of that benighte[illegible] made, from an iron hoop, a kni[illegible] lor to any on board of the ve[illegible] another made a sword of Dam[illegible] cellence from a piece of iron.

Fiction is very old. Scott [illegible] counterparts two thousand years [illegible] story is told of a warrior who [illegible] time to wait for the proper forgin[illegible] weapon, but seizing it red hot, [illegible] ward, but found to his surprise [illegible] cold air had tempered his iron [illegible] excellent steel weapon. The to[illegible] of steel, therefore, which was n[illegible] a century since, was old two t[illegible] years ago.

Ventilation is deemed a very [illegible] art. But this is not the fact; t[illegible] tures, unquestionably made for [illegible] pose of ventilation, are found [illegible] pyramid tombs of Egypt. Ye[illegible] sands of years ago, the barbarous [illegible] went so far as to ventilate thei[illegible] yet we scarcely yet know how t[illegible] late our houses.

SOME MISTAKES CORRECTED.—[illegible] editor of the Star of the West [illegible] the following modest attempt at [illegible] ing certain rather wide spread mi[illegible]

It is a mistake to suppose [illegible] subscription price of a paper [illegible] gain to the publisher.

It is a mistake to suppose that [illegible] his white paper for nothing.

It is a mistake to suppose t[illegible] printed without cost.

It is a mistake to suppose that [illegible] live bodily by faith.

It is a mistake to suppose that [illegible] cent or cent per week contribu[illegible] each paying subscriber, toward th[illegible] ing buys the editors and prop[illegible] body and soul.

It is a mistake to suppose th[illegible] easy to please everybody.

It is a mistake to suppose t[illegible] dollars a year entitles every one [illegible] repetition of his own opinions o[illegible] line.

It is a mistake to suppose that [illegible] is worth buying which contain[illegible] what one knows and believes alre[illegible]

It is a mistake to suppose that [illegible] and paying for a paper "patroni[illegible] any more than the subscriber.

It is a mistake to suppose that [illegible] due for a paper would be as good [illegible] year as it would be now.

It is a mistake to suppose t[illegible] would not be thankful for what [illegible] us, and for new subscribers.

GODEY'S LADIES' BOOK.—The p[illegible] of receiving and reading Godey's L[illegible] Book is justly enhanced by the [illegible] manner in which it always comes to [illegible] Godey is never behind time in the [illegible] ery of his book, and always ahead [illegible] great variety and superior quality. [illegible] engravings, fashion plates, etc. wh[illegible] contains.

☞ John P. Hale in the Senat[illegible] Owen Lovejoy in the House, have [illegible] duced bills declaring universal fr[illegible] to the slaves of this country.

The Wizard.

WEDNESDAY, DEC'R 30, 1863.

GENERAL BUTLER.

One of the most interesting and readable books we have seen for a long time is Parton's Life of Gen. Butler, or rather an account of his career at New Orleans. It is not only a complete vindication of the Massachusetts General, but it shows that he was considerate and prudent, while he was firm and decided. His humanity shines forth more strongly than his rigor. He saved the city from pestilence and starvation and from all the machinations of the rebel leaders. The plan of the work reminds one of Carlyle's Life of Cromwell. It partakes of the character of an autobiography inasmuch as it is largely made up of the General's own letters and official reports. It is amusing too, and exhibits in a strong light the amazing legal knowledge and shrewdness of the lawyer commandant. Every kind of opposition by threats, intimidation, legal quirks and cunning subterfuge were resorted to by the rebel magnates, but all in vain. Butler was always too much for them. Nothing showed his shrewdness more than his controversy with the foreign consuls, who were in the interest of the Rebellion and sought to embarrass his administration of the affairs of the city.

This is a most fascinating book, and every page adds to the respect of the reader for its subject, and he rises from it with a conviction that New Orleans was bravely captured and wisely governed.

THE GREAT SANITARY FAIR.

The great Fair is over, and it has proved an immense success, yielding a clear profit of $150,000! Great credit is due to those who originated and those who carried out the plan. Its friends and patrons were not only from Massachusetts but from all New England, and especially from our neighbor State of New Hampshire. Under the leadership of their enterprising and patriotic Governor, Joseph A. Gilmore, New Hampshire made a most respectable figure at Music Hall. On the very first day, her Governor, accompanied by his splendid and fine looking military suite, was one of the centers of attraction. Mrs. Gilmore, his accomplished lady, superintended the well-stocked New Hampshire table, and the products and contributions of that State were plentiful and profitable to the object of the Fair. I was a novel and happy idea to show a sample of sheep from the granite hills, with their growing fleeces. We shrewdly suspect that this idea originated in the fertile brain of the Governor, although the four-footed guests came from the ample flocks of the worthy and justly popular Conductor on the Manchester and Lawrence Railroad, Mr. Eaton, who has about a thousand more, as good as those exhibited.

Governor Gilmore himself was once a railroad manager and operator, and he there showed the skill and talent which has found more ample development as the chief magistrate of his State. We remember him well when some years ago the Editorial Fraternity visited the White Hills, and he had superintendence of the railroads. All were struck with his quickness and energy and great administrative qualities. We then predicted his present elevation and are quite willing to make a further prediction, that he will soon find himself occupying a seat by John P. Hale.

Fair and Levee at Danvers.—The Soldiers' Aid Society, of Danvers, held a Fair at Gothic Hall, Wednesday afternoon and evening, and Thursday evening last. The hall, on both evenings, was filled to its utmost capacity; and all, old and young, seemed to partake of the enjoyments and festivities of the occasion. On one side of the hall, the tables were filled with ornamental and useful articles, many of which were disposed of by raffle; on the other, was a bountiful supply of refreshments; while in a remote corner, festooned with leaves, stood the grotto of the sibyl, who gave her divinations to all who chose to consult her in the events of past, present or future. In the course of the evening, some fine Tableaux and Charades were exhibited, interspersed with music.

Discouraging Enlistments.—We do not think it very creditable or patriotic in some of our nine months' men to talk in the manner they do about enlistments. We hear of remarks made by one of them recently, which, if true, is nothing more than downright TREASON. Never were men better treated and protected than were our nine months' men, while in camp at Wenham or at the seat of war, and we cannot but think that nearly all of them appreciate it. We have heard of no such talk from our brave boys who have enlisted for the war and have borne our glorious old banner through a dozen hard fought battles.

☞ Coal has declined in New York from fifty cents to one dollar a ton.

President Lincoln's proclamation of amnesty does not appear to meet with much favor down South, if the comments of the Richmond papers on it may be taken as fair exponents of public opinion, which may, perhaps, admit of some doubt. They launch out into the most scornful abuse of the document and its author, refuse to listen to his well meant offers, and in fact stop their ears with their fingers, as Bunyan's pilgrim did when his friends urged him to renounce his journey to the heavenly city. Our copperheads and peace men, or rather pieces of men, must derive great satisfaction from perusing these ebullitions of wrath in the aforesaid newspapers, chiming so well as they do with their own whining cries for compromise with "our Southern friends." The issuing of this proclamation at the present time, exhibits the President's goodness of heart and sincere desire for a right peace; but evidently the time to extend the olive branch is not yet. The rebels need further humiliation, more blows, and harder ones, before they will submit and cry enough.

An old farmer, one fine day, discovered a boy perched in his apple tree and bagging his fruit with great dispatch. The old gentleman mildly requested him to desist, come down and disgorge. The boy put his thumb to his nose and told him he "didn't see it." The farmer reiterated his request with the same result. Finding words were of no avail, the venerable man bethought himself of another scheme to dislodge the thief, whereupon he collected a goodly number of sods, and began to pelt the robber with great vigor. Once more the boy put his thumb to his nose and told him he "didn't see it." The proprietor of the orchard becoming satisfied very soon that words and sods were inefficient, lastly had recourse to stones, which shortly brought the robber down, howling. We commend the above fable to the consideration of the government, and charge them nothing for it.

☞ Federal newspapers, lately, have been trying to do what the rebels hitherto have been unable to accomplish, namely—to kill General Grant by representing his health as very precarious, with but little hope of recovery, etc. Later accounts, however, declare him well and hearty, and worth a dozen dead men.

☞ The Boston Journal tells a funny story of a man who carries a live snake in his hat, for the cure of rheumatism. This is a singular habit, but not more so than that of some people who carry bricks in their hats, which will produce rheumatism, besides various other diseases.

☞ It is rumored that another grand rebel raid is to be made into the free States, led by Jeff. Davis in person. We hope it will take place under his leadership, for then the old rascal may stand some slight chance of being knocked on the head.

☞ It is reported that the rebel General Bragg has committed suicide. This story is probably false in an individual sense, but he and the rest of his rebel brethren committed suicide collectively a long time ago.

☞ The rebel Senator Foote has lately made several severe attacks on Jeff. Davis—in words. He ought to have had a chance to have attacked him with that part of his body which his name represents.

☞ Those savage wild beasts called gorillas are hunted and killed in Africa. The wild animals called guerillas are hunted and slain in the United States.

☞ Another rebel ram has sailed from Hull, England, to the great astonishment and indignation of the authorities—of course.

BRAGG vs. GRANT.

Tune:—"Jack and Gill."

Bragg says I will Hold Lookout Hill,
The Yankee troops to slaughter;
Old Bragg goes down,
For Grant's in town,
The rebs come tumbling after.

Golden Present.—Among the bridal presents at Commodore Vanderbilt's late golden wedding, was a princely gift of his own to his matron bride. It was a miniature propeller of pure gold, fashioned after the "Roanoke," and manufactured in Europe expressly for this occasion. It is twenty inches long and five wide, with exquisitely wrought revolving towers, which filled the room with fairy music whenever the delicate machinery was set in motion.

Shrewd.—The Newburyport Herald says:—A certain "squatter sovereign" living on the dividing line of Newbury and West Newbury, having expressed a willingness to enlist somewhere, some of the Newburyites went up with their teams, hitched on and dragged his shanty across the road into their town, in order to have him credited on their quota.

PRESENTATION.

By the following letter of acknowledgment it will be seen that Major Daniel J. Preston, of Danvers, has been the happy recipient of certain presents in calling with his vocation. From what we know of the gentleman, they are well deserved:

Head-quarters, 2d N. C. C. Vols.,
December 17th, 1863.

Permit me to express a soldier's gratitude to Dr. Snow and all others associated with him, for the very generous and valuable present of a horse and equipments for my use in the service of our beloved country.

If my acts in the past have caused you to deem me worthy of this proof of your confidence, and kind regard, I sincerely trust, God sparing my life and giving me strength to perform my duty, that my future will not disappoint your reasonable expectations.

I am not a man of many words; let that which is to come, reveal its own story. If my future course, be only undaunted, true and faithful, as I trust it will be, there will be time enough then, to speak of duties done.

Again I thank you for your kind regard, and the very generous gift you have been pleased to bestow.

Yours truly,
Daniel J. Preston,
Major, 2d Regt., N. C. C. Vols.
Near Portsmouth, Va.

Horse Railroads.—The Newburyport people are agitating the subject of a horse railroad between that place and Salisbury. It seems to be very popular with the Newburyport people, but not so with the Salisburyites, although they admit that such an institution would pay. Their chief fear is, that it would injure their local trade. The traders in this town, before our road was laid to Salem, had the same fears, but we think—after careful inquiry—they were groundless. Our local trade for the last six months, or since the cars have commenced running, was never better. It is as the Newburyport Herald says: "If traders sell there [in Salisbury] as cheap as they do at Newburyport, then they will not lose their trade by a horse railroad, but will be benefitted by it in common with others; but if they do not sell as favorable terms, then the people—and they alone—will have the advantage that comes from low prices and a larger market."

Silvester's Shoe Factory at Derry, N. H.—This factory—which is one of the largest in the country—confines its operations exclusively to the manufacture of army shoes, or machine sewed army bootees. They have a building 80 feet long by 45 wide, and three stories high above the basement. The basement is devoted to sole leather, where are 14 sole-leather sewing machines, and 11 machines for closing the uppers. The leather for soles is striped into pairs, wet and rolled, and cut to the exact size required—all by machinery. Then they are fitted to the lasts with the uppers, and the sewing is completed by machinery. This factory has 14 machines that turn out 200 pairs an hour, or 2000 pairs in ten hours, which is a day's work. The factory employs 220 hands, and nearly all the work is done by machinery driven by steam power.

The Price of Milk.—At the regular meeting of the Danvers Farmers' Club last Wednesday evening, the question came up on the producing and selling of milk, and it was the unanimous opinion of all present that milk was now selling lower than it could be afforded. The meeting was attended by nearly all the principal farmers in that vicinity, and the effect of it undoubtedly will be a rise in the price of milk on and after the coming January, by the wholesale dealers at

The Explosion—Death of the Engineer.—Mr. Charles Andrews, the engineer who was so much injured at the late explosion in this town, died on Tuesday evening of last week, at about 6 o'clock, after suffering greatly. He leaves a family of four daughters and several sons. One of his sons was killed about a year ago at the battle of Cedar Mountain, and another one is in the service.

Mr. Cummings still lies very feeble and suffers very much, although he is considered on the mending hand. He is still blind from the effects of the steam.

☞ Lieut. A. A. Putnam, of the 2d Heavy Artillery, has been detailed, during the past week, to act as Adjutant to Col. Hodges, Superintendent of recruiting for Essex County.

Gen. Longstreet intimates in his report, that he should have taken Knoxville by assault, if he hadn't failed to do so.

Sale of Real Estate.—William Archer, Jr., on Monday last sold the real estate, No. 144 Boston street, to Benj. R. Annable, for $1560 cash.

Enlistments.—Salem has enlisted 89 towards her quota, and wants 88 more.

The quota of Marblehead (90) is full, with a surplus over.

Dividend.—The interest dividend of the Salem and South Danvers Railroad to Nov. 1, is at the rate of 6 per cent.

☞ There was a splendid Levee at the Maolis House, Nahant, on Christmas Eve.

ANOTHER WAR MEETING.

A war meeting was held in Peabody Institute, last Monday evening. Owing to the severe inclemency of the weather, there was not a large attendance; and some delay was manifested in the arrival of the speakers. In the mean time the audience listened to music from the Salem Brass Band. Hon. A. A. Abbott presided, and, with a few appropriate remarks, first introduced Gen. Henry K. Oliver, of Salem. Gen. Oliver, in beginning his remarks, stated that he had come because his heart was in the cause, notwithstanding the storm without. That the English Government, whose sympathies ought to be with us to-day, have been continually trying to cause a disruption of this Republic, for the sake of preserving royalty. Far behind their abolition of slavery in the West Indies, was the object of creating an anti-slavery party at the North, and thus make a beginning of just such a contest as the one in which we are now engaged. If the rebellion should succeed, that programme is the formation of a great Southern monarchy, whose standing army would be the poor whites, with an increased number of slaves to do all the labor, and built upon the corner-stone of slavery. The Roman Senate used to say to the consul: "See to it that the Republic receive harm;" and now a greater than Roman Senate, the whole American people, calls upon our young men to "see to it that the Republic receive no harm." Unless the young men step forward quickly, the glory of ending this rebellion will be lost to them, and will fall upon the true men now in the field. He spoke of the inducements offered to young men, and which are soon to be removed; the bounty, State aid, and the privilege of enlisting in whatever arm of the service, and under whatever commander they chose. But beyond this is the higher inducement of preserving this Republic, and, by their efforts, of saving it from annihilation and the establishment of a monarchy.

Gol. Gould, of the 59th Regiment, formerly of the 13th Regiment, and who has been in all the battles of the Army of the Potomac, next addressed the meeting. He said that it seemed strange to him that this auspicuous moment allows men to remain at home and be appealed to. He alluded to some of our successes; of the successful blockade of the frontiers of Mexico on the Rio Grande, by Gen. Banks; of Chattanooga, and Knoxville, and Gettysburg, alluding to the fact that were it not for that struggle the war might have been brought to our own homes. And we are now urged to furnish men for a final attempt at crushing this hydra-headed monster of Secessia, and it is urged that it is dangerous to go to war. He considered duty above danger, which should be performed first, leaving results to God. Only 3-4 of one per cent. of all the nine months' men died, and in other regiments the per cent. of mortality is not larger than at home. Or is it a hard service to do our duty? The man who commends himself to our admiration is he who pushes forward and shows himself a brave and true man, and he attains a high social position in life. Energy of character is needed; to be ready to decide now. We ought to rise in arms, and not allow the rebel line to continue farther. Every incentive is brought before us. He spoke of the barbarism of the rebels, in the treatment of our prisoners at Richmond, so that nearly 30 die daily of starvation, and upon the proclamations of some of [illegible] commanders, praising guerillas, upon whom they rely for the continuance of the war. He related incidents of the life of the soldier, [illegible] dangerous but ennobling; teaching self-reliance, bravery, moral strength and independence. Now the call to duty is not only from our ancestors, but from that far distant line of posterity, to whom we wish to transmit our institutions for preservation. A final appeal is the longing of the brave soldiers now in the field for assistance from friends at home to crush this rebellion speedily, and to whom the blessings of home are equally dear.

The Chairman read the following letter from James Malay, of Co. B, 23d Regiment, who has re-enlisted for three years, and is soon expected home on a furlough. Col. Gould then made a few remarks applauding the spirit of the letter, and recommending it to the consideration of all young men; after which the meeting adjourned, the Chairman announcing that there would be another meeting at that place some time next week, at which it was expected Gen. Devens and Judge Russell would be present:—

Newport News, Va., Dec. 14th, 1863.

Mr. Francis Baker,

Dear Sir:—Your favor of Dec. 1st has been received by me, and I assure you I feel very much flattered by the kind and generous manner which you, kind sir, and those other kind gentlemen, have treated me, by contributing to my comfort. It is not for the value of these contributions that I feel grateful, but for the kind and thoughtful notice which you recognize towards me, a poor Irishman, in giving something to comfort me through the winter. It is proof positive that the Soldier of Liberty is not forgotten by those at home, but is kindly remembered while fighting the battles of Human Equality and Universal Freedom.

You asked me in your letter what a soldier needed most, so that you might send me something useful; shirts or stockings, or drawers, or a bit of tobacco would be very comforting to a soldier. But if you please Mr. Baker to wait a few days, I will have the pleasure of a personal interview with you, for you must know that I have re-enlisted for three years more. Having heard of the slow progress which the recruiting officer was making in South Danvers, towards filling the new requisition, I formed the resolution of breaking the ice for the young men of our town and so let them see that there is nothing so very terrible in enlisting to meet in battle the foes of human progress, the deadly foes of Republicanism, and the would be murderers of Washington's glorious creation,—American Liberty. Now, Mr. Baker, when they hear that Jimmy Malay has re-enlisted, don't you think they will feel ashamed to stay at home while an old man like me has the courage to try another three years' campaign.

I have been in battles. I was engaged in a tough one, one year ago to-day, at Kinston, N. C. I have done all the duty of a soldier, both in field and camp, and I am not dead yet, even though I have served over two years of actual service. Now when I came out to meet the boasting traitors of the South, I got no bounty, I considered it sufficient inducement to know that the stars and stripes, the only true emblem of Liberty, was assailed by secret cunning and hellish fiends, who sought to subvert the only hope of oppressed subjects of every foreign nation, into despair by destroying the Liberty of their own Country; but the jackals have discovered by this time that the noble structure which was built by the sacred hands of those illustrious Patriots of '76, will never fall before their miserable shanty, African Slavery.

Mr. Baker, please give my sincere and heartfelt thanks to those good Union men who so kindly remembered me, and tell them if it should be my fortune to meet the foe again, I will put a few bullets into his ranks in their name, as that is the only way I can return their kindness. But I won't forget yourself, Mr. Baker. Hoping you may enjoy the great, good blessing of good health, I will now conclude by telling you that I expect to go home on furlough in a few days; so it won't be necessary for you to send the box.

I have the honor, dear sir, to subscribe myself your humble servant,

James Malay,
Co. B, 23d Regt. Mass. Vols.
Newport News, Va.

Waxy.—At a dance in this town, last Thursday evening, the lovers of the "light fantastic" "tripped away" under considerable difficulty. It seems that in order to "down with the dust," the floor had been waxed a few days previous, but owing to the weather, or to shortness of time, it had not become sufficiently hard and dry to withstand the friction and pressure of many feet, and the consequence was, as the dance went on and "joy was being unconfined," the floor "waxed warm," and melted its oily covering, which adhered to and spoiled silks and de-laines, crinoline and balmorals, and besmeared gaiters, slippers, brogans and cow-hides without any distinction. The more the wax was "agitated," the more tenaciously it adhered to the feet, till finally it was necessary to keep constantly on the move, or run the risk of being fastened to the floor as immovable as a statue. When the party broke up, the floor resembled that of a currier's shop. We understand that it was no fault of the painter, but that it was owing, most probably, to the causes stated above. He was instructed to lay the dust,—and he did it.

Waxed-End.

☞ At a banquet in honor of the election of Hon. George W. Jackman, the Democratic candidate for Mayor of the city of Newburyport, R. S. Spofford, Jr., Esq., offered the following sentiment, which is too good to be lost, even if it does cut a little:

"Old Newburyport—The only Democratic City in the State:

'Her beauty hangs upon the cheek of night
Like a rich jewel in an Ethiop's ear.'"

Another Sentiment. One of our citing the late election of city officers, and being unable to attend, sent the following toast, which is a good offset to the one above:

Newburyport Patriotism:

Jewel ne'er set in copper border,
Diamond of the purest order,
Hanging on the cheeks of those
Who count all perjured traitors foes,
Who count as friends the true and brave,
Whose mission is the land to save.

—Newburyport Herald.

Important.—Provost Marshal Johnson has extended the time for hearing claims for striking from the enrollment lists the names of those who are manifestly and permanently disabled, non-residents, unnaturalized aliens, and of unsuitable age—from Dec. 20th to Jan. 5th. It is for the interest of every town to have these names stricken from the lists, as it will reduce the number which will form the basis of future drafts.

☞ The ram Atlanta, refitted and put in order, is likely to be only less formidable than the Ironsides. The talk of the navy yard is that she will go down to Charleston, to take the place of the Weehawken that sunk at her anchorage.—The Atlanta is more like the Ironsides than any of the monitors. She is again in the water, and before many days will be at sea. She cost a million of dollars in currency.

☞ The Comical Buckleys have a "Big thing on Ice" at every entertainment. Their success is unequalled.

Garibaldi in reply to the citizens of an Italian town who proposed to erect a monument to his memory, objected in the following noble and patriotic words:

"As to the monument, I beg you to dismiss the thought of it. If you insist you will put me to the necessity of saying I will not accept it. As long as the soldiers of two foreign armies riot on our soil, as long as the stream of civil blood flows from the Toronto to the Strait, as long as the glorious remains of our national battles die of hunger on their own hands in the midst of the insane rejoicings of our cities, as long as the boy wants a school or the orphan an asylum, as long as there is in Italy misery, chains and darkness, speak not of monuments, and least of all to me."

☞ There was a young man before the police court of Boston one day last week, for drunkenness, whose father is reported to be worth a half million dollars. He was sent to the Washingtonian Home for reclamation, but got away, found drink, and renewed his disgrace. We know a father, who is not worth fifty cents in the world, and he has a son, an intelligent, moral, upright, noble young man, and we esteem him richer far than the first named.—What father lives who has a son who would not rather see that son come to honor and usefulness in life, than to have him a drunkard with a fortune of a half million? Can any man put money against character?—a half million against sobriety?—a fortune against beastly drunkenness? Welcome poverty—deep and dark poverty, where a morsel of bread with bitter herbs is all, rather than such a lot.—Newburyport Herald.

Greenbacks.—Mr. Secretary Chase is opposed to increasing the volume of greenbacks and will only issue a sufficient amount to take the places of those which may be destroyed or defaced. This determination will be hailed by all thinking and careful men as the result of wisdom; for, as the Secretary says, when the circulation exceeds the legitimate requirements for real payments and exchanges, any addition to its volume tends to depreciation. That is so, and consequently the money brings less real property or means of subsistence; and hence the more paper the more of it will be required to produce a barrel of flour.

☞ Bad times for newspaper publishers are these; paper double what it was before the war; type material fifty per cent higher; wages advanced 25 per cent this year; and all other expenses about as much higher than formerly, as gold is higher than paper money. Either they must have made money fast before the war, or they are doing badly now.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ The Fair by the ladies of the Lafayette street Church, at Mechanic Hall, Salem, drew large crowds on Thursday and Friday, and a fine display of articles was presented, and the receipts must have been quite large. The antiquarian supper was a great attraction, and was well patronized.

☞ Speaking of the statue of Freedom, the Washington correspondent of the Anti-Slavery Standard, says that it was cast by slaves,—Clark Mills, who cast it, having used the labor of his slaves, not then set free by the District Emancipation Act.

☞ The Democratic members of Congress have harmonized on the basis of voting all needed supplies to carry on the war, and are moving in the matter of a national convention to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President.

☞ Gen. Banks is reported to have recruited two regiments of loyal Texans, and others are rapidly coming forward to fight for the old flag. Will there not before long be Union men enough in the rebellious States to put the rebels down?

Bidding for a Clergyman.—The church of Northampton have voted Rev. Dr. Eddy an increase of salary from $1500 to $2000. The Pearl street church in Hartford offer him $3,000, but he has not decided whether he will go or remain.

☞ An old sea captain reports that the Gulf Stream is several hundred miles [illegible] a warm winter. He don't say anything about the sea serpent.

☞ It is reported that the Democrats are getting up "Constitutional Union Leagues" to offset the "Loyal Leagues," which they found to be very troublesome to them in the last State elections.

☞ One of the rebel writers commenting on the Chattanooga battle, says—"it is enough to make the Devil mad to think how our army acted in the fight."

Sanitary Fare.—South Danvers, through her Ladies' Soldier's Aid Society, contributed $625 towards the Sanitary Fund.

The Mendelssohn Quintette Club announce one of their fine entertainments at Mechanic Hall on Monday evening Jan. 4th.

☞ There is a fair prospect that Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana and Texas will vote in our next Presidential election.

☞ The Horse Railroad cars were well patronized on Christmas Day, and more than three thousand passengers were taken over the route.

☞ The losses of the federal army, in killed, wounded and missing, for the year, according to Gen. Halleck's report, were 92, 770. The greatest loss was at Gettysburg, some 23,000. We captured from the rebels 86,798 men.

☞ There are indications tha[illegible] session of Congress will be a stor[illegible] wish during the Christmas recess [illegible] were forced to read through the d[illegible] convention that formed the constit[illegible] all the State conventions of that [illegible] lated to it. Their minds should [illegible] on that topic.

☞ They tell of some soldiers [illegible] regiment stopping in the midst of [illegible] Lookout Mountain to listen to [illegible] "Root Hog or Die," sung by one o[illegible] ber, and then, their pieces havin[illegible] sumed their fire and fighting again[illegible] ever.

The Atlantic Monthly has v[illegible] promises, and the number for Ja[illegible] out fresh with new writers, and [illegible] all respects. We refer our readers [illegible] itself, reminding them that this [illegible] number of the Thirteenth Volun[illegible] minding them also that they cann[illegible] gin or add to their library than [illegible] the first twelve volumes.

Harper's New Monthly for Ja[illegible] ceived, and may be had of R. W. [illegible] as usual. Its literary contents a[illegible] marked by unusual freshness and [illegible] the engravings are exquisitely nice [illegible] imitate those of steel. The illustr[illegible] are the "War of 1812," "Cruise[illegible] Fuegians," and "Pictures of the J[illegible] We are also indebted to E. Br[illegible] of Danvers, for a copy.

The Continental Monthly.—[illegible] zine for January we regard as an in[illegible] in many respects over former num[illegible] also enlarged by several pages to [illegible] interesting account of the observa[illegible] National Thanksgiving in Lond[illegible] Americans. The political articles a[illegible] hopeful. Among the literary portio[illegible] the continuation of Frances Krasi[illegible] cinating diary and other games. H[illegible] J. Walker contributes an able article[illegible] can Finances.

A New Magazine for the Ladies[illegible] & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street, Ph[illegible] are issuing a new monthly magaz[illegible] "The Lady's Friend," devoted to ch[illegible] ature and the illustration of the Fas[illegible] will also contain the latest patterns [illegible] Caps, Bonnets, Head Dresses, Fan[illegible] Embroidery, &c., &c.: with Receip[illegible] and other matters interesting to ladie[illegible] ly. It will be edited by Mrs. Henry [illegible] who will rely upon the services of an [illegible] corps of writers. A Handsome Steel [illegible] ing and a Colored Steel Fashion [illegible] illustrate every number; besides well [illegible] Wood Cuts, illustrative of Stories, [illegible] &c., too numerous to mention [illegible] Terms—1 copy, one year, $2,00; tw[illegible] $3.00; four copies, $6.00; eight copie[illegible] to getter up of club, $12.00; twen[illegible] and one to getter up of club, $28.0[illegible] will also give to any person sending th[illegible] scriptions, ($60.00) one of Wheeler & [illegible] celebrated sewing machines, such as [illegible] for $45.00.

☞ Mr. Watts will have a grand e[illegible] ment this evening, consisting of Songs [illegible] Choruses. The Essex County Zouave[illegible] Capt. Lucy Eveleth, The Raw Recr[illegible] the Flower of the Rebel Army will al[illegible] presented.

Suitable Presents.—For Ladies or [illegible] men, Rich Roman Scarfs, some choic[illegible] just received at
GEORGE S. WALKER
dec 23 228 Essex S[illegible]
[See his Holiday Advertisement.]

☞ C. T. Southwick is selling the [illegible] Louis Family Flour, at wholesale prices. [illegible] Flour comes direct from the manufact[illegible] new, and of superior quality. Please g[illegible] trial. House of Equity, Dec. 16,

A CARD.

The undersigned wish to return their [illegible] thanks to the ladies and gentlemen [illegible] Bountiful Collation given them on Ch[illegible] Eve, at Sutton Hall, South Danvers. [illegible] acts of kindness will long be rememb[illegible] them, especially after a hard day's work [illegible] also wish to say to the lovers of good mu[illegible] dancing, if they want a good time an[illegible] party, not to forget the Danvers' Asse[illegible] for they are A No. 1.
ELDRIDGE HILDRE[illegible]
LUTHER BRIGHT.
Salem, Dec. 25th, 1863.

☞ Miss Maggi Mitchell appeared [illegible] Boston Theatre last Monday night in [illegible] piece called "Little Marie," written by [illegible] tleman in Boston. Her splendid perfor[illegible] have delighted thousands during her e[illegible] ment. Go and see her.

Port of Danvers.

Ar 18th, schr Lady Suffolk, Moody, [illegible] delphia.

Marriages.

In this town, Dec 24, by Rev Mr Barbe[illegible] Nathan H Poor to Miss Hannah E Gove, [illegible] of So. Danvers.

In Salem, Dec. 22d, by Rev Dr Brigg[illegible] James Mulig to Miss Emeline R. daught[illegible] the late James Kimball; 24th, Mr Christi[illegible] Sauer of Evansville, Ind., to Miss Emm[illegible] Ross of Salem; Mr Simon P Humphr[illegible] Miss Sussie A Fogg.

In Canton, Dec 24, Mr Gerry Brown to [illegible] Ann S Bowden, both of Marblehead.

In Bangor, Me., Dec. 24, Mr Nathani[illegible] Mansfield of Salem, Mass., to Miss Mar[illegible] Wood of B.

Deaths.

In Salem, Dec 22d, Mrs Sarah P, wife of [illegible] Eben G Burbank, and daughter of the [illegible] Capt Thomas Patterson, 59 years; Mrs Se[illegible] R, widow of the late Mr Joshua Beckford, [illegible] daughter of the late Capt Daniel Rust, 67 y[illegible] 23d, Mary, daughter of John and Bridget R[illegible] 21 years; 24th, Maurice, son of James [illegible] Alice Burke, 2 weeks; 27th, Mrs Eliza P. [illegible] wife of Capt Henry Upton, and daughte[illegible] the late Thomas Needham, Esq., 63 years [illegible] months.

In Danvers, Nov. 30, Eddy B, only child [illegible] Edward P and Martha L Perley, 20 mos.

In Hamilton, Dec 8, Miss Sarah Whipple[illegible] years—daughter of the late Mr Oliver Wh[illegible] ple; 22d, Mr John Brewer, 75 years.

At St. James's, Trinidad, West Indies, [illegible] the 10th of October, of consumption, Jose[illegible] youngest son of the late Mr Thomas Barber, [illegible] Fochabers, Scotland, aged 32 years,—brot[illegible] of Rev Mr Barber of this town.

29 CENTS.—We have marked a lot of our 38 cent Ribbons down to 29 cents per yard in order to close them out—they are bargains.

JOHN P. PEABODY.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR CROCKERY.—First quality of White Granite Ware, marked down and selling at 20 per cent less than cost, by C. T. Southwick, House of Equity, No. 1 Lowell Street.

☞ SHAKE AND BURN! Shake and Burn!! Shake and Burn!!!

This is the life of agony endured by the sufferer from Fever and Ague. He wanders like an uncertain shadow, never knowing what moment he may be prostrated, and therefore disinclined to give any serious attention to business. This is the condition of thousands in town and country. It is no exaggeration to say that Fever and Ague kills more people than any twenty other diseases in America. For a sure and speedy cure of this terrible affliction, we take great pleasure in recommending HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which have already achieved a wide reputation for rapid and powerful effects in renovating the system prostrated by this disease.

For sale by Druggists and dealers generally, everywhere. 1 mo dec 9th.

☞ Visit OSBORNE'S Store, and look at the unusual variety of new styles in HATS and CAPS.—191 Essex street.

Advertisements.

CHAMBER CONCERTS.

FIFTEENTH SEASON.

THE MENDELSSOHN QUINTETTE CLUB, consisting of

W. SCHULTZE,
CARL MEISEL,
ROBERT GOERING,
THOMAS RYAN.
WULF FRIES.

WILL GIVE A

GRAND CONCERT,

—AT—

MECHANIC HALL, SALEM,

On Monday Evening, Jan. 4, 1864.

TICKETS 50 CENTS to the floor of the house, and 25 CENTS to the Galleries.

Tickets for sale at the usual places.

List of Letters

REMAINING in the Post Office at South Danvers, Dec. 29, 1863. [Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.]

Mary B Brown	Emily H Procter
Jane Codyre	Emily K Stenley
John Fitzgerald	Charlie Shaw
R M Hatch	C B Rice
John Page	Elizebeth Tilton
Sarah Phipps	James F Woodward
Chas H Potter

N. B. These letters are subject to an additional postage of one cent.

DANIEL WOODBURY, P. M.

FRENCH CHINA.

FRENCH China Tea Ware; Cake Baskets; Custard Stands; Mustards and Salts; Mugs; Candlesticks, etc., at

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front st

Salem, Dec. 29.

OATS.

TWO Car Loads very Bright Oats, received this day by rail from Canada.

We shall now be in receipt of and for sale, fresh supplies of Oats every week during the winter. GAYLE & CO., Phillips Wharf.

Salem Dec. 29.

Christmas and New Year.

JUST RECEIVED AT

COLMAN'S,

10 FRONT ST., SALEM, 10.

BLACK Walnut and other Writing Desks, and Working Boxes;
Drums, Sleds, Wheelbarrows,
Photograph Albums, Fancy Scarfs,
Gloves and Mittens,
Rubber Soled Boots, for Men and Boys;
Also, Leather Soled Boots,
—with a great variety of other—

FANCY GOODS.

☞ Call and be paid for calling—No. 10 Front Street.

Dec. 23. BENJ. COLMAN.

THE BEST GAMES;

THE NICE BOOKS;
CHOICE BOOKS FOR CHILDREN;
FINE WOOD CARVINGS;
FANCY ARTICLES;
BIBLES AND PRAYER-BOOKS;

and a variety of articles suitable for

PRESENTS.

At G M WHIPPLE & A A SMITH'S.

Horse Railroad Notice.

On and after TUESDAY, Dec. 15, the Salem and South Danvers Railroad Co. will run through from South Danvers to Beverly,

Leaving South Danvers at 7.00 A. M., and every half hour until 10.30 A. M., and from 11.30 A. M. till 10.30 P. M., every twenty minutes.

Leaving Beverly at 7.00 A. M., and every half hour until 11.30 A. M.; and from 11.30 A. M. till 10.30 P. M., every twenty minutes.

M. H. HALE,
dec 16 Sup't. S. & S. D. R. R. Co.

SELLING OFF

OUR STOCK OF

DRY GOODS

For a few days previous to taking account of stock, at

REDUCED PRICES.

GEORGE P. DANIELS,

No. 238 Essex Street,

Nearly opposite Horse Railroad Office.

Salem, Dec 9—tf

L. MERRILL & SON,
DEALERS IN
DRUGS, MEDICINES,
Fancy and Toilet Articles,
Perfumery, Stationery, Cutlery, &c.
VILLAGE BANK BUILDING,
DANVERS, MASS.

Particular attention paid to Physicians' Prescriptions.

LEVI MERRILL,
W. S. MERRILL.

Danvers, Dec 2—6m

The Singer Manufacturing Co's

LETTER A SEWING MACHINE

For Family Use and Light Manufacturing Purposes, is on exhibition and for sale

AT ASHLAND HALL,

SOUTH DANVERS SQUARE,

—BY—

JOHN H. CHOATE,

Agent for the sale of

SEWING MACHINES,

SILK, THREAD, NEEDLES, COTTONS, &c., &c.

—Also—

Paraffine Sewing Machine Oil,

The best oil for all kinds of light machinery.

South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

Men's Clothing.

In this department can be found the Latest Styles, the Best Goods, and the Largest Assortment in Essex County. We have our best Goods made to our order. Gentlemen in want of a

GOOD OVERCOAT,

or a good fitting suit of Clothes, are invited to call and examine and decide for themselves whether it is for their interest to get a suit made or buy at F. S. PECK'S and save money. 240 is the place.

Three Small Boys Lost! Their father found them at 240, and fitted them to a good suit of Clothing. If your boys should be missing at any time, 240 is the place to find them or clothe them at low prices.

Boys' Clothing,

We have fitted up a large room expressly for Boys' CLOTHING, where can be found a large assortment of the latest styles Over-Coats, Under-Coats, Pants, Vests, Jackets and Suits. We have our best goods made to our order, and have pieces saved so that customers can have a small piece with the suits. 240 is the only store in Essex County where you can find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing. Call at 240 and decide whether the above is true. F. S. PECK.

We don't believe in letting the boys go to Boston to buy their Clothing, and pay more than the same goods are sold for at PECK'S, 240 Essex Street.

240

TWO BOYS RUN OVER.—A Lady and two Boys were seen to get out of the Horse Cras, and the Boys started and run right over into 240, and were fitted to a good suit of clothes at low prices. 240 is the place.

Furnishing Goods.

The Latest Styles in this department can be found and as large an assortment of as Good Goods as in any store in Salem. Men's and Boys' Under Shirts and Drawers, all sizes; Men's and Boys' Gloves and Socks, all sizes and prices, from 15c to $2 50; Braces 25 cts to $2 25; White and Fancy Shirts, Bosoms, Collars, Bosoms. Also, a large assortment of Furnishing Goods. You can save money by purchasing your Furnishing Goods at

F. S. PECK'S, 240.

☞ Visit the Boys' Clothing Department, at 240, if you wish to find a good assortment of Boys' Clothing, all prices.

Hats and Caps,

In this department can be found the Latest Styles and the best quality of Goods, which will be sold at a small profit.

We sell you a Coat or a pair of Pants or a suit of Clothes, and make a small profit, thus enabling us to afford to sell you a Hat or Cap low, and we are GOING TO DO IT. That's What's the Matter.

☞ 240 is the place to buy Hats and Caps.

The public are respectfully invited to call and examine the assortment, and see if what we say is true.

F. S. PECK,
240 Essex street, Salem.

HOUSEKEEPERS, ATTENTION!

JACKSON'S

KITCHEN FURNISHING ROOMS,

Under MECHANIC HALL, Salem.

Parties about commencing House-Keeping will find this the only place in Salem where a complete assortment of House-keeping articles can be found. Dec 9—6w

John P. Peabody.

CHRISTMAS
AND
NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c., &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce. Worsteds, Black or white, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 ESSEX STREET.
dec 23

CHRISTMAS
AND
NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of snitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce. Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
dec 23

CHRISTMAS
AND
NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c., &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce. Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
Dec. 23.

CHRISTMAS
AND
NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c., &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce. Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
dec 23

CHRISTMAS
AND
NEW YEAR'S GIFTS.

WE have a fine stock of appropriate and useful articles for New Year's and Christmas Presents, consisting of Real Lace Collars, Wrought Setts, Wrought Hdkfs., Laces, Ladies' Leather Travelling Bags, Wallets, Fancy Combs, Brushes, Boxes, Powders, Puffs, Breakfast Capes, Sontags, Hoods, Tippets, Clouds, (best $1.10) Mittens, &c., &c.

The whole making a large choice collection of suitable articles for

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S.

Worsteds, the best, only 22 cents per ounce. Worsteds, Black or White, 17 cents per ounce.

JOHN P. PEABODY,
220 Essex Street.
dec 23

Great Cloak Sale.

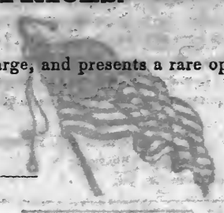
CLOSING SALE OF CLOAKS!

JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

WE are closing out our whole Stock of LADIES' CLOAKS and CLOAK CLOTHS,

AT REDUCED PRICES.

Our Stock in CLOTHS and CLOAKS is large, and presents a rare opportunity to purchase a good Cloak at a Low Price.



JAMES F. ALMY & CO.,

188 Essex, opposite Central Street, Salem.

Dec. 30 1863.

Christmas and New Year's Remembrances.

ELEGANT GOODS

—AT—

BROWNING & LONG'S.

Bronze Figures, Swiss Carved Bracelets, Ornamental Ash Stands, Swiss Thermometers, Vienna Bronze Articles, Carved Wood Ornaments, Cigar Cases, Fancy Combs, Party Fans,

Coral Pins and Ear Rings, Gent's Scarf Pins and Bings, Oxedye Sleeve Buttons, Leather Belts and Pockets, Turkey Morocco Bags, Portmonnaies,
Steel Jewelry, Paris Cravats, French Ruffled Hdkfs.

Initial Hdkfs., Lace Barbes, Lace Veils,
Malta Lace Collars, Embroidered Collars and Cuffs, Real Point Collars, Embroidered Slippers, Real Thread Veils, Lace Sleeves, Hdkfs.,

☞ Also—An unusual rich variety of Hand-Knit WOOLEN GOODS, of entirely new styles, very suitable for Holiday Gifts.

THE ASSORTMENT CONSISTS OF

ALL NEW GOODS,

IN RICH AND ELABORATE DESIGNS.

BROWNING & LONG,

Salem, December 23, 1863. 177 Essex St.

DENTAL NOTICE.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS,

FOR EXTRACTING TEETH WITHOUT PAIN.

IF properly used, this Gas can be administered, total insensibility be produced, Teeth extracted, and perfect consciousness restored in from three to five minutes. It causes no sickness—the patient feels perfectly pleasant and happy during and after the operation.

Dr. J. H. BATCHELDER,
20 WASHINGTON ST., SALEM.

Oct. 3—mo.

M. A. PORTER,

236 Essex Street, - - - Salem, Mass.,

(Opposite Horse Railroad Office,)

MAKES TO ORDER

WATCH SPRING SKIRTS

A Good Assortment of Dress and Cloak Button, Braids, Spool Cotton, Small Wares, and Thread Store articles generally.

236 Essex Street, - - - Salem, Mass.,

M. A. PORTER.

R. W. WILKINSON,

DEALER IN

Newspapers, Periodicals, and Stationery of every Description.

FOREIGN and DOMESTIC FRUITS, consisting of Oranges, Lemons, Dates, Figs, Prunes, &c., &c.

Sauces, Pickles and Preserves; Castana, Naples and English Walnuts; Hard, Soft and Paper-shelled Almonds; choice brands of Tobacco and Cigars; also a general assortment of Confectionery of every description.

Also a large and well selected stock of Toys, suitable for children and the Holiday Gifts.

Ice Cream furnished to parties at short notice and in quantities to suit. Wedding Cake and every variety of nice cake furnished to parties or families.

STORE—WARREN BANK BUILDING.

South Danvers, Nov'r 11, 1863.

Messenger's Notice.

ESSEX, SS. December 11th, 1863.

A WARRANT has been duly issued by Hon. GEORGE F. CHOATE, Judge of the Court of Insolvency for said county of Essex, against the estate of BENJAMIN H. PALMER, of Danvers, in said County, gentleman, an insolvent debtor, and the payment of any debts, or the delivery of any property belonging to said insolvent debtor, to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law.

The first meeting of the creditors of said insolvent debtor will be held at the Court of Insolvency, at the Court House at Salem, in said county, on the 28th day of December current, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debts, and the choice of an assignee or aseignees.

CHARLES H. ADAMS, Dep. Sheriff.

December 16—2w

ON HAND!

A LARGE LOT

—OF—

READY TRIMMED BONNETS,

Which will be sold at

REDUCED PRICES,

—AT—

REITH & CO'S.,

[illegible] BLOCK,

ESSEX STREET,

One door West of J. F. ALMY & Co's.

Salem, Dec. 16, 1863. tf

PIANO FORTES.

I HAVE those splendid Extra-Sized Seven-Octave Piano Fortes, with full Iron Frame, Overstrung Bass, Serpentine Bottom, so much admired for their beautiful finish, and deep mellow tone, with Pearl and Ivory Keys, and a new style of Extra Small Size Six to Six, and Half Octaves—for sale at the very lowest prices. I have Piano Fortes and Melodeons to let; will attend to Tuning in the Best Manner; will attach the Tremolo Orchestrian to any Piano Forte; select Piano Fortes or Melodeons from any Manufactory in New York or Boston, without charge—and also make them to order, to correspond with any style of furniture, and warrant them in every particular.

S. MACKINTIRE, General Agent.

No. 218 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Salem, Nov. 4—6m. (Up Stairs.)

CURRIER & MILLETT,

Dealers in

Furniture, Chairs,

MATTRESSES, FEATHERS, &

259 & 261 ESSEX ST.

Salem, dec 14—1y

GEORGE TAPLEY,

(DANVERS),

AGENT FOR THE

John Hancock Life Insurance Co.

Office, 41 State Street, Boston.

FRENCH CHINA.

FRENCH China Tea Ware; Cake Baskets; Custard Stands; Mustards and Salts; Mugs; Candlesticks, etc, at

dec 23 S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st.

George S. Walker.

PRESENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

TO THE GENTLEMEN.

SUITABLE AND USEFUL PRESENTS can be selected from my choice stock of

GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS,

Comprising the most desirable styles of

SCARFS, Roman, English and French Scoots and Ties;
All Wool Travelling and Army SHIRTS;
Warm UNDER GARMENTS;
HOSIERY—all kinds;
UMBRELLAS and CANES;
Linen and Silk HDKFS.;
CALF MITTS—Lamb Lines;
Also—every style of WINTER GLOVES, lined and unlined, in Buck, Calf, Kid, Cloth, Beaver, &c., with a good variety of

FANCY GOODS,

Such as:—

POCKET BOOKS, RAZORS,
RAZOR STROPS, CLOTH BRUSHES,
TOOTH BRUSHES &., &c.

ALL AT FAIR PRICES.

GEORGE S. WALKER'S,

Dealer in Gent's Furnishing Goods & Toilet Articles, opposite Eastern Railroad Station.

dec 23

A. J. Archer & Co

CLOAKS! CLOAKS!

A. J. ARCHER & CO,

WILL OPEN THIS MORNING

A LARGE STOCK OF

CLOAKS AND SACKS.

Price from $7 to $25 00,

Nov 4

LADIES' CLOAK CLOTHS.

Blacks and Colors

IN GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,

Which we are prepared to make into garments per order, in the very best manner, and at

LOWEST PRICES.

A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

Nov 4

Hoop Skirts at Cost.

WE wish to close out our Stock of HOOP SKIRTS, and offer a fine assortment at cost. A. J. ARCHER & CO.,

nov 4 181 Essex st., Salem.

HOUSE OF EQUITY,

—BY—

C. T. SOUTHWICK.

FIRST Quality Family Groceries sold at the lowest prices. Also a large assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE,

Constantly on hand at

NO. 1 LOWELL STREET,

ASHLAND HALL BUILDING.

South Danvers, July 29, 1863.

Potter, Bachelder & Co.,

(Successors to M. Black)

DANVERS PORT,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

OF the various kinds usually kept in a retail yard. Constantly on hand

Franklin, Locust Mountain, Old Company's Lehigh, Black Heath, Red and White Ash.

Of all sizes, of the best quality, and at as low prices as can be bought elsewhere.

Order Box at post office, South Danvers, and post office, Danvers.

G. W. POTTER,
J. O. A. BACHELDER,
C. T. BATCHELDER. july 19—tf

U. S. 5—20 SIXES.

WARREN BANK.

U. S. 5-20 Bonds interest due May and Nov. Payable in gold; for sale at this bank in sums to suit.

U. S. Revenue Stamps,

For Notes, Drafts, Bank Checks, Deeds and other documents requiring stamps, on hand and for sale.

FRANCIS BAKER, Cashier.

South Danvers, Oct 28th, 1863. tf

DR. J. M. GROSVENOR,

Respectfully announces to the citizens of South Danvers that he has located himself in said town; his office may be found in

TRASK'S BUILDING,

ON MAIN STREET,

Residence No. 66 Main Street, next house below the Peabody Institute.

South Danvers, Nov 11, 1863.

OVERCOATS, &C.

AT COLMAN'S,

NO. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

I WILL sell all OVERCOATS on hand at the actual cost (to close), at prices from $3.50 to $15.00. Business Coats, Pants and Vests, at small advance. Ladies', Misses' and Children's Balmoral Boots, with Rubber Soles, at the lowest prices.

Men's, Boy's and Women's leather Boots and Shoes; Best Table Cutlery; Plated Table and Tea Spoons; Plated Forks;—500 dozen Brown Windsor Soap at 50 cents per dozen; Painted Carpeting, Umbrellas, Clocks, Looking Glasses, Trunks, Bags, Work Boxes, Stove Polish, Blacking, &c. Furnishing Goods—50 dozen Buck and other Gloves; 20 doz Mittens, Leather and Woolen, (cheaper than can be had at any other place.)

20 Dozen Under Shirts and Drawers; Boy's and Men's Comforters; Hats and Caps; Window Curtains; Fixtures; Cord and Tassels; Picture and Bell Cord, &c, &c.

Is a dollar worth saving? If so, call at COLMAN'S, No. 10 Front St., Salem, as he is determined to sell.

Dec 2—6w A C M

RUBBER SOLED SHOES

GENERAL Depot, No. 10 Front Street, Salem.
dec 2—3m O R and B

Auction Sales.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

Auctioneer, Real Estate and Stock Broker

34 Front Street.

Real Estate, Bank, Railroad and Manufacturing Stock bought and sold on Commission.

Carpenter's Tools at Auction.

ON SATURDAY NEXT, at 9½ o'clock will be sold at No. 34 Front street:

A QUANTITY of new and second hand Furniture.

2 Aquariums, in good order.

A quantity of Carpenter's Tools, Planes, Bits, Augurs, Crease Tools, Saws, Hammers, &c.

1 Piano Forte.

M. E. CRANE,

168 ESSEX STREET.

WOULD call the attention of her customers and friends to her Stock of

FALL & WINTER MILLINERY GOODS,

comprising all desirable styles.

Velvet, Silks, Ribbons, Feathers, French Flowers and Laces;

Straw Goods of all descriptions,

Ladies and Children's FELT HATS, latest styles; Ladies Dress Caps;

and all articles usually found in such a Store at the lowest prices for cash.

Mourning Bonnets, Veils, Collars, &c., constantly on hand.

M. E. CRANE,
Successor to M M FLETCHER.

Salem, Oct. 28, '63.

TEETH ON VULCANITE!

DR. J. H. BATCHELDER

DENTAL SURGEON,

No. 20 Washington St., (near Eastern Railroad Depot), SALEM, MASS.,

Is Licensed to make the New Patent Teeth on HARD RUBBER or VULCANITE, and from actual experience confidently recommends them for Strength, Beauty, and Cleanliness, to far surpass other kinds of teeth;—are sure to fit the mouth; much cheaper and better, being about half the price of teeth on Gold. Ill fitting Setts of Teeth on Gold can be exchanged for the Vulcanite, at very small expense. Specimens seen at Office. Teeth filled with Gold, Inserted, Extracted, and Children's Teeth Regulated—all with such care and gentleness as to be nearly painless,

Office Established in 1846.

PATENT VULCANITE DENTAL AGENCY

NEW YORK.

This certifies that Dr. J. H. Batchelder is duly authorized by us to manufacture the PATENT VULCANITE or CORALITE GUMS AND PLATES, for Artificial Teeth, under the Goodyear Patents.

The public are cautioned against employing Dentists who have no license, as patients using such Dentures made by infringers, are equally liable for damages with the maker or vender.

AMERICAN HARD RUBBER CO.,
aug 19. B. W. FRANKLIN, General Agent.

D. P. GROSVENOR, Jr.,

Druggist and Apothecary

33 MAIN STREET.

Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, and Popular Proprietary Medicines.

Personal attention to Physicians' Prescriptions.

South Danvers, May 29, 1861.

GEO. E. MEACOM

Dealer in

DRUGS & MEDICINES,

Fancy & Toilet Articles, &c

126 MAIN ST. 126

Nearly opposite Danvers Bank, So. Danvers

T. A. SWEETSER

Druggist & Apothecary

37 Main St., So. Danvers

DEALER IN

Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals, Foreign Leeches, Shakers' Herbs, Dye Stuffs, Gums, Acids, Sponges, Shoulder Braces, Trusses, and Genuine Patent Medicines.

Also, Imported Cigars of choice brands, Perfumery, Toilet Articles and Stationery.

Physicians' Prescriptions carefully prepared by experienced persons.

MAIN STREET.

A Card.

NUMEROUS applications having been made for a Course of FIRST CLASS CONCERTS in this City, the managers of the SALEM TEMPERANCE LEAGUE take pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been made with Mr. GILMORE for a course of THREE CONCERTS, provided sufficient encouragement shall be given.

The Concerts to be of the same character as that given recently under the auspices of the League.

Subscription papers at $1 00 for the Course may be found at the Bookstores of Messrs. George Creamer, Henry P. Ives, Whipple & Smith, and D. B. Brooks & Brother, Salem, and B. F. Stevens, South Danvers.

Salem, November 18, 1863.

DR. E. F. KITTREDGE,

From Lowell, formerly of New Ipswich, N. H., Has removed his office and residence to

NO. 42 MAIN STREET,

SOUTH DANVERS, MASS.

Dr. K., from an extensive and successful professional experience of upwards of twenty years, feels justified in saying that he can treat diseases to the satisfaction of his patients, and to the credit of himself.

Office hours from 7 to 9 A. M., and from 6 to 9 P. M.

South Danvers, Nov 13, 1863.

NEW STORE!

Flour! Flour!

JUST RECEIVED, a fresh supply of CHOICE BRANDS, direct from the Mills, for sale wholesale and retail, at LOWEST PRICES, by

E. F. OSBORN.
Sutton's Building, Main St.
South Danvers, Nov 18, 1863.

BAND CHINA.

GOLD Band China Tea Ware, at

S C & E A SIMONDS', 32 Front st

RICH VASES.

LAVA and Terra Cotta Vases; Parian Vases; Gilt China Vases in great variety, at dec 23 S C & E A SIMOND'S, 32 Frot st.

Dr. Ham's Spirit.

Special Notices.

[COMMUNICATED.]

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION A CURABLE DISEASE!!

A CARD.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The undersigned having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a SURE CURE for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON, Williamsburgh, Kings County, New York.

oct. 23—4m.

New Jersey Lands for Sale.

—ALSO—

GARDEN OR FRUIT FARMS,

suitable for Grapes, Peaches, Pears, Raspberries, Strawberries, Blackberries, Currants, &c., of 1, 2½, 5, 10 acres each, at the following prices for the land, viz: 20 acres for $260, 10 acres for $110, 5 acres for $60, 2½ acres for $40, 1 acre for $20. Payable one dollar a week.

Also, good Cranberry lands, and village lots in WOOD 25 by 100 feet, at $10 each, payable by dollar a week. The above land and farms are situated at Clintwood, Washington Township, Burlington County, New Jersey. For further information, apply by P. O. Stamp, for a circular, to

H. FRANKLIN CLARK,
No. 90 Cedar St, New York, N. Y.

dec. 1, 1863

$2 SPECIFIC PILLS.—WARRANTED IN ALL CASES.—Can be relied on! Never fail to cure! Do not disappoint! Are speedy in action! No change of diet required! Do not interfere with business pursuits! Can be used without detection! Upwards of 3,000 cures in the past month—some of them very severe cases! Over one hundred physicians have used them in their practice, and all speak well of their efficacy. Read the pamphlet which proves of their composition, which is entirely vegetable, and harmless on the system. Hundreds of certificates can be shown.

DR. SPECIFIC PILLS are the original and only genuine Specific Pill. They are adapted for male and female, old or young, and the only reliable remedy ever offered giving a permanent and speedy cure in all cases of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, with all its attendant evils, such as Urethral and Vaginal Discharges, Gleet, the Whites, Nightly or Involuntary Emissions, Incontinence, Genital Debility and Irritation, Impotence, Weakness or Loss of Power, Nervousness, &c., &c., all of which arise principally from Sexual Excesses or Self-Abuse, or some constitutional derangement, and incapacitates the sufferer from fulfilling the duties of married life. In all sexual diseases, as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, and Strictures, and diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, they act as a charm. Relief is experienced by taking a single box. Sold by all the principal druggists. Price $1.

Pamphlets sent free by mail. Letters must be addressed, and contain remittance, to

DR. BRYAN, M. D.,
No. 76 Cedar street, New York,
Physician for the treatment of Seminal, Nervous, Sexual, and Nervous Diseases, who will be consulted free to all, the following valuable work, in a sealed envelope:

FIFTIETH THOUSAND.—DR. BELL'S TREATISE on Self-Abuse, Premature Decay, Impotence or Loss of Power, Sexual Diseases, Seminal Weakness or Involuntary Emissions, Genital Debility, &c., &c., a book of 64 pages, containing important advice to the married, and which should be read by every sufferer, as the means of cure in the severest stages is set forth. Two stamps required to pay postage.

December 9, 1863—1 yr.

TO LADIES.—DR. HARVEY'S FEMALE PILLS never yet failed in removing difficulties arising from obstruction, or stoppage of nature, or in restoring the system to perfect health when suffering from Affections, Prolapsus, Uteri, the Whites, Weakness of the Uterine Organs. The Pills are perfectly harmless on the constitution, and may be taken by the most delicate female without causing discomfort at the same time they act like a charm by strengthening and restoring the system to a healthy state, and by bringing on the monthly period with regularity, no matter from what causes the obstruction arises. They should, however, NOT be taken during the first three or four months of pregnancy, though at any other time, as miscarriage would be the consequence.

Each box contains 60 Pills. Price $1.

DR. HUNTER'S TREATISE on Diseases of Females, Miscarriage, Barrenness, Sterility, Reproductive Abuses of Nature, and emphatically the Married Lady's Medical Adviser, a pamphlet of 64 pages. Sent free to any address. Six cents required to pay postage.

The above book will be sent by mail when desired, postpaid, and prepaid, by

DR. BRYAN, M. D., General Agent,
No. 76 Cedar street, New York.
For sale by all the principal druggists.
December 9, 1863—1 yr.

DISCLOSURES—SECRETS FOR ALL!—A most valuable and wonderful work of 400 pages, and 30 colored plates, by DR. HUNTER'S VADE MECUM, an unrivalled popular treatise on Man and Woman, their Functions, and Sexual Disorders of both. Never-Failing Remedies for their cure. The practice of Dr. Hunter has long been unbounded, but at the earnest solicitations of numerous persons, he has been induced to publish this medical usefulness through the medium of his Vade Mecum." It is a volume that should be in the hands of every family in the land, as a preventive of vices, or as a guide for the alleviation of the most awful and destructive scourge that ever afflicted mankind! One copy, securely enveloped and forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 50 cents in post office stamps or currency. Address, post paid, DR. HUNTER, No. 7 Union Street, New York. je 2—1y.

MANHOOD;

HOW RESTORED!

Published, in a Sealed Envelope.
Price Six Cents.

A LECTURE on the NATURE, TREATMENT and RADICAL Cure of Spermatorrœa or Seminal Debility, or Involuntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally, Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from Self Abuse, &c.,—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Book of Man," &c.

The world renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-abuse may be effectually cured without the use of medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or quack nostrums; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps, by addressing CHAS. J. C. KLINE,
Box 4586, New York Post Office.

Canvers Aqueduct Co'y.

The using the water of the Salem Canvers Aqueduct are hereby notified that water rents, for the six months ending Dec. 31, 1863, are now due, and that it is necessary to pay the same, at the office of the Co., No 2 Sewall street, on the 1st floor, N. E. Should the bills remain unpaid 30 days, the water will be shut off, agreeably to the regulations of the Company.

Office hours from 9 to 1 o'clock, and from 2 to 4 P. M.

By order of the Directors,
WM. JELLY, Collector.

PROFESSOR FENOLLOSA

HAS RETURNED AND RESUMED HIS LESSONS AS TEACHER OF THE

Piano and Singing,

At his residence, No. 7 Central Street,
SALEM, MASS.

PROFESSOR FENOLLOSA,

TEACHER OF MUSIC,
Has FOR SALE PIANO FORTES,
At the lowest rates;
Also, PIANO FORTES,
At the Manufacturers Prices,
Also, PIANO FORTES,
At the easiest terms;
No. 7 Central street,
SALEM, MASS.

Advertisements.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

A pure and powerful Tonic, corrective and alterative of wonderful efficacy in disease of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Headache, Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Cramps and Spasms, and all Complaints of either Sex, arising from Bodily Weakness whether inherent in the system or produced by special causes.

Nothing that is not wholesome, genial and restorative in its nature enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but it is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

It is well to be forearmed against disease, and, so far as the human system can be protected by human means against maladies engendered by an unwholesome atmosphere, impure water and other external causes, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS may be relied on as a safeguard.

In districts infested with Fever and Ague, it has been found infallible as a preventive and irresistible as a remedy and thousands who resort to it under apprehension of an attack, escape the scourage; and thousands who neglect to avail themselves of its protective qualities in advance, are cured by a very brief course of this marvelous medicine. Fever and Ague patients, after being plied with quinine for months in vain, until fairly saturated with that dangerous alkaloid, are not unfrequently restored to health within a few days by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this agreeable Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of DISPEPSIA and in less confirmed forms of INDIGESTION. Acting as a gentle and painless apperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the CONSTIPATION superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is most conclusive, and from both sexes.

The agony of BILIOUS COLIC is immediately assuaged by a single dose of the stimulant, and by occasionally resorting to it, the return of the complaint may be prevented.

As a General Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility and Decrepitude arising from OLD AGE, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is The Only Safe Stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

No family medicine has been so universally, and, it may be truly added, deservedly popular with the intelligent portion of the community, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

Prepared by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and Storekeepers everywhere.

HELMBOLD'S GENUINE PREPARATIONS.

COMPOUND FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, a Positive and Specific Remedy for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, and Dropsical Swellings.

This Medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the Absorbents into healthy action, by which the Wtaery or Cacareous depositions, and all Unnatural Enlargements are reduced, as well as Pain and Inflammation.

—:o:—

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU.

For Weaknesses arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion of Abuse, attended with the following Indispositions to Exertion,

Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing,
Weak Nerves, Trembling,
Horror of Disease, Wakefulness,
Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Pain in the Back,
Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body,
Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions on the Face,
Pallid Countenance.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on, which this medicine invariably removes, soon follows

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,

In one of which the patient may expire.

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "Direful Diseases,"

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION."

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, BUT NONE WILL CONFESS THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS.

And Melancholy Deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the Truth of the assertion.

The Constitution once effected with Organic Weakness requires the aid of Medicine to Strengthen and Invigorate the system,

Which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A Trial will convince the most skeptical.

—:o:—

FEMALES—FEMALES—FEMALES.

In many Affections peculiar to Females the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrhous state of the Uterus, Leuchorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or Habits of Dissipation, or in the

DECLINE OR CHANGE OF LIFE.

—:o:—

Take no more Balsam, Mercury, or unpleasant Medicines for unpleasant and dangerous diseases.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH CURES

SECRET DISEASES

In all their Stages, At little Expense.
Little or no change in Diet. No inconvenience.
And no Exposure.

It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby Removing Obsructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous, Diseased and wornout Matter.

Thousands upon Thousands who have been the Victims of Quacks, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "POISON" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in an aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

—:o:—

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE or FEMALE, from whatever cause originating and no matter of HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these Organs requires the aid of a DIURETIC. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU IS THE GREAT DIURETIC, and is certain to have the desired effect in all Diseases for which it is Recommended.

Evidence of the most reliable and responsible character will accompany the medicine.

Price $1.00 per bottle, or six for $5.00. Delivered to any Address, securely packed from observation.

Describe Symptoms in all Communications.

Cures Guaranteed! Advice Gratis!!

Address letters for information to

H. B. HELMBOLD, Chemist,
104 South Tenth-st., bel. Chestnut, Phila.

HELMBOLD'S Medical Depot.
HELMBOLD'S Drug & Chemical Warehouse.
594 Broadway, New York.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS AND UNPRINCIPLED DEALERS who endeavor to dispose "of their own" and "other" articles on the reputation attained by

Helmbold's Genuine Preparations.
" " Extract Buchu.
" " Sarsaparilla.
" " Improved Rose Wash.

SOLD BY

ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

ASK FOR HELMBOLD'S. TAKE NO OTHER.

Cut out the Advertisements and send for it.

AND AVOID IMPOSITION AND EXPOSURE.

December 16, 1863.—1 yr.

RALLY FOR THE OLD FLAG!

$1172 FOR VETERANS, and $1072 FOR RAW RECRUITS.

59 MEN WANTED

TO FILL THE QUOTA OF

SOUTH DANVERS,

To whom Bounties will be paid as follows:

To Veterans (those who have been at least nine months in the service and been honorably discharged for other cause than disability,) the Government bounty of 402 dollars each.

To all other recruits 302 dollars each.

In addition to the above, each recruit will receive from the State, as follows: $25 dollars down, or 50 dollars down and 20 dollars per month, as the soldier may elect, making in all 727 dollars for Veterans, and 627 dollars for raw recruits.

If the monthly pay offered by the State is received, the pay for three years will amount to 1172 dollars for Veterans, and 1072 for raw recruits.

In addition to the bounties of the Government, and State, will be the monthly pay of the Government of 13 dollars per month, a mounting to [illegible] which will raise the whole amount received for three years service to the sum of

$1640 FOR VETERANS, AND $1540 FOR RAW RCRUITS.

☞ The families of Volunteers will be entitled by law to State Aid on the same terms as heretofore. ☜

All further information required in regard to recruiting, bounties, &c., may be obtained at the office.

JOSEPH POOR,
RECRUITING AGENT.
Office in Allen's Building, on the Square.
South Danvers, Nov. 25, 1863.

SPEED, COMFORT AND SAFETY!

FOR NEW YORK.

Norwich Steamboat Train.

The only Boats Landing at Jersey City.

CABIN Passage, $5.00; Deck Passage, $4.00. The new and elegant sixteen wheel cars of the steamboat express train leave the Boston & Worcester Railroad Station, Albany Street., at 5½ P. M., daily, connecting with the new steamers, (built expressly for this line,) CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. WILCOX, Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; CITY OF NEW YORK, Capt. JEWETT, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, which (before proceeding to their Pier, No. 39 North River,) will touch at the wharf of the New Jersey Railroad at Jersey City, (Sundays excepted) thus enabling Southern Passengers to make sure connections with the First Southern Train, and at the same time avoid the great annoyance of the Ferry and Hack transportation in the crowded streets of New York. This insures ample time for Breakfast before the trains leave. Conductors D. F. WALLER and W. F. BARTON accompany the passengers through.

Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the Railroad Station, and at the Office of the line, 79 Washington Street, Boston.

Through tickets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington can be had at 79 Washington Street, Boston.

WM. DICKEY, JR., Agent.

Boston, January 7, 1863.

FOR NEW YORK via FALL RIVER AND NEWPORT.

Cabin passage $5.00; Deck, $4.00. Cars leave the Depot of the Old Colony and Newport Railroad, South and Kneeland streets, at 5.30 P. M.

For steamer BAY STATE, Capt. W. BROWN, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

For steamer EMPIRE STATE, Capt. B. BRAYTON, on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Passengers by this line are taken by the Express Train, and arrive in Fall River one hour before the Steamboat Train, having time to secure State Rooms and make their preparations for the passage.

Passengers by this line going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, &c., can connect with the New Jersey or Camden and Amboy Railroad. Baggage Checked through.

☞ A baggage master accompanies the passengers through to New York. Tickets, Berths and Staterooms secured at the O. C. & Newport R. R. Station.

GEORGE SHIVERICK, Agent.
No. 82 Washington Street.
BOSTON, November 16, 1863.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS. To the Heirs-at-Law and others interested in the Estate of LYDIA DAY, late of South Danvers, in said County, widow, deceased, testate: GREETING:

WHEREAS, JOSEPH MOORE, the Executor of the will and testament of said deceased has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said County, on the first Tuesday in January next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed. And the said executor is ordered to serve this Citation by publishing the same once a week; in the South Danvers Wizard, a newspaper printed at South Danvers, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Tuesday.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of December, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-three.

A. C. GOODELL, Register.

December 16—3w

HEYLINGBERG'S Hair Dressing Saloon,

24 MAIN ST., SOUTH DANVERS.

J. HEYLINGBERG would announce to his patrons and the public generally, that on and after OCTOBER 1st, 1863, he will abide by the following

TARIFF OF PRICES:

Shaving,	8 cts,
Hair Cutting,	15 cts,
Champooing,	15 cts.

Particular attention paid to dying hair and whiskers, in one preparation, without washing or scrubbing.

New Quarterly customers must pay in advance.

South Danvers, Nov. 25, 1862.

Cards.

WILLIAM C. CHOATE,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
251 Essex St., Salem.
Salem, August 6, 1862. tf

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell street, South Danvers.

B. C. PERKINS,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
South Danvers—Office in Allen's Building

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,

Attorney and Counsellor,
Office, No. 24 Washington Street, Salem;
House, Main St., So. Danvers.

SIDNEY C. BANCROFT,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
27 Washington Street, Salem.

H. O. WILEY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office, Allen's Building, So. Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to

A. S. CRAWFORD

Dentist,
No. 4 MAIN STREET, SO. DANVERS SQUARE
Mechanical Dentistry Neatly Executed.
Teeth Extracted by Electricity without Extra Charge

W. L. BOWDOIN,

SURGEON DENTIST,
No. 208 Essex Street, Salem, (Opposite the Market)
Residence—No. 57 Washington street.
Jan 11—1y

NEWMAN & SYMONDS,

DEALERS IN
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain,
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
Ready Made Clothing, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c.,
South Danvers Square, opp. Congregational Church
SAM'L NEWMAN. NATH'L SYMONDS.

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS,

DEALERS IN
Crockery, China and Hardware; Paper Hangings; Solar and Entry Lamps; Paints, Oil, and Window Glass.
No. 32 Front street, Lawrence Place,
feb13 SALEM, MASS.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,

HOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER,
Glazier and Paperer,
Central Street, South Danvers.
All orders promptly and faithfully executed.

E. S. FLINT,

DEALER IN
West India Goods, Country Produce,
No. 2 Main Street, South Danvers.

JESSE SMITH

No. 262 Essex Street, Salem,
Importer and Dealer in
Gold and Silver Watches,
MARINE CHRONOMETERS,
Aneroid Barometers, Spy Glasses, &c.

WILLIAM BLANEY,

HOUSE & SIGN PAINTER
Grainer, Glazier and Paper Hanger.
164 MAIN STREET, Corner of Grove.
WINDOWS and BLINDS cheap for cash.
mch6-tf

F. POOLE

INSURANCE AGENT,
Allen's Building (up stairs),
Deeds drawn, and other common forms.

H. L. HADLEY,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
CORNER MAPLE AND ELM ST.,
Danvers.

Claims against the Government for Bounty, Back Pay, and Pensions, promptly attended to.

DEVEREUX & McLELLAN,

Attorneys and Counsellors-at-Law,
CIVIL AND MILITARY,
Browne's Block, Essex street—Room No. 5.

J. F. DEVEREUX, Salem, Mass.
GEO. F. MCLELLAN, Washington, D. C.
Oct. 21.

WM. C. HENDERSON,

MANUFACTURER OF
PLAIN AND FANCY
PAPER BOXES,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET,
Sign of "NEST OF BOXES,"
July 23 SALEM. tf

H. & H. G. HUBON,

WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM
Manufactrers of
Rose Wood, Mahogany, Black Walnut and Stained Wood
COFFINS and CASKETS.

MAKING this our exclusive business, we are ready at all times and at the shortest notice to furnish Grave Clothes of various styles, as well as Coffins and Caskets of the finest finish. Personal attention given, and delivered without extra charge to any of the neighboring towns. All orders by express or otherwise will receive prompt attention.

Black Walnut and White Wood Boards, Plank and Joists for sale.

dec 14—tf

GAYLE & CO.,

GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
DEALERS IN
Flour, Grain and Produce,
Manufacturers' Agents for the sale of
Concentrated Leaven, Soda and Pearlash Saleratus, and Bi Carb. Soda.
PHILLIPS WHARF, - - - - - Salem.

T. HARDY, JR.,

—Dealer in—
DOORS, SASHES, BLINDS,
Glazed Sash, Painted Blinds,
FENCE PALES, STAIR BALUSTERS, FRAMING PINS, &c.,
No. 26 FRONT STREET,
Salem, January 14, 1863—6m

MORRIS'

RESTAURANT,
18 and 20 Derby Square, Salem.

Oysters, Clams, Steak, Poultry, Game; Fish, &c., &c., cooked to order.

Pickled Oysters, Lobsters and Clams.

Salem, July 22, 1863. tf

CHARLES S. BUFFUM,

FURNISHING UNDERTAKER,
Central street, South Danvers,
Residence 25 Elm Street,

HAVING provided himself with a HEARSE, is prepared to attend Funerals in any of the neighboring towns, with one or a pair of Horses.

He keeps as good an assortment of

COFFINS AND CASKETS,

as can be found at any establishment, and at the lowest prices.

He will also attend to Laying Out, etc.

All orders from the neighboring towns met with prompt attention. jan 14

MESSRS. CLARK & GIDDINGS,

Wallis Street, South Danvers,
Are Agents for
GEORGE W. FISKE & CO.'S
PATENT EAVE TROUGHS CUTTERS, CONDUCTORS AND PIPE FOR DRAINS.
South Danvers, May 22, 1861.

Choice Fall Pigs for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale nice PIGS of Mackie Prince Albert and Chester County breeds, of which the Mackie took the First Premium at the late Cattle Show. Prices reasonable.

BYRON GOODALE,
Near Tapley's Brook.
South Danvers, Oct. 16, 1863. tf

Chickering & Sons' Piano-Fortes.

Hallett & Cumston's Piano-Fortes.
Hallett & Davis's Piano-Fortes.

We select our Piano-Fortes from the above firms and warrant them to give perfect satisfaction. Our terms are reasonable, and all persons in the city and neighboring towns can be accommodated by calling at 76 Federal street.

FOR SALE—Second-hand Piano-Fortes,—Chickering's and others.

ANN R. BRAY.
sp 29

E. F. BURNHAM,

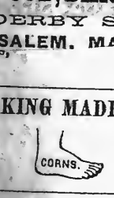
SOLE AGENT FOR
SARGENT & CO.S'
MAGIC SOAP
For South Danvers & Salem.
OFFICE—Central St., opp. Lowell Depot, at Burnham's Express Office, So. Danvers.
Price $3.50 per 100 Lbs.

Orders sent by mail or otherwise to So. Danvers will be promptly attended to. tf-oct3

R. C. MANNING & CO.

Successors to JOHN DIKE & CO.,
DEALERS IN
COAL, WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c,
183 DERBY STREET,
SALEM, MASS
oct17 R. C. MANNING.

WALKING MADE EASY.



DR. R. KENISON,
CHIROPODIST,
215 Washington St., Boston,
Cures Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Club Nails, Nails penetrating the Flesh, Warts, &c., in a manner that will satisfy the most incredulous.

Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

Available and Cash Capital $500,000.

INSURES Buildings, Merchandize and Personal Property generally, on terms as favorable as any other dividend paying company.

J. D. BLACK, Agent,
april 22—1y At Danversport.

Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Andover, Mass.

ONE of the OLD AND RELIABLE OFFICES.

J. D. BLACK is Agent for Danvers and South Danvers. apr 22—1y

AARON T. LOWE,

DEALER IN
BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,
76 BOSTON STREET, 76.
aug 6 SALEM. tf

THOMAS PINNOCK,

SLATER,
SALEM, MASS.

Orders may be left at his Yard, No. 25 Peabody St., or at his house No. 6 Hancock street, South Salem.

Roofs covered with any kind of Slates, according to order. All work warranted.

Salem, May 7, 1862. tf

Fall and Winter Goods.

ANN R. BRAY,
NO. 76 FEDERAL ST.,

WOULD say to her friends and to her stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, which comprise all the desirable styles of Dress Goods for Ladies and Children's Wear.

Plain Goods—for Ladies'—choice styles;
Plain Thibets—all the desirable shades;
Figured Thibets—for children;
All Wool Plaids—bright colors—for children;
Plaid and Striped Shawls;
Black and White Plaid Shawls;
Other styles at equally low prices;
Good styles Prints;
A full assortment of Flannels, for Family use;
Red and Blue Twilled Flannels;
A full stock of Domestic Goods;
Bleached and Brown Cottons of every grade, at the lowest Cash prices;
We offer Bargains in Hem stitched Hdkfs;

sept 16 ANN R. BRAY.

MOULTON'S NEW LIVERY STABLE,

Opposite Danvers Bank, Main St.

Good Horses and Carriages will be always in readiness at short notice.

South Danvers, Sept 30, 1863.

PATTERSON'S LEATHER HANDLING MACHINE

THE undersigned are agents for the above machine. It can be seen in operation at Pinder & Brown's Tannery.

may 7 CLARK & GIDDINGS.

FRANKLIN COAL.

JUST landed, a cargo of FRANKLIN COAL —the best in the world for domestic use.

POTTER, BACHELDER & CO.,
Successors to M. Black, Jr.
Danversport, May 6, 1861. tf

ANDERSON'S Spring Bed Bottom

(E. HENNESEY'S PATENT.)

THE LATEST AND BEST EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

We defy any one to produce a better.

One that is an easier bed.
One that is less liable to get out of order.
One that has no possible place for vermin.
One that has no objections any way.
One that is so universally admired.
One that is so universally WILL HAVE.
One that everybody WILL HAVE.
And Lastly,

WE DEFY ALL COMPETITION!

For sale by JOSIAH TRASK, Agent for Danvers and South Danvers.
August 5.

CREAM ALE.

THIS Ale is highly recommended by Physicians for

FAMILY USE AND INVALIDS.

Put up in Half Barrels and Barrels,
And for sale by
J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

Also, Agent for
MASSEY & COLLINS'
PHILADELPHIA ALES,
BUCKHART'S
CREAM ALE,
And Dealer in
LONDON PORTER, SCOTCH ALE, Atkinson's Wormwood Cordial, Drake's Plantation Bitters, &c., &c.

J. MAGUIRE & CO.,
july 15 No. 6 Derby Square, Salem.

TAKE NOTICE.

THAT Dr. Ham's Dyspepsia Remedy has been before the public for the past ten years. And in that time the people who have used it will vouch for the benefit they have derived from it. The character of his article and its reputation can also be obtained from the dealers who sell it, or have sold it for any length of time, to both of those, Dr Ham refers and is willing to stand the test. And also challenges any new compound to produce the same results, let alone delicacy of flavor, of his INVIGORATING SPIRIT, which for ITS EFFECTS UPON THE BILE, A TORPID LIVER, LOW SPIRITS, or when the blood is affected as seen by SKIN DISEASES or its ACTION UPON THE KIDNEYS, in fact for any person who is run down by the wear and care of this world will find rel ef in this old and well tried remedy.

Astonishing.

TO Dr. Ham, who has modestly put before the public his DYSPEPSIA REMEDY for ten years past, to look back and see the number of tremendous articles within that time, that have sprung up like a rocket, and gone down like the stick which guides it in its lofty ascensions. Some come out and claim to tell the public secrets from South America, with any quantity unknown Barks from South Indias, &c. Dr Ham takes this opportunity to refer to the MEDICAL FACULTY here and everywhere that his article is in use, as to its qualifications, and challenges any one to produce a person, male or female, who has used it as directed, that will not speak favorable of it for DISORGANIZED STOMACH, Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, want of action of the Kidneys, as well as many other complaints that humanity are afflicted with.

To Ladies.

DR. HAM'S Dyspepsia Remedy is just the thing you require to remove the languor caused by weakness and debility: it invigorates the system, causes the blood to take new life in its varied course through the system, in fact it gives tone to the system and will relieve and remove the thousand irregularities that from various causes you are afflicted with. For Dyspepsia it is a never failing remedy, it has stood the test of years, and we have yet to hear of its failing to give relief to the afflicted thousands who have received health and happiness by its use.

To Gentlemen.

DR. HAM knows that you do not always pay much attention to the many different articles put before you in the paper, but we would refer you to our agents who you will find are the respectable merchants and dealers, in regard to the Invigorating Spirit; some of them have sold it for years, and know well the reputation it has amongst those who have used it in assisting nature to eradicate diseases. It will renovate the system, as it acts directly on the blood, removing all obstructions to the general health, will cure Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Sour Stomach, Headache, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, as well as obstruction in the Kidneys, Bladder or Urinary Organs. Try it. We will guarantee you will be satisfied with the result.

General Depot, 62 Liberty Street, New York. Sold by Weeks & Potter, 154 Washington Street, M. S. Burr & Co., 26 Tremont Street, G. C. Goodwin & Co., 11 Marshall Street, Boston; and in South Danvers by George E. Meacom, T. A. Sweetser, D. P. Grosvenor, Jr., Main Street; and by Druggists everywhere.

Feb 29, 1863 1y

Abbott's South Danvers & Salem EXPRESS.

Leave South Danvers, - - - - 7½ a m, 1 p m
Leave Salem, - - - - - 10 a m, 4 p m

Orders left at Teel & Moulton's, and at principal stores on Main street, South Danvers; and at 7 Washington street, and at Reed's in the Market, Salem.

D. W. BOWDOIN,
—ARTIST IN—
PHOTOGRAPHIC PICTURES.
Rooms No. 175 Essex st, Salem, [Downing's Block

Portraits, Miniatures, and Views, by the Ambrotype, Daguerreotype. Photograph and Stereoscope process—finished in India Ink, Oil and Water Colors of Daguerreotypes, and ☞ Particular attention paid to ☜ copies, highly finished. may

Are you Insured?

THE subscriber would respectfully call your attention to the fact that he is fully prepared to effect INSURANCE AGAINST FIRE, to any amount, at current rates, on

Dwelling Houses, Barns and their contents, Stores, Stocks of Goods, Furniture, &c. &c., and on buildings in process of erection,

And that he is the authorized Agent for the following responsible Stock and Mutual Companies, viz:

Thames Insurance Co., (Stock,) Norwich, Conn. Capital—$500,000. Oliver F. Rice, Sec'y
Amos W. Prentice, Pres.
Conway Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital and Surplus—$300,000. David C. Rogers, Sec'y.
James F. Whitney, Pres.
City Insurance Company, (Stock) Boston. Capital—$150,000. Austin W. Benton, Sec'y
Samuel P. Hayward, Pres.

Also, will effect Insurance on the LIVES OF INDIVIDUALS, for one year, seven years, or for the whole term of life, in the Massachusetts Mutual Life Ins. Co., Springfield, Mass. Capital and Assetts—$375,000. D. B. Bacon, Sec'y.

Caleb Rice, Pres.
William Mack, M. D, Medical Examiner.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
18 Washington st. and 34 Front st., Salem.
ej h20-1

E. S. FLINT,
Manufacturer and Dealer in
INNER SOLES,
AND SHOE STIFFENINGS OF ALL KINDS.
2 MAIN STREET, SOUTH DANVERS.

E. R. PERKINS,
PHOTOGRAPHIC ARTIST
241 Essex Street, Salem.
Patent Ambrotypes, Stereoscopes,
Photographs, Sphercotypes, Melainotypes and patent leather Pictures, of various sizes, taken with all the improvements of the art. Portraits, Miniatures, Engravings, &c., accurately copied. Views

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

LYNN & BOSTON

OMNIBUS & EXPRESS CAR.

W. F. BURNHAM,

Line of Omnibuses will leave the Eastern Railroad Omnibus Office, No. 2 Allen's Building, South Danvers, passing down Main street, through North Danvers street, to Lynn, daily—Sundays excepted—as follows:

Leave South Danvers at 7 30 A. M., 12 30 and 6 30 P. M.

Leave Lynn (Horse Car Depot, Wood Square) at 9 40 A. M., 3 40 and 8 40 P. M.

Horse Cars leaving the office at 16 Beverly street, at 9 15 A. M., 1 15 and 5 15 P. M., will meet the Omnibuses at Lynn, as the above named hours, to take passengers to South Danvers.

Tickets to Lynn, - - - 15 cents.
Through to Boston, - - - 25 cents.

Gravesend, Woodland, Bed Central Depot Route.

One and other Morning, Noon & Afternoon Omnibus will leave Lynn, to connect with the express trains leaving South Danvers daily—Sundays excepted—passing through Lynn, Gravesend and Woodland, to the Central Depot, and Horse Railroad Station, corner of Sudbury and Bread Streets, leaving South Danvers at 6 A. M. (connecting with the 7.15 express cars for Boston), 9.15 A. M. (connecting with the 11.30 train), and 4 P. M. (connecting with the 4.50 train); and returning leave Boston from the Spring Street Station, and Central R. R. Depot, at 8 A. M. and 1 and 6 P. M.

Fare from S. Danvers to Boston by horse cars, 25 cents; Omnibus, 15 cents.

Through Tickets to and from Boston may be had of the Drivers and Conductors.

South Danvers, Salem and Lynn Route.

THE subscriber having purchased of E. F. Burnham, the Omnibus Line running between South Danvers, Lynn, would announce that he will run three trips daily between South Danvers and Lynn, leaving the Omnibus Office, No. 6 Allen's Building, South Danvers, for Salem, at 7 30 A. M. and 2 30 P. M., and leave the Omnibus Office in Central St., Salem, at 8.30 A. M. and 3.